Black Culture Club at Reese Air Force Base Presents Scholarships to Seniors

The Black Culture Club at Reese Air Force Base presented four $150 college scholarships to deserving Lubbock High School seniors today. The awards were made on behalf of the Club by Colonel Frank B. McKenzie, Reese's 64th Air Base Group Commander in his office in the base headquarters building.

Two seniors each from Dunbar and Estacado High Schools were selected as the awardees from a total of seventeen applicants. According to Air Force Lieutenant Hollis E. Booker the scholarship committee chairman, the selection process was a difficult task: "The margin of selection was very narrow, they were a very impressive group of candidates that we interviewed. We only regret that we do not have more funds to award scholarships to everyone who applies."

The scholarship recipients from Dunbar High School are LaTrala Gibson of 4215 East 61st Street and Judy Roquemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Roquemore of 1901 East Brown.

The winners from Estacado High School are William Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nichols of 606 East Beech and Debra Rolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rolfe of 3112 East Auburn.

Today's scholarship awards are

Very Little Progress In Pentagon Policy

Washington — (NBNS) — There has been "no progress, or very little" in the last 10 years in placing minorities in top policymaking and management positions in the Department of Defense, according to the Pentagon's civil rights director.

H. Minton Francis, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Equal Opportunity, says there has been little or no progress in "changing the traditional view" of the Pentagon, while there has been some progress in expanding the number of blacks and women in the services.

Brook Benton Fined In Tax Case

New York — (NBNS) — Singer Brook Benton has been fined $500 and sentenced to two years probation for failing to file income tax returns for the years 1967 through 1969.

Benton was told that he was missing jail only if he paid whatever he owes the federal government on the $68,327 covered by the plea. The government charged that Benton had a gross income of $158,537 during that period and he is still under investigation for the balance of the money.

Prospects Appear Dim for Any Type of Income Maintenance Plan This Session

Washington — (NBNS) — The Nixon Administration has acknowledged that an income maintenance scheme is less and less likely to be recommended as a replacement for the present welfare system.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger said in an interview that the Administration has never been wedded to the income maintenance concept, which seeks to guarantee every poor individual and family sufficient income to avoid, at least, serious privation.

Various income maintenance of guaranteed income plans have

Civil Rights Suit Filed in Houston

The Department of Justice filed a civil suit today charging the owners of a bar in Houston, Texas with refusing to serve black persons.

Attorney General, William B. Saxbe, said the public accommodations suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Houston against Eddie and Margaret Kegler, owners of the Unique Club.

The suit said the Keglers discriminate against blacks by refusing to serve them and by misrepresenting that the bar is a private club.

The suit asked for a court order enjoining the owners from violating the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and requiring them to post signs stating that they will serve all persons regardless of race or color.

been advanced as replacements for the present widely criticized welfare payment system. The Nixon Administration has vowed to eliminate the present "welfare mess" but it has continued to delay coming up with an alternative proposal.

Weinberger said HEW planners were looking into "three, perhaps four different kinds of programs" to replace the present welfare system. Among them are a revenue sharing plan which would simply give the states money to use for welfare purposes, without federal standards or controls, and a "negative income tax" plan which would pay money through the Internal Revenue Service to people who are too poor to be required to send money to the IRS to pay income taxes.

President Nixon promised in his January message on the State of the Union to submit an income maintenance plan. HEW officials said it would be forthcoming in March or later in the spring. Summer has now arrived and the President apparently still has not found a plan which would be acceptable to the conservative Republicans he is depending upon.

Freedom Gospel Singers To Appear Here

Rev. Adolphus Cleveland is pastor of New Jerusalem.

Mexico, Missouri, Gets A New Mayor

Mexico, Mo. — (NBNS) — Ten years ago this town, which calls itself the capital of "Little Dixie" had two sets of restrooms at the fairgrounds, one marked "white", the other "colored."

Today, this town, which traces its ancestry to migrants from the deep south, has a black mayor.

