President of Bethel A.M.E. Church's Stewardess Board Honored Tuesday

After more than thirty years as president of the Stewardess Board of Bethel A.M.E. Church, Mrs. Sarah Crawford was honored by the members of this organization in the home of Mrs. Mary Lucille Baker, last Tuesday evening.

Members of the organization showed their appreciation by giving Mrs. Crawford a love offering for an appreciation of her faithfulness to the Stewardess Board over the years.

Those present at the appreciation meeting were Sister Baker, Sister Ollie Coleman, Sister Bessie Cox, Sister Renee Coleman, Rev. and Mrs. A.W. Wilson, Rev. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, Brother and Sister W.H. Stephens, Brother and Sister M.C. Coleman and Brother Johnnie Wiggins.

Sister Crawford expressed her appreciation for such an honor and told the group how she has enjoyed working with this board.

Christmas Program to Be Presented at City-County Library on December 4th

One corner of the Lubbock Public Library will be turned into a blacksmith shop and time will be rolled back to 1890 at 3:30 p.m. on December 4, when a re-creation of Lubbock's first Christmas program will be presented to the public.

County Commissioner Alton Brazell has loaned the library an old forge and anvil from the county's collection of old farm equipment and agriculture implements. This will provide the setting for the 1890 Christmas program as it was celebrated in Old North Lubbock, before the present town was organized.

Trees of any kind were non-existent on the South Plains and so the pioneers improvised their Christmas tree from ladders for their first celebration, according to Myra Ann Perkins in her interviews with Bob Crump and Olive Fluke, as told in her thesis Pioneer Lubbock.

Christmas carols popular at that time will be sung by Mr. and Mrs. Rex Webster, Lynn Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard, Mr. Lloyd Thompson, Mrs. Arnold Maeker, and Mrs. Frank Goodwin. Martha Hartman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Red Hartman; Susan Crow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Crow; and Steven Skibell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Skibell will recite Christmas poems. Mr. Bob Nash will be the declaimer.

The display case will feature hand tools used by blacksmiths and some of the tools and products made in their shops.

Everyone is invited to come and enjoy this old fashioned Christmas program at the library, 2001 19th St., December 4th at 3:30 p.m.

Dunbar Open House Tonight

The Parent Teachers Association (PTA) of Dunbar High School is sponsoring an "Open House" on Thursday evening, November 29, at 7 p.m. All parents and patrons of the high school are encouraged to attend.

The Royal Ladies will meet in the home of Mrs. Lola B. Byrd at 3308 E. Baylor. The club is sponsored by Mrs. D.C. Fair.

LOIC Sponsors Talent Show

The Lubbock Opportunities Industrialization Center (LOIC) is sponsoring a talent show Friday evening, November 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dunbar Auditorium. The theme for the show is "Touch of Class."

Admission for the show is a $1.00 for adults and $1.50 for reservations. Prizes will be awarded to first and second place winners.

Ruben L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson of 1310 E. 16th St., was assigned to the position of District Manager for the Spruce-Up Camp in the states of Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming. His sister is Mrs. Lola B. Byrd, 3308 E. Baylor.

Expanded Nutrition Program Helps Many Local Families in Lubbock Area

Three words - Expanded Nutrition Program - have meant a world of difference in the lives of more than 9,000 limited income families of Lubbock and Slaton, within the past five years. The program, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has planned an ENP Food-Arama to honor homemakers, leaders and program aides.

Through the Expanded Nutrition Program, limited income homemakers and youth learn the principles of nutrition and food preparation, including use of Food Stamps; meal planning; food buying; food storage; sanitation; and money management.

Teaching is currently being conducted by 12 program aides and 27 volunteer leaders. Instruction is carried out by home visits and small group meetings.

Program aides are hired from within the area in which they work. For 3 weeks before beginning work, they undergo intensive training on working with families, making home visits and learning foods and nutrition information. This training continues with one half-day session weekly for as long as the aides are employed. Volunteer leaders for the youth nutrition classes also receive special training. One County Extension Agent and two program assistants train and supervise the program aides and volunteer leaders.

SCHLITZ FEATURES BLACK LEADERS—Noted black Americans and their contributions to the U.S. are highlighted on the 1974 Negro Historical Calendar put out by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company. Joe Nelson, Schlitz manager of minority affairs, previews the calendar with Mrs. Ernice Austin, employed in the company's creative services department. Schlitz will furnish complimentary copies of the calendar to non-profit educational and civic groups upon request.

