REDS RALLY TO CHECK NAZI DRIVE

Japs Will Not Give In, Warns Joseph Grew

Former Ambassador Says They're Tougher Than Nazis SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—Describing Japan as our most formidable enemy, far tougher than Germany, former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew told a war rally luncheon here today that the Germans cracked in 1918 and will crack again, but the Japanese will fight until they are utterly crushed.

Grew, who was an American diplomat in Berlin in 1917 and American ambassador to Tokyo in 1941, indicated he was profoundly shocked to hear people in this country talk as if Germany in time would be defeated "and then we'll mop up the Japs."

He agreed with those who believe German morale will not survive a series of setbacks. But he added, in a prepared speech broadcast over the NBC network: "The Japanese will not crack. They will not crack morally or psychologically or economically, even when eventual defeat stares them in the face. . . . Only by utter physical destruction or utter exhaustion of their men and materials can they be defeated."

"That," he said, "is the difference between the Germans and the Japanese. That is what we are up against in fighting Japan. It is difficult for Americans who have never lived in Japan, Grew continued, to form any conception of the overwhelming confidence of the Japanese army and navy in their ability to subjugate not only large areas of Asia but of the western hemisphere, too."

He made no prediction as to how many years might be necessary to achieve victory over Japan, but emphasized that it could be brought about only "by determined aggressive action by the United Nations."

Guard Called In Squabble At Shipyard

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 18 (AP)—Alabama state guardsmen were called out here today as operations at the Pinto Island shipbuilding plant of the Alabama Dry Dock and Shipbuilding company, were sharply curtailed by a dispute over free ferry service from the city to the yard.

Free ferry service, formerly provided by the company, was replaced yesterday by city ferries charging five-cent tolls each way. Mass demonstrations were put on by shipyard workers, who demanded that free service be continued.

Numerous disorders were reported, including the throwing of one worker into the Mobile river. Guardsmen called out by Gov. Frank Dixon patrolled the city hall, the courthouse and the area about the shipyard today.

Japanese Bases At Buna And Rabaul Are Blasted

By The Associated Press Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported today that American fighter planes sent 35,000 rounds of cannon and machine-gun fire crashing into the Japanese supply base at Buna, New Guinea, while United Nations heavy bombers set fires visible 30 miles in an assault on Rabaul, New Britain.

Buna is the main base of supplies for Japanese troops driving across the towering Owen Stanley mountains toward Port Moresby, a key Allied outpost for the defense of Australia.

In still another attack, Allied fliers bombed the enemy base at Gasmata, New Britain, with unobserved results. A United Nations communiqué said the attack on Buna destroyed or damaged 15 enemy landing barges and left supply dumps in flames.

Coupled with these aerial blows at Japan's striking power, the navy in Washington announced that U. S. submarines had destroyed four more ships and registered torpedo hits on four others in the campaign against Japan's far-drawn supply lines in the western Pacific.

The new attacks raised to 107 the total of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American under-seas craft since Pearl Harbor, and made a grand total of 258 Japanese ships destroyed or damaged by all action, compared with 83 United States ships lost or damaged.

The scene of the U. S. submarines' latest successes was not disclosed, but presumably centered around Japan's home waters. The navy said the operations were unrelated to the continuing campaigns in the Solomon and Aleutian islands.

On the New Guinea fighting front, dispatches said both sides were busily maneuvering for position, with the Japanese still stalled at a 3,000-foot ridge at Ioribaiva, 22 miles inland from Port Moresby.

An Allied spokesman said the toll was expected to be short-lived, and Australian troops were reported countering Japanese tactics with their own flanking and infiltration movements.

Typical of the sporadic fighting which replaced the heavier combat was one jungle skirmish in which the Australians said they killed at least 40 Japanese and forced the remaining members of the enemy units to flee. There were no Australian losses.

The American airmen pounded Buna for 45 minutes, one of the attackers sweeping so low that his plane clipped off the top of a palm tree and gouged a large section from a wing but the pilot brought his plane home safely.

The returning pilots said they started fires which sent flame and smoke swirling up 2,000 feet in this attack, which followed a 26-ton Allied bomb attack last Saturday on the Japanese air base at Buna.

Powers Fixed On Rubber Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt issued an executive order today formally authorizing Chairman Donald Nelson of the war production board to assume full responsibility for the nation's rubber program and defining the powers of Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers.

Jeffers, working under Nelson, is empowered to direct the rubber reserve company and other subsidiaries of the RFC, the office of petroleum coordination, the board of economic warfare, the office of defense transportation, the office of price administration, the department of agriculture, and other agencies to execute his order.

