Blacks Make Great Gains Through the Republican Party

According to McKinley Shephard, Candidate for State Rep. 75-B* and Johnny Deal, Executive Director of the East Lubbock Republican Committee, Blacks have made great gains in respect to being appointed to high level positions by Republican Governors.

Noting an article from First Monday magazine by Susan Eddington:

Last spring, in a speech to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), RNC Chairman Bill Brock called the black support "extremely important" to the growth and success of the Republican Party. Last fall, his words were borne out when the black vote proved to be a decisive factor in the successful elections of several GOP governors.

"Several of the current 18 Republican governors could not have been elected without strong black support," said Brock, "and the governors have responded to this support by appointing minorities to influential positions within their administrations."

Governor Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania, who won with 52 percent of the black vote, called black support "critical to my election. I met with black leaders across the state and discussed the issues of importance to them. I went to their neighborhoods and their churches." Thornburgh has appointed two black cabinet officers, Dr. Ethel Allen and Col. Gorham Black. Dr. Allen, a former city council member, was appointed Thornburgh's Secretary of the Commonwealth, and Col. Black was appointed Secretary of the Department of Aging.

As with Thornburgh, other GOP governors have not limited black appointments to offices which oversee only minority programs—a common practice. Governor William Milliken of Michigan, re-elected with a healthy 27 percent of the black vote, appointed Loren Monroe as State Treasurer.

In this capacity Monroe serves as the governor's chief financial adviser, and supervises state financing. He is also responsible for the collection, care and disbursement of state funds, and his office administers a budget of $50 million. Major departments under Monroe's direction include the State Boundary Commission, the Bureau of Local Government Services, the State Board of Tax Appeal and the State Board of Assessors.

Milliken has appointed more blacks during his administratin than the three previous governors combined. He has appointed 17 black judges and in the first six months of 1979 blacks to various boards, commissions and judge-ships.

Former congressman, now Governor, Al Quie of Minnesota appointed Art Sidner Director of State Planning. Sidner's office coordinates the activities of each state agency, keeping them informed on how their efforts affect the state's welfare as a whole. Sidner also conducts research in environmental planning and monitors the impact of agencies' activities on state environmental policy.

"Art Sidner's position is a very demanding one," said Gov. Quie. "He is doing an excellent job."

Major offices directly under Sidner's supervision include the Office of Local and Urban Affairs, the Office of State Demographic Studies, the State Development Office and the State Health Coordinating Council. The Developmental Disabilities Council, also under his program for construction of facilities throughout the state while guaranteeing that provisions are made for the handicapped.

Gov. Otis Bowen of Indiana, currently serving his second term, appointed Bill Ray as his executive assistant for Urban and Community Affairs. Ray's responsibilities center around all activities that concern economic development for the state. He works hand-in-hand with the state-operated Division of Occupational Safety and Health Administration; he is chairman of the state council on CETA and he serves on the statewide Manpower Council where he is watchdog over the $200 million which comes into the state for Manpower programs.

Ray also is the governor's representative to the National Governors' Association (NGA) where he worked with other members of the NGA to establish the mid-American Regional Development Commission. The commission includes Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa and was designed to promote the coordinated economic development of the member states.

Ray, who has been with the governor during both terms, initially joined the staff to work on securing federal grants for state programs. During his tenure Ray has introduced the concept of using federal grants to support programs to provide training for the staffs of local governments. He also forged the establishment of the state's first housing authority.

"Gov. Bowen has made great strides in increasing minority involvement in state government, especially in meaningful capacities," said Ray. "Although the black population in Indiana is only 2 percent, there are 12 blacks who are heads of agencies or members of significant boards and commissions."

Republican governors have appointed well over 100 blacks or other minorities to positions of influence, including judgeships, executive positions, cabinet posts, ombudsmen for various state agencies and members of state boards and commissions.

"Iowa's black population is relatively small, yet we've worked hard to bring bright black Iowans into government and into politics," said Republican Governor Robert Ray of Iowa. "I believe it has paid dividends for the Republican Party in this state."

"The Republican Party is not 'our party' to do with as we please. Rather, we should appeal to blacks and other minorities and let them know that the Republican Party is also 'their' party," Gov. Ray said.

The effort to attract the black vote is proving to be more than idle chatter that is forgotten once the election is over, and, as many governors have proven, has provided a wealth of talent that has positively impacted upon their entire constituencies.

End of article.

NAACP OFFERS SUPPORT TO CHRYSLER—Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, presents to Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca a resolution supporting Chrysler's efforts to obtain government financial aid. The resolution, pointing out "the financial plight of Chrysler would have an adverse and chilling impact on black Americans who represent 27 percent of its employees nationally," resolved that the NAACP call on the government to provide Chrysler a program of financial assistance. The NAACP also called on the Congressional Black Caucus, civil rights and other organizations to join in a call for speedy action to forestall the loss of jobs that would result from a corporate shutdown.

Texas Tech University Builds New Three-Story Recreation Center

Can a recreation center offer basketball, handball, racquetball, squash, archery, indoor golf, wrestling, boxing, the martial arts, tumbling, dance, jogging, weightlifting, tennis, and gymnastics all under the same roof at the same time?

It can when the roof covers a three-story recreation center with 126,000 square feet underneath it.

Texas Tech University is building such an immense structure.

At a cost of $5.5 million and another $500,000 annually for maintenance the Texas Tech Recreation Center is scheduled for completion in mid-February.

