Attica Trials May Begin Soon

Warsaw, N.Y.—(NBNS)—Trial dates for the 60 men indicted in connection with the riot at Attica facility may be set soon by a state Supreme Court justice.

Two of the defendants, Richard Billello and Ernest Bixby, have been told to find their attorneys soon, since 30 to 60 days had elapsed since their arraignments.

Justice Carman Ball has set a hearing date of May 21 for the Bixby attorneys to contest a medical finding that he is competent to stand trial on kidnaping and assault counts. And a May 23 hearing has been set for Ball to hear motions that Billello be permitted to appear before the special grand jury that indicted him.

Many of the defendants, according to one lawyer, have not obtained counsel since they do not know when or where the trials will be held. An Appellate Division court is supposed to hold a May 24 hearing on that question.

The charges stem from the September, 1971, riot at the correctional facility.

Black Radio Network For 11 Million Listeners to Start

New York—(NBNS)—Expecting to reach 11 million black listeners, plans to establish the country's first black radio network were announced here. Although initial projections had the network starting up in the spring of last year, The Unity Broadcasting Inc. said it did not get the expected capital to finance the station's operations until this year. Initially, the National Black Network, with offices along "radio row" here are expected to have 38 affiliate stations as of July 1 and will have a full-time staff of about 45 persons. "We hope to provide a clearer picture of the events and facts that the black community needs to know, and hopefully to become the most authoritative source of information in the black community," said Eugene D. Jackson, one of the three founders of the network. More than $1 million has been provided through bank loans and private and venture capital investors to underwrite the cost of operation since they expect to make a profit in its first year of operation, Jackson commented. Programming calls for five minute hourly news broadcasts over a 17 hour day over leased communication lines. He said affiliate offices have been established in Washington, Atlanta and Chicago. Public affairs programs, sportscasts and live coverage of events of special interest to blacks along with coverage of Africa and the Caribbean is planned. An additional 12 stations are expected to be signed up by the group by July 1, giving the network a "total market penetration" of about 30 million blacks with an estimated buying power of $35 billion annually. "We're seeking recognition of the black consumer, and there really hasn't been any such recognition, although many corporations have made their profits from them," he said. Another founder of the network, D.G. Race, has been a station relations manager

Bobby Seale Emerges as Potent Force in Oakland Election Last Week

Oakland—(NBNS)—While Bobby Seale admits to not winning the mayoral campaign in Oakland last week, he does claim a victory. "I won't make a concession speech," Seale told 400 of his cheering volunteers gathered to await the election returns.

"You've worked for a people's plan and we haven't stopped yet. You have a people's victory," Seale pointed out. He pledged to bring his people's plan before the Oakland electorate in six months. Although plans for doing this have not yet been finalized, they will probably take the form of a referendum, and more intensive organizational work in the community.

The program calls for better housing, a reduction of crime, a cultural center, and more jobs.

About seventy percent of the city's voters cast ballots in the election, with Seale getting about thirty five percent of the vote. Conservative John Reading, elected to his third four year term, has been forced to recognize Seale as a potent political force in the city.

Immediately after the election, Reading said that he plans to see if he can reach "common ground" with Seale, but Seale seems cautious, stating that "it could be a buy-out situation."

EDITORIALS

Good Luck Seniors!!!

It's that time of the year again when many young people throughout the nation, state and Lubbock will be graduating from high school. For twelve years, each of you have labored hard to be ready for the outside world. A world full of many interesting and exciting opportunities is waiting for you.

Young people, the world belongs to you and you can contribute something to this large thing if you really care about it. We would like to caution you of the fact that you will be tempted to do things which are not a part of your personality. Some of you will be tempted to follow the crowd and end up in situations which you can't explain.

In a world in which we live, there are so many things in life that we all can do. Each of you, however, who are graduating this week from high school, really has an opportunity to make it if you really want to. Don't be side tracked by anything or anybody. There are so many things going your way and you'll make it if you keep trying.

The West Texas Times has been watching many of you over the past years. Many of you got started in your formal education the same time this newspaper was born. Both of us, you and West Texas Times, are twelve years older. No doubt about it, we've all seen some hard times.

