Dunbar Graduate Honored with Summer Course at UT Medical Branch in Galveston

Charles Lewis Melton, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Melton of 2202 East 29th Street, who is a freshman at Prairie View College, was one of three students accepted for a summer program at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, Texas, recently.

Each student was given a $1,000 grant for the program. They will perform in laboratory experiences, attend clinics, hospital wards and also attend classes.

Activities will begin June 12th and continue through August 6th.

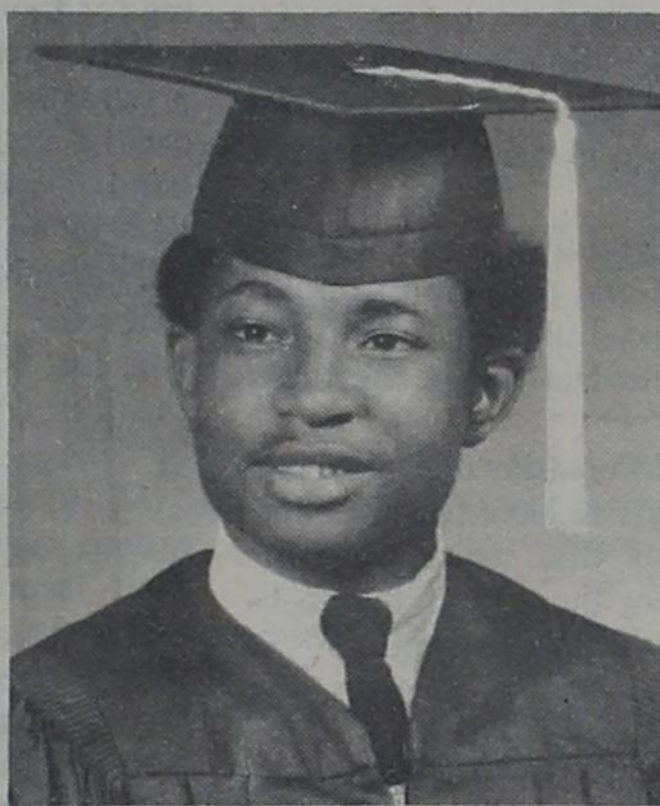

Charles has made quite a reputation for himself during his public school career. He earned a tennis scholarship to Prairie View after graduating from Dunbar High School in 1971. He also won numerous awards in tennis competition and was third highest honor student in his graduating class.

On enrollment at Prairie View, he mapped plans to become a physician, while still performing in many other areas. During a recent President's party, he was one of the stage arrangers. During Honors' Convocation Thursday, April 20th, his brother, Frank, who is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, made the presentation of the honor societies.

Both Melton brothers were on the list of honor students Gumma Cum Laude.

Charles was recently initiated on the tennis team and lost all his growth of Afro, causing him to resemble Yul Brenner. He reports he is anxiously awaiting a new growth, in order to maintain his Afro style.

While in high school, Charles was named

Rotarian of the Month and is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Besides his brother Frank, who is a junior at Prairie View and is planning to become a lawyer, Charles has a sister, Olympia, who is a sophomore at Dunbar High School.

The Melton family are members of Bethel A.M.E. Church, where their father is a steward and their mother a member of the Senior Choir.

Charles' accomplishments in tennis while here at Dunbar included, captain of the Dunbar net team, winner in the Lubbock Jaycee Tournament, and Abilene Halloween Tournament and he also placed second at the Amarillo Relays.

Congressional Black Caucus Disappointed With Recent Action Against Congressman Dowdy

Washington—The Congressional Black Caucus is reported as gravely disturbed and disappointed by the action of the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct concerning the case of Congressman John Dowdy of Texas.

The recent resolution introduced by that Committee concerning Congressman Dowdy raises the serious issue of a double standard in House ethics, according to the Caucus report. Continuing, the report went on to say, "The resolution concerning Congressman Dowdy, furthermore, is hypocritical in contrast to the action taken by the House concerning the late Congressman Adam Clayton Powell.

"Congressman Dowdy was found guilty on eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury. His conviction carried a maximum penalty of up to 40 years imprisonment and fines totalling $40,000. The sentence imposed was 18 months imprisonment and a fine of $25,000. Congressman Dowdy is currently appealing this conviction as is his right. And the House has a Constitutional right to consider the question of his fitness for service in its Chambers. The Committee on Standards of Official Conduct has now provided us with their unsatisfactory answer to that question. The Committee recommends the most minimal of punishments for one of the more major convictions of a Member of the U. S. House in recent history. The Committee resolution states that a Member of the House convicted of certain (defined) crimes should not vote on the House Floor or participate in Committee. Such a minor penalty for such a serious conviction is the first part of what we call hypocrisy."

The report continued, "The second part of that hypocrisy is the contradiction between this case and the action taken by the House concerning Congressman Powell. Congressman Powell was excluded from the House. Exclusion, along with expulsion, is the most severe action the House can Constitutionally impose. Although Rep. Powell was never convicted of a major crime, the House—unwisely in our view—nevertheless saw fit to take this extreme action against him. His exclusion was eventually held improper by the Supreme Court. Rep. Powell was subsequently re-elected to his congressional seat with over 86% of the vote. Once again the House acted in an extreme manner by stripping him of his seniority, and, in an unprecedented action, fining him $25,000.

"Prior to the exclusion of Congressman Powell, the House had acted only five times to exclude Members. These acts were taken on the basis of such serious offenses as

Record Turnout in Runoff Election Sees Turner, Jordan and Campbell Win City Seats

A record breaking turnout of Lubbock voters, only 4,684 more than the West Texas Times predicted last week in the "As I See It" column, Tuesday elected a mayor and two city councilmen. There were 28,684 persons voting in 34 boxes in the City of Lubbock.

Morris W. "Moe" Turner was elected

Morris W. "Moe" Turner

mayor, by defeating Deaton Rigsby by 5,497 votes. Mrs. Carolyn Jordan won out over Dr. Harvie Pruitt while Dr. Bryce Campbell out scored Jerry Nislar.

