He indicated that by having a local office where he could meet with farmers in a personal manner without the farmer having to make a long trip to Littlefield, or place a long distance call—both would be in a position to solve the problems more speedily by eliminating the miles between them. Approximately twenty-five girls entered the Future Homemakers of America, Senior Division, at the South Plains Panhandle Fair in Lubbock. Each year FHA awards a cash prize to the top three winners who accumulate the largest amount of points. A girl receives points for the ribbons she is awarded. A blue ribbon is three points, red, two points, and a white ribbon is one point. Fonda Goodwin tied for third place in over all points. She had a total of eleven points. All other ribbons were awarded for knitting and embroidery. This is a hobby Fonda has enjoyed since she was in the second grade. This is her first year in FHA. Fonda won a first place ribbon for a baby carriage blanket, a linen tablecloth and a cup towel that she had made for a total of 3 blue ribbons and a second place red ribbon for a throw pillow. Redistrict County Precincts

The Lamb County Commissioners Court recently passed a motion that the Commission-ers' Precincts would be re-districted for the purpose of more equally dividing the roads. As it stood, there are 1,200 miles of county maintained roads. Out of the 1,200 miles, Precinct 3 had 85 more miles to maintain than the other precincts. Now after the re-districting, all commissioners have 300 miles each. From the 85 miles that was taken from Precinct 3, 33 miles went to Precinct 1, 27 miles was transferred to Precinct 4 and the balance to Precinct 2. It is believed that this division will give the rural area citizens a more equally maintained county road. Also, a new Lamb County Voting Precinct was added to meet the new metes and bounds of the commissioners' boundaries. It will be called Box 16. These new precincts will become effective January 1, 1973.

125 Attend Lay Witness Rally National 4-H Week Now in Progress

Approximately 125 people representing Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma met in the United Methodist Church of Earth Saturday, September 30, for a Lay Witness Rally. The Rally was sponsored by the Institute of church renewal located in Atlanta, Georgia. Bob Mantague of the Institute was the resource director, Elroy Wislan of Springlake was the coordinator. This was the type of rally that everyone participated in and all those in attendance reported that new insights were gained. It was a day filled with inspiration and wonderful Christian fellowship. Georgia Bahlman is still in the Littlefield Hospital undergoing tests.

The first load of maize for the Earth area was brought into Farm Chemical Grain Co. late Friday afternoon by the Halsell Farms. The Halsell Farms are located 4 1/2 miles west of Earth. The load of McNair 654 milo weighed 14,460 pounds. The moisture content was 14.33%. Anhydrous ammonia, 13-390, from Earth Ag Supply, was used to fertilize it. The recent hot sunny weather has put a smile on the area farmers' faces and most people are of the opinion that this year's crops are among the best we have had lately. If the weather will give them the proper break we will yield a mighty good harvest.

Who Cares?

By DAVID HARTMAN

It is not the intention of this article to rehash last Sunday morning's sermon at First Baptist Church. It is my aim to make you think. The question I want you to ask yourself is, "Do I really care about what is going on around me?"

Why?
 If you answered yes, there has got to be a reason. If you answered no, there is also a reason.

To really care is costly. It is costly because personal involvement is required. It requires that you give of yourself. A pastor of a congregation in the slums once told a group of solicitous suburban churchmen, "We don't want your food baskets at Christmas, or your old clothes and your cast-off toys. We don't want your offers to send paint to fix up our church basement. We want you. We need you. We would like to know that you care. That's what you can give us!"

It is often much easier to give "things" to people thinking that will be good enough. Some parents make this mistake with their children. A child is often given everything he asks for and is unappreciative of the one who gave it to him. Or perhaps a parent lavishes his child with expensive gifts thinking this will make up for the time he doesn't have (or take) with his child. Most young children want YOU more than the "things" you can buy them.

Have you had the devastating experience of buying your young child a fairly expensive, beautifully boxed toy only to have him play with the box after the toy was removed? A shattering experience. It doesn't take much effort to make small children happy. The main thing they want to know is that you genuinely care about them. What you buy them doesn't matter a whole lot.

