Bishop Coleman Urges Support of Black Press

Bishop C.D. Coleman, speaking before the 43rd annual session of the Northwest Texas Conference of Christian Methodist Churches in Wichita Falls, Texas this past week, urged the conference to give greater support to the Black Press and especially "to our own West Texas Times with which our fellow minister and brother Bob Tieucl, Jr. is associated".

"Rev. Tieucl is a good writer and we are glad that his 'roots' are planted deep in the soils of the C.M.E. Church. I look forward to 'Ringing the Bell' column and urge all of you to support our black voice in West Texas".

Bishop Coleman took two subscriptions for the West Texas Times—one for the Episcopal residence and one for the Episcopal office remarking "I want to show that I am an 100 percent bellringer".

On response Tieucl said "I wish to thank Bishop Coleman and the conference for the kind approval you have given the West Texas Times and myself at this conference. We only pray that we will continue to merit your confidence as a good newspaper not only for black people but all people".

Rev. Sullivan Pledges Support to Career Administration Program

A standing ovation for Presidential Assistant Jack Watson who brought a personal message from President Jimmy Carter to the OIC Convocation highlighted the Government Day Luncheon yesterday in Detroit, Michigan.

Responding to an audience of more than 1,500 OIC supporters, Rev. Sullivan Founder and National Chairman of the OIC Movement, said: "Tell the President that we in the Opportunities Industrialization Centers of America will help him. We will push in 140 communities around the nation when we leave here to rally clergymen, industry and our more than 300,000 alumni to gain a terrible youth crisis from exploding in our cities and our rural communities."

Rev. Sullivan said that the Carter initiatives in the area of unemployment "have given the nation hope" and pledged the on-going support of all OIC programs.

"OIC will help at the grassroots level with the masses of our people," Rev. Sullivan continued. "We know that the government and the President cannot solve these terrible unemployment problems by themselves, but together with the American people—especially the poor—following the concept of self-help, we can turn this country around."

Rev. Sullivan told Jack Watson, Assistant to the President and Secretary of the Cabinet, that hundreds of thousands of signatures had been gathered on Appeals to the President. The appeals, which will be delivered to the White House, applaud the President's efforts in fighting the unemployment crisis and urge him to continue working in the OIC.

NAACP Encourages Young People to Apply for Positions on Lubbock Police Force

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) Lubbock Branch today urged minority citizens in the Lubbock area to encourage minority young people, aged 21 to 35, to apply at the Lubbock City Hall for the upcoming police civil service test.

The NAACP statement said "We believe the Lubbock city administration recognizes that the city needs more minority police to help reduce police problems, especially in minority neighborhoods. Also, we in the minority areas of the city badly need the improved police protection which additional minority police officers could provide. Finally, we want to help the many capable young people in our communities who may not be aware of this opportunity for a well-paid and satisfying career. We need to seek out young persons, aged 21 to 35, who have a high school education with average or better academic records, or some college work, who are in excellent physical condition, and who, though they may have 'good' jobs already, could greatly enhance their futures by upgrading their 'good' jobs to excellent careers in law enforcement."

Police recruits start their 14 weeks of training at $901.33 per month, and after six months of training and probation, get a raise to $1022.67 per month, career civil service status, and a number of other benefits.

Applications may be picked up at the City Personnel Office, Room 103 of City Hall, 916 Texas Avenue, or from Lubbock O.I.C., 2200 E. Broadway. Applicants should be urged to act at once, since completed forms and documents must be turned in at City Hall no later than July 8, and assembly of the necessary documents may take a few days. O.I.C. will assist in completing forms and copying the required documents for any applicants who need help.

The written test being used was developed by the state commission as part of this process, and the questions in this test have been subjected to item analysis by the state commission

EDITORIALS

July 4th

On the Fourth of July last year the people of this country took note of the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, which ranks as one of the most important documents of history.

In it, Thomas Jefferson, the author, set forth the inalienable rights of man and the theory that governments are instituted by men, not set up by God, and, therefore, derive their powers from the consent of the governed.

This was something of a revolutionary doctrine in 1776. Moreover, the Declaration makes plain the right of the people to alter or abolish their government and to institute a new government in such a form as they may deem most likely to provide for their safety and happiness.

The historic Fourth has become indented as a day of leisure, marked by deaths, accidents, games and amusement. This year we should look back to last year's Bicentennial Celebrations which pointed out the significance of the Declaration and principles that it expresses.

As I See It . . .

by T.J. Patterson

It was a long time coming for us, but the efforts of this newspaper finally paid off last week at the 98th Annual Summer Convention at Galveston, Texas. This newspaper won first place in Division V; for weekly newspapers of 1,200 to 2,500 circulation, in editorial writing. There were 52 newspapers, from throughout the state of Texas, involved in this division.

