Mattox Offers Reward For Drug Pushers!

Jim Mattox Attorney General

LUBBOCK— Standing in front of a house that was the scene of drug-related violence and murder, gubernatorial candidate Jim Mattox Tuesday unveiled portions of this 16-point plan for the war on drugs, including a Drug Buster Program in which citizens who reported illegal drug activity could get a 10-percent reward for being the "extra eyes and ears of the police."

"The Drug Busters Program will provide a little more incentive for people to get involved in the fight to reclaim our neighborhoods, or schools, our children and our future," Mattox said.

"We want citizens to help Mr. Pusher meet the slammer."

"People in the community are fed up with the dope pusher," he said. "They're fed up with the burglaries and auto thefts. They're fed up with the violence."

Mattox is the only candidate in the line race for governor who has ever been to the front lines of the war against drugs and crime. He is the only candidate who has ever prosecuted a pusher, faced down a murder or sent a rapist to prison.

You are going to hear a lot of candidates speaking about the problems of crime and drugs. The fact is most of them use these issues as electoral issues; it really don't have much impact on them; and they haven't experienced the kind of problem that exist in these particular areas. I have been working in the area of Criminal Law Enforcement for now 20 years. When I speak about the problems of drug and crime I can tell you about the issues from first-hand experience level.

I don't need an expert to tell me about them. I don't Boy Scout Troop 137 and Cub Scout Pack 137 extend their sincere appreciation to all who helped them do their part in this year's Scouting for Food Drive. Over 2,000 pounds of canned goods and non-perishables were collected.

Bullock Said Texas Gained More Jobs

Austin, Tx. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock said last Thursday that Texas gained 134,830 jobs from September 1988 through August of this year, with the total number of non-farm jobs hitting a record 6.8 million.

While the Border area had the highest rate of job growth, the Gulf Coast metropolitan areas accounted for more than one-third of all new jobs in Texas, Bullock reported.

"Chemical industry expansion and increased trade and manufacturing along the border have been leading the job growth in Texas over the past year," Bullock said. "Overall, the state's economic expansion remained on track providing new jobs, higher income and more state revenues."

The Plains region, covering the Panhandle and much of West Texas, was hit by oil company consolidations and reported job losses.

Twenty of the state's 28 metropolitan areas gained jobs during the state's 1989 fiscal year, according to Bullock's year-end economic report in November issue of Fiscal Notes, an award winning monthly publication of the Comptroller's office.

The five metropolitan areas with the highest rates of job growth were Laredo, up 5.2 percent; Brazoria, up

Memorial Scholarship Named For Felicia Phenix

A Memorial Scholarship Fund has been set up in the memory of Felicia Carol Phenix. This special effort will be kicked-off at a Youth Fellowship Banquet set for Saturday, December 2, 1989 at 6 p. m. at the Youth Outreach Center, 1821 Parkway Drive.

Felicia was a saved young lady and enjoyed working with young people. She was always on the alert to help young people and her influence will live long and felt by those who were encouraged, helped and cheered by her advice and friendship.

Felicia's loyalty to her church and her faithfulness to her family, and kindness to her friends shall ever be a living memorial to her beautiful life.

She was a faithful, ardent worker among the youth in helping them to make wise decisions concerning their life work.

Felicia graduated from Estacado High School in 1987, and had completed two year at Texas Tech University.

The Felicia Carol Phenix Memorial Scholarship Fund is set up at First National Bank.

Donations for the banquet are adults, $5.00; children, $3.00.

"We would like for all the 1987 graduates of Estacado High School and Dunbar High School to know that you have a personal invitation to this special banquet," said Rev. P. B. Phenix, president. Mrs. P. B. Phenix, vice

Discount For Airport Parking

A 10 percent discount in airport parking is in effect through the holiday season for Senior Citizens and College Students.

The Lubbock Airport Board authorized the parking discount at its November meeting.

"Any person age 65 and older and all college students are eligible for this discount until further notice by using any portion of the airport parking lot," according to Aviation Director Bern Case.

To get the discount, drivers licenses and student ID card should be presented to parking lot attendants when leaving the airport," Case said.

The discounts are good for short term and long term parking.

"The 10 percent discount is to better serve the community and the airport is excited about the prospects of offering this service to airport users," Case said.