Full compliance shall be accorded such directives by the federal agencies concerned, the order read. It specified that the office of petroleum coordination headed by Interior Secretary Ickes, under direction of the rubber director, shall conduct development research in the production of butadiene from petroleum and natural gas products and recommend new production methods.

The petroleum coordinator also was authorized to supervise, upon completion of construction, the operation of plants producing synthetic rubber, raw materials made from petroleum and natural gas products.

The rubber reserve company, also under Jeffers, would supervise construction of all plants under the rubber program.

To make certain that the carrying out of the rubber program as recommended by the Baruch committee does not infringe on the powers of the office of price administration, the order declared that "nothing herein shall be construed to limit the powers conferred upon the price administrator by the 1942 price control act."

New Force On Madagascar

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—A strong British force has landed on the east coast of Madagascar and occupied the port of Tamatave after some French resistance, the British East African command announced today.

Tamatave is 130 miles northeast of Tananarive, the island's inland capital, and the first British beach head on the east coast. The new landing came after the French colony had turned down British terms for an armistice.

British forces marching on Tananarive from the west coast landings have pressed south of Andriba, about 100 miles north-east of the colonial capital, after fighting "successful engagements with the French forces," the communiqué said.

Berlin Quiet About Latest Developments

Fresh Troops From Siberia Reported Moving In

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press War Editor Adolf Hitler's siege armies, twice hurled back in bloody street fighting, were reported hastily erecting defenses in the northwest outskirts of Stalingrad today as the Russians seized the initiative in a dramatic eleventh-hour rally.

Dispatches said the Red army defenders were backed down, tree-lined avenues to cliffs overlooking the Volga waterfront at one time.

Then, with the bluffs behind them and Nazi tanks in front, the Soviets struck back in a supreme effort to save the big steel city and forced the invaders to retreat.

Significantly, Hitler's field headquarters made only the broad general claim that Nazi troops had scored "further successes" in the battle for Stalingrad and again emphasized the "ambivalent" nature of the fighting.

There was no repetition of previous Berlin claims that German troops were thrusting deeper into the city's streets.

Advices from Moscow said Russian tanks and infantry had gone over to the offensive in two neighboring sectors of the Stalingrad front on orders from Premier Stalin's high command, and Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported that thousands of fresh Siberian troops were now moving into the 25-day-old battle.

The bodies of hundreds of German dead and the hulks of burned-out Nazi tanks littered the streets, dispatches said, as the Russians obeyed Stalin's order and swept the Nazi tide back to the north.

While Berlin remained silent on a previously trumpeted "special announcement from Hitler's headquarters," which failed to materialize on schedule last night, the Soviet command announced at midday: "On the northwest outskirts of Stalingrad, our troops repulsed enemy tank and infantry thrusts. Artillerymen destroyed 13 German tanks and wiped out two infantry companies."

"In another sector, two battalions of enemy infantry broke into one of the streets of the city but were met with concentrated machine-gun and automatic rifle fire. In hand-to-hand fighting which followed, the Germans were routed and forced to retreat, losing about 500 killed and wounded."

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the retreating Germans hurriedly set up anti-tank obstacles and firing points to block the Russian counter-offensive after they had been driven back, often at bayonet point, yard by yard and house by house.

A single Russian detachment fighting behind ruined brick walls was credited with slaughtering 200 Nazi troops and wrecking seven tanks.

Overhead, waves of 80 to 100 German bombers continued to lay waste sections of the battle-scarred Volga metropolis, but 19 were reported shot down by Soviet anti-aircraft gunners and out-numbered Russian fighters.

RAF Planes Hit Coastal Points

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—While the weather shielded Germany proper from air attack last night, planes of the RAF's coastal command bombed docks at Bordeaux, German-held port and submarine base of southern France on the Bay of Biscay. Preceding the assault brighteners of the same command, on patrol over the Bay of Biscay yesterday, destroyed three enemy bombers and lost one of their own number, the air ministry communiqué said. Considerable damage and some casualties were reported from Britain's own coast when at least four Nazi planes strafed a south-west port with bombs and machine-gun fire on a daylight sweep.

Downtown Stroller

HOWARD SMITH and EDWIN DEMPSEY left Wednesday for Fort Worth and Dallas where they will visit for a few days before going on to College Station where they will enroll at A. & M. college. Sort of a last fling at fun before settling down to school work we guess.

Mrs. CHESTER WILEY has received word from her husband that he and DAVE TOBOLOWSKY, who both enlisted in the army here at the same time, are still together at Greenville where they will receive their basic training.

The first fall entertainment of the Country club got off to a good start last night with a dance at the clubhouse. You could certainly tell the army had moved to town by the number of uniforms in evidence. Maybe the newcomers weren't thrilled over an orchestra at the dance but the local folks were.

