'Portraits of Aging' To Show in Lubbock

"Portraits of Aging" will be shown in the Lubbock area on Channel 11 (Cable, Channel 6), KCBD-TV at 6:30 Friday, March 31. It is a sensitive depiction of our older citizens. It is not a documentary that points out only the problems of aging, but rather shows how older persons celebrate living and learn to deal with problems in a positive way.

The film was produced by Miller Productions Inc. for the Office of the Governor, Committee on Aging, represented locally by the Area Agency on Aging. It is sponsored, without interruption, as a public service by Levi Strauss and Company. Bert Kruger Smith, author of many books, including Aging in America and The Pursuit of Dignity served as the chief consultant.

Divided into six sections, the show focuses on older Texans of different ethnic and social backgrounds. All have found ways of coping with growing older which gives them a common thread to share. The people themselves tell their own stories. The film can be an inspiration to both older and younger citizens.

Blacks Leaving the Northeast

The Northeast had a net outmigration of about 100,000 blacks, according to a report released today by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce. Between 1975 and 1977, 147,000 blacks moved out of the Northeast region and 43,000 moved in.

From 1960 to 1970 and in most decades since the Civil War, the Northeast had a net immigration of blacks but these latest findings show a significant change of long-standing patterns of migration among blacks. The data are from the Bureau's March 1977

Current Population Survey (CPS). Mobility data do not include children under 2 years.

The North Central region and the South are also experiencing changes in black migration patterns. From March 1975 to 1977, the number of blacks moving into these areas was not significantly different from those moving out. This approximate equality between black migrants to and from the North Central Region represents a substantial change from the 1960's when it had a large net immigration of blacks.

Many of the black migrants from the Northeast to the South could be returnees—persons who were born in the South and are returning to their region of birth. The survey did not show return migration data, but this segment of the population figures prominently in black migration to the South in 1955-60 and 1965-70 in which returnees constituted about two-thirds of blacks moving to the South. Any continuation of this trend will be shown in data from the 1980 Census.

From March 1975 to March 1977, the West had a net immigration of blacks, as it did in the 1960's and from 1970 to 1975.

Whites also moved away from the Northeast and North Central regions from March 1975 to 1977. Over 1 million whites left the Northeast while 618,000 moved to the area, giving the region a net outmigration of 483,000 whites 2 years old and over. Whites moving to the North Central region numbered about 1,066,000 compared with an outmigration of 1,443,000 leaving the region with a net outmigration of 377,000.

In contrast, the South and West had net immigration of whites 2 years old and older during the survey period. The South's net gain of whites was about 436,000 and the West's 424,000.

The report also presents data on migration between metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas, movement by age, sex, race, labor force status, occupation, income, poverty status, receipt of public assistance, educational

Enthusiasm Expressed Over SWT Parents' Club

SAN MARCOS—If the enthusiasm and concern expressed by parents during Southwest Texas State University's recent Family Weekend is any indication, the two-year-old SWT Parents' Club is off and running.

The Institutional Advancement Division support organization was the focal point for only two of many Family Weekend activities, but the two events were among some of the weekend's most successful.

Parents' Club Steering Committee members and contributing members whose contributions had entitled them to "President's Team" recognition attended a special Parents' Club dinner on Saturday night. A Parents' Club rap session on Sunday morning attracted members and non-members alike.

With some 120 contributing members, the Parents' Club offers an opportunity for parents to "get involved" with their sons and daughters' educational institution, points out Parents' Club coordinator Mrs. Lunelle Anderson. That involvement ranges from keeping themselves better informed on university activities through such media as a Parents' Club newsletter to providing parental reaction on contemporary campus issues to funding special Parents' Club supported projects.

A committee of steering committee members was appointed at the Parents' Club dinner to make recommendations on projects to be funded by the organization.

Dr. Raymond Thomas of Eagle Lake serving his second term on the steering committee, was appointed chairman of the working recommending body. Rounding out his committee are Mrs. Graham Johnston of Houston and Mrs. Wallace Dockall of San Marcos. Dr. Charles Johnson of the SWT School of Health Professions faculty and Mrs. Anderson are ex-office members.

According to Mrs. Anderson, more than $4,000 has been contributed through the Parents' Club this year. Plans are to reserve some $1,000 to begin an endowment fund while $3,000 will be used for special university support projects.

The following individuals are serving on the Parents' Club Steering Committee this year:

Mrs. Ponce Curse (Heloise II), San Antonio, honorary chairperson; Corpus Christi Mayor and Mrs. Jason Luby, chairpersons; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Dockall, San Marcos; Dr. and Mrs. James D. Elliott, San Marcos; Dr. J.F. Gaines, Midland; Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hickey, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Johnston, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Kunz, Jr., San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Marshall, Marble Falls; Mrs. Harriett McLemore, Houston; Dr. and Mrs. W.C. Newberry, Martindale; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Poerner, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Spruce, San Antonio; and Dr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Thomas, Eagle Lake.

VISITING WITH PARENTS—Southwest Texas State University Vice President for Academic Affairs W.E. JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Billy Carter's in Big Trouble For TV Comments About Flynt

WASHINGTON—Billy Carter has been shooting off his mouth again. But this time, the president's brother has talked himself into a predicament. The police are quietly checking out some threatening statements Billy made about pornographic publisher Larry Flynt.

