Drastic Measures Ordered In Alabama
New Orleans — (NBNS) —The fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ordered implementation of a "drastic remedy" to make Alabama's state trooper force 25 percent black by hiring one black for each new white trooper employed.

In upholding the decision of a lower federal court, the Appeals Court ruled that the racial quotas would be dissolved when the force was one-quarter black. Alabama Public Safety Department Director, Col. E.C. Dothard, noted that there are only 14 blacks on the force, while there are 611 whites. Another 11 blacks are expected to become troopers next month.

Busing Bill Vetoed In Massachusetts

Boston — (NBNS) —Gov. Frank Sargent has vetoed a bill that would have provided a referendum on the school busing issue which is raging in the city of Boston. The city has been ordered to implement a massive desegregation plan by next September, but most city officials are fighting the order to "equalize schools." Earlier, Sargent had vetoed a bill bringing the death penalty. His veto was sustained in the Senate by only a few votes.

Cicely Tyson Honored

Boston — (NBNS) —Actress Cicely Tyson has been honored for capturing "the marvelous strength and great dignity of black women" by Harvard University for her television portrayal in "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman." In the role, she played the life of a black woman who lived 110 years, from the Civil War to the civil rights era of the 1960's.

Equality Plan Approved By VA Colleges

Richmond — (NBNS) —The State Board for Community Colleges was sharply criticized by one of its members for its all-white presidential corps before it enacted an equal employment policy and directed its chancellor to appoint an equal opportunity officer.

Dr. Earl McClenney, in saying he hoped the members would take the policy seriously, pointed out that none of the state's 23 community colleges are headed by a black president. He said although some efforts have been made to recruit black presidents, "None of these individuals have indicated any desire" to be a community college president.

14 Taken In Panther Raid

Oakland — (NBNS) —Fourteen persons were arrested in a raid on a Black Panther party voter registration office, and Panther officials immediately labelled the raid "harassment of the party and its officials."

Thirty-One High School Graduate Honored Saturday

Mrs. Robert L. Stewart was hostess to thirty-one high school girls who are candidates of the graduating class this year with a luncheon at the Gold Room at Hemphill Wells, last Saturday, April 27th.

Special mention was made of Cynthia Roberts, one of the candidates, because of close ties with Mrs. Stewart and Cynthia's grandmother.

It was indeed a gala affair and much praise and thank you went to Mrs. Stewart.

Blacks Protest Zebra Searches

San Francisco — (NBNS) —Blacks continued their protest of the random street searches of black men in the hunt for the Zebra killers of 12 whites. A Federal judge, Alfonso J. Zirpoli, although refusing to grant a temporary injunction against the searches, ordered hearing on the suit brought by the NAACP and other rights groups.

In the suit, the NAACP charged that the search program to find the killers clearly violated the Constitution since it meant that police could stop blacks on the street, question them and search them if they even remotely resembled a composite drawing of one of the killers.

A liberal black spokesman, the Rev. Cecil Williams, pastor of Glide Memorial Church, labelled the order by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto a farce and said he was afraid that a racial war might start since "the black community is under a police state."

Police were also offering identification cards that were in

Civil Suit is Possible in Lubbock Due to Lack of Minority Firemen

We've been beating the typewriter many times at the West Texas Times that something should be done about the employment of black firemen in the City of Lubbock Fire Department. Another case was filed with the Department of Justice this week against the Buffalo Fire Department for discriminating against blacks, Puerto Ricans, and women in job opportunities.

According to Attorney General William B. Saxbe, the employment discrimination suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Buffalo, New York.

Buffalo, who happens to be in the East, have 14 blacks and no Puerto Ricans or women among its 1,250 uniformed firefighters. Lubbock, at the present time, has no black firemen but some blacks have attempted to acquire a job with the city department in the past. To this date, there has been no positive result.

In the Buffalo case, the local fire commissioner, Karl K. Kubiak, and the three members of the Buffalo Civil Service Commission, including the City of Buffalo, were defendants.

We found, after investigation, the suit states that the city and its officials pursue "policies and practices that discriminate against blacks, Puerto Ricans, and women in employment opportunities in the fire department."

As we've said many times, those practices which exist in the Buffalo case involved "the use of hiring tests that do not predict successful job performances that have a discriminatory impact on minority applicants." This, we believe at the Times, are the same practices which have kept blacks from being hired by the local fire department.

