Project Intercept is "Best Program in U.S." According to Weaver

by Lerisa R. Payne

There are problems all around us. Even in the schools. The schools are no longer considered as a place to learn. It is a place for some students to be able to get away with mischievous stunts. The Lubbock Public School Administration office has come up with a solution.

Instead of students being expelled from school they are sent to "Project Intercept." It was named this because it intercepts the youth before he is put out of school. It is developed to help the students who are disruptive in the classroom. It is the place of last resort. Mr. Gilbert "Gib" Weaver, director of secondary education, says, "Project Intercept" is the best program in the United States." The project is very strict. The campus is supervised constantly. The students are not allowed to be alone. Class is from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday thru Friday. It is under strict and rigid supervision. It has been in operation for 2 years and has had good response.

P.I. is located at the old Sanders Elementary School. In the classrooms, there is one teacher to every five or ten pupils. At the present time there are fourteen students. There have been a maximum of 45. They range from the seventh grade to the twelfth grade. The school will move to the Juvenile Detention Center which is in the process of being built. There is a Juvenile Probation Officer on campus at all times.

The teachers are certified. They are not volunteers. They are hired because they are willing to work with the students. They are dedicated to their job as a teacher.

The students are taught Math, English, Science, Social Studies, Art and Health. They have very little electives.

In most cases, the student stays in P.I. for 6 weeks. There are some cases in which they stay until the quarter is over or when the ARD Committee, Admission Review and Dismissal Committee feels that the student has learned how to behave in the public schools.

There is a certain procedure in which a principal must take before a student is sent to P.I. The principal must fill out a form stating that he has had problems with a certain student many times. After the principal sees that the student is not doing better in the I.S.S., In School Suspension, the principal reports it to the Administrative Office. The Admission Review and Dismissal Committee reviewed the students problem with the student and his mother. The ARD Committee consist of the Director of Pupil Personnel, Director of Guide and Counseling and a Juvenile Probation Officer. The Committee decide whether to put the student back in the same school, to put him in another school, put him in P.I. or to drop him from school. The student is reviewed before he goes into Project Intercept and after his first quarter in the project.

After the student has been in the project for a while, Mr. Weaver has noticed that the attitude has changed in some of the students. There are some students who are trouble makers whether in the project or not. If there is any disciplinary action needed to be taken against the student, it is up to the committee to decide whether to leave him in the project or to drop him. Each case is different as all individuals are.

From observing the students in Project Intercept, Mr. Weaver has found that the reasons behind their behavior is: they are not socially adjusted, they do not get along with their fellow students, they do not get along with their parents, and they do not obey their parental, school, or judicial authorities.

The majority of the parents of the students in the program are very cooperative. They are concerned about their children as well as the administration is. Most of the parents are asking for help. They receive help with the aid of Project Intercept.

There are many schools in Lubbock and surrounding towns who have disciplinary problems with their students. Project Intercept is one way to help solve the disciplinary actions of the schools.

Black Ministers of Lubbock

by Lerisa R. Payne

Rev. Shephard is a firm believer in the Lord and shares his knowledge with the members of his church. He is the pastor of the First Progressive Baptist Church. He has been the pastor of the church for 5 years now.

He came to the church because the people in Yellowhouse Canyon wanted a Baptist Church, because there has not been a Baptist church for 10 years. Rev. Shephard built the church of the First Progressive Baptist. The old church had leaking roofs and not enough heat. The Lord has made it possible for the church to be able to build another church.

Rev. Shephard is from Hobbs, New Mexico. In New Mexico he served as Public Relations of the Church of Christ, he worked as a policeman, and he owned his own newspaper. He owned a black newspaper in which he did the writing, reporting, interviews, and photography. He did everything but the typesetting and the printing.

He has served on the Community Action Board, the United Way, he serves on the Lubbock Baptist Association, the Family Services Affairs, and he is president of the Sunday School Baptist Training Union Congress of the Greater Central West Texas Baptist Association.