The controversial Flynt was gunned down recently in Lawrenceville, Ga. A few weeks before the shooting, Billy said he had a man out looking for Flynt. Billy made his statements on the Phil Donahue talk show. Someone in the audience asked Billy about Flynt's relationship with the president's evangelist sister, Ruth Carter Stapleton.

Billy snorted: "I didn't like the wild comments he made about Mother." This was a reference to Flynt's comment that he would use Miss Lillian Carter's face on a nude centerfold in Hustler magazine. Billy continued: "I've got a man looking out for him, and the first thing he's going to do is beat the hell out of him."

A startled Phil Donahue warned Billy that some viewers might take him seriously. But Billy insisted: "It's true."

Later, Donahue gave Billy another chance to back off. But the president's brother again confirmed that he had a "man looking for Flynt."

Not long afterward, Flynt was shot in Billy's home state of Georgia. It's unlikely that Billy's television threat was serious. But it may have been taken seriously by a lunatic who saw the TV show.

Anyway, the police in Gwinnett County, Ga. are investigating Billy's remarks. They're handling the investigation cautiously because of its political sensitivity.

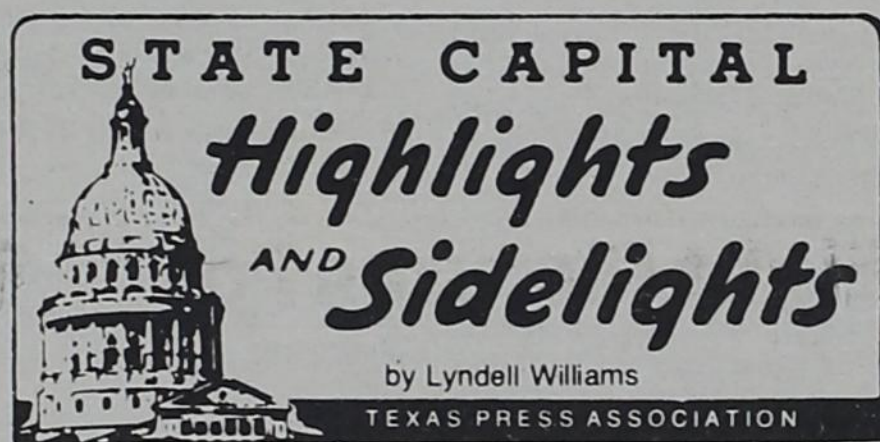

We left calls all over the country for Billy's comment. But apparently, he's now keeping his big mouth shut.

More Trouble for Billy: A year ago, we exposed a Georgia oil scandal that could embarrass President Carter. We reported that the Atlanta office of the Federal Energy Administration had mishandled emergency fuel supplies during the Arab oil embargo.

The supplies were not intended for retail dealers, yet the president's brother, Billy Carter, received emergency fuel for his gas station in Plains, Ga.

Some of the improper emergency orders were signed by James McIntyre and Omi Walden. They were then Georgia state officials. Now, McIntyre is the president's budget director. And Walden has been nominated to a top energy post.

We want to stress that Billy Carter, James McIntyre and Omi Walden have not been accused of wrongdoing.

Austin—Attorney General John L. Hill has served notice he will oppose Southwestern Bell Telephone's request for a new $214.3 million rate increase.

Hill has filed a motion with the Public Utility Commission to intervene in the case.

The commission set March 27 as first pre-hearing date on Bell's latest proposal.

Although the company asked to put new rates in effect April 14, PUC General Counsel John Bell is preparing a motion to suspend the rates for 120 days, until August 12.

If Hill is given permission to intervene, he would have authority to cross-examine Bell witnesses, present witnesses and argue before PUC.

The attorney general told a news conference he is advised the Bell request is "substantially out of line."

Bell said the rates are necessary to give the company an adequate rate of return on its investment and permit expansion of its services to an increasing number of customers.

Hill said he has not ruled out the possibility that the telephone company may be entitled to some additional rate relief.

A $58 million increase was allowed in rates December 1976, but that was small potatoes compared to the $298 million requested.

Racing on Ballot

Both Democrats and Republicans will vote May 6 on whether pari-mutuel on-track race horse gambling should be legalized in Texas on a local option (county) basis.

Party executive committees last week certified the non-binding referendum for the May primary ballot along with the list of statewide and multi-county candidates.

Actually, Republicans earlier had agreed to the straw vote. Democrats waited until horse race advocates submitted petitions signed

The Energy Department belatedly began investigating the Georgia oil scandal. The findings were supposed to have been submitted to the Justice Department last month. But there has been a mysterious delay. Our sources assure us the investigation will be referred to the Justice Department soon.

However, two powerful congressmen plan to demand a special prosecutor. Energy Chairman John Dingell, D.-Mich., and Oversight Chairman John Moss, D.-Calif., want to avoid any possibility of a whitewash. They may also ask Attorney General Griffin Bell to exclude himself from the investigation.