Ousted Soldier Awarded $25,000

Washington — (NBNS) — The House has approved legislation giving $25,000 in compensation to the lone survivor of the group of black Army veterans dishonorably discharged 66 years ago by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Dorsie W. Willis, who is 86 years old, was dismissed along with the 166 other members of the all-black 25th Regiment as they were charged with covering-up or taking part in a shooting incident at Brownsville, Texas on Aug. 13, 1906.

The men were then summarily discharged dishonorably without a hearing although evidence pointed to their innocence. Last year the Secretary of the Army cleaned the 167 men of all charges, but refused to award them or their survivors any veterans benefits.

The Minneapolis resident will receive other veterans benefits if the legislation is approved by the Senate, which is expected. The unmarried widows of the other survivors are eligible for lump sum payments of $10,000 and other veterans benefits.

Black Coed Homecoming Queen At Alabama University

Birmingham — (NBNS) — Ten years ago Gov. George Wallace stood in the doorway of a University of Alabama building to try and block the admission of blacks, but this year he returned to crown a 21-year-old black coed homecoming queen. Terry Points, of Birmingham, received the homecoming queen trophy in Tuscaloosa from the governor.

Activities of the Christmas Clearance Bureau are underway for the 20th consecutive year, according to the chairman of the Community Planning Council, Dr. Owen Caskey.

"Annually the Christmas Clearance Bureau performs a community service under the auspices of the United Fund," Caskey said. "Its main objective is to pool the wonderful Christmas overflow of goodwill and distribute it more effectively through joint agencies, organizations, and individuals. The Bureau accomplishes this objective by clearing, coordinating, and publicizing the project.

A prominent function of the Christmas Clearance Bureau is called Operation Share Santa, according to the chairman. Under this program, families, groups and individuals provide for Christmas dinner, gifts and toys for a family selected from the files of the Bureau.

"Last year, we had 284 families sponsored," Caskey said. "A total of 1,271 families were cleared for need, so you see, we have a long way to go in the Share Santa program."

Families who are not privately sponsored are aided through the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program and the Marine Reserve's Toys for Tots.

Information on needy families is furnished to the Christmas Clearance Bureau by Lubbock welfare organizations and the records are combined and studied to prevent duplication. The Christmas Clearance Bureau files include sex and ages of children, and special entries which note a handicapped child or an elderly person in the family.

Operation Share Santa is not limited to just individuals or families. Churches, Sunday School classes, homerooms, even employees of businesses join to provide for less fortunate families.

Even if you are planning projects to privately aid families other than through the Clearance Bureau, we would appreciate a call in order to save a duplication of effort and to learn how to best help a family.

Lubbock Theatre Center Prepares Next Production

The Lubbock Theater Center is preparing for its second production of the '73-74 theater season. This production, "Charley's Aunt", is a hilarious, English farce set in Oxford at the turn of the century. This is the play that the musical "Where's Charley" was based featuring songs such as "Once in Love with Amy".

Production dates are December 6-8 at 8:15 p.m. with a matinee on Sunday, December 9th at 2:30 p.m.

Tickets for this comedy will go on sale beginning December 3rd at the Lubbock Theater Center, 2508 Avenue P. Phone 744-3681. Prices are $3.00 for adults and $1.75 for students.

You'll find an evening at the Lubbock Theater Center is the greatest entertainment bargain going.

Scouts Sound The Call

"Right in the face of the Energy Crisis the Scouts of the South Plains Council are again answering the National Call; this time to Save Our American Resources," stated Dr. Heenan Johnson, Council SOAR Chairman.

Project SOAR is a conservation-ecology program that was launched by the Boy Scouts of America in 1970 that has continued as a vital part of Scouting. Lakes, highways, rivers, neighborhoods, and many other areas have been cleaned by bright, young Scouts with shining faces and aching backs.

One new phase has been the conservation of paper and aluminum in Lubbock, and the surrounding counties making up the South Plains Council.

Scouts are now collecting newspapers, corrugated boxes, clean rags, aluminum cans, and computer cards. These are being recycled in the Lubbock area.

Have you ever wanted to save a forest? You can! Thousands of trees can be saved by turning in thousands of pounds of old newspapers.