The center, largest in the Southwest, will supplement three smaller gyms at Texas Tech that fail to provide adequate space and facilities for the more than 23,000 students here. If a poll taken last year proves correct, 43 percent, or nearly 10,000 of the students, will use the facility weekly.

"I think the students will be amazed at what the center can offer that we haven't been able to provide before," said Recreational Sports Director Joe MacLean.

The main features of the recreation center will be the five regulation size basketball-tennis courts, 12 racquetball-handball courts, three large multi-purpose rooms, a jogging track, and two weightlifting areas.

For those who want to learn more about sports, the new recreation center also will offer an audio-visual room with video cassettes used to teach athletic skills.

With the new recreation center Texas Tech will offer facilities for more sports than ever before. Even the armchair athlete, who can grab a snack on the third level and sit back in the spacious lounge area which overlooks the majority of the playing surfaces, will find enjoyment.

"The best aspect is that it (the center) will guarantee better scheduled activities and have a guaranteed walk-in use—something that can't be said about current facilities," MacLean said.

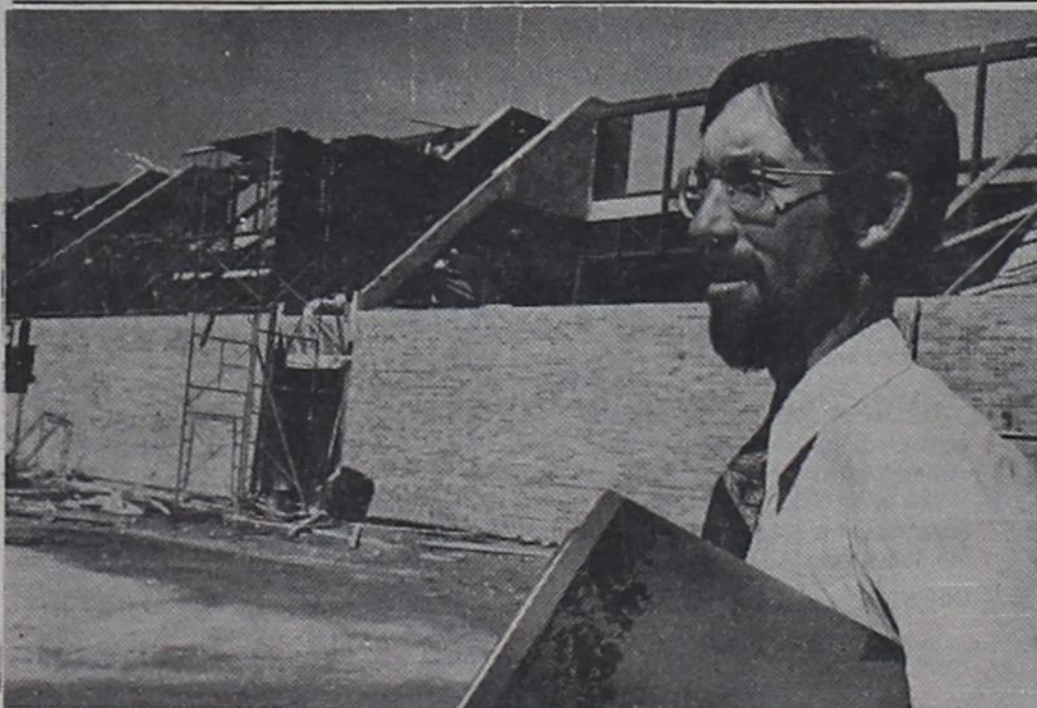

Although the Men's and Women's gyms at Texas Tech are scarcely 20 years old, the Intramural Gym on the north end of campus has been in use since 1926.

The new recreation center will be connected through an enclosed corridor to the $1.2 million aquatic center, which was completed in 1976.

The recreation center will be funded through the building use fee and maintained through an increased student service fee, which will be approximately $51 per student for the 1980 spring semester. Only $8-$9 however, will be used for the recreation center.

Upon completion the recreation center will employ 30-40 part-time student employees and two full-time directors.

"The new recreation center will have something for everyone," said MacLean. "We hope to create an activity area and not just a gym."

NEW REC CENTER—When the $5.5 million Texas Tech University Recreation Center opens in mid-February, it will be more than a gym, according to Recreational Sports Director Joe MacLean. MacLean checks progress on the center which will offer a variety of facilities, including five regulation size basketball-tennis courts, 12 racquetball-handball courts and two weight-lifting areas.

BAHAMA TRIANGLE INCLUDES VESCO, QUADDAFI AND BILLY

WASHINGTON—The Bermuda Triangle is a phenomenon that mystifies many scientists unable to explain the high rate of air navigation disasters occurring there. But even more puzzling is the Bahama Triangle that runs from fugitive crooked financier, Robert Vesco, to an oil-rich Arab dictator, Libya's Muammar Qaddafi, and thence to the doorstep of Jimmy Carter's White House.

Vesco, a Wall Street bucketshop operator, did a moonlight flit from this country to find refuge in the Caribbean from federal charges of fiduciary finagling. He took with him millions of dollars bilked out of investors and escaped extradition efforts by the U.S. government. We have evidence that Vesco is luxuriating at a tropical hideaway in the Bahamas.

From Vesco, the next line of the triangle runs to Qaddafi, the fanatic Libyan strongman who is using his country's OPEC oil as a whip to promote his obsessive Arab nationalistic dreams. Qaddafi channels his petrobuck millions into terrorist groups around the world, surreptitiously seeks to obtain nuclear weapon capability for the Islamic cause and is relentless in advocating a war to the death against Israel.