Met Mrs. M. F. ROSSKOFF and her son, PETER, who have just recently moved here and are looking for a place to stay right now. So far Mrs. ROSSKOFF has had no luck, she says. Big Spring seems to be resembling the capitol for lack of houses.

Yesterday was a busy day for Mrs. MATT HARRINGTON. Since her husband has gone to Lubbock for air flight training, she moved from her home to Mrs. CURTIS DRIVER'S home. That would keep anybody busy but in addition she started on a new job in the afternoon too.

Mrs. Eason, who was Miss Maud Martin before her marriage, was 21 years old when they were married in Abilene by a Methodist pastor, the Rev. Strickling. In Mrs. Eason's words, she was the happiest bride ever and is still feeling that way over her marriage 49 years later.

B'mont Grabs First Game From Sports

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 18. (AP)—With plenty of the power that has kept them at the top of the Texas league all season, the Beaumont Exporters were one up on the Shreveport Sports today by virtue of a 7-6 victory in the first of the seven-game final playoff.

The winner of the series will meet the victors in the Little Rock-Nashville playoff in the Southern Association.

Before a comparatively small crowd of 5,000 last night, the Sports unleashed a desperate ninth-inning attack on the Beaumonters, who led 7-4. The Sports pushed over two runs. Then Bronkhurst, sent in to bat for Theo Eoeman with the bases filled, struck out to end the game.

The Shreveport offense netted a total of 16 blows to 13 for Beaumont, but the Sports made seven bobbles. The Shippers hit when they needed to, and their attack was helped by Wakefield, who got two doubles; Wessing and Taback, who each annexed a double, and Evers, who banged out a three-bagger.

Vernon Washington did everything he could to win the contest singlehanded for Shreveport, getting a home run, a double and a single, batting in four runs and scoring once.

The loss was chalked up to Southpaw J. Benson Brillheart. Bill Clark, sent in for Earl Cook, was the winning moundman.

Two Tilts On Southwestern Calendar

By The Associated Press
The Southwest conference opens its second wartime football season tomorrow and appropriately enough service teams will figure in each of two games scheduled.

Also, appropriately enough, the same team that won the championship that first war season—in 1917—is favored to take the title this time.

That would be Texas A. and M., which will not be playing this week but will be watching closely the efforts of a University of Texas team that is expected to give the Aggies their chief opposition as they battle for their third championship in four years.

The schedule:

Texas vs. Corpus Christi Naval Air Station at Austin.

Baylor vs. Waco Army Flying School at Waco (night).

Both conference teams are favored to win but in the case of Texas quite a struggle is forecast for Memorial Stadium in Austin.

Marty Karow, who went from Texas A. and M. to become head coach of the Naval Air Station squad, has former college stars from all over the country at his command headed by George Franck, who was all-America at Minnesota.

All conference members will swing into action next week with A. and M. playing L. S. U. at Baton Rouge, Rice engaging Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Southern Methodist playing North Texas State, Texas Christian meeting U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles, Arkansas entertaining Wichita university, Baylor playing Hardin-Simmons and Texas clashing with Kansas State.

More U. S. Soldiers Arrive In Britain

LONDON, Sept. 18. (AP)—Thousands of American troops arrived in Britain recently to swell the ranks of the rapidly expanding United States army in this country waiting for the opening of a second front.

While they have been whisked away to camps already, announcement of their arrival was not permitted until today.

The arrivals consisted mainly of fighting men and anti-aircraft and transport units. There were also hundreds of army technical experts and some army air force personnel.

Dodgers Look Nothing Like Champions

By SID FEDER
Well, children, it looks like you can patch up what's left of the fires on the family bus and head for old St. Loo for your World Series fun, and from what's been going on here lately it is no longer so much the Cardinals winning as the Dodgers losing the National League flag.

For, if ever a club looked like it had folded up, the Dodgers from Flatbush did just that yesterday in dropping a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates for their sixth setback in seven games.

What made the Bums seem all the more pathetic was the way the Cards kept right on fighting in Boston and finally won out 6-4 with a five-run blast in the ninth, to go three games in front in the pennant parade.

At the same instant as the guys from St. Louis were finally getting to Al Javery—after being muffled with five hits for eight frames—three Dodgers were walking meekly up to the plate at Ebbets Field for their ninth-inning "ticks" and being retired in order with no more fight than you'll find in a slightly dead chicken.

What's more, needing only one run to tie, Leo the Lip Durocher hardly looked the part of the great master mind in letting Fitcher Max Macon bat for himself to start the inning off. Up to that point, Max hadn't hit a ball out of the infield all afternoon, and he kept his record intact by popping to the catcher.