In looking at the Alderson Junior High School, Box 6, who voted 763 ballots, 447 were for Turner and 310 for Rigsby; while at Box 20, Ella Iles, 326 persons went to the polls and cast 156 votes for Turner and 172 votes for Rigsby.

In the same boxes, Box 6 voted 427 for Jordan who won the Place 2 position and Dr. Pruitt received 329. Box 20 voted 228 for Jordan and only 98 for Pruitt. Nislar received 318 votes to Dr. Campbell's 427 at Alderson in Box 6. Box 20 voted 110 for Nislar and 212 for Campbell.

Turner, 40, who said the important issue was the electric rate increase, is president of M.W. Turner Construction Co. He has served on the City Council for four years and is currently president of the South Plains Association of Governments.

Mrs. Jordan, 36, who is Lubbock's first woman elected as a city councilman, is a housewife and holds a master's degree from

Stanford University. Mrs. Jordan said she would propose revision on the garbage charge to base it on service rendered if elected.

Dr. Campbell, 40, a dental surgeon, said the primary issue in the Place 4 position was qualification and experience. He serves on the city airport board and is active in the Family Service Association, Texas Tech Foundation.

The newly elected councilmen members were sworn in Wednesday afternoon in the City Council Chambers.

Open Lines of Communication In Lubbock is Good Idea

We can't agree more with the statement made by Dr. James Granberry, who stepped down from the mayor's throne this week, when he told the press corps lastweek that there needs to be open communications between all citizens of Lubbock.

There are many projects underway in the City of Lubbock at this time and they will have to be paid for by the taxpayers of this city. And the outgoing mayor made good sense when he said, "Paying for these projects is like making that monthly payment on that new car we wanted so badly."

Citizens of Lubbock, regardless of what community or side of the tracks you live, will need a progressive report from city hall on what's happening to the projects in progress and how we (the citizens) stand on paying for them.

It's been said many times before, but underline the point once again, Lubbock is no longer a country town (although there are those who would rather it was) and no one group or organization can run it. It's growing rapidly and to help boost it more, we must maintain good communications with all citizens of Lubbock.

The new mayor and two elected city councilmen must realize the need for better communications. They can't depend on the tornado package of 1970 alone to move Lubbock forward.

Since there will not be a Mexican-American or Black on the new city council, the new policy making body should increase the number of Black and Brown persons on city boards. This, without any doubt, would help in the communications shortcoming.

We can't assume everything is okay all the time in our community because of the lack of communications in many areas. If our city is to continue to move forward boldly, we must allow total participation from all of Lubbock citizens—Black, white and brown.

Lubbock is moving and to continue to move in a positive direction, we must take the advice of Dr. Granberry, a young man who wanted to share his six years of experience with the City Council of Lubbock.

We must continue to keep the lines of communications open at all times for all citizens of Lubbock. Lubbock needs all of us and we all need Lubbock!

Goodwill is Just That For Thousands of Americans

Nearly everyone in America knows of Goodwill Industries, but perhaps all are not aware of its exceptional services to the nation's handicapped. Goodwill serves people of every age, ability and walk of life—individuals whose handicaps might prevent them from working and from living full, happy and productive lives.

Because Goodwill Industries responds, an able person with a disability can do more than endure and just survive, he is guided to discover a new capacity, learn a new skill, find a way to give his gift and apply his ability. Consequently, he is often able to provide for himself and his family and become a contributing member of the community in which he lives.

The basic idea of Goodwill Industries is to assist handicapped persons to rise to their maximum potential through testing, counseling, work experience, and job placement, or to provide a sheltered workshop to give employment to those who can never reach a level of proficiency necessary to work in private industry.

From its humble beginning in 1902, Goodwill has grown to serve over 25,000 people each day. This exciting expansion is why the 147 Goodwills throughout the nation have attracted such prominent people to serve as board members, guiding and directing activities locally.

In addition to the 360 million pounds of clothing contributed each year, many financial contributions, business contracts, and surplus items were awarded Goodwill. The sale of contributed restored materials accounted for a major portion of the income, enabling Goodwill to pay over $66 million in wages last year while training productive citizens for employment in private industry. We are all affected and every community benefits because Goodwill helps create tax-payers instead of tax-takers.

What about helping by shopping at Goodwill? Almost everyone does. A variety of values awaits the shopper at over 1,000 thrift stores in America.

By giving—giving opportunity for employment rather than sympathy, we can all help Goodwill Add To America's Human Resources.

As I See It

by T. J. Patterson

Our young people of the Lubbock community need our cooperation as adults. In talking with young people from time to time, they seem to be saying that us older people don't really give them an opportunity to prove their total worth.

Talking with a young fellow recently, who apparently was in serious trouble with authorities, he made it clear that it is hard for one (young person) to find someone to turn to when there is trouble.

We've got to change our image of what the young people (those under age 25) see in us. We have got to start being more positive about what our young people can do.

On the other hand, as adults—As I See It—we're gonna have to set some positive examples for the young people to see. Lubbock County, as well as West Texas and the Nation, needs these young people.

I don't know all the answers, nor does any one of us, but we can put what we have together and show these young citizens that we're on their side and really want to help them with the problems which engulf them from time to time.

Also, young brothers and sisters, give us over age 25 an opportunity to work with you. Give us an opportunity to show you some of the things which will benefit you in life. We're on the same team and we really need each other. . . .

Thought of the Week: "It takes your enemy and your friend, working together, to hurt you to the heart; the one to slander you and the other to get the news to you."

The Lubbock Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has a membership drive underway. This chapter needs the support of all Lubbock citizens. With a goal of 1,000 persons joining in the next 45 days, it'll take a great number of us to show our concern for such an organization in West Texas.

