The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Several months ago, I wrote a letter to the President urging him to adopt a national energy policy based on sound economics, the freedom of choice associated with the free enterprise system and a little common sense. Today, we have a national plan that establishes an energy bureaucracy estimated to have a $7 billion budget and a staff of at least 20,000.

While the President understands the need to conserve energy and to reduce waste, he prefers to replace the free market with punitive laws, Federal intervention and national taxes. I believe the free market works and a system of tax credits for energy-saving devices and for conversion to alternate energy fuels would be preferable.

Conservation and the efficient use of our energy resources should become a way of life for today and tomorrow. Conservation, however, cannot produce energy supplies. The greatest waste of our energy resources occurs when known recoverable energy reserves are forced to be abandoned because of Federal bureaucracy and economic intervention.

The proposed plan emphasizes the use of coal, solar and other renewable resources. It does, however, further restrict their development with increased environmental safeguards, bureaucratic delay and additional costs. What the President gives with one hand, he takes away with the other.

A cornerstone of any national energy policy should be to make sure that the burden of energy development and production is shared equally by all citizens and by all branches of government. The President's plan will be disastrous to the economy of all energy-producing states. Texas may now be in a position of having to face a tax bill. Preliminary analysis shows Texans paying 24 percent of the taxes imposed by the President, with rebates and tax credits going to consumers in the non-producing states.

The President's proposed legislation would roll back the price of existing Texas contracts, dictate the terms of Texas oil and gas contracts, and allocate gas from Texas consumers to other parts of the nation. The President's proposals are unworkable, unreasonable and certainly unfair to Texans.

The Federal government has operated an unsuccessful and costly program of energy regulation for 25 years. Now, the President wants to impose this failure on the Texas free market. It has been said there are winners and losers under the President's energy plan. The bureaucrats in Washington have certainly won, and the people of Texas and this nation have lost again.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

A recognized leader in cotton, financial, civic and church circles, Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, was elected President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at the PCG Board meeting in Lubbock April 14.

Cline, a director since 1966 and co-chairman of the PCG Finance Committee, succeeds W.B. Criswell of Idalou, who becomes Chairman of the PCG Board. Criswell had completed the two-year maximum time permitted in office under the organization's by-laws.

Elected Vice President of the 25-county cotton producer association, replacing Cline, was Joe D. Unfred of New Home, former PCG Secretary-Treasurer. The Board also chose Gary Ivey of Ralls, who shared the Finance Committee chairmanship with Cline, to succeed Unfred.

Unfred was first elected a director from Lynn County in 1965 and Ivey has been a Crosby County director since 1972.

Cline is actively engaged in cotton production on almost 4,000 acres and is President of the First National Bank of Lamesa, a position he assumed in January of this year after starting with the bank in 1948 as a bookkeeper. He is a producer delegate to the National Cotton Council and serves on that organization's Technical and Cotton Allotment Study Committees.

A 1962 graduate of Louisiana State University's School of Banking, Cline has been a frequent lecturer at Texas A & M University bank conferences. He spoke recently at the Western

Cotton Production Conference on "Financing Cotton Producers."

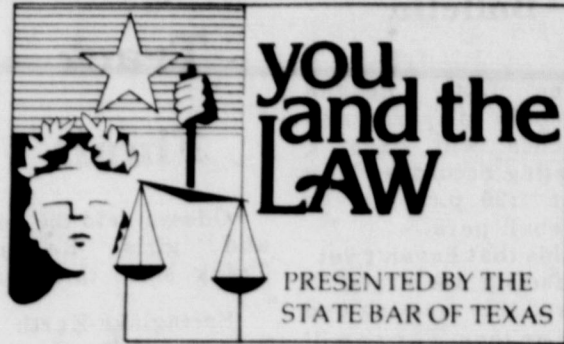

The new PCG President is now in his tenth year as mayor of Lamesa, is a past president of the Dawson County United Fund, is active in the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and was recently re-elected as a director of the Lamesa Industrial Foundation.