This type of practice, according to statute, violate the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972 as it prohibits discrimination by public employers and the Revenue Sharing Act of 1972.

We hope this case in Buffalo will serve as a catalyst in our community as to inform those persons in position to act on the problems Lubbock has in recruiting and hiring black applicants. Any community should be forbidden from engaging in any discriminatory employment practice, especially at the city and county level.

We hope that something will be done about the elimination of entrance examinations and other selection criteria that will lead to the exclusion of minority members.

We at the Times are not just concerned about griping about the way things are happening in our community. We want to help the local problem of hiring blacks in the City of Lubbock Fire department or any other department. We would like to overcome the effects of the alleged past discriminatory practices in the fire department. We offer the following:

- Conduct a recruitment program to inform blacks or any minority member of job opportunities in the fire department.
- Adopt and use goals for hiring minority members in sufficient numbers to remedy past discrimination.
- Compensate any black or minority member for any economic loss they suffer from the denial of jobs.
- Institute objective and non-discriminatory hiring procedures.

The one in Buffalo last week was the seventh filed by the Justice Department and the 21st against a public employer. We hope the City of Lubbock won't be the eighth one. We can avoid this type of suit if those in position will do their part to see that every citizen of Lubbock has an opportunity to participate as a fireman in our community. We don't need any suits, we need people who care about people being given an opportunity.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

May 4th is an important day in the state of Texas. On Saturday of this week, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., we have an opportunity to express our voices at the polls by voting for the candidates of our choice. A lot will be at stake at the various positions on the ballots. Why not take advantage of this May Primary and vote.

This writer can't impress on you enough on how important it is for you to vote for the candidates of your choice. As you make up your mind to go to the polls, why not tell ten other people how important it is for them to vote also.

In the past elections, the total vote in Boxes 5 and 20 are not representative of how we can vote if we really do our job. I know that Box 5 (Alderson Junior High School) and Box 20 (Ella Iles Elementary School) can draw at least 3,000 votes if we really got out and voted. It's not impossible for this to happen if we really want it to take place.

Residents of East Lubbock, by voting as they should, could determine any position of the ballot that affect this area. County Commissioner and State Representative. We've just got to do what we think is best and go out and vote on Saturday.

As residents of East Lubbock, in particular, we should be more than willing to go to the polls and express our voice about those persons seeking office. It's time that we stand up and be counted at the polls so we can receive some of the benefits which go along with being a citizen of the city and county. When we don't vote, those person sin position, get an impression that we don't care about being recognized as citizens.

We can, if you are willing, start changing that image by

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

DEATH WEAPONS FOR TERRORISTS

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)
Washington—Government experts have a dread fear that terrorist gangs in the months ahead will hold entire cities for ransom.

All over the world, according to intelligence reports, insurgents are obtaining sophisticated weapons. The Irish Republican Army, for example, has gotten hold of some Russian-made Strella missiles.

Arab terrorists also have obtained these deadly missiles, which they planned to shoot up the tailpipe of the plane Secretary of State Henry Kissinger flew into London's Heathrow airport last February.

African guerrillas already have used the Russian missiles, according to intelligence reports, to down half a dozen Portuguese jets.

The money to buy these sophisticated weapons, say the intelligence reports, has been funneled into the revolutionary underground through Libya.

It is only a matter of time, the authorities fear, before revolutionary gangs will gain access to nuclear devices and hold entire cities for ransom. They may obtain other weapons so deadly that I dare not mention them for fear it may give someone an idea. For some of these weapons, I have been told, there is absolutely no defense.

Meanwhile, terrorism like a horrible plague, is slowly spreading toward the United States. The authorities fear that the Symbionese Liberation Army, with their commando bank raid and political kidnapping of Patricia Hearst, may spawn a hundred imitators.

On The Brink: The United States is teetering on the brink of an economic crisis. The price rise is the worst in 23 years. Yet production has dropped the worst in 16 years. Interest rates are the highest in history. This has caught American workers in an economic squeeze, which has reduced their buying power nearly five per cent in the past year.

The labor unions are about to break out with a wave of wage demands. But with production down, most companies can be expected to resist. This could lead to the worst strikes in a quarter of a century.

Nations rich in raw materials, meanwhile, are preparing to push up their prices. They are taking their example from the oil-producing nations, which got away with staggering increases in oil prices.

