***** NOSIN... With Polly *****

Have you gals ever wondered why a dog is considered man's best friend? ... If you are one of those non-thinking gals who has refused to dedicate hours and hours in puzzlement of said statement, then you probably haven't as yet come up with a feasible answer.

After long hours with this statement foremost in my mind, I have decided that in all probability, the statement was first made for three different reasons: the dog gives no advice, never tries to borrow money... and has no in-laws.

NOSIN

Noticed the following little poem. Thought you might get a charge out of it.
Daddy bought a little car,
He fed it gasoline,
And every where that Daddy went,
He walked; his son's 16

Advertising has increased tremendously in the past 20 years. ... So much so, that today no one expects to go into business and succeed without first earmarking a substantial amount of money to be used for advertising.

This is true nationwide. Even the youngsters are advertising-conscious today. ... Read lately where a lovely 4 year old, admiring her mother at work in the kitchen, looked up at her adoringly and exclaimed, "Mother, I like you better than any other leading brand."

The magazine's opening paragraph about this district is "The mark of the Wolverine, felt strongly in this district a year ago, will be felt even more keenly in '65."

It went on to say, "Springlake, in other words, is loaded. All it needs is luck to become a contender for the highest honors. Returning from a 10-2 bi-district championship team are 15 lettermen, and among them are 8 offensive and defensive regulars. Few teams come better armed. Speed and size will be the hallmarks of the Wolverines, who will look to the dandy foursome of tackles, Ken Dawson (6-4, 200), Richard Mitchell (6-0, 210), and ends Floyd Henderson (6-0, 180) and Larry Glasscock (6-1, 170) for blue-ribbon trench play. The backfield, featuring fullback Jerry Sanders (5-11, 190), halfback Floyd Bennett and Logan Armstrong and QB Doug Messer, should be first rate.

Hale Center is selected as best of the rest" in the district, with 9 offensive and 7 defensive regulars returning.

Silverton is expected to be improved over last year with 7 holdover regulars.

The magazine indicated that Farwell must hurry to duplicate its second place finish last year. In referring to Kress, the opening paragraph is, "Progress has to be the most important product at Kress." With 9 regulars returning among 18 lettermen.

Predictions for Sudan who came in 6th last year, holds a better hand for '65. There will be 6 offensive and 8 defensive returning.

The magazine also carried a picture of Ken Dawson as a top tackle on the strong Springlake squad.

Magazine Picks Springlake-Earth Tops In 3A District

The "Texas Football" Magazine is apparently expecting the local Wolverines to be a strong contender in the 3A District this season.

The magazine's opening paragraph about this district is "The mark of the Wolverine, felt strongly in this district a year ago, will be felt even more keenly in '65."

It went on to say, "Springlake, in other words, is loaded. All it needs is luck to become a contender for the highest honors. ## New Nursing Home Constructed in Amherst

The new modern nursing home, Amherst Manor, is at present almost completed and open house is planned for the public on Sunday, August 29.

Applications for resident patients began August 1 and will continue throughout the month, with opening for patient-residents beginning on September 1. Amherst Manor is located on Seventh Street and Main, across the street from South Plains Hospital in Amherst.

E. F. Ray is owner of the building and will operate the new all-modern home for the aged.

The Amherst Manor will house 30 beds, all equipped with a nurse calling system. The home will also be equipped with the latest nursing equipment. E. F. Ray, administrator of the Amherst Manor says that the nursing home will be "a home away from home."

Ray said that he is building the Amherst Manor because he feels that there is a great need for a nursing home in the Amherst and Sudan area.

Elizabeth Ray, wife of E. F. Ray, will be the director of the nursing staff. Mrs. Ray said that she will teach a Geriatric course to the entire staff at the Home. Such a course in Geriatrics includes the care of the elderly, reported Mrs. Ray.

Ray said that the brick-veneer home is as fire-proof as possible. The inside roof is painted with retardant paint. The walls of the rooms are covered with 5/8 inch sheet-rock, which is also made from a fire retardant material. The building has been approved by the State Health Department.

Half bath accommodations are available for 20 beds in the Home. The Home is equipped with the latest kitchen and dining room equipment.

Services and accommodations of the Amherst Manor will include the following: Room, board, 24 hour nursing care, linen and bedding, personal laundry (not dry cleaning), wheelchairs, walkers, patient lifts, hospital beds (when needed). Other services and accommodations will include such personal services as may be required for health, safety, good grooming, and well-being of the resident. Ray stressed that there will be a registered nurse on duty or on call 24 hours each day.

Policies of the Amherst Manor are as follows:

1. All fees for one month's service and accommodations are payable in advance (except Vendor payments.)

2. Refunds will be made for any unused portion of the month in the event the resident leaves the Home for any reason.

3. Residents or responsible party will provide for personal clothing and effects as needed or desired by the resident, spending money, and also for

A REAL U. F. O. ... We have read and heard so much lately about the U. F. O. "Unidentified Flying Objects" reported speeding through the air in more than eight states, that we felt obligated to dig down and find an answer. ... So here it is, folks, a real U. F. O. ... What do you make of it?? Looks official, like an object running through the clouds alright. ... However, in all sincerity, we must admit this U. F. O. is an antelope running through tall grass on the Halsell Ranch near Earth, photographed at mid-day through an auto glass, catching all the reflections of the glass.

