Auxilio Center Works With Youth Drug Problems

Auxilio Inc. is a non-profit organization located at 1414 First Street, Lubbock, Texas. At the present time the staff consists of 11 persons, six funded by CETA under South Plains Association of Governments. The other five are funded by Llano Estacado, a Migrant Farmerworker Organization.

The main concern of Auxilio Inc. is to work with youths to educate them on the drug abuse problem and the danger of it. To date, they have been working with 14 schools in the Lubbock area. "Our desire is to work with every school in Lubbock county and hopefully in the near future with counties around Lubbock. We at Auxilio Inc. are persons that have been involved with drugs in one way or another. We do not claim to know all the problems nor do we claim to be experts on drugs. But we have lived the life of an addict and have gone straight. Now with this experience behind us we hope to reach the youths and help those who want help."

The services offered at Auxilio Inc. are individual counseling, group counseling, and parent, youth counseling. The center also will make speeches to the public schools, organizations or any social group.

The intent of this article is to make the public and communities of Lubbock aware of the fact that there is someone who is willing to help the youths of today who have had drug problems, or simply for youths who would like to become aware of drug abuse and its danger. "As far as we know we are the only organization who is involved with youth drug abuse in the Lubbock county."

For more information call or come by Auxilio Inc. at 1414 First Street, telephone 763-9578, Lubbock, Texas.

Pre-Registration Forms Available for Iles Program

Pre-registration forms for the Iles Elementary School program next year are now available in principals' offices in neighborhood elementary schools, according to Superintendent Ed Irons. He encourages interested parents to pick up the forms and to return them soon.

Accompanying the pre-registration form is a brief explanation of the exemplary program that is to be offered at Iles. The school will have an optional early and late schedule beginning at 7:30 a.m. and concluding at 5:30 p.m. The regular school day will be from 8:20 a.m. until 3:00 p.m., the same as for other elementary schools.

The exemplary program is being designed to attract majority students to the school as part of the desegregation plan. There is no compulsory assignment of Anglo students at Iles.

The educational goals are an emphasis on basic skills, a major role for the creative and expressive arts, a broadened opportunity for the gifted and talented, and a commitment to health and physical education.

The College of Education at Texas Tech University is cooperating with the school district in developing and implementing the exemplary program.

Dunbar Offers Early Morning Classes

A feature of the Dunbar High School program next year will be early morning classes and extension of the "senior study hall" option to include junior students, according to Superintendent Ed Irons.

There will be some 7:30 a.m. classes offered at Dunbar, Irons said. Junior and senior students will be eligible to leave the campus at the study hall period, an option presently offered only to senior students. If possible, the study hall period will be offered juniors and seniors at the close of their day. Such students could be through with the formal class day at approximately 1:30 p.m. if they choose the early schedule. Juniors and seniors who begin classes at the regular time, which will be 8:30 a.m. at Dunbar, could be eligible to leave at about 2:30 p.m.

Sophomores who begin classes at 7:30 a.m. will complete their regular class day an hour earlier than if they follow the routine schedule.

Transportation will be furnished from selected school locations in the Lubbock Independent School District for students attending Iles. It will be available only for the regular school day of 8:20 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

Although the exemplary program is being designed to attract majority students to Iles, requests from minority families will be considered on a limited basis, depending on the enrollment of majority students.

Clerk-Carrier Positions Offered

Postmaster Elmer J. Reed, Jr., has announced that clerk-carrier exams will be given within the next 2 months and urged that all those interested apply to take the job-related tests that can lead to Postal Service employment.

"We have not opened our register since 1976 and an examination of it has led us to believe that it is out of date, and that many of the names on the register are people who have moved or for some reason are no longer available to take postal jobs," Mr. Reed said.

"I do not want to give the impression we will be hiring great numbers of people in the coming months," the Postmaster said. "I anticipate approximately 44 vacancies will occur in the next two years that will be filled by hiring people from our up-dated job register. We need qualified people who will be willing to accept employment and we want to offer people in the local community the chance to compete for these openings by signing up for and taking the exams."