White House Deception? Washington is buzzing about the resignation of White House aide Mark Siegel. He had been the main link between the Carter administration and the Jewish community.

We can now reveal his real reason for resigning. Siegel complained that National Security Council officials had lied to him about the F-15 fighters that President Carter wants to sell to Saudi Arabia. Siegel was told these latest jets were strictly defensive interceptors, with limited offensive capability.

He was also assured that Tabuk, a Saudi Arabian airbase only 125 miles from Isreal, is a civilian installation. That's not all. He protested that a background memo from the president's National Security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, also contained misleading information.

Siegel felt he had been deceived. Worse, he suspected the National Security Council had sought to mislead the Jewish community through him. He served notice, therefore, that he would no longer serve as the White House spokesman to the Jewish community.

Two powerful White House aides, Hamilton Jordan and Jody Powell, sympathized with Siegel and supported him. Finally last Thursday, he spent 20 minutes with the president. Siegel repeated his charges about the deceptive information. The president listened closely and nodded soberly. Our sources say Carter understood Siegel's reason for resigning. But the resignation has severely strained Carter's relations with the Jewish community.

Watch on Waste: There is a constant battle inside the federal government to reduce waste. Yet appalling sums of the taxpayer's money continue to be squandered.

Telephone service, for example, runs into the millions. Next to writing memos, the bureaucrats dearly love talking on the telephone. They would like fancy, push-button telephones, but these cost more money than ordinary dial phones. So the White House issued an executive order prohibiting push-button telephone systems.

Nevertheless, the Marine Corps is installing 100,000 push-button models in the Washington area anyhow. A spokesman explained that the phone companies gave the Marines a good deal. The installation fee was waived. The spokesman said this would save more than $1,900,000.

The truth is, the rental for push-button telephones will cost the Marines $2,200,000 extra each year.

by 96,000 asking for a referendum.

In a surprise move, which irked consumer loan representatives, Democrats also submitted for a vote the question of whether the 1979 legislature should authorize higher interest rates on loans under $5,000.

Sen Bill Patman of Ganado guided the latter through the committee. Consumer loan advocates have been pushing for an increase in rates. Since voters are almost certain to vote "no," the referendum (although not binding on the legislature) is seen as a major obstacle to an increase.

Money News

Money and taxes are making news again in the Capital City. Comptroller Bob Bullock said it's likely Texas legislators will have about $650 million more to spend next year over and above the present level.

Meanwhile, Gov. Dolph Briscoe is serving notice repeatedly that, if re-elected, he will urge legislators to devote at least half of any surplus in the state treasury to a tax reduction. If Bullock's figure stands, and if Briscoe wins another term, that means he will be asking a cut of about $325 million, with priority to relief for homeowners and family farmers. Briscoe said he will also call again for repeal of the state sales tax on utility bills.

Courts Speak

Ending 17 years of lawsuits, the State Supreme Court turned down the latest contest of the 1960 will of Sarita Kenedy East whose estate included 178,000 acres of oil and gas rich lands in Jim Hogg and Kenedy counties.

In other actions, the high court:

Upheld a verdict favoring Gibson's discount firm in a lawsuit resulting from a rattlesnake's biting a customer in the grocery section of a Del Rio Store.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed a death penalty murder conviction in the fatal shooting of a Mesquite policeman and a highway patrolman.

Sales Taxes Rise

More than 900 Texas cities received checks totalling $69.2 million as their share of the one percent local sales tax levy for March.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said the soaring collections are an indication times are getting better.

Bullock said the March collections are 17.4 per cent higher than recorded during the same period in 1977.

So far this year, the 915 cities have collected $101.5 million, an increase from $89.4 million for the first three months of 1977.

Short Snorts

A record-breaking construction pace continued into 1978, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

A series of statewide tests to see how students are doing in reading, writing, arithmetic and citizenship will be held April 3-May 5 in 2,234 elementary and secondary schools.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby announced interim appointment of Sen. Roy Blake of Nacogdoches to the finance, administrative and jurisprudence committees. New Sen. Blake will also serve on the interim rules subcommittee.

Average calendar day allowable of Texas oil production as of March 15 totals 3,521,070 barrels.

The Texas Department of Community Affairs reported receiving $178,638 in unexpended funds from the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs for the 1977 contract period.

Highway officials warned that long lines await those who have not obtained new auto registration validation stickers. April 1 is the deadline.

Judges T. C. Chadick and Franklin Spears were winners in the State Bar's lawyer poll in two State Supreme Court races. Judge Jim Vollers and Marvin O. Teague were winners in the poll for Court of Criminal Appeals races.

