Nationally, Mr. Siegel has won five of the most important piano competitions including the Stillman Kelly Scholarship sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Randolph Banz and Artist's Advisory Council Awards, the Roeder Prize for outstanding graduate and the Fullbright Scholarship for study in London at Juilliard. Political Action Increases
As May 6th Primaries
Filing Deadline Passes

Monday, February 7th, at 6:00 p.m., marked the last day to officially file with the Democratic or Republican County Chairmen for spots on the primary ballots for the first Saturday in May. For the upcoming primary elections on May 6th, there are only two local Republicans filing as compared to 36 Democratic hopefuls.

The race for County School Superintendent should prove to be an interesting one since one of the three candidates admitted last week that she would retire from the post if elected. The post was vacated by retiring Roy Boyd last year.

The slate of the local elections in various races looks like this:

U.S. Congress, 19th District:

George Mahon, incumbent, unopposed.

State Senate:

H.J. "Doc" Blanchard, unopposed, incumbent.

State Representative, 75th House District, Place 1:

League of Women Voters File Garbage
Repeal Petition with City Monday

Mrs. Carolyn Jordan, League of Women Voters president, and Dan Benson, legal counsel for the League, are shown in the City Secretary's Office Monday morning as they presented a stack of garbage charge ordinance petitions for the Council's consideration.

The League of Women Voters turned in a reported 8,416 signatures Monday morning at City Hall for citizens who want to see Lubbock's garbage service charge repealed. Petitions will be presented to the City Council today. Councilmen will then have 30 days to consider action on the request. Only 6,011 signatures were required on the petition.

The president of the League, Mrs. Carolyn Jordan, made known that she doesn't think the council is going to ignore the 8,416 signers of the petition. She made it clear that the organization is prepared to legally force an election on the issue if the council takes no action.

Another development was made known when petitions were filed Monday with the city secretary. Mrs. Jordan said even if the council amends the garbage charge ordinance, the ten-member referring committee could decide to seek a referendum if the amendment was not deemed satisfactory. This would "give the people a choice between the existing ordinance and the amended ordinance," Mrs. Jordan said.

Last September, the League entered its first battle at city hall when it tried to have taxes raised through property taxes only.

The League argued in the council chambers that the levying of a $2.00 per residence monthly charge is unfair for low-income families having to pay the same as affluent families.

Aside from disagreeing with the city fathers, the League has proposed an alternate formula that would base the residential garbage charge on property value. This proposal would be based on a charge of 62 cents a month per $5,000 market value of a home—allegedly raising the same amount of revenue as the present charge. Charges to apartments, commercial businesses, industries and other institutions would remain unchanged from the existing ordinance under League proposals.

The League, however, circulated petitions asking only for the repeal of the present ordinance.

Top Black Woman Official Resigns
HUD Post to Enter Private Business

Washington, D.C.—Mrs. Ruby Burrows McZier, one of the top women officials at the Department of Housing and Urban Development has announced her resignation from HUD to enter private business.

Mrs. McZier plans to open her own law office and management consulting firm in Washington, D.C. and Daytona Beach, Fla.

For eight months, Mrs. McZier served as Acting Director of the Subsidized Home Ownership Program for low and moderate income families. In that capacity, she was the first woman to hold a director's position in FHA.

Mrs. McZier, who is Black, joined HUD in February 1969, as Special Assistant to Samuel Jackson, the Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Management. Her responsibilities included:

The formulation of policy for community planning and management; served as a liaison between HUD and city officials and minority contractors engaged in housing production; and screened departmental regulations for potential impact on urban and rural communities.

Also during her tenure at HUD, Mrs. McZier chaired the first HUD Task Force on Citizen Participation; served as an alternate delegate on the HUD Advisory Committee for International Affairs, and compiled the first registry of minority consultants and businessmen engaged in housing development and counseling.

Mrs. McZier also represented HUD at numerous conferences and universities, addressing the many complex issues of community development and citizen participation.

As a result of her outstanding work, Mrs. McZier received two Sustained Superior Performance Awards at HUD in 1970 and 1972.

In entering business, Mrs. McZier explained that her area of specialization will be in real estate, business development and urban affairs.

"There are many complex legal and socio-economic issues involved in the current controversy over the decay of the inner cities and neglect of rural communities," Mrs. McZier said. "Too often, professionals have advised officials on programs and policies that are fragmented, and failed to understand the interrelationship of production, management, services, race and class issues, and the roles of government officials and citizens.