The net result of these proceedings was to put the Cards in a spot where only a major catastrophe, like the fall of the Bank of England or if Joe Louis should lose his appetite for friend chicken, can keep the Redbirds out of the senior circuit championship.

At the moment, as the Cards headed west to pick up against the Cubs Saturday and the Dodgers tangled with the Phillies today, here was the picture:

Cardinals	W	L	play
Dodgers	95	49	10

With the hot National League shindig still just about the whole show, the chief supporting features of the day saw the New York Yankees win their 100th ball game and Tex Hugenloft win the select "20-game-winners" pitching set.

Joe Dimaggio's 30th homer of the season, good for three runs, was the big show for the Yankees as they knocked off the Detroit Tigers.

Hugenloft became the first 20-game winner for the Boston Red Sox since the hey-day of Wesley, the Cheek Ferrill. Tex spread nine hits among the St. Louis Browns and galloped off with a 5-1 decision.

The pitching job of the afternoon came out of the Philadelphia Athletics. Young Roger Wolff had Jimmy Dykes moaning in agony as he handcuffed the Chicago White Sox with just two strikes for a 1-0 victory.

Out in Cleveland, Sid Hudson arrived on the scene in the 11th inning for the Senators just in time to walk home the winning run that gave the Indians a 6 to 5 ball game.

The New York Giants won 11-1 over the Cincinnati Reds; and the Chicago Cubs felled the Phillies 8-0 behind Hank Wyse's eight-hit whitewashing job.

Move To Revoke Citizenship Of Rice Professor

HOUSTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—The revocation of a naturalization certificate issued to Henric Carl Ernst Martin Meyer, professor of German at Rice Institute, was requested in a government petition filed in federal district court yesterday.

The petition, filed with Hal V. Watts, federal district court clerk, asked that Meyer "be forever restrained and enjoined from claiming any right, privilege, benefit or advantage whatsoever" as a citizen.

Meyer was declared in the petition to have procured the naturalization certificate fraudulently and illegally, and for the purpose of obtaining the rights and privileges and protection of American citizenship without intending to assume the duties thereof.

Meyer came to the United States from Bremen, Germany, and became a Houston resident in 1930. He was employed by Rice Institute the same year.

Meyer declined to comment on the government action.

RAID PROTESTED
MOSCOW, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it had protested to Bulgaria—axis-allied but neutral in the German-Russian war—against a "hoiigan raid" by Bulgarian police on the Soviet consulate at the Black Sea port of Varna, during which the building was ransacked and cash stolen.

THE COMETS
CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 18. (AP)—The naval air station football team here will be known as the Comets.

The name was selected in a contest conducted by the station newspaper.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. — One thing that has horse-race fans puzzled about the Whirlaway-Alsib match race tomorrow is who's going to be pace setter? . . . Both Gene gates—big pardon, equine aristocrats—like to come from behind to win and unless one jockey is willing to take a chance on getting a licking by setting the pace, the affair is liable to be about as exciting as that great mile race a few years back when Cunningham, Venke and Mcnint did everything but run backwards to keep from taking the lead.

When the Norfolk naval air station baseball team visited Jarratt, Va., the home team lined up something like this: B. Rideout, ss; L. Rideout, 1b; M. Rideout, cf; D. Poole, 2b; J. Poole, c; H. Poole, if; D. Barnes, 3b; F. Barnes, rf, and L. Barnes, p. . . . When a guy named Bolster came in as relief pitcher the sailors threatened an investigation until they learned he was a nephew of one of the others.

The Albert Lea, Minn., Tribune headlined a Minnesota football story: "Old timers look good; rest of Gophers like amateurs." . . . Which, Dr. L. R. Prins comments cynically, bears out the suspicions of a lot of Monday morning quarterbacks. . . . When somebody congratulated Turk Edwards on a nifty after-dinner speech, Turk came back: "Even a big, dumb tackle ought to be able to talk after working eleven years for George Marshall."

Camp Hood Opened Formally Today

TEMPLE, Sept. 18. (AP)—War with the latest technological refinements was brought home realistically to thousands of spectators who assembled today in this rugged central Texas country for ceremonies dedicating Camp Hood.

The latest tank-hunting technique was unveiled at exercises highlighted with an address by Undersecretary of War Robert F. Johnson scheduled for 1:45 p. m.

Spectators will watch from temporary stands a group of hardened troops while they exhibited newly-learned methods of seeking out and destroying enemy tanks.

Although several battalions of tank destroyer troops have been trained at the camp during the summer and graduated to sterner tasks, the original cautious construction has just been finished.