Cline has been a deacon of the Key Baptist Church in Lamesa for over 20 years and for a number of years held the office of treasurer in the Lamesa Baptist Association.

Following his election as PCG President, Cline pledged his best efforts to "maintain PCG as the best regional cotton producer organization in the Cotton Belt."

Election of PCG officers followed the organization's 20th Annual Membership Meeting, attended by some 400 High Plains cotton producers and allied businessmen.

Along with annual reports from President Criswell and Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, the crowd heard addresses by Grover Wrenn, Deputy Director of Health Standards for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, and Edwin Johnson, Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticide Programs in the Environmental Protection Agency.

Q: Six years ago I had an illegitimate child. His father claimed him and has been paying child support ever since. The child was my maiden name. I am now married by the Texas common law, and I use my husband's name. Can my child's name be changed to my husband's without being adopted? And, how will this affect the child's real father who is paying child support?

A: First of all, the child's name can be changed to that of your husband without your husband adopting him. To do this, a petition must be filed in district court. The child's real father would still be obligated to pay child support even if you do this.

Q: Though I am single, I would like to draw up a hand-written will. Would it be legal?

A: Requirements for wills in Texas are simple. If you are 18 or older and of sound mind, you can make a will. Also, if you are under 18, but married or in the armed forces, you can also make a will. A will in your own handwriting is legal if it is written out in its entirety. If it is typed or printed, it must be witnessed by two or more at the time you sign it. To make sure the will will accomplish what you want, however, you might want to let a lawyer take a look at it.

Q: What determines if you are eligible for help through a Legal Aid office in Texas?

A: Actually, it varies from community to community. The best way to find out is to call them up. Most Legal Aid Societies base their criterion on income and the size of the family. For instance, a family of four may not be eligible if they make more than $464 per month. Let me also add one more thing, most offices limit the types of cases they will accept. For example, they might not help you in what is called a "fee-generating" case, like a personal injury suit. If Legal Aid can't help you, the Texas Lawyer Referral Service office will. Call them at 1 800 252-9690.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A young woman writes: "My mother died when I was a little girl, and I don't know just what drugs she may have taken during the difficult pregnancy that resulted in my birth. I am afraid that I may be a DES daughter, and may develop cancer because of a drug that she took. What should I do?"

ANSWERline: If you are not already under the care of a gynecologist, a specialist in women's health conditions, please have a checkup and explain your history. Your mother may or may not have taken DES which is an abbreviation for the name of a chemical compound (diethylstilbestrol) that was given to some pregnant women likely to suffer miscarriage. A very small percentage of these women's daughters have developed a form of cancer of the vagina. An annual gynecological examination will uncover any possible suspicious cellular changes in the vaginal area. It is therefore a wise idea to give yourself the protection of professional care.

A biology student asks: "Could you explain what happens when a researcher makes a discovery under an American Cancer Society grant?" Does the ACS own the drug, or make a profit from it?"

Q: I was divorced about a year ago, and the cost of living has gone up continually since then. Is there any way I can get an increase in the child-support my husband pays?

A: Yes. To do this you must file pleadings in the proper district court. In a hearing set by the court after proper notice is served on your "ex", you must show that a change in conditions necessitates an increase. Also, your former spouse must be financially able to pay the increase in child support.

Selected fashions worn in the White House over the last 200 years will highlight "First Ladies' Fashions & Fancies in Cotton," a historical and contemporary style show to be held in the Olton High School on May 5 at 7:30 p.m. The show, sponsored by the Olton Young Homemakers of America, is open to the public. Proceeds from the $1.50 admission charge will be donated to the Olton Historical Society.

"We're extremely pleased that we can present these historic fashions," says Mrs. Jim Ferguson, president of the club. "The 12 dresses and gowns span America's history from Martha Washington to Grace Coolidge. Contemporary fashions furnished by the Mini Mall round out the show."

Included among the historic replicas are Martha Washington's nightgown, Dolly Madison's evening dress, Frances Cleveland's bustling maternity dress.