She added, "It is in this area particularly that I am prepared to clarify the issues and offer alternative solutions. Of course, much of this will be done in the courtroom; much done also over the conference tables. That is why I am creating a business enterprise that offers a two-pronged professional service."

Prior to joining HUD, Mrs. McZier was legal counsel and director of research for Dick Gregory Enterprises in Chicago. She previously worked as a Program Analyst for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission; Contract Compliance Officer for the OEO, and Law Clerk in the office of Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Three In Race —
Rigsby Announces
For Mayor's Race

Mayor pro-tem Deaton Rigsby announced his candidacy for mayor of Lubbock Tuesday afternoon in a press conference in the City Council chambers. Although the young insurance executive made his announcement for the post Tuesday, many had thought for several weeks that he would seek the post.

His political move, however, did surprise the other candidates in the mayor's race, Councilman Morris "Moe" Turner, and Willie Barnett, local businessman, who had both filed earlier for the same spot.

Rigsby's announcement will make way for four vacancies on the five-man council. These positions will be filled on Saturday, May 8th, by the voters of Lubbock. Three of these positions, mayor, place two and place four were to have been the only ones voted on until Rigsby announced his intentions. Councilman Lonnie Hollingsworth holds the place two position and has not decided what his future plans are; while place four is presently held by Councilman Turner.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Rigsby resides at 4615 11th Street with his wife, the former Miss LaRuth Faubion, and their two daughters, Renee, 17, and Sharia, 12.

He is a member of the First Christian Church where he serves on the executive committee, is church treasurer, and an adult class teacher.

Let's All Register for This Year's Political Affair

With Monday being the last day in which candidates could file for the May 6th primaries (Democratic and Republican), and March 1st and March 8th being the deadline for candidates to file for school trustee and city council positions, respectively, we still have time to become qualified voters.

In an announcement by the Secretary of State office last month, one may become qualified to vote if he is registered thirty-days prior to any election. Therefore, anyone can register during the entire year.

We must, however, caution all citizens that they must be registered thirty days before the given election. This is a big year in the political arena, and it is wise to register today.

Aside from the general elections in November of this year—for county, state and national offices—there are other issues to be voted on; including the aforementioned school board and city elections; various amendments to the state constitution, which most certainly will effect the lives of every Texan; while such "hot potato" issues in the city of Lubbock as garbage charge repeal and liquor-by-the-drink will certainly be submitted to the voters in the near future.

In our community, as well as the state of Texas and this great nation in which we all live, there are complex and difficult problems. We can't help but see these problems are basic to human dignity and equality. They can not be neglected. If they are forgotten, they will continue to grow and fester, until they engulf us all. Black and white, rick and poor.

As American citizens in 1972, we must be made to realize that we should register to vote in order to play an important role in combatting the many problems which are facing us daily. By doing this, we all can move ahead in our effort to insure social and economic equality to all Americans—through the true American method—by voting. It's true that social progress can not be attained without political power.

Let's all register for this years political affair with the various politicians and issues which now face us and will continue to face us in the future. Put on your voice to vote and hold your head up high and be counted!

Your community, your state and nation needs your participation—through your vote. It's important and so are you!

On Voter Registration

There has been some confusion relating to registration deadlines under the new registration system. As has been pointed out by the Secretary of State, Bob Bullock, registration never closes. It will not cease on January 31, as it has in past years. Those persons who have registered by that time will appear on the initial list of registered voters. Those registering after January 31 will appear on supplemental lists, which will be prepared 20 days prior to an election. Every person who submits an application to the Tax Assessor-Collector or a duly appointed deputy at least 30 days prior to an election will appear on either the original or supplemental lists which will be sent to the polls.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

As I See It city politics will become very interesting this year. It's always amazing to hear the many promises made by those candidates who are seeking office. If you get an opportunity, watch very closely and you'll discover that they say different things, depending on what type of group they are speaking to.

None of those elected can save Lubbock or any community. If you listen to them very carefully, you'll hear them say they are the answer to the many problems facing our community.

In the past, this writer has heard many politicians say one thing west of the "Mason-Dixon" line and a completely different thing on the east side of the line. Of course, you know that too, but prove it by paying a lot of attention to what type of politics are played this year. If they attend your church on Sunday morning or your club during the week, listen closely to what they have to say, and you'll learn a whole lot.