Let's get behind this organization and work hand in hand with it in reaching the goal of 1,000 persons. It can be done. An organization like the NAACP can help all of us, regardless of our race, creed or color. People is what the NAACP is all about. Why not get with the people and join the local chapter of the NAACP?

There's no doubt about it, there will be a run-off in the upcoming Democratic Primary on Saturday, May 6th. . . .when four major Democrats—Preston Smith, the incumbent; Mrs. Francis Farenthold; Ben Barnes and Dolph Brisco—will be battling for their party's top slot.

This writer, who has met each of the four personally, will not predict the two who'll be around in June for the run-off. But, on the other hand, I will say that a record breaking vote will be seen in Texas when the last vote is counted.

Not only have I met and know the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, but I have also had an opportunity to talk to other candidates for other offices in the State of Texas.

Of those other candidates, Maurice Angly—a rather aggressive young Republican who is a State Representative for Travis and Burnet Counties, and a candidate for State Treasurer—and Barefoot Sanders, a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate post, were the only two state candidates to visit and talk with me at the Times office.

All in all, there are a lot of things going on in the State of Texas and this writer would like to urge all citizens of Texas to pay close attention to who's running for what and where-fore in your state government.

This Saturday, May 6th, will be a turning point in State government. From the Governor's post to County Commissioner, each of us can play an important role if we go to the polls and cast our vote for the person we think will best represent us in the years to come. It's your duty. Be sure to take advantage of it.

Letters to The Editor . . .

Dear Editor,
I am proud to support Ben Barnes in his race for governor. I am even prouder that I can do so on a positive basis rather than having Dreams are life's fulfillment and most people go gamboling about trying to catch that dream when the only logical way to capture that dream is through rigid preparation composed of hard work, study, common sense, and consideration for others.

It is a waste of time, in this vicinity of the country, to wait for some people to carry out their moral obligations. In fact, it is a waste of time to wait for morals to fill your stomach when some people don't know the meaning of the word. As long as we are on our knees begging and reminding the governing officials of their moral duties in one breath and in the next breath advocating separate black power, that dream will evade us forever.

You can chase good dreams and bad dreams. A person can become so wrapped up in his own little world, like a baby in his mother's womb, until he chases bad dreams that hypnotize him into believing that he is the Messiah.

The dawn is drawing near and is closer than we think. We need to formulate an abundance of dreams and fortify ourselves with knowledge in order to create the many items we need for a complete life.

A nightmare is a method our subconscious uses to tell us to beware; watch the bearer of tales and check the deeds and actions of the person who claims to be your savior in that nightmare. Sometimes, after checking, you will wake up growling like my dog Luger.

Think!

by Dr. R. W. Jones
Dream Chaser

This morning my dog, Luger—part German Shepherd, part Chow, and black as carbon—lying at my feet awoke barking and growling. I am glad that he wasn't dreaming about me, because his ferocious action could have destroyed anything that crossed his path at that moment. After I calmed him and he placed his head on my lap and assured that I was all right, he dropped off to sleep. He had chased a dream. What it was I'll never know, but I do know that my safety was his concern.

How often we chase dreams not knowing what they are, or what the outcome will be. . . We chase nightmares for others. So often they deny this chase, and prove it by a lack of gratitude.

Creations that are the results of dreams are often the life blood of the dreamer and have often made life easier for others. Many times the sacrifices and creations of the dreamer are reamed from his veins and arteries with scalpels of ridicule and criticism expertly handled by surgeons of jealousy and envy.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

Austin, Texas—An estimated 1.85 million Texas Democrats are about to decide one of the most significant primary elections in years. Another 100,000 or more will vote in the Republican primary Saturday, May 6th.

Both parties will also conduct important precinct conventions May 6—first step in the presidential nominations process. With emphasis on the hard-fought gubernatorial primaries in both parties, little attention has been devoted to the conventions beyond a prolonged Democratic scrap over adoption of new procedural rules.

Democrats almost certainly will go into June 3 runoffs for both governor and lieutenant governor—and perhaps other statewide elections.

Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and State Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold of Corpus Christi are major contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial runoff spots.

The lieutenant governor's field is also closely bunched in the stretch drive with State Sens. Wayne Connally of Floresville, Ralph Hall of Rockwall and Joe Christie of El Paso and Houston newspaper executive William P. Hobby the top contenders.

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough is favored to win the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination over Barefoot Sanders and face GOP Sen. John Tower in November.

Republican gubernatorial candidates staging serious campaigns include State Sen. Henry Grover of Houston, Dave Reagan of Sherman, Al Fay of Houston and Tom McElroy of Dallas. John A. Hall of Weatherford has also put up a fight.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is challenged for re-election by John Hill of Houston, and Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Treasurer Jesse James has multiple opposition.

A minimum of 58—maybe as many as 80—new state representatives will be elected and at least 11 new state senators.

Final TPA Regional Polls Revealed—Political polls were taken at two regional newspaper meetings last week—at the South Texas Press Association meeting in Kerrville and the Panhandle Press Association meeting in Amarillo. These are the final polls before the Primary, May 6.

South Texas editors were asked who "would carry their counties"—and for "whom will they vote."

Results were (I believe the following will carry my county in the primary):

Governor's race: Briscoe, 14; Farenthold, 14; Barnes, 7; and Smith 5 (Democratic). Fay, 12, Grover, 3. (Republican).

Lt. Governor: Connally, 19; Hobby, 11; Christie, 3; Hall, 3 and Jones 1.

U. S. Senate: Yarborough, 24 and Sanders, 5.

On the question "I plan to vote for the following", editors voted: Governor: Briscoe, 17; Farenthold, 11; Smith, 4 and Barnes, 3 (Democratic). Fay, 1 (Republican). (Primary).

Lt. Governor: Connally, 13; Hobby, 12 and Christie, 3. (Primary).