His Arab neighbors are chary about setting off the dynamite keg of war in the Middle East, so the hawk-like Qaddafi is resorting to economic warfare to bring the Jewish state and its allies to their knees.

We've learned from a secret intelligence report that Vesco and Qaddafi have had an unholy alliance since the early 1970s to help the Libyan dictator's economic warfare. Both found common cause in their animosity to the United States government.

Vesco, the report relates, has provided financial advice to the Libyan leader on how to manipulate oil production and prices in ways that will keep the American dollar hostage to Qaddafi demands.

Sources from the intelligence community tell us that Waddafi is driving the dollar down by using his oil wealth to buy gold. Libya was the first OPEC government to announce it was raising the price on its sorely needed petroleum. This threatens to set off another disastrous round of OPEC oil hikes for the free world.

From the canny financial schemer Vesco and the fierce Arab leader Qaddafi, the triangle leads to two of Carter's most intimate associates—Brother Billy, and White House chief of staff, Hamilton Jordan.

Billy Carter has become so closely involved with the Libyans that he could be considered a kissing cousin. A federal grand jury in New York is looking into his ties with both Qaddafi and Vesco on a warplane deal.

A Vesco move to reach Carter's ear and end Washington's extradition proceedings against the convicted swindler was aimed at Jordan's inner sanctum. A Jordan subordinate listened to a Vesco emissary who had been offered a million dollar commission to get the Carter administration to lower the heat. Another federal grand jury is looking into this.

"Legitimate" Crime: More and more law-abiding Americans are unwittingly doing business with the Mob. Even though John Q. Citizen may never deal with drug peddlers, loan sharks or racketeers, he's helping the Mafia Godfathers live high and mighty.

A classified report from the files of the Drug Enforcement Administration shows how organized crime has gone legitimate. The report gives this stark picture: "Organized crime figures have invested in a wide variety of businesses that encompass almost every sector of the U.S. economy. A preliminary survey of a wide variety of basic data on illicit drug traffickers identified at least 500 businesses that are entirely or partially owned by organized crime figures."

The underworld's Fortune 500 list doesn't consist of corner speakeasies or bookie joints. The DEA has found the heirs of Al Capone owning banks, stock brokerages, insurance companies and real estate ventures. Their secret domain extends to trucking companies, construction businesses and auto repair shops.

The Mafia's portfolio also includes bars, clubs, cafes and restaurants; retail stores and service industries; hotels, social clubs and resorts, medical clinics and labor union interests.

With the muscle of the Cosa Nostra and the untaxed profits from illegal enterprises, the Mob has the weapons to drive any competitors out of business. Whether you want to or not, you may well be doing business with Little Caesar or for that matter, sitting next to him at a Kiwanis luncheon.

Headlines and Footnotes: The bloated oil companies aren't likely to let the embryo gasohol competition siphon off any of their profits. The oil giants are refusing to let their credit cards be honored at stations that offer gasohol and are forcing service station owners who want to sell the new economy fuel substitute to buy new pumps. The Federal Trade Commission is investigating the squeeze out.

CIA insiders are keeping a sharp eye on Soviet moves in the backwater kingdoms of the Middle East such as South Yemen and Oman. They've detected evidence that Kremlin agents are encouraging dissident tribal movements within the small Arab kingdoms. Analysts agree that the Soviet Union eventually must turn to the Middle East for their own oil needs and are trying to get the Russian Bear's paw under the tent.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The curtain opened last week on the second act of a political drama that has promised for weeks to put the Governor of Texas and the Texas Attorney General on a collision course in the courtroom.

Attorney General Mark White filed suit in a Houston federal court last week seeking $10 million in damages from SEDCO, the oil drilling firm founded by Gov. Bill Clements, and a Mexican drilling firm, Permargo.

White told reporters he will seek to prove negligence on the part of both drilling firms in connection with the Ixtoc I oil well blowout, the largest in history, which washed millions of barrels of crude up onto Texas beaches this summer.

Although the well is still flowing, engineers last week managed to slow the flow with a giant metal cap placed over the wellhole on the Gulf floor.

White told reporters he declined to sue PEMEX, the Mexican government-owned oil company, because he did not want to interfere with U.S.-Mexico negotiations for damages in regard to the oil spill.

However, he left open the door on such legal action, should the negotiations fail to satisfy Texas interests. "We are refraining (from suing PEMEX) until it is certain that all negotiations by the U.S. Department of State for damages from Mexico have been exhausted," he said.

Clements Says "Politics"

White said several weeks ago, after he discovered SEDCO had scuttled the damaged drilling rig in deep international waters, that he would include SEDCO in the negligence lawsuit.

The Dallas-based drilling firm was founded by Republican Gov. Bill Clements, who turned it over to his son in a blind trust when he took office. Clements has charged that the suit is "politically motivated."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton are two leaders whom Democrats are considering running against Clements in 1982. Several Clements supporters think White is maneuvering to have himself become a third choice, but so far White has mentioned only lawsuits, not gubernatorial races.

Meanwhile, SEDCO filed suit early last month to have all liability limited in a suit against SEDCO.

Fuel Tax Increase

Regarding tax issues, Clements last week said he will propose that the next Legislature increase the state gasoline tax, the lowest in the nation.