Heading the list of military hosts were Brig Gen. A. D. Bruce, commanding general of the tank destroyer center; Col. Charles M. Thirkield, commanding officer of Camp Hood, and Lieut. Col. G. R. Tyler, army area engineer in charge of the camp's construction.

Texas Fem Fliers Plan War Program

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—Texas women fliers will meet here Oct. 2-4 to draft a plan for more extensive use of their flying experience in the war program.

"The Texas chapter of the 99 club and the Texas Wing of Women Fliers already have combined their resources to launch an educational campaign among their own members to prepare them to take over non-combatant flight duties which would leave their brother pilots free for active combat service," Mrs. Abbie Haddaway of Fort Worth, Texas, chairman of the 99s, explained.

Biblemen To Show Strength In First Game Tomorrow

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (AP)—Dana X. Bible parades his sixth edition of Texas Longhorns before Southwest conference fandom tomorrow and it should answer just about every question.

The orange and White plays its earliest game in years, meeting ambitious Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, a veteran outfit that has definite designs on the powers of Southwestern football.

Texas has been established as co-leader with Texas A. and M. in the battle for a championship that eluded the greatest Longhorn team of them all in 1941.

The game should definitely show whether the Longhorns deserve such a ranking.

It's true that Texas has more lettermen than any other member of the conference.

It's true that those guys played about as much football last season as the Longhorn eleven that for a time was rated No. 1 in the nation.

But, says Coach Bible, that doesn't mean the squad drips with experience, versatility and power.

"It must be considered," he said, "that those boys went into the game after my first team had beaten the opposition down. It's easier to go when your opponent is groggy, you know."

This disputes the claim that Texas should be the conference favorite but Bible certainly did not intend to say his team wouldn't win it.

"Any team that beats them will have to be a good team," he said firmly.

Good Arguments Against Gas Rationing--But We're At War

There are some facts in relation to gasoline rationing that are absolutely unassailable. To mention a few: Texas has enough gasoline to float the navies of the world. There's a refinery in almost every county. Texas has adequate transport facilities to distribute this gasoline to filling stations. Texas depends in large measure on the gasoline and oil tax to run its state government, its schools, its eleemosynary institutions. Take away this tax money, or deplete it seriously, and you play hob with the state's ability to keep normal peacetime agencies functioning. It is also true that most Texans have reduced speed and cut down on consumption of gasoline, voluntarily, these past few months. Nobody disputes these facts, so far as we know. But the truth remains that civilians are using up rubber at a rapid rate, and that there is no hope of replacing this rubber insofar as civilians are concerned for the duration of the war. If we wear out our present tires in 12 or 24 months, all highway traffic will cease. That would be ten times worse than limiting driving to 100 miles a week, wouldn't it? People who think their tires will deteriorate unless they use them are mistaken. Tires used to crack and fall to pieces from non-use, but about ten years ago the manufacturers started using a process which makes rubber time-resisting. It's wear that gets 'em, not time. If a motorist reduces his driving to a minimum he may prolong the life of his tires for one to five years, still having the use of his car for necessary purposes all the while. Gasoline rationing is a means to an end. It should be called mileage rationing or use-of-rubber rationing. Certainly gasoline rationing in Texas cannot be justified on the ground of gasoline shortage. The real shortage is in rubber, which nobody can deny. Of course it's going to hurt, and hurt a lot, this limiting the amount of driving an individual may do by limiting the amount of gasoline he can buy. But it isn't as bad as it seems, for the simple reason that by prolonging the life of civilian tires now we can keep cars operating from one to five years, whereas unutilized, unrestricted use now would immobilize every car in the country in from one to two years. A little business over the years is far better than no business at all, isn't it? One supreme fact outweighs all others: This nation is fighting for its life, and whatever it takes to win the war is justified and worthwhile.

No Script After Lunts Rehearse For Two Weeks

Man About Manhattan-- but never until now has that 108 acres been put to unusual use. It was Alexander Woolcott on one of his visits to the Lunts who said he thought a real contribution to the war might be made if those acres were made to produce something, and Lunt, at considerable initial expense for tractors, etc., went right to work. They say now Woolcott was right, and the farm is really producing. As for the Lunts themselves, it will only be a short while now before they are appearing in "The Pirate," which is sure to be a noisy package of cheer and good acting. But before Broadway gets "The Pirate" it will have its world premiere at Madison, Wis. Lunt's warm feeling for the university and the people of Madison accounts for this western trek. Once before he premiered one of his shows there, and he always plays Madison on his tours. You have heard much in the past of that farm at Genesee Depot, Wis., owned by the Lunts,

Washington Daybook-- CAP Providing Reality In Many 'Air Raid Warnings'

