The Caprock Council sale will begin on February 21 and end March 8.

Girl Scouts of the Caprock Council will begin their annual cookie sale, Friday, February 21 and sell until March 8, Mrs. Felix Jones, Idalou, Council Cookie Chairman has announced.

Cookies will be on sale in the 18 county Council at $1.25 per box. Nearly 6,000 girls will be selling one cracker and five kinds of cookies offered this year. Varieties are Sesame Crisp Cracker, Mint, Lemon Creme, Oxford Creme, Scot-Tea, and Savannah. Profits from the sale are divided between the troops and the Council with council profits going for maintenance and improvements of Camp Rio Blanco and camping activities.

Camp activities include crafts, hikes, swimming, songs, campfires, cook-outs, nature study, star gazing, archery, and drama. Five sessions are scheduled for girls of various age groups. In addition, troops with their leaders can camp at Rio Blanco the year round.

Girls selling cookies will wear their Girl Scout uniforms or pins. A two-week campership for Camp Rio Blanco will be awarded to Girl Scouts who sell 180 boxes of cookies, or more.

Members of the Cookie Sale Committee serving with Mrs. Jones are: Mrs. George Poulson, Lorenzo; Mrs. Ruby Noel, Plainview; Mrs. Billy Fisher, Lubbock; Mrs. Seymour Evans, Lubbock; and Mrs. Bobby Miller, Idalou.

Federal Directory Lists Organizations Assisting Minority Business Owners

Minority entrepreneurs in need of business assistance now have access to a comprehensive listing of potentially useful advisors, as reflected in a recently published Federal directory.

Published by the Department of Commerce's Office of Minority Business Enterprise (OMBE), the 45 page directory, entitled "OMBE Funded Organizations", updates an earlier edition published in 1973.

Listing 227 sources of assistance for minority entrepreneurs, the publication gives the names of officials, address and phone numbers for construction contractor assistance centers (CCASs); business resource centers (BRCs); local business development organizations (LBDs); business management development groups (BMDs); state OMBEs; minority trade associations and other OMBE funded groups.

"Knowledgeable, timely assistance can be of vital importance to a minority businessman in the current economic situation," said OMBE Director Alex Armendaris. "This directory lists the sources for assistance available throughout the nation provided by OMBE funded organizations."

Copies of the directory in limited quantity are available from: OMBE Information Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th & Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20230.

The Office of Minority Business Enterprise was established in the Department of Commerce in 1969 to coordinate federal and private sector efforts in the development and expansion of minority-owned business enterprise.

Sunday morning, February 23rd, beginning at 2:00 a.m., day light saving time will be upon us once again.

The rule is, "no matter what time you go to bed, set your clock up one hour." In other words, spring forward one hour beginning Sunday morning.

Rev. Jonah Parker In VA Hospital

Rev. Jonah Parker, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls and Amarillo District of the C.M.E. Church, is now in Veteran's Hospital. He was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Floydada, Texas, several weeks ago. Watch for full details in next week's West Texas Times stated Rev. Bob Tieucl, Jr., director of Public Relations and Information of the district.

Tech Professor Publishes History of Black People in Texas in New Book

The history of Black people in Texas pre-dates that of the dominant Anglo population of the state, said Dr. Alwyn Barr, associate professor of history and director of the ethnic studies program at Texas Tech University.

"They have lived in the state more than 400 years, longer than in any other section of the United States, as long as the Spanish ancestors of its Mexican-Americans, and preceded only by the forebearers of its few remaining Indian citizens," the Texas Tech historian has written in his new book, "Black Texans; A History of Negroes in Texas 1528-1971."

During their early history, however, Dr. Barr said they have not lived in Texas continuously since the first ones arrived more than four centuries ago.

"Negro population in Texas declined in percentage from a peak of about 30 per cent from 1860 to 1870, to 12.4 per cent in 1960, but increased in actual numbers to 1,187,125 persons in 1960, second only to New York" he writes.

"Thus their longer span of history and greater variety of experiences under several flags, as well as the large number of individuals involved, suggest the value of a separate volume on black Texans."

The book, Dr. Barr said, is intended for general readers, black and white, as a means of providing them with a summary of available information about Negroes in Texas, much of it previously tucked away in scholarly journals and in relatively inaccessible unpublished theses and dissertations.

"High school and college instructors in Texas history should find the volume of value because in both factual material and interpretation it supplements and, to some extent, corrects the existing textbook treatments of Negroes in Texas," he said.