Rev. Shephard is an announced candidate for 75-B in 1980. He has not been active in other affairs because he is venturing into more political aspects in society.

Rev. Shephard has attended Lubbock Christian College, Texas Tech and New Mexico Jr. College. Although Rev. Shephard has not attended any school of theology, he has accumulated numerous amount of books to keep him informed of the Bible. He says, "Every minister needs a complete library. If a minister cannot go to college he could get the books to study."

His purpose of being a minister is to save those that are lost and to present Jesus Christ to them.

Rev. Shephard says, "I would not serve a God who would help me today but not tomorrow. My task is to preach salvation through Jesus Christ. Being incorporated in the cross is everything we need."

Rev. McKinley Shephard

Rev. Shephard is a man who knows the truth and tells the truth.

SW Bell Begins

New Construction

Southwestern Bell will begin construction this month on a $65,000 project which will provide additional toll facilities in the Lubbock-Hurlwood area.

According to Bob Dunbar, division manager, workmen are placing buried cable from Milwaukee Street West to Farm Road 179 on Highway 160. The cable will provide better long distance service for Lubbock-Hurlwood customers as well as provide the facilities for future long distance growth.

Dunbar said the project has been a joint undertaking by Southwestern Bell and General Telephone to provide better service for customers. The project is scheduled for completion in July.

Local Beautician Says She Wants Black People to Look Beautiful

Thelma Erwin

Not all beauticians care about their customer's hair. There are some who care a great deal about others hair. Thelma Erwin is one of them. Even though she is young, she has young and new ideas.

Thelma is originally from Shamrock, Texas but has lived most of her life in Lubbock. She is married and has 3 boys to keep her hands full. But she is never too busy for a customer.

Thelma has been operating in her shop for three months. It took her a long time to own a shop of her own, but as you can see she has made it. With her talents, Thelma will go a long way in the cosmetology field.

She will soon be attending a hair fashion show in Houston to catch up on the latest hair styles. She has always dreamed of owning her own shop.

Thelma Erwin took 2 years of cosmetology at Dunbar High School under the instruction of Odessa Long. Thelma took cosmetology because she enjoys being a woman and styling women's hair. After completion of the courses, she styled hair at the Caprock Beauty Salon (which is no longer in service) and styled wigs at Montgomery Wards for three years. Thelma was also one of the first blacks to go to an integrated board in Austin.

To be a new operator the business is good for Thelma. She says, "By being a one woman operator she can relate to her customers better. She knows how a woman should look and what type of style would look the best on her."

At the present time Thelma washes and styles hair and arches the eyebrows but she plans to expand to better things.

According to Thelma, there are some beauticians who are still using the same products for the hair from the beginning when they got started. She is saying that there is room for advancement in cosmetology.

Thelma concludes by saying, "I work on people's hair because I care about their hair and how they look. I want the black people to look beautiful."

Thelma is preserving the beauty of today's black woman.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Carter's GSA Probe Has a Curious Twist

Copyright, 1979, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON—Ten federal grand juries are currently investigating the widespread waste and corruption which have been uncovered in the General Services Administration. President Carter has promised a thorough clean-up of the scandal.

But he is going about it in a peculiar way. He brought in a conscientious businessman from Nashville, Tenn., Jay Solomon, to head the agency. The new administrator plunged into the mess with both hands and tried to mop it up.

The president announced that his personal attorney, Charles Kirbo, would oversee the investigation. This odd arrangement produced a backlash inside the Justice Department. Officials questioned the propriety of allowing a private attorney to oversee federal investigations.

The White House abruptly dropped this plan. Instead, a White House spokesman said Kirbo would be a consultant and would merely offer his advice to Solomon.

Meanwhile, Solomon was thwarted by his deputy administrator, Robert Griffin, who was less than enthusiastic about exposing the hidden scandals. In a showdown, Solomon succeeded in kicking the deputy out of the agency.