In this issue, as you can see, many businesses in the community are elated over the fact that you are graduating this week. They've expressed their concern by purchasing space for a congratulatory message in this newspaper. For several years, there have been businesses who've showed their concern for your success.

Since the beginning of this special graduation issue, we've seen Dunbar High School go from an all black high school to one with young people from all areas of our community. At the outset, Estacado was not a part of this effort. As you can see, they too have made progress in seeing that people of all races are members of their graduating class as well as Dunbar.

Young people, don't give up the ship as you fight the many waves of frustration which will be in your path. Making it this day and time is not an easy task. There are many pitfalls which can overturn your positive efforts.

We paid close attention to the speaker at the annual baccalaureate services last Sunday as he made the point clear that it is hard to win the game of life, but by keeping on in the right direction and not giving up, you can make it.

Let's keep the faith and work hard in the world. Anything that you are looking for in the world is awaiting for you if you really want it bad enough. Don't, for goodness sake, get hooked up in the negative things which will be around you from now on. Be sharp enough to look over those type of situations.

Good Luck to all of you. We wish you well and believe that you will contribute something constructive to the welfare of our country. Keep your heads up high and go out and get over the right way.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

Without any doubt, the Lubbock Independent School District, its Board of Trustees and its administration under the direction of Supt. Ed Irons, should be commended for a job well done in the new concept of education in our community.

Yes, there is a one classroom school in our city. The old North Avenue U Elementary School has been converted to a modern, comfortable, and pleasing facility which will definitely help those young people who are looking for knowledge in this day and time.

It is pleasing to the eye to see the joy in the eyes of boys and girls as they explore and learn about their new educational facility. It certainly is a pleasing thing for those young people who were moved from the old Army barracks last week into this 30,000 sq. ft. building.

I like the innovation of this effort. It is no longer a school, it is referred to as the North Avenue U Learning Center. It is equivalent to 15 rooms with a student capacity of 450.

It is easy to detect the quietness of the young people in the new center when one enters the classroom area.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

GLOOMY GUS KEEPS SMILING

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1973, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—Thirty-seven years ago, Richard Nixon was known to his Duke Law School classmates as "Gloomy Gus." They gave him the nickname because of his brooding nature and his tendency to pull into his tortoise shell during times of stress.

During Nixon's second year at Duke, for example, Nixon began to slip in his studies. Gloomy Gus got gloomier. In desperation, he and two roommates broke into the dean's office to find out their academic standing.

Today, President Nixon is worried about far more serious break-ins. As he agonizes over the Watergate scandal, the President has turned to his most trusted managers at the Office of Management and Budget. OMB staffers have been asked to suggest what the President can do to take the people's mind off Watergate.

One suggestion the President has taken to heart is to keep smiling. Old Gloomy Gus is rarely seen in public these days without a grin on his face. Whether he's meeting Willy Brandt or pinning a medal on a boy scout, the President has tried to appear buoyant and fresh.

But smiles alone won't make the Watergate go away. Nixon is counting heavily on the forthcoming visit by Russia's Leonid Brezhnev to divert public attention from the Watergate scandal. Nixon is also considering turning his White House reception for POWs into a television spectacular. This again would remind the public of what Nixon regards as his greatest achievement: bringing the boys home.

Meanwhile, we have talked to the President's old room-mates who remember Nixon as a loner but never a quitter in his college days. Often, he would get up early and study before his first class. Seldom would he miss a class. In the afternoon, he worked in the library to pay expenses. After dinner, he would hit the books again, often studying late into the night.

Although his law grades dropped his second year at Duke, Nixon didn't lose his scholarship. During his last

Young people, grades one through six, are busy exploring their many interesting lessons.

I made a comment to an official of the administration that only the good teachers will survive this new concept. There's no room for a teacher to do a bad job of teaching our future adults.

One can see so much in such a learning center. With the library in the center of the huge teaching area, the young people will be encouraged to seek all the knowledge they need for their various class matter.

This new learning center is designed to provide for the maximum development of the individual child. Some of the components of personalized instruction would include: nongrade, team teaching, cooperative planning, flexible scheduling, structured curriculum design, diagnostic procedures, flexible grouping, community involvement, flexible space arrangements, multi-media resources, teacher/pupil relationships, additional aspects and other important factors.