Herman O. Tolson is 44, the assistant high school administrator and an ordained Baptist minister who preaches every second and fourth Sunday at the Second Baptist Church of Keytesville, a small town 67 miles north of Mexico, Missouri.

"He seems to be an individual who has an unusual ability to understand and get along with people. He is congenial. He relates to the children but at the same time he knows how to handle a situation. I've heard many white people say he is fair. And he has demonstrated he is interested in whites as well as blacks."

So spoke Rebecca Gibbs, a retired black school teacher who has lived in Mexico all her 71 years. She and others are not surprised by the two elections Tolson won in 1970 and 1972 to the city council nor the 3 to 2 vote of the council in May which made him mayor for a one-year term.

"Mexico is still 'Little Dixie', but there has been progress," said Tolson, a short man with sideburns

Texas League of Women Voters Are On The Ball

There is no doubt about it, the League of Women Voters of Texas are on the ball in checking out the revenue sharing program in the great state of Texas. We at the West Texas Times certainly appreciate what they are doing in monitoring and evaluating the general revenue sharing program with a funded project from the Clark Foundation.

This special project, the National Revenue Sharing Monitoring Project, will study the relationship of general revenue sharing to state and local government decision making and budgetary processes. We feel, without any doubt, it is good.

To date, Texas has received $316 million for expenditures at the state level. These monies are in addition to revenue sharing grants awarded to local governments. For that reason and many more, the Texas League will focus on use of revenue sharing monies by the State of Texas.

This newspaper, without hesitation, did cooperate with the Texas League by mailing a questionnaire to Texas League office in San Antonio, expressing our concern about their effort. In filling out this questionnaire, we were positive with our answers as we have a great responsibility of telling organizations such as the Texas League what is happening in our community.

We are aware of the fact that recipients of revenue sharing monies have an obligation to inform the media, including minority and bilingual media, about publication of revenue sharing reports. At this time, we at the West Texas Times have not been receiving such pertinent information to relay on to our many readers.

We hope this study by the Texas League will be able to get a picture of what is happening in all communities in Texas. We hope this study will be made public so we all will know what is happening in Texas. We know the Texas League is on the ball in helping all citizens of Texas, including minority readers of the West Texas Times.

We're Still Not Voting As We Should

Would you believe that only sixty-nine (69) persons voted in the Ella Iles Elementary School voting box 20 last Saturday. Looking again in East Lubbock, it was about the same type of involvement at Alderson Junior High School where there was a combination of Precincts 2, 5, and 6. At that voting box, only 133 east Lubbock residents voted.

Of course, the run-off election is past history. We must, however, be reminded of our performance at the polls each time we fall short of our potential. Ella Iles and Alderson areas will reveal that there are at least 4,300 qualified voters. This area alone could have nearly equaled the 6,206 Lubbock County voters who went to the polls last Saturday.

Unless we realize the importance of our voting power, we'll forever be behind everything which exists in the West Texas community. All the organizations we belong to will not help us in our effort. The politician will continue to help those areas where the voters come out in numbers.

With our small number of voters, we did vote for two winners, State Representative Elmer Tarbox and County Treasurer Connie Hopping Nicholson. Each of these candidates did advertise in this newspaper.

We have one more time to show our strength at the polls by getting ready for the really big election in November. Regardless of what party you belong, Democratic or Republican, you must get involved and vote for the candidate of your choice.

We at the Times would like for you to know that if the voters of East Lubbock would turn out in great numbers, say 4,000, the after effect would be something else. Why not think it over during your vacation season. Start getting ready for November. We'll remind you of this election. Keep telling yourself that we are not voting like we should.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

In Lubbock, Texas, it is imperative that we (black people) start getting behind organizations that are doing things for the welfare of the entire community. There are many organizations, for example, in East Lubbock, who could use your moral and financial support. It will take togetherness if we are going to win this battle over problems in our community. It'll take all of us to make this happen, regardless of our age or philosophy in life.