In concurrence with Hobby, Clements said the drop in gasoline sales has caused a shortage of revenues for highway construction. The nickel-a-gallon tax is levied on every gallon sold at the pumps, and recent curtailments in driving because of the fuel shortage is blamed for the loss.

Sales Tax Boost

Earlier, Clements told a group of Texas mayors he would consider backing an increase in the local option sales tax for cities from one cent to three cents.

The Mayors' Advisory Committee had urged him to boost the tax in order to replace all or part of the property tax revenues. Currently, cities may collect a one-cent sales tax in addition to the four-cent state sales tax.

The mayors would like to drop or lower property taxes in concurrence with the sales tax increase. Clements said he had no opinion on the issue at this time.

Grassroots Candidates

In the Panhandle, two farmers who were prime movers in grassroots organization of the American Agriculture Movement are moving into politics.

Gerald McCathern of Dalhart announced he will run against incumbent State Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa.

R.C. Porter of Spearman announced for the House seat being vacated by Rep. Bob Close, R-Perryton. Close, a lawmaker highly respected by his colleagues, said last month he was getting out of politics to stay closer to home.

Bullock Heart Attack

State Comptroller Bob Bullock is in stable condition in an Austin hospital following a heart attack last week. Bullock, a hard-working politician who sometimes is tough to burn the candle at both ends, was reportedly reading press releases as he was wheeled into the intensive care unit for treatment.

AG Opinions

Mark White issued four attorney general opinions last week, including one ruling public junior colleges, in order to be eligible for state appropriations, must charge foreign students the same tuition rate charged by state senior colleges.

White also ruled the Texas Tech Board of Regents must comply with the terms of Senate Bill 213 in order to sell the land to which the bill relates.

And, the coordinating board and the governing boards of state-supported colleges and universities may not change the legislatively established name of an institution under their jurisdiction.

Finally, water supply corporations removed from the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission as of April 19, 1979, must pay assessment imposed by state law for the period during which they were subject to PUC jurisdiction.

Rising Star Baptist Church

All of the Sunday morning services were done by our youth. It was youth Sunday to do all the services and ushering and whatever it took to do what had to be done.

We were very proud of our youth choir and all for the efforts they put into everything. The services were planned by Bro. Grover C. Colvin who did a great job, with the children. He also did a great talk to the youth on "I Am Somebody."

We at Rising Star would like to congratulate our youth and say, "Keep up the good work."

Our services were well attended with a numerous number of visitors from the surrounding area.

Please remember to pray for our sick and shut-ins.

Kelly's Heroes

by Joe Kelly

Texas Tech came out firing last Saturday, something that the Red Raiders haven't done all season. It paid off. Maybe it was the opposition, although teams that live by the pass, like Rice, usually defense the pass better than most.

Saturday, that wasn't true. Ron Reeves returned to the form that made him a leader last season and his two early bullets turned the tide and sent the Raiders winging to a .500 season. And James Hadnot obviously enjoyed his finest game of the season with those 204 yards rushing.

For a change the Raiders turned a little more to their running back, and it paid off. After all, every team in the league knows by now that Hadnot is going to carry the ball the majority of the time. If you let your running backs have a shot at carrying, it takes the pressure off James—and makes him more effective.

Of course, with Reeves passing well, it made the offense look much better. Essentially, it was the same offense. The difference is that Tech didn't run Hadnot twice and then, on the obvious passing down, throw the ball.

Indeed, in checking the play by play, Tech threw the ball on first down five times; on second down, twice; and on the obvious passing down, the third, four times. On those third down plays, one ball was overthrown, one completed for minus two yards, one completed for 13 yards and a first down, and another completed for four yards and a first down.

All in all, you'd have to say that Tech, for the first time this season, showed some confidence in the pass as an offensive weapon and the confidence paid off. And that's what wins ball games.

Everyone knows that it was Rex Dockery who was the offensive coach under Steve Sloan. And, for two years, Tech was among the top teams in the league on offense. Steve, of course, got most of the credit, but it was Dockery who was largely responsible.

Thus, when Rex was made head coach, everyone said well, there won't be any change in the offense. Instead, there has been, for much of the season, a radical change. It bothered people, because they knew that Rex was capable.

Saturday afternoon I asked someone familiar with the situation if Rex was calling the plays. He was quick to answer no, definitely not. He didn't know for sure who was, but he thought it was Bud Casey, the offensive coordinator.

My reply was, of course, that if Rex wasn't calling the plays, he'd better take hold and start doing so. Then came the abrupt change in Tech's normal procedure for much of the season. It would appear that Rex had had it, too, and had probably suggested, rather strongly, that Tech needed a change.

It's too late for an outstanding season, a championship, or even a bowl. Right now the most probable record is .500—three wins, three losses and a tie. And, all things considered, that isn't too bad a record in Rex's second year.

As I wrote last spring, opposing teams now would know, after one season, what his philosophy was, what to expect. And most second year coaches, unless they have superior material, usually don't experience as much success in Year No. 2. Based on what he has learned this year, next season should be better.

Overlooked by a lot of people is the fact that Dockery is getting a lot of young players, including freshmen, into the games. They're not in as a unit, of course, but they are gaining valuable experience playing alongside veterans.

This is bound to help the Raiders next year. It should insure that losses won't be missed quite as much as normal. And, given a strong recruiting year, Tech ought to have a more representative squad in 1980. Top priority naturally should go to finding two or three swift running backs, as well as a Hadnot-type fullback.