Call the Council Service Center, Boy Scouts of America, 747-2631 for names of units collecting these materials.

Be a SOAR head about conservation and help SOAR backs of Scouts in project SOAR (Save Our American Resources).

Kennedy's Death

In all that is now appearing in the press about John F. Kennedy's assassination ten years ago, one theory put forward by doubters of the one-man killing conclusion seems to have more credibility than others.

This theory holds that Kennedy was assassinated by Lee Harvey Oswald and at least one other person working with him, carrying out an assassination plot organized and financed in Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Bolstering this theory is the report (in Atlantic Monthly) a few months ago that the late President Lyndon Johnson, when in the White House, discovered a CIA-backed Castro assassination project which was thwarted in Cuba. The team assigned that deed was reportedly picked up by Castro police in Havana.

If this prompted a retaliation effort, one can at least understand it, for Kennedy was the President in power when the CIA launched an invasion of Cuba. If Castro's men then intercepted a CIA-backed assassination team in Havana, there was certainly provocation. This theory would also explain why the CIA was interested in having the one-man killer theory accepted—if the CIA did inject itself into this effort as charged.

Whatever the true facts, it's probably best for the nation that the one-man theory is accepted; if the assassination was indeed retaliation, it can't be proven. If the public had thought Kennedy's killing was that, a wave of anger would likely have resulted in an invasion of Cuba, which would have brought Cuban missiles down on U.S. cities and meant death for many. And if the CIA actually backed a plot to kill Castro, this nation's hands were certainly not clean.

The War Goes On

Readers who rejoiced at the signing of a ceasefire in Vietnam are often puzzled today by reports of new fighting in South Vietnam. In recent days, for example, enemy tanks have overrun several South Vietnamese units and captured a number of outposts on the Laotian border.

The silent fact about this fighting is that North Vietnam and the United States are not directly involved. While there are suspicions and even reports that North Vietnamese troops are involved, the official view, based on the best intelligence, is that North Vietnamese forces are not.

This, then, is the old war between the Viet Cong and Saigon's forces; in other words, a civil war. The ceasefire signed by representatives of the United States and North Vietnam provides that neither side inject its forces into South Vietnamese actions.

Considering the fact that a few years ago the Saigon regime's forces would have been overwhelmed by the enemy without the presence of strong U.S. forces, it is obvious that the situation is vastly improved today—though U.S. forces have been withdrawn. For this Americans can be thankful, even though there can be no permanent assurance the present Saigon regime can prevail over its South Vietnamese opponents forever.

Shop Early

While Christmas does not arrive until the 25th of December, enjoyment of the 1973 Christmas season may depend on how much planning or preparation for the major religious observance of the year (and holiday) are done in early December. Most pressing need at the moment is to mail Christmas presents which must reach a far away destination.

Buying the many presents, cards, wrapping, some food preparation and general planning can be completed in the first days of December.

First, one avoids larger crowds. Second, there's a better selection. Thirdly, the hours of daylight are longer and the weather not so bitter. There are other advantages and the most important of all is that in preparing in advance one leaves himself time to really enjoy the holiday and participate physically and spiritually in the true meaning of Christmas.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

After hearing President Nixon over national television last Sunday evening, it makes one wonder exactly what kind of condition this country of ours in really in. In his address, he is recommending several areas which will definitely affect the black community, especially those of us who live in West Texas.

Not only are we as black people involved in the decision from Capitol Hill, but a great deal of pressure is put on every American. To me, it suggests that we regroup our thinking about the future and become more involved at the local level.

All of my life, there have been many things which have been cut back, therefore, I don't see myself in a panic stage as many will become once they realize what is happening in these United States of America. I only hope the black community of Lubbock and West Texas will pay close attention to what is happening and be willing to contribute what it can for betterment of our children.

Apparently, there is an energy crisis in our country. It bothers me, however, that a country with the potential we have cannot produce enough energy to keep us at our present usage. I only hope that something in the near future will be done to get us out of this gloomy picture. I believe, with all sincerity, that we will pull out of this crisis. I only hope that the black community will not be cut back more than any other community in the city of Lubbock or West Texas.

As I See It, there will be some local changes in regard to the usage of energy (oil, gas, electricity and the like) in industry, commerce and the home. I hope the black community is treated fairly in the distribution of these resources.