Letters to the Editor

In response to Dr. Ray Santos statement in the Avalanche Journal about Gov. Briscoe being an equalizer and fighter for Mexican Americans. How can Dr. Santos make such statements, when he does not know the chicanos communities needs. When has Dr. Santos been involved with the Chicanos or fighting with them for equal rights? I have never seen Dr. Santos standing by my sick when I have been fighting City Hall or the County Commissioners for the rights of our people. For over three (3) years I have been involved with the rights of Chicanos and in that time never have I seen Dr. Santos even standing with a group of Chicanos. Much less speak for them. But now that Gov. Briscoe comes to Lubbock, Dr. Santos wants to represent the Chicano Community. What right does Dr. Santos have to talk for the Chicanos when he does not even know our problems. What right does Dr. Santos have to represent the Chicanos organizations? Most of all I would like to meet all fifty (50) of the so called Mexican Americans Leaders in Lubbock. Further more, when has Dr. Santos really tried to help the Chicanos? In our offices we have had so many persons come with complaints where Dr. Santos will not help them with their back problems. So if Dr. Santos refuses to help our people as a doctor how can he say he is behind the Chicanos. I think Dr. Santos is confusing (50) business men with Chicano leaders.

Ringling the Bell . . .

with Bob Tieuel

The Black Experience: Dear Bob—I would like to share with my brothers and sisters something that has happened to me recently. I am 21, and for the first time in my life I know what it means to say with pride that I am black. I have lived in a small town which is predominantly white, almost all my life. I have known nothing but white ways. Yes, I have had black friends and associates, but only in color. I have never known the feeling of what being black really is like until Sunday evening Feb. 12. That was the beginning for me of the three part show of KING—Martin Luther King, Jr. I can vaguely remember him. As a child I remember his death, but I never really understood. You see, it was all around me; the fighting, killing, bombing—everything! But that was all, it was all around me, not with me.

I now understand who Martin Luther King Jr. really was. His mission, his goals, his so many accomplishments, so many things for me, for us—the blacks of America—to help us better ourselves. The pain he went through for people like you and me, people he didn't even know, for people he loved, because of a common bond we all share—our color.

To think now what he gave us today leaves me almost speechless. And to think of the many blacks who abuse what he has given us already, our right to vote, even after he has gone to jail, been beaten, and called every name the white man could think of, all this to help us acquire that right and eventually he gave us his life.

And we aren't thankful! It is so highly comparable to the crucifixion of Jesus. To me, it is the same for God once again gave His son as a human sacrifice, to help improve His world. Can't you see the significance of Martin Luther's death? It was an omen! An omen we as blacks have not really held on to, but we must!

We must strive to do what we have to do, to become what we must become, to fulfill our dreams—his dreams. Yes, he had the dream, we were all there in his dreams and I feel wherever Martin Luther King, Jr. is, he is still dreaming for that promised land, and we can show it to him, we can continue his dream to the highest, and we must. You see, I have finally realized that I am Black, and I am very proud that Martin Luther King lived.

Signed "Gloria"

Dear Bob: The populace in Oregon are up in arms about the guaranteed utility overcharges (sometimes called fuel adjustment) which state officials in Oregon permit—similar to our situation in Texas. In 1977 this policy resulted in an estimated $17 million in overcharges to utility customers. It has been pointed out that this practice or policy would not be allowed in Washington, Idaho, California or 19 other states. Why should Texas be one of the 22 states which permit it?

In an attempt to halt this guaranteed profit regardless of whether a company is efficiently operated, an Oregonians for Utility Reform committee has been established and is currently obtaining the required number of signatures to place the issue on the general election ballot. I believe similar action is needed in Texas, New Mexico and other states where the practice is allowed.

Signed: J.F.F.

Blacks are moving out of the northeastern states in a reversal of a migration trend that began in the Civil War era, the Census Bureau reported recently. The bureau also said the massive move of blacks into industrial regions of the north-central states during the 1960's appears to have stopped. Dallas had the highest incidence of black migration among the 13 major Sunbelt cities during the 1965-70 period. Black population in most of the South has stabilized the bureau said.

Since around 1870, the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, founded in Jackson and Memphis, Tennessee, has been holding General Conferences every four years. We have had an opportunity to attend a number of these Conferences like Hot Springs, Arkansas; St. Louis, Missouri; Memphis, Tennessee and other points in the U.S.A. Official delegates to these confabs have a great portion of their expenses paid for by the denomination, while many more hundreds come as observers and visitors to see who will be the next bishops and general officers to guide the church for four more years.

This year on April 28 - May 7, another General Conference will be held in Birmingham, Alabama. A welcome brochure received the other day offers a "luxurious room for nine nights for only $200.00 per person (based on double occupancy) for whatever that means. This does not include meals and the "deluxe Carribbean Cruise" for delegates and visitors for only $469.00 per person with payment due 35 days before departure. We have a feeling that the visitor and observer lists will be cut dramatically this year as like myself, most of us are mission field workers and "just can't afford today's inflated prices for these church conventions. We will keep in touch by telephone, which we hope is a bit cheaper.

PCP Showing Up In Street Drugs

Angel dust (phencyclidine or PCP) is showing up in samples of street drugs believed by buyers to be something else.

PCP, an animal tranquilizer, is being grouped with cocaine, amphetamines and other dangerous drugs and narcotics by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. The drug appears to be more potent and longer lasting than amphetamines in causing long-lasting personality disturbances and loss of contact with reality.

PCP can be easily synthesized in illicit laboratories. It appears to be commonly sold as mescaline, psilocybin, cocaine, THC or angel dust, according to R. Michael Allen, M.D., assistant professor and acting associate chairperson of psychiatry at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine Regional Academic Health Center at El Paso.