WASHINGTON--The air raid drills are getting a little motonous in many cities. Almost any honest civilian defense official will tell you that that is one of the commonest complaints he hears. But from now on, it's a complaint that will be heard much less often in many sections. The Civil Air Patrol is providing the "kicker" that takes all the dullness out of them. Details of the "bombing" of Worcester and Birmingham now are being spread on the record here by Maj. Earle L. Johnson, national commander of the CAP, and under his direction plans are being perfected for giving other strategic cities a taste of what they might expect if the enemy got tough with long range bombers. In Birmingham, 50 CAP planes of the Alabama Wing, loaded with bags of sawdust bombs (the CAP used two-pound sacks of flour in the first experiments but after they had knocked a few civilians on the noggin, they switched to sawdust) descended on the city from all directions. No Flying Fortress raid on Germany or Japan could have been piloted, working from gridded maps, pilot, working from gridded maps, and his objective and the red sacks (for incendiaries) and the yellow sacks (for demolition bombs) had rained on Birmingham but no doubt in the minds of the public and civilian defense workers alike that it could happen here.

Bridge

War plants were wrecked. The homes of workers were blasted in a sawdust shower. One big apartment building was blown half away and rescue crews evacuated the "dead" and "wounded." Ambulances rushed the latter to first aid stations and hospitals. Fire fighting crews battled the "incendiaries." And according to reports, Birmingham and Worcester got a taste of what it might be like. It's one thing--in a blackout--to turn out the lights and go to bed and forget about it. It's quite another to see a yellow bag hurtling into your front yard and realize that if that were a bomb, it would mean an end of life for you and yours. It's something else, too, to have a red "incendiary" thud on the roof and realize that if it were real, only your own training and the speedy action of the fire fighters in your neighborhood could save your home from the ash heap. These simulated bombings of strategic cities in the coastal and border areas are just a little sideline of Civil Air Patrol has worked up in its nose too spare time. Officials here think now that they may prove a more valuable stimulus to air raid defense than anything that has been devised.

A Promise for Tomorrow

Chapter Three "WATER'S FINE" After the first awful moment, Julie recovered herself and managed to wave carelessly. "There's Pete Fowler," she said with what she hoped sounded like casualness. But inside she heard her other self offering any price to buy back that moment. To have Pete see her accepting Bart's kisses! It seemed cheap, and silly. "Elyah, Pete," Bart shouted. "Come on in. Water's fine." They both watched Pete make his way toward them through the jubilant guests. His limp was more noticeable than usual, Julie's trained mind observed instantly. He looked tired, strained. "What'll you have, guy?" Bart slapped an arm across Pete's shoulders, raising some six inches higher than his own. "Scotch with your soda?" Pete shook his head. "Soda without the Scotch. No minor vices, you know," he grinned, but his eyes didn't change. "Here's happy days," Pete toasted now with his soda water. As she put down her own empty glass, Julie marvelled again that Pete, with all his dreams shattered around him, could hold so steadfastly to his ideal. Not every man would have grieved so for a lost opportunity to risk his life. But that was Pete. Being grounded, he was more conscious than before of the floridous thrill of flight. "Surprised to see you out without your stethoscope, Doc," Pete said with a smile that masked the sharpness for all but Julie. Came the Dawn Memory of their recent sharp quarrel flicked more color into Julie's cheeks but she kept her smile steady. "Oh there's lots to learn about hearts that you can't hear through a stethoscope, you know." "Really? I wouldn't know about that," Pete said levelly. "But Bart here--that's his meat." And grinning, ducked Bart's mocking upper-cut. "You're darned right," Bart agreed. "Anything Julie learns about cardiac action from now on, she learns from me. Don't you, sweet?" "Pete! Pete, darling! I didn't know you'd arrived. Why didn't someone tell me." Julie turned in time to catch the full radiation of Dawn's welcome. Julie had reason to remember that moment long afterward. But now, she had difficulty keeping back a giggle, waiting for Pete's inevitable smart crack. He looked affectionate, anything that a snatched of exaggeration. But the laughter died in her throat as she watched Pete move toward Dawn now. His real smile came to life. Even his voice sounded deeper. "Hello, Dawn." He took her hands in the same spirit that they were offered -- like a precious, fragile treasure had been entrusted with. Dawn led him away almost immediately. Led him, Julie's thoughts echoed themselves, was exactly right. Tears for Julie From a safe distance, Julie watched Pete's face. Only once--when Dawn said something about our indebtedness to the men who went to the front to protect our way of life -- did pain flicker across his face. And suddenly she knew why his bitterness had suddenly grown so keen. Pete wanted to wear a uniform--for Dawn's sake. Then she saw Dawn and Pete sitting laughing "goodnights" from the hall. "Looks like old Pete has fallen at last," Bart said carelessly. Julie took long enough to achieve a reasonable facsimile of