AS A U.I.L. entry, the picture memory team composed of fourth and fifth graders, has to learn the name of forty pictures, how to spell each, also the artist and his nationality. This team is composed of five members plus an alternate. This year they won second place in U.I.L. competition at Bovina. They are: Left to Right-Kelley Walden, Jennifer Wood, Cathy Cain, Tracy Murray. (Front Row) Kelly Gover, and Ken Craft.

4-H Club News

The 4-H Club meeting was held, Monday, April 18 at the Showbarn in Earth. There were 28 members present and 8 leaders. 3 new members present were Joe Cornett, Eric Maikranz and Kenneth Craft. The meeting was called to order by Tommy Graham. The Pledge and Motto was led by Wade Kelley. The minutes were read by Petra Lewis. The treasure report was given by Glenn Branscum. The program presented by Hershel Hulcy was on Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation or better known as CPR. He explained that cardio meant heart, pulmonary, lungs and Resuscitation, bring back breath. He demonstrated the proper way to give CPR. First tilt the head back, pinch nostrils and blow quick breaths. If something is in the mouth, clean it out and repeat the process. If a person stops breathing, he has only 4 to 6 minutes before death. Someday, it may be you who may need to save a life. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cain and Mrs. Been.

The Senior Livestock Judging team took 1st place honors and will be going to the state Livestock Judging contest at Texas A&M University during June. Team members were Brad Walden, Brad Pierce, Dan Foley and David Smith. Brad Walden was high individual, while Dan Foley was 3rd high of the contest.

The Junior Livestock Judging team won 1st place in beef cattle judging and Kyle Reynolds was high individual in beef cattle. Team members were Kyle Reynolds, Heath Reynolds, Garland Wilkinson and Mike Hill.

The Senior Horse Judging team won 4th place. Team members included: Dawn Branscum, Dina Jo Hampton, Gary Brown and John Chester.

The Junior Horse Judging team took 3rd place and Vonda Stephens was high point in performance judging. Team members were Vonda Stephens, Bridget Hampton, Gary Fields and Carla Taylor.

The Dairy Cattle Judging team also competed and did an excellent job. Team members were Wendy Branscum, Lesan- Templeton and Cary Sawyer.

Planting delayed by RAIN?

YOU CAN PLANT IT LATE IN MAY AND STILL MAKE A VERY PROFITABLE CROP

AN EXAMPLE FROM THE TOM WILLIAMS FARM, FARWELL, TX:

Planting Date	Harvest Date	Yield Per Acre	% Moisture at Harvest
May 22	Oct. 17	163.5	24.8

Pioneer brand 3780 is no ordinary corn hybrid. It matures 12 to 15 days earlier than most hybrids grown in this area. It is several points drier at maturity than the average. It has roots and stalks that allow it to take some rough treatment late in the season.

This is the corn we call "the cost cutter" because it takes one less irrigation than later hybrids, saving you that big fuel and labor cost.

We think you'll be glad that the rain forced you to plant this fine short-season hybrid. You may discover you've made more net profit than you would have had you planted any other variety.

Pioneer Corporation Has Annual Meeting

At the Company's Annual Meeting held in Amarillo, Pioneer Corporation President, K. B. Watson, announced the successful completion of a multiple zone gas-condensate discovery well at Vermilion Block 310, offshore, Louisiana. Transco Exploration Company is the operator for a group of seven companies which includes Pioneer's subsidiary Pioneer Production Corporation.

Watson said that the discovery well was drilled to a total depth of 9,916 feet and seven gas-condensate reservoir sands were logged between 4,500 and 7,500 feet. On a drill stem test from 7,425 to 7,434 feet, the well flowed 6.6 million cubic feet of gas and 47 barrels of 56.2 gravity condensate per day on 16/64-inch choke with a flowing pressure of 3,120 pounds per square inch.

A drill stem test of a second interval from 6,055 to 6,060 feet flowed 5.5 million cubic feet of gas and 83 barrels of 57.9 gravity condensate per day on an 18/64-inch choke with a flowing pressure of 2,405 pounds per square inch. Location of a second exploratory test on the block to determine the area extent of the discovery has been permitted approximately 8,500 feet north and west of the discovery well.