The book includes chapters on free blacks and slaves prior to the Civil War, followed by four chronological chapters from 1865 to 1971 which discuss political, economic, educational, and social developments. It is published by Jenkins Publishing Company, Austin.

Dr. Barr is the author of "Reconstruction to Reform; Texas Politics, 1876-1906," and has written or edited several other books and articles on black history and the Southwest.

The Texas Tech professor is in his sixth year at this institution. He teaches Black History and courses on history of the South

NAACP Must Be Reimbursed
Kalamazoo, Mich. — (NBNS) — U.S. District Court Judge Noel P. Fox last week ruled that the Kalamazoo Board of Education must reimburse the NAACP an estimated $250,000 in fees the NAACP insured while fighting a school desegregation case.

Stemming from a 1971 injunction which found the state of Michigan and the Kalamazoo Board of Education guilty of segregation, the NAACP argued that under a 1972 amendment to the federal education act, they were entitled to reasonable fees from the loser.

White House Gate Crasher Found Sane

Washington — (NBNS) — Marshall Fields, the man who crashed the gates of the White House on Christmas morning has been found mentally sane and competent to stand trial. The pronouncement was made by Dr. John Mahur, a psychologist at St. Elizabeths Hospital, who examined Fields after his claim that he is a "messiah."

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gessel delayed a ruling on Fields competency pending an examination of the defendant by a nongovernment psychiatrist at the request of Fields' defense attorney. Fields main problem at this point, according to Dr. Mahur, is one of "delusional thinking."

"On the supposition that he is wrong and I am right, he is delusional in thinking that he is a messiah...that he has a special mission. I do not personally recognize him to be a messiah," Dr. Mahur said.

Black Named to New York Cabinet

New York — (NBNS) — New York Governor Hugh Carey has appointed his first black to a cabinet level position. Named was 48 year old Benjamin Ward to be State Commissioner of Correctional Services. He will oversee 25 correctional facilities with a 15,000 inmate population. The post pays $47,800 a year.

Ward, a former Deputy Commissioner of Police in New York City, served also as that city's Traffic Commission from April 1973 to May 1974. Ward joined the police department in 1951 and served as a patrolman,

EDITORIALS

Substitute Teachers Are Vital Too

We would like to re-echo what an editorial said in the "Estacado Echo", a newspaper published last week by the student body at Estacado High School. The editorial: "Teachers May Be Vital, But So Are Substitutes", was well written by Glynn Warnick, a student at the high school. We, at the West Texas Times, would like to echo this editorial, because we believe that every parent of young persons at Estacado and other high schools, junior high schools, and elementary schools should know what the young people are confronted with, from time to time.

There's no question about it, teachers in the Lubbock Public School System play an important role in helping to mold the minds of our young people. We must also consider as the editorial says: "When a teacher becomes sick or has family problems, he is replaced for a while by a substitute teacher."

The editorial brought out some facts which should be passed on to parents and patrons of the Lubbock Public School system. We are not saying that every young person at Estacado is responsible for this negative activity, but we are saying this type of activity may exist, and not only at Estacado High School.

The editorial made known that the substitute teachers are ready and willing to perform their duties, but certain problems prevent them from doing their best. The author of the editorial said: "Besides the rough daily schedule, these special teachers (substitute) are also forced to put up with unruly young people." If this is the case, parents should really start attending their Parent Teachers Association (PTA) meetings and see exactly what is going on.

If you think the above sounds wild, the editorial brought out some other facts. It stated: "Speaking from experience and observation, Estacado treatment of substitutes could range anywhere from bad to the worst treatment possible. Students lie, cheat, harass, threaten and generally just take advantage of the substitute. Many substitutes have stated it is better to teach at other schools because of the conditions at EHS."

Surely, the students at Estacado are concerned about this type of situation as related by the author of the editorial. As young people, who will be adults and leaders tomorrow, there has to be something that you can do to correct this type of situation. We realize that many parents won't see the editorial published last week, so we want the entire Lubbock community to know what the young writer is saying.

We must help underline the last paragraph of the editorial: "We, as students, should try to better the conditions at our school not only for ourselves, but also to better our images with substitutes. We want people to say the best about Estacado, not the worst. Substitutes perform a vital part of society. Let's see if we can make life a little easier for a substitute."

We hope that every parent of students at Estacado will adhere to what Glynn Warnick has written. We hope that you will become concerned about what is apparently happening. We feel as though this would not have been written if such conditions didn't exist. Estacado, like any other high school in the Lubbock Public School System, has many good qualities and should be seen.