U. S. Senate: Yarborough 14; Sanders, 13, (Primary); Tower, 21. (General).

Panhandle publishers voted on the question "I believe the following will carry my county in the primary" in this manner:

Governor: Briscoe, 48; Barnes, 19; Smith, 18 and Farenthold, 1 (Democratic). Grover, 17; McElroy, 16; Fay, 14 and Reagan, 7 (Republican).

Lt. Governor: Connally, 70; Hobby, 7; Hall, 5; Christi, 1 and Jones 1.

U. S. Senate: Sanders, 36 and Yarborough, 34.

The editors said they would "vote" for the following in the primary: Governor: Briscoe, 37; Barnes, 18, Smith, 16 and Farenthold, 11 (Democratic). Reagan, 3; Fay, 2 and Grover, 1 (Republican).

Lt. Governor: Connally, 54; Hobby, 10; Christie, 7; Hall, 6 and Jones, 2.

U. S. Senate: Sanders, 39; Yarborough, 24 and Cartlidge, 3.

In the general election poll, they selected Tower with 47 votes over Yarborough's 20 and Sanders' 9.

No Medicare Evictions—No sick poor are going to be thrown out of hospitals before they are well due to new curbs on medicaid, the State Welfare Department pledges.

The new American Physicians Union claimed in advertisements that Welfare Department guidelines set a limit on hospital stays for each illness.

A department spokesman said nobody will be thrown out who needs to stay in the hospital and that the guidelines were meant merely to suggest normal care periods for ailments and age groups. If additional hospitalization is needed, it will be paid for, a department official stated.

The medicaid program, which cost $142 million for the current fiscal year, is paid two-thirds by the federal government and one-third by the state.

Traffic Deaths Increase—Traffic death this year have increased two per cent over 1971, the Department of Public Safety reports. DPS recorded 904 deaths compared with 888 for early 1971. Deaths on interstate highways actually dropped six per cent, but fatalities in city limits jumped 11 per cent, DPS said.

Justice Dept. Calls for Dallas Desegregation Without More Busing

The Department of Justice suggested last month that a federal court be required to "exhaust every other possible remedy" for desegregating the Dallas, Texas, school system "before requiring any increase in student transportation."

Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the suggestion was made in a friend-of-the-court brief filed in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit in New Orleans.

The appellate court is considering the appeal of a U.S. District Court order desegregating the Dallas Independent School District, the eighth largest in the nation.

In its amicus curiae brief, its first participation in the case, the Justice Department said several matters were not fully explored by the lower court and the parties, and the case should be remanded for further proceedings.

The brief noted that President Nixon has proposed legislation establishing the priority of remedies for federal courts to follow in school desegregation cases.

"In formulating a plan to overcome the effects of the discrimination proved in this case, the parties and the lower court may find the priority of remedies outlined in Section 402 of the 'Equal Educational Opportunities Act' helpful in suggesting alternative approaches to bring the DISD (Dallas Independent School District) into constitutional compliance," the brief said.

"That section would require the court to exhaust every other possible remedy before requiring any increase in student transportation, and section 403 would rule out increases in elementary school transportation."

The brief suggested three courses of action that the appellate court might take:

Set forth guidelines for analyzing whether certain black schools are de facto segregated.

Require further hearings on whether Mexican-American students have been discriminated against.

Set forth guidelines as suggested by the Equal Educational Opportunities Act on the issue of relief.

The Justice Department has previously sought to intervene in school desegregation cases in Detroit, Michigan; Richmond, Virginia; and Nashville, Tennessee.

PAUL ENGER

FOR SHERIFF OF LUBBOCK COUNTY!

PAUL ENGER IS FOR:

- A Detention Home for Lubbock County.
- Employment of minority groups in the Sheriff's Department.
- Improving visitation privileges at the County Jail.
- Precautionary measures to prevent suicides of prisoners in jail.
- Opening the Sheriff's Office to the public.

"Congressman Dowdy has been convicted of bribery, while Congressman Powell was never convicted of any criminal major offense. It has been recommended that Congressman Dowdy be, for all practical purposes, suspended—which is a minimal action, when Rep. Powell received the maximum penalty the House could impose. Other contradictions exist, but this is sufficient documentation that a double standard is indeed operating in the U. S. House. In addition, since his conviction and appeal Rep. Dowdy's behavior has been less than exemplary. His (Alleged) abuse of the franking privilege and the issue of nepotism raise further doubts as to his fitness for service and the type of penalties the House should consider.

"Precedent, justice and fairness demand that the House seriously consider a resolution commensurate with the serious nature of this case. The resolution offered represents a mere slap on the wrist.

It is probable that the resolution will be brought to the floor of the House this week. A House vote on anything less than expulsion would plunge ethical standards to the level of the preposterous, resulting in a waste of time and of our taxpayers' money.

"The Congressional Black Caucus is, above all, concerned with the overriding issue of House Standards of conduct, and reform of many practices of the House. If we pass the resolution offered to us, we will have taken a step backward from the goal of reform and credibility which we as a body should seek.

"At a time when government and institutional responsibility and credibility are being strongly questioned by many Americans, the House must act honestly and courageously. We must reject hypocrisy when it confronts us; we must respond to honesty when it challenges us."

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

Pardon me if I don't bubble over with enthusiasm today. I'm still suffering from having watched Texas Tech's spring football game Saturday. It was not the type of exhibition that would instill confidence in weak hearts.

The play was spirited, there was a lot of hard hitting and there was a generous degree of enthusiasm shown. There were even spots that lent encouragement. And you can even mark this down in capitol letters: Texas Tech will have a football team on the field for 11 games next fall.

Just what the football team will accomplish isn't known now, of course. There is a wealth of material. There is a new look. There are new—and untested—players. There are three quarterbacks and, hopefully, if one doesn't have it, one of the other two might each game

Now for the nitty-gritty. The passing attack looked much better, primarily because Tech's new look manages to put as many as three receivers out on each pattern. The passing attack, judged Saturday, is fair.