I would encourage each citizen of Lubbock and surrounding communities to go by this new learning center. You'll be glad you did. It is beautiful to see our young people involved in this new concept of learning. Actually, the one classroom concept is not a new concept. But to look at what has been done for North Avenue U Learning Center is quite new. You'll agree.

MEMO FROM MAC

Today's Thought: The love of justice should be more than the fear of suffering injustice—R.B. McAlister.

Doggie Doctors and Moo Moo Medicine Men—The cattle and beef industry in West and North Texas has grown and with that growth has come problems. The animals need looking at from time to time and it's been recommended that Canyon, Texas be the site of a large animal diagnostic laboratory. I support this in the hope that it would be the beginning of the movement to give Texas a strong vet school. I want the House to set up an interim Study Committee to get the panoramic view of the whole situation. It looks like there are a lot of vets interested in the pet population, but not too many vet school grads are getting into cows. Take that and chew on it.

Lets Hear It For Cotton! Texas Tech got the 100 thou for their cotton research effort. West Texas can be truly grateful for the presence of Rep. Renal Rosson on the Conference Committee on Appropriations. He and chairman Neil Caldwell made an excellent presentation for Texas Tech in securing the Committee approval of year, he worked his way back up and graduated third in his class. In the same way today he is working his way out of the Watergate slump.

The Citizen's Junket: We often report on the junkets taken by congressmen and bureaucrats, who charge their vacations to the taxpayers. Thousands of private citizens also galavant around the globe largely at the taxpayers' expense. Here's how it works:

Professional, business and trade organizations set up conventions in vacation spots around the world. Just enough "business" is arranged to make the trips appear legitimate. Most of the cost, therefore, is tax deductible.

Some travel agencies specialize in arranging vacations in the guise of business trips. Typical is a St. Louis firm called "Intrav." This agency recently arranged a Scandanavian adventure for a group of doctors.

For the record, the medicine men went to the land of the Vikings to attend a series of professional seminars. In Stockholm, they were supposed to learn about "sexual freedom in Sweden."

In Copenhagen, they were supposed to watch a film called "The Next Witness."

This made the trip tax deductible, which means the taxpayers who stayed home had to help pay for it indirectly. The seminars were carefully arranged, however, so they wouldn't interfere with sightseeing. A generous luggage allowance was provided for golf clubs and the travel agency also promised tennis, fishing and sailing.

A spokesman described the tax-deductible excursion as an "incentive trip," combining business and pleasure. But he candidly admitted to us that the emphasis was on pleasure.

Internal Dishonesty: The Loss Prevention Institute, an industrial security outfit, prides itself for being able to root out employees who might rob companies. To aid business executives in spotting potential thieves, the institute publishes a booklet called "Early Warning Signals of Internal Dishonesty."

The guide instructs businessmen to suspect employees who engage in "doubletalk" or who have a fear of security personnel. A worker should also be watched, says the institute, if he "never takes time off for vacation." Companies are told to look out for workers, too, who arrive early and leave late.

An employee may be spied upon, in other words, simply because he's conscientious.

As I See It, the City of Lubbock has a war on junked cars and if you are one of those persons who are guilty of junking your car in your front yard or parked in front of your house, you had better do something about it.

This new effort is to eliminate the detrimental effect to the safety and welfare of our citizens by protecting property values, by reducing vandalism, fire hazards, hazards to the health and safety of our children, and by protection of the economic welfare of our city, state and nation by reducing urban blight which will provide for a more sound aesthetic environment.

According to officials at City Hall, this "Junked Vehicle Program" is estimated to save the taxpayers of our community an estimated $5,500 to $6,000 per year.

If you are wondering what a "junked vehicle" is, the new ordinance describes it as follows: "any motor vehicle which is self-propelled and which is inoperative and which does not have lawfully affixed thereto both an unexpired license plate or plates and a valid motor vehicle safety inspection certificate and which is wrecked; dismantled; partially dismantled; or discarded."

If you think that you have a "junked vehicle" in your midst, it's best that you do something about it, because this ordinance is in effect this week.

Several years ago, this newspaper wrote editorials about the great number of junked cars in our community. It is good to see such a program being implemented in the City of Lubbock.

As I See It, it will certainly help the total community.

requested money. Final approval of the Appropriations Bill should take place in both Houses next week.