Sure, I know that I said that Texas ought to beat Arkansas "handily." Under normal circumstances, the Longhorns might have done just that. Instead, they had to have been drained by the emotional game against Oklahoma and weren't as high as the Hogs, who played just hard enough to beat Tech.

I still don't think that Arkansas is the team that Texas is, but the hogs won the game that counts—at the time. How long they can stay on top is a big question. They have their work cut out for them.

In fact, Houston might well beat the Razorbacks this week in much the same situation as they beat Texas. Arkansas had to have emotionally high and may have been drained. And make no mistake, they have a toughie Saturday in Houston.

The Cougars haven't been blowing anyone out of the park and they've left the ball on the ground too much. But Bill Yoeman has a way of getting his teams ready for big games and it wouldn't surprise me to see the Coogs win—even in the hills, where the Hogs rule supreme. I'll take a chance and go with Houston.

Meanwhile, Texas hopes to bounce back, stay in contention, keep its national ranking and rate a bowl berth by playing Southern Methodist. The Mustangs have been hurt by the loss of Mike Ford and haven't been the same team since. Gone is their league title dream and a bowl berth. Also, much hope of beating UT, whom I'll pick.

They're all league games this week and the most interesting of the remaining two battles is TCI at Baylor. The Horned Frogs have won two straight. But the Bears, after Saturday, will have won three straight.

As for hapless Rice, the crippled Owls take on pathetic A&M and the Aggies, despite everything else, have more than enough to win—handily.

Pecos, Texas Pastor to Be Honored

Pecos, Texas—Rev. Lon Bailey, who is pastor of the oldest Baptist Church in this historic city of the West, will be honored for some three decades of service, Sunday, Oct. 28th at 3 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be Rev. Mr. Bob Tieucl, Jr., pastor of the Friendship C.M.E. Church of this city and staff correspondent for the West Texas Times.

Churches, choirs and pastors from throughout the Permian Basin will be present, it was reported. Those wishing to contact Rev. Bailey may do so by writing him at 717 E. 13th St. Pecos, TX 79772. He has served many years as pastor and civic leader and "A good Samaritan" as his many friends call him. He formerly held pastorates and has been engaged in business ventures in Oklahoma, Kansas and Arizona.

The Downtown Ministerial Fellowship, composed of a great majority of Pecos ministers were entertained last week in the fellowship hall of Friendship C.M.E. Church and plans were made for the city-wide Thanksgiving Program. Proceeds from the service will be used for charity which the fellowship is well known. Rev. Bailey was an honored guest.

Baptist General Convention to Meet Here

The 94th annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will meet in Lubbock Oct. 30-Nov. 1 to deal with matters of major concern to 2 million Texas Baptists and other Texans.

Messengers from many of the 4,000 Texas Baptist churches will take action on plans for helping achieve a Southern Baptist goal to reach every person on earth with the gospel of Jesus Christ by the year 2000, said BGCT president Milton Cunningham of Houston.

A major facet of the ambitious mission goal will be consideration of a proposed $34 million Cooperative Program budget for Texas Baptists' share of the worldwide mission efforts of 13 million Southern Baptists.

Other major business will include the election of a new president to succeed Dr. Cunningham who has served the maximum two terms.

More than 6,000 people are expected to pack the Lubbock Civic Center to hear "Bible Mission" challenges to help share Christ in Texas and around the world. Speakers include Cunningham, Dr. Harold C. Bennett, Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary-treasurer of the Southern Baptist Executive Committee; Dr. James H. Landes, Dallas, executive director of the BGCT; Dr. Russell H. Dilday, president of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth; Dr. Nilson Do Amaral Fanini, president of the Brazilian Baptist Convention; and Dr. William G. Tanner, executive director-treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga.

Preceding the convention will be annual meetings of Woman's Missionary Union and Texas Baptist Men on Oct. 29-30.

Water Problems Understudy

Problems of water service in the Yellowhouse Canyon addition in southeast Lubbock are still under study following a public hearing at the October 11 meeting of the City Council.

Residents of the recently annexed neighborhood complained of undependable service and high bills and asked that City water service be provided as soon as possible. The area has been served by a privately owned water system since the mid 1960s. Complaints of poor service and lack of water at many times during the year resulted in the annexation of the area earlier this year. The private water system is under the regulations of the Texas Public Utilities Commission, and the Public hearing is a step required before the Council can demand improved service by the private system or take steps to tie the neighborhood into the City's water system.

Additional information from the owner was requested by the Council. This and other studies will continue for four to six weeks before the Council can consider further action on the request for Municipal water service.

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on. The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end.

Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Ringing the Bell . . .

with Bob Tieleu

Andrew Young and the Black Experience: According to Phil Gailey, popular Anglo syndicated newsmen, many of the nation's black leaders blame Israel for young's downfall and are calling for a reassessment of U.S. policy toward the PLO. In a sermon-like speech at a ground-breaking ceremony for a new chapel at Emory University, a highly regarded Methodist college with liberal traditions, Carter praised his outgoing United Nations ambassador and urged the two ethnic groups to "look ahead with a sense of caring and concern for the nation's social fabric."

"Black Americans and Jewish Americans have worked side by side for generations in the service of human rights, social justice and the general welfare", Carter told his Emory audience. Both groups have a particular call on the conscience of each other and on the conscience of us all. Both groups have suffered too much pain, too much persecution, too much bigotry to compound that suffering in any way" added the president.