The kicking game, aside from non-scholarship star Don Grimes, is questionable. The running game is fair. Tech was trying to get outside Saturday, something it had trouble doing last year. The Raiders succeeded occasionally, but not often enough to be impressive.

The Raiders have a host of running backs available and they run hard. Unfortunately, the offensive line blocking leaves something to be desired. Much of the time the backs made yardage more on their own than as a result of blocking.

Kim Bergman, the big Port Arthur sophomore, could make a difference in the attack. I watched him closely, off and on, and he really moved his defensive man. Bergman fires out and is strong enough to open holes.

But once again it appears that Tech's strength lies in its defense. Despite a rebuilt defensive backfield, the backfield appears to be able to pick up where it left off as the nation's best.

As for the line, a lot of ability showed up, particularly on the Red squad. Tom Ryan and George Herron turned in strong linebacking jobs, while other interior linemen most of the time were too tough for the Whites to handle. When the Tech defense performs as a unit, it should be above average.

You couldn't, in all honesty, go away from Saturday's game convinced that Jimmy Carmichael or Jerry Reynolds are strong enough to lead a resurgence at Raiderland. Both had moments when they looked sharp. Both had moments when they looked extremely average.

Of the two, Carmichael looked the stronger, but then he should have. The majority of the talent was on the Red team, despite protestations that the Raider squad had been divided right down the center.

For instance, the Reds had seven seniors who had won 12 letters, compared to the Whites' three, who had won six letters. The Reds had 11 juniors who had won nine letters, compared to the Whites' 16 who had won six letters. And the Reds had 34 sophomores, 18 of them with squad experience, to the Whites' 30 sophomores, of whom eight had squad experience.

The 1972 isn't for the faint of heart. Tech opens with Utah, which should succumb, followed by New Mexico, which took Tech's measure last year. Then comes Texas, which doesn't need amplification, and Tulsa. And Tulsa is no one's patsy. If you don't believe it, ask Arkansas.

Texas A&M, which should be vastly improved, is next, followed by Arizona, Tech's favorite patsy over the years; Greatly strengthened SMU and Rice follow before Tech comes home for resurgent TCU. Rebuilding Baylor is next in line and Arkansas, probably the conference favorite, is the finale.

The Raiders next fall will have to show vastly improved blocking in the line, ability to go outside effectively, a strong passing attack, with emphasis on the short game, and a combination of enthusiasm on the part of the players and imagination on the part of the coach.

An so much for football—until the All-America game!

You're playing golf. A thunderstorm comes up. Lightning. What do you do? Here's what you don't do. Don't stand under a tall, isolated tree. That's where the majority of lightning victims, a third of all fatalities, lost their lives.

When lightning flashes, the other most dangerous places are on a high spot on a golf course; in a boat; atop a hill on a beach; near a metal clothesline; or on a bicycle, tractor or horse.

When you have to be outdoors in a thunderstorm, probably the safest place to be is in an all-steel, closed car. Now all you have to worry about is how to get that car out to the middle of the lake in which you're fishing!

A parade of music—sacred to soul and folk to symphonic—will be presented by the Estacado High School Band, String Orchestra and three choral organizations in a combined spring concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 9, in the EHS auditorium.

Art work of graduating senior students of Mrs. Maronee Janes and Mrs. Julie Storey will be exhibited in the lobby of the auditorium for the event.

Admission to the concert is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults. Proceeds from the tickets, which may be purchased from music students prior to the concert or at the door, will help finance projects of the performing organizations.

The EHS Orchestra will open the concert with "Capriol Suite" by Peter Warlock. Under the baton of Mrs. Gail Kennedy, the group also will perform Norman Dello Joio's "Air for Strings," "Folk Tune and Fiddle Dance" by Percy E. Fletcher and Phillip Gordon's arrangement of "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet."

Conducted by Phil Higginbotham, the Senior A'Capella Choir will begin the vocal program with sacred selections, "I Beheld Her Beautiful as a Dove" by Healey Willan and "O Lord, Increase My Faith" by Orlando Gibbons.

Baritone soloist, Lorenzo Moore, will perform Handel's "Where 'E're You Walk," and Thomas Eddington, tenor, will be featured on Mallotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

The senior choir will be joined by the Girls Glee Club and the Frosh-Soph A'Capella Choir in a combined rendition of "I'd Like to Teach the World To Sing," arranged by Rogers.

The Green Girls, two sets of sisters—Portia and Sheral, Betty and Marilyn—will perform "The Day I Found Myself."

Program selections of the Girls Glee Club will be "Georgie Girl" and "Husabye Mountain." A sextet from the organization also will sing "Release Me."

"The Zulu King," "The Fantastics" and "My Own Love" from "Gone With the Wind" will comprise the program of the Frosh-Soph A'Capella Choir.

The Senior A'Capella Choir will close the vocal portion of the evening on a popular vein—"You'll Never Walk Alone," featuring Eddington and soprano soloist, Sherry Lewis: the male chorus singing "I Need Her"; and "Cherish" and "Bridge Over Troubled Waters" in four parts.

Under the direction of Roy J. Barbee, the 100-piece symphonic band will open with "March Algeria" by King and Nehlybel's "Festivo."

Drummer D. W. Holmes and Moncivais will be featured soloists on "Solid Soul" by Frank D. Cofield. Moncivais will be joined by Johnny Guzman and Danny Suarez for the performance of his saxophone trio.

Closing numbers will be "Y Volvere," popular Spanish tune by Alain Barriere, and Issac Hayes' award-winning "Shaft."

Bishop College Work-Study Director Elected President of NAFA for Minority Students

Don T. O'Bannon has been elected president of the National Association of Financial Assistance for Minority Students for 1972-73. He will assume his duties July 1.

O'Bannon came to Bishop in 1964, as assistant dean of men, a position which he held for six months. He became director of the Financial Aids Department and director of the Work-Study Program in 1965 and became director of financial aid for all undergraduate students in the summer of that year. He is yet in that position.