It's Put To Bed: House Bill 946 passed. The public school funding bill passed resoundingly Wednesday, May 17 after weeks of hassle and hustle. It is now pending before the Senate. My own feeling is that the chances of HB 946 passing both Houses and being signed by the Governor are slim. But then again, if it does pass, it can give Texas the most qualitative and economical educational system in America.

Profile: Rep. Ray Hutchison. He's a Republican from Dallas, first-termer and a fighter. He's already been made chairman of the standing Sub-Committee on Urban Affairs and that's fine with him since his main interest is the study of government control in the hands of the local folks, in Dallas and elsewhere. He'll be stumping for a mass transit system in Dallas (a bill for this is due a House vote next week) and says he's happy about his amendment giving city/county residents the right to vote on collective bargaining issues involving policemen and firemen. Look for him to be very visible next year at the Constitutional Convention.

It Wasn't Told To Me, I Only Heard It: Said the spectator at the back of the committee room, "They tell me that McAlister is pretty smart, but he sure don't look it! Think he's from Amarillo." I sorta hope he was in error on at least two of the three observations. thassawfokes . . . MAC

Police Beat

House Burglary

Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, 2415 East 9th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that persons unknown broke into her house one night last week. After a careful investigation, it was learned that there were no signs of forced entry.

The burglars did ramble through the bedroom and upset the drawers in a dresser and ransacked the closet.

It was learned that there was only $3.75 in change taken from the house.

House Burglary

H.C. Kinner, 2410 East 8th Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that his house was broken into by unknown persons one night last week. Entry to the house was apparently gained through an unlocked window. Ten dollars worth of damage was done to the screen.

Items taken from the house include a .32 caliber pistol, 12-gauge shotgun, bedspread, portable television set, tape and record player and other items.

House Burglary

In another house burglary last week, Leona Hawkins, 518 Avenue C, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that the person who broke into her house was a woman.

Although she didn't find anything missing from the house, there were several items boxed up in the house. Those items boxed up included clocks, radios, and a blender. There were also other electrical appliances boxed up in the back of the house. (In case you're not up on boxed up, it is when the burglar takes time to find a box to place the items in). Entry to the house was gained by breaking the lock on the back door.

Theft Over $5.00

Otha Eskue, 118 Avenue C, really had a problem one day last week and went to a friend's house, Leona Hawkins, and called the Lubbock Police Department. She told police that someone unknown entered and removed approximately 20 chickens from a pen behind her house.

She reported that when she returned home early, she observed that the pen gate was open and upon investigating found that there were only three chickens left in the pen.

Otha is wondering why someone took advantage of her chickens when there is still enough beef to buy.

Aggravated Assault

Nicky Ramirez, 1518 23rd Street, reported to the police department that someone really surprised him one night last week. He told police that someone knocked on his door. As any normal person, he opened the door and was really surprised. Someone unknown cut him.

He had a very thin laceration, about two inches long, on his forehead. It is believed that the cut was made with a razor blade, held between someone's fingers.

Nicky told police that he did not know who cut him and was rather evasive about whether or not he would file charges.

Coronado Apartments Burglarized

Lena Redden, an employee of Coronado Apartments, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone unknown did break into the office of the apartments one night last week.

She told police that entry was gained by breaking the lock to the storage area on the west side of the building. The office was apparently entered through an inside door.

The only thing taken was a plastic radio, 110 volts, and valued at $15.

Class Winners for Citizenship are Honored At Phillis Wheatley

It has been said that it is best to be creative, rather than competitive. This is what is happening at Wheatley Elementary School. Group counseling was incorporated in this elementary school last January to promote better classroom citizenship practices and better grades. The innovator of this project, Mrs. Dorothy Phea, counselor, developed a "classroom without failure" concept to help prevent children having to experience failure all their lives.

A kit, "Focus on Self Development", was presented to all the classrooms by Mrs. Phea. It was designed to lead the child toward an understanding of others and self, and an understanding of the environment and its effects. "Through the development of children's understanding, many of the elementary school "problems" of today may be prevented in the future," admits Mrs. Phea.