But instead of landing on the sidewalk, Griffin wound up in a more exalted position at the White House. He collects $50,000 a year as a White House aide.

Solomon has now been notified that his services are no longer needed. We have seen a confidential congressional memo which suggests he was forced out for political reasons. The document was prepared for Rep. Robert Walker, R-Pa.

"Jay Solomon has indicated that his difficulties in bringing reforms ... stemmed from persons within the White House," the memo states. Solomon could not identify the White House aides who were obstructing him, the document discloses, but he believes they "brought about his demise."

The memo adds, still quoting Solomon: "He specifically sought to separate the President from these White House people ... He believes the President maintains his dedication to promoting honesty and efficiency within the agency."

That may be true. But someone at the White House was obviously upset over Solomon's clean-up campaign.

Brezhnev Relapse: A startling intelligence report, which has just reached Washington, claims that Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was mysteriously stricken three weeks ago.

The report is sketchy, but it describes his condition as serious. No one seems to know exactly how serious; the news has been covered up by the Kremlin.

For years, Brezhnev has been plagued with circulatory problems, identified in intelligence documents as arterio sclerosis. He occasionally slurs his words, his jaw sometimes sags, and he has difficulty walking. He is a bad air traveler and doesn't adjust easily to jet lag.

In the old days, Brezhnev used to smoke and guzzle vodka heavily. But he has sworn off cigarettes and cut back on his alcohol intake. He also has a painful dental problem, which may be the result of his former smoking habit, it has been speculated. More likely, it stems from a distortion of the jaw, which has bothered him since he was a young man.

Brezhnev was 72 years old last December. Intelligence reports depict him as the undisputed cock of the Kremlin. He has gained such power, according to the reports, that he has no identifiable rivals or successors. The reports claim it would be impossible to predict accurately who would succeed him.

Under the Dome: The taxpayers are footing the bill for congressmen to enjoy the conveniences of having their cars washed while they work. Five car washers work a four-hour day cleansing congressional cars. In addition to their wages, the washers get to pocket the three-dollar fee the lawmakers pay for each car wash.

—Sen. John Warner, R-Va., has a reputation as a penny-pincher. As a Christmas gift for his actress wife, Elizabeth Taylor, he bought a new four-wheel drive vehicle. To pay for the machine, Warner traded in his own luxury car. The automobile, it turns out, was given to him by Liz—for his birthday.

—Some of the oil industry's friends on Capitol Hill are worried about the ascension of liberal Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., to the chairmanship of the House Subcommittee on Environment, Energy and Natural Resources. Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., who is known for his favorable support of the petroleum potentates, recently told some colleagues, "Maybe we all better sell our oil stocks."

Safety Measure: A new publication called The American Lawyer recently featured a stinging attack on Chief Justice Warren Burger. The author explained that during a court case involving the Federal Communications Commission, the chief justice displayed an embarrassing ignorance about the agency. Burger's contempt for the press is well-known, so the writer chose to use a pseudonym—just in case the chief justice took offense.

Dungaree Drain: Blue-jean mania has hit Eastern Europe. The Wrangler company has sold over 50,000 pairs of jeans in Russia; the Levi Strauss company has begun manufacturing Levis in Poland. Sufficiently capitalist-minded to recognize a supply-demand situation when they see one, the Soviets have begun importing dungaree technology from the American manufacturers.

Genealogies concern the descendants of the following WHITFIELDS: William, 1636 immigrant to Virginia; John, 1635 immigrant to Virginia; Matthew, 1682 immigrant to Norfolk County, Va.; William (died before 1735), Samuel (1714-1758), and Thomas (1700-1781), all of Isle of Wight County, Va.; William, who married Elizabeth GOODMAN, and resided in North Carolina in 1723; and Thomas (1735-1794) of Sussex County, Va. Scattered among the reproductions of many original records are summations of early Virginia history, such as the formation of counties and vestry parishes. "Records and Notes" contains miscellaneous WHITFIELD records such as Virginia and Tennessee marriage records; tax lists; birth and death records; and names of Revolutionary soldiers. Some material on WHITFIELDS of Negro descent is also included.