There is too much talent in east Lubbock for it to just die on the vine. If we will coordinate all our activities toward the same goal, it will be surprising what we can do for our community. Let's quit judging people on how they look or to what organization they belong.

Every organization in East Lubbock, whether it be a sorority, fraternity, social or business club, knows by now that an effort is underway to secure skilled laborers in the Lubbock community. It has been reported that at least 3,000 skilled workers will be needed by next year. At the same time, each organization should realize that we are gradually losing the young intelligent black man and woman to other communities. Shouldn't this suggest to all concerned that we can do something to curtail the outflow of young people and direct them toward the skilled labor force?

Why should we sit back and not get involved? Why should we sit back and not inform the young people, between ages of 18 and 26, that there are many opportunities in the skilled labor force? As a concerned organization or people, we can do something to help in this effort by working together. Can you imagine what would happen if every president or chairman of all organizations in East Lubbock would work together toward this effort? Surely, you can! With this type of approach, we would be helping Lubbock and ourselves.

As It See It, it is a must for us to start working in this direction. If we would do this, we would not only help the economical situation in our community, but we would be a positive to educate the young black man and woman about how important it is to be concerned about the political situation in Lubbock. Our young people, too, need to know how important it is to vote in every election. Without our voting effort, we are no threat to any politician or political sub-division (city, county or state).

Think about this before it's too late.

Sisters of Eta Delta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, a service sorority, are putting together a "Picture of Beauty" Friday evening, June 7, at 8 p.m. at Mae Simmons Community Center. This affair, "Miss Black Lubbock Pageant", will involve fifteen of Lubbock's beautiful black sisters. We all need to support this program. Let the young sisters in the pageant know, as well as the sponsors, we appreciate what they are doing.

Let's don't let the organization we belong to, stop us from helping to make this affair a great success.

We are back at the old game of ripping each other off in East Lubbock. It doesn't make any sense for us to break into another brother or sister's house and take their hard earned possessions. Surely, we can do better than that.

If you are a neighbor and you should happen to see someone breaking to a brother of sister's house, why not take the number of the license plate and call the Lubbock Police Department. Surely, we can get involved and help another brother or sister. If you help someone in this regard, you could be stopping someone from breaking into your house.

Eastern Little League still needs our support as parents or patrons. More parents need to be involved at the regular games each week. This would help the coaches, managers and officials do a much better job.

Those coaches, managers and officials, who are giving of their free time each week, are doing a splendid job in helping your young fellow. They can't do it by themselves, they need all parents.

The League could very well use financial support from parents or organizations to buy needed equipment for the operation of this needed summer program. Let us take this opportunity to help these young people have a wonderful success this summer.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

SLA GETTING STRONGER

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—Sources close to the Symbionese Liberation Army dispute the FBI's cautious claim that the SLA has been broken up. These sources say that Donald DeFreeze, who died in the recent Los Angeles shoot-out, was only the figurehead leader. The real brains behind the SLA, they say, are white radicals with Maoist leanings.

They are now building up DeFreeze, who called himself Field Marshal Cinque, as a martyr. And they have turned the Los Angeles shoot-out, our sources say, into a heroic episode made to order for revolutionary propaganda.

They not only are recruiting new members, according to our sources, but they can be expected to pull another spectacular event to dramatize their cause.

Our sources have no idea where Patty Hearst, the kidnapped newspaper heiress, is holed up. They suggest she may have been taken to a hideout across the border. Her publicity value is too great, our sources believe, for the SLA to risk losing her.

Meanwhile, federal and local authorities have spent an estimated eight to ten million dollars chasing the SLA. If this money had been spent on prison reform, there may have been on SLA. For the SLA is an outgrowth of the California prison system.

Oil Diplomacy: The United States is negotiating a longterm military and economic agreement with Saudi Arabia. President Nixon is planning a personal visit to the oil kingdom to complete the deal. He hopes to make a dramatic announcement that he has arranged for enough Saudi oil to prevent another oil shortage in the United States.