Now You See It...Now You Don't, But There's Something Up There...

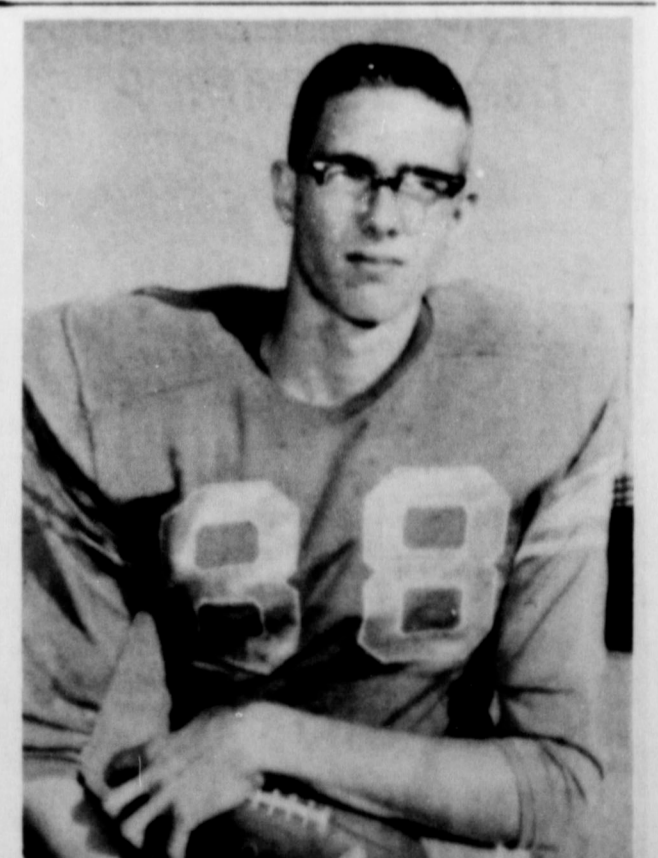

It finally happened in Earth. ... A local man sighted one of those unidentified flying objects. This all happened Friday night as Bill Bryant, a local merchant, was out in his back yard stargazing and enjoying a pleasant summer evening at home. The object came flying over, taking a South Eastwardly direction of departure.

Bill says for sure it isn't a shooting or falling star or anything of that sort, as some have tried to explain. He instead agrees with folks in about 8 other states across this nation who have spotted U. F. O.'s. They all contend there is more up there than meets the eye.

There have been various and trifling descriptions of these flying objects. However, Bill says if, and when you spot one, you'll automatically know "it's" something like you've never spotted before.

So Earthites, if you're interested, you might do a little stargazing and see if you can spot some of these U. F. O.'s. There is something up there... maybe.

WINDS OF CHANGE

Some strange things--strange by past Soviet standards, that is--are taking place in Russia.

For some time, news has been coming from there telling of Soviet experiments with once-despised capitalist techniques in an effort to spur production. They include such innovations as incentive bonuses to workers and managers, and a relaxation of government fiat and immutable rules. This has apparently been strikingly successful in a number of fields and is expected to be extended to other areas of the Soviet economy.

Now, writes AP correspondent George Syversten, a Russian woman historian has produced a book entitled "The USA and the Washington System" in which she rejects one of the basic Marxist dogmas--that "Wall Street monopolists" control this country. She says: "I feel it is not accurate to break American society into two groups, the great mass of workers and the monopolists." And she adds that there is a great middle stratum in that society made up of skilled workers, intellectuals and professional people. The work has been highly praised by leading Moscow academicians.

Yes, the winds of change seem to be blowing in the most monolithic of societies. How far they will travel presents a fascinating question.

Texas Agribusiness Is One Of State's Largest Industries

The often sleepy atmosphere of the Texas countryside is an economic paradox. Behind this traditional rural facade is one of the state's largest industries, one which reaches from the remotest cotton patch to the city's fine cafes and fashion centers. They call it agribusiness, and each year it pumps about $6.3 billion worth of prosperity into the economy. What's more, that figure is on the increase.

Agribusiness is defined as the sum total of farming and ranching, manufacture and distribution of farm goods to farmers and ranchers, and the processing and distribution of agricultural commodities to consumers. The business of raising raw products from farming and ranching amounts to about $2.4 billion per year and is the state's second largest industry. Only one product--oil at $3 billion a year--tops agribusiness. The picture is even more imposing on a national scale. Although the United States is becoming less and less a farming society, agribusiness is still the number 1 industry by a considerable margin. R. B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, says the steadily declining number of farm workers has not hindered agricultural growth. Agribusiness still employs more people than, for example, the steel, automobile, transportation and public utilities industries combined. Back in Texas, statistics are proportionally similar to those of the entire nation. John G. McHaney, Extension Service economist at Texas A&M University, says about 40 percent of the state citizenry is engaged in some phase of agribusiness. A mere 8 percent is in actual farming and ranching, but the commodities are being produced in larger quantities and of better quality than ever before.

Meaningless Tax Cuts

Every tax reduction, of any kind, is greeted with hosannas. The public, the story runs, now will have more money it can call its own, spending will be given a new shot in the arm, and the whole economy will benefit.