Thanks to Christine Knox Wood of Lubbock for this article, "All for Cuney," taken from the Haskell (Texas) Free Press, Aug. 17, 1889, p. 1: "Austin, Texas, Aug. 8—A Mass meeting of colored citizens was held today to select delegates to the colored men's state convention, which meets on the 20th at Waco, for the purpose of considering the industrial and educational interests of the colored people of Texas. Professor W. E. EASTON presided, T.A. BLACK secretary. The following were elected delegates: J.M. HOLLAND, W.E. EASTON, A. GEORGE, J.W. MADISON, T.A. BLACK, A.S. BELL, H. RUSSELL, Price ALEXANDER, James GRUMBLES, John P. TAYLOR, L.M. MITCHELL, John ROSE, A.L. OVERTON and J.W. ALEXANDER, and a like number of alternates. The following rasping resolutions expressed the sense of the meeting were unanimously adopted;

Whereas, President HARRISON, true to the teachings of his party, and faithful to his pledge, has seen it fit to appoint to the collection of Galveston the Hon. N.W. CUNEY, the ablest and grandest leader the negro has today in the South, and

Whereas, his appointment was made due to his personal worth and services notwithstanding an abortive effort was made by the disgruntled leaders of the so-called white men's party to defeat his candidacy, and

Whereas the same individuals have seen fit since Mr. CUNEY's appointment to pass in a mass meeting as injudicious in the part of the administration, and

Whereas, we firmly believe his appointment solidifies and builds up the party throughout the state. . . this renewed confidence with the party gives promises of at least one Republican congressman.

Resolved, that we, the members of the colored men's mass convention of the city of Austin, declare as very judicious and as a signal success the appointment of the Hon. N.W. CUNEY to the collectorship of the port of Galveston (sic)."

Kelly's Heroes

by Joe Kelly

Bobby Knight won't need anyone to show him the way to the Municipal Coliseum. It hasn't been that long since he was the principal speaker for the Red Raider Club's annual spring all sports dinner.

The Coliseum won't have moved, but it will have changed. From the spot at about which he spoke will be the visiting press, and there should be a good turnout. Also, he'll see the floor without tables. The band probably will be there and the successful Indiana coach will get to see the Tech basketball squad, not all of the athletes.

Yes, tomorrow night Texas Tech extends a season that seemed to be over Friday night. For that matter, A&M also extends its season and don't think the SWC doesn't appreciate having four teams in the playoffs. It helps. It isn't as lucrative as football, but every penny these days makes a difference.

Also, having four teams in post season play, two in each of two tournaments, is a signal honor. Not many conferences will be able to make that statement. It's a tribute to the way the league has improved—and to the individual efforts of such men as Gerald Myers, Eddie Sutton and Abe Lemons.

The Raiders face an experience-wise, tournament-wise and battling club in Indiana. The Hoosier State likes to think that it invented basketball, and sometimes its teams play like it, one of the troubles.

But from what I've seen so far on the boob tube, there is no reason for any of the SWC teams to run off and hide. There isn't that much difference between this conference and others. You can safely make that statement today. A few years ago it wasn't true.

Indeed, as play opens this week with a slew of games all over the nation, Texas and Arkansas appear to be in good shape to make a run at the NCAA title, the Raiders and Aggies have a shot at the NIT.

You would hardly call the UT-Arkansas championship game a thriller, let alone a cliffhanger—and yet, it was both. Arkansas obviously controlled the play at the outset and did it entirely to set the tempo. It didn't get the lead it hoped, but Texas sorta was lulled to sleep and played Arkansas' game.