As I See It, this newspaper has always done its best to inform our many readers and citizens of our community that we are concerned. This was evident in the winning editorial which was written last December 15. This editorial, written by this writer, expressed our concern for more positive images in the black community. This writer's opinion hasn't changed yet. It is a must that black people have more images for the young people in the community.

This first place award was best summed up by the judges in the following statement: "The willingness of the black newspaper to provide black community leadership is impressive to judge. The position of helping self first is to be commended as it no doubt is not the most popular editorial position to take."

This newspaper was quite sincere about this editorial entered in this year's contest. There have been other editorials written by us over the past years. It would have been a great thing to have won first place in the past. But this year's award means just as much, because we've loved doing what we have over the past years.

It has been a long time coming, and now many people in Texas know more about the efforts of the West Texas Times... It has been a terrific job, but we have held in there and didn't give up. It takes a lot to be a winner, and we know we have the patience to overcome many obstacles which have been in our path.

As I See It, a lot can be accomplished if you just hang in there and never give up. This holds true for creating more positive images for the young people in the black community....

This writer hopes many black men and women in the community will take advantage of the positions being offered by the Lubbock Police Department. Of course, there are only positions for nine people. If we go out in large numbers and let the City of Lubbock know we want our part of the pie, some of those blacks may have an opportunity to be hired.

For certain, nobody is going to give anyone a position with the police department. This writer hopes that all potential applicants will do their best to become a policeman/woman. It's time for us to let the city of Lubbock know that we want our piece of the pie because we have persons who are capable to handle the job.

Anyway, in order for this to become a reality, we just go to get the word around and find those persons, male or female, who can get the job done...

If you know of any brothers or sisters who would like a position as police officer, have them have an application filled out by July 8. This application must be taken to the City of Lubbock Personnel Department, Room 103, 916 Texas Avenue...

Surely, there are some brothers or sisters who can make an outstanding contribution in this area. When we find persons to fill these positions, let's get on the City of Lubbock about hiring blacks to work as firemen.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

Soviet and U.S. Newsmen: A Case of Unequal Access

by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear

copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON—In the Soviet Union, American newsmen are watched wherever they go. TV correspondents must take along an official censor on filming trips.

In this country, Soviet newsmen are free to travel virtually where they wish. They have the same access as other newsmen to government premises and can interview anyone who will talk to them. Their films are shipped, uncensored, to Moscow.

Recently, the Soviet authorities went so far as to detain Robert Toth, the Moscow correspondent for the Los Angeles Times. He was hauled in for questioning by the KGB for picking up a study on parapsychology, a pop science which is no more a military secret than is the formula for peanut butter.

We have checked, meanwhile, on Soviet newsmen in Washington. Intelligence sources have identified two of the most prominent Russian reporters in Washington as veteran KGB agents.

One is Yuri Barsukov. He is listed as a correspondent for the Soviet newspaper Izvestia, but his real job is gathering intelligence for the KGB.

Our staff has watched Barsukov in action. He's a human vacuum cleaner as he moves around Washington. He picks up every loose document he can lay his hands on, including diplomatic and military documents that are made available to the press.

The other KGB agent is Vissarion Sisnev, who poses as a correspondent for the Soviet Labor paper Trud. But according to intelligence sources, he transmits to Moscow information that might be of value to the KGB.

Another KGB agent, Stanislav Kondrashov, recently returned to the Soviet Union. He used to work with Barsukov in the Washington offices of Izvestia. The heavily spectacled Kondrashov even behaved like a KGB agent, moving ponderously from office to office with grim determination.

These Soviet spies are accredited to the Washington press galleries. The accreditation gives them special access to information, including off-the-record briefings. They flagrantly abuse the press privileges that have been granted to them.

In contrast, Bob Toth is a legitimate newsmen, on the payroll of The Los Angeles Times, not the CIA.

White House Pipeline: There's a new "Mr. Big" at the White House. He is Thomas Reed, a former secretary of the Air Force, who has been assigned the important job of organizing the new Dept. of Energy.

Reed was hired so quietly that most members of Congress weren't even aware of it. Now, many democratic law-makers are upset over the appointment. Reed, it seems, was an ardent supporter of Ronald Reagan during the presidential elections.

—First Lady Rosalynn Carter, we've learned, gets no special treatment at Customs checkpoints when she brings gifts in from abroad. She came back from her recent Latin American tour, for example, with several exotic plants which had been given to her as mementos. Like every other citizen, she had to have the plants checked for possible diseases by Dept. of Agriculture experts. The plants, we were told, were given a "clean bill of health."

—Jimmy Carter the candidate vowed he would have an open administration and conduct "government in the sunshine." Our visits to the White House indicate that Jimmy Carter the president is living up to his promises.