This could cause nations to end the postwar period of economic cooperation, with each nation for itself. It was precisely this sort of economic nationalism that led to World War II.

At this crucial time, President Nixon is shaking up his Economic Policy Council. He has served notice on his economic advisers that he will take charge of economic policy personally.

White House spokesmen have assured us, meanwhile, that they expect an economic upturn during the second half of the year. Maybe so, but one White House adviser, who asked not to be identified, told us bluntly: "We don't know what to do. We have inflation and a slump at the same time. We don't know whether to raise taxes or to cut taxes. Mostly, we're just hold our breath."

Watergate Fallout: The Watergate fallout is causing quiet panic on Capitol Hill. Some Republican congressmen are privately forecasting an election disaster for their party in November. Private political polls indicate that the Democrats stand a chance of winning two-thirds of the seats in both houses.

Sen. Strom Thurmond in a fund-raising letter to the Republican faithful, has warned that "it could happen. What going to the polls Saturday and voting. Don't forget to tell your relatives and friends how important it is to vote.

A good brother stopped me the other day and asked why Cable Television is not in east Lubbock. He said he was willing to do his part to see that East Lubbock had an opportunity to have Cable TV. As I told the good brother, we have made mention of this fact before.

I hope some consideration will be given to the inquiry of this young man. This writer would encourage all of you concerned about Cable TV to contact the Lubbock Cable TV Company and ask them why the cable is not available in east Lubbock.

As the district chairman of the Mackenzie Trail District of the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts of America, I have had the opportunity of working with a young man who is the district Scout executive. The young man, Doug Palmer, will be leaving the city sometimes in May for New Orleans, La. where he will be promoted to another position.

Doug has done a splendid job for the Mackenzie Trail District and I wish him and his wife, Sharri, all the luck in the world as they continue to work with young fellows of New Orleans. Keep the good works going Doug.

As parents and citizens, let's do our part to keep those fast drivers out of our community. It's that time of year when the little tots are playing more outside and those speeding drivers are not wanted in our community.

Let's help the Lubbock Police Department crack down on those "hot rodders" in East Lubbock.

As I See It, we'll be doing a most worthy job for the young people of our community. They need our help so let's show them we care about their safety.

could we do in the Senate with a lopsided 70 Democrats against 30 Republicans?" But the Democrats on Capitol Hill aren't exactly rejoicing. They fear that the Watergate scandals may hurt all incumbents, regardless of party. There is danger that the never ending Watergate revelations will taint all politicians, period.

The scandals certainly will hurt the Republicans. A postmortem of the latest special congressional election in Michigan shows Republican crossover votes helped elect the Democratic challenger.

But the Democrats are worried that the folks back home may vote to clear out all the old familiar faces, without paying too much attention to whether they are Republicans or Democrats.

He's Not Bitter: Perhaps the most tragic figure in the Watergate horror is John Mitchell, the former custodian of law and order. He has just finished one marathon trial. But this was merely a warm-up for the big Watergate trial to come.

Meanwhile, he has lost his home, his wife and his law practice. He lives alone in a Manhattan apartment, friendless and cheerless. President Nixon, who used to seek his advice daily, no longer talks to him.

Mitchell's financial records show he has no great wealth. He lives on the income that still comes in from his former law firm. His tax returns show he has always paid high taxes, without taking the tax shelters that could have been available to him.

Whatever campaign money he collected was relayed immediately to President Nixon's headquarters. Investigators tell me that Mitchell didn't even bother to check the contributions. Every cent went to help re-elect the President.

Whatever part Mitchell played in the Watergate cover-up, likewise, was done to protect the President. Mitchell benefited not at all from the crimes he is alleged to have committed. Yet unlike H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, Mitchell was cut off by the White House when he got in trouble.

The amazing fact, nevertheless, is that Mitchell is not at all bitter against the President. Mitchell's lawyers have complained that the President isn't helping them. But Mitchell, himself, just puffs on his pipe and tells them they've got the President all wrong.

Richard Nixon, Mitchell still insists, is really a fine, compassionate, likeable man.

Connally's Depressed: Up to the end of March, Big John Connally, the former treasury secretary, was barnstorming around the country calling upon Republican audiences to shake the Watergate blues. "Don't let it plague you!" he shouted at them. "You're not guilty." He was hitting the campaign trail hard toward the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

Then we learned his close friend, Jake Jacobsen, had confessed to the Watergate prosecutors that he had slipped Connally $10,000 from the milk lobby. The details of Jacobsen's confession were checked out by special FBI agents who confirmed the dates, bank withdrawals and other details.