Hollywood Sights and Sounds-- The Marines Pour In To See Film, 'Wake Island'

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD--Glamour factory at war: The big bus pulls up at a street crossing in a "city" that wasn't there a few quick months ago. It's like a boom town, swarming with population--but no roaring. Around this intersection are grouped, in grey buildings, various shops and stores, soft drink parlors, recreation rooms, a chapel. One of the many signs posted around announces the preview showing of "Wake Island." Free, the sign says. There's a crowd on hand as the bus pulls in. Uniforms. Field greens mostly. Summer service khakis. An occasional dressy "blue." And seeming oddity out of place, one or two bluejackets. Out of place because this is the U. S. Marine Corps Camp Elliott, at San Diego. It's the faces, more than the uniforms, that are impressive. Tanned, clear-eyed, healthy, they're a tribute to stiff Marine training. The boys look on, some curiously, some grinning, some peering eagerly for any movie stars that might be along. . . . You get a definite impression that when you tell it to the Marines the situation will be well in hand. Transfer to a Marine bus and go to the new amphitheatre. Through the windows, all around, you see acre after acre of grey dormitories, Marines at ease in the doorways and streets. It's that time of day. The tiers of wooden benches on the hillside command a view of other grease-wood-covered hills beyond the hill stage. The boys already are filling up the theatre, coming a-running from all directions. On the stage there's a piano and a couple of mikes. . . . Out

WASHINGTON--The air raid drills are getting a little motonous in many cities. Almost any honest civilian defense official will tell you that that is one of the commonest complaints he hears. But from now on, it's a complaint that will be heard much less often in many sections. The Civil Air Patrol is providing the "kicker" that takes all the dullness out of them. Details of the "bombing" of Worcester and Birmingham now are being spread on the record here by Maj. Earle L. Johnson, national commander of the CAP, and under his direction plans are being perfected for giving other strategic cities a taste of what they might expect if the enemy got tough with long range bombers. In Birmingham, 50 CAP planes of the Alabama Wing, loaded with bags of sawdust bombs (the CAP used two-pound sacks of flour in the first experiments but after they had knocked a few civilians on the noggin, they switched to sawdust) descended on the city from all directions. No Flying Fortress raid on Germany or Japan could have been piloted, working from gridded maps, pilot, working from gridded maps, and his objective and the red sacks (for incendiaries) and the yellow sacks (for demolition bombs) had rained on Birmingham but no doubt in the minds of the public and civilian defense workers alike that it could happen here.

New School Head Offers To Serve As Garbage Man

GALVESTON, Sept. 18. (AP) Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, vice president of the University of Texas in charge of the medical school, volunteered today to serve as a garbage man to help rid the city of an accumulation of sixteen days' refuse and called on other citizens to join him.

Galveston's 120 garbage disposal and street employees have been on a strike since September 2nd and tons of refuse have been piling up.

A spokesman for the AFL Truck Drivers' Union, which called the strike, said the primary demand of the workers was recognition of their union. The board of city commissioners repeatedly has said it would not recognize a union of city employees.

People Moved Out Of Flood Areas

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 18 (AP)—As the Rio Grande receded almost imperceptibly today, coast guardsmen arranged to evacuate 20 women and children from the flooded community of Southmost south of Brownsville.

Nineteen persons — five women and 14 children—were removed from the flood area by coast guardsmen yesterday. The men elected to remain on their farms to care for the animals. The Red Cross provided for the evacuated.

Capt. C. L. Johansen, coast guard commander, described flood conditions as dangerous but not critical. The river receded four inches to 19.7 feet last night. It was theorized that the drop was due to a levee break on the Mexican side farther upstream.

It was estimated that 2,000 additional acres were inundated yesterday.

About 200 persons were believed stranded in the flood area.

Printing Industry Asked To Reduce Specialties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The printing and publishing industry was confronted today with War Production Board instructions to weed out "the obviously luxury or specialty products that are desirable but not actually necessary during a war period."

Asking the industry to carry out immediately the utmost curtailment in the consumption of paper and other materials, W. E. Palmer, deputy chief of the WPB printing and publishing branch, suggested possibly cutting tonnage back to 1940 or 1939 levels.

The increasing shortage of copper and zinc to meet war industry requirements forecasts prompt further curtailment in consumption of these metals in the engraving industry, he added. Palmer also advised publishers to "institute immediate curtailment of new uses of multi-color printing in publications, especially the employment of bleed-type illustrations, and also the expense of color in magazines, books and commercial advertising today."