I am finding out the residents in our area convalescent homes don't particularly want great sums of money spent on them. But they do want to know that somebody cares for them individually as a person. Do we really care about them? I heard a startling statistic last week. Did you know that by 1975 one-half of the population of the U.S.A. will be age 65 or older? I didn't know that. Who is going to care about you and me when we get over 65? Will we be objects to be dealt with rather than persons to be loved and respected?

Do you remember the story of the Good Samaritan in Luke 10:30-37? The story came as an answer to the question, "Who is my neighbor?" There are four main characters in the incident - the victim (a Jew), two "leaders" in the religious world, and a despised Samaritan. The bandits' victim (the Jew) couldn't help himself so somebody else had to. But who? Who cared enough to help? The religious community didn't because two of their leaders saw the man's need and passed by him. Someone has jokingly suggested they were late to a committee meeting to discuss what ought to be done about people who are victims of a roving band of thieves between Jerusalem and Jericho. Isn't it interesting the person you would least expect to help because of long standing prejudice and hatred was the very one who helped the most. Jesus indicated it was this despised Samaritan who was the neighbor to the injured man. Why was he a good neighbor? Because he showed pity on the man in need. He cared enough to help. His caring cost him time and money. It upset his travel schedule. Apparently he felt this one helpless individual was worth his time, money, and schedule upset.

To really care you run risks. The risk of rejection. The risk of your motives being misunderstood. This is very evident in the life of Jesus. Yet he cared. And because he cared about people individually he shared himself.

Do we really care that much?

"B" Team Wins Again

The Springlake - Earth "B" team trampled Nazareth 42-0, Thursday, September 28, in the local stadium. The "B" team is undefeated and will begin district play tonight, October 5, when they play Sudan here. Let's all go out and show the team that we're really behind them.

Girl Scouting began with an idea in 1912. The idea became a reality through an informal educational program that has been "fun while learning" to millions of girls since 1912.

Without the thousands of dedicated adults who are helping make the Girl Scout program work, that beautiful idea would have remained just an idea. Thanks to the adults in Girl Scouting what began as an idea fifty years ago is an ideal today. When you give generously to the Girl Scout Fund Drive in Earth you are backing the fine citizens, old and young, who help make our country great.

LAZBUDDIE NEWS OCTOBER 1963

Lazbuddie Longhorns won their game with New Home Friday night. The game was tied 6-6, but the big moment came when Kenneth McGehee threw a long pass to Gary Brown in the last few seconds of a game. Gary carried it for the touchdown ending the game 6-12. This was Homecoming for Lazbuddie and the halftime was very unique.

We did not have a band, but several girls marched and twirled to music coming from the press box, from a record player. The twirling with fire done by the majorettes was very entertaining as Linda Gleason, Marsella Mayfield, Pat Chitwood were in perfect step.

The football queen was Linda Gleason. The hero was Kenneth McGehee. Runners up were Charlotte Seaton and her attendant, Lloyd Bradshaw and Marianna Gammon and her attendant, Lewis Seaton.

Many out of town folks were present including former Lazbuddie school superintendent, J.G. Ward and family, from Kamay, Mary Maxwell former Lazbuddie teacher from Roswell, The T.O. Lesley family from Spearman and just about all of the ex-students that are away at colleges.

Registration Closes Saturday at Midnight

Secretary of State Bullock has announced that registration for the November General Election will end at midnight on Saturday, October 7, 1972.

"There is no reason why anyone who is eligible to register should not have done so by now," Bullock said.

"It is my hope that every public official and candidate will join with me in helping to advise the people of Texas about the registration procedures and deadlines and helping to insure that all our citizens have every chance under the law to register and vote."

"Anyone who professes to believe in democracy should work to see that each eligible citizen can vote. Anyone who discourages registration or voting apparently just does not believe in our form of government," Bullock said.

The average American consumes 634 pounds of meat a year, according to Marshall M. Miller, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Yet, per capita food consumption as a whole is declining in the United States. In 1940, per capita consumption was 1,548 pounds of food—today it is 100 pounds less. Per capita consumption of crop products has dropped from 948 pounds in 1940 to 814 pounds today.