I telephoned Connally in Texas and told him what I had learned. I expected him to explode, Connally style, over the phone. But he listened, quietly, soberly, as I recounted the details. He denied the charges, but his voice was subdued, dispirited.

Not long afterward, he was summoned back before the Watergate grand jury where he repeated the denials under oath. The prosecutors played a tape recording of his meeting with President Nixon on milk subsidies. He was heard urging the President to boost dairy price supports and warning that Congress would do it by legislation if the President didn't act first.

Connally came out of the grand jury room deeply depressed, according to friends. Now he's back on the speaking circuit, keeping dates that he had made earlier. But he is no longer the same confident, commanding, flamboyant John Connally.

Police Beat

Aggravated Assault

Calvin Thomas reported to the Lubbock Police Department that he and Edgar Jones and his wife went to the "Crowd Pleaser" and parked next to a car on the parking lot. Thomas stated that a man in another car began to call Jones' wife some bad names. As expected, this made Jones rather angry.

Thomas told police that Jones said, "No dudes are going to talk to my wife like that." Jones, according to the police report, jumped out of the car and approached the man cussing his wife. The man reacted by striking Jones in the throat.

Thomas told police that he was unaware that Jones was cut until Jones asked him to take him to the hospital.

Theft Over $20

Leonard Jordan, 1709 East 13th Street, is a very unhappy young man this week. He reported that someone took his pistol.

The unfortunate incident happened in the 1400 block of Quirt Avenue one evening last week. He told police that he knew the nickname of the person who took his pistol from his pocket. The pistol was valued at approximately $24.95.

Senator H.J. Blanchard presented a Texas flag and letters of congratulations on the opening of the George & Helen Mahon Library written by members of the Constitutional Convention, at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 1, in the Community Room of the Library at 1306 9th St.

City and county officials, Library board members and members of the Friends of the Library were present.

Surprise Birthday Party Held

Mrs. G.H. Davis was hostess to a surprise birthday party last Saturday honoring her niece, Mrs. Bertha Lee Filmore at 2107 Ash Avenue.

Invited guests were Mesdames Roberta Thompson, Ora Belle Gindratt, Johnnie Mae Derrough, Rebecca Martin, Pearl Baker and Ernestine Childress.

Mrs. Filmore was speechless, but was truly surprised. They had a lovely evening with "women's lib."

Too Much

A widely traveled sportsman was boring guests with a series of long talks about his exploits. "While I was wandering through this deserted village I spotted a leopard," he said.

"That does it," said one of his listeners. "I always knew he was a liar. Leopards come that way."

A talker is sometimes poor company.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

I watched a couple of the Philadelphia Flyers' games against Atlanta in the NHL playoffs and was impressed with the physical ability of the Flyers.

At the same time, I thought to myself, wait until the Flyers meet a team like the Black Hawks, Bruins or Canadiens. Those teams will meet force with force and, in addition, they'll out finesse the Flyers. So, the Rangers got the Flyers first.

Initially, the Flyers' emphasis on hard checking and upsetting tactics seemed to bother the Rangers. Then the New York team bounced back and, as of Sunday night, held a lead in their playoff series.

Frankly, I was somewhat astounded that the Atlanta club didn't fight back. Friends, it ain't normal for no guy to get slammed into the boards, poked with the heavy end of a hockey stick, elbowed a couple of times in the bargain and not want to see a little blood—anybody's, except his, on the ice.

Apparently the Rangers aren't Atlanta and you can bet that neither the Hawks or the Bruins will let the Flyers, if either get to play them, escape unpunished.

All of which is a shame. Body checking is part of the game and a major part for the defensemen, but it's the extra curricular work of the Flyers which is annoying. It's also a part that really doesn't have any place in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Frankly, from what I've seen, the officiating has been atrocious. Players have been allowed to hook, to trip and to slash without penalties being called.

There's obvious holding, especially around the crease. Several checks have been illegal and yet no whistle has been blown and no player sent to the penalty box. Unless the officiating picks up, there are going to be some uncalled for donnybrooks.

Defense apparently is ahead of offense in at least three spring training camps. It was at Texas before drills ended, and it was at A&M last Saturday. It also apparently was true at Tech, where the offense scored only once.