The Postmaster said the Postal Service established the policy two years ago of extending eligibility indefinitely for those on the job register because little hiring was being done. "On October 8, 1978 those who have been on the job register for more than two years will lose their eligibility. They will have to reapply to compete for a standing on the new register," he said.

Postmaster Reed explained those wishing to take the exam could apply by filling out the Application-Admission Card between May 30 and June 5, 1978 in the lobby of the Main Post Office, 1515 Avenue G, Lubbock, Texas, 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday and 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Saturday, June 3, 1978.

ODDITIES-HELPFUL TIPS

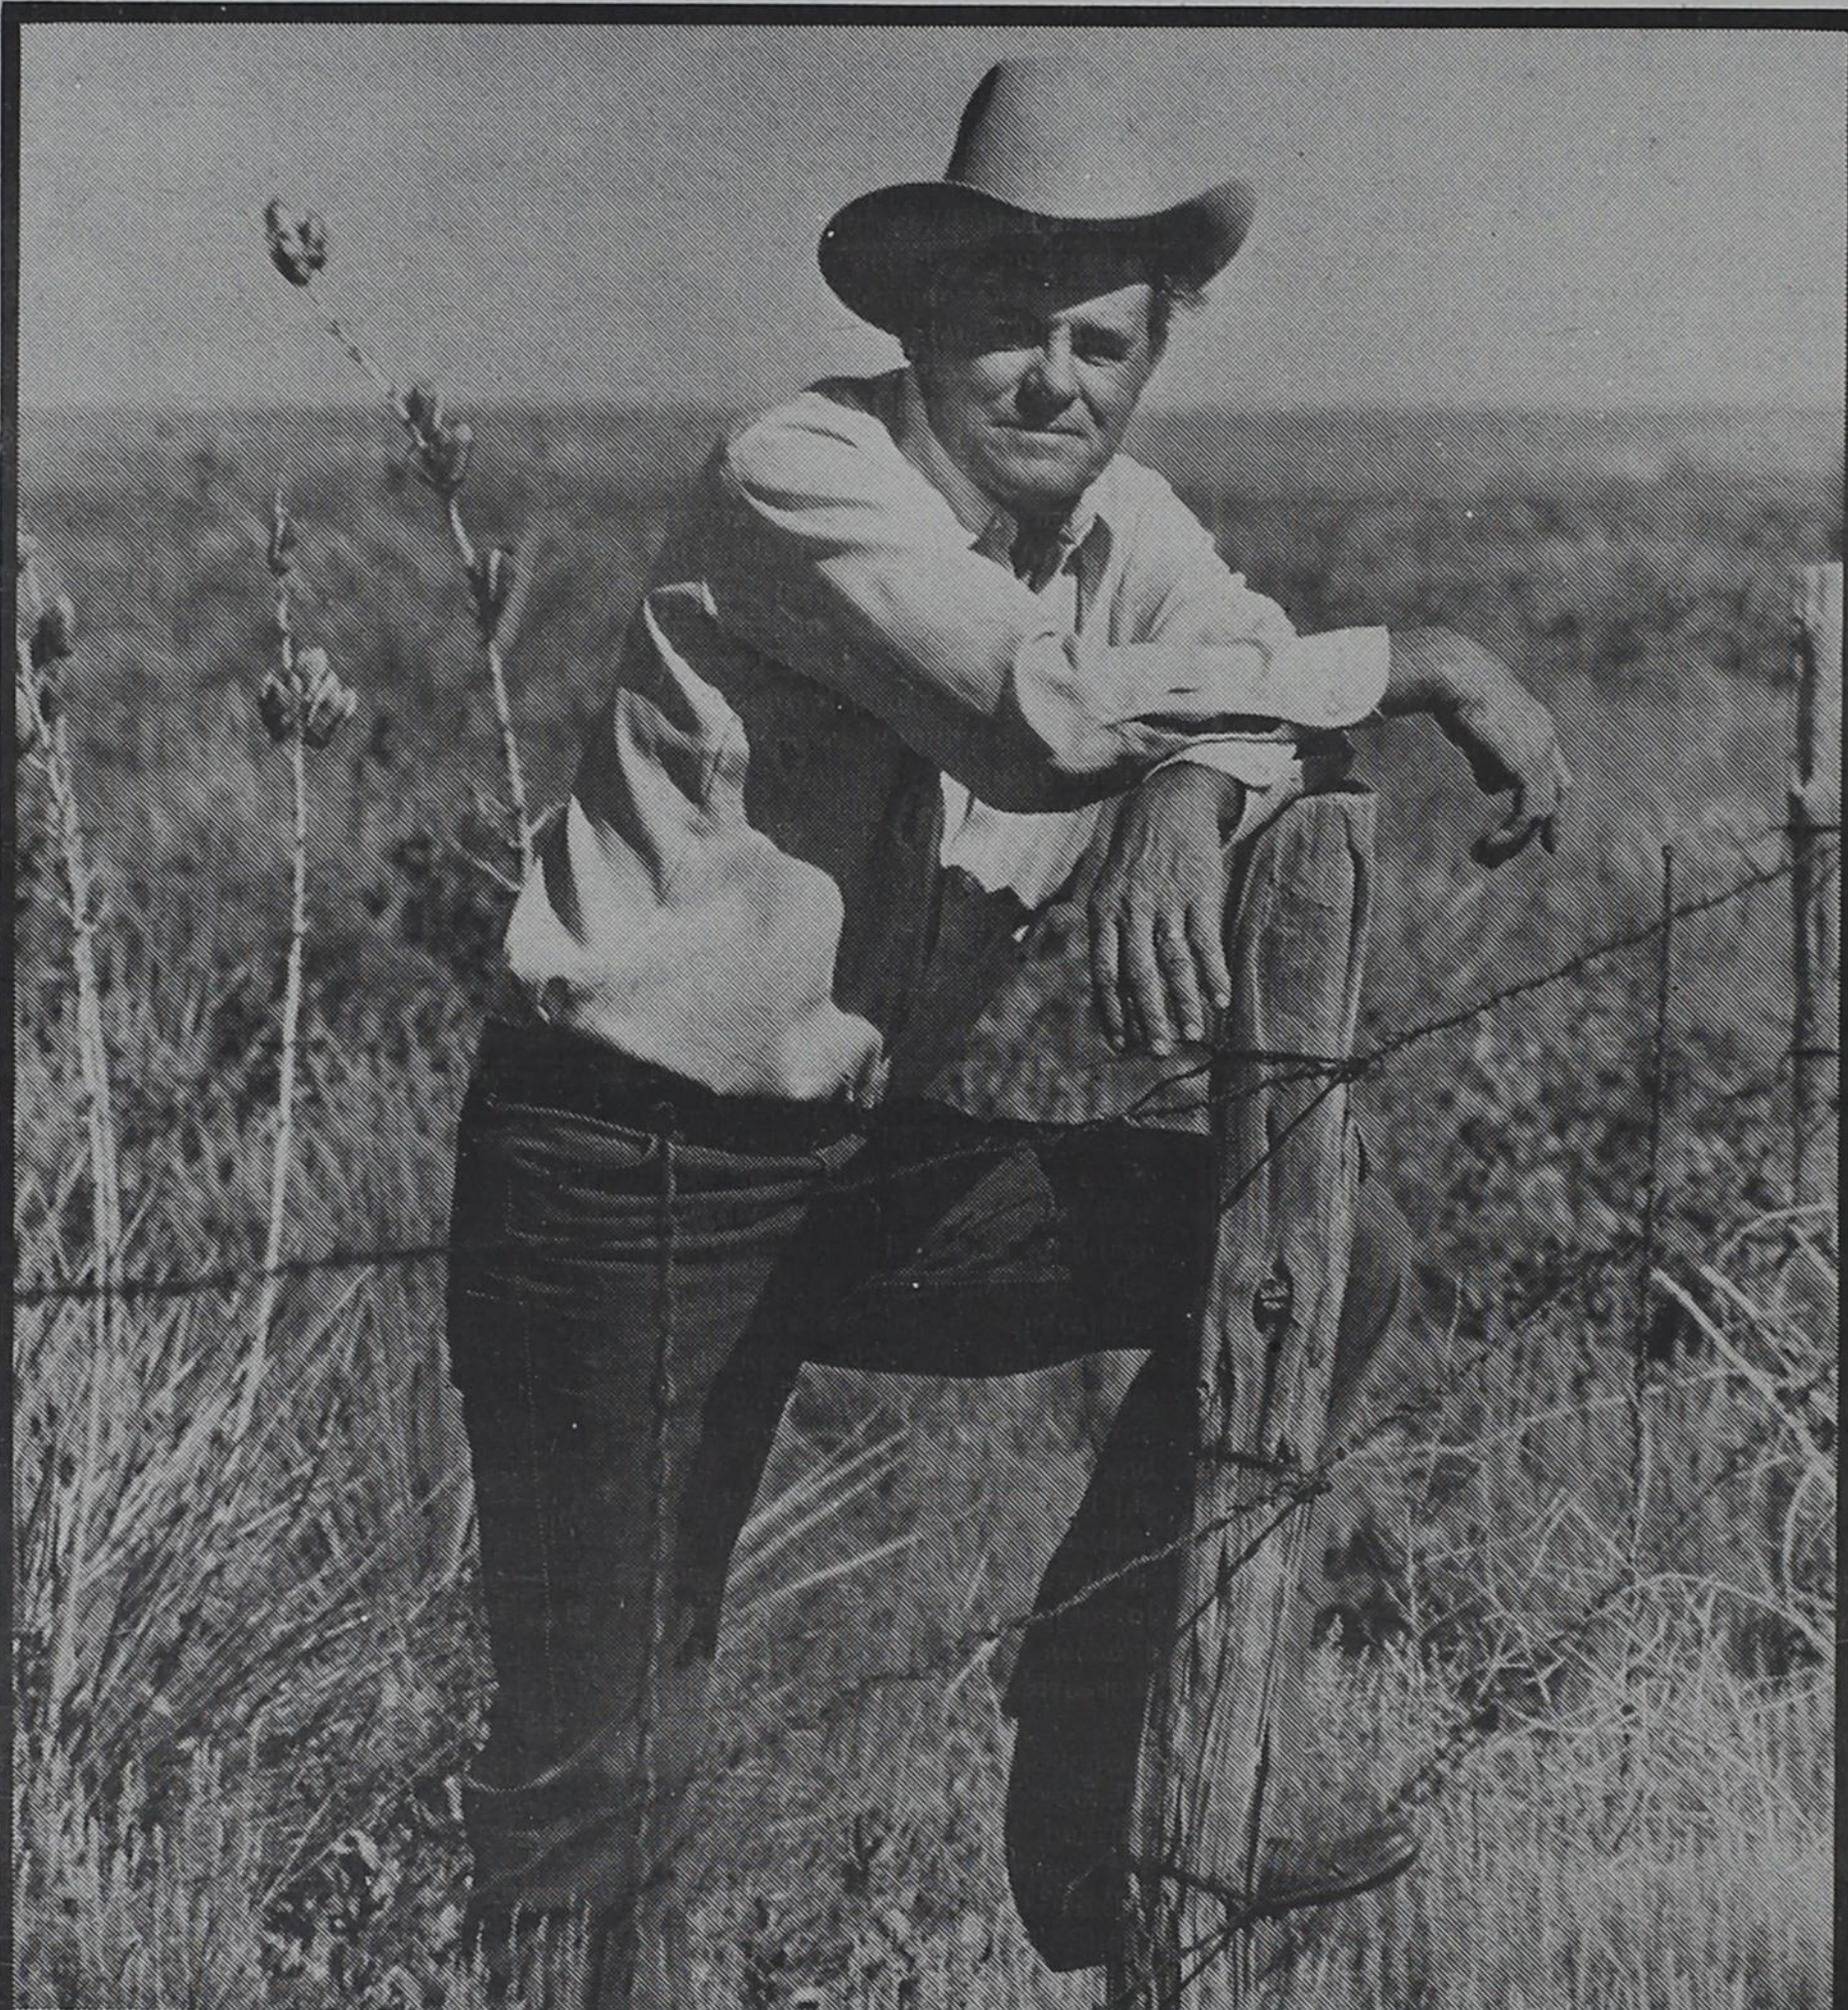

By Joy Miller

A game that's beginning to shoot up in popularity is volleyball. A particularly American game, it was invented by a Massachusetts YWCA instructor in 1895. It got its name because his players "volleyed" the ball over the net.