There are few closed doors in the inner sanctums of the Executive Mansion, and a loose, relaxed atmosphere prevails. Most of Carter's top aids are accessible to reporters and their own staff members. It is not unusual, for example, to see presidential adviser Hamilton Jordan sauntering outside his office wearing blue jeans.

The president himself, say insiders, is a private man and his staff works hard to protect that privacy. It appears that Carter has eliminated the mood of paranoia that gripped the Richard Nixon White House.

—President Carter has also kept a campaign promise to the 6-year-old son of Rep. Wes Watkins, D.-Okla. Back in 1975, Carter promised young Wade Watkins that if he helped out in the presidential campaign, as his father was doing, he would be rewarded with a visit to the White House. During a recent meeting with the president, the congressman reminded Carter of his promise. The next day, Wade received a hand-engraved invitation to visit the White House.

Quiet Return: For the first time in 16 years, Cubans have moved back into the old Cuban embassy in Washington. An eight-man team arrived quietly in Washington two weeks ago.

Our diplomatic sources describe them as a "survey team," which has come to inspect the physical facilities before an official exchange of diplomats takes place. The United States has sent a similar team to check over the old American embassy in Havana.

The Cubans not only slipped into town unannounced; they are also keeping their mouths shut. We sent a reporter to the Cuban embassy to talk to them, but he was turned away at the door.

Under The Dome: Rep. Charles Diggs, D.-Mich., used to own a funeral parlor in his home town of Detroit. It was known, appropriately, as the "House of Diggs." The funeral home, we've learned, has been granted $245,000 in loans by the Small Business Administration since 1971. They are the only recorded small business loans to a congressman. However, Diggs has paid off one loan and has met all payments on time.

—The 95th Congress is well ahead of the work schedule kept by the last Congress. The current crop of legislators has enacted more laws, recorded more votes, and has been in session longer than their colleagues of two years ago.

43rd Annual Session of Northwest Texas Conference of C.M.E. Churches Held

By Bob Tieuel, Jr.
Staff Correspondent

Wichita Falls, Texas—The 43rd annual session of the Northwest Texas Conference of Christian Methodist churches closed Friday, June 24 at Gilbert Memorial C.M.E. Church, located at the corner of Bonner and Rosewood Streets, with host pastor Rev. N.G. Gilbert. Presiding elders are Revs. E.J. Lott and C.R. Patterson. Presiding was the Rt. Reverend C.D. Coleman of Dallas, Texas and president of the five annual conferences of Texas.

The conference studied and dealt with such issues as missions, church expansion, restructuring of its missionary department, world hunger, African work and the election of delegates to the denomination's Quadrennial General Conference to be held in May 1978 in Birmingham, Alabama.

The church owns and supports five colleges, including Texas College at Tyler, Texas. President A.C. Hancock of the college addressed the conference on Thursday morning stating that we must not give up the great struggle to keep our black church schools alive and relevant to the lives of our young people. "We must renew our determination and with faith in God, we will succeed," Hancock concluded.

"The roots of the black church are planted deep in the fruitful lives of our children who have passed through the doors of many of our black churches and colleges" commented Bishop Coleman at the Annual Awards and Honors Banquet on Wednesday evening at the Holiday Inn, headquarters of the sessions. He cited examples 1. Alex Haley and his forebearers having been educated at Lane College, Jackson, Tenn., an institution maintained by the C.M.E. Church for more than 80 years. Example 2: Texas' first black elected county sheriff-Louis H. Hall, Sr., has his family tree rooted deep in the soils of the C.M.E. Church. Hall was elected and took office in January of this year in Stephens County, Texas as the first black since Reconstruction days. Hall's family are members of Williamson Chapel C.M.E. Church in Breckenridge, Texas, (county seat).

One of the outstanding headliners of the five day session was the address by Acting U.S. District Attorney John C. Green, Sr. of Oklahoma City, who spoke to the Missionary (Texas College) Rally on Thursday evening in Wichita Falls. Attorney Green was cited as an example of what roots planted deep in the soils of the black church can do for one. He is the son of a C.M.E. preacher and today an active member of Cleaves Methodist Church in Oklahoma City and urged the conference to "stand fast in the faith that was once delivered to you." He stated that his territory covered some 43 counties in Western Oklahoma and that "it is a highly sensitive work that is a challenge to the best that is within us."

Sonja Sewell, outstanding teacher and social worker of Vernon, Texas urged church members to evaluate themselves to see if they are delivering the best to the church that their abilities allow. She spoke at the annual Awards Banquet on Wednesday evening and is the sister of Sheriff Hall of Stephens County.

The lovely home of Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, missionary president, was the scene of a reception for Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman, wife of Bishop Coleman. The honoree was presented a beautiful orchid, also a token of appreciation for her service and inspiration as first lady of the conference.