So far so good. But there is another side to the story. And it is found in tax increases, which generally are given much less publicity than the reductions.

Take, for instance, the social security tax. Its rate, which is shared equally by employers and employees, has increased more than 262 percent since 1949. And that isn't all. If Medicare becomes law, and its costs are added in, the increase could be as great as 435 percent by 1973. And there is always the possibility that the projections will prove too low and that still larger increases will be found necessary.

This is not all. State and local taxing bodies of every kind have been increasing their take in the form of higher levies for schools, roads, welfare and various other purposes.

It should be obvious that a tax cut which is largely or wholly offset by a tax increase is meaningless. It just puts money in one pocket while taking it out of another.

Time To Kick The Habit

Washington columnist Lyle Wilson draws an unusual, and ominous, parallel: "To reduce taxes repeatedly while spending borrowed money probably is like the use of morphine--comforting and good under controlled conditions but disastrously habit forming. The user becomes hooked. Since 1933 the United States has been hooked by deficit spending.

"The time and symptoms of withdrawal are terrible to anticipate. So terrible that politicians and people may never face up to government economy and debt retirement.

There is certainly every reason for Mr. Wilson's pessimism. At the same time, painful as withdrawal might be, the agony that will result if deficit financing goes on long enough is certain to be far worse. The dollar will become less and less valuable, and the standards of living of millions will go steadily down. Many, such as those who live on pensions and fixed incomes, will be impoverished.

As with morphine addiction, the time to kick the deficit habit is now. The longer we wait, the tougher it becomes.

Mrs. Claude Ellis Returns From England Crusade

Mrs. Claude Ellis, who was one of fifty four workers in the Campaign For Christ Crusade sponsored by the Broadway Church of Christ of Lubbock, returned home last week from Liverpool, England.

The group left New York July 15, stopping in Paris, France, London, England, and arrived in Liverpool July 16. They resided at President Hall at the University of Liverpool. During the two weeks they devoted their time to a religious campaign in the Liverpool area. The group was joined by workers from Canada, Scotland, and the surrounding areas.

According to Mrs. Ellis, "We feel the time spent in this great work of the Lord was very profitable and well spent. We worked in groups and each group sent out his workers to canvass the section given him. We went from door to door and passed out literature and planned cottage meetings, and invited them out to the meeting to hear young Bill Banowsky of Lubbock, who is a preacher of the Gospel and who preaches it in its purity and simplicity--that all who hear him can say, "Truly this is a man of God." His lessons were well prepared and given in such a forceful manner, and with great power so as to lead lost souls to Christ.

After the two weeks meeting, we traveled by plane to Frankfurt, Germany, on an extension tour to visit other congregations being sponsored by the Broadway Church of Christ, and also to take a sightseeing tour of other countries. At Frankfurt, we attended a European Lecture-ship. We left Frankfurt by motor coach and traveled through Germany, Switzerland, and France. Truly these countries are beautiful. We visited many places of interest. In Hudeburg, Germany, we had a guide to take us on a sightseeing tour which included the town hall, Heidelberg University (founded in 1936), and the 700 year old Heidelberg Castle. We continued through the Black Forest via Triberg and Donaueschingen into Switzerland, to Zurich, the largest town in Switzerland. We left Zurich travelling via Lake Zue to Lucerne on the Lake of Four Cantons. Here we took a trip by steamer across the Lake of Four Cantons to Alpnachstad. Here we took a rack and pinion railway up Pilatus Kulu, a 7,000 foot triangular crag, rising directly south of Lucerne. Here is one of the most thrilling and beautiful sightseeing trips one can imagine. The return trip to Lucerne was made by aerial cable car by way of the Fraumknecht to Kriens. We left Lucerne via Entlebuch and the beautiful Emmmental, passing many old and quaint villages to arrive in Bern to attend church services. After church services, a short drive of the city was taken. We left Bern and continued via Marteri to arrive in Geneva.

We left Geneva by air France flight to Paris, France. Here we visited many places of interest--The Paris Historique, view the countless historical buildings. The Louvre, the world's greatest museum, formerly a Royal Palace. It is Paris' most important edifice, to the Luxembourg Gardens, the cathedral of Notre Dame, one of Europe's finest Gothic churches, the arch of Triumph with the eternal light marking the tomb of the unknown soldier, then the magnificent tomb of Napoleon in Les Invalides.

MRS. CLAUDE ELLIS

From Paris, France by air to London, England, we traveled to the Pass from Marble Arch to Piccadilly Circus, the hub of the city's lighter life, to St. James Palace, the official residence to the court, then to the end of royal avenue, the mall to Buckingham Palace where the changing of the guard ceremony takes place, the museum of fine arts, saw the Houses of Parliament and visited historical Westminster Abbey, and the old curiosity shop, beyond the London Bridge. We arrived at the unique and historical Tower of London, built by William the Conqueror in 1078. The tower was at various times a fortress, a mint, a state prison, and is now a garrisoned museum containing the crown jewels. From there, we visited the Thames embankment and the busy shopping street known as the "Strand."

We found the ways and customs different in many ways from ours, and like ours in some ways. The people are friendly and are busy as we. Truly it was a wonderful trip but it is good to be back to EARTH.