This is the first commercial discovery announced on the five Transco-operated blocks acquired at the November, 1976 Federal Lease Sale for $123.3 million in bonuses. A non-commercial gas zone was penetrated on West Delta Block 34. Additional exploratory tests on the three other blocks are presently being drilled.

Vermilion Block 310, covering 5,000 acres, was acquired for $34.2 million bonus bid and is owned by Transco 38%; Freeport Oil Co. 25%; Pioneer Production Corp. 10%; Energy Development Corp. 8.36; the Continental Group, Inc. 8.3%; McMoran Exploration Co. 5%; and Mesa Petroleum Co. 5%.

All of the incumbent directors were re-elected to their positions. They are: C. I. Wall, J. Harvey Herd, Laurence R. Jones, Jr., E. S. Morris, Maurice E. Purnell, Jr., Burton P. Smith, A. C. Verner, W. E. Walker, Jr., and K. B. Watson.

At their regular meeting following the Annual Meeting the directors returned all of the officers to their current positions. They are: K. B. Watson, president and chief executive officer, M. D. LaGrone, E. S. Morris, and J. J. Heitz, senior vice presidents; James E. Cannon, C. David Culver, C. J. Gholson, R. R. McCafferty, Larry R. Shortes, Harry H. Walden, vice presidents; William N. Lampe, vice president and secretary; R. W. Lee, assistant vice president and treasurer; Joseph W. Maples, Jr., Charles

Clean Air Week

Charles R. Barden, Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board, is encouraging every citizen of the State to observe Clean Air Week in Texas, May 1-7.

"Now, especially," states Barden, "is the time when everyone must realize the importance of the damaging effects of air pollution, when our nation is being called on to sacrifice in order to conserve our depleted energy resources."

"Governor Dolph Briscoe has designated this period, by proclamation, to reflect this State's determination that the problem of air pollution can and must be solved," said the Executive Director.

Even though significant progress has been made, the most difficult part of the task lies ahead. According to Barden, it has become apparent that efforts must be directed toward additional research and analyses of the basic components of air pollution if they are to be dealt with effectively.

"In many areas, policies have forced us beyond the limits of known technology," he emphasizes. "The production and use of our energy and the protection of environmental quality are too often viewed as mutually exclusive and opposing issues. In reality, energy and environment are the same issue. Both our energy supplies and our air are natural resources which must be managed for the common good. It is imperative that we all realize that we can no longer afford to misuse our air resources just as we cannot afford to use energy in a wasteful manner. We must find a balance between energy and environment and use both resources wisely."

This must be a unified effort if Texas and the nation are to succeed. This means that cleaning up the air is not just the job of the Texas Air Control Board, it is also the responsibility of everyone that is willing to help, including: industry, educators, and private citizens.

According to Barden, "Even then, immediate solutions to all of the problems cannot be assured, when such aspects as continued economic growth are weighed against environmental quality. Still, with the cooperation of all Texans, the Texas Air Control Board can make application of sensible control measures that will lead to significant reductions of air contaminants, and individual citizens can help by keeping themselves informed and supporting the cause of Clean Air Week in Texas all year long."

FACTS & FIGURES

An estimated two million Americans have glaucoma—and half of them don't even know it. The disease can be medically treated and permanently arrested, yet accounts for 14 percent of all cases of blindness in the U.S.

Approximately 797,000 Americans have lost some degree of sight from glau-coma. The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness urges all people over 35 to have their eyes examined once every two years.

4-H Ag Scholarships

Agricultural college enrollments increased 75 percent in the six-year period from 1969 to 1975.

Many ag school deans attribute the enrollment jump to young people's concerns about world food production, a growing interest in ecology, and the back-to-nature movement that began in the late 1960s.

Present or former 4-H members who plan to major in agriculture or related fields may be eligible for college scholarships offered by private-sector donors this year through National 4-H Council.