Clerical delegates elected included Revs. C.R. Patterson, N.G. Gilbert, V.L. Brown and H. Allen. Lay are: John Jackson, H. McCow, L.J. Hammonds, Katie Swann, Dorothy Roberts Sneed, N. Harris, Rosa Patterson, Elnora Jackson.

Rev. J.C. Darden of Dallas (Presiding Elder) preached ordination sermon on Thursday at noon and after business session Friday a.m. and a great message at noon by Dr. Oree Broomfield of Cedar Crest, the conference adjourned to meet next year in Pampa, Texas.

Superstars

Friday is the deadline for entering the First Annual Lubbock Superstars contest to be each Sunday in July at Maxey Park.

The contest, for men and women of all age groups, has contests, seven of which must be entered. The events include an abstacle course, a kayak race, swimming, basketball shooting, broadjump and others. Awards will be given for first through fifth place winners in each age group.

All entries must be returned to Maxey Community Center, 30th and Oxford, with the $5 entry fee no later than 10 p.m. Friday. Entry fees are not refundable Friday.

Any questions should be directed to Jim Underwood or John Mayes of the Parks and Recreation Department, 7626411, ext. 308.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

I suppose I should say "I didn't read the book." That makes me one of the "minority" millions who did not, against the vast number that did. I started to, several times, but something always intervened and, while I read constantly and try to keep up, Peter Benchley's "The Deep" got away from me.

Well, I thought, the movie is being made and that will be better than nothing. After having seen the Columbia release of the EMI production, a Peter Yates Film, so it said, I'm not so sure.

I regret to report that "The Deep" is not so deep. There is about forty percent of the film filmed meticulously under water along the reefs of Bermuda and on this technical achievement alone (and it is an achievement, too) the film stands. The silly plot, the asinine characterizations, the embarrassing dialogue and the squandering of a couple of major talents along the way is enough for director Yates to back away from that grandiose "A Peter Yates Film" credit which is rapidly approaching the non-value of today's standing ovations across the country. One person stands and the rest of the sheep follow. A David McLean Film, a Stanley Kubrick Film, a few others merit that accolade in advance. Peter Yates in "The Deep" proves himself to be just another director and not to be singled out as the "superdirector."

As I said, I did not read the book. Benchley, as you may remember, wrote the melodramatic "Jaws" which was parlayed into a stunning box office winner just last summer, with a "Jaws II," (heaven help us) due next year. I do hope the shark hasn't found the hapless Robert Shaw impalatable and regurgitated him for the sequel!

I don't think I'm going to go into too much detail about the puzzling plot of "The Deep." I will say that it involves a Haitian man and cohorts, who are pitted against the hero and heroine and the independent "expert" on the genealogy of shipwrecks in the Bermuda vicinity. The Haitian knows that when a Navy ship carrying ammunition and medical supplies was caught in a storm and went down during World War II, some 98,000 ampules of morphine went down with her. That would mean millions of dollars on the American streets. But a young free-loving couple are in Bermuda on vacation and one is convinced that under the U.S. ship is the wreck of a 1715 Spanish/French galleon which carried a fortune in gold and jewels.

So begins the impressive but exhaustive diving operations. To say nothing of voodoo invoked by the Haitian to the extent of painting the nude lady's body with chicken blood, masks and devices. So the plot unfolds, complete with a giant moray eel that finally gets his man (sic, "Jaws") but not Mr. Robert Shaw, the irascible expert of ampules and treasure and how to rig a ship for destruction by underwater explosives. Shaw ended up in "Jaws" in Bruce, the killer shark's belly; he comes out a little more fortunately in this one, despite the fact that many times he has lost his oxygen at the lower depths.

The point is that this film is as cold as the temperature down around the wrecks is reputed to be. One watches the two-hour and 4 minute film in cool and remote detachment. And when an audience's reaction is "So what?" you've got trouble.

For example, Shaw's characterization is keenly done; he is a good actor despite material. Eli Wallach, the vet actor, is colorful in a confusing demonstration. Nick Nolte, just another pretty blonde boy, whose greed for the supposed treasure beneath the Navy ship gives a hoot for no one or their welfare, because of his excessive obsession, his girl friend of three years ("he gave me a T-shirt once") is nearly killed, several others are, and yet at the end he achieves his selfish one-sided aim. He sure must have been good in his personal relationship with the girls, for he didn't give much thought to her at any other time.

Shaw is the loner who wants to blow up the Navy vessel and remove all the evidence. Too bad he didn't do it when he first thought about it. Nick Nolte, late of "Rich Man, Poor Man" on TV, is the crass and greedy young man without any noticeable talent. Jacqueline Bisset (most of the time a pair of eyes behind the diving mask) is the lady who suffers. And the picture is quietly wrapped up, for what it is, by the good actor, Louis Gosset, black, as the Haitian who is, at least, consistent in his aims and prepared to stop at nothing to achieve them.