During the 1971-72 academic year, O'Bannon was responsible for the management of approximately $4 million in financial aid given to Bishop College students.

Membership in the National Association of Financial Assistance for Minority Students is primarily Chicanos, Blacks, and Indians. This is the first national organization initiated by Blacks which has included Chicanos and Indians as full participants successfully. According to O'Bannon, the key to the successful association is mutual respect and an understanding of the problems of each other.

O'Bannon has also served as a member of the Executive Board of the organization.

The main objectives of the new president are to develop a formal organization with a duly certified constitution and by-laws, and to make the organization an effective lobbying group for all minorities.

O'Bannon further intends to increase funds available for minority students who want an education. He is initiating appeals to Congress to get appropriations of more federal funds for this purpose.

A native of Shreveport, La., O'Bannon was educated at Tuskegee Institute, Ala. where he was an elementary education major with a minor in mathematics. He has done graduate work at Tuskegee, North Texas State University and

The University of Texas at Arlington. He has also participated in a special workshop on mathematics and science at Beloit College in Wisconsin.

He and his wife, the former Miss Doris Marie Salone, are parents of two children, Diane, age 12, a student at St. John XIII; and Don T., Jr., age 15, a student at Bishop Dunne High School.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt O'Bannon, 3017 Dallas Street, Shreveport. A sister, Mrs. Lana Jean Dixon, lives in Dallas. Two brothers and three other sisters live in Louisiana.

Governor Smith Urges State Communities to Honor Outstanding Senior Citizens in May

Governor Preston Smith is urging communities throughout Texas to select an outstanding older adult for recognition during May, Senior Citizens Month.

"Our older Texans should be commended and respected for their continuing efforts to build a better society for all," he said.

"There is a need for greater public awareness of the contributions of Older Texans," he said. "Senior Citizens Month offers us the opportunity to recognize their talents and abilities."

Guidelines for selecting outstanding senior citizens have been sent to all local communities on aging and County Home Demonstration Agents.

Emphasis is placed on the selection of a person who has achieved independent living and has contributed volunteer service and leadership in the community.

Local committees on aging are formulating the final criteria for selection. Rules will vary from county to county.

Estacado Coronation.

In an evening of splendor and glitter, the school's outstanding students, in their most formal attire, were presented to a large audience of relatives and friends. Runners-up for the coveted titles were Janie Reyna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Reyna of 3910 Idalou Road; Alice Smith, daughter of Edward Smith, Sr., and the late Mrs. Smith of 3409 E. 18th Street; Patricia Wilkerson, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Main Street; Chris Stubblefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Stubblefield, Sr., of 1711 Ute; and Kenneth Williams, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of 2623 East Bates.

Chosen in a school-wide election, each candidate presented a talent rendition during the program.

Prior to the naming of the new king and queen, a court of 66 representatives of "sweethearts" of school and class organizations and their escorts were introduced.

Co-masters of ceremonies were James Miller, EHS track coach, and Mrs. Marilyn Nims, an English teacher at the school.

Highlight of the 90-minute event came with the crowning of the new Mr. and Miss EHS by Principal E. W. "Tebo" Reed. As the new royalty received their scepters and crowns, sophomore Lorenzo Moore, son of Mrs. Desma

Moore of 3004 East 3rd Place, sang "There They Are, Mr. and Miss EHS" to the tune made famous by "Miss America" MC, Bert Parks. In another musical tribute, Moore also sang the popular tune, "I'll Be There."

A grand recessional by the royal pair and their court preceded the Coronation Ball in the school cafeteria. Music was provided by the Soul Agents, popular vocal and instrumental group comprised of present and former students of Estacado and Dunbar High Schools.

General Revenue-Sharing Bill Would Bring Lubbock Area More than $3 Million this Year

Governor Preston Smith released the following statement last week concerning the General Revenue-Sharing Bill which was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee:

"Based on information we have received from the House Ways and Means Committee, the revenue-sharing bill approved by the Committee last month will provide a total of $202 million during the first year to cities and counties of Texas. Allocation of funds will be retroactive to January 1, 1972.

"We have worked closely with the Committee and Chairman Wilbur Mills to provide all assistance which would be helpful to the Committee in their deliberations. As a result of this close communication, we are now receiving detailed information as to specific allocations to the various counties of the State.

"Initial estimates indicate that a total of $3,602,083 will be allocated to all governmental units in Lubbock County. Of that amount, the county government will receive $829,164, the city of Lubbock will receive $2,556,523, the city of Slaton will receive $131,192 and the city of Abernathy, (part), will receive $13,389.

"The balance will be distributed to other cities and towns within the county.

"It would appear from these early estimates that the bill, if finally enacted, will provide substantial fiscal relief to the hard-pressed cities and counties of Texas. At the same time it will afford a real opportunity to improve and expand on those services which the people feel are most critically needed.

"I have strongly advocated approval of these funds to our cities and counties and I will continue to support these provisions until final Congressional approval is received."

Lubbock Chapter of National Association for Advancement of Colored Holds Tea Sunday

The Lubbock Chapter of the National Association of Colored People (NAACP) held a fund raising tea last Sunday afternoon at the Mae Simmons Community Center.

The speaker of the hour, Maurice L. Richard, Jr., urged all people of the community to get together and help make Lubbock a great community. He went on to say, "I'm disappointed with the crowd on hand, but we can take what we have and make our organization, NAACP, something great for the City of Lubbock."

Richard, who polled over 12,000 votes as a candidate for Place 4 in last April's City Council race, is quite optimistic about the future of Lubbock and feels as though minority people (Black, brown and poor whites), need to stick together and work out some of the problems which are seen in out city and communities.

Dr. F. L. Lovings, local chapter president, presided over the afternoon fete. He introduced Richard to the group and pointed out his expectations the organizations has for Richard.

David Sowell, chairman of the Membership Drive Committee, told the group that a goal of 1,000 persons has been set as the target for the local organization. "Not only will concentration be made in the Black community, but the entire city of Lubbock—including white and brown persons," he stated.