Savage Wins Three Year Extension Of Defense Set-Aside

A three-year extension of the Minority Business contracting goal of the U.S.

Defense Department has been voted by Congress.

Due mainly to the persistent concern of U.S. Rep. Gus Savage, the program could boost Minority Business Enterprises by $8 billion a year. This would exceed the combined amount of all other federal contracting with MBE's.

The outspoken Congressman pressed for the extension on many levels in May, for example, he raised the issue directly with President Bush in a meeting with the Congressional Black Caucus. However, Savage gave much credit for the success to lobbying by a wide array of mainstream African American organizations, businesses, and institutions which he had helped to mobilize.

"This is not merely for Blacks and Hispanics," Savage contends. "It represents a victory for all Americans, because justice and equality are 'All American' principles."

In 1986, he succeeded in winning, through the force of his debate, Congress' overwhelming approval of an amendment on the floor of the House which first imposed the five percent goal on the defense budget. That department's budget constitutes almost one-third of the $1 trillion annual federal budget.

4.2 percent; Texarkana, up 4 percent; El Paso, up 3.4 percent; and McAllen, up 3 percent.

While manufacturing growth was the main engine of the Texas economy in 1988, the 1989 job growth was more diverse, Bullock said.

Maquiladora-related business, including manufacturing of components along with trucking and warehousing operations, prospered along the Border. Petrochemicals, metals, plastics and electronics industries expanded on the Gulf Coast. High-tech expansion

Cong. Gus Savage

The five-term Congressman serves as chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus Minority Business Development Braintrust, as well as the House Subcommittee on Economic Development.

Since the historic extension passed by overwhelming vote in the House, last week, and the Senate this week, it is expected to be signed into law promptly by the President.

Government Fails To Use Top Resource In War On Drugs

According to the Church of Scientology, the government is failing to use its number one resource in the war on drugs - its own people.

A recent Gallup Poll survey conducted in the USA, found that 75% of youths and 48% of adults are ready to volunteer time to drug prevention programs. There is a crying need for their help. One recent analysis put the number who could benefit from drug abuse treatment at 8.5 million with the number of slots for them at only 250,000. Adds to this the 47% failure rate in state funded drug rehabilitation centres and it is hardly surprising that these same people are at a loss about what to do.

"The main complaint from the public is they don't know what the effective drug rehabilitation programs are or how to help," said a spokesperson for the Church.

A long-time leader in the field of community aid, the Church of Scientology direct their public to Narconon, claimed to be the only effective international network of drug-free rehabilitation centres in the world. (Narconon means non-narcosis or no drugs.)

In the last year alone members of the Church of Scientology have donated over $2,000,000 in cash and other forms of support, according to a Church spokesperson.

"By supporting an effective drug rehabilitation program, we feel we are helping to improve life in a troubled world," said a Church of Scientology spokesperson.

Recent statistics show that drug abuse has now become the USA's number one problem. No country in the world remains untouched by this social disease. There is a very real need for rehabilitation programs that work. However, according to a study by America's National Institute of Drug Abuse, a majority of patients treated for heroin or heavy cocaine addiction were using drugs again within a year. These findings, unfortunately are typical of most rehabilitation methods.

An independent Swedish study reported that 76% of Narconon students were still completely off drugs two years after completing their programs. With better than 70% success documented by independent studies, Narconon claims to achieve unprecedented results in the field of drug rehabilitation. It is for this reason that the Church of Scientology continues their support of this program.

Narconon bases its program entirely on drug rehabilitation techniques developed by L. Ron Hubbard, one of the most acclaimed and widely read authors of all time.

Hubbard's unique rehabilitation methods were developed through more than a decade of extensive private research. According to Narconon, this new technology has already helped tens of thousands of people to get off drugs completely and to stay off drugs.

"Drug abuse statistics are horrifying," said a spokesperson for Narconon. "As many as 50% of all Americans, including its future leaders, take drugs, are illiterate and are incapable of making effective decisions because they lack the ethical foundation necessary for making sound judgements."

"We strongly urge all individuals to actually get up and take initiative by supporting EFFECTIVE drug rehabilitation methods. We would welcome their support."