I had the opportunity to travel to Little Rock, Arkansas last Friday with the Texas Tech Red Raiders. These young men are a credit to the University and the Southwest Conference. Not only are they talented on the astro-turf, but they display great talent in the area of gentlemanship.

These young men, without any doubt, are ambassadors of goodwill as they travel throughout the Southwest Conference. The Gator Bowl is most fortunate to have such a team as the Red Raiders to be one of its participants. They are well coached; and disciplined by men of the game who are concerned further than a four quarter football game.

I enjoyed the fellowship with these young men on last weekend, and shall be looking forward in the future to having another opportunity of traveling with such distinguished team of young men.

Good luck, fellows as you travel to the Gator Bowl. I know you will come back victorious on the field, and the nation, via television, will see the type of young men who are contributing to the game of athletics and academics of Texas Tech University.

You know, Texas Tech will win the Gator Bowl. What score? Well, I'll predict a touchdown margin in favor of the Raiders. Too bad Tennessee, you're out matched.

On my two day jaunt to Little Rock, I had the opportunity to visit with a black brother who is sportscaster with a local NBC affiliate in that city. It was quite refreshing to see young black men in the media field contributing something to the welfare of the media.

The young man was quite interesting and spoke positively of the opportunities for blacks in the television industry. You know, it wouldn't hurt to have a local sportscaster from the black community with the local ABC, NBC, or CBS affiliates in our community. Like a good brother in Little Rock told me, "It helps to see young blacks contributing something to the television industry."

As I See It, the Minority Improvement Group (MIG) is apparently on the move in East Lubbock. The information comes from the group's president, Rev. A.L. Davis. He tells me, "We are on the march and should begin developing our project between the 1st and 15th of January, 1974."

Rev. Davis told me that there are five (5) businesses who have tentatively signed leases to the shopping center which will be located at East 26th Street and Quirt Avenue. The center, according to Rev. Davis, will have a neighborhood store, barber shop, refreshment stand, beauty shop and washeteria.

I hope the East Lubbock Business Association and the Minority Improvement Group will work together for the betterment of the total community. There is so much needed in East Lubbock, and there's enough room for many to work as long as we are traveling in the same direction.

NIXON'S INDECISION

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1973, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—To the despair of his advisers, President Nixon still hasn't made the unpopular choice between gas rationing and tax increases. There simply won't be enough gas to keep up with consumption. The President fears, however, the public will never accept rationing in peacetime.

As an alternative, the Treasury Department has pleaded with the President to add a tax of 30 to 40 cents on every gallon of gas. Opponents argue this is indirect rationing, which will keep the poor off the highways and leave pleasure driving only for the wealthy.

The Treasury tried to get around this objection by proposing a tax rebate for the gas that families need for essential driving. In other words, the government would allot each family, say, 8,000 miles a year at 15 miles per gallon. The gas taxes for this amount would be refunded at the end of the year. The Treasury experts argue this would favor the poor who have smaller cars. The rich, who drive Cadillacs and Continentals, would be penalized.

But the President refused to listen to any talk of tax increases. He turned down a half-dozen Treasury proposals for a gas tax. For three years, he has ignored urgent appeals to plan for the energy crisis.

His advisers now warn that he can't put off a decision any longer.

Whether the President decides on rationing or taxing, it will require costly bureaucratic machinery. So his subordinates are gearing up for both possibilities—at considerable expense to the taxpayers—while the President makes up his mind.

Blaming the Jews: Washington officials, meanwhile, fear the Arab oil boycott could cause some ugly repercussions when the public starts to feel the economic impact.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is worried that the oil squeeze could aggravate anti-Arab feelings and upset his delicate dealings with the Arabs.

But high Treasury officials fear that the economic hardships raised by the oil shortage could produce a nasty anti-Semitic backlash. They expect the professional rabble-rousers to take to the soapbox and blame the Jews for the hardships. Already, the anti-Semitic clique is crying: "Why should the American people suffer to save Israel?"

A prolonged Arab embargo, in the opinion of the experts, will cause plant shutdowns, economic dislocations and, ultimately, a severe recession. The tighter the economic pinch gets, officials fear, the uglier the public mood will become.