In return, the United States will help Saudi Arabia develop new industries as an economic base in case the oil wells should ever run dry. The United States will also provide the Saudis with sophisticated weapons and military training.

The Saudis, for their part, have been the most responsible of the Middle East oil producers. They are keenly concerned about the impact of exorbitant oil prices on the world's industrial nations. They are now preparing to urge that oil prices be lowered when they meet with the other oil producers in Quito, Ecuador, on June 15th.

Hanoi Tightens Grip: Intelligence reports warn that North Vietnam is consolidating its hold on the vast areas in the South. A road network now links the Communist strongholds with North Vietnam. The Communists have also rebuilt the port of Dong Ha, a former U.S. Marine base, which is now open to Communist freighters.

By land and sea, Hanoi has been pouring supplies into the South. Intelligence reports claim that Communist armies are now deployed for a military showdown with the South Vietnam forces. The people in the Communist-controlled areas are also being instructed to develop their own food and medicine supplies so they will be independent of the South Vietnam economy during the final military struggle.

There is little doubt that the Vietnamese War will be resumed on a massive scale during the months to come. But the intelligence reports indicate that Hanoi is giving first priority to rebuilding the North. A large scale offensive, therefore, is not considered likely this year.

Instead, the Communists are expected to limit their operations for the next few months to political agitation and guerrilla attacks.

Watergate Takes Back Seat: Sentiment is building up in the backrooms of Congress to impeach President Nixon. We have spoken privately to a number of congressional leaders who say that the Watergate crimes are now secondary. The President should be impeached, they tell us, for attempting to subvert the system.

They are alarmed over his attitude that he alone has the right to decide what evidence he will give to the courts and Congress. The effect of this doctrine, if it should be allowed to stand, would be to let future presidents decide whether the courts should have jurisdiction over crimes committee in the White House and whether Congress will be permitted to impeach the President.

Congressional leaders point out that the President can determine the outcome of the Watergate trials and his own impeachment investigation by controlling the evidence he will permit the courts and the Congress to see. If he can protect his aides by withholding evidence, the courts will lose their authority over crimes committed in the White House. And if the President can determine what impeachment evidence Congress should see, he could prevent impeachment by refusing to release any incriminating evidence.

The leaders who spoke to us say that Congress must meet this constitutional challenge and impeach the President. Failure to do so, they told us, would make a monarch of Richard Nixon. And future presidents would be able to exercise sovereign powers.

Betwixt and Between: What kind of President will Gerald Ford make? This is a question that is often asked, as the impeachment of President Nixon becomes more likely.

Our investigation of the Vice President has convinced us he is an honest man. He won't accept cash campaign contributions. He has always insisted upon checks, so they can be properly recorded.

Unlike President Nixon, Ford also operates in the open. He has always been a man of his word.

But this has now caught him in a political squeeze. Sources close to the Vice President tell us he gave President Nixon a pledge of loyalty before accepting the job.

But he also promised party leaders that he would campaign for Republican candidates this year. They pointed out that President Nixon has become a millstone around the neck of the Republican party. So they begged Ford to become the rallying point for Republicans.

This explains why Ford defends the President one day and criticizes him the next. Our White House sources say the President has brought polite pressure on Ford to cut out the criticism.

The President has agreed that Ford, for the sake of his own credibility, shouldn't always toe the White House line. But the President has suggested that Ford tone down the criticism and give fewer public speeches.

But if Nixon should be removed from office, that kind of President would Ford make? He would bring many of the qualities Harry Truman brought to the office. For Gerald Ford is a common man, but a decent one.

Her son, Danny Pepkins, was a member of the class. He has been reared by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hearn. He returned to Lubbock with his mother and plans to enter Texas Tech in the fall term. He is also hoping to find work during the summer. He has a 13 year old sister, Marsha Faye, and his mother and stepfather are happy to have the family all together.