The Longhorns never really did get their running game going, the game that made them a terror in the NIT last season. They played the same slow, deliberate game that Arkansas invited them to play.

Two zones don't, of course, lead to great excitement. The only way you can break a team from using the zone is to beat the defense downcourt, or hit everything you throw at the basket from outside. Those odds are not good, so you're patient, wait for the good shot and try to make it.

A technical foul, of course, was the big difference in the game. The Horns suddenly had shown signs of life. Arkansas dawdled. Then came the pileup on the floor, an apparently unkind word by Jim Krivacs and Arkansas picked up two points and possession, particularly possession.

At that point the sands were running through the time glass for UT and an uncontested basket merely made the score look about the way the difference between the two teams really is.

I hope all four SWC teams do well. It would be a tremendous boost to recruiting for everyone and give the league much more prestige. That's what the NCAA high finish and the NIT championship did last year.

Meanwhile, it will help the other five teams that were not so fortunate, the ones who have to stay home. Indirectly, they'll benefit.

But whatever happened to that gossip making the rounds some time back, the one that said Hey/ Wait until Houston gets in the league. They'll dominate it, especially in basketball.

Ho, Hum.

So, now we come to the NCAA playoffs and the burning question has to be: What about Indiana State? Well, what about Indiana State? They have Larry Bird, unquestionably THE outstanding player in collegiate circles. They also have good team balance. The Sycamores haven't been beaten all year.

Still, the nagging remains. Have they really played a tough enough schedule? The Missouri Valley isn't as tough as it was a few years ago. The Sycamores haven't played what could be called a representative schedule. But, they've won, and winning plays an important role.

There should be some tremendous competition before a national champion is crowned. UCLA, as usual, ought to be in the thick of things and could go all the way. So could a number of teams.

It might be an unsung hero taking over this year. There are a lot of sleepers, but the predominant one, to go back to the beginning, would have to be Illinois State. There is little question, because of Bird, that they will be the sentimental favorites of a majority of the fans. It will be interesting.

Here I go again with a gripe. It's the coverage by television of its basketball games. Damn, I wish they had only two cameras. They seem to think that we'll miss something if we don't see the cheerleaders begin lifted on high, or the coaches biting their nails, or pictures from behind the goalposts.

They show endless reruns of previous plays while action is going on. They use endzone cameras that show none of the action on the floor. They make it all so tedious and annoying that sometimes you wonder if there isn't a good movie that would be more interesting. In short, the more TV tries to cover, the worse job it does.

The pro baseball season is right around the corner, in case no one had noticed. Teams already are in spring training and opening exhibition games are about to start. Spring is fast approaching.

Indeed, the herald of spring, the Border Olympics, were run last weekend. Before you know it, the Texas Relays will be with us and that, in Texas, is the surest sign. Ah, spring training. Relaxing days in soft, spring breezes while the athletes go through the rigors of conditioning. For a sports writer, there never will be anything like it!

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

In New York City recently a treasured and signal honor was bestowed lovingly and gratefully by the New York City Opera to one who is a native of Slaton, whose roots are imbedded today in Lubbock, Miss Lorene McClintock.

The honored lady, widely known in Texas as she is in Manhattan where she has resided many years now, is a product of local schools, graduate in music from Southern Methodist University. She is pianist, music authority, pedagogue, author, painter and the sole responsibility of her massive accomplishment, the McClintock method of piano instruction, a lifetime work. The method is widely used by teachers in Lubbock and other portions of Texas and elsewhere and has gained her considerable and growing renown.

But it was not for these highly impressive accomplishments that Julius Rudel, outgoing director of the esteemed New York City Opera, presented Lorene McClintock with an engraved sterling silver tray before an applauding audience one evening about two weeks ago. It was given in acknowledgement of Miss McClintock's long and ardent support for the NYC Opera in the past 25 years and celebrating the fact that she was founder of the New York City Opera Guild formed in the company's fledgling years.