Allen has completed a study of nine patients with personality disturbances and loss of contact with reality (psychosis) induced by PCP. The results of that study will be published this spring in the American Journal of Psychiatry.

One female and eight males ranging from 18 to 24 years of age were studied over a 13-month period. None had a previous psychiatric history.

"When first admitted for treatment, the patients all were agitated and hostile," Allen said. "They tended to be preoccupied with religious and sexual topics. They had delusions of religious grandiosity and of being influenced by external forces. Hallucinations were common.

"Con conversationally, the subjects tended to go off on tangents from points of discussion," he said.

"They tended to overexplain circumstances surrounding what should have been direct answers to questions."

The patients were treated with antipsychotic drugs. Four of the nine made a full recovery and remained free of psychotic symptoms while off medication at followup varying from six weeks to six months after discharge.

One patient was readmitted after stopping the antipsychotic drugs and ingesting PCP again. One patient did not respond to antipsychotic drugs but did respond to electroconvulsive therapy. This patient later was readmitted for treatment for other drug abuses. Another improved with antipsychotic drugs, but did not recover fully during the study period. One seemed to clear, but later developed other psychoses. And one still exhibited some symptoms as late as one month after admission and treatment with antipsychotic drugs.

The patients who did recover did so gradually. Their psychotic episodes lasted from six days to over 90 days.

"PCP has been shown by other studies to be a constituent of street rugs in 14-50 percent of samples analyzed," Allen said. "The patients studied believed they bought and used THC (tetrahydrocannabinol, the active constituent of marijuana), which is not available on the street as it is difficult to synthesize and store, any drug sold as THC is probably PCP.

"PCP psychosis often resembles acute schizophrenia (a group of mental disorders characterized by disturbances of thinking, mood and behavior)," Allen said. "This psychosis lasts long after stopping the drug."

Barbeque and Barn Dance Sponsored

A barn dance and barbeque for senior citizens will be held at 6 p.m. March 31 at the Zenith Center, 515 N. Zenith.

All persons 60 and over are invited to attend. Zenith participants will furnish covered dishes and barbeque will be catered. Those attending are asked to wear pioneer clothes.

The center will be decorated in a western decor with entertainment provided by the Lubbock Rounds and Squares.

Persons on the sick list from Zenith have included Leanna Fairchild, William Malone, Idella Jordan and May Bell Johnson.

Coming up next month at Zenith is a trip to Spur, Texas on April 9 to attend a worship service at the Lakeside church and for a dinner with senior citizens there. A combination picnic, cookout and fishing trip to Buffalo Springs Lake is on the calendar for April 29.

At the Mae Simmons Senior Center, Roy Williams is a new member. Recent visitors have included Rev. A.L. Dunn, Stanley Furgerson, Rev. William A. Perry and James Thomas. On March 14 Ellen McCreary, Ina Brooks and Suzie Williams visited Mae Simmons from the Zenith Center.

James Mass and several others play dominoes each weekday at Mae Simmons from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

KELLY'S HEROES

By Joe Kelly

Can Arkansas beat Kentucky? Will Arkansas beat Kentucky? The two are not necessarily the same. Yes, I think the Razorbacks can beat the Wildcats. I thought they could beat UCLA and they did, and John Wooden thought the Bruins could go all the way.
 The biggest problem the Hogs will have is to conquer the press. They apparently didn't do a good job of it against Weber State. They didn't do a good job against Cal State Fullerton.
 I doubt that the Wildcats have the quickness that the Titans showed. I also doubt that Eddie Sutton will let his Hogs get sneaked up on for the third time by a press.
 The Porkers have the speed and quickness to handle the press, if they will, and you can bet Sutton will be a working on it this week.
 And, in the triplets, as they are calling the three main scoring Porkers, the Razorbacks have the fire power to stay with any team.
 The other half of the semi-finals will pit Notre Dame against Duke in another potential thriller. The Blue Devils had little or no trouble with Villanova in a game that was a yawner.
 The betting line probably will have Notre Dame beating Duke and Kentucky getting by Arkansas. I would set up a great finals, but no more so than a Duke-Arkansas finals.
 I'll go out on a limb and pick the Razorbacks to surprise and make it to the finals—against Notre Dame.

Did you hear about the fellow who remarked that he didn't care about the farm strike? He didn't care if they didn't grow a thing—he'd just go to the supermarket and buy his groceries!

I don't care what the WBC ruled. As far as most sports fans are concerned, Leonard Spinks still is the heavyweight champion of the world because he beat the titleholder in the ring.
 As I observed before, I'm not sure but what Ken Norton would give Spinks a boxing lesson if they met. At the same time, I'm with Spinks. The ex-champion deserves the first crack at winning his title back. This business of awarding a title to someone who hasn't won it, unless the title is legitimately vacant, is for the birds.