In his remarks at Emory, the president drew applause from the audience when he praised Young's contribution to U.S. diplomacy, stating "His work has helped millions of poor and oppressed people throughout the world to understand that we support their longings for justice and a better life. He speaks from the heart, out of deep commitment, out of a religious conscience and with a preacher's eloquence. The commitment to social justice and human rights that Andy Young has brought to his work as an American diplomat will continue to guide us in the months and years ahead." end of quote.

Carter made no reference to the fact that Young has publicly challenged U.S. policy in the Middle East on several occasions since his resignation.

Our thanks to Braniff Airlines for recent courtesies extended this correspondent, in order that we might spend a few days with Mom who remains a "good patient" in the Boley Nursing Home, Boley, Oklahoma 74829. In case you wish to drop her a card or letter, she is Mrs. Nodie E. Tieleu. Think we told you that several years ago, she received a beautiful plaque and other honors for having served as a faithful member of Lane Chapel C.M.E. Church in Boley for 67 years. A secret to here: We found out that Mom is nearly 90 years old and couldn't believe it. She never would let age touch her and still doesn't.

Word comes that a court appointed receiver has found another $7 million belonging to the People's Temple stashed in two banks in Panama, but claims against the ill-fated church amount to almost 2 billion. Other accounts of millions have been found in Guyana, the Caribbean, and other parts of the world. Wonder if the Rev. Jim Jones is at peace now? Or is he wondering, can he take in another million?

Recent great quotes: There will be no peace on one side until there is justice on both . . . A just and lasting peace is inextricably bound to a state for the Palestinian people and the recognition of the PLO as the government-in-exile with which our nation must negotiate. The PLO must have equal opportunity to communicate with America". End of quote from Rev. Jesse Jackson on his return from Mideast trouble zones.

Meals on Wheels Launches Fall Drive

Lubbock Meals on Wheels last week launched its fall fund and volunteer drive in order to continue serving what has totalled as many as 246 shut-in subscribers hot lunches, week-daily, according to Mary Williams, executive director of the agency.

"With every income source now being used to the fullest", Williams said, "due to inflation costs and increasing numbers of subscribers, Lubbock Meals on Wheels money needs are running about $2,000 a month behind requirements."

"We hope individuals and local organizations will again meet our financial needs," she continued.

In a recent report to the Board of Directors, headed by Marie Milliken, outgoing president, Williams reported that Lubbock Meals on Wheels served more hot meals to subscribers in August than in any other month in the 9½ year history of the organization. During that month, 5,393 meals were delivered by 147 volunteers. Prospective contributors and volunteers are asked to contact Lubbock Meals on Wheels, Inc. 2161 50th Street, Suite #107, 79412.

VA News

The Veterans Administration reminded approximately 670,000 elderly veterans that it's time to recompute their income for this year to make certain it still meets VA pension requirements.

The agency said a formal reminder of its pension income standards will be enclosed with the December pension checks.

Last year, for the first time, this group received the annual income questionnaires that are sent to more than a million other pension recipients.

But these elderly veterans who have not elected under the improved pension program will not receive the questionnaire this year.

This doesn't mean, however, that they are exempt from the income limits set by the new law. They must still report any changes in the number or status of their dependents and any income increase which causes it to exceed the limit.

These pension recipients do not need to report general rate increases in social security benefits because VA automatically records them.

Pensions are paid to wartime veterans with non-service connected disabilities who meet income limitations, and to their eligible widows and children.

Faculty-Alumni Basketball Game Planned at Prairie View A&M University

The talk, just prior to the 7:30 p.m. Thursday (October 25), tipoff in the Little Dome, may well turn to national championship basketball teams.

Not the future national championship hopes of first year coach Dr. Calvin White, but the real NAIA national championship banner hanging in the Little Dome won by the Prairie View A&M University Panthers in 1962.

Three starters and the coach of that team will don uniforms for battle Thursday night in the fourth annual Prairie View A&M University Faculty-Alumni basketball game, one of the many activities scheduled during homecoming week.

The three starters from that team set to play are Dewey McQueen, Cornell Lackey and Clarence Stubblefield.

McQueen graduated in 1964. Lackey is employed at Armo Steel Corp. in Houston and Stubblefield is basketball coach at Booker T. Washington High School in Houston.

They are just three former Prairie View A&M stars who will be in uniform that night.

The coach of the 1962 national championship team, Leroy Moore, is chairman of the physical education department at Prairie View. He compiled a 217-113 won-loss record as Prairie View basketball coach from 1956 to 1969 winning the Southwestern Athletic Conference championship in 1960, 1961 and 1962 and the NAIA title in 1962.

McQueen and Lackey were All Americans, as well as Guy Manning and Clarence Bolden, who are also set to participate Thursday night.

The faculty, which has won just one of the three previous tilts won't be without former college basketball players.

Carl Settles, an All District performer for Prairie View in 1970, will be on the faculty team as well as assistant football coach J.C. Williams, an all conference performer in high school.

Admission to the game will be free to the public.

Read It And Weep — A Short History of the Modern Car:

Dollars aren't the only things shrinking these days; so are cars. Just a few years ago most of us were happily roaring down the highway in Belch-fire 999's and other monsters. At the start of 1972 gas cost only 36 cents a gallon, and fewer than 30 percent of all new cars were classified as "small." Today, with gas nudging a dollar a gallon, almost two out of every three new cars are compacts or subcompacts. Call 'em "OPEC Specials . . ."