The company, at whose head Rudel will soon be replaced by the retiring singer, their proudest product, Beverly Silis, needed as all organizations such as this do, a supportive and actively working adjunct, a Guild of women devoted to the cause and activities of the group.

It was in Miss McClintock's living room some 25 years ago that 13 women came together under leadership to form the nucleus of this now powerful and high-count Guild. The Guild is a big and powerful group today, a group who vitally and vibrantly support all phases of the New York State Theatre-based company.

So vast has this Guild grown over the years that each year the members have a specially-chartered plane tour to the opera centers of Europe around the beginning of each year.

And so, on the stage, with photographers and audience present, Mr. Rudel gave to our lady the company's highest tribute and affection. In these callous days when a simple "thank you" seems at times to be a relic of the golden and courteous past the honor and the award for service and contribution well done to Miss McClintock becomes a touching and heart-warming reminder to us all.

Those legion who know, have studied and admired Miss McClintock over the years will take special pride in her own pride and joy. This entire area (and far beyond) say an operatic "brava" to her and send love and happiness in her achievement. Nothing more need be said. We love her; so does the New York City Opera.

I must say one more thing in passing. It has been three weeks ago today since I sadly and heavy-hearted attended the funeral services for one of my dear friends, a friend not only to me but to countless Lubbockites as well, the genial, happy pianist and former football great, Winton "Cowboy" Kyle. Cowboy's nimble and sure fingers on the keyboard delighted everyone from performers with bands, to eating establishments, to civic clubs in number and his mere presence was a delight each time. He did me a personal favor of many weeks a few years back when he was my blessed accompanist during a summer's run of the melodrama and olio given at KoKo Palace by the Lubbock Theatre Centre's Summer Mummies. I danced the old soft shoe and whatever Cowboy thought of that episode each night, he never said openly, but he played and, without him, there would have been no act.

The tune he played for me was "I'll See You In My Dreams" and, remembering this good and kind, cheerful and bouyant man in memory, I know I shall go on "seeing him in my dreams."

To his widow Tarzey, his daughter, his grandchildren and his family I say, please know we all miss him too in our own civic yet individual way. He was a man; we were lucky to have shared a tiny piece of him. But, his heart was big enough to go around.

To wind this column a word about a new film which has just opened a run at the United Artists South Plains Cinema 4. It is the Dustin Hoffman directed "Agatha."

In 1926 the famed novelist Agatha Christie suddenly disappeared from her English home for 11 days. Lakes were dragged for her body, searches were conducted exhaustively for any trace.

What "Agatha" is is the fictional treatment of what might have been. Dame Agatha herself never volunteered any explanation for her silence which caused a national sensation.

"Agatha" is a stylish film. The photography, the strict and fascinating adherence to the 1926 period, the musical score, every facet of this film is totally admirable.

It's a spellbinder all the way, with Hoffman as the American reporter tracking her down and Vanessa Redgrave as the elusive Agatha. Two other roles among the many so well played are notable, those played by Timothy Dalton and Helen Morse.

"Agatha" is a film definitely to be seen and savored. Like the late Miss Christie's novels, such as "Death on the Nile," "The Murder of Roger Ackroyd" and "Murder on the Orient Express" plus the countless other works, this film has a trick and cunning ending that would have pleased the author to the very hilt.

It's a fine film and an excellent one. See "Agatha."

Graduates of the program receive a regular high school diploma, said Harvy Owen, Adult Education Coordinator.

Owen said English, mathematics, science, social studies, and other standard high school courses will be offered. Commercial areas courses will include typing, clerical practice, and general business.

Each class meets two nights per week, 90 minutes each night, at Lubbock High School, 2004 19th St. Tuition for each quarter unit course will be $15.00.

The third quarter will last from March 5th to May 31st with each class meeting for 36 hours.

Students who already have high school credits may apply them toward the adult program graduation requirements. Such students must supply the Adult Education Office with their official high school transcript so that it may be evaluated and a graduation plan developed.