There has been plans made for 21 teams to help meet the 1,000 new member goal.

Dr. Lovings applauded Rev. M. T. Reed, past president of the Lubbock Chapter, for his concern and expertise in helping make the local chapter move. He said, "Rev. Reed has given me all the help I've needed to help make this organization go forward."

Mrs. Roberta Bascus, chairman of the Freedom Fund Committee, and her committee were responsible for the Sunday afternoon tea.

Graduating Seniors Honored at Supper

The Board of Christian Education of New Hope Baptist Church honored the graduating seniors with a salad supper and gifts here recently.

The honorees were Ronny Blakemore and Ronnie Robinson of Estacado High School; Glenda Johnson of Shallowater; Peggy Henry, Linda Holmes, Pamela Knighten, Beverly Knighten, Oree Matthews and Wanda Chase of Dunbar.

Prior to the supper each senior presented some form of talent and told of their plans for the future. Mrs. Kyle, the director of the program, challenged each senior to go forth into life as mature young men and women, conquering each goal with dignity, honor and great inspiration.

to criticize other candidates. From the time that he entered the Texas Legislature at the age of twenty-two he has compiled a record of progressive legislation and good government which qualified him to be governor perhaps more than any other candidate in recent times. He has a record as Speaker of the House and as Lieutenant Governor of constantly pressing for better public and higher education. He is an advocate of stronger vocational education programs in public schools as well as junior colleges. Every piece of legislation affecting Texas Tech during the past eight years has had his full support. He believes that education in all of its aspects is the key issue facing our State. He believes that public schools should be financed by state and local government insofar as possible, and he is committed to keeping control of the public schools in the hands of locally elected school trustees.

His record reflects consistent support of reforms in legislative rules which would limit the power of a few conference committee members to write legislation behind closed doors. He has helped open doors to government meetings and make their records available to the public. In short he has always supported reforms that would make government more responsive to the public.

Many specific items could be listed, including his support of lowering the voting age, needed judicial reform to streamline and preserve our system of justice; legislation dealing with mental health and retardation, passage of consumer credit code, legislation concerning urban studies, clean air and water quality, creation of rehabilitation commissions and increases in workmen's compensation benefits. . . .

I feel that this enviable record speaks for itself in qualifying Ben Barnes for governor. It proves that he is not a representative or advocate for anyone sector of our society or any special interests groups. His record is what has earned him the respect and support of every element in Texas, including business, labor, the Anglos, the blacks and the Chicanos.

Goodwill Week Is May 7-13

"Goodwill. . . Adding to America's Human Resources," is the 1972 theme of National Goodwill Week, an annual event sponsored by Goodwill Industries in Lubbock as well as 146 other cities in America.

This nonprofit organization directs its total effort toward helping handicapped people fulfill their individual roles in today's society—evaluating and training those with physical impairments or mental handicaps that limit their job potential, and offering counseling, guidance and job experience to the emotionally disturbed, the ex-drug addict and the alcoholic as well.

Goodwill has grown to serve over 25,000 people each day, men and women of all ages, abilities and walks of life, enabling many of them to become self-supporting, regain their self-respect and face the world despite their handicaps.

Many financial contributions, business contracts, and surplus items were awarded Goodwill during the past year, in addition to over 360 million pounds of clothing. A major portion of the total income was derived from the sale of these items and enabled Goodwill to pay over $66 million in wages last year while training productive citizens for employment in private industry.

Goodwill Week is sponsored by all the Goodwill Industries throughout the nation to bring about greater public awareness of the many ways in which the individual can support the work of Goodwill.

"By donating usable items, by shopping at Goodwill, and by contributing financially," stated Mr. Don Giese, Executive Director of Lubbock Goodwill, "everyone in our community can share in the accomplishment of our goal to 'Add to America's Human Resources.'"

Black Michigan Newspaper Endorses "White Ethnic Strategy" in Recent Editorial

New York—A major black newspaper in a recent editorial entitled, "Sane Issues Transcend the Barriers of Race" has endorsed the "white ethnic strategy" of Irvin M. Levine, the director of the National Project on Ethnic America of the American Jewish Committee.

The Michigan Chronicle in a March 18 editorial said, "Any effective strategy for depolarization must be based on a campaign to achieve some sort of national consensus not only on what is the good and proper thing to do but also on what is in the best interests of the great masses of people who have had just a taste of the good life—as our society defines it—and want more. And an effective consensus must deemphasize competition."

Commenting on Mr. Levine's January 1, 1971 article in the Catholic Mind which was first presented as a speech in the Fordham Conference on Ethnic America in June 1968, the Chronicle editorial stated, "We agree with author Levine that hampering emotional issues must be redefined in terms of concerns that potentially competitive groups hold in common. The crime-in-the-street issue is an excellent illustration; and, as Levine put it, it should be redefined in such a manner as to take the focus away from name-calling and fault-finding and place it more properly on developing the kinds of community organization that can solve the problem."

Mr. Levine reacted to the editorial by saying, "We have engaged in a four year process of campaigning for a more realistic view of America's white ethnic groups, but only in 1972 with the populist revolt being recognized as a real one, will America's opinion molders begin to come to grips with this new reality. It is important for both blacks and whites that black opinion begins to take the realistic view that lower middle class whites have legitimate grievances that blacks as well as the establishment must respond to. Racism may be part of the problem, but an anti-white racist strategy may not be enough to win long overdue change."

The Michigan Chronicle editorial summed up its view as follows: "In short, it's about time our leadership, both Black and white, public sector and private began to focus on national problems and issues in a way that would encourage and facilitate working together in common self-interest. And it's about time the masses of urban citizens began to recognize the absolute necessity for coalitions that transcend the barriers of race."

