Chicago Fire Department Ordered to Hire More Black Fireman by Justice Department

Washington — (NBNS) — The Justice Department has won a consent decree ordering the Chicago Fire Department to hire more blacks and Spanish surnamed persons over the next five years.

The decree, issued by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas R. McMillen, permits the fire department to hire 170 whites and 10 blacks who have been on its eligibility list since 1969.

But it also requires that the next 160 persons scheduled to be hired by the Chicago department by June 30, 1974, all be black or Spanish surnamed. In addition, the department must adopt a goal of hiring half its firemen from among the two minority groups for each of the next five years.

Under the agreement, the fire department agreed to discontinue using hiring and promotion tests that the Justice Department claimed were discriminatory. It agreed instead to develop new tests in accordance with guidelines established by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The Justice Department sued the Chicago, Los Angeles, Dallas, Boston and Albuquerque fire departments and the Chicago and Buffalo police departments after the Congress gave it the authority to use public employers on discrimination charges.

The Chicago fire department case, which was filed in April of last year, is the first in which the Justice Department has obtained a decree requiring the hiring of more minority group members.

Left unresolved in the Chicago case was the Justice Department's complaint that the Chicago Fire Department assigns its black firemen only to certain stations.

HEW Head Raps Welfare Errors

San Francisco—(NBNS)—The head of the nation's welfare program has blamed "inept administration" for the high number of errors in payments and ineligible families.

A recent report showed that four out of every 10 welfare families were ineligible or incorrectly paid, noted HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

"Perilously close to half the people in this program are not getting the payments they should," he said. "I think this is a national scandal."

He said the main cause of payment errors was "inept administration with no will or necessity to do anything about it." The survey reported that $1.17 billion a year goes to ineligible families.

Hundreds May Have Died In Mozambique

Reports spread that hundreds may have died in Mozambique as a result of drinking methyl alcohol in the belief it was whiskey. Several weeks ago it was noted that 58 died after drinking the spirits which was in drums that washed up on the coast.

Change Broadcast Ownership, Hooks Pleads

New York — (NBNS) — Commissioner Benjamin Hooks, the first black member of the Federal Communications Commission, says blacks could "change the dismal picture" of minority ownership and employment in broadcasting if they got together.

Speaking at a meeting sponsored by Black Citizens for Fair Media, Hooks noted that there were no black owned TV stations

Black Enterprise Magazine Lists Ranking Blacks in Government's Executive Branch

New York—As of December 1, 1973, there were only 239 blacks holding top level positions in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government out of more than 11,000 such positions. In other words, blacks hold a little more than 2 percent of these prime jobs. This information compiled by black Enterprise magazine, can be found in its January issue which deals with politics.

Black Enterprise magazine contends that a major reason for the government's failure to employ more blacks in high level positions is the lack of pressure from outside sources to do so. After World War II, blacks in increasing numbers gained well paying, but low level, Civil Service jobs in the Federal Government, and now, non-whites constitute 23 percent of all the federal bureaucracy. But, as the Black Enterprise list indicates, at the top level, or "Super Grades", blacks hold little more than 2 percent of these positions.

Blacks are distributed unevenly in these top positions. State, health, education and welfare, housing and urban development, and transportation departments have relatively large numbers of blacks at the executive level. While at the Departments of Commerce, Interior and Defense, blacks hold less than 1 percent of the top positions.

The Black Enterprise study concludes that blacks are still far from gaining their fair share of the Federal Government's better paying, more responsible top level jobs.

The publication of this list marks another first for the magazine. The June issue of Black Enterprise carried a list of the 100 top black owned businesses in this country. The first time that such a list was compiled.

Diboll Representative Calls for More Safeguards in Constitution

Austin—State Representative Buddy Temple (D) of Diboll Saturday called upon the citizens of Texas to contact their State Representatives and State Senators and insist that Initiative, Referendum, and Recall provisions be included in the draft of the new Texas Constitution.

State Representatives and Senators will sit as delegates to a Constitutional Convention to write a new Texas Constitution beginning January 8, 1974.

A Recall provision would allow elected office holders to be dismissed from office before the end of their terms by petition and special election of the citizens in their areas. Thirteen state constitutions contain Recall provisions.