A film strip, "Circle of Feelings", was used in the classrooms, after which discussions took place on the four feelings people have, sadness, happiness, anger, and fear. "These discussions led to role play, how to act good or bad, facial expressions, story telling and open-end sentences used for group discussion, for individual conferences, or as topics for drawing or writing brief para-

"Before these activities began, there seemed to be little student concern in the area of citizenship," she said. Mr. Don Rocap, principal, along with other teachers and counselors, encourages good citizenship among students.

As a result of this contest, the students realized that as their citizenship grades improved; their scholastic grades also improved. "The winners of this contest were rewarded with a party because of their efforts," she concluded.

"This Is Africa" is the title of a new publication, founded and published in Brownwood (West) Texas and edited by A. Katwrebo. The magazine is heralded as "the world's leading economic and cultural magazine on Africa." Headquarters and secretariat of the parent organization: "The Universal Friendship Organization, Incorporated (non-profit) is located on the third floor of the First National Bank office building in Brownwood.

Mr. Katwrebo, along with the Rev. Mr. D.C. McNeal, a Baptist minister and an officer of the international organization took this correspondent through the well planned and extended offices of this world-wide import and export exchange and promised to conduct a speaking tour in the area of a number of bellringers.

Katwrebo, a native African and highly educated in British and American institutions told me that Africa indeed "is the birthplace of modern man's ancestors. The history of Africa is tied to the earliest history of man, for it was in Africa that the earliest known man lived", he added.

He continued: "Africa, which is dark only at night, is the world's richest continent and is the most generously endowed continent with natural resources that are unequalled in any part of the world. There is no known mineral that is not mined in Africa."

Bellringers will recall that many of our stories on African life and culture have been documented here and attest to the truth of Mr. Katwrebo's assertions above.

Prominent features of the publication edited by Katwrebo include: Tourism in Africa; Business and Investment Opportunities in Africa; World Trade; World Sports-Culture etc.

UFO (Universal Friendship Organization) is "a non-profit and non-political worldwide goodwill organization dedicated to Peace, Friendship and Philanthropy", according to Mr. Katwrebo.

One of the outstanding features of UFO is that it offers scholarships to needy scholars, especially those interested in African life and culture and gifts in cash or benefits to other educational and religious bodies.

A limited number of copies of "This Is Africa" is available for bellringers who will drop this column a letter or postcard in care of this newspaper. Be sure and tell us the name of the periodical or newspaper you saw this limited free offer in when you write.

People-Personalities-Places in the News: Newest members of the Bellringers' Club include David Kelly, an accountant with the Gulf Oil Company with offices in the Gulf Oil building in Midland; Lee E. Davis, director of the Dallas Youth Opportunity Center; N.H. Franklin, the new spiritual director of Johnson Chapel A.M.E. Church in Odessa; A. Katwrebo, founder and publisher of "This Is Africa" periodical of Brownwood, Texas and who is scheduled for a June appearance at The Methodist Church in Clovis, New Mexico and Mrs. Johnnie Mae Mims of Lovington, New Mexico. Welcome to the Club. One edition of this column is featured on the front page of The Small Voice, a non-denominational religious and inspirational publication founded and edited by Ms. Alvilda McClendon of Ben Wheeler, Texas. Ms. McClendon is well known throughout the nation as a poet and prose writer and an outstanding church woman.

Ghetto Humor: According to news reports, it has been no secret in show-biz that for years, London-born actor Peter Finch, star of the remake of "Lost Horizon" has been living with Eletha Barrett, 30, a Jamaican black beauty. She is the acknowledged mother of Diana, Finch's 3 year old daughter. At a recent command film performance in London, Finch, 56, said to reporters: "I love Eletha, and if marriage will make her happy, I'll be glad to do so if we can find a church that will have us", end of quote. Got $25 Brother? I know a church where you can do it.

Great quotes in the News: "It appears that the greatest obstacles to the justice Indians seek is not in the white establishment, but in their many leaders: the so-called Uncle Tomahawks" among their own people whom the militants have alienated". From the Cherokee County

Prayer for this week: Sometimes, O God, I can't help wondering why this is happening to me. I see a lot of things from a new point of view when they've happened to me, but I still can't help wondering why there is so much pain and suffering in the world. Is there an answer? Please help me to find it. Amen. (Selected).