Technically, the film is a triumph. As entertainment of plot or human involvement it is not. It is one of the summer "big" ones, but I'm afraid in this instance that it didn't quite make the "big league."

Friday's paper will talk about the number one summer blockbuster "Star Wars" at the South Plains Cinema I-II and about "The Exorcist, Part II-The Heretic" at Fox 4.

Tonight I shall be a guest at the first performance of the dinner theater presentation on the Texas Tech campus of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "Patience." The dinner in the University Center starts at 6:30 p.m. with the performance set for 7:45 p.m. The production by the Tech Music Theater is directed, of course, by the gifted John Gillas, and I look forward eagerly to yet another of his foreordained, masterly contributions to the local musical scene. The show is set for the same times tonight, Thursday and Friday. If you miss this one, then you have missed a theatrical-musical tid-bit. A BIG tid-bit.

Also, remember that the Texas Tech drama department is now presenting its summer repertory in the University Theater on the campus nightly. They rotate "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off?," the musical; the Neil Simon adaption comedy, "The Good Doctor" and the amusing "Dames at Sea," a spoof of the Warner Brothers musicals of the 1930s, which the Hayloft did not too long ago. The rotation (a different play each night) continues through July 8.

And "West Side Story," the Leonard Bernstein musical seen only last Friday on TV, comes to the Civic Center stage as a dinner presentation July 15-16. Ric Brame directs and it could be a most interesting event.

Keep with us. We'll cover all things, big and little films, stage and all, as we go.

SCLC Convention

Dr. Joseph E. Lowery, Acting President and Chairman of the Board of the Southern Christian Leadership conference announced that Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Dr. Martin Luther King, Sr. of Atlanta, and Mrs. Rosa Parks, now of Detroit, Michigan will serve as the Honorary National Co-chairpersons for the SCLC Convention to be held this August 16 through 19 in Atlanta, Georgia.

Dr. Lowery cited Senator Humphrey for his long-time commitment to equal rights for all citizens. While serving as Mayor of Minneapolis, Senator Humphrey electrified the 1948 Democratic National Convention by calling for full rights for black people in the United States. Then Mayor Humphrey's statement touched off a walkout by Southern delegates and the formation of the States Rights ticket headed by then-Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. As Senator from Minnesota; Humphrey was always in forefront of the civil rights struggle. Humphrey served four years as Vice President of the United States in the Lyndon Johnson administration. In 1970, he was re-elected to serve the people of Minnesota as United States Senator.

Dr. King is well known to Americans also. He is the father of the late Martin Luther King, Jr., the founding President of SCLS, and the greatest American of this century. Dr. King Sr.'s support of Jimmy Carter has been cited by the President as a chief contributing factor to his acceptancy by black voters resulting in his election this past November. Observors will always remember Dr. King's benediction at the Democratic convention last year which signalled the end of American apartheid.

Mrs. Parks is known as the "Mother of the Civil Rights Movement". Mrs. Parks is the courageous lady who while working as a seamstress in Montgomery, Alabama in 1956 refused to give up her seat on a city bus to a white man. Her refusal to bend any longer to the brutal legalized segregation in Montgomery led to the year long bus boycott in that city, the emergence of Martin Luther King, Jr. and Ralph Abernathy as national civil rights leaders, and the formation of the Montgomery Improvement Association from which emerged the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The theme of SCLS's convention will be "Achieving Human Rights: The Priority of our Time." Expected guests in addition to the Honorary Co-chairpersons include: Vice President Walter Mondale, United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young, Mrs. Coretta Scott King, and others. The convention is being hosted by the national organization and the Atlanta chapter headed by Rev. Hosea L. Williams. Nationally known speakers and entertainers will be present at this convention of the grassroots civil rights organization.

Griggs Expresses Views on Black Unity

Robert Griggs expresses his views on black unity, in the Lubbock communities. Mr. Griggs feels that blacks are not as close and loyal to each other as in past times.

"We are headed for a fall unless a change is made very soon. We go so far as to steal from one another. What animal can survive that eats from it's own members. So then we are a body of people with different members. We should unite, and support our local organizations such as the N.W.A.C.P., West Texas Times, and any other that is for our aid. Let's put jealousy & selfishness behind, and say just like Paul. "Forgetting the things behind, forward I press toward the mark of a higher calling in Christ Jesus." It's then and only then we can ever expect to become a strong nation.

Mr. Griggs was selected as Commencement Speaker of Estacado in 1972. He went into service that same year. He became manager of the Rapphaus a Drug Abuse Prevention & Counseling

Robert Griggs

Agent. He graduated from L.P.C. Leader preparation course at Monterey, California. He graduated from a X-Ray Tech School, in Velsekk, Germany, he also graduated from the supplyman program. He attended the University of Maryland. Mr. Griggs is now employed at Texas Instruments and a member of Friendship Holy Baptist Church.