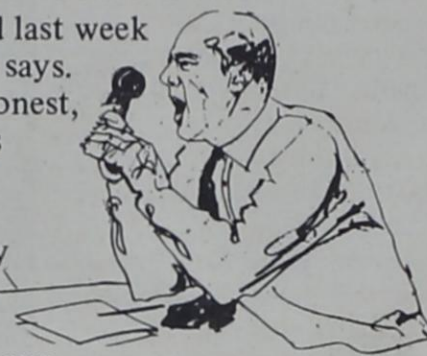

As I've said from time to time, it's time for Black people to learn how to think and not be told what to think.

Thought of the week: "A lifetime of happiness! No man alive could bear it, it would be hell on earth."

In E. Franklin Frazier's Black Bourgeoisie, he hit the nail on the head when he said, "the Black

From The Business Desk

We nearly decided last week to "cop out", as Pat says. And I guess, to be honest, "we" refers to yours truly, more than anyone else around here. I discussed very seriously with T.J. the idea of pulling back with several of our programs, and settling ourselves or your newspaper with the idea of remaining just a small, not very representative weekly media. Like I said at the beginning, we nearly decided to "cop out", but I was talked out of the idea pretty quickly. I suggested to T.J. that we drop the Editorial page, and move into a more conservative, and less Think!

Crossing The River

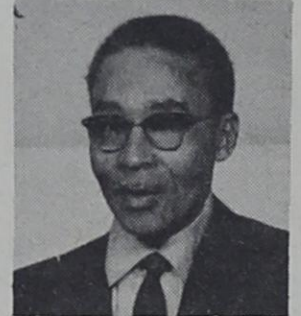

Thousands of times readers of Western stories have read where a cowboy, referring to his partner, has made the statement: "I wouldn't cross the river with nobody but old Tex by my side."

Crossing the river! What did they mean? During cattle drives it often entailed the dangerous act of crossing a river that was known to be full of hazards, undercurrents, and a swift current. Along with the dangers of the river there were the dangers of the flying hoofs of thousands of heads of cattle, plus the skiddishness of the nervous horses. There was always the danger of being swept from your horse by the current or some other uncontrollable factor. No rider would cross the river alone. Two riders with mutual respect for each other always rode together placing their lives in each other's hands. The term "crossing the river" implies that you have the utmost faith, trust, and belief in another individual.

Knowing and living in this "dog eat dog" world, how many people are you willing to cross the river with? That includes your immediate family. This is a world where the majority of its occupants are grabbing trying to take all of the material things as well as an unearned prestige in spite of whom they might hurt or fail during the procedure.

Are there any true blue loyal friends today like: David and Jonathan, Ruth and Naomi, Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday, Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer, Gayle Sayers and Brian Piccolo.

The air is filled with "you must be loyal," but the meaning of loyalty escapes so many. It is common knowledge that you must accept every act of degradation or abuse that is practiced under Bourgeoisie is without cultural roots in either the Negro world with which it refuses to identify, or the white world which refuses to permit the Black Bourgeoisie to share its life."

Putting the icing on the cake, he said, "The Black Bourgeoisie has developed a deep-seated inferiority complex. The Black Bourgeoisie has created in its isolation what might be described as a world of make-believe in which it attempts to escape the disdain of whites and fulfill its wish for status in American life."

Black people must understand that the world is for real and we cannot be anyone but ourselves. We must realize that we are without the economic outlet in West Texas to become a total part of the community.

I must admit that I'm no traffic engineer, but it would appear to be a much safer and faster means of control if we had left turn arrows on two main intersections in downtown Lubbock. I'm talking about the area of 19th and Texas (traveling north and south on Texas Avenue) and also at Broadway and Avenue Q, especially traveling east and west on Broadway.

Maybe the traffic engineer knows best. I've heard the reason why there's no left turn signal, and it doesn't sound reasonable. A funny thing, however, there's a left turning signal at 19th Street and Avenue G (turning north and south off 19th).

Isn't there more traffic on Broadway and Avenue Q, as well as 19th and Texas, as there is at 19th and Avenue G?

interesting type of format. He didn't buy the idea, even though I pointed out that there were more weeklies in this part of the state that refrained completely from any editorial stand—and nearly all those papers without editorials were much more successful in selling advertising than we. "Never mind," he said, "We won't be of any value of anyone if we 'cop out' on our responsibility." So here we are again this week, with a page full of editorial content, and only an eight page paper because we haven't been able to sell any more advertising.