Temple said this provision was particularly needed with the new four year terms for state wide elected officials.

The Diboll representative said, "It is intolerable that in Texas an elected public official can violate the public trust, either by incompetence, inaction, or corruption in the country, although several are expected shortly.

Of the country's 7,000 radio stations, only 25 are owned by blacks. Minority employees make up only 11 per cent of the employees in the industry, and most of them are in the low-paying jobs.

Hanrahan to Seek Congressional Post

Chicago, Ill.—(NBNS)—Former Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, acquitted on charges of obstructing justice in connection with a fatal 1969 raid on Black Panther Party headquarters, has announced he is running for Congress.

Hanrahan said he will seek a seat in Chicago's west suburban Sixth District as an "independent Democrat" challenging Mayor Richard J. Daley's regular Democratic organization.

The vacancy is occurring because the district's incumbent Congressman, Harold R. Collier, a Republican conservative, is retiring. The Sixth District includes such generally Democratic white middle-class suburbs as Cicero and Berwyn as well as the upper-middle-class communities of River Forest and Oak Park.

Hanrahan will face Robert Miller, a teacher, in the March 19 Democratic primary. The winner will then meet the Republican nominee in November, likely to be Henry Hyde, a state representative.

Hanrahan has been in private law practice since losing last year to Republican Bernard Carey in the state's attorney race. He was originally picked by the Daley organization, but later dumped. He beat the Daley candidate only to lose to the Republican, an unusual happening in this Democratic stronghold.

"One of the things I want people to know is that I'm nobody's man. I will be answerable only to myself and the people of the Sixth District. But I am a Democrat", Hanrahan said following his announcement.

tion, in the most blatant fashion, and continue to hold his office for several years with the public being unable to act."

Temple said such a mechanism would also go far to temper the arrogance assumed by some elected officials after taking office.

The Initiative and Referendum allow citizens to pass or repeal laws without action of the Legislature. Some 20 states have Initiative provisions in their constitutions. They provide that a citizen or group of citizens may draft a law and, after obtaining signatures of usually 10 percent of the voters in the state, have the measure placed on the ballot for a majority of the citizens to enact or turn down.

The Referendum is a similar petition and election device that allows the citizens to repeal a law already enacted by the legislature.

Temple stated that his reason for supporting these items was that any new Constitution would likely increase the powers of the legislative and executive branches of the state government.

"The increased authority given to those branches of government must be offset by reserving to the citizens of the state the power of Initiative, Referendum, and Recall," Temple said.

East Lubbock Business Association to Meet Tuesday Evening

The monthly meeting of the East Lubbock Business Association will be held Tuesday evening, January 8, at 7:30 p.m. at Mae Simmons Community Center. The public is cordially invited to attend this important meeting.

An effort is underway to increase the membership of this organization. All business men and women are urged to attend and become a part of this infant organization.

Newly elected president, T.J. Patterson, is expected to present a speech which will give in detail the condition of east Lubbock and what this organization can do to help the business aspect of a community with more than 10,000 black people.

"I hope this address—State of East Lubbock Speech— will give a picture of some of the goals that could become reality if we all get behind this effort," Patterson explained.

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

Ford's Plea

Vice President Gerald Ford has called on the House Judiciary Committee and Chairman Peter Rodino (D-NJ) to get on with its impeachment hearings, to bring impeachment to a vote in three or four months.

The Vice President says hearings on the question should not be dragged out into the 1974 political campaign, as a part of a political effort to win seats in Congress.

Congressman Rodino, however, indicates the investigation may not be completed by April. Thus, the prospect is these hearings may drag on into summer or early fall.

Regardless of the political repercussions and regardless of the guilt or innocence of those caught up in Watergate, the American people are entitled to effective government and effective leadership from both Congress and the executive department of government. That is not fully possible as long as the nation is looking backward, at past scandals.

The courts and a special prosecutor are hard at work sorting out Watergate culprits and punishing them. After almost a year of turmoil, charges, and claims, the President is certainly entitled to a speedy trial in the Senate.

Since no one feels there is much of a chance two-thirds of the Senate would vote to oust the President, the committee "side-show" in the House, whatever happens, is not likely to lead to any result affecting the length of the President's term; the hearings, then, are suspect as another political undertaking, to a large degree.