It is the responsibility of the entire community at Estacado High School, as well as parents, to see that all people are given the fair shake. Substitute teachers are ready to perform their duty at the spur of the moment for our young people. Let's get behind them in a positive manner and help them do their job.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

Every time I drive over the overpass on East 24th Street, it appears as though the narrow "thing" is going to collapse with me and whoever is riding with me. It wouldn't be that bad if the City of Lubbock would find a way to stop it from shaking and fill up the holes which are apparently getting larger each day.

Sure, the overpass is convenient to drive over instead of driving around to "cemetery curve" or out East 19th Street to Quirt, but to continue to risk the chance of it collapsing or having a collision with another vehicle is a chance we all have been taking for a long time.

The sign, which reads "no passing", has got to be an understatement. Only an idiot would take the chance of passing someone on this narrow overpass. As I See It, it is time for something to be done about this overpass before something terrible happens.

It would make a lot of sense for the Mayor and City Council of Lubbock as well as other city officials to take a bus tour over this overpass. Maybe, just maybe, some consideration would be given to the shortcomings of this dangerous situation.

This writer receives word from people in legal positions who say that the City of Lubbock is in a bad situation for not having blacks employed by the City of Lubbock Fire Department. This information, not only comes to me locally, but from people in high places at the U.S. Government level.

As I See It, there is an apparent good clear case of discrimination because of the lack of blacks being hired by the City of Lubbock Fire Department. The question asked now is: "Who will file suit against the City of Lubbock?" Will it be the local chapter of the NAACP? Who knows?

It would make good sense for this department to look at their present situation and try to find a way to overcome this problem which is growing each day. All indications show that we (citizens of Lubbock) are beginning to wonder what the problem really is and why this problem hasn't been taken care of by the City of Lubbock. If the black community is counted as a part of this growing community, something should be done about finding a means of hiring qualified black men as firemen. These men should be hired because they have the capabilities of doing a job.

Quote of the Week: "Experience proves that those are most often abused who can be abused with the greatest impunity. Men are whipped most often who are whipped the easiest." Frederick Douglass.

Blacks in America are making great positive steps in the political arena. It would be a good thing if blacks in Lubbock and West Texas would start paying attention to what is happening over the country in politics.

In particular, southern blacks have made major gains in last November's elections. Blacks picked up 35 new seats while holding on to 50 they had before. In a number of areas, blacks won with significant help from white voters. Andrew Young, House of Representatives, captured 72 percent of the vote in a district that is 60 percent white.

The Andrew Young success story should "turn blacks on" in Lubbock and West Texas that it can happen.

U.S. Bureau of the Census statistics show an "appreciable increase" between 1969-1972 of black-owned firms dealing in selected services, according to Alex Armendaris, director of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

According to the report, an analysis of the recently released Census figures shows that in selected services, firms owned by blacks increased from 56,077 in 1969 to 68,469 firms in 1972.

During the same period selected services gross receipts, according to Armendaris, increased from $663.2 million in 1969 to $1.1 billion in 1972.

Selected services include hotels, motels, laundries, beauty and barber shops, business service firms, and automotive repair shops.

Without any doubt, selected services would be healthy opportunities for blacks in Lubbock. Come to think about it, As I See It, we are short in black ownership in these areas.

There's no doubt about it, Norman Williamson (publisher of the West Texas Times) and I have had many experiences together as a team concerned about the free press in America. Norman recently attended a meeting of the Texas Press Association (TPA) in San Antonio and reported that more and more people in Texas are aware of what we are all about.

He received an interesting letter from the director of the public relations department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, Orville Scott of Dallas.

Mr. Scott's comments are worth repeating about his awareness of what Norman is all about. In the letter, he said: "We were thrilled with the caliber of people, such as yourself (Norman), who make up the association. It was a joy to discern first hand your commitment to the highest ideals of a free press. We were made more aware than ever that the daily and weekly newspapers such as yours, along with the churches, are doing more than any single force to upgrade the quality of life in our nation."

In his conclusion, Mr. Scott said: "We will continue to urge our Texas Baptist churches to support you and to work with you in support of Christian principles."

It is good, As I See It, for people throughout Texas to understand what we (West Texas Times) is all about.

firmer stand with the oil-producing countries two years ago.

The Nixon reaction to the oil squeeze was so mild, according to intelligence reports I saw at the time, that some countries suspected the United States was actually behind the push for higher oil prices.

In light of this strange tolerance for the oil gouge, it is interesting to see what has happened to some of the Nixon policymakers.

Former Vice President Spiro Agnew is now doing business with the oil potentates in Kuwait and Saudi Arabia.