Mrs. Lila Griffin was guest of Mrs. Sug Johnson last weekend. She plans to attend the United Methodist Church's Conference which begins this week in Amarillo. Mrs. Griffin, a former Lubbock resident and member of the Lubbock Public School faculty, is now serving in the public schools at Pampa. She attended a wedding at Midland last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lela Shankle, 92 year old sister of Mrs. Sug Johnson and Mrs. Carrie B. Williams, motored from Jasper, Texas to Lubbock with her daughter, Mrs. Etta Colvin, for a visit with her granddaughter, Mrs. Kathy Richards, who has been ill and her brother, Mr. Frank Blewitt. Even considering her four scores and twelve years, the trip did not bother her at all. She has been quite ill a few months ago.

Rev. A.W. Wilson, presiding elder and Mrs. Leon McNeil and Mrs. Benetta Stephens attended final services for Mrs. Ellatha Burns at Malvern, Arkansas last week. They returned home last Friday.

Miss Dethara Lewis left Lubbock Tuesday morning for her home in Waco, Texas after retiring from the Lubbock Public School system after serving 23 years here and also several years at Crosbyton and other West Texas communities.

Mrs. Judith Struggs Berry left Friday for Houston, Texas where she will study at Texas Southern University.

Mrs. Fannie Melton and son, Charles, left Friday morning for Prairie View, Texas where she will spend about two weeks visiting and fishing. She plans to spend part of the time at Galveston. Charles will leave Prairie View for Augusta, Georgia where he'll take some lab courses at the Medical College at State of Georgia. Frank Melton is in training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Johnny Jefferson and daughter, Marvin; and Mrs. Melton Walker and daughter of Dallas were Lubbock visitors the last two weeks. Mrs. Jefferson's daughter, Miss Marvin Jefferson, will attend the summer session at Texas Tech where she is a sophomore. Gena Walker is enrolled as a freshman at Texas Tech this summer. They were house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGowen and family.

Mrs. Emma McGowen, her daughter, Mrs. Lula Mae Gentry; and son, David, attended final rites held for their cousin, Mrs. Eloise Jefferson, at Dallas Saturday, May 25th. They have returned home.

Population Growth Of Blacks Exceeds That of Whites

Washington — (NBNS) —The population growth rate of blacks, although undergoing a slight slowing trend, more than doubled that of whites, according to a Bureau of the Census report.

The declining trend in growth rates corresponded with a sharp drop in 1973 with birth rates. Birth and fertility rates dropped to their lowest point in history last year, the second consecutive year of record low rates, according to the National Center for Health Statistics.

The black population increased between 1970 and 1973 by 5 per cent, to 23,900,000, while whites increased by only 2 per cent, to 183,500,000.

The increase continued a trend, in the decade between 1960 and 1970, the black population increased by nearly 20 per cent and whites by about 12 per cent.

During that period, the black population increased from 19 million to 22.28 million while the white population grew from 160 million to 179.5 million.

The total rate of increased dropped from 1.06 per cent from 1970 to 1971 to 0.87 per cent from 1971 to 1972 and to 0.75 per cent from 1972 to 1973.

Black rates in the same years decreased from 1.73 per cent to 1.57 per cent to 1.41 per cent. The white rate dropped from 0.91 per cent to 0.6 per cent.

Some blacks have charged a conspiracy by whites to restrict black growth and thus limit potential black political power.

The high rate of growth among blacks was typical of a people with generally lower incomes and educations, according to demographers. They also alleged that blacks often have unplanned children because they lack access to contraceptive devices.

High-Way Hedge Revival Scheduled

A Hi-Way Hedge Revival will be held Tuesday, June 11 through Sunday, June 16 at the Mount Zion Baptist Church, 806 Idalou Road, with consecrating beginning from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. Fervent prayer and inspirational prayer every evening. True testimonies and powerful preaching will also be held.