Richard Lawson Sparks Knuckle Action in Powerful New Film

Hollywood—"Black Fist" is a fast-action, jolting motion picture about a tough, alert and bruising young man who learns that if he is to make a go of life in the street jungles of a big city he must do it with his bare knuckles.

That discerning young man is Leroy Fisk, central character of the graphic Kaye-Larrabure film "Black Fist," newly released by Worldwide Films Corporation to nationwide audiences and premiering at the Roosevelt theatre in Chicago and the Mercury and Grand Circus theatres in Detroit.

The role of Leroy Fisk is brilliantly performed by Richard Lawson, one of Hollywood's bright young actors already basking under impressive film credits that include "Sugar Hill", "Scream, Blacula, Scream," "Audrey Rose" and "Coming Home."

Lawson, now in Australia taping a television series, has also starred in numerous U.S. television segments of "Most Wanted," "Executive Suite," "Police Woman," "All In The Family" and "Fantastic Journey."

"Black Fist" spotlights the stellar acting talents of Lawson in a demanding role of a streetfighter, a man determined to survive at all costs, tarrying his quest only to become involved in a sensitive and gripping love affair.

Annazette Chase and Denise Gordy have spectacular romantic portrayals in "Black Fist." And holding down an important, dual position in the film is the popular young star Philip Michael Thomas, whose screen credits are known and applauded by theatre audiences across the land.

In "Black Fist" Thomas plays the pivotal roles of Fletch and Boom Boom, his double performances already called unmatched and incredible by critics who have seen the picture.

"Black Fist," produced by Richard Kaye and Bill Larrabure, also stars Dabney ("Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman") Coleman, Robert Burr and Ed Rue. It was directed by Timothy Galfas from a screenplay by Tim Kelly.

The Worldwide Films Corporation release is sparked by the infectious and fitting music score produced for it by Ron Carson and Film Marketing Consultants for Happy Fox Records. The soundtrack album is being distributed through Janus Records.

Two of the compositions from the soundtrack are already receiving top play on national radio stations. One of the songs showing indications of becoming a hit single is "Humphreys Overture." The other single making strong inroads on the record charts is "The Same Thing Happens, Parts I & II," sung by Jesse James."

KELLY'S HEROES

By Joe Kelly

Jimmy Connors may be the best thing to hit tennis since Bill Tilden, if anyone can remember back that far. He has all the shots in the bag, plus poise.

But one of his attributes is not making friends. His snub of Wimbledon's century celebration was an affront that will not soon be forgotten, in England, or anywhere else tennis is played as a "gentleman's" game. To that should be added ladies, too.

Despite the fact that tennis now has gone to the open concept, where pros oppose amateurs, it still is considered a game for genteel folks. And genteel people have manners, observe tradition, revere the sport for being a cut above and apart from other sports.

All this meant little to Connors, who went out to practice a few hundred feet from the ceremonies, ostensibly because a doctor said that he should try his hand that was undergoing treatment.

It probably never occurred to the American ace that it was just possible he could do both. And that snub only underlined the fact that he is self-centered and cares little for others.

Connors is more reserved than he was as a fresh brat, who was known to question almost any call, who threw racquets and, generally, behaved in a most outlandish way. Still, he has a long way to go and even farther in view of the latest episode.

Quick, James, give me a scorecard. I must know who is managing the Texas Rangers now. The way uniforms are being changed, even the printer doesn't know.

Eddie Stanky's regime may well wind up in the Guinness Book of Records. He was hired, managed one game and quit, all within a short 24 hour period. And Frank Lucchesi must be laughing up his sleeve at Stanky's crass treatment of the Rangers.

The firing of Lucchesi must go down as one of the all time great puzzlers. Here was a man who had his team in the first division, was only four games out of the lead and had had more than his share of injuries to boot.

But, because attendance was down, or so claimed the Rangers, they had to get a new manager. Frankly, any team that would make some of the trades that the Rangers did causes one to wonder what they are doing only four games out of the lead.

The other night we attended a party and one of the other guests was the head of the Romance language department at Tech. At first glance you would be forgiven for asking what that has to do with sports. You would be forgiven for asking.

But Don Dietz is no ordinary Romance language man. He's a sports nut. And the fact that he attended Notre Dame doesn't hurt his image in that respect, either.

Don and I struck up a quick talking acquaintance and it continued throughout most of the evening. He had gone to school with Carl Yasstremski, has followed his career with more than passing interest.

He was in school when Ara Parseghian guided the Irish and has only respect for him as a coach. He may respect him as a person, too, but we didn't talk about that.

Don and I talked of the two Notre Dame-Texas Cotton Bowl games and we agreed that the first meeting was the better game, although he enjoyed the second clash better—of course.