Most of the overall drop in consumption has come in flour, cereal, potatoes and even eggs. One of the reasons for this is that more housewives are returning to work and are making use of timesaving convenience foods. However, egg consumption is now back at the 1940 level—319.

"Even as per capita food consumption has declined, the rate at which we are eating animal products has risen," says Miller. Beef and veal consumption has nearly doubled (116 pounds today) while broiler consumption went from two pounds in 1940 to 37 pounds today. The amount of turkey eaten nearly tripled in the same period and now stands at eight pounds per capita.

What are people going to eat in the future? "That's anybody's guess," contends Miller. "Earnings and disposable income are at an all-time high in this country. Americans do have an unquenchable hunger for meats, an appetite which poultry, especially broilers and turkeys, could satisfy. Poultry products are economical and efficient both in production and preparation.

It seems logical that so long as the economy remains at or near its present level, Americans will continue to consume more meat and poultry products," adds Miller.

Train accidents and resulting casualties dropped sharply in 1971 for the second consecutive year, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Citizens Planning 'War'

The "Concerned Citizens" of Littlefield met Sunday at 2:30, September 24, in the Missionary Baptist Church and made plans for "waging a war on the liquor issue," reports Rev. J. B. Cagle, president.

The organization represents the citizens in Littlefield who are not in sympathy with the legal sale of liquor as proposed on the 50 petitions which have been issued for circulation in the city.

If the required number of signatures is obtained, the election would occur no earlier than October 30 and no later than November 7.

The city's last liquor election was in December, 1967, when the "legal sale of all alcoholic beverages for off-premise consumption only" was defeated 1,106 to 745 or 59.8 per cent to 41.2 percent.

Historical Marker For S-E School To Be Erected

Official Historical Marker for Springlake School will be erected on October 13th, it was announced today by Mr. V. M. Martin, chairman of the Lamb County Historical Survey Committee.

The marker will be placed on the site, 5 miles NE of Earth, and plans will be announced in the near future.

The marker is of cast aluminum with a steel effect, the markers are 18 by 28 inches and are mounted by Lamb County Historical Survey Committee on the Springlake-Earth School

Board. The inscription on the marker reads: SPRINGLAKE-EARTH SCHOOL (IN 202-SQUARE-MILE DISTRICT)

Opened 1908 as one-room school, Springlake became an independent district in 1924 when Halsell Ranch land was sold to settlers and local population increased. Enlarged school opened 1925 in new $30,000 brick structure on site bought from J.F. Kelley, E. C. Martin was Superintendent; Otis Brown, M. E. Cleavinger, Earl Hewitt, Arthur Edwards, George Linville, H. M. Packard, W. C. White, Trustees. Band and Football Squad were organized and school paper began in 1928. Enrollment, curriculum and school plant continue to expand.

"Earth" was added to the school name in March 1964.

The marking of local historical sites and landmarks is part of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee's program of preservation activities. These include archeological investigations, small museum consultation, and administering the National Historical Preservation Act in Texas. As of 1970 the Survey Committee had erected more than 5,000 official markers.

The name and location of the present marker will appear in the next edition of the GUIDE TO OFFICIAL TEXAS HISTORICAL MARKERS in order to stimulate tourist travel in this area, to arouse interest in historical tours, and to acquaint the people of this locale with their unique heritage.

CCC Loan on '71 Cotton Extended

Extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation loan on 1971 crop cotton until July 31, 1973 was a constructive move by the U.S. Department of Agriculture toward shoring up market prices for the current crop. The use of AID funds to move 100,000 bales of low quality 1971 crop cotton to Bangladesh will also be helpful, as will increased use of the PL 480 program to stimulate cotton exports for local currencies. "All of these things can be cited as firm indications that USDA is aware of the need for, and is willing to take, such steps as may be within its administrative power to mitigate the downward pressure on 1972 cotton prices," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. Moreover, the predicted 13.6 million bale U.S. crop for this year is a long way from being in the warehouse, Johnson observes, so the 1972 cotton market, sick as it is right now,

"may not be dead yet." Market prices for cotton have been in an almost continuous decline for some three months and free cotton stocks in early season parts of the cotton belt are going begging, literally. A high percentage of the cotton in the Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend areas of Texas, where the harvest is nearing completion, the field contracted in advance at prices ranging from 30 to as high as 36 cents a pound. And much of the cotton in the Mid-South and Southeastern states also was sold on the stalk.