An anti-Israeli bias is already growing inside the government. Officials in the State and Treasury departments, in particular, blame Israel more than the Arab countries for America's oil plight. Their secret reports describe Israel as totally lacking in understanding of the U.S. energy problem.

The wrath of the American people may be directed against the Arabs, as Kissinger believes. But most experts fear the Jews will become the scapegoats.

The 'Whipped Man': Friends of Spiro Agnew, the disgraced former Vice President, describe him as a "whipped man." All his life, he has been poor but proud. Before he went into politics, he worked in a grocery store for $100 a week, then opened a law office. The most he earned from his law practice was short of $200 a week. Yet he always held his head up. It was his pride and bearing that made him successful in politics.

His friends say it was this same fierce pride that made him protest his innocence until his attorneys warned that he faced a likely prison term unless he pleaded no contest and accepted a conviction for income tax evasion.

Agnew has taken his public disgrace hard, say his friends. He still pleads with them that he did no wrong, that he gave no government favors for the cash gifts he accepted from Maryland contractors.

But his biggest worry now is how to make a living. He faces disbarment from the law profession. Sources close to the disbarment proceedings tell me a compromise plan will probably be worked out simply to suspend Agnew for a year or so. Even if he is allowed to practice, potential clients are wary that his notoriety will bommerang against them. As Agnew told a friend bitterly, "The clients aren't breaking down my door."

Only three months ago, Spiro Agnew was the leading contender for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination. Today, he would settle for his old $200-a-week law practice.

Caught in the Middle: There was skepticism in Washington over the appointment of Leon Jaworski as the special Watergate prosecutor. It was clear that Archibald Cox had been fired for pushing his investigations too vigorously for President Nixon's comfort.

Jaworski, as the replacement chosen by the President, is on the spot. If he pursues the investigations with the same vigor, he may also bump heads with Nixon. But if Jaworski holds back, he will be accused of whitewashing.

The new special prosecutor has now taken over the Watergate investigations. He not only has kept Cox's aggressive young prosecutors, but has directed them to go ahead with their investigation, no holds barred. He also demanded and got from the White House documents about the plumbers operation. From the beginning, the President has tried to conceal this operation on the grounds of national security.

Our White House sources say Nixon was upset over Jaworski's demand. But the public clamor over the Cox firing has inhibited the President. He doesn't want to appear to be obstructing the new special prosecutor.

Jaworski, meanwhile, has declined to meet directly with the President so there can be no suspicion they are collaborating. His reason for taking the job, he has told friends, is out of respect for the law. He is determined, they say, to restore faith in the American judicial system. It might just be possible that President Nixon has another Archibald Cox on his hands.

It's That Time of Year

It's that time of the year when there are many house burglaries reported to the Lubbock Police Department. Why not be extra careful about locking your house and not make it easy for a burglar to break into your home. Double check when you go to and from your daily destination. If you'll take the extra time to secure your residence, you'll be glad you did.

Sure, it's Christmas time again, but there are those who spoil the Christmas cheer by breaking into a neighbor's house.

Shooting

A 14 year old boy reported to Lubbock police that he shot an 18 year old girl accidentally. There was a difference in the case as his 13 year old brother told police it happened differently.

The 13 year old told police that his brother and the girl got into an argument when the girl went and got the weapon.

No matter how it happened, young people shouldn't be allowed to get involved in this type of activity. It should remind parents to pay attention to the involvement of our young people.

Vandalism

Mrs. Willie Reed, 1318 East 24th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that some kids were throwing rocks in her neighborhood and happened to knock several windows out of her back window.

She told police that she believes the windows were knocked out by some kids who live "across the alley". She was, however, not sure who those kids are who were responsible for breaking the windows.

Assault

This column is always reminding parents to be concerned about their little ones. Here is another case which happened this week that should make us pay more attention to our young people. It goes like this:

A sixteen year old boy was arguing with his cousin over an incident in a basketball game they were playing at a local school basketball court. Another youth, age sixteen, approached the boy and told him he should not be arguing with his cousin.

The upcoming youth picked up a rock (approximately 4 to 5 inches in diameter) and hit the boy in the left temple, causing the

James Moore, 2921 East Colgate Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone unknown did throw three large rocks in the main entrance of Alderson Junior High School one day last week.

by Joe Kelly

It was almost a carbon copy of the TCU game, with Texas Tech getting down by three points, then 10. The weak hearted began to sweat and take pep pills.