"BECAUSE OF OUR LACK OF FAITH AND CONFIDENCE IN OURSELVES, WE HAVE CAUSED OTHERS CREATED IN LIKE IMAGES TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF US FOR HUNDREDS OF YEARS."

-MARCUS GARVEY

In all, the US Chamber of Commerce estimates drug and alcohol abuse cost American businesses $177 billion a year. But no financial figures can be placed on the emotional pain caused the families and the friends of drug abusers. Nor can a price be placed on the suffering, hopelessness and despair faced by the addicts themselves, trapped into dependency on these poisons.

It is evident that effective action is what is needed to fight this war. Now even our children are in increasing danger. The $500 billion-a-year illegal drug cartels have been working to expand their markets by selling drugs progressively younger and younger children. The Gallup Poll survey found that more than 4 million youngsters, aged 13 to 17, admitted that they had been offered illegal drugs in the last 30 days.

If the government would recognize its own people as its top resource in the war on drugs and give them more direction in how to help, perhaps we could make some progress against the world's number one social scourge.

Those "You Have Won" Scams

Seems like we have been hearing of an annual unusual number of mail out scams of late. Many read like this: "We've rushed you this first class notice to inform you IMMEDIATELY that you have won a prize worth up to $2,000 in cash." Note that the sentence is saying that you have won UP TO $2,000. You are then asked to send $7.89 to find out how the contest works.

- Save your card receipts to compare to your billing statement.
- Report promptly in writing any questionable charges to the card issuer.
- Notify card companies in advance of a change of address.

WHAT TO DO IF CARDS ARE STOLEN

If your credit card is lost or stolen, call the issuer immediately. Most card companies have a toll-free number for reporting missing cards. Some companies provide 24-hour service. By law, once you report the loss or theft, you have no further liability for unauthorized charges. In any event, the maximum liability by law is $50 per card.

Watch Your Credit Cards When Holiday Shopping

This is the season to be "jolly," but this is also the season to be extremely careful when holiday shopping. Consumers are often victims of credit card fraud or stolen credit cards due to the high activity of holiday shopping.

The cost of credit card fraud to credit card holders and to credit card companies alike may be as high as $500 million a year. Everyone pays for credit card fraud in higher prices, whether or not they are personally defrauded.

While theft is the most obvious form of credit card fraud, fraud occurs in a variety of other ways.

- A thief may go through the trash to find discarded receipts or carbons to use the card number illegally.
- A dishonest clerk may make an extra imprint from your credit card for his or her personal use.
- You may receive a postcard or letter asking you to call an out-of-state number to take advantage of a free trip or a bargain-priced travel package. When you call, you are told you must join the travel club first. You are asked for your credit card number so you can be billed for your membership fee. The Catch? New charges may continue to be added to your credit card at every step, and you may never get your free bargain-priced vacation.

PROTECT YOURSELF

You can take precautions to protect yourself against credit card fraud. You may also want to instruct any other person who is authorized to use your account to take these same precautions.

- Sign your new cards as soon as they arrive.
- Carry your cards separately from your wallet.
- Keep a record of your card numbers, their expiration dates, and the phone number and address of each company in a secure place.
- Keep your card in view, whenever you can, after you give it to a clerk. Retrieve it promptly after using it.
- Avoid signing a blank receipt whenever possible and draw a line through blank spaces above the total when you sign card receipts.
- Void or destroy all carbons and incorrect receipts.

The names of the companies do not matter. They change so rapidly that we cannot possibly keep up with them. This confuses consumers. Often when a recipient calls our office, we will not have a report under the name of the promotion company - consumers then tend to not listen to our warnings, thinking that just maybe, just maybe the company that mailed them the prize notification is on the up and up. Sorry, they never are. No one give things away to masses of people and stays in business. If it's too good to be true...

Multi-Level Sales, A Touchy Subject

We almost hate to bring it up... Seems that the South Plains must brace for another round of multi-level selling promotions. We have heard of at least three new money marketing deals involving so called opportunity meetings where you can learn to earn big bucks. We hate to bring up the subject because no matter what we say about multi-level deals, someone gets upset. People love to argue about the legalities. Last time around, the district attorney, attorney general and the postal inspector all voiced the opinion that the current pyramid was illegal. All that did was add fuel to the fire...