Memoirs of A Tour of Europe

By Kathy West

This summer having been chosen as a member of the School Band of America, School Chorus of America, I had the privilege of visiting Europe, June 8, I left for New York. Upon my arrival I checked into the Hotel Commodore, where I met my roommate, Jill Winquist of Logan, Utah.

The group was the guest of the New York Life Insurance for lunch. That night we were special guests of the Al Hirt T.V. program. After this Jill and I went on a tour of New York by subway with her grandparents.

The next morning we had our first meeting after which we went to Kennedy Airport. We left Kennedy at 8 that night and arrived in London at 7 their time or 2 our time. From London, we went to Ramsgate, where we had a week of rehearsals. We rehearsed 8 hours a day except on Sundays, when we only rehearsed 3 hours.

In Ramsgate we gave two concerts and attended two receptions given by the mayor. We also gave a concert in Folkestone, a resort town near there. In Folkestone we toured the palace of the Duke of Wellington, and a castle which was the first point of Caesar's invasion of England in 55 B.C.

June 17th we went to London where we gave two concerts. One was for the Prince and Princess of Yugoslavia and another was at Fairfield Hall, Croyden, one of the finest Concert Halls in Europe. While in London we were on T.V. at the palace.

June 19th we crossed the channel and arrived in Belgium. We spent one night in Middlekerk where we gave a concert. The next morning we went to Antwerp where we gave an outdoor concert in the Zoological Gardens. After the concert many people came and talked to us. We found out that Belgium, as well as several other countries requires that students take at least three and preferably seven foreign languages in their school. We then drove to Brussels where we were to spend the night. On our way there we stopped at the Brussels World Fair.

June 21st we left for Bonn, Germany where we spent the night. From there we went to Heidelberg. We gave a concert there and the city awarded us a gold medal for outstanding performances. After our concert, the mayor gave us a supper.

June 23rd we played in the Beethoven Salle Hall, the most nearly perfect in the world. We spent the night in Stuttgart and left the next morning for Nuernberg, where we gave a concert just outside the city. The next afternoon we gave a joint concert with two German choirs. After the concert a German band played for dancing.

June 26th we went to Munich, where we played at the America House, the American consulate offices. June 27th we went to Innsbruck, Austria where we had that afternoon and the next day free. Several of us went to a teenage dance which is held every week, and two American movies spoken in German.

June 29th we left for Venice, Italy. After a 12 hour bus ride we arrived. After supper we went on gondola rides. The next morning we saw St. Mark's Square, St. Mark's Cathedral, and the Ducal Palace. That night we played a concert in St. Mark's Square to an audience of 5,000, many of which were Americans.

July 1st we went to Milan. There we saw The Last Supper, and the Dume, a cathedral which contains the finest rose windows in the world. Here we gave a concert for several of the high officials of Italy. Our interpreter was so rattled that she announced The Stars and Stripes Forever as our National Anthem. This was the only time on the tour that the audience didn't clap and sing with us.

July 2 we left for Lausanne, Switzerland where we arrived at 9 that night after getting our truck stuck at the top of Brenner Pass in a tunnel. The next day we had a three hour rehearsal and gave a concert.

We spent July 4th in Luzern, where the city had a fireworks display for us. The next morning we visited the Burcherer watch factory before leaving for Mulhouse. Here we ended their week long music festival, and we received another gold medal.

We drove that night until we reached Strasbourg at about three in the morning. That afternoon after rehearsal we played a recording concert in the Radio France Hall.

The next morning we rehearsed for a T.V. program and attended a mayor's reception. That afternoon we taped the T.V. program which was to be shown in France and parts of Europe.

July 8th we left for Paris. Once we arrived there everyone went in different directions. Having been assured that it would take a complete idiot to get lost in the Metro (subway) my roommate, ten other kids, and I went to see the city. After visiting the Eiffel Tower and several other places we boarded the Metro once more and got lost. It took us three hours to find the right place to get off and our hotel. It was then two in the morning and our sponsor was having fits. He knew that we were lost and once you are lost in Paris on the Metro you could spend years there.

The next morning we saw Notre Dame and a few other things we had missed out on the night before. That night 80 kids were sick of food poisoning but had a party anyway. At six the next morning we went to bed in time to be awakened by our sponsor bringing hot tea for all the sick. We left Orly Airport at one and arrived in New York at six, which was 12 Paris time. This meant a lot of lost sleep and we all needed it. Sunday morning we had our Finale Breakfast and Concert. This was the end of a lot of hard work, going without sleep and modern conveniences, but it also was the end of a really great combination of kids and ability which seemed unbeatable. Before we left we made plans for two reunions in December, but that is a very long time until we can see all the friends who mean so much more than ordinary friends of a month.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Wilma Taylor

IMAGINATION AND COURAGE ARE NEEDED IN DECORATING

When someone asks me "What are the main rules in decorating a home?" I give them this answer: The simple ingredients are imagination, courage, and good taste.

In decorating your home, remember, you are expressing your own personality. And, you should certainly consider your own basic likes and dislikes. You can do a beautiful job in many different ways and styles.

One noticeable trend today is to mix periods, woods, and finishes, so it is not difficult to assemble the things you like. And, don't be afraid to express your imagination!