Texas and Tech, of course, lost key players. Big Rosey Leaks was felled by a knee at UT and the Raiders lost first Tommy Dunning and then Don Roberts, both quarterbacks. All were key players to the offense.

Tech holds its annual spring game Saturday night and the anticipation with which this game might be greeted has been lessened considerably because the top quarterbacks are missing.

Still, the game is worthy of support. There are a host of young players worth watching and, if it's typical of most spring games, the offense suddenly will spring to life. That's natural. After all coaches want their teams to look good offensively.

Before you go out to the football game, the annual Kentucky Derby Classic will be unreel. And even without one horse dominating, it should be a great show.

Secretariat is gone, if not forgotten, and there appears to be no horse of comparable stature this year. Indeed, horses of his caliber don't come along every year. Despite that, it is a classic race and the color and pageantry make up for a field that appears to be mediocre.

Respect for Pete Rozelle and the NFL must have risen at least slightly following the fines imposed on San Diego players and coaches for the use of drugs. They have absolutely no place in athletics and strict action was merited.

Whether it was pep pills, or marijuana, as one paper reported, the league would have been remiss if it hadn't stepped in. The influence athletes have on young people, whether it be pro, college or high school, means that no measure is too stern.

The pro footballers, in an effort to jazz up the act and eliminate the almost boring field goal attempts, have made some changes that ought to help make their game more exciting.

Still, probably the one thing that would make the pro game even better, the two point play, has been ignored again. This, along with the other changes, might have ended "no shows" and put some excitement back into the pro effort.

I'd like to see the college game make some changes, too. One big improvement would be allowing the team recovering a fumble being allowed to advance it, instead of having the ball whistled dead at the spot of recovery.

Another would be kicking off on the 35-yard line, as the pros will. A third would be having the team against whom a safety had been scored receiving a regular kickoff, instead of being forced to kick to the scoring team.

If and when the wind, especially on weekends, dies down, fishing should pickup. Over the weekend I drove by Oak Creek and saw activity at Buchanan Dam. There were no boats in evidence, few on the highways.

Fishing lodges near Buchanan Dam were advertising vacancies and it seemed apparent that (1) folks were afraid of weekend winds; (2) the gas shortage; or (3) business affairs were keeping them home. Shoot, here it is May and I've been fishing only once.

I don't know if it's Billy Martin or just the fact that maybe the Rangers are beginning to gel as a unit, but the Dallas-Fort Worth team has been heading the American League West.

This is akin to the New York Mets suddenly going to the top and winning their league and a World Series. After all, the Rangers used to be in Washington, where even a complete change of personnel did nothing for them. Now they're playing like champs.

Winners of Lubbock's "Our Little Miss"

The 1974 preliminary pageant to the "Texas Our Little Miss" was presented Saturday, April 27, 1974 at Evans Junior High Auditorium sponsored by Lubbock Lights. This is the first time Blacks have participated in the pageant.

Theodora Yvette Phea, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Phea, Jr. and Toni Sebrina Johnson, 12 year old daughter of Mrs. Ernice Johnson, 1022 East 29th Street were participants.

Theodora modeled an "Ideal Miss" long formal dress especially hand made by her mother, and an "Ideal Miss" sportswear. In the "Ideal Miss Talent", she played "Brian's Song" by Micheal Legrand. She won first place in the talent division. This qualifies her for the national finals which will be in Waco, Texas this summer.

Toni Sebrina Johnson modeled a "Little Miss" party dress and a "Little Miss" sportswear. She played "Black and White Rag" by George Botsford. Toni is a 6th grade student at Rush Elementary School.

effect passes for those that had already been examined by police. About 1,600 cards were passed out to officers and it bears the persons name on the first line and on the second line says "the below named person has been checked out." There are also lines for address, driver's license, and Social Security numbers, date, time, location, officer's name and badge number.

In the suit, the NAACP asserted that the searches constitute a "suspension of the Bill of Rights."

"The so-called stipulations set forth in the order, which purport to describe the type of Negro who would be stopped, will not serve to adequately protect the constitutional rights of black citizens," the association said.

The action by the mayor "serves merely to give license to official abuse," the NAACP declared, and Rev. Williams said, "There have been searches and interrogations and a dragnet taking place like we've never seen in any city I know of."

The American Civil Liberties

Union termed the searches a "racist outrage and a massive violation of the constitutional rights of every black man in the city."