Former Secretary of State William Rogers has turned up as the lawyer for the Pahlevi Foundation, which the Shah of Iran uses to invest his enormous oil wealth.

The Houston law firm of ex-Treasury Secretary John B. Connally represents the Arabian Corp., the Lebanon-based firm which recently tried to buy out the Lockheed Corp.

And former Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst is handling legal matters for the Algerian government's oil interests.

Happy Warrior: Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the former Vice President, will soon be back in the headlines. He has taken over the chairmanship of the Joint Economic Committee. And he intends to use the committee to fight for the pocketbook interests of the common people.

As a starter, he has served notice upon the Ford Administration that he will not let them send South Vietnam another $500 million and take the same amount away from the poor in this country.

Humphrey also cornered Treasury Secretary William Simon and congratulated him on his candid confession that the economy is in trouble. But Humphrey added: "I don't want my doctor just to tell me I'm sick. I want him also to tell me how to get better."

Classless Crunch: Even the fatcats are beginning to feel the economic pinch. A former assistant postmaster general, for example, recently called on us. He had been squeezed out of the Postal Service in a political power play.

His former corporation has no vacancy at the executive level but put him back on the payroll as a consultant. That job ran out several months ago. Meanwhile, he can't find anyone who needs a former assistant postmaster general.

He could not longer fight back the tears as he told us finally that he didn't think he was better than other people but that it was hard for him, a former big boss, to line up for unemployment compensation and to draw food stamps.

Washington Whirl: Henry Kissinger's reputation as a lady's man suffered grave damage at a recent White House party when females flocked around the still suave film idol, Cary Grant....State Department sources predict the Ford Administration will soon lift the 10-year-old arms ban to Pakistan....Some of our readers have written to tell us they are wearing their WIN buttons upside down so that it reads NIM for No Indochina Military aid....Newly elected Rep. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., has been deluged with complaints from frustrated State Department bureaucrats who remember he was formerly a lawyer at the department.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

GREECE AND TURKEY MOVE CLOSER TO WAR
by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear
(From United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is concentrating his diplomatic skills on preventing war between the Arabs and Israelis. But behind his back, war may break out between Greece and Turkey.

On Cyprus, for example, an uneasy truce between Turkish and Greek Cypriot forces is close to the breaking point. Already, the Turkish Cypriots have arbitrarily declared their third of the island an independent state. There has also been sporadic fighting around the capital city of Nicosia.

Turkey has military superiority on the island, but this could soon change. Congress has ordered a total embargo on military aid to Turkey, whose armed forces are American equipped from bombs to boots. Without spare parts, the Turkish planes and tanks won't be able to operate for many more months.

But fighting may be even more likely over the Aegean Sea than over Cyprus. The Turks have their eyes on the oil that is believed to exist under the Aegean. Most of the seabed lies within Greece's territorial boundaries. Yet Turkey has granted exploration permits in the area.

A military showdown over the Aegean would be primarily a naval encounter. The Greek and Turkish navies are more evenly matched than their armies.

So a Greek-Turkish war may explode on Kissinger while he is trying to prevent an Arab-Israeli war.

Seeing Red: President Ford's budget has everybody seeing red. Liberals don't like the cuts in social programs. Conservatives are outraged over the $52 billion deficit.

This is the largest peacetime deficit in history. Yet the red ink is likely to widen to $70 billion by the time Congress gets through adding its pet programs.

Not even President Ford is happy with his own budget. His statements on the budget dramatically underline how fast the economy is slipping. Last fall, he promised a balanced budget. He changed his mind by the end of the year.

In his January State of the Union message, he estimated a $44 billion deficit would be necessary. Yet only three weeks later, he called for a $52 billion deficit.

The President has told friends gloomily that he can never get re-elected unless he can improve the economy. His economic experts have told him that the outlook should begin brightening in about four more months. But these are the same experts who have consistently underestimated the severity of the economic distress.

Oil Connections: Congressional critics believe the Nixon administration could have held down oil prices by taking a Message was received here last Friday morning that Mrs. Alma Mosely, a longtime resident of Lubbock, passed away at a rest home in Fort Worth, Texas. She was stricken at her home here, 2105 Date Avenue, early in December, and her brother and niece came immediately and carried her to Fort Worth and placed her in a hospital.

She was later transferred to the rest home prior to her demise.

Alma's native home was Mexia, Texas, but was carried to Fort Worth at a very early age, and was reared there.

Services were held Tuesday morning at 11 a.m. with Baker Funeral Home in charge of arrangements and burial.