When you do need assistance in selecting any pieces of furniture, we can help you pick the things you want at the price you can afford. Taylor Furniture, Phone 257-3231, Earth, Texas.

Texas Tech Has Seven Home Games

Texas Tech, for the first time since 1938, will play seven home football games this season. Coach J. T. King could be pardoned for hoping that's an omen, for in 1938, Texas Tech enjoyed its only undefeated football season and wound up in the Cotton Bowl. But a glance at the schedule shows that the Red Raiders will have to call on more than hope to come out on the plus side of the ledger, not to mention the almost-unprecedented perfect season. University of Kansas, a Big Eight power, coached by former Tech assistant Jack Mitchell, could spoil things right off the bat. The Jayhawks open the season in a 7:30 p.m. contest in Jones Stadium September 18. Following a visit to Austin for Southwest Conference favorite Texas, September 25, the Raiders play three home contests in a row--Texas A&M, October 2, Texas Christian, October 9, and Oklahoma State, another Big Eight on October 16. All are at night. Southern Methodist will be played at Dallas before the Raiders conclude their home road with another trio of games--with Rice, October 30, New Mexico State, November 6, and Baylor, November 13. Rice, Tech homecoming, will be in the afternoon at 2 p.m., as will Baylor. To finish the season, the Raiders run up against University of Arkansas at the Razorbacks' homecoming, in a regionally televised game November 20. Season tickets for Texas Tech's seven home games may be purchased from the Athletic Department for $35, $38, 50, $42, and $49. Mail orders should include a 50-cent mailing fee. Individual game tickets cost $5, $5, $5, $6, and $7. Orders for individual games are being accepted now but will not be filled until September to give priority to season ticket purchasers.

Tournaments: Win Or Lose; Fun For All

Contestants in fishing tournaments don't need to win a trophy to have fun, according to L. D. Nuckles, regional I&E Officer, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Nuckles said that all the contestants in the recent Port Aransas Deep Sea Round-Up, seemed to have a wonderful time. At the close of each day of fishing, there were cocktail parties, buffets and dinners at which the fishermen could gather, meet other fishermen, talk about fishing and see who had the best suntan (or burn).

husband who had just lost a good one. One man reported on the radio that he was quitting 30 minutes early on the last day. He hadn't had a strike in the whole three days and didn't want some fish to come along at the last minute and spoil his record. Two men, fishing on different boats, were heard getting together a party by radio to fish the Port Isabel tournament which will be held later this month. This in spite of the fact that neither had caught a fish in three days of hard fishing. No, you don't have to win to enjoy a fishing tournament, just like to fish.

My Neighbors

Couples from Louisiana met fishermen from Oklahoma City and California. Two men from Georgia, who didn't catch a fish during the three-day event, talked it over with a family who flew over from Germany, who did catch fish but didn't win a trophy. Voices on the marine radio wave length could be heard congratulating a lady for landing a fish or expressing regret to her

Mobile Pesticide Lab Set For Texas

For the past several years, Texans have become increasingly sensitive to dangers of mis-handled and misused pesticides. Chemicals harmful to insects can cause equal mischief among humans and animal life without proper precautions.

It will be a relief to many people to learn that the Texas Department of Agriculture is doing something about the problem. A new pesticide residue testing laboratory has been included in plans announced this week by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

The mobile lab will travel throughout the state gathering samples of good crops, drinking and stock water. Extensive tests will be made to make certain no pesticide is present in quantities harmful to either stocks or humans.

Pesticides are an everyday part of modern farming and are a great boon when properly controlled. Yet, some mistakes are inevitable and the lab is being constructed for the purpose of providing greater protection for the consuming public.

Commissioner White said the lab is expected to be in operation within six months. It will be moved to various locations in the state according to the harvest season of edible crops. Samples will also be taken from parts of the state on a regular basis and sent to the lab for tests.

"Much of this type of work has already been done by the Food and Drug Administration in Texas," Commissioner White pointed out. "However, the volume of crops is so great that this additional equipment and work by the Texas Department of Agriculture is badly needed. We expect to conduct spot tests on several thousand food products and water samples in the

Letters To The Editor

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch
Amarillo, Texas

Mr. Ross Middleton
Publisher
The News-Sun
Earth, Texas

Dear Ross,

The boys have started working on this year's rodeo and they will be trying harder than ever to put on their best performance for the many fine people in your area who will attend.

You have always been so nice about helping the kids with their rodeo, and again this year we will be sending some stories. I hope you will be able to use them in your fine paper. There are so many people in your city who are interested in our boys and I am sure they would like to know what is going on at the Ranch.

It is quite a performance just watching the boys practice, especially the little guys. They try so hard to stay on the small calves, but more often than not, they wind up at opposite ends of the arena. They always come up from the dirt with smiles on their faces that say they know exactly where they stand with the animals.

Thank you for the help you have given the boys in the past and we hope you and your family will be able to attend one of the two performances. With all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,
Cal Farley

Initial phases of the operation, White pointed out that serious cases of pesticide poisoning are actually quite rare. "But even one case is too many and we are taking all precautions to avoid such accidents."

Senator Andy Rogers Receives New Appointment

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith today announced the appointment of Senator Andy Rogers of Childress to the Interim Committee on Faculty Compensation in State-supported Colleges and Universities.