Speaker during the week long revival will be Rev. C.J. Tisdale, evangelist. His topics are: "A Murder's Prayer," Psalm 51; "Burn Up the Junk", Acts 19:19; "Bottle Babies", 1 Cor. 1:2; "I'm All Shook Up", Daniel 5:6; "Devil's Nursery", 1 Cor. 6:10; and "Stand With Us I See Blessings Ahead", Numbers 10:29.

Rev. George Flemings is pastor. Each and everyone is invited and welcome to attend each evening of powerful preaching.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

Word reaches us that, according to no less an authority than Jim Carlen, head football coach at Texas Tech, the Red Raiders should be considered no better than a bet to finish fourth or worse. At least the Raider Boss is telling folks that tops in SWC should be Texas, Arkansas and A&M, not necessarily in that order, of course.

The rest of the teams are lumped in a group fighting to catch the leaders and upset the prognosticators by winning all the marbles. If past conference races are any criterion, that could be the case this year, except that you can't forget that Texas has won six titles in succession.

Anyway, at first glance it would appear that Carlen has conceded the title to one of three other state schools. Anyone want to bet on it? The day that Carlen, or any other coach in the conference, decides he doesn't have a chance will be the day that each school will be looking for someone with a wee bit more enthusiasm and optimism.

Don't you believe that Jim has thrown in the sponge. If anything, he's being realistic, based on losses from last year's 11-1 squad and somewhat untried players coming up. What he's doing, of course, is to throw up a smokescreen and protecting his young players.

The chances are good that, when the season does start, the untried players will develop rapidly. After all, they aren't completely untested and they have been getting good coaching. In addition, winning becomes contagious and pride enters the picture.

Being protected the most probably is Tommy Duniven. After all, he is to replace Joe Barnes, and Barnes had a great year. In addition, Duniven had a knee operation this spring and missed a lot of work. But, if what we hear is true, and there's no reason to doubt it, the knee is as strong as ever and Duniven should pick up where Barnes left off.

But to get back to the conference picture, there's plenty of reason for Carlen to lump Texas, Arkansas and A&M in a group. Logic dictates that Texas, with or without Rosy Leaks, is the team to beat. Arkansas, after a slump last year, seems to be coming to the front with more depth and great ability, if the Razorbacks can solve the quarterback situation.

As for the Aggies, this should be their year. They have everyone coming back. They have size and speed. They have great depth. In short, A&M just might have the best size, speed, ability and experience in the conference. It really should be A&M's year to go all the way.

The above speculation isn't entirely out of place, what with the Coaches All America game coming up two weeks from this Saturday. Hopefully, Barnes will be one of the stars of that contest and there's no reason to think that he won't be.

Activities started Tuesday with the kickoff luncheon at the Lubbock Lions Club, with Jake Gaither as the speaker. There will be weekly luncheons and report meetings on ticket sales. Everyone is hoping that, despite the early heat and dry spring, there will be a record crowd again. As one businessman told me, what else is there to do on Saturday night in June in Lubbock, besides look at reruns on the boob tube.

The talent certainly is there for a great game, although the majority of fans won't recognize a lot of the linemen. After all, you seldom remember even a Tech lineman two years after he's finished his competition, and that's not a rap at linemen. Without them, backs wouldn't get any recognition, but the public's memory for them is short.

The first rush of players constituted players who weren't generally household names. The delay in announcing the final few players is because some of the top runningbacks haven't committed. Dickie Morton adds to the game and there will be others soon.

Norm Williamson, who occasionally fills some space in his own publication, but who would rather brag through us about his fishing prowess, went to Lake Spence last weekend. He blushing admitted that he wet a line, but the hooks kept coming up empty.

He added that the wind came up and all but blew his group away, with wind gusts clocked at some 65 mph. "Fortunately, we had the wagon and boat headed into the wind and it didn't hurt us," Norm said, "But man, that wind was fierce, and in that country, there's no place to hide."

Belated congratulations to both the Monterey Plainsmen on gaining another trip to the state baseball tournament and to the Lubbock Christian College Chaparrals on going to the finals. The Chaps fought valiantly before falling to Sam Houston State, perennial powers.