Weather And Buses

Now that the weather is getting down to business, it would be well for drivers to remember that darker days and poor visibility often add up to tragedy.

Under the law in Texas, drivers are required to stop when school buses are discharging or taking on passengers. This means drivers approaching or following a school bus are required to stop.

In hilly areas or in poor visibility, or on curves, cars are often hard-pressed to stop if they do not see a standing bus a good distance ahead. Although school buses are supposed to show blinking lights, or stop signals in the form of a raised sign or in some other fashion, these signals are sometimes flashed dangerously late by the driver, and oncoming cars, driven at the suggested lower speed, are often given very little time to stop.

We call the attention of all drivers to the fact that, as days are shorter and winter weather increases its intensity, eyes should be kept peeled for school buses, especially in the early morning and early afternoon, in an effort to avoid what could be the worst possible tragedy.

This is 1974 and unless we do something different in our community, black people will be in the same condition as they were at the end of 1973...."status quo"....It is about time to realize that we can do some things if we only utilize our talents and resources.

According to a "Basic Socioeconomic Data for Lubbock Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA)," an analytical table and statistical maps study, compiled by the College of Business Administration at Texas Tech University recently, it reveals that there are 19,146 persons residing east of Avenue A (with the city limits on the south and north as boundaries).

Of this number, 10,321 are black people. This is a great percentage of black people residing in these areas. By driving through this area and looking at the condition, one would assume that there are not this many black people in Lubbock.

It is about time for the black man and woman in Lubbock as well as the South Plains to realize that they are here and start doing some things to become a part of the economical and political action. There are enough black people, not to mention the Mexican-Americans, to control any given election. Isn't this the year for black people to do something about this political thing?

Black, Mexican-American, Chinese-American, Filipinos, American Indians and Japanese-Americans have decided to form a coalition in the San Francisco Bay Area. This coalition is designed to ensure that all these minorities will have a voice in "decisions by regional councils and other governing bodies in the area."

In an article in December, 1973 "Focus", a publication of the Joint Center for Political Studies of Washington, D.C., it revealed that this coalition was formed after a conference in San Francisco called by the Bay Area Committee Against Discrimination in Housing. About 60 representatives from the minority groups met to discuss this important effort.

There were several concrete projects discussed by the group. Here are only a few of the reasons why they banded together as a coalition to have a political voice in the San Francisco Bay Area:

1. Obtaining assurances that minorities will receive a fair share of construction jobs in a major shopping and office development in Oakland.
2. Obtaining a fair share of professional and white-collar jobs in the businesses which will occupy the development once it is built.
3. Provide more minority representation on an advisory committee overseeing projects receiving federal funds;
4. Seeing that more minority group persons hold either elected or appointed positions in the area. Since minorities comprise about 30 per cent of the population. I realize that this coalition has been formed in the San on economic chaos. They have been instructed, therefore, to seize upon the dissatisfaction of the workers, to organize strikes and to lead protests.

If the secret reports are accurate, the Kremlin is taking full advantage of the sudden economic plight of Western Europe, Japan and the United States.

Safer in Jail: Newspapers recently carried pictures of former mine workers' boss Tony Boyle being rolled off in a wheelchair to begin a jail sentence for illegal political contributions.

He also faces charges of conspiracy in the 1970 murder of his union rival, Jock Yablonski, and Yablonski's wife and daughter. I was the first to report in November 1970 that there was evidence Boyle was involved in the murder plot.

Now the pictures of Boyle in a wheelchair have aroused sympathy for him. As pitiful as the wheelchair pictures may seem, however, Justice Department sources tell us Boyle will be safer in jail.

During a routine check of his hospital room, searchers found that Boyle had been saving pills prescribed by his physicians. The officials believe he was planning another suicide attempt. He has been hospitalized since taking an overdose of drugs last fall.

The murder trial will be coming up in 1974. Is Boyle fit to stand trial? The Justice Department officials believe he is. One said that, although Boyle's body may be frail, his mind is as tough as ever.

Crucial Poker Game: Pentagon sources warn that a major North Vietnamese offensive is almost inevitable in 1974. North Vietnam now has roughly 200,000 troops, 600 tanks and four airstrips ready for action in the South. This is a larger Communist force than the beleaguered South Vietnamese have ever faced.