The study group was authorized by resolution during the recent legislative session. Senator Rogers was co-author of the measure. The Committee on Faculty Compensation will examine existing security benefits for teaching personnel and staffs of state supported institutions of higher education as they compare with similar benefits in other states and with such benefits provided by government and industry. Findings and recommendations will be reported to the Governor and to the 60th Legislature which meets in 1967.

Rogers has been a member of the State Senate since 1953 and prior to that served two terms in the House of Representatives, beginning in 1949. During the 59th Legislature this year he was chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Livestock, vice chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Committee, and a member of the following additional standing committees: Education, Finance, Game and Fish, Military and Veterans Affairs, Nominations, Public Health, State Affairs, Transportation, and Water, and Conservation.

Epic Crowds Pack Parks; Fun Rampant

A grouchy copperhead snake, protecting its ancestral residential rights, twice bit an intruding camper on the foot. But the man visited a local physician and hurried back. Later when the limb bothered him again, he went home to see his family physician, but left his trailer to protect his precious camping spot.

That happened the other day in a state park--Huntsville State Park--and while the reptile incident is a rarity the insistence of the camper in continuing his vacation tour is typical of the enormous patronage of state parks this summer.

W. M. "Mark" Gosdin, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department executive, said happily: "We have run out of just about everything spacewise but the blue sky above us."

As the assistant department director for parks said, 1965 doubtless will be the greatest year for parks, with at least two--Huntsville and Garner--each exceeding 1,000,000 visitations.

The tenacious principal in the snake act at pine-canopied Huntsville was D. E. Holt, 2107 Chestnut Lane, Pasadena (A Houston suburb), just one of the 50,000 visiting there over the July 4 holidays. His address is significant, said Jerry Oliver, park ranger at Huntsville, in that 85 to 90 percent of the visitors at the pine studded 2,122-acre site are from Harris County. Houston itself is only 60 miles away on Interstate 45, a modern highway.

Gosdin said his park forces agree they never saw anything

Tweet, Tweet! Road Runners Foil Bird Fan

When some birds built a nest in the honey suckle vine, Mrs. Louise Barron was excited about fostering feathered neighbors, which surely would be her favorite Cardinals.

When the eggs hatched, the perplexed Mrs. Barron noted: "The little ones had legs like roadrunners."

Then she noticed they had bills and profiles like roadrunners. Finally, they feathered out like roadrunners.

Zowie! But qualifications for Mrs. Barron's secretarial status at Texas Parks and Wildlife regional headquarters had not said anything about bird identification.

The human stomach is about 12 inches long and 4 inches in diameter when moderately full.

Queen Anne of England (1665-1714) was so obese that she had difficulty in getting about, and in the last year of her life she had to be carried to the House of Lords in a chair.

like the Fourth of July crowds, with emphasis on campers and trailer guests. Almost everywhere picnic areas had to be converted into camping grounds. "They had them under every tree," said Gosdin "and even right out in the open."

It was that way from the lone coastal park at tropical Goose Island clear on out to distinctive Monahan Sandhills State Park where merciful nightfall brings soothing breezes to embellish the tranquil setting.

But with all the hubbub, Gosdin said there was not one major accident.

T P A To Open District Office In Dallas

Selection of the Baker Hotel in Dallas as headquarters for an advertising sales office to be opened soon by the Texas Press Association was announced today by Winn Crossley, president of the newspaper organization and publisher of the Madisonville Meteor.

Office will be located in Suite 1450-52 in the Baker Hotel. Crossley pointed out that the 850-member association of Texas' daily and weekly newspapers was preparing to offer its one-order, one-check-ad placement service to advertising agencies, as well as firms and others desiring to do business with Texas newspapers.

"TPA will cooperate with national advertising representatives of Texas newspapers," Crossley emphasized, "and will place ads only for state accounts. We will expand the services offered by Texas newspapers to potential advertisers. By providing a placement service, we hope to make it easier to publish display ads in Texas newspapers, thus encouraging greater use of newspaper advertising."

At either the regional office in Dallas or the Central Office in Austin, an advertiser or an agency may purchase space in one or all of the 550 dailies and weeklies in Texas. Here a space buyer need only issue one order and write one check for the total cost of the space desired. TPA then performs all the details. This consists of order-filling, ad placement, furnishing tear sheets to the advertiser as proof of publication, and payment to the newspapers.

Said Crossley, "We will cooperate with national advertising representatives who have signed contracts with Texas newspapers by turning such orders over to them. We will cooperate with ad agencies by helping them get greater returns from their clients' investment in newspaper advertising. Market data will be assembled for the convenience and guidance of agencies and their clients, at no cost to either."

Cotton Root Rot Is Plant Killer

Homeowners who find shrubs and ornamentals dying during the warm season may discover a fungal disease at the "root" of their problem.

A disease, cotton root rot which is common to all areas of Texas except the Panhandle and High Plains, is often the cause of these plant deaths, says Wendell Home, Extension plant pathologist, Texas A&M University.

Home explains that the fungus, Phymatotrichum omnivorum, is known to infect 2,000 species of wild and cultivated plants. Infected plants die suddenly after the first symptoms of wilting. The roots decay and when pulled from the soil, the bark of the root slips easily and has woolly strands of the fungus clinging to the surface.