Tuition may be paid in full at registration or in part at registration with subsequent payments during the quarter.

Textbooks will be provided free of charge; however, deposits of $5.00 to $8.00 on each book will be required at the time the book is issued. The full deposit will be refunded when the book is returned.

Courses will be offered only if 12 or more students enroll.

The Black Experience: Crimes and Criminals: In his book "Criminal Violence, Criminal Justice", Charles Silberman says that violent crime is committed by society's outcasts, the poor and left-behind minorities (mostly low-income blacks and Hispanics, who see no stake in preserving the way things are and who see crime as the only way to get one's fair share in an unfair world.

The book has been proclaimed as one of the most thorough and provocative studies ever made of crime in America and has been a sell-out in a number of cities. Dr. Silberman says that blacks commit more crimes than other minorities, who are usually just as poor and suffer just as much discrimination. Why? The reason does not lie in black genes or "the cultural baggage" blacks carried with them from Africa; the homicide rate in black Africa is about the same as in western Europe, and well below the rate in either white or black America. Indeed the black American homicide rate is three to five times the black African rate.

"Violence is something that black Americans learned in this country. They had many teachers; violence has been an intrinsic part of the black American experience from the start," the author states.

Silberman says that for most of their history in this country, blacks were victims, not initiators, of violence. He points out that every other immigrant group came here voluntarily, often illegally, but that blacks came to America in chains. He goes on to say slavery was maintained by violence, and that after the Civil War in the Old South (roots of most urban blacks), violence against blacks were omnipresent—sanctioned both by custom and by law.

When one reflects on the history of black people in this country, what is remarkable is not how much, but how little black violence there has always been. Certainly it would be hard to imagine an environment better calculated to evoke violence than the one in which black Americans have lived," states the author. Negative symbolism about blackness is built into our language: black connotes death, mourning, evil, corruption and sin, while "white" implies purity, goodness, and rebirth" and perhaps one of the reasons whites have deep rooted distaste for blackness. Could be.

The Hobbs Gas Story: According to the Hobbs Flare newspaper, Albert Vos, a resident of Hobbs, New Mexico for many years, his receipts for gas bill payments indicate that 13 units of gas used by him in 1973 cost $8.74 while the same 13 units of gas used by him in 1979 cost $39.49. This represents an increase in costs in excess of 400% over a five year period. Stated the Flare: "Even if we allow a 100% increase for inflation, this leaves us with 300% in unaccounted cost hike in price of gas.

Concluded the Flare: "While consumers, such as those who marched recently on the utility companies in Hobbs recently, (led by Rev. Frank Wells, well known pastor and leader, who happens to be black) complain about the price of utility services, company spokesmen say that higher rates are actually needed ... El Paso Gas Co. earnings were up by a whopping $10,000,000 over the fourth quarter's earning of 1977." Looks like there is big money to be made in the gas business.

Thought: "Woe to unjust judges and to those who issue unfair laws, says the Lord, so that there is no justice for the poor, the widows and orphans"—Isaiah 10:12.

Recent great quotes: "For more years than I care to admit, certain black churches, particularly Black Methodists, have held summit meetings to consider merger. These leaders rehearse all the unusual rhetoric about the fact that our beliefs, our policy and just about everything about us is so similar. They point out the waste in having each of the denominations send bishops and general officers into the same locale, when in care of merger, the operation could be much more economical, etc. but alas, each returns to his home base. His conscience assuaged because he has impressed someone, hopefully, and we are no nearer to merger than when we first began." End of quote from Willa Mae Rice, religious editor of The Courier.

Dear Bob:
A lot of people, especially the farmers, got mad when Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Bergman said that he suspected some of the farmers' problem to be "greed". There can be little doubt that this is so but it is also true of a lot of other people like the oil and gas folks, some doctors, business people in all walks of life have been hit by the "greed bug". But thank God, all are not guilty. They believe in fair play and honesty. If our system survives, it will be because of people, who put God in their affairs. Signed: A.D. Lamesa, Texas.