Among Lubbock relatives who attended the services were Mr. Johnnie C. Moseley Roberson; her two sons, Ronnie and Joby; her father, Eli Moseley; Mrs. Rosa Jones, Mrs. Katie Thomas, Miss Gittis Moseley and Mrs. Etta Moseley and others.

Alma was a longtime resident of Lubbock and was well known and loved by many friends.

Camp Fire Girls Hold Awards Banquet Here Tonight at First Christian Church

In a circus setting complete with ringmaster, clowns and balloons, more than 200 members and their leaders from the Lubbock Council of Camp Fire Girls will gather at First Christian Church at 7:00 Thursday evening to receive awards and prizes earned by their sales of Camp Fire Girl Candy during the annual sale recently completed here.

In addition to receiving their awards, the group will also express their appreciation to the citizens of the Lubbock area who purchased more than 35,000 boxes of candy, yielding approximately $28,000 to be used by the Lubbock Council for the benefit of Camp Monakiwa near Las Vegas, New Mexico.

The top candy salesman in the area will receive a telephone for her room for a year, a trophy, her choice of a television set, 10 speed bicycle, or stereo, plus a full campership to Monakiwa for one session this summer. Competition for the grand prize has been keen, as Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls throughout the city have diligently rung doorbells asking friends and neighbors to buy candy and help Camp Monikiwa.

In addition to the grand prize, many other awards will be given for various levels of sales activity, ranging from a certificate for 18 boxes, through theatre passes, stuffed toys, charms, a McDonald's Hamburger Party, a swimming party at the Y.W.C.A., local day camperships, partial and full camperships to Monikiwa, and on into choice of premiums for sales of 400 boxes.

More than 1,000 girls participated in the candy sale this year, and more than half have sold 18 boxes or more. At least 200 have sold a minimum of 72 boxes, making them eligible for a certificate, emblem, theater pass and stuffed toy.

The evenings activities will be under the direction of Dr. Karl T. Dockray, who will serve as ringmaster in full costume. Clowns will hand out balloons to all participants and assist in distributing awards. Mrs. Dockray served as chairman of the awards program.

Owen Hamilton, president of the Lubbock Council of Camp Fire Girls, will congratulate all participants for their part in a most successful candy sale and will express the appreciation of the Council to everyone who helped during the sale. Singled out for special thanks will be Tom Noble of The Lubbock Racing Pigeon Club; the Saddle Tramps, Phi Kappa Psi, and Alpha Phi Omega of Texas Tech; Col. Richard A. Ingram, Chaplain James W. Millsap, and the personnel of Reese Air Force Base; Cecil Puryear; Liquid Air Company; Steve Cates of South Plains Cinema; and Ken Gray of McDonald's Hamburgers. Special appreciation will also go to Sequoyah Perry, general chairman of the candy sale.

Mr. Hamilton will call attention to a special display featuring Camp Monikiwa which is scheduled for a three week showing at the Mahon Library beginning February 21.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

The first half of the Southwest Conference race quickly decided one thing—it's a threeteam battle. After eight games Texas A&M, Tech and Arkansas are all alone. Indeed, the two teams tied for second have a three-game bulge over the next teams.

So, the final games have a bearing on whether the Aggies can keep their lead. All things being equal, Arkansas has a slight edge in that it only plays two remaining games on the road.

Arkansas, however, must play Tech and Texas away from the Hills, not an easy assignment. Tech and A&M each have three games away. Tech met SMU Tuesday and has games with A&M and Baylor. A&M met Baylor and has games with TCU and SMU.

More and more it appears that the Tech-Aggie game in College Station next Tuesday might be THE deciding game. It looks that way, although the other games are not to be ignored.

The Raiders, after showing the killer instinct against Rice in Houston, failed to follow up against SMU when they had the Ponies on the ropes. They blew a 21-point lead and had to rally to win, when they should have won going away.

Against Rice Saturday night they had to battle to stay alive. The disappointing thing was that Tech couldn't cover the Owls man for man. They had to go to the zone to win. It was fortunate that Rice couldn't cope with the zone.

Will the race go down to the wire? Will A&M be tripped by someone when least expected? Will Tech and Arkansas continue to win on the road, setting up their head to head match this Saturday?

The incentive is with Arkansas. The Porkers have never defeated Tech in Lubbock, never. If the Raiders win that meeting, it could be the stage for a mammoth battle in College Station. Don't go away folks, this could be anyone's season.