It was a little impossible to overlook the fact that Allen Winters of Temple, and the SWC, was one of the officials in the Duke-Villanova game. He stood out like a sore thumb.
 It's not surprising. Winters has stood out like that in our league for a long time. You'll note that the only technical foul awarded so far was by Winters. And no offensive player ever was awarded a path to the basket. The foul always was on a charge.
 Oh, well, what else is new.
 One of my major gripes about officiating is the lack of consistency on walking calls. Let a player slightly shuffle and he's called for travelling. But here goes a player towards the basket. He totes the ball with both hands. His right foot comes down, he strides on with his left, then back to the right and up to the hoop. Three long steps, right? Travelling? Oh, no, legitimate—and the ball hasn't touched the floor yet. According to the rules, he took steps, but you don't see it called today.

You've all heard of Murphy's Law, of course. Well, there's another one. I call it Kelly's Law—Never put off until tomorrow what you can put of.

In case you hadn't noticed, the baseball season, pro variety, is in the fullswing of grapefruit activity. Exhibition games are breaking the monotony of calisthenics and fundamentals.
 But what the heck, it's time for baseball. Spring arrived Monday and the opening game is only a couple of weeks away. The Midland Cubs have sent out a tentative roster and the colleges and high schools have been playing for what seems like an indecent length of time, considering our normal West Texas weather.
 Not too recently, 22 years ago, to be exact, the Lubbock Hubbers were going to spring training. Remember the Hubbers? They were, at one time, anyway, the Yankees of Class C. Then, as minor league ball waned, they rose in classification.
 In any event, it was at this time that the Hubbers paraded forth for spring training in such exotic places as Greenville, Uvalde, Huntsville, Midland and once, and we wonder who fouled up, at Corpus Christi.
 All those places had one thing in common—there was little you could do except practice baseball. Not that some attempts weren't made to create a little diversion, but the efforts were more likely to end in failure than anything else.
 Greenville was close to Dallas, but with Jackie Sullivan and George Schepps prowling, who dared go to Big D? Uvalde was noted as being the home of John Nance Garner and honey. It had little else to recommend it.
 Huntsville had the state prison, which was neither an inducement nor a deterrent. There was little to do and besides, Branch Rickey and his aides ran a tight ship.
 Midland was more promising, but there was Bill Metzger making bed checks. Besides, by 7 p.m. the sidewalks were pretty well rolled up there in those days.
 I didn't get to Corpus, but I did make Thomasville, Ga. Again, this was an ideal spot for spring training. You couldn't have broken a Commandment if you had tried.
 But spring training was great if you wanted to get a tan, do a minicam of work and learn about baseball. There were always enough old heads on hand to play innumerable "paper" games. It was fun and I miss it each year when the first soft breeze heralds the approach of spring.

POP A CHICK IN A BASKET FOR EASTER

March winds herald an early Easter this year. For those who are interested in something other than the usual holiday goodies, try some simply delicious snacks such as popcorn, raisins and peanuts. Glamorize your table or mantle with an attractive homemade popcorn chicken-in-a-basket surrounded with edible snacks. Just start popping some corn (we've used the kind that pops in its own pan) and watch the family race for the kitchen. Here are the directions for the project.

- 1 package (5 oz.) Jiffy Pop® Popcorn
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup corn syrup
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 to 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 jar (8 oz.) Franklin® Dry Roasted Peanuts

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Save out two popped cups; pour remainder into large bowl or pan. Heat sugar, corn syrup and water in saucepan to 250°-260° F or until a drop of syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Save some syrup for attaching decorations; pour remaining syrup over popcorn and mix thoroughly with two large spoons.

Coated popcorn is now ready to be formed into chick and basket. Coat hands with butter. Form two balls, one for the chick head, approximately 3" in diameter, and the other 4" in diameter for the body. Place a good sized dab of hot syrup on the large ball, press smaller ball on it. Set aside.

You will need a 9" cake pan or shallow skillet for the basket. Press remaining coated popcorn firmly on bottom and sides of greased cake or frying pan. Let it stand for 10 minutes, then remove. Make a handle by tearing off approximately 20" of aluminum foil; then fold foil lengthwise 4 times. Wrap handle with ribbon. Secure handle to basket with hot syrup. Decorate chick and basket with gumdrops and lifesavers. Mix raisins, peanuts and 2 cups of popped corn; place in basket; arrange chick on top. Place filled basket on mantel or table, surround with colored eggs.

NEWS OF ENERGY

The Federal Energy Administration predicts that during the next decade oil imports may reach more than 50 percent.

That's why America's oil companies are working on ways to get themselves into a much better bargaining position with respect to other oil-producing countries than they have now.

For several years, many oil companies have been anticipating in different ways the decline in U. S. oil and gas reserves and have sought to adapt themselves to this change by diversifying into other energy fields—coal, uranium, geothermal energy, oil shale, synthetic fuels, tar sands and solar energy.

Their participation in de-

OIL FROM OVERSEAS may be easier to get if our oil companies are getting energy from other sources.

veloping these alternatives enables them to take a harder line when dealing with oil-producing countries. This can help hold back price increases.

In addition, their entering those fields has increased competition and that can help hold down energy prices in general.

Some primitive tribes believed they could keep evil from their villages by dashing a pumpkin on the ground.

A valuable collection of 14 pamphlets on black history and genealogy is contained in the 1978 "National Afro-American History Kit," available from the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, Inc., 1401 14th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. The price of the kit to non-members is $13.45; members of the ASALH may purchase it for $11.45.