6.02 In the event the Participant dies before his Retirement or prior to receiving the benefit provided for in Section 6.01, his Beneficiary or Beneficiaries shall be entitled to receive a death benefit equal to that which shall be available under the contract described in Section 5.01. VII. WITHDRAWALS

7.01 For serious financial reasons a Participant may apply to the Committee for a withdrawal from the Plan prior to Retirement or other termination of the Participant's service with the City. Such early withdrawal shall be permitted only in the event of real emergencies which are beyond the Participant's control, are not foreseeable by the Participant, and which will cause the Participant great financial hardship if early withdrawal is not permitted. Serious financial reasons shall include the following: bankruptcy or impending bankruptcy, unexpected and unreimbursed major expenses resulting from illness to person or accident to person or property or other types of unexpected and unreimbursed expenses of a major nature that would not normally be budgetable. Withdrawals for foreseeable expenditures normally budgetable such as down payments on a home or purchase of an auto or college expenses will not be permitted.

7.02 The amount withdrawable will be an amount equal to what would be available under the contracts described in Section 5.01 at the time of withdrawal or the amount necessary to meet the emergency situation, as determined by the Committee, whichever is the lesser.

7.03 Upon approval by the Committee of the withdrawal, the participant shall be treated under this Plan as if he had terminated, and the City shall on the fifteenth (15th) day of the month following such approval, pay or cause to be paid to the Participant the amount withdrawable in lump sum. Following a withdrawal, a Participant's compensation will be restored to the sum to which said Participant is entitled by reason of his employment with the City. Any remaining benefits shall be payable according to otherwise applicable sections of the Plan.

VIII. LEAVE OF ABSENCE

8.01 If a Participant is on an approved leave of absence from the City with compensation, or on an approved leave of absence without compensation for a period of not more than six (6) months, his participation in this Plan will continue.

8.02 If a Participant is on an approved leave of absence without compensation and such leave of absence continues for more than six months, said Participant will be deemed to have withdrawn from the Plan as of the end of such six month period. The Committee shall treat such Participant as if he had terminated his services and pay such benefit or benefits as provided in Section 6.01; however, such payments will not be made until the Participant has terminated his services, retired or died.

9.02 The City Council may also amend the provisions of this plan at any time; provided, however, that no amendment shall affect the rights of Participants or their Beneficiaries to the receipt of payment of benefits, to the extent of any compensation deferred before the time of the amendment, as adjusted for investment experience under the contracts described in Section 5.01 prior to and subsequent to the amendment.

X. NON-ASSIGNABILITY CLAUSE

It is agreed that neither the Participant, nor his Beneficiary nor any other designee, shall have any right to commute, sell, assign, transfer, or otherwise convey the right to receive any payments hereunder which payments and rights thereto are expressly declared to be non-assignable and non-transferable; and in the event of any attempted assignment or transfer, the City shall have no further liability hereunder; nor shall any unpaid benefits be subject to attachment, garnishment or execution, or be transferable by operation of law in event of bankruptcy, insolvency, except to the extent otherwise required by law.

This year's theme is "Once in Every Life," and the admission will be $1.00 per person. A coronation ball will follow in the Dunbar cafeteria for Dunbar-Struggs students.

This is the highlight of the year's activities at Dunbar-Struggs. Each candidate for Mr. and Miss Dunbar-Struggs is nominated and voted upon by the student body and must have maintained certain scholastic performances. They must also possess a good attitude, exemplify good moral character, conform to school policy, be classified a senior, and be a participant in some of the school's activities. Each nominee must also have been a student at Dunbar-Struggs for at least one year.

The public is encouraged to come out Thursday evening and support the efforts of these young people to continue projecting a positive image of themselves, their school, and their community.