A commuter can save up to $650 a year on a 20 mile daily roundtrip by carpooling, says a study released by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"What's the legal standard of drunk driving in Texas?" — A.A., San Antonio

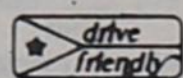

Under Texas law you are presumed drunk if your blood alcohol content is one-tenth of one percent or more. It all depends on your size, whether you've eaten, etc. But a 120 pound woman will probably reach that level after only two mixed drinks in one hour. Three to five drinks in two hours will probably do it for most folks. Traffic safety officials point out that any amount of alcohol reduces your concentration and reflex time . . . so be careful . . .

It takes your eyes up to 20 minutes to readjust to night driving conditions after being in a brightly lit house or restaurant.

1767 — The Invention of the Automobile: Nicholas Cugnot, a French artillery officer, is usually credited with making the world's first wheeled carriage which moved itself without the aid of animal or human muscles, gravity or wind. Cugnot built a three wheeled carriage powered by steam engine. He hoped it would pull cannons for the French Army; but alas, the Cugnotmobile left the road the first time it tried to take a curve at its top speed of three mph.

Experts estimate that three out of every four highway accident fatalities are caused by driver error, with excessive speed and drinking being the most common fatal mistakes.

Concert Series Set at First Methodist

"King David", a symphonic Psalm, will be presented as the first of this season's Vesper Concert Series at First Methodist Church on Sunday evening, November 4th. The work will feature the 80-voice Chancel Choir of the church with soloists and instrumentalists. The performance will be at 7:00 p.m. in the Sanctuary of the church and the public is cordially invited to attend. A free-will offering will be received.

The story of the life of King David has been set to music by the contemporary French composer Arthur Honegger. Beginning with David's life as a shepherd boy, the story includes the slaying of Goliath, David's conflict with Saul, and David's eventual crowning as King. Told in dramatic narrative form, this presentation will feature Harlan Reddell as the Narrator and Ann Alford as the Witch of Endor.

Featured soloists will be Jeff Bennett, son of Dr. and Mrs. Mike Bennett, as the Boy Soprano. The tenor soloist will be John Priddy and the mezzo-soprano parts will be sung by Cindy Garrett. The part of the Angel will be sung by Helen Dewey Reikofski. Gordon McMillan, Organist-Choirmaster of the church will conduct the work which will be accompanied by Clinton Barrick, organist, and Myra McNeil, pianist. Other instrumentalists include Rhonda Smith, Eric Schmidt, David Fortenberry, Cindy Davis, Laura Richards, and David Thompson. One of the major sections of the work is titled "The Dance Before the Ark". In this section, according to the Scripture, "David played before the Lord and danced before the ark". Featured as a solo dancer will be Richard Ayers. Choreography for his dance is by the prominent Lubbock ballet instructor, Suzanne Aker.

Future events which will be included in First Methodist's Vesper Series include the Brahms' "Requiem", Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus" and a performance by the world-famous Roger Wagner Chorale. For further information on the Nov. 4th performance of "King David" or for any information on the rest of the series, phone the church music office at 763-4607.

Defining Free Enterprise

Inflation at the gas pump? Inflation in the classroom? Can it be taught to 8th grade social studies students?

Proof is in the offering in Richard Molina's social studies class at Matthews Junior High.

Students are learning about the free enterprise system by economic definitions demonstrated by collage. The presentation of the definition is given by the teacher who explains the problem of limited resources vs. unlimited wants.

The collage is made in the classroom by the students based on the economic definitions.

In one instance, the collage is used to demonstrate the scarce resource of oil from O.P.E.C. which sets its own price and directly affects the price of gas at our gas pump.

Students are encouraged to be creative in finding their own ideas and developing them. Also the idea involves parent participation. The technique used in the classroom was videotaped for parent viewing at the Matthews Junior High School open house Tuesday evening October 16.

The videotape will be kept for repeated showing to classes at Matthews Junior High and shared with city wide teachers at in-service meetings.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

It's opera time again in the city! Eagerly anticipated is the Thursday night opening performance of the Texas Tech Music Theatre-Civic Lubbock, Inc. - Lubbock Civic Ballet jointly sponsored production of the celebrated and greatly loved "Faust." It will be performed at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Civic Center Theatre. Tickets are in three price ranges and are on sale for all performances at the Civic Center box office.

The opera by Gounod, based on the Goethe tale, will be sung in English. It is the classic legend of a man who sells his soul to the Devil for the return of his youth and the love of a pure and innocent young girl. The drama of redemption and damnation is set to soaring melodies which underscore beautifully the age-old conflicts between good and evil. In the tradition of French opera, the work also features extensive ballet and other dance sequences.

The production is under the direction of John Gillas, with Phillip Lehrman conducting the Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra, Kyung Wook Shin the chorus director and Neil Hess the choreographer of the Lubbock Civic Ballet.

It has been announced that two unusual additions to previously announced double castings for the production will be the appearance of Director John Gillas in the role of the aged Faust and the singing of the role of Marguerite's brother, the doomed Valentin, by Gershon Silins of Chicago. He has made major appearances in Chicago and on the Eastern seaboard and was an apprentice at Santa Fe Opera in 1973-74. He will be a member of the Western Opera Theatre in 1980.

Two distinguished young dancers will also appear as guest artists in the lavish production. They are Elizabeth Nesi and Mark Lanham who will highlight the ballet portions of the melodic piece.

"Faust," while it has been dormant in the repertory of the house for a number of years now, was nonetheless the work chosen for the inaugural production when the famed Metropolitan Opera House opened in New York on October 22, 1883.