Credit Tire Rationing, Stricter Enforcement, Or What You Will, But Speeding Is On The Decline

Has the rationing of tires and the recent state law reducing the speed limit of motor vehicles from 60 to 40 miles an hour had any effect on the number of charges filed for speeding? This question has been put to various law enforcement officers.

Some officers contended that not only had there been no decrease in the number of speeding cases this year but that there actually was a marked increase in the number of tickets issued for speeding. Others took the opposite viewpoint and expressed themselves as believing that tire rationing and fewer cars on the highway had reduced the number of charges.

A check of justice and city court records revealed the fact that the new war-time measures have been effective in reducing excess speed on Texas highways. For example, in May of last year a total of 42 charges were recorded here for speeding—the greatest number for the year—while only six were reported for 1942.

The nearest approach to the 1941 record was made in June when 24 cases came before the courts as against 27 the preceding year.

There was a total of 179 speeding charges filed in justice and city courts last year. This year, to date, the number is 88. For the same period last year 161 cases were recorded.

This record would point to the effectiveness of tire rationing and lower speed laws as deterrents to speed on the highway.

To cooperate with the national tire and gas conservation program the Texas state highway commission requested motorists to voluntarily reduce their speed so as not to exceed 40 miles an hour. The general response to that request was unsatisfactory and the highway commission thereupon put a 40 mile speed limit into law.

Upon enactment of this measure the state highway commission in conjunction with the OPA directed all highway patrolmen to issue in duplicate tickets to anyone traveling at a rate in excess of 40 miles per hour and to send these tickets, properly signed, to the highway commission in Austin. Here the tickets are recorded and a copy, complete with the name and address of the speaker, is forwarded to the county office of the OPA in which he resides. Then, having been placed on record in his local OPA office, he is automatically barred from permission to buy tires or tubes.

The strict enforcement of this new speed law probably accounted for a number of tickets that ordinarily have been handed out. This fact coupled with the court records established beyond any doubt that automobile speeding in Texas is very definitely on the decline.

Legion Men Want To Serve

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—A hundred thousand trained men, all aging, some sadly overaged, some nearsighted, are clamoring at the army's gates.

And how to get them into the ranks more will be a major problem before the American Legion national convention opening Saturday, says Warren H. Atherton, Stockton, Calif., chairman of the Legion's national defense committee.

"For years, the Legion has been asking that America be prepared," he said. "Well, all we're asking now is a chance to serve."

"We'll pull doorbells and haul scrap iron if they want us to, it's high time we were getting the lead out of where it sits and putting it where it hits."

Already 67,450 veterans of the first World War are back in service, he estimated, but approximately 100,000 others whose applications are on file have not been considered because of minor disabilities or age.

"We're going to consider an attempt to have physical requirements relaxed to allow these men to serve in some capacity."

WAGE INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Approximately 225,000 employees in 95 General Motors plants will receive wage increases of four cents an hour, retroactive to April 28, under a ruling by the war labor board.

Wage-Freezing Opposed By CIO Chief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Phillip Murray of the CIO asserted today that "labor must vigorously oppose" rigid freezing of wages, while Chairman Smith (D-S.C.) of the senate agriculture committee took just as firm a stand in demanding a higher definition of parity for farm prices.

Murray said that freezing of wages through the pending anti-inflation bill would "destroy morale of American workers." Stabilization with relation to living costs, he added, should be the goal.

Smith said he had a majority of the agriculture committee back of him in his stand that the bill should redefine parity to include farm labor costs as a factor.

Smith's attitude was directly opposed to that of President Roosevelt and it ran counter, also, to views of a majority of house banking committee members who were reported ready to scrap the higher parity provision in pending a bill by Chairman Stagall (D-Ala.).

The senate banking committee—to which Murray sent his views in a telegram—agreed today to revise the anti-inflation legislation to authorize and direct President Roosevelt to stabilize prices, wages and salaries as of Sept. 15 levels as far as practicable.

Previously the measure would have fixed an August 15 date as the goal for leveling off prices and earnings.

Water Instruction Course Completed

Certificates were issued Thursday night to the entire force of city water and sewer department employes upon their completion of a 20 hour course that has been given here two nights each week by the Texas A. & M. College, cooperating with the state board of vocational education. Boyd J. McDaniel, city manager, also took the course and received his certificate along with the others.

The certificates license the employes to work in Texas water and sewer works. Licensing is not compulsory in Texas as yet, but a strong movement is under way, to require all workers of this type to hold certificates.

Three classes of certificates—A, B, and C—are issued; A class requires the completion of a 120 hour course, class B a course of 80 hours, and class C, the certificates given the local employes, are awarded when a 20 hour course is completed.