4-H scholarships range from $600 to $1,000. They are awarded on the basis of interest in attending college, 4-H background, grades, leadership ability and financial need.

DeKalb Ag Research, Inc. offers four $800 scholarships to young men and women who plan to enroll for their junior year of college in the fall of 1977, and who expect to major in some phase of agribusiness.

Recipients also will spend two days studying operations at the company's research headquarters in DeKalb, Ill.

All Gamma Rho Educational Foundation provides one $600 scholarship to a 4-H member planning to enroll as an agricultural college freshman in the fall of 1977.

Two scholarships of $1,000 each are donated by Allied Mills, Inc. These go to current or former 4-H members who will be juniors majoring in animal science at a college or university this fall.

Farms, Inc., Recipe Division, provides two Lassie 4-H Veterinary Medicine scholarships of $1,000 each to former 4-H diet members currently enrolled in a college of veterinary medicine.

4-H scholarships are a means of recognizing outstanding 4-H work and furthering the college education of present or former 4-H'ers. Recipients are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Full information on scholarships and special application forms are available from the state 4-H office.

THE PERFECT PAIR

FOR THE SOUTH PLAINS

The Proven One

The New One

This matched pair of heavy yielders can produce a profit in spite of increased cost of farming. They both have in-bred yield potential which gives you a profit even with expensive water and fertilizer. 8311 has dominated yield results in this area for three years. 8272 promises even more. They both have sturdy stalks and good roots . . . they can take a lot of punishment and still be standing at harvest. And if you split big acreage between the two, you're going to have as pretty a field as you've ever seen. . . good exertion of heavy, uniform heads, all at the same height . . . beautiful . . . and profitable.

A four-year-old, disease-safe, high test weight yellow endosperm hybrid which is now a proven champion. Bushel weights normally run two to five pounds above other hybrids . . . and that's pure profit. Classified as a medium-late variety, it adjusts its maturity to make full use of growing seasons. A relatively short hybrid with good standability, 8311 has sturdy stalks, good roots and good head exertion. It has outstanding height uniformity and semi-open heads of golden bronze grain. This great hybrid has good tolerance and good resistance to post-freeze lodging.

This new full-season Pioneer hybrid is recommended for this area where adequate water and fertilizer are available. And though it responds to water with super yields, it can also take a little moisture stress and still produce well. It has good roots and stalks and excellent tolerance to MDMV. It has a beautiful appearance . . . the grain will be dark red on semi-compact heads. Plants are short like 8311 with good exertion and uniform head height for easy combining.

GTE Training

Department Rivalled

General Telephone Company of the Southwest operates a training department that would rival some colleges.

"The goals of the training department are to improve efficiency of employees through the learning of new and updated skills in both management and technical fields," Tom Alford, training director, said. "As a result, the company can improve quality, quantity and service to customers while improving the profitability of the company through faster and more efficient workmanship."

Alford said most courses are designed to be directly job related, teaching the specific skills which enable employees to perform their jobs. Additionally, employees are able to rise to higher levels of competence and become eligible for advancements to higher level jobs.

Non-management employees can follow a career path in which they begin working in an entry level job and progress to the top level job, if qualified. The training process not only defines the job but expands the definition to include the total amount of knowledge and experience required to progress through the job hierarchies.

"The company has conducted training in the technical skills for years," Alford pointed out.

"However, in recent years management techniques have been growing as fast as the changes in technology. As a result we have expanded management skills instruction."

"Telecommunications is an ever-changing field," Alford continued. "As a result, we add 12 to 15 new courses each year to meet these changing needs just as colleges change courses with the times and needs of students. In addition, because of the major changes or advances in communications or new services and equipment, there is revision of existing courses on a continuing basis."

The San Angelo-based company had over 5,000 students attend 190,000 hours of instruction in the 160 courses taught during 1975. In 1976 this increased to over 8,000 students attending over 285,000 hours of instruction in 175 courses.