To a great extent, Johnson thinks, this explains why there is almost no market in those areas for cotton which was not sold before harvest. "Mills simply are not now in need of cotton," he says. "They did their buying last Spring through acreage contracts, and since they see no real shortage of cotton supplies, they won't be back in the market until they at least know how much cotton that acreage is going to produce."

"But sooner or later they will need more cotton, and the fact that the crop this year is projected a little above expected offtake does not necessarily mean they will be able to come into the market at some later date and fill their needs at prices barely above the loan."

Domestic consumption and exports from this year's supply are estimated to total about 11.6 million bales, which means a 13.6 million bale crop--if it materializes--would add 2 million bales to the 3.3 million bales on hand in this country last July 31.

In Johnson's opinion "Under current supply conditions a crop which exceeds offtake by only 2 million bales, if it does, should not be enough to force rock-bottom prices on producers."

The accuracy of USDA's 13.6 million bale crop estimate for this year is dependent on a 13 percent increase in per-acre yields over last year, from 438 pounds to 495 pounds per acre. Almost certainly there will be a substantial rise in yields on the High Plains, an increase already being seen in other parts of Texas, and there will may be a lesser increase in

Sunnyside Residents Grade Own Road

Sunnyside residents claim that their road is impassable after a rain because it has no grade to it and collects water. Their bar ditches, they claim, haven't been worked in a decade or more.

It's the road that joins US 385 from the east of Estacado Industries' new lamb-feeding yards. From the highway it runs east about five miles before intersecting with a north-south road.

Philip Jones and Ray Joe Riley explained that farmers living along the road take turns blading it after every rain, usually working from their own places back toward the highway.

"Our mail carrier can't even run, and some of the people out here have to carry their kids to school because the buses can't get through," says Philip Jones.

People along the road kept comparing it with those in nearby Lamb County. Their problem road is only a mile north of the county line.

"Where one north-south road cut here crosses over the Lamb County line, you can really see the contrast," one lady said. "Their looks like a highway by comparison--it's banked up for good drainage, the bar ditches are clear and a rain really isn't any problem. But the part of it that's in Castro County really is a problem--when it rains, you can't get over it."

What's the answer? More road workers, or better-paid ones? More road equipment? A centralized county road department instead of the separate precinct crews? Whatever the answer, the people who live along that particular stretch of road in Sunnyside are hoping the county will find it.

CCC Loan on 71 Cotton Extended

Extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation loan on 1971 crop cotton until July 31, 1973 was a constructive move by the U.S. Department of Agriculture toward shoring up market prices for the current crop. The use of AID funds to move 100,000 bales of low quality 1971 crop cotton to Bangladesh will also be helpful, as will increased use of the PL 480 program to stimulate cotton exports for local currencies. "All of these things can be cited as firm indications that USDA is aware of the need for, and is willing to take, such steps as may be within its administrative power to mitigate the downward pressure on 1972 cotton prices," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. Moreover, the predicted 13.6 million bale U.S. crop for this year is a long way from being in the warehouse, Johnson observes, so the 1972 cotton market, sick as it is right now,

"may not be dead yet." Market prices for cotton have been in an almost continuous decline for some three months and free cotton stocks in early season parts of the cotton belt are going begging, literally. A high percentage of the cotton in the Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend areas of Texas, where the harvest is nearing completion, the field contracted in advance at prices ranging from 30 to as high as 36 cents a pound. And much of the cotton in the Mid-South and Southeastern states also was sold on the stalk.