Lee Frasier disallowed a Rick Bullock goal last Saturday night when the Rice game still was in doubt. The crowd immediately reacted, vociferously—but not one cup of ice was flung! Wheel! Common sense, decency and courtesy returned.

Large, enthusiastic crowds make basketball the emotional game that it is. You can pick out dozens of things during the course of any game to be unhappy with, but showing displeasure by throwing things has no place in the game.

The SMU-Tech game triggered action by the conference to see that such things didn't happen again. Still, J.T. King said that Cliff Speegle, conference official, wasn't the one who made any violent protest.

Instead, Tech officials decided that things had gone too far, that such reaction was hurting the university's image. And the argument that "everybody does it" didn't hold any weight. It had to be stopped before someone was hurt.

Cup and ice throwing isn't unique to Lubbock and Texas Tech. This has been going on for years, here and elsewhere. There is, of course, no excuse for it.

Objects have been thrown for years—pennies, tomatoes, ice cups, paper clips, programs—you name it, it has been thrown, at Lubbock, College Station, SMU, Baylor, anywhere.

It wasn't many years ago that Polk Robison and the Tech squad were subjected to a paperclip barrage at A&M, along with football players seated behind the Tech squad to jeer, hell and harrass the Raiders.

Polk said nothing, but when Bobby Rogers brought the Aggies out here, football players were seated behind the Aggies. They made so much racket that Rogers could hardly hear. After the game, Bobby commented to Polk that he didn't much appreciate it.

"Now you know how others feel when they go to College Station," Polk replied.

That ended it at A&M.

Crowds at SMU were relatively well behaved when it came to throwing things a few years back, but a portion of those crowds were so obscene in their remarks at Polk, Gene Gibson and players that it was unbelievable.

Indeed, one time in the old Baylor gym I heard a young "lady" divest herself of such language that she would have earned a top place for herself in my overseas outfit.

Texas has been known to cause mop up operations during a game, while TCU also has joined the "Hey! Mom, look at the arm I got!" brigade.

All of which doesn't make any of it right. There is no place for any object being thrown at any time. All it does is threaten the safety of innocent people.

McCoy McLemore, Rice assistant, probably saved me one night recently. He remarked that something had hit him in the back of the head, but "because of this Afro, I hardly felt it!" He fortunately was sitting right behind me.

Anyway, let's hope the long distance throwing contests are over, for this year and all time—but don't bet on it!

Rites Pending for Joe McGowen

Services are pending at Jamison Funeral Home for Joe McGowen, a longtime resident of Lubbock, who passed away last Saturday evening, February 15, at the V.A. Hospital at Big Springs, Texas, after eleven days there.

Joe entered the hospital Tuesday, February 4, for supposedly a general checkup for some minor problems. He grew steadily worse until Saturday about 8 p.m. when he quietly slept away with his devoted wife at his bedside.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. McGowen had been a resident of Lubbock for many years and accumulated his own home at 2413 Cedar Avenue and was a shoe salesman at the Booterie for many years where he made many friends of all races. He was admired and respected by many.

His brother, Willie of Navasota, Texas, spent a few days here and at his bedside at Big Spring last week. A sister, Mrs. Annie Hills, arrived last Sunday morning from Navasota to help care for Joe by taking turns with her sister-in-law, but her brother had already passed away before she arrived.

Final arrangements are pending arrival of relatives from California and Minnesota. Services will be conducted at Jamison and Son Funeral Home Chapel, and the body will be transferred to Navasota, his home, for interment.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mae Emma McGowen; a step daughter, Mrs. Lula Mae Gentry; a grandson, David Gentry, Jr.; both of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Mae Hills of Navasota, Mrs. Ernestine Hester of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Georgia Winfield of Houston; two brothers, Charles of Oakland, California and Willie of Navasota; several nieces and other relatives.

He was a member of the American Legion Booker T. Washington Post #808 of Lubbock.

with Curtis Starks Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Rites Held for Lubbock Resident

Final rites were conducted at Nelandville Community, near Greenville, Texas, for Mrs. Sevilla "Billy" Woods, who was a longtime resident of Lubbock and had been ill several years. She grew worse three weeks ago and her only brother, Herbut Miles, and wife came to see about her. At that time, she was transferred to a hospital at Greenville, Texas by Cozine Funeral Home where she passed away Monday, February 10.

Services were held at the Community C.M.E. Church last Wednesday, February 12, with the pastor officiating and burial in Groundy Cemetery.

Mrs. Woods was a faithful member of Bethel A.M.E. Church of Lubbock where she served on the usher and stewardess boards. She was also a member of the senior choir. Her health condition terminated her activities.