The disease causing organism is capable of slow movement through the soil and can be transmitted to new areas by infected transplants. If a home is built in an area where cotton has been raised, it doesn't necessarily mean that the plants grown there will have the disease. The fungus must be in the soil and must have conditions suitable for development. Despite claims to the contrary, there is no satisfactory chemical control for cotton root rot. If the disease has invaded the plants there is no control--chemical or otherwise.

Research on the fungus disease dates back to 1886 when L. H. Pammel from Washington University in St. Louis began experiments on this problem in Texas. He discovered that the disease was caused by a fungus but had little luck in controlling it. Research has been carried on in the Rio Grande Valley for 30 years, employing latest scientific agricultural techniques, but no cure has been found.

An accident which occurred in North Central Texas near Iowa Park was thought to have solved the problem that had faced researchers for decades. An oil pipeline ruptured and flooded a nearby cotton field with an abundance of crude oil. When the field was finally cleared of oil and again planted, the root rot fungus did not appear.

Continued research on this possibility proved that too much oil was required to be practical. Similar results were gained from tests on other chemicals and fungicides thought to be valuable in root rot control.

It is not, however, a lost cause for the homeowner. There are a host of ornamentals--from 30 ft. high trees to small flowers--that are immune to the disease. Since the disease is more prevalent in alkaline soils, it sometimes helps to acidify the soil with materials such as sulphur. These may correct certain situations but none are satisfactory for every job. The safest and most practical way to avoid the disease is to plant resistant species. A list of these can be found in Extension Service publication L-990, "Cotton Root Rot."

Local Teacher Completes Institute

Bill Anderson, Springlake-Earth High School teacher, has participated in the Hastings College English Institute. The Institute, a seven week session, was scheduled to end July 23.

Institute members studied literary masterpieces, modern grammar, and composition. During the first three weeks, students spent part of each afternoon in workshop sessions where they studied the problems of slow learners and the last three weeks studying modern methods of teaching English.

Twice each week films on literature and composition were previewed by the members of the Institute.

Institute participants heard seven guest lecturers plus a number of local speakers who contributed information in specialized areas relating to the topics of modern grammar, composition, and literary masterpieces.

Each Institute member earned eight hours of credit in English. The Institute, one of two English Institutes in Nebraska this summer, was sponsored by the National Defense Act and participants are given a stipend for attending.

Back in 1847 the U.S. Post Office delivered newspapers for a distance up to 30 miles without charge, but deliveries over 30 miles and under 100 miles were made for a penny.

Lamb County To Recieve Road Money

The Lamb County Commissioner's Court met in regular session, July 30, and passed five orders, one to accept $49,536.74 from the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness for the Lateral Road account of the county. This represents the Lamb County surplus as of August 31, 1965. Of this amount, approximately $2,440 will be credited to the sinking fund of the County, and the remainder will be used for the construction of county lateral roads.

Henry Lewis said, "We've been gaining about $2,000 more each year, which will allow approximately $11,000 for each precinct.

The court approved the appointment effective immediately of John D. Smith as presiding judge of voting precinct 12, effective immediately.

Opening bids were taken for a new 1965 Ford Galaxie for the use of the Sheriff's Department. The low bid of $1,656.85 was submitted by the Sudan Motor Co. of Sudan, who was awarded the bid.

According to a Texas Employment Commission Office spokesman, the farm labor shortage in Lamb County at the present time is not so bad as was anticipated early with the discontinuance of the bracero program.

Some farmers have withdrawn their application for help and have been able to find local labor. In some areas, there was a shortage in help for irrigating. It is reported that in the Olton and Mulshoe area, local labor is being used in the cucumber harvest, and it seems that most farmers are well pleased with the results. Many mentioned that the local labor has worked more rapidly than the alien workers.

Texas Employment Commission local manager, Billy L. Lynch, stated, "They have contacted many of the T. E. C. offices throughout the state, and only in a few areas are the shortages critical. While in other places, they have an over-abundance of farm laborers and would be available for work here at the present time if needed."

The lack of a standby labor force seems to be the drawback at the present time. In the past, if an area farmer needed hands, he was unable to get them immediately, but now, in most cases, it is a matter of days before help can be had.

According to Lynch, "The critical period will be this fall. If the farmers are able to bring in their cotton crop, we feel that we will have most of our labor problems licked."

There may be shortages of cotton stompers and some farmers are making advanced arrangements for these hands.

In Texas, the labor situation has not been as bad as in other states. Our problem here was caused primarily by the fact that approximately 100,000 Texas farm laborers have been recruited by other states—mainly California and Colorado.

Fish Eats Rattler; Ditto Lucky Angler

Game Warden Homer Robertson, as is so often the case among persons in his line of endeavor, was appealed to here to decide an unusual crisis overtaking six lucky fishermen.

The anglers had taken a fine catch along the beach, including eleven big redfish ranging in size up to eight pounds. After routine dressing of the fish which had bitten on live shrimp, they decided to explore their stomachs to satisfy curiosity about what natural food they had eaten.

One of the larger redfish contained a rattlesnake. Hence the appeal to the game warden. His lofty decision: The fish definitely was edible.