Some people thought they were going to prison and others were mad that the authorities and media had killed the chain. Not all multi-level deals are bad but it's difficult to tell the good ones from the bad ones. The Bureau does have some excellent resource literature on the subject of multi-level sales. Feel free to call us and ask for our material on multi-level programs. Study the material and then you decide.

crime until the people in the community themselves decide they have had enough. When they have decided that they are going to shut it down, it will be shut down. The people know who the drug pushers are; they know who the burglars, robbers, and thieves are; and when they decide that they have had enough of it then we are going to see a change.

We're seeing changes take place all across the state of Texas because of this. We're seeing the people themselves getting involved and making changes not just in this area but all over.

We're gathered in front of a house located (3302 East Baylor) where drug-related violence took place, and we are seeing changes from that.

I have some recommendations I'm going to make and I have a 16-Point Plan, it's not a perfect plan to try to bring about a drug-free Texas but a plan that is based on my experience of working in law enforcement for a long period of time. I have several points in this plan I want to talk about today. And I hope they will have a favorable impact in trying to solve these terrible problems. Again, I say they are not perfect propositions.

First the Drug Busters Program - a program model after our Crime Stoppers Program and after the IRS Intercept Program. What we propose is that when a drug pusher is turned in; that the person that actually give us the information and helps cease that drug pusher's assets ... 10-percent of the ceased asset goes to that person. Attempting to do wedge between the drug pushers and the drug user.

Also to establish a 2000 Foot Drug-Free Zone Area around our schools to keep out drug pushers. Anyone caught within that 2000 foot radius selling drugs will receive a mandatory jail or prison term with no chance at probation or parole. We will try to strictly enforce that rule. We are going to try and stop our young people from selling drugs and carrying those pocket papers which allows them to be tipped off about where to go and when they are being watched. In our school we need to educate our children in every grade about the harmful affect of drug abuse.

An Education Summit With Substance

by
Con. Augustus F. Hawkins

Less than two months ago, President Bush convened a national summit on education. It was an excellent opportunity for the Administration and state leaders to discuss cost-effective and exemplary programs, which could be repeated throughout our nation's schools. Unfortunately, the education summit can only be termed as an exercise of wasted opportunities.

Thanksgiving Day, we enjoyed a scrumptious meal in the home of Brother George and Sister Doris Dickens. Having looked at the decor and cuisine that was a portrayal of our reason for coming together, the question came to mind, "Am I ready for Christmas?" This question could be asked in general. For many, getting ready for Christmas means addressing and mailing cards to friends and relatives wishing them a happy Yuletide season. To others, preparing for Christmas is the purchasing of presents to give to those of choice; the putting up a giant tree and decorating with all the holiday glitter and trinkets. Still others prepare for Christmas by purchasing spirits that will make them act strange and unusual at the parties they will entertain or attend. Is it possible that we are really missing the central message of the season, the celebration of the advent of Jesus Our Saviour? Have we conceived the wrong spirit or develop the wrong conception in our preparation of Christmas?

The spirit of Christmas is partially the giving and receiving of presents; the festivities and decoration, sending and receiving Yuletide cards, going home again and renewing family ties, and preparing and enjoying a festive meal. The Christmas spirit is primarily an awareness and response to the great miracle of God coming into the world uniquely in Jesus Christ. It is an awareness of our deep need of the message of the angels of joy, peace, and redemption.

Are you ready for Christmas? If not, start now by preparing through a change of attitude, decisions, and activities. Commit your life again this Christmas season by going to church and being a genuine worshipper and becoming an active person for Jesus.

We Thank God For Jesus

"Lord, This U.S.A.; It's The Sodom and Gomorrah of Today"

JEUTERONOMY 6:10,11,12a It shall be, when the Lord thy God shall have brought thee into the land which he swore unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, to give thee great goodly cities, which thou buildedst not, and houses full of all good things, which thou plantedst not; when thou shalt have eaten and be full; then beware lest thou forget the Lord.