Popular in thousands of schools and colleges in the United States, we now see it played more and more on beaches between swims. Many players find that a Margarita made with El Charro Tequila, triple sec and lime juice is an enjoyable after-game drink.

A good tip when organizing a beach volleyball game is not to place all your tall men in one row, as players rotate after the serve. Since you have three chances to get the ball over, always try and pass the ball to a net man so he can spike it over the net for a point.

KELLY'S HEROES

by Joe Kelly

There have been, or are up to this point, six plateaus for Texas Tech in football coaches. It all began with E.Y. Freeland and Grady Higginbotham from 1925 through 1929.

Then came Pete Cawthon, Dell Morgan, DeWitt Weaver, J.T. King and, for the current era, the triumvirate of Jim Carlen, Steve Sloan, Rex Dockery. Dockery, of course, hasn't coached a game yet.

The initial period got Tech started and then came a series of coaches designed to shove Tech into the limelight, as well as to gain Southwest Conference stature.

At the same time, the coaches operated under athletic directors also chosen, or appointed, to further Tech's goals of excellence. Now Tech is at the crossroads again and who is chosen will determine, to a large degree, where Tech goes from here.

So far in its 52 year history Tech has dominated the Border Conference, competed on about equal terms in the SWC. It has achieved some national recognition, but has only a co-championship to show for its league activity.

The question is, does the university want to continue the path of .500 or better each year, with an occasional strong team and a bowl game, national ranking one year, then oblivion, or does it want true excellence?

This was the situation at Texas when Darrell Royal was employed to head up the Longhorns in football. Coach King, who had been on the Texas staff and knew the situation well, told us years ago what had happened. Tech is in a similar position.

King said that the regents met and the situation was laid on the table. What did Texas want? Did it want a better-than-average team each year, one that would be in the fight for a championship, etc., or did it want a super team?

Here's what it would take to get a super team. Here's what it would cost to have a good team. Was Texas prepared to stand the cost if it wanted to be in the upper category, that is, 11-0, 10-1 or maybe, at worst, a 9-2 record, a bowl game every year and a strong chance to win the championship each year?

After lengthy and serious deliberation, Texas decided on the super route. They brought in Royal. They raised the money. In time they expanded the stadium. They scheduled well. They recruited well above average. In short, they took the rubberband off the bankroll.

You can do it and stay within the bounds of legality in recruiting, but much more so if you're a Texas. You may not win many friends in the process, but you're winning, and that's what you wanted.

The question is, does Tech want to go the same route? If it does, this is the time the decision must be made. It must bring in an athletic director who is strong, who understands the ways of winning and who is prepared to do what is necessary to achieve that goal.

As pointed out when Sloan left, Tech is far from reaching that plateau of super excellence. Sloan's teams beat the teams it was supposed to beat (3-0 against SMU, TCU, Baylor, Rice), but only 3-8 against Texas, Arkansas, A&M, Houston, the teams it had to beat in order to be a champion.

Every year that Tech has been in the top 10, or 20, it falls the following year. That isn't consistency and consistency is what is sought.

If Tech wants super teams, it will have to spend much more than has been spent so far. It will have to have a strong athletic director, strong coach, outstanding recruiting.

If it doesn't want that, supporters had best be prepared for mediocrity, a step above the church schools, a step below the other stateschools, a team that will, from time to time, compete realistically for the championship, gain a bowl berth, achieve national ranking, but not, year after year, having a chance at the latter three objectives.

Bear Bryant allegedly said, at one time, that he'd win a national championship, but that he'd be on NCAA probation after two years. The Bear wasn't naive when it came to knowing what it takes to win.