Blacks charged that had blacks been slain instead of whites, no such manhunt would have "even been thought of to protect black folks. It is clear that we are moving closer to a police state in this city," said one rights official.

Other officials speculated that the search could lead to a curfew for all black men from 7 p.m. to 1 p.m. the hours during which all of the slayings have occurred. That would then lead to other reprisals against blacks, such as that which this country has never known.

Blacks from the Black Panther Party to more conservative NAACP have joined to fight the racial search.

Maunita and Juanita are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pollard of Morgan, Bosque County, Texas.

It was back in the hard years of the depression, there were no welfares, drouth and all crops failed, little money in circulation. These girls had finished grade school and wanted to further their education, their parents had no money to send them to college. I began to work with them through my church program, and my husband and I would take them with us to our different church courts in Texas and to the Higher Courts. They sang in the choir in our church, The Cumberland Presbyterian Church, to which we belong, and my late husband was an Elder. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard, who were members of the Steel Creek Baptist Church of Morgan, gave me permission to take the girls and use them on my programs as they were not able to take them nor to send them off to school. I saw there was so much good in the girls, and they had great minds for learning and were seeking the higher things in life. I became a foster mother for them and helped them in many ways to finish high school and Paul Quinn College. They had great talents in many things so they could help themselves to such a high standard in life. They were great leaders in the churches of which they were members. Maunita was Baptist first and then a Methodist and Juanita a Presbyterian.

Now they have come to the end of the road, but it is must a bend in the road. When we feel we have nothing left to give, and we are sure that the song has ended, when our day seems over and the shadows fall, and the darkness of night has descended, where can we go to find the strength to valiantly keep on trying. Where can we find the hand that will dry the tears that the heart is crying. There is but one place to go and that is God.

Dropping all pretense and pride, we can pur out our problems with out restraint and gain strength with him at our side and together we stand at life's crossroad and view what we think is the end. But God has a much bigger vision and he tells us it is only a bend. For the road goes on and is smoother, and the "pause in the song is a rest", and the part that is unsung and unfinished is the sweetest and richest and best.

So rest and relax and grow stronger. Let go and let God share your load. Your work is not finished or ended, you've just come to a Bend in the Road.

San Angelo News New Light Baptist Church

Sunday, April 21 was the Brotherhood and Usher Board annual service at 3 p.m. at New Light. Our own Bro. Louis Miller, president of the Brotherhood in the convention from Ballinger, spoke at the spiritual service. All who attended witnessed an unforgettable service with Rev.

Bethel A.M.E. Church

Services were well attended last Sunday morning with our assistant pastor, Rev. Jack Robinson, delivering an impressive sermon. His subject was "Strange Conquest". Youth Choir Number One rendered music for the services. Rev. J. Kilpatrick was pulpit guest.

Rozelle Davis of Washington, D.C. was a visitor to our church last Sunday morning.

A nephew of Mrs. Maunita Terrell was funeralized last Sunday afternoon in Meridian, Texas. He was Donald Ray Hunter who died after a fatal accident.

The Stewardess Board will sponsor a special program the third Sunday in May. Rev. M.A. Brown, pastor of the Triumph Baptist Church of Slaton, will be guest speaker.

Our youth department will be host to the Northwest Texas Youth Conference on Saturday, May 4, beginning at 10 a.m. in the church auditorium. Special talent will be featured on the day long program. Mrs. A.W. Wilson is inviting all young people of Bethel

P.N. Moore preaching a powerful message. Thank God for His blessings.

The mobilization of choirs was held at Rev. Sims' Sunday at 3 p.m. An old fashion singing spree filled the hearts of everyone with joy. The choirs of each church always join in every 4th Sunday at a different church to praise God in song.

The members of Mt. Gilead Baptist, Lubbock, have donated their time and gifts to a worthy cause along with Sister McKee of San Angelo. Once a month the project helps many people who need love, prayer and inspiration.

In spite of the shower of rain, the Sunday services were carried on. Spring is in the air, birds singing, trees in bloom, makes everyone want to go and do something. Remember God is calling you. Too many people are not thankful, they fill every place but the church. It stands alone. Remember too, your name is on the roll. There are too many sad hearts who lost their loved ones. Did you stop to visit them? The sick and shut-ins need you. Do you have time to aid them? Remember, take time, Christ will be calling you.