The Plainsmen have been to the state tournament in the past and have done well. There's no reason why the Monterey team won't do equally as well this year. Bobby Moegle has come up with another solid club, one that combines good pitching with tight defense and timely hitting. I know that everyone in Lubbock would like to see another state championship pennant brought here.

Despite the best efforts of Tony Kubek and Joe Garagiola to make the weekly Saturday baseball game interesting and exciting, we have so far been treated to a series of dull affairs. As my neighbor, former Pampa Oiler Carroll Berryman said, "they've gotten so boring that most of the time I work in the yard instead of watching."

It's not the networks' fault that the games have been bad. It's been their misfortune to have games that were onesided and decided early. As a matter of record, fans are being treated to good, tight races, with the exception of the NL West, where the LA Dodgers are making a farce of things. Outside of the Bums, the races are good, and hopefully, will remain that way.

Southern U. Death Site Visited

Baton Rouge — (NBNS) — The campus of Southern University, the site of the deaths of two students two years ago following a confrontation, was visited by a federal grand jury investigating the case. The Grand Jury is attempting to determine whether the civil rights of the two students, Denver Smith and Leonard Brown, were violated when they were shot to death as deputies attempted to move protestors out of the Administration Building of the school.

Interest In College High Among Poor

Washington — (NBNS) — Stressing that interest in attending college is high among minority high school students from low income families, the director of the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students has called on the schools to make room for such students.

In the two-year study, the service found it misleading to pre-suppose that there was little or no interest in going to college among the poor. Of the minority students wishing to go on to college, 19 per cent came from poor families, the survey found.

ANGELIC CHOIR IN CONCERT SUNDAY EVENING—The Angelic Choir of Mount Gilead Baptist Church will present a program Sunday evening, June 9, at 7 p.m. in the church auditorium. Last Sunday, the well known choir presented a well talked about song feast at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Rev. C.C. Peoples, pastor. Many of their songs on Sunday evening will be from the program held at Slaton.

As one of the officers of the choir has said, "It will be an evening in song to remember." Garnett Lee is pianist and director; Mrs. Heneretta Clark is assistant pianist. The processional of the Angelic Choir will begin at 7 p.m. Please don't miss this great concert.

who came here from Kansas City. "It speaks well for the community that people here are willing to accept change. I feel that the community has come a long way. "I knew to do my job, I had to do a great selling job, not just to the city, but to the county. I knew that if I failed to do this I wouldn't be failing only Tolson, I would be failing the black race," he concluded.

Intelligent adults are kind to the children they meet in life.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Members of the Mount Vernon United Methodist Church entertained their two graduates from high school last Sunday afternoon at the church auditorium. The students, Shelby Walker and Anthony Robinson, are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Walker and Mrs. Thelma Daye Robinson.

Rev. and Mrs. Nathan, pastor and wife, were also entertained as they will be leaving the church soon. They were presented a silver tray.

The young graduates were presented several lovely gifts.

The occasion was quite nice and more than fifty persons were in attendance. Mrs. Leon McNeal rendered a solo "The Name of Jesus", accompanied by Mrs. Edna Walker.

Many members and friends expressed their unhappiness over seeing their pastor and wife leave. The Nathans have done a wonderful job here in Lubbock and the church is getting back into good shape again.

The church is sponsoring a building fund drive June 3 through 9th beginning at 8:30 p.m. nightly. Guest churches will be present. The drive will climax Sunday, June 9th at 3:30 p.m. with Rev. J. Alexander and his church of Dimmit.

This will be the last service for Unity Baptist Church at the present location of 1504 E. 15th St. After this the church will move to new location at 4th and Yucca. The property has already been purchased by the church. Dinner will be served immediately following the 3:30 meeting Sunday.

Visitors present last Sunday morning were Mrs. Hannah Lee Patterson and Darren Joshua, mother and nephew of T.J. Patterson; and Danny Pipkin, son of Mrs. Mary Johns.