Tech has, except for a brief period in the Cawthon and Weaver eras, been remarkably clean. You can attribute that to three people as much as any—Dr. J. William Davis, Polk Robison and King. Also, following the Weaver era, the athletic budget has been in the black, which is the envy of many SWC schools and others.

Thus, the selection of a new AD must be accompanied by some deep soul searching. Which way does Tech want to go? Does it want to go the super route, or will it be satisfied with the slightly above average plateau?

Only time will tell. Oklahoma State has found that the super route hasn't paid off. Texas has found that it does. It all goes back to organization, direction and support. The decision isn't an easy one and, either way, people will be offended.

The majority, we believe, if given a choice, would like to see Tech become one of the superpowers.

An excellent resource is Who's Who Among Black Americans, 1977-78 (2nd edition) edited by William C. Matney. Hardbound, 1096 pps., $49.95 (Libraries may receive a 20 percent discount on this price). Order from "Who's Who Among Black Americans," 3202 Doolittle Drive, Northbrook, Ill. 60062. This new edition has been thoroughly updated and revised and contains biographical sketches of approximately 3500 blacks. The individuals listed have attained a high level of achievement in fields such as the arts, athletics, business, education, engineering, government, labor, law, religion, science, and various organizations. Information in each sketch includes the person's occupation, place and date of birth, education, marital status (with spouse's name), names of children, present position or employer, previous positions or employers, memberships, awards, special achievements, military service (if applicable), and address. Alphabetically listed names are cross-indexed by geographic location and occupation. This outstanding volume is a must for any library.

Mrs. S.P. Cammack, 350 E. Rustic Road, Santa Monica, Calif. 90402, has an account book kept by the overseer and the mistress of a plantation called "Arcadia," owned by Grey BOULEWARE, in Caroline County, Va. The nearest town was Port Royal; a fragment of paper indicated that the place was bounded on one side by a road to Rappahannock Academy. The earliest entry is from 1857, a list of Arcadia's 45 slaves with their ages and occupations (such as carriage driver, foreman, field hand, seamstress, and laundress). However, family units are not indicated.

The book was used for various purposes until 1873, mostly to list how many clothes had to be made for everybody. From these it is possible to tell which children belonged to which mother. Men were always listed separately; therefore, who was married to whom can only be deduced by the ages given in the original list. One page is devoted to births and deaths. If anyone has traced his or her ancestry back to this plantation, Mrs. Cammack will be happy to send xeroxed copies of information from this account book for a SASE (self-addressed, stamped envelope).

Mrs. Helen Lawrence Burnett, 10825 S. Sangemon, Chicago, Ill. 60643 would appreciate hearing from anyone researching the BATSON (BABSON) or GAINES families of Norristown, Pa. She is also interested in information on the WRIGHT family of Chester County, Pa. in 1820. They were free members of a Quaker congregation.

As you research your family tree, always check original sources for information. Do not rely on printed sources. This is especially true if you believe your free ancestor was in a particular area at a certain time, but he does not show up on any records. For example, the Illinois census index for 1820 lists Samuel FORD as a free black head of family in Franklin County. However, many of the census indexes published in earlier years omitted the names of free blacks or listed them without stating their race (thus leading researchers to believe that they were white). Books such as Early Texas Birth Records, 1838-1878 by Alice Duggan Gracy, Jane Summer, and Emma Gene Seale Gentry omitted births of blacks.

Please send your queries, free of charge, to Marleta Childs, 2308 21st St., Lubbock 79411.

YOU DECIDE

On June 3, Texas voters will elect one of two men as the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner:

Jerry Sadler, 70, is a twice-defeated former Land Commissioner. Here's what three of the state's leading newspapers have to say about him:

The Austin American-Statesman: "Voters deserve to know whom they will be choosing between in the runoff June 3. Poerner is not a household name; Sadler is. But Sadler has a sorry record in state government. He is the only person ever censured by the Texas House of Representatives (for failure to cooperate with an investigation). He became notorious for attempting to choke then-State Rep. Jake Johnson. He was defeated at the polls in 1970 and lost to Jon Newton in a race for Railroad Commissioner in 1976. And now he's back again."