I mentioned that I had done a dressingroom story and was impressed with the size of the Irish players. The linemen could have gone bear hunting with a switch and they towered over everyone else.

"I'm told," Don said, "that Notre Dame is loaded with talent again this year, possibly the finest material they've had in years. I'm not much of a (Dan) Devine man, but this year's team is said to have size and speed. Now, if they only have a quarterback. . ."

That led to talk of Joe Theissman, who quarterbacked that Notre Dame victory over Texas.

"It's funny," Don mused. "Despite all the good teams, Notre Dame can't seem to find a quarterback who can make it in the pros. Maybe Theissman will be the exception."

No mention of Notre Dame would be complete, of course, without mention of the Southern Cal rivalry, and Don remembered all too well those games when he was in school.

He detailed, with a smile, the time the Irish had that 17-0 halftime lead and lost the game. He had seen it.

"Twice we got down to the two yard line and had a touchdown when a flag was thrown. And Southern Cal came back to win.

Now he's an enthusiastic Raider fan. He had to wonder, aloud, just what his feelings would be if Tech and the Irish were to play. "I'd be torn," he said.

Speaking of football, Aggie exes are convinced that this IS the year for the Maroon. They point to probably the finest physical squad in the conference and the revenge motive stemming from defeat at the hands of Houston and Tech.

But what they're saying this summer is what they have said for several years. Based on physical size and experience, the Aggies should have won the conference each year. Unfortunately, games seldom are won on paper.

Drought in Idaho Limits Jobs for Migrant Workers

Texas migrant workers who are thinking of going to the Northwest for the harvests there had better think twice this year.

That is the word from Milton G. Klein, director of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

Klein told Texas Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell that Idaho is expecting a severe drought this summer.

"This will have a serious effect upon the number of agriculture jobs which will be available in the State of Idaho," said Klein.

"We are already receiving reports that a higher than usual number of migrant laborers are coming to Idaho thinking that work will be available here. Actually, there will be much less work available in Idaho than there is normally.

"I think it is our duty to inform migrant laborers that work is not available in this state to save them the expense of making the trip to Idaho. To do so would simply serve further deplete the limited resources which many of these people have." Klein concluded.

Vowell said that Texas State Welfare Department staff throughout the state will be notified so they can advise migrant workers or their families who receive Texas Welfare services of the situation in Idaho.

SIGNING JOBS GRANT—Assistant Secretary of Labor Ernest G. Green (center) signs the first grant of public service jobs in New York City under President Carter's Economic Stimulus program, as Mayor Abraham Beame and Lucille Rose, deputy mayor for manpower, seated, look on. Rogers (far left), regional administrator of the Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration headquarters in New York City and some of the city's jobless who had just been hired under the expanded Public Service Employment program.

Award Presented to VEP

Atlanta, Georgia—Public service television advertising spots sponsored by the Voter Education Project (VEP) in 1976 have won national awards for excellence in New York and Boston.

"The nonpartisan radio and television spots portrayed the ballot as the 'Great Equalizer,'" explained Archie E. Allen, VEP Administrative Director. "The public service messages were broadcast an estimated 6,000 times on stations throughout the country. These ads helped to dramatize the importance of voting and contributed to a record turnout of minorities in the national elections of 1976."

In the ANDY Awards Ceremony at the Lincoln Center in New York on June 3, the first place honor for excellence in public service advertising was won by a spot directed by Norman Lear and Ray Welch. The spot featured Carroll O'Connor and Rob Reiner in their "All In The Family" characterizations, Archie Bunker and Michael Stivic, in a humor debate promoting voter registration and voting.

The four voter registration spots for radio and television were produced by the Boston-based advertising firm of Marttila, Payne, Kiley and Thorne. Three spots featured Norman Lear television characters from "All In The Family", "Maude", and "Chico And The Man." The fourth spot featured Muhammed Ali in a more serious spot, also utilizing the "Great Equalizer" theme.

The VEP advertising campaign, produced and distributed by Marttila, Payne, Kiley, and Thorne, also won second place in the 1977 Francis W. Hatch Awards for creative excellence in advertising, sponsored by the Advertising Club of Greater Boston.

The Voter Education Project, based in Atlanta, Georgia, works primarily in the 11 southern states to advance minority political participation. The 1976 media campaign was the organization's second national effort to encourage greater voter registration on the part of all Americans.

Support for the Voter Education Project is provided by the tax-exempt contributions of foundations, businesses, unions, religious organizations, and individuals.

TROPICAL FRUIT SALAD FOR SUMMER

When the temperature climbs to ninety degrees this summer you'll be looking for ways to cool off and simmer down—especially at mealtime.