She was a sister of the late Mrs. Artie M. Wheeler who was also a conscientious Christian worker at Bethel A.M.E. Church, prior to her death in 1963.

Besides her brother, survivors include many nieces, nephews and other relatives, many friends, a cousin, Mrs. Nelerine Fletcher and family; also a niece, Mrs. Clovis Burns who resides in Lubbock and are members of Bethel.

Cozine Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. G. "Margaret" Sanders Dies in Portland, Oregon

Funeral services were held Tuesday, February 18, at 11 a.m. at the Church of Christ for Mrs. Margaret Sanders, a former resident of Lubbock, and who has resided in Portland, Oregon, for many years.

Margaret, with her husband Gilbert, visited their many friends and relatives here last summer. She had been quite ill a few years, but had recovered satisfactorily and was able to make the airlift here.

A few weeks ago, she was stricken with the flu and developed pneumonia which proved to be fatal Wednesday, February 12, at a local hospital there.

Mrs. Sanders' services were held at a church of which she was a charter member in the organization. She was a dutiful Christian worker when her health permitted.

Survivors include her husband, a son, Wallace "Billy" Sanders; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Climmie "Dora" Johnson; two grandchildren, Audrey, 15 and Monty, 14, all of Portland; two sisters, Mrs. Christene Stanfield and Mrs. Mary Craven, both of Los Angeles, California; and many inlaw relatives of Lubbock and Seattle, Washington.

Valentine Party at New Hope Baptist

The Baptist Training Union of New Hope Baptist Church was the scene of a two-fold party last Friday evening with Mrs. R.B. Thompson, director, in charge. The party honored members whose birthday dates were in the month of February and also carried out Valentine celebration.

The birthday honorees were Glenn Frances, Margie Nell Martin, and Dewayne Slughter.

One of the fun highlights was the postal mailbox. Each individual was asked to call for his or her mail which might be a letter with regular first class postage, a special delivery, a registered or certified mail. Whatever the kind the recipient must pay the cost.

The affair was quite enjoyable and each participant had fun, along with the group. It was quite a success. Birthday cakes and cookies and some delicious punch were included in refreshments served. An evening that will be remembered for the fellowship it produced.

The Black Experience: Throughout the history of American Blacks, the relative weight of leaders embodying the major patterns has waned and waxed with the socio-political fortunes of the Black masses. Martin Luther King's grandfathers, for example, lived and worked under the shadow of four radically different men: Frederick Douglass, Booker T. Washington, W.E.B. DuBois and Marcus Garvey.

For fifty years from 1945 to 1895, Douglass was universally recognized as the leading American Black. During this span, he hewed out the boundaries and the limitations of the Black resistance movement, holding aloft, through good years and bad years, a program of total and immediate integration. And although Douglass knew little of India and less of Hegel, believes Lerone Bennett, Jr., he was an early advocate of sit-ins and ride-ins. For example Douglass once remarked: "The whole history of the progress of human liberty (1857) shows that all concessions yet made to her august claims, have been born of earnest struggle. If there is no struggle, there is no progress, those who profess to favor freedom and yet deprecate agitation are men who want crops without ploughing up the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightning. They want the ocean without the awful roar of its many waters. This struggle may be a moral one, or it may be a physical one, or it may be both moral and physical, but it must be a struggle."

Douglass in 1857 concluded, "Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and it never will. Men may not get all they pay for in this world, but they must certainly pay for all they get. If we are to get free from the oppression and wrongs heaped upon us, we must pay for their removal. We must do this by labor, by suffering, by sacrifice, and if need be, by our lives and the lives of others."

Neither protest nor activism would alter significantly the social conditions of minority living in the midst of a majority which feared and hated them, believed Marcus Garvey, a brilliant and bombastic Jamaican. Raising more than ten million dollars (largest in history of black resistance movement) Garvey called in the early and middle twenties for a return to Africa. The movement failed of course. Even so, black leaders continued to dream and plan and work to make democracy real.

From the mailbag-Chimes: A number of inquiries concerning the condition of Rev. Jonah Parker, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls-Amarillo district of the C.M.E. Church. On our visit to his bedside at the Caprock Hospital in Floydada recently, we found the minister resting as comfortably as could be expected, after having been involved in an automobile accident, in which his new station wagon was completely destroyed. Numerous head injuries were suffered and he is to be transferred to Veterans Hospital in Oklahoma City as we go to press. Cards and letters to him may be addressed to Mrs. Jonah Parker, 250 Maiden St., Vernon, Texas. Word comes that the 1975 Save Langston University Movement is off to a grand start. National chairman is Miss Alstene Starks of Langston, Okla., states that the five million dollar drive is to build "a protective wall" around the university expansion programs.