It brought Secretary of State Henry Kissinger back to Paris for another meeting with Le Duc Tho. Almost a year after the two Nobel Peace Prize winners reached their tenuous cease-fire agreement, they met again in the shadow of the Eiffel Tower.

Behind Tho's back, Kissinger called him "Ducky." But to his face, Kissinger was cordial and confident. Sources privy to their talks describe it as a game of bluff. For Kissinger had no real cards to play in this critical poker game.

The American people want to stay out of Vietnam and Congress is unlikely to authorize any military action. So Kissinger had nothing to offer in the bargaining.

Instead, he played on Hanoi's uncertainty about President Nixon. The North Vietnamese never expected the President to respond to their last offensive with a massive bombing attack. They were surprised again at his swift shipment of armaments to Israel during the recent Arab-Israeli fighting.

Secretary Kissinger sought to keep the peace, therefore,

Francisco Bay Area, but some of the same problems they are having as a member of a minority group are the same types of problems which affect minorities in Lubbock.

In Lubbock, there is no representation of minorities on various policy groups in the City of Lubbock nor is there as great a number of opportunities for minorities in the business community as it should be. I know that there is more than 25 percent population which is black and Mexican American.

I am not suggesting anything, but I would like to inform all minorities with Lubbock that there is hope if there is some unity with one another. If all minority groups in Lubbock would get together, there would be a greater impact on the political system in the Hub City. Of course, this includes those 20,000 students on the campus of Texas Tech University who are not utilizing their political strength in the Lubbock community.

As I See It, all the resources are here, we're just not using what we have. Just think about it.

I don't know how many of you have paid attention to the unusual intersection at East 4th Street and Idalou Road, but I have for several years. If you are traveling on East 4th Street, you really don't know which light to take. If you are traveling south, you really are confused.

I would suggest to the City of Lubbock that they really look into this lighting situation and come up with something better. It is worse than crossing the overpass on East 24th Street, the only way to get across the tracks.

This is why I holler about representation on various policy making boards and representation on the Lubbock City Council, because one doesn't understand until you are affected by the problem. Maybe, just maybe, one day something will change this decision making "thing" in the City of Lubbock. I hope so, don't you?

Open Letter to Senior Citizens

by Clara L. Scott

To: East Lubbock Senior Citizens and our many friends throughout the city.

Greetings:

Thank you for the many ways you have helped us to get a job well done in 1973.

The prayer that we all should offer as we start on the threshold of 1974 is this: "Teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

There are no calendars in heaven. Let us take this year of 1974 to show our love to our families. Let us take time to create a happy home atmosphere through love. Let us take time to express our love in a thousand ways so when we are gone our families will remember us not for our business sense, our cleverness, our wealth, but for our love.

Finally, let us take time to get better acquainted with God through prayer and daily meditation.

Our next meeting is Tuesday, January 8, 1974. Come Senior Citizens and friends and let us make this a big year in respect for Seniors everywhere.

by playing upon the North Vietnamese fears as to what the unpredictable Richard Nixon might do.

United We Stand? Not since World War II have the Western nations been in such dire danger. The Arab oil squeeze is threatening the prosperity of all the industrialized countries. They must cut petroleum consumption, thus risking depression, or pay the soaring price of foreign oil.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has warned the West to stand together or fall apart. Only by working together, he has urged, can a worldwide disaster be avoided. The alternative would leave every nation to scramble for itself. It was exactly this kind of fragmentation that led to the Great Depression of the 1930s and World War II.

The first requirement is to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict. Kissinger has succeeded in bringing the Arabs and Israelis together at Geneva. This alone is a remarkable diplomatic achievement.

But Kissinger has been unable to persuade the Western powers to adopt a united policy. The secret intelligence reports tell of petty politics, bickering and backbiting among the North Atlantic nations.

Even more disturbing, the intelligence reports carry news of frequent clashes between Israeli and Egyptian forces. The Egyptians have adopted a policy of making the Israelis pay for every day they delay their withdrawal.

Egyptian snipers have been taking a deadly toll of Israeli soldiers. Egyptian commandos have also staged raids, which have led to firefights.