Take a tip from those who live in tropical climates all year 'round. Feast on a variety of luscious fruits which are plentiful during the summer months—pineapples, melons, grapes, bananas and peaches, to name a few. Fruits are excellent sources of vitamins and minerals. Serve them chilled with an appropriate dressing to accompany cheese or meat on a luncheon menu.

Suggested here is a melange of fresh fruits with Pineapple-Lemon Dressing. This flavorful dressing is made with fruit juice and peanut oil and laced with cinnamon and cloves. Since oil is the dominant element in a salad dressing it should be the best... and Planters Peanut Oil is the best because its light, delicate flavor blends well with other ingredients.

If you are interested in expanding your salad repertoire Planters Peanut Oil has a 12-page booklet with 38 recipes entitled, "Sensational Salads and Masterful Dressings." This colorful, art-illustrated booklet also features tips on salad making, recipes for French dressing and mayonnaise plus 25 variations of these two basics. For a free copy of this exciting booklet write to: Planters Peanut Oil, P.O. Box 2695, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

PINEAPPLE-LEMON DRESSING

- 1/2 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/2 cup Planters Peanut Oil

Combine all ingredients in jar with tight-fitting lid. Shake vigorously. Serve over fresh fruit salad. Makes 1 cup.

Summer Party Pleasers

If you're planning a party and can't decide which hors d'oeuvres to prepare, take a leisurely walk through your vegetable garden for some suggestions. Fresh carrot sticks, zucchini, radishes, cucumber, celery and tomatoes are great "garden delights" served alone or combined with crackers and cheese and made into tasty appetizers.

Serve delicious wine spritzers to your guests as a refreshing summertime beverage. They're so easy to mix; everyone can enjoy "playing" bartender. Just pour four-ounces of your favorite white or rose wine into a tall glass containing several ice cubes, add four-ounces of Canada Dry Club Soda and stir. Garnish with lemon or orange wedges for added flavor.

Cooking over a hot stove is no place for the summer hostess to spend her time. Choose a main entree that can be barbecued on-the-spot, or ideally, serve salad and meat dishes that can be prepared the day before. Garnish these dishes with bouquets of parsley, chopped egg, and pickle slices and serve cold.

Facts are not always the easiest things in the world to face.

Be assured that politics will improve as fast as the people who vote.

Mahon Votes Against Motion

WASHINGTON, June 23, 1977 — Congressman George Mahon (D-TX-19) voted against a motion last week to instruct the conferees to retain a "Sunset Provision" in the legislation which recently passed creating a new department of energy.

In the past Congressman Mahon has supported legislation which incorporates sunset provisions.

The sunset provision, offered by Congressman Broyhill, would insure that Congress review the activities of the Department of Energy in five years to assess its performance and propose any appropriate changes. The motion passed 228-179.

During debate on the floor, Congressman Broyhill said, "Sunset provisions are an appropriate means by which to mandate congressional oversight of the agency's operation."

Broyhill continued: "I would point out to the Members and have them recall, that this is an agency that initially calls for $10 billion in expenditures and for some 20,000 federal employees."

Congressman Broyhill added: This amendment will provide greater congressional review of this agency which will assume awesome power over our country's future energy needs."

The 132 Republicans voting for the measure. Tuesday, June 21, were joined by 96 Democrats.

Proponents of the motion argued the amendment must pass to assure the conference report would be returned to the House with the provisions included. Proponents said it was necessary to include these additional instructions in the bill to bind the House conferees to the House position.

Opponents argued the amendment was unnecessary and that the House conferees would make every effort to see that the proposed House position, to include the sunset provision, would be included in the conference report.

Congressman John Rhodes, House Minority Leader, stressed the importance of the amendment saying: "I will predict that if the conference report comes back without this provision, there will be a rollcall on the conference report and I for one will do my best to defeat the conference report."

Manhattan Heights 7th Day Adventist Church

Message was brought by Brother Ronald Boswell last week. His subject was "The God in the Sky." It was a very beautiful sermon. He made it clear that Jesus is God in the sky. He also said that God is near when you need Him. "We have all kinds of degrees and many answers, but God is in the sky," he said. He continued: "God is the creator of the heaven and earth and everything in the universe."

"If you want a place of yourself, look to God in the sky, because many of us need God today," he concluded.

words, there is none that doeth good." — Psalms 14:1.

This was the scripture used for Sunday's text entitled "Don't be a Sophomore" which was very well delivered by our pastor, Dr. Floyd Perry Jr. The spirit was overwhelming, touching each and everyone in one way or another. We had several people come to rededicate their lives to Christ, along with the Gospel choir. Morning worship was extremely good, especially with everyone wanting to start anew.

We are looking forward to the second Sunday in July, when we will unite together to celebrate the burning of our church mortgage. We are extending an invitation to each and everyone to come out at 3 p.m. and join in with us on this festive occasion. Rev.