Students are mostly General of the Southwest employees. However, during 1975-76, 13 students from Saudia Arabia, Australia, Iran, Costa Rica and Taiwan attended schools. Seventy-three students from other independent telephone companies, Southwestern Bell and other GTE companies attended company training sessions.

The largest employee groups attending courses are those directly involved in providing customer service, amounting to over 65 per cent of students. Engineering and construction employees make up another 25 per cent with management, support and other subjects making up the remaining enrollment.

Courses range from half a day to eight weeks depending upon the subject. Forty-four instructors make up the training group. Initially, they undergo a two-week workshop in training fundamentals and technology. After that, periodic refresher training is conducted to cover new methods and maintain professionalism. In addition, instructors are cross-trained on a regular basis to increase their expertise in the various telephony subjects.

The instructors have a variety of backgrounds and experience. Some are hired from outside sources while others come from the employee groups. Around 25 per cent of instructors have college degrees and another 25 per cent have had some college training. Five per cent have master degrees.

Training is conducted in 36 classrooms throughout the company's four state operations. Locations include San Angelo, Garland, Irving, Broken Arrow, Okla.; Texarkana, Bryan, Baytown, Brownwood and Robstown. Other locations are used as student load requires and include Oklahoma City and Purcell in Oklahoma; Hobbs, N.M.; Dickinson, Port Lavaca, Brady, Memphis and Perryton. General of the Southwest has the third largest training department of the 17 GTE operating telephone companies and is recognized as an innovator in the field of telecommunications training.

"No credits or degrees are given," Alford concluded, "but anyone telephones ready to serve following a career path will pur 750,000 customers."

GLAZED GRAPE MEAT LOAF A SWEET TREAT

Any dish—appetizer, main course or dessert—can satisfy the sweet tooth. With a little bit of jam or jelly, just about every meal can be turned into a special occasion.

Here's a recipe for a unique meat loaf—made something extra special with grape jam! (And if you use a 2-pound jar you'll still have plenty of jam left for breakfast!)

GLAZED GRAPE MEAT LOAF

- 1-1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1-1/2 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup Smucker's Grape Jam
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish

In a medium bowl, combine ground beef, bread crumbs, eggs, onion, salt, and pepper; blend well. Combine jam, ketchup, mustard, and horseradish; stir to blend. Add half the jam mixture to meat mixture; blend well. Shape meat into a loaf. Place in a shallow baking pan. Spoon remaining grape mixture over top. Bake, uncovered, in a 400°F. oven 45 to 50 minutes, or until meat is done. Serves six.

Captain Your Vacation Destiny

Sailing on your own chartered yacht may sound like a pipe dream but with today's overall expense of an Island resort vacation, it is more realistic than you think.

For example, this 41-footer will easily sleep six persons and the cost-per-person is less than it would be for accommodations and meals at an up-scale resort. The boats are available—with or without captains—in many sizes to fit almost any budget. Information on chartering a sailboat for a cruising holiday is available from Capt. Don, Wind Song Charters, 2901 NE 21st Terrace, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. 33306.

Olton Young Homemakers of America are sponsoring a style show Friday evening May 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Olton High School auditorium. Admission is $1.50 per person and the proceeds will go to the Olton Historic Preservation Society.

Fashions of the past, present and future will be featured. In describing the historic costumes Mrs. Jim Ferguson, president of the Olton chapter of Young Homemakers states "The twelve dresses and gowns span America's history from Martha Washington to Grace Coolidge."

There will be Martha Washington's night gown, Dolly Madison Evening dress, Frances Cleavelands bustled maternity dress, Edith Roosevelt's formal riding habit, Nelly Tagg motoring dress, Julia Tylers cloaked traveling clothes, Jane Pierce's everyday dress, Caroline Harrison cloak, Alice Roosevelt wedding gown, Edith Wilson traveling dress and Grace Coolidge's tennis togs.

The historic fashions were designed for the collection of Ciba-Geigy Corporation, a nationwide manufacturer and marketer of crop-production chemicals for cotton. Styles of the future were designed by members of Olton high school Future Homemakers of America.