Lord, this USA is like the sin citys of Sodom & Gomorrah, of yesterday, she's full of all kind of sin's; "And don't want to turn from her way's." It all started when the word came saying all men need to be free, trying to loose the people like mosce did; "but they were to worship thee." When man wanted his right's in the 60's; he said, we want to be FREE, "This country is the most sinful one; and is in the most miserec." (The right's of the Devil: Woman's rights, homosexual right's, white right's, black right's, Jim Baker Right's, abortion right's, run away right's, kill the family right's, suicide right's, sex in school right's, no spanking right's, and all the devil's are wrong.)

Lord, you've blessed this country, like Adam, we know the blessings came from thee, "but a man came along saying; I have a dream and we're to be FREE."

Jeremiah 23:16,27,28,32, Thus said the Lord, of hosts, hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you; They make you vain: they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. Which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbor, as their fathers haben forgotten my name for Ba'al. The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat? Saith the Lord. Behold, I'm against them: that prophesy false dreams, saith the Lord, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies, and by their lightness; yet I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they shall not profet this people at all, saith the Lord.

Lord, when it started out, only the blacks wanted their right's, then it was like wild-fire; it happen over night.

And from that dream "this country is in it's worse night-mare." The Leaders of this country know we need you But for the love of money they don't care."

1 Timothy 6:10 for the Love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

Lord, that Job'zee followed with "taking your name out of schools," and now the streets are "full of hate blood: I ask who's the Pool???"

Romans 1:21,22 because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened, Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools.

God is not through with us yet. So let's pray for one another always.

Works By Afro-American Artists Begin To Draw Greater Attention

Actress Diahann Carroll hosted recently a reception for Artis Lane, one of the most prominent internationally known Afro-American artists, at the M. Hanks Gallery of Santa Monica on October 20. Pictured left to right are Artis Lane, Diahann Carroll and Oprah Winfrey. The exhibition featured bronze sculptures and oil and mixed media paintings. In addition to many prior U. S. exhibitions, Lane has also had shows in Europe, Mexico and Canada.

In addition to Ms. Winfrey and Ms. Carroll, Artis Lane's work is in the collections of Quincy Jones, Bill Cosby, Sidney Poitier, and Miles Davis, among others. In addition, she has painted or sculpted by commission Barbara Bush, Armand Hammer, Cary Grant, Dr. Jerry Buss, Mrs. Henry Kissinger and Mrs. Walter Annenberg.

While the work of African-American artists is beginning to finally get serious recognition within art collecting circles in the U. S., the marketplace still remains underserved in some key areas. First and foremost, there has existed a shortage of quality opportunities for African-American artists to have their works appreciated and valued. This has resulted in both a general lack of awareness of major Black artists by consumers and the difficulty in general access to the artwork.

The M. Hanks Gallery, through its extensive contacts among the leading Black artists, was created to establish a new network between these underutilized yet important artists and a new informed public. In addition to hosting exhibitions by artists from all over the U. S., the M. Hanks Gallery has also embarked in an effort to bring the art to the American public through a newly launched series of high quality posters and soon a limited edition collection by its featured artists.

The first step, according to Eric Hanks, director of ten to Erick Hanks, director of the Santa Monica-based gallery, is to eradicate some of the myths concerning African-American art. Hanks lists four major popularly-held myths: 1) All African-American art is an expression of anger and hate. 2) All African-American art is figurative. 3) African-American artists are not formally trained. 4) African-American art is not collectable. Hanks points to artists such as Sam Gilliam, Mary O'Neal and David Driscoll who in each case refute all four misconceptions.

This task of educating the art consumer about African-American art has made the M. Hanks Gallery almost as much as a resource center as a place to buy works. On hand is extensive knowledge and materials to help the new collector understand the background on the artists and the trends they have inspired. Hanks also refers to museums and galleries both locally and in other regions that feature African-American art, plus periodicals like International Review of African-American Art, American Visions, Essence and Black Enterprise.

Hanks' dream of creating a gallery exclusive to the work of Americans of African descent grew from a childhood immersed in art. A product of Silver Spring, MD and a graduate of Towson University, Hanks has built an expertise and network in his area of speciality due in some part to the sizeable collection of Black American art in his family's possession. Hanks has also supplied Universal Studios with art for use in the soon-to-be-released Bill Cosby feature film, "Ghost Dad."

The M. Hanks Gallery is located in Santa Monica, California at 2669 Main Street. For more information Street. For more information please call (213) 323-8820.