Did you know that on February 2, 1754, Benjamin Banneker, at the age of 23, build the first American clock to strike the hours. Other Black history notes this week include the birthday of Bill Russell, February 12, 1934, who was the first Black to manage a major professional sports team.

the disguise of law and patriotism or you will be labeled a skeptic, radical, fool, and sometimes the outrageous epithet of traitor.

It is disheartening, after preparing someone to cross the river with you by giving them the benefit of your experiences, knowledge, and loyalty, to find yourself alone when the banks of the river are approached. Instead of being by your side, your partner is gathering with the bulk of the herders with your guide rope, leaving you to sink or swim.

A true friend is more loyal than a brother; remember Cain and Abel; Esau and Jacob; and Joseph and his brothers? Friendship is cultivated, and the resulting crop is an unbreakable chain composed of links of complete sharing and understanding.

It is frightening to believe that you can only depend on yourself when the stench of the muddy waters penetrate your nostrils, because everyone needs a true friend and not one who is a parasite or a saprophyte.

In order not to be destroyed by the system we must be able to say our community is so united that is isn't necessary to select a partner to cross that river because everyone possesses the same great qualities of a trustworthy friend. We must also erase that color chart from our vision and think of the person as a brother regardless to the hue of his skin, if he has shown the true trait of loyalty.

Have you heard the statement "he is a good guy. He will give you the shirt off his back"? Would he still be a good guy if he didn't give you the shirt off of his back? On second thought, if the guy had only one shirt, as the phrase indicates, he is a damned fool to expose himself for the ungrateful individuals who make up our society.

Our communities have too many problems to be flooded with skeptics, and there is no more room for any more selfish fools.

Think! Look around! Who would you be willing to cross the river with?

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

It's uncanny the way the 1971-1972 Texas Tech basketball team is paralleling the route taken by the 1961-1962 Red Raider team. If you'll remember, it was just 10 years ago that Tech won the Southwest Conference (by beating SMU in a playoff after the teams had tied).

A couple of weeks ago I pointed out that the last time Tech won, it had a 6-10 center, and that the same situation existed this year. It also was pointed out that Tech was 5-2 at home that year, 6-1 on the road.

As of Tuesday morning, just before the TCU game, Tech was 3-1 on the road, 1-1 at home. Now for the sheer coincidence. Ten years ago Tech's only loss on the road was to A&M (Tech lost to the Aggies last Saturday night in College Station). Tech also lost 10 years ago to SMU and TCU at home. And SMU already has won here.

Coach Gerald Myers probably will breathe a sign of relief when this week is over. His Raiders face a major hurdle Saturday night in Waco, but after that three of the next four games are before the friendly folks in the coliseum.

Meanwhile, SMU and A&M face the road. Both are capable of winning away from home, although you remember that A&M stumbled before Arkansas in one of its two tests (Tech beat Arkansas) and SMU fell to A&M on the road.

It's an interesting race, one that might not be decided until the final game of the season when A&M comes here and SMU goes to Baylor. Despite the loss here to SMU, Tech appears to be in good shape with four road games out of the way and three victories on the road. No one else can make the same statement.

This is the crucial year for Texas Tech in its efforts to build a football squad that can compete in earnest for the SWC title. Two years ago Jim Carlen arrived too late to make a strong run at recruiting.

True, the top two high school quarterbacks were collected, but the caliber of the rest of the freshman crop didn't measure up. Last year the Raiders came off with a squad that was acknowledged to be as good as, if not better than, any other in the conference.

Thus, this is the year of decision. Tech must recruit a superior squad now if it hopes to make a real run for the championship. In the final analysis, it isn't necessarily the Blue Chipper that makes the difference. It's the number of top caliber linemen a school collects. You've got to have a superior running back, but you also have to have the blockers that make him great.

Granted that we seldom get the amount of snow that makes winter sports popular here, untold hundreds of Lubbock and South Plains folk dash over to New Mexico and up to Colorado every weekend to enjoy skiing.

Regardless of that, if you enjoy athletics, you can enjoy the winter Olympics. And the program so far has been thrilling to watch. We, as a nation, probably will never dominate this phase of sports as we have track and swimming. Winter sports is too much a way of life for too many other countries.

We make an occasional showing in the ski event or that. We can be, and are, strong in figure skating. We win an occasional hockey victory. But the USA lacks balanced strength and depth in all winter sports to dominate. Maybe, as the winter sports craze continues to boom, we'll reach equal strength.