The Dallas Times Herald: "Sadler has made Texas government a universal target of ridicule and derision."

The San Angelo Standard Times: "Under Sadler, the Railroad Commission just might become the laughing stock he once made of the General Land Office."

IS THERE REALLY ANY CHOICE?

The Railroad Commission regulates the oil, gas and transportation industries in Texas. Our energy and utility rate problems demand vigorous and responsible leadership. We need John Poerner to fight for Texas and protect what is rightfully ours.

John Poerner, 45, is a respected businessman and rancher. John Poerner was elected to three successive terms in the Texas House before being named Executive Director of the Governor's Committee on Aging and Director, Education Resources of Texas.

His honors include being named "Citizen of the Year" in his hometown of Hondo, receiving a "Distinguished Legislator" award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, and being named to the "Agriculture Hall of Fame" at Southwest Texas State University.

He was recently appointed to the Railroad Commission by the Governor.

"Poerner is a solid, competent individual with a record of 10 years of dedicated public service," says the Houston Chronicle. "(We urge) his election."

Peter Nero to Perform with Lubbock Symphony

Peter Nero, famed pianist, arranger and conductor will appear in Lubbock at the Civic Center Exhibit Hall, Friday, June 16, with the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra at Summer Pops. This special concert is patterned after Arthur Fiedler's Boston Pops, with dinner, beverages and all the fun of the famed pops concerts. With Nero and the Symphony will be the rhythm greats of Richard Nanista-Electric Bass, and Andy Zoob-Drums. Nero, with more than 30 hit records to his credit, is a pianist who combines the best elements of classical, jazz, and rock piano into his own brand of exciting playing.

The Lubbock Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Maestro William A. Harrod, will open the evening with the stirring medley of space tunes featuring the suite from "Star Wars," "Close Encounters of the Third Kind", and "2001: A Space Odyssey". Mrs. Jack Strong, chairman, and the special Summer Pops committee, have planned a "Close Encounter of the Finest Kind" for you in a casual, relaxed setting, with the decorations centered around the space theme. "Moon Maidens" will help you find your seats, and the buffet dinner promises to be so grand as to make Luke Skywalker and Darth Vader bosom friends.

The name Peter Nero generally brings to mind fantastic piano virtuosity and imaginative arrangements. He performs in more than 100 concerts around the world each year. His association with RCA Records produced 23 albums in eight years, two Grammy Awards and several nominations and made him a consistently best-selling artist. His subsequent move to Columbia brought him more Grammy nominations, and a coveted gold record for his million-selling "Summer of '42". Recently he was selected by Cashbox Magazine as #1 Instrumentalist. He is a "natural" in the world of television and motion pictures. He starred in the NBC Emmy Award winning "S'Wonderful, S'Marvelous, S'Gershwin", a special tribute to the music of George and Ira Gershwin. In addition, Peter's good looks and gregariousness makes him a very desirable personality for talk shows and specials, both of which he has guested in the U.S. and Europe. The artist appeared in the film "Sunday In New York", for which he also composed the score, winning him nominations for both the Golden Globe and Hollywood Reporter Awards.

The style of Nero's music is definitely contemporary. Geared to appeal to young and old alike, a sampling of "Pops Night" with symphony orchestra might range from a montage of music from "Jesus Christ Superstar", which begins in a classical style and ends in "hot" rock, to his arrangements and orchestrations of Gershwin and Bachrach. One critic described Nero's playing as leaving you breathless at the end of each piece, eagerly awaiting the next.

Tickets go on sale May 25, at the Symphony Office, 1721 Broadway, phone 762-4707 or may be purchased, if available, at the Civic Center Boxoffice the day of the concert. Table ticket prices are $12.00 which include the buffet dinner. Upper floor reserved seating is $6.00 and General Admission is $3.00. Doors will open for dinner and your favorite beverages at 7:00 p.m. If you should prefer only the concert, it begins at 8:30. There will be something for everyone and fun for all the family with this musical ride through a galaxy of popular hits. The "Force" will be with you at Summer Pops, June 16th.