The pamphlets cover a wide range of topics such as "Intercultural Advancement: History Through Things You Can Do;" "You and Genealogy" (tells how to trace your family tree); "Oral History: A New and Popular Project for You and Your Local Community" (gives directions for interviewing older citizens about American life in the past); "Original Portraits and Short Sketches of Seventy-two Black American Artists" (including such notables as Marian Anderson, Louis Armstrong, Stevie Wonder, and Richard Wright); "African Folk Tales for the Very Young to the Very Old;" "National Historic Marker Program" (short sketches about plaques awarded to 100 pioneer black leaders in 1977); "Black Contributors to Science and Invention;" "The YMCA in the Black Community;" "Increasing Black American Identification in United States National Parks;" "The Carter G. Woodson National Historic Landmark" (handbook for teaching Afro-American history in the community); "Education of the Exceptional Person—From the Handicapped to the Gifted;" "Afro-American Studies" (guide for teaching Afro-American history in public and private schools and in the community); and "Important Events and Dates in Afro-American History."

Eight 8½ x 11-inch pictures of African art, suitable for framing, are also included in the history kit. The masks and statuettes are from Nigeria, Dahomey, the Congo, and Ghana.

The Negro History Bulletin, a bi-monthly publication, is also available from the ASALH (address above) for $8.00 per year. An adaptation of important facts of history to the capacity of youths below the college graduate school level, the Bulletin features stories on Afro-American history, from the time of importation from Africa to the present day. It also contains articles on special achievements of blacks in such areas as literature, art, music, science, religion, education, business, engineering, etc. Emphasis in recent years has been on local history and international problems. Subjects appearing in some of the 1977 Bulletins were a personal portrait of Medgar Evers, the Tuskegee Institute in the 1920's, Marcus Garvey's impossible dream, the life and writings of Richard Wright, Booker T. Washington's visit to Florida, Frederick Douglas's speech on ethnology, N.C. Haynes, Carter G. Woodson and Marcus Garvey, and the NAACP and the Supreme Court in 1930.

Mr. Eric Strong, 2712 Teak St., Lubbock 79404 is interested in contacting relatives of Ella Iles, wife of Oscar ILES. She first taught school in Lubbock in 1922. Mr. Strong is especially interested in locating a picture of her.

Mr. J.C. Halbrooks, French Road, RFD Box 143, Sterling, Conn. 06377 would like to exchange information on all HOLBROOK/HALBROOK families.

FACTS & FIGURES

At the turn of the century coal supplied 90 percent of America's energy needs. It now supplies only 18 percent.

Between 1971 and 1975, 23 petroleum companies increased their research and development outlays on non-petroleum technology from $23.1 million to $120.9 million. With their know-how and capital on the job they're more likely to find more energy for America—improving our job situation and keeping more people warm and healthy—than anyone else.

Every year, some 600 million tons of petroleum are removed from the earth, and some 2 billion tons of coal.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

I warn you there are a lot of bases to be touched in this week's entry. First, an announcement of importance and one of particular pleasure for mein relation to the Lubbock Community Concerts Association's upcoming new season starting in the fall season.

Then, some comments about a thoroughly delightful and very funny movie that sailed into town without much advance notice this past weekend.

And then, a gripe about an audience rip-off being practiced daily by the television industry, and that rip-off, mentally and aurally, taking place on the hapless victims in their own living rooms!

And then, a comment on the Public Broadcasting Service telecasts of "Live from the Metropolitan Opera, Lincoln Center" and a prime irritative step by the network that has so few flaws! (KTX-TV, Texas Tech, Channel 5.)

Now, in the order named.

The membership of the Lubbock Community Concerts Association have been informed of the inability to follow through on one of the announced bookings for the 1978-79 season, the Lowenthal-Zukerman-Solow Trio. It could not be contracted, since the group will not be in this particular area on tour, according to announcement by the group president, John A. Anderson.

But, happily I think, there has been announced a most worthy replacement, which will open the new season. It is David Bar-Illan, the pianist, who has delighted Lubbock before. I am personally pleased, as I said, since Bar-Illan is one of the illustrious signators of the now famous "Little White Piano" which boasts over 50 famous performer names over the year and is held in security in a point downtown.

So, David Bar-Illan will be the series opener concert. Add to his name, the already-announced attractions signed, The Four Freshmen, tenor Jacques Trussel and the "Pirin," Bulgarian National Folk Ensemble.

Admission to all these is by membership only; no tickets are sold at the door during the series. You may, until April 1, obtain memberships for the grand series of outstanding concerts. They are for adults, $15; students, $7; and $44.00 will admit the entire family of four or more! Remember, until April 1 or the capacity of the Civic Center Memorial Theater is reached. Call 799-6006, or mail check to 3406 53rd St., Lubbock, Tx., 79413.

And, remember that theater only seats 1,400. So don't dilly-dally around!