To a great extent, Johnson thinks, this explains why there is almost no market in those areas for cotton which was not sold before harvest. "Mills simply are not now in need of cotton," he says. "They did their buying last Spring through acreage contracts, and since they see no real shortage of cotton supplies, they won't be back in the market until they at least know how much cotton that acreage is going to produce.

"But sooner or later they will need more cotton, and the fact that the crop this year is projected a little above expected offtake does not necessarily mean they will be able to come into the market at some later date and fill their needs at prices barely above the loan."

Domestic consumption and exports from this year's supply are estimated to total about 11.6 million bales, which means a 13.6 million bale crop--if it materializes--would add 2 million bales to the 3.3 million bales on hand in this country last July 31.

In Johnson's opinion "Under current supply conditions a crop which exceeds offtake by only 2 million bales, if it does, should not be enough to force rock-bottom prices on producers."

The accuracy of USDA's 13.6 million bale crop estimate for this year is dependent on a 13 percent increase in per-acre yields over last year, from 438 pounds to 495 pounds per acre.

Almost certainly there will be a substantial rise in yields on the High Plains, an increase is already being seen in other parts of Texas, and there well may be a lesser increase in

Sunnyside Residents Grade Own Road

Sunnyside residents claim that their road is impassable after a rain because it has no grade to it and collects water. Their bar ditches, they claim, haven't been worked in a decade or more.

It's the road that joins US 385 from the east of Estacado Industries' new lamb-feeding yards. From the highway it runs east about five miles before intersecting with a north-south road.

Philip Jones and Ray Joe Riley explained that farmers living along the road take turns blading it after every rain, usually working from their own places back toward the highway.

"Our mail carrier can't even run, and some of the people out here have to carry their kids to school because the buses can't get through," says Philip Jones.

People along the road kept comparing it with those in nearby Lamb County. Their problem road is only a mile north of the county line.

"Where one north-south road cut here crosses over the Lamb County line, you can really see the contrast," one lady said. "Their looks like a highway by comparison--it's banked up for good drainage, the bar ditches are clear and a rain really isn't any problem. But the part of it that's in Castro County really is a problem--when it rains, you can't get over it."

What's the answer? More road workers, or better-paid ones? More road equipment? A centralized county road department instead of the separate precinct crews? Whatever the answer, the people who live along that particular stretch of road in Sunnyside are hoping the county will find it.

Rep. Bill Clayton Reports On Special Session

Two weeks of the present special legislative session have passed with no significant action being taken on any legislative matters. However, during this time committees have been meeting on the competitive insurance bills and the bills that would allow the Governor to transfer funds.

The third week of the session opened Monday with committee hearings on the all important TRAILER BRAKE AND LIGHT LAWS. It is most important that these corrective measures pertaining to trucks and trailers be clarified because the area is now getting into the harvest season and a great many questions have been raised about trailer light and brakes. It is anticipated that the bill introduced by Rep. Mike Moncrief from Fort Worth and Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake will pass through the legislature this week. Two other measures which will probably be acted on this week will be exempting flight training schools from the proprietary school act. The second being the resolution sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin and Rep. Bill Clayton which would prohibit the forced busing of school children.

The committees dealing with the major issues in the call of the special session, insurance and funds transfers, will probably report these bills sometime later in the week.

With several other items of business to take care of, it looks like the special legislative session will take the full 30 days and will conclude its proceedings around the middle of October.

Springlake Brownies

Springlake Brownie Troop 308 enjoyed the pleasures of Nature Monday, October 2, when they met at the Community Center. The meeting was opened with the girls forming the Brownie Circle and giving the Pledge to the flag.

Twilla Eagle led the troop in the Brownie Promise and Dyan

Jones led the Brownie Song.

The girls observed nature through the senses of touch, hearing, and sight. The girls would go outside and observe nature through one of three senses and report what she had either felt, heard or saw.

Refreshments of cookies and suckers were served by Twilla Eagle and Sheryl Clayton to

Barbara Mayes, Cheryl King, Laura Romoz, Jennifer Pell-

Ham, Dyan Jones, Michael Fields, and leader, Mrs. Dona Clayton.