The National Project on Ethnic America is a Ford-Foundation funded project which was organized by the American Jewish Committee in 1968. The project four years ago began an exploratory but far-reaching effort to defuse tensions involving lower middle class white ethnic groups. In recent years, the social and economic fears and identity needs of the white lower middle class ethnics have been largely ignored or misinterpreted. Economically insecure, living in debt and in doubt, many in these groups often found themselves in direct competition, and sometimes violent conflict, with others—blacks against whites, students against workers, established leadership against alienated constituencies. As second and third generation Americans, some were also beginning to reassert the importance of their ethnic and cultural identities. The American Jewish Committee, a pioneer agency in the inter-group relations field, undertook to apply its specialized understanding of pluralism and group life to help develop more positive approaches and responses to the needs of lower middle class whites.

The National Project on Ethnic America has been implementing a ten point program on a national and decentralized level. The program includes, among others:

- + Experimenting with new organizing techniques and issues that can help depolarize white ethnic and black tensions.
- + Training and sensitizing professional and neighborhood leaders in white ethnic communities, helping them to develop new programs and strategies for their constituencies.
- + Convening the best and most representative thinkers in both the public and private sector to suggest programs and policies that will meet the needs of lower middle class white ethnics, while advancing the rate of progress of the more disadvantaged Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Mexican Americans, American Indians and poor whites.
- + Creating programs to deal with the increasing alienation of young white workers both at work and in the community, including new career opportunities, more work-study programs and more positive contact with their black and collegiate counterparts.

+ Exploring and deepening the understanding of the special problems of working-class women, who often have few options in employment, education, child care and community involvement, yet feel themselves excluded from the growing women's rights movement.

+ Working with the communications media to present a fair representation of white ethnic life in America, to end stereotypes and to involve white ethnics more positively with the communications industry.

+ Setting up joint action and research centers on ethnic group relations with leading urban universities to learn more about how group interest, status, and identity contribute to community conflict in particular cities and how to resolve these conflicts.

+ Establishing an ethnic studies community relations service to reduce tensions over questions of ethnic studies and to help establish guidelines for broad ethnic studies at all educational levels.

+ Evaluating designs for neighborhood government systems as they would affect ethnic and blue collar neighborhoods, and studying suggestions for federal, state and municipal neighborhood policies that take into account a better understanding of group conflict, group interest and group identity.

+ Examining with leading scholars and community leaders, the past history, the present importance and the future direction of ethnicity in America.

Founded in 1906, the American Jewish Committee is this country's pioneer human relations organization. It combats bigotry, protects the civic and religious rights of Jews at home and abroad, and seeks improved human relations for all people everywhere.

Mowing Problems Solved at Sears

It's a typical Saturday in May. My family is getting ready to work in the yard. My son Ricky has the garden hose. My niece Joyce is on her way to the front yard with a basket load of tools and flower seeds.

I've got the biggest job... planting shrubs along the South wall. My husband sure has it easy. All he has to do is ride the seat of our new Sears power mower. This is one time I really envy him.

A Real Work-saver

I was remembering last year, when we had to sweat and push to get our grass cut. But this year we got wise and bought a Sears riding mower, with an electric starter. Wouldn't you know that this would be the year when my husband decided he'd take over the lawn cutting chores. So, now I envy him.

Before we bought the riding mower, we looked at and considered other push-type rotary power mowers. Of all these, we liked the Craftsman models with the Eager-1 Engine. That's the engine that almost always starts on the first pull. It's quite a feature.

Landscaping Made Easy

It was Joyce's idea to do the planting and reseeded of the lawn. When it comes to thinking up things to do, she's a whiz. But I discovered that Sears has a free Lawn and Garden Care booklet that is most helpful. We followed the instructions and hints in this booklet and now our place is really beautiful.

CHURCH SERVICES

Bethel A.M.E. Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning with our pastor, Rev. A. W. Wilson, delivering a splendid message of what happens when one drifts from being a true Christian. Rev. Wilson warned his congregation of the penalty one must pay when he breaks his Christian vow.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Our pastor, Rev. M. T. Reed, has just returned from the General Conference at Atlanta, Georgia. He reported a splendid meeting where 2,000 delegates from all over the world and more than 3,000 visitors were present.

Rev. Reed had an opportunity to visit with Mrs. Sandra Stephens and daughter while in Atlanta. He reported them as being very kind.

In his report to his congregation last Sunday, he said the General Conference "let the nation know just how we stand on war, segregation, and racism."

Sunday is Holy Communion. Every member of the church should be present to proclaim our love for Jesus Christ through communion with Him and rededicate our lives to Him.

The Second Sunday is Mother's Day. It is also World Service Sunday in Mount Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Strong and family would like to say thanks to all for the many blessing of condolence to the family.

A Good Future

Another attraction luring workers to this industry is that with only 10 days of training, the salesman generally writes his first orders by the close of the first week in the field. In other words, he is earning income almost immediately. After one year, many rise to become dealers and distributors, running their own businesses.

Readers interested in careers in direct selling can write for a free booklet titled: "Opportunity Knocking", Research Reports, Adamsville, Pa 16110.

LUCRATIVE CAREERS FOR PEOPLE OVER 40

Though the labor market may continue to be overflooded with high school drop-outs, high school and college graduates, servicemen returning from duty and persons reaching retirement age, there is one field of endeavor in which there is always work available, regardless of age, education or experience.

The direct selling field always has jobs open, in bad times and in good. What's more, in this industry the mature person or the "senior" citizen, finds he is wanted and welcome.

Money In Direct Sales

Actually, the older person is preferred to a young one in our company", says Charles Murphy, only 35 years old himself and president of a major manufacturing firm in the direct sales field producing cycle massage portable health equipment and furniture for home and office use. "We find that the more mature person doesn't have so many outside distractions, that his social life doesn't interfere with business, and he can concentrate better on his work. On the other hand, I must say that anyone, at any age, who is not lazy, who genuinely likes people, who is personable and believes in what he is selling, can make a success; even better, a major success, in direct sales."