Sports of The Times

Greenbelt Lake is alive and flourishing! Now, there's nothing remarkable about that. The lake has been there a long time and there's a lot of fishing in it. A lot of people have learned about the lake, too, and it gets a lot of action.

The other day, following activity in traffic safety and with nothing to do but stare at four walls of a motel, I decided to visit this clear water gem.

It was about 7 p.m. and there was little or no action at the time. A couple of men were drinking coffee and one of them was B.J. Mooring. He's one of the owners of Mooring's Marina.

After genial discussion in general, the topic turned to fishing. It is, apparently, a little too early even yet, for great fishing, but some bass and walleyes are being taken. Topwater lures aren't doing much good yet, but deep fishing is taking some.

Mooring, a quiet sort, finally admitted that he had recently caught an 8 pound, 13 ounce bass. What's more, he showed me a picture that was taken. "I put the bass in a tank and it didn't take long for the word to get around", B.J. said. "I'll bet that fish was in and out of the tank 100 times. I planned to put it back in the lake, but it was looking a little sick and I didn't think it would live. So, I'm having it mounted. Oughtta look pretty good up there," he grinned, pointing to a place on the wall behind the counter.

Mooring explained that Breen Belt was different than many lakes, in that it's not federal.

"We have to charge fees, none of which goes into my pocket," he declared. "A lot of people think we're making money, but we don't make anything unless people buy minnows or fishing gear.

"Most people are pretty nice, but you do get some crabs. Like the guy on a busy Saturday morning with people standing in line waiting to buy permits. All he wanted to do was bitch over this, that and the other thing.

"Finally, I told him, 'look, so far all you've done is buy permits. You haven't made me a cent richer and you're holding up a lot of people who want to go fishing. How about stepping aside?"

"You know, he came back a couple of hours later and apologized. We had a good talk and I explained to him the whole operation. He's one of my better customers now."

Rates at Green Belt, as I've written before, are not bad. You can get a "recreation" permit (swimming, fishing, camping, skiing) for $1 a day per person. Thus, if there are three persons in a boat, the fee is $1 each, or $3.

A boat permit costs $1 a day. You can get an annual recreation for $10 a person and an annual boat permit for $20. There's a good public boat ramp, but if you want to moore your boat at the marina, that costs you an additional $1.50 a night.

On Amarillo television the other night they showed pictures of brown trout being dumped into Lake Meredith. Brown trout also were dumped into Lake Rita Blanca near Dalhart.

This is an experiment at both lakes to see if the trout can live and thrive in hostile surroundings. Both lakes have bass and there are also Northerns in Meredith. Already indications are that approximately 50 percent of the trout dumped into Meredith have been eaten, but officials hope that enough live to provide diversified fishing within a year.

Didn't I tell you that, sooner or later, classed would be released for the summer and the blanket of summer would drop mercifully on Tech spring athletics?

The mantle dropped Saturday night in Austin, completing an exercise in frustration for Raider spring sports. The track team managed one point in the conference meet. From the close of basketball until the start of football at Tech, success is a void.

It's a disgrace, and it will remain that way until the powers-that-be get prodded into doing something about it.

It was good seeing Foster Brooks on the Monday night baseball game program. Foster was one of the more interesting people at last year's Donny Anderson inaugural Pro-Celebrity tournament. I well remember meeting him. We were in the buffet line, struck up a conversation and he delivered his now famous sequel to Casey At The Bat. Later, I wrote to him in Hollywood and he sent me two copies of the poem, with a nice note attached. He'll be missed this year.

Donny's tournament is just around the corner. It starts Saturday, with the celebrities arriving Friday. The Saturday night shindig, when the visitors entertain, is worth the price of a ticket.

As I've said before, the proceeds go to a charitable and worthwhile cause. In between, there will be interesting golf and a chance to talk with many of the stars who will be here. The event promises to become a solid feature for Lubbock and should gain stature in years to come. It could even get to the point where stars fight to receive invitations.

So-you-will-know Dept. The Raiders have signed another football prospect. We clipped it from the Amarillo paper last week.

Signing with Richard Bell was David Dacus of Sanford-Fritch, a 6-2, 230-pound all-state tackle. He also was District 1-A shot-put champion, a two year football letterman and both years all-district.