Most of these incidents have been kept out of the newspapers. But they could torpedo the peace.

Sinking a System: An intelligent shopper needs more than an eye for a bargain these days. He almost needs an economic degree to keep up with gyrating food prices.

Shortages and inflation were causing such price stretching last summer that a House subcommittee asked the Federal Trade Commission to develop a process to help the beleaguered consumer. The FTC is supposed to protect the public from exploitation.

FTC researchers, accordingly, developed and tested a system which should give consumers an accurate guideline for shopping. The system is so good that the FTC would be able to use it as evidence against a supermarket accused of false advertising.

But there is one hangup. The new survey is being withheld by the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection. Heavy lobbying by the big chain stores has delayed, and possibly stopped, its implementation.

Meanwhile, the supermarket shopper has been left to depend on his own wits by the agency that is supposed to protect him.

Washington—Secret intelligence reports warn that the Kremlin is playing a double game. Above the table, the Soviets are cooperating with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's efforts to settle the Middle East crisis. But under the table, the Soviets are stirring up the Arabs to tighten the economic screws on the Western powers.

The Kremlin is quietly urging the Arabs to continue the oil embargo, which has caused economic tremors throughout the West. The Kremlin is also encouraging the Arabs to withdraw their oil billions from Western banks. This could throw the whole monetary system of the West into a tailspin.

But there is even more ominous news in the secret dispatches. They warn that the Kremlin has issued orders to Communist parties in the West to exploit the economic unrest caused by the oil squeeze.

Loyal Communists have been reminded, according to the Central Intelligence Agency, that Communism thrives

Burial was held in Peaceful Gardens Memorial Park under direction of Jamison and Son Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ethel Bell Jamison; a daughter, Mrs. Penny E. Burr of Estancia, N.M.; a son, James Howard Jamison, Sr. of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Rosa Gibson of Houston; two brothers, T.S. Jamison of Lubbock and LeClaire Jamison of Crestview, Florida; seven grandchildren, Mrs. Evona Thomas of Fayetteville, N.C., James Howard Jr., Shree, Warnett, Arlena P., Jacqueline and Demetra, all of Lubbock; two great grandchildren, George Thomas, Jr. and Gevona Thomas; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cora Jamison; son-in-law, Lonnie Burr, a host of relatives and friends.

Mother of Lubbock Resident Passes Away At Bastrop, Texas

Mr. Vance Houston, known here to all his friends as "Hadaacol", left Friday for Bastrop, Texas to attend the services of his mother, Mrs. Vinnie Houston, who passed away shortly after he reached her bedside Sunday, December 23, two days before Christmas.

She said only a few words to him after she recognized him. Besides "Hadaacol" here, she is survived by two other sons and two daughters.

Further details are not known at this time.

What Has the Year 1973 Meant to You?

by M. Terrell

Monday night, we said farewell to another year. I wonder what it meant to you. Have you counted your blessings? I tried to, but they were too numerous. I've been ill almost eleven months, unable to work, and sometimes unable to help myself, and my doctor informed me I was supposed to be gone. I am still much alive and I did not know how many lovely friends I had until I got sick.

I want each one of you to accept my sincere gratitude and thanks for what you have done and are still doing for my sister, J. Simmons, and me. I can't name you one by one, because it would require too much space in the Times. But from food, to free transportation, to hospital and doctors office, the Black Culture Club "73" of Reece Air Force Base, the Federation of Choirs and just plain old "down to earth friends." Even the editor and business manager of the West Texas Times took time from their busy schedule to send flowers and generous donation.

My pastor and wife and members of my church and several other churches of the city were so kind. It just made me know you cared, and you proved it. So as we enter a New Year, let's join hands and heart and "take time to pray and count our blessings each day."

As I pen this article, I'm so happy to be here. And let's all remember that you can't praise the Lord and grumble at the same time. So many things have happened the past 365 days, corruption in our government, food prices soared to an unbelievable height, and so many things I could mention, but we are still eating, warm and working, those of us who are able and want to do so.

So let's all make every day in this new year count for Jesus. He is our source. Happy New Year and May God bless each one of you is my New Year's prayer. Thanks again for being my friends.