The Olympics, both summer and winter, unquestionably will continue, but there does seem to be a need for re-emphasis of the amateur status. Avery Brundage has been damned for his barring an Austrian skier from competing on the basis that the skier is really a professional.

Brundage's reasoning is that the skier works for a ski company and advertises skis and other equipment. The point in question is not that he works for a ski equipment company, but that he advertises the equipment.

More serious is the situation, particularly in the iron curtain nations, where the "amateurs" do nothing except train for the Olympics. This is a violation of the spirit, if not the intent, of the Games. A solution is not in sight, since there hardly is a way that these countries can be restrained short of barring them from competition. And that isn't likely to happen.

THE ROUNDUP: Donny Anderson, and some other NFL football players, left Feb. 3 for Japan. They'll be gone about 17 days. . . . Dean White, former Tech football star, is a captain in the Air Force and currently is serving his second tour of duty in Viet Nam. . . . Anybody "lost" a 7 iron? The Pine Hills Country Club pro found just such a club, bent like a horseshoe, in a ditch recently. Temper! Temper! . . . You've heard of Grambling sending football players to the pros, but how about Southern? The pros recently drafted six Jaguars—three offensive and three defensive players. . . . Jackson State has added men to its cheerleader corps this year. In addition to leading cheers, they do a lot of gymnastic work. . . . Wonder what were the emotions of Evans Royal, TCU basketballer, when he took the court here Tuesday night? He was the player a Tech Security officer handcuffed during a fracas not long ago. . . . Don't fail to take in the Golden Gloves. There's going to be some great action this week. . . . A year ago Tech was second with a 4-2 record, but TCU was 6-0. This year the leaders each have a loss. . . . Do the words "night" and "evening" mean the same? Maybe you'll change your mind if you add "gown" to each. Always was a night owl!

On Tour of Duty in Guam

Howard Columbus Gibbs, Jr., a 1969 Dunbar High School graduate, is now serving a tour of duty at Andersen Air Force Base in Guam. "For many reasons Guam is the ideal spot of the Pacific," says Gibbs. "Besides the moderate rainfall, Guam has mid-summer weather the year round," he continues.

The young man from Lubbock, who wrote to the West Texas Times, says, "Guam is great because there are occasional visits of VIP's, Andersen AFB is the real place to be. Guam is also the most heavily populated island in this part of the Pacific. Military personnel account for the majority of this population."

Howard's job in the Air Force is as a law enforcement specialist. Says Howard, "The more proficient one becomes, the more challenging the job gets."

Mission Two meets at the church each Monday night at 8:00. Members are encouraged to attend these meetings.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Observes Founder's Day

Eta Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority observed Founder's Day Sunday, February 6th, 1972. The Sorors worshipped Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. with the Ford Memorial Church of God in Christ.

Following the services, the Sorors had lunch at the Towne Crier Restaurant. Following lunch a "Rededication" ceremony was held.

Sorors from Lubbock, Midland, Odessa and Plainview along with fellow Greeks from the Lubbock area were expected to participate in the observance.

intentions, but sometimes it is not good.

If you can not visit a patient in the hospital by all means do not phone the patient's room. Many times the patient has been given instructions to rest and be quite, and the patient could be sleeping, and you can not see this over the telephone, and you will awaken the patient out of much needed rest.

The other day I walked into a room of a very sick patient, I was not there three minutes and she had two phone calls from interested persons. She was not a Negro. She was an Anglo, for Negroes were not assigned to me. So if you are interested in the well-being of the patient, go by the hospital and if you find them sleeping leave a note and tip out. . .

Trustees of our church for the class of 1972 are Mr. Joe Davenport, Mr. Jimmie Walker, Mrs. A. R. Swain; class of 1973 are Mr. J.T. Braxton, Mr. R.W. Roberts, and Mr. James E. Goode; class of 74 members are Mr. D.C. Kinner, Mr. B.J. Strong and Mr. Harold Chatman.

There was a baby shower last week for the Clarks. We will miss the Clarks very much.

Young people, we want you! There are many young people who want to know God and there are some who know Him and are ignoring Him altogether. We as young leaders of tomorrow are asking you to please come to our church. Maybe you can learn to appreciate how good He has been to you. He is a friend when you do not have a friend. He will stay with you. But above all, you have to meet Him half-way. If you make that first step, He will make the next two. Don't you want to know Him? Hope to see you next Sunday.