Monarchs Hold First Place

Opening week was a good one for the teams of the Eastern Little League. The game of the week would be the game between the Monarchs and Grays, with the Monarchs coming out ahead 5-3. This victory enabled the Monarchs to hold the first place position after one week of play.

Giants-Barrons Tie

Saturday evenings tilt between the Giants and Barons ended in a 7-7 tie. Manager of the Barons has protested this contest because of an alleged "pitching violation" on the part of the Giant pitcher. Dr. F.L. Lovings, president of the league, stated that the Board of Directors must rule on this protest.

Ten members of the Weblos of Pack 139 of Ella Iles Elementary School had a wonderful time exploring Buffalo Lakes last Saturday afternoon with their Cubmaster, Mr. Jeffery Joiner, and a parent, Mr. Authur Jones.

The outing last Saturday was one of the many activities of this group which has been active all year.

Those Weblos attending the affair were Walter and Phillip Crockett, Jeffery Austin, Steve Jones, DeWayne Hopwood, Terrence Patton, Ronald Brown, Ralph DeVaughn, Anthony Brown and Terry Bolton.

The group shared their afternoon of fun with two of their friends, Jackie DeVaughn and Stacy Jones.

KING & QUEEN OF MARY & MAC—The new Royal Family for 1973-74 at Mary & Mac Private School is King Shelby Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Curry; and Queen Norma Faye Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson. They were crowned last Friday evening in the 12th Annual Coronation held at Ella Iles Elementary School auditorium.

Norma Faye Anderson and Shelby Curry Crowned King and Queen at Mary & Mac

The 12th annual King and Queen Coronation, according to those attending, admits that it was one of the better ones in the history of the affair. The Mary & Mac Parent Teachers Association, sponsors of the event, will agree with that statement.

Last Friday evening, Little Miss Norma Faye Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, was crowned queen. Little Master Shelby Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Curry, was crowned king.

Runnerups in this year's affair were Candac Harris and Greg Harris. Last year's royal family, 1972-73, Queen Felisha Holmes and King Johnny Green, were present to do their traditional march.

Crowning of King Curry and Queen Anderson was done by the first Queen of Mary & Mac, Mrs. Cynthia Lusk. Mrs. Lusk expressed her appreciation for having the opportunity to crown the pair. Mrs. Lusk was queen in 1961-62.

The newly crowned family was entertained by various groups of the school. A dance entitled "Day-O" was done by Eunie Young, Ceres Lewis, Donna Raven and Margaret Crawford. Little Demetra White did a dance version of "Rat Race." Eunie Young, a hard working young girl, did an "Interpretation of Love."

A pantomime, "Mack the Knife", was done by JaDarthia Johnson and Young. The theme song for the annual affair, "Love is a Many Splendid Thing," was sung by the Maryettes. J.C. Graves, III, who is music instructor at the school, rendered two numbers, "More", and "Misty", on the piano.

King Curry and Queen Anderson paraded through the auditorium of Ella Iles Elementary School where scores of parents and friends were in attendance last Friday evening.

The lovely pair threw kisses to everyone present.

Principal, Mrs. L.S. Graves, and P.T.A. president, Mrs. Irene Young, gave special remarks. Donna K. Walker served as mistress of ceremonies. Rev. C.D. Collins gave the invocation and benediction.

The coronation crew consisted of Mr. Samuel Jaysaleen and Mr. J.C. Graves, III, stage setting; Mr. Jaysaleen, lights; and Miss Cecille J. Graves, program director.

Ushers for the program were Sheldon Sedberry, Cedric Welch and Johnny Hooker.

San Francisco Fire Exam Discriminatory, Court Says

San Francisco—(NBNS)—The written test for firemen in this city discriminates against minorities, a U.S. District Judge ruled. It was the third time that the written examination had met this objection.

U.S. District Judge William Sweigert ruled that the exam was not reasonably related to the job and violated the Civil Rights Act in discriminating against minorities. He told the department to fill 122 openings by using only results of oral and physical tests.

Senator Brooke Calls for Halt to Laos Combat Missions

Washington — (NBNS) — Sen. Edward Brooke said last week that he would seek a Senate vote to halt U.S. combat missions in Laos and Cambodia when the Senate considers a House-passed supplemental appropriations bill for the Defense Department.