That very funny movie that breezed onto the screen of the Cinema West Theatre out on West 19th St. this past weekend is a killer! It ought to be, the three stars are previous Academy Award winners, Glenda Jackson (two of 'em), Walter Matthau, and the wonderful Art Carney. Add the ingredient of the personable Richard Benjamin and a supporting cast as good as the rest and you have this Universal film. The music is by Henry Mancini and the film is PG-rated. It is advertised as "A funny love story" and it is all of that. I came out of the theater with tear-burns at the corners of my eyes from sheer bursts of laughter as these season "pros" played out this charade of hospital personnel and their entanglements and intrigues.

I'm not given to summarizing plots and I shall not break a precedent. Suffice to say, Matthau is a free-wheeling window-doctor who cures a broken-jawed Jackson, who then starts talking and talks and talks! She, divorced with a 16-year old son, shared in six-month visits with his father, provides a formidable partner in amorous adventures with Matthau on a "temporary" basis, week by week, until all is resolved. Carney is the hospital's chief of staff, surgeon, forgetful in the extreme, and a bungler, seeking re-election to his post, against all odds. Benjamin is another doctor, friend of Matthau, and involved in the election intrigues.

But the pivot of the film is really Matthau and Jackson, and their timing, their dialogue quips and their positive know-how in their profession makes this one a winner all the way. At times you will be reminded of Jackson's Oscar performance in "Touch of Class" and countless "Odd Couple" portrayals by Matthau. This film is about an "odd couple" and, certainly, it has its own "touch of class."

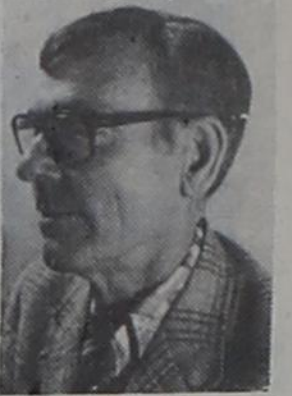

We are fortunate in town that there are three prime comedy films to pick. You can't go wrong on "The Goodbye Girl," Mel Brooks' "High Anxiety" and now "House Calls." How nice in the burgeoning springtime to have laughter and comedy in such profusion, against so much that has been sordid and unentertaining along the way. Daffodils smile these days and so will you at any one of this triumvirate of fine comedies. See 'em all. And you'll go on smiling for days after you leave the theaters. Guaranteed.

Now, the gripes. KTX-TV, Tech's Channel 5, as you know is our proudest local television outlet. Sans commercials, dependent on public support. You must know that the station has just concluded its "Festival '78" fundraising campaign, $40,000 minimum goal. There have been special programs and frequent break-ins for telephone volunteers, spearheaded by good public citizen, Bob Nash, and, as this is being written, they have just touched $40,000 minimum goal. I pledged, did you? If you didn't, forget the Festival time, just write out a check for a buck, $5, $10, $100, whatever, and send it off to KTX-TV. It's deductible. KTX-TV provides us with fine, educational, entertaining programs with that money. So, even if you missed the two week official drive, forget it. They'll welcome your sending in your own contribution anytime. I'll be grateful to you, too. I am a solid, unswerving supporter of that outlet and don't forget it. I'll talk about those sub-titles during the Metropolitan Opera's "Don Giovanni" this past week, next week. I hate 'em!

I'm going to close with that item about ripping-off in my living room. Well, I might expect it on Cable-TV from lesser stations in the Fort Worth-Dallas Metropolitan area. I can't forgive our local commercial stations for joining the annoyance onslaught. I mean those incessant, offensive, irritating intrusions, the commercials that "hustle" the LP and/or tape of everything from Gospel, Bing Crosby, Elvis, Big Bands, Buy Lombardo et al, with snatches and excerpts of songs. They are Eastern based discount operations which, to add to the insult, have pitchers who pronounce our city's name, unattractive at best, as "Lubbick" instead of "Lubbock."

This is the huckster approach at its most repelling best. Surely, the entrapped listener, viewer should expect some protections from the very stations to whom he lends his/her support. Bing hadn't been dead a week or so before they hit the air with a so-called "memorial" album, literally, as they say, "while the body was still warm."

I find the whole approach, the intrusion into my home, my activities, a personal affront. I hope you do, too. Let's tell 'em face to face, as I am doing now, and point out that the buck isn't everything. It isn't, you know.

IT'S A RECORD!

The world's largest tomato was harvested in August, 1976 by Clarence Dailey of Wisconsin. He used natural fertilizer and lots of compost, and aerated the roots frequently with a pitch fork. The tomato weighed 6 pounds 8 ounces, and measured eight inches across.

The world's largest squash was grown by Bob Ford of Pennsylvania. From a vine yielding 1,016 pounds of fruit, he picked a 451-pound squash that grew, on the average, 7 1/2 pounds a day.

The "World's Most Unusual Seed Catalog," probably helps more backyard gardeners set Guinness World Book records than any other. The catalog contains world records, color photos of garden giants and advice, and is available for 25 cents to cover postage from; Grace's Gardens, 3 Autumn Lane, Hackettstown, N.J. 07840.

The world's tallest sunflower was grown by Frank Kelland of England. His prize-winning plant grew to 23 feet 6 1/2 inches tall and had a seed head measuring 1 foot 1 1/2 inches in diameter.