While the double casting is a lengthy one precluding the listing of all the names in this short space, it is noted that three singing parts will be in the hands of skilled performers for all three nights. The include Gillas as Old Faust, Terry Cook, long a favorite locally, as the diabolic Mephistopheles, and Robin Rice in the role of Wagner.

Included in the local production will be the famous Act IV ballet sequence wherein Mephistopheles presents for Faust's entertainment famous beauties of history including Cleopatra and Helen of Troy.

Another stage presentation sure to garner more than passing attention is the first-in-a-very-long-time booking of a touring legitimate theater roadshow production. It is "Eubie!" which has been penciled in for the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium for one performance only on Nov. 7, at 8:15 p.m.

"Eubie!" is a music and dance retrospective of the career of famed jazz musician-composer and has just closed a more than year's run at the Ambassador Theater in New York City, playing 439 performances to critical and audience enthusiasm.

Ticket information can be had by calling 742-3621. Well, the buses ran on time, they stopped, and so the column this week did manage to make it back to the movie houses. I wailed last week that a "no-show" bus cost me a plan to review "10", the Dudley Moore-Julie Andrews starrer at the Fox Four-plex out on West 19th St. and so had intended to catch it this time, heaven willing.

But, in the meantime, the same theatre complex booked in the new Al Pacino release, "... And Justice For All" and where Pacino is concerned, I'm a goner. I have been a Pacino fan from the very beginning down through "Godfather I-II" through the brilliant "Serpico" and so, this week, there was no contest. I think Pacino is a gifted and shining light both on stage and screen and one of these days he's going to wind up with that gold statuette, mark my words.

"... And Justice For All" is a Norman Jewison produced and directed film that treats today's legal and courtroom problems in a "slice of life" approach. Jewison, whose approach to films is canny and astute, a craftsman, has his own way of treating his subjects, yet sometimes his thinking is puzzling to many. His treatment of "Fiddler on the Roof," due for a revival in the next couple of weeks, left a great deal of dissatisfaction in the translation to the screen both in direction and casting to those who had seen the original stage versions. His track record, however, over the years has been stable, and often even brilliant.

What Jewison tells here is the story of Arthur Kirkland, idealistic and forceful for purity in justice, even after 12 years of practice as a lawyer. He despises corruption and is determined to combat it at every turn. And he puts forth his most energetic powers to do so. Jewison has attempted to interlace his plotting with both serious drama and comedic sequences which come out reasonably well.

He has us one moment deeply involved with Pacino's concern over a tragic transitive caught up in a robbery charge and the next minute intrigued with a courtroom brawl which is dispelled by an elderly judge firing off a pistol to gain order. He shows us the gradual crack-up mentally of a Pacino partner under stress and then cavorts over the skies of Manhattan in a helicopter with the pistol-packing judge at the controls scaring the bejesus out of a terrified Pacino on a routine aerial romp. He narrows down his aim to concentrate on a distinguished, unrelenting jurist who is charged with the brutal beating and rape of a young woman, which ultimately brings the accumulation to a head in a dramatic and gutty end.

The film-maker Jewison can thank his lucky stars that he has Al Pacino in the pivotal role. It is Pacino's thoughtful, angry, even comedic performance that nails this piece together and makes it all plausible and authoritative. Pacino's sidelong thoughtful gazings, his undercurrent of sincerity and boyishness serve him well and we become concerned with him and his goals. He plays, as always, beautifully and his work is a joy to behold.

Jewison is lucky, too, in the woman's role for he brings, in her movie debut, a bright, intelligent and fresh talent in Christine Lahti, playing Pacino's lawyer/girl friend. The two mesh together warmly and provocatively; she is superb.

The producer-director also buttressed his star with some fine character talent. Jack Warden is fine as Judge Rayford; John Forsythe is strong and obnoxious as Judge Fleming; Lee Strasberg as the senile Grandpa Sam is touching and vibrantly warm. Jeffrey Tambor is distinctive and memorable as Pacino's law partner who cracks under the strain of it all.

"... And Justice For All" has a lot going for it and most of all Al Pacino. I think you'll find it engrossing and in many ways compelling.

DO YOUR KIDS HAVE A HIGHER E.Q. THAN YOU?

(Economics Quotient)

They might. Take this quick quiz and rate yourself.

True False

- (1.) One cause of inflation is when consumers, business and government spend too heavily on available goods and services.
- (2.) Since 1960, the U.S. has had the highest productivity growth rate in manufacturing of leading free world industrial nations.
- (3.) The value of all U.S. goods and services produced in one year is called the Gross National Product (GNP).
- (4.) If you have a savings account, own stock, bonds or life insurance, or are in a pension fund, you are an investor in the U.S. economy.

Did our little E.Q. quiz stump you? Your kids probably would have breezed through it. But don't feel too bad. Most people don't know even basic facts and figures about our American Economic System. In short, a lot of Economics Quotients, E.Qs., could stand improvement.

It's important. Not just because we all face some important decisions about our economic system. But because the more you know about our system, the more you'll be able to make it work for you.

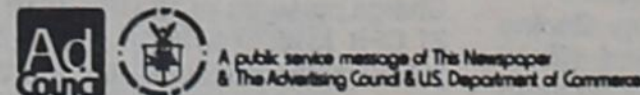

A special booklet has been prepared to help you learn more about what makes our American Economic System tick. It's fact-filled, easy reading and free. It's also an easy way to raise your E.Q..