State Fair Of Texas In Dallas Oct. 9-24

The ancient occupation of farming will step into the modern nuclear age at the 1965 State Fair of Texas Agriculture Show in Dallas, October 9-24.

The central exhibit of the huge attraction in the Agriculture Building will depict solar energy as the source and the subsistence of all living matter on this planet. A symbolic green plant, The Good Life Tree, will illustrate how chlorophyll converts the sun's energy into food for all animal life.

A supporting exhibit will include a mock-up of Texas A&M University's $10,000,000 Nuclear Science Center, the largest of its type between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains. Use of the Center in producing radio active substances for research in fertilizer application and in animal heredity will be explained.

Other exhibits flanking the solar energy display will develop in depth the role that energy plays in food preservation, in programming life growth and in poultry science. Additional exhibits will explain the nature of insecticides and herbicides as chemical servants of Agriculture, the objectives of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the growing problems of water supply for the expanding population, animal research and the agricultural aspect of recreation.

Scientists of Texas A&M University are cooperating with State Fair of Texas officials in planning the 1965 Agriculture Show, which will be open daily free of charge to State Fair visitors during the sixteen day season opening October 9.

Earth Postal Employees To Take Part in PEP

Postmaster Harold Miller announced today that all Earth Post Office employees will be asked to take part in the new Postal Efficiency Plan announced Wednesday, July 22, by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The Postal Efficiency Plan includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing costs," Miller said. "It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government services."

In Washington, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski termed the plan's twin objectives of economy and service betterment "a matter of highest priority" and called for total involvement of all employees through the Post Office suggestion program.

Semi-annual reports will be made to the President, Gronouski said, and realized savings will be reverted to the Treasury or applied to improving postal service.

A local committee will be organized to fulfill the two purposes of the plan:

1. Reduce costs
2. Improve services

Ideas generated by individual employees will be taken up by the committee. Accepted ideas will be passed onto Washington for possible application on a national level. Employees whose ideas are adopted nation-wide will be given national awards. The Postmaster General will personally oversee the program.

Postmaster Harold D. Miller will be chairman of the local committee to implement PEP.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Slated For August 26-27-28

The 336 youngsters at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo are getting ready for their annual rodeo and the practice rides have already started for the Labor Day Weekend event.

More Ranchers will be participating than ever. They started practicing nearly three months before the event and the boys will take part in the rodeo, either in competition or in the many behind-the-scenes activities that are necessary to a successful rodeo.

The events range from bronc riding for the older boys to the famous stick horse race in which the youngest boys, ages 5 to 8, navigate their mounts around barrels placed in the Ranch's arena. Professional rodeo stock is used by the older boys, and calves from the Ranch's own herd provide thrilling rides for the less experienced Ranchers.

Local KMP Representatives Present Demonstration In Tulia

Gus Parish, President of the K. M. P. Pump Co., Clarence Hamilton, General Sales Manager, and Butch Hamilton, agent, were among the approximately one hundred farmers and business people attending the Swisher County Conservation Tour in Tulia, Thursday, August 5.

Six farms in the Tulia area were visited. Demonstrations of lake and tail water return pumps were given by K. M. P. Pump Co. of Earth, Gifford Hill Western of Tulia, and the Dobbs Corporation of Canyon. Those who attended the demonstrations were impressed by the process of using tail water and lake water to save underground water. Bob Ewing of Ewing Irrigation Supply, Tulia dealer for K. M. P. Pumps, has sold sixteen of the pumps in the Tulia area during the past month. He was one of the sponsors of the Field Day.

The Tulia and Swisher County Chamber of Commerce were hosts at the barbeque dinner served at noon in Tulia.

K.M.P. Lake Pump Donated To Research Farms

The KMP Lake Pump Manufacturing Co. of Earth recently donated an 8 inch by 14 foot portable Lake Pump to the High Plains Research Foundation of Halfway and Cotton Center. This pump will be used to pump lake water and will also be used to recirculate tail water on Cotton Center farms. The KMP Lake Pump will be powered by a 292 Chevrolet motor, donated by General Irrigation Supply of Lubbock. Records will be kept on the cost of pumping the lake and tail water. This information will be made available to farmers in the High Plains area.

Current records show that lake water and tail water can be pumped much cheaper and has a greater value to growing crops than underground water. The temperature of lake water is higher and also contains a great amount of water-soluble fertilizer.

The use of lake water and tail water is very essential in helping to conserve the underground water in the High Plains area.

Doug Parish, general manager of KMP Lake Pump Manufacturing Co., was pleased to have KMP Pump selected to be used by the High Plains Research Foundation in their experiment.

Rabies Pose Danger To Varmints

City folks now happily embracing nature, particularly in state parks, were cautioned by a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman against getting too chummy with strange creatures.

There's one standard reason for that, he said, because they might get in range of a pretty feline that turned out to be a polecat.

But another excuse could become more serious since, the man said, rabies occasionally is found among varmints in the late summer.

He suggested that any varmint such as a polecat, raccoon, possum, fox or such showing unusual tameness or unnatural behavior be avoided. The spokesman said these animals when afflicted with rabies generally lose their wariness and sometimes even attack people.