But the poise, maturity, yes, and the character of this 1973 Red Raider football team came alive. There may be better teams in this nation, but it's doubtful that there is one that believes any more in itself. And so the Raiders took charge and won their tenth game of the season.

It was a sweet victory, not only because it gave Tech a 10-1 seasonal mark, but also because it was the first victory ever for Jim Carlen and the seniors over an Arkansas team.

The win also gave Tech momentum for its Gator Bowl meeting with Tennessee, a game that hopefully will draw 15,000 or more Tech fans to Jacksonville, gas shortage or no gas shortage.

Honors came quickly. Jim Carlen was named Coach of the Year. Larry Isaac was named Newcomer of the Year; nine Raiders were picked to the all-conference teams. And the end to honors is not yet in sight.

Carles, graciously, was quick to say that, while he appreciated the honor, he felt that it was a tribute to his coaches and his players. No one can argue. Carlen picked the staff, possibly the best in the nation. He organized. And recruited. It's now paying off.

*****

Bumper Sticker: Honk If You're Over 50 miles an hour!

Coach Gerald Myers actually wore a smile Monday! "Shoot, you might as well smile," Gerald said, "even though we do have problems. Our other forward spot has to come through if we're going to have a good team. I guess we should have taken a junior college boy, although we did try to get one," he added hastily. "But we only went after three of the top quality ones."

Myers went on to say that Tech would miss Ed Wakefield this year, because "he was so quick that it was like having three guards in the lineup when Little and Moore were playing. Ed wasn't a big scorer, but he made big plays and was always around the ball."

Gerald said that he might go to a three-guard offense at times, and quite possibly a double post, with Rick Bullock and Mark Davis. "There are all sorts of possibilities and combinations," he said.

Regardless of what Tech does on the road Friday and Saturday against Fresno State and Nevada-Las Vegas, there should be a good crowd for the opener against Vanderbilt here Monday night.

Tech is 1-4 against Vandy, always a strong club, and a win would help. But Gerald will, of course, use these non-league games as a testing ground for his squad. By the time the conference campaign rolls around, he'll have a pretty good idea of what the Raiders can do.

*****

Tech was the only unbeaten team in non-conference football play, while SMU was next at 3-1. Texas and Rice both came up with the league's only losing records, 1-2 and 1-3 respectively. The others broke even in four games.

Friend of mine has a cabin at Timberon. He spent the Thanksgiving Day weekend there, said that it sounded like miniature warfare. Unfortunately, he didn't have any reports of the deer harvest.

But our youngest went to East Texas with his brother-in-law for a deer hunt and he reported accurately—and colorfully—on the results. All they got was rained on and mosquito bitten, didn't get off one shot. Still, he wants to go again.

*****

Jim Carlen still is 110 percent sold on Andre Tillman being an All-America football player, so much so that he observed Monday that "if he doesn't make it, it will be an injustice."

I'll make this prediction: Tillman probably won't make either wire service team, maybe no others of the sort, but when the team picked by the pros is announced he'll be on it.

At the Tech-Baylor game, pro scouts from four teams were there and all were drooling over Tillman. He could go in the first round.

*****

Carlen at his press conference: "Our kids are tired, mentally and physically"...."Joe Barnes? He found out the difference between injury and pain"....on all-conference players: "We have some talented players"...."Isaac is a top football player. He has poise and maturity. He has played well"....on Arkansas: "Our defense had a good game. The tackling wasn't good and that's on me, but you've had a good day when you hold Morton to 55 yards rushing"....on offense: "The line played well. Mosley and Garner played consistently good football. We had too few points for the opportunities we had."

PERSONALS

Words of Appreciation And Thanks
At this Thanksgiving season, I want to say some long overdue thanks and appreciations. My father, Mr. Jesse Johnson, has been ill for sometime. He was hospitalized several times. During all this illness, I cannot ever express in words my deep appreciation and sincere thanks to all the nice people of Lubbock who have been so kind and thoughtful in so many ways to my parents who are yet ill. My sisters, Wilma Horton and Rose Swanson; my parents and other family are most grateful to everyone of you. You mean more to us than you can ever know. We trust each of you may see this "Thanksgiving Thank You" and know it means you. May God Bless You.

A Daughter,
Billie Johnson