Angela Davis Announces Formation Of Nationwide Mass Organization

Chicago—(NBNS)—Calling the current government "the most criminal" in American history, political activist Angela Davis announced the formation of "a nationwide mass organization" to fight "racial and political repression", last week.

"We need some kind of weapon that will defend the right of people to struggle", Miss Davis said.

Chavez Calls for Federal Investigation Into Teamsters Conspiracy

Keene, Calif.—(NBNS)—Fighting incursions by the Teamsters Union, Cesar Chavez leader of the United Farm Workers Union (UFW) has called on leaders of the State Democratic and Republican Central Committees to support his demand for a Federal investigation into "the illegal conspiracy to destroy the farm workers union".

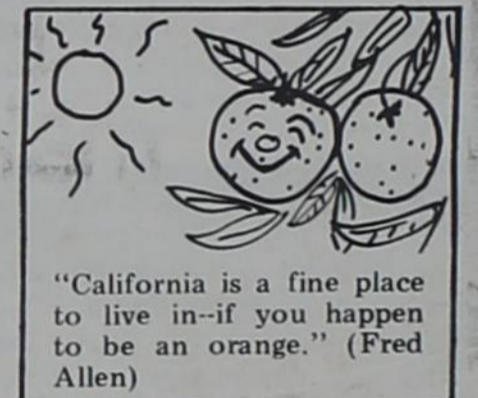

"We seek the help of your party in supporting our demands for a Senate Labor Committee investigation of the illegal payments made by the growers to the Teamsters and in the illegal conspiracy to destroy the farm workers union," Chavez said in a telegram to the leaders of both parties.

Duke Ellington to Be Honored

New York—(NBNS)—Columbia University will confer an honorary doctor of music degree on famed black composer Duke Ellington this week.

In 1965 when a recommendation of the three man Pulitzer Prize jury of music recommended that Ellington be given a special award for his services to American music, the advisory board rejected it.

"Fate doesn't want me to be too famous so young," Ellington responded to his rejection.

AMERICA IS PROUD OF ITS YOUTH

Today, more than ever before, our country needs its youth. We need youth's inquiring mind . . . youth's unquenchable desire to excel. There is a better tomorrow for our nation only if there is vitality in our youth today.

The new Graduates personify these ideals to a high degree. We are sincerely proud of each of them. They have proven themselves to be eager for tomorrow . . . and ready for whatever challenge tomorrow brings.

We salute the new Seniors and are proud to offer to them our heartiest wishes for continued success and happiness.

And then evidence was submitted showing that the opposite of this great truth is also true. The late Lyndon B. Johnson, whose political career as vice-president was headed toward obscurity, and suddenly found himself President of the United States as the result of the death of John F. Kennedy. Perhaps most of us cannot point to such an easily identifiable death or martyrdom which has so greatly enriched our lives. But the fact remains we are alive because someone died: a parent, brother, marine or soldier buried in the sands of the South Pacific Island, or a sailor buried at sea. Cut deeply into our nature is a hard principle sometimes hidden and sometimes exposed in heroism; we profit at another's expense, rise from his decline, come to life in his dying.

The man who fails to see this truth in his life certainly needs to pause long over the incident on the Cross at Calvary.

God bless you all.
Let us continue to pray for our sick and shut in members.

"From the Pastor's Desk"
Rev. M.T. Reed

One caught a glimpse of an interesting item in the press the other day. It went like this: "Every man owes what he is to someones' death". "Mount Gilead Baptist Church, the friendly church where the soul and spirit meet. The church where everybody is somebody. The church extends to members and public a cordial and clarion call to worship with us each week."

Brother Dan Daniels, superintendent, would like for any members who wish to attend the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress which will be held June 4 through 8 to contact him. Plans are being made to get a bus to seat 33 passengers.

WHO'S WHO

the GRADS, that's who!

The Seniors . . . young people on their way to ever-higher goals; young people dreaming bigger dreams and working hard to make dreams come true. This is what gives promise to making America's future ever greater.

The diploma, like the flag is simply a symbol. The real test of greatness for people or for nations is in honorable and continuing achievement.

The new Seniors have, by their past achievements, given every indication that they are willing and able to meet that test . . . to help make tomorrow's America greater than ever.

Our prayers and best wishes go with this outstanding Senior Class.