Lubbock area bellringers report that a federal suit may be brewing if city council cannot find a way for minority representation. There are no blacks or browns on the council and a recent effort in this direction was defeated, according to reports.

It is estimated that some $4 billion is available each year for financial aid to college students. But for many black college bound youth, scholarships and other means of assistance are increasingly hard to come by, believes A.C. Morton. For example scholarships set up exclusively for minority students majoring in journalism declined from more than $220,000 to less than $90,000 in just one year, according to a recent Newspaper Fund report. Presently, the basis for awarding most scholarships, grants, fellowships and loans is the financial need of the applicant. But if the pendulum swings in the opposite direction, with more and more awards being given on a noneed basis, then many black students (who for any number of reasons could not achieve academic

Church News . . .

Wednesday evening at seven. Seven days without prayer makes one weak. Let us continue to pray.

Let us pray for and visit our sick and shut in members. Those on the sick list include Rev. Samuel Swisher who remains shut in At Edward's Rest Home; Sister Dolly Howard and Sister Iaa Johnson, who are both shut in at their homes. Sister Everlean Allen is recuperating in her home.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

Let us be reminded of the book drive. With regard to the donating of books in order to establish our library, the response has been good. However, only a small percentage of the entire congregation has done anything to support the effort. If you want to help, see Sister Patricia Austin.

The young ladies of our church met at the home of Sister Patricia Austin last Friday evening for their weekly devotional. The group will meet in the home of Sister Velma Lethridge on Friday evening, February 21.

Due to Sister Cora Lawson's ill health, she has not been able to attend the meetings as she would like to have done. She covets our prayers, and would enjoy having us to visit with her.

Rising Star Baptist Church

We, the members of Rising Star Baptist Church, had another wonderful day serving the Lord last Sunday. The weather was bad, but the membership was fair. Our pastor, Rev. L. Thomas, preached a wonderful sermon. The choir sang beautifully.

The W.M.U. Mission of the Brotherhood will sell dinners at the church Saturday, February

22. We are asking all our members and friends to come by and eat a delicious meal.

Let's continue to pray for the sick and shut in members. God will hear and answer our prayers.

New Hope Baptist Church

Ushers rehearsal will be held Friday evening, February 21, at 8 p.m. in the church auditorium. All members are asked to attend and invite new members to join us as well.

Special Bishop College Sunday will be observed Sunday, March 9. This is a National Baptist Convention assigned date that all churches observe. Let us make plans to do our share for our college on this date.

Members of the Bertha Dunn Circle met last Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Dora Johnson.

Dr. E.A. Freeman, president of the National Baptist Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress, will be in our city Sunday, March 9, at 8 p.m.

Services will be held at Lyons Chapel Baptist Church. All members are asked to attend and invite others to come and worship with us.

Let us continue to pray for and visit our sick and shut in members. Those on the sick list include Ms. Clara Colquitt, Ms. Minnie Walker, Mr. Clem Virden, Ms. Sarah Riddle, Ms. Callie Cato, Ms. Katie Snell, Ms. James E. Knighten and Mr. Ulysses Beaty.

Triumph Baptist Church

Slaton—If you don't have a church home, feel free to come and worship with us.

The spirit was uplifting this past Sunday in spite of the bad weather, beginning with Sunday School. The lesson was "A Reconciled People". There were several good high points. Service was well attended led by Bro. Scott and Bro. Jefferson.

The Junior Choir sang 3 songs them we heard from our youth choir.

Rev. Brown delivered the morning message. His topic was "Spiritual Apetite", Job 38:29-41. The Sr. Choir was responsible for the music of the hour.

Federation of Chair Services will be at Gospel Chapel and each church. Rev. James Green, pastor, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 23.

Triumph Baptist Church senior choir is having a musical Sunday night at 7 p.m.

Triumph Baptist Church is located at 1255 E. Geneva, Slaton, Texas. Rev. M.A. Brown, pastor.

Mrs. Kline to Speak To Library Bunch

Mrs. Eleanor Kline will share her knowledge of Paris, gained from many trips abroad, with the Library Lunch Bunch on Tuesday, February 25, at 12:15 p.m. at the George and Helen Mahon Library, 1306 Ninth Street.

Mrs. Kline will describe various walking tours that she and Rabbi Kline have taken in Paris.
