Letters To The Editor

Dear Ray

I am writing this letter as a means of perhaps clearing up and explaining some misconception which have been spread by some of the candidates in the upcoming city election. As I am beginning my sixth year of serving on the council, I feel I am well qualified to do this.

There has been a lot of controversy and complaints over the recent tax and water rate increases. As everyone knows, every product or service we use today has gone up considerably over the past few years. Surely no one could expect the city to continue to operate on the same revenues available five or six years ago. The city auditor has been recommending the increases for the past four years. Incidentally, it is my understanding that this is the first tax increase the city has ever had. If that is correct, then we have been very fortunate to avoid it this long. Also, our tax rates are in line with other city's of our size.

To my knowledge there have been two times when the council has gone into executive session, which are usually solely to discuss employee problems and salary's, not to hide anything. I will state flatly there has never at any time been a closed or secret meeting. Any citizen - welcome to attend city meetings, no matter what ethnic background. I believe any candidate and citizen honestly interested in the betterment and good of our city should attend at least one meeting to see for themselves what is going on. If enough interest is shown and space becomes a problem, we can always move to the community room, we have done this before.

The statements made by some of the candidates in the upcoming election were at best, uninformed, and at worst, utterly ridiculous. I will listen to and consider any constructive criticism or complaint which is based on fact, but I do not intend to waste my time listening to some chronic sorehead expound on complaints based on heresy or common gossip.

Every interested citizen should carefully consider which candidates are best suited to serve and make decisions concerning the future of our town. Every qualified voter should make every effort to get out and vote.

Dear Ray:

The March 5th Lubbock Avalanche Journal carried an editorial that put into words so well what many of us in the small communities have begun to realize in the past few months. No longer can we be the silent majority! No longer can we take for granted those precious freedoms that were bought by the blood of our loved ones. If we are going to continue to live in the "land of the free and the brave" we must start exercising that freedom and courage others purchased for us. We simply must get informed and involved, individually and collectively.

Never before in history has our legislative system had so much power in directing our lives and those of our children. Yet basically it is still a good form of government. If it is not functioning in the way it was intended perhaps we ourselves are to blame. How much do we really know about our legislative system and the officials we elect to represent us? Too many of us have become apathetic or discouraged and have let a few people do our thinking and acting for us. It's high time we shared those responsibilities.

As city and county elections draw nearer there is no better place for us to begin to take a good hard look at the directions of our future than at our local scene.

Let's begin with our city elections, then county, state and national. Basically we should look for most of the same qualifications at all levels of government. Remember that building a good foundation at a local level is most important. When considering a candidate for an office evaluate his potential performance by asking yourself some of these questions.

1. Is the candidate of good moral character and standing?
2. Is the candidate well enough informed to make intelligent decisions?
3. Has the candidate shown an active interest in the past for the area that he now wants to represent?
4. Is the candidate strong enough to defend your area regardless of the pressure that may be applied by others?
5. Will your candidate listen to the needs of your community and represent those needs regardless of the community's size?
6. Is your candidate aware that needs vary with size, situation, and location, but are just as important as those presented on a larger scale?
7. Is your candidate enthusiastic?
8. Is your candidate progressive-minded?
9. Does your candidate have a positive attitude?

Fast Rising Dough.

First, take one small part of your paycheck, put it into the Payroll Savings Plan, and buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Then just sit back and watch your dough rise. 'Cause Bonds are one of the easiest ways to save you'll ever find. (Not to mention one of the safest.)

After all, they've been around a long, long time. And they've always paid off. To the penny. And if they're ever lost, stolen, or destroyed, they'll be replaced.

So take stock in your country. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. When you need dough, they rise to the occasion.

Portraits of Aging

"Portraits of Aging" will be shown in the Lubbock area on Channel 11 (Cable, Channel 6), KCBD-TV at 6:30 Friday, March 31. It is a sensitive depiction of our older citizens. It is not a documentary that points out only the problems of aging, but rather shows how older persons celebrate living and learn to deal with problems in a positive way.

Divided into six sections, the show focuses on older Texans of different ethnic and social backgrounds. All have found ways of coping with growing older which gives them a common thread to share. The people themselves tell their own stories. The film can be an inspiration to both older and younger citizens.

The film was produced by Miller Productions Inc. for the Office of the Governor, Committee on Aging, represented locally by the Area Agency on Aging. It is sponsored, without intrusion, as a public service by Levi Strauss and Company. Bert Kruger Smith, author of many books, including Aging in America and The Pursuit of Dignity served as the chief consultant.

Wide drive, brick trimmed steps porch with the tall columns denote elegance and to shout "Welcome". Carriage lamps flanking stained glass door complete the picture. Speaking "welcome", you are welcome to inspect this magnificent home. You'll also like the quiet, central location and the good neighbors.

As you tour the home, you'll find a large living room with wooden beams and an antique crystal chandelier with more than 6,000 cut crystals. The chandelier has been converted from gas and is enough to grace any palace in the world. Large carpet blends with the stained glass door, built-in staircase. Every room has the same carpet color, kitchen and utility. The front kitchen has convenient cabinets with garbage disposal, dishwasher hood and is plumbed for gas or electric. There has a double sink under a front window and a line for an ice maker refrigerator. (It and every other house) has many electrical outlets. The picture bi-fold doors. Large round high chairs over the area. The brass colored carpet reflects light and wood tones. The huge double garage has electric and automatic light. There is lots of room, storage for a work bench and storage. In addition to dryer connections, the utility room has storage and brick design floor. The downstairs bedroom has beautiful antique type light fixtures hanging from foot ceilings. The master bedroom has a large closet and a door opening to a bath. The stairs bedroom has a large closet with a door. Both full baths have electric ceiling vent heaters.

When you go upstairs, notice the prism light head. Even the hall has a very pretty light fixture. A large variety room is located at the top of the stairs. It may be used as a game room, den, studio or bedroom. The variety room and upstairs bathroom feature recessed lighting and unique closets with side openings. Glass patio doors open from bedroom to a green grass carpeted 28 x 32 ft. fenced with white "widow walk". It's great for sitting in the sun or star gazing at night. If the 28 x 32 is large enough, you may use the 36 foot porch which is fenced and carpeted also.

The home is well insulated and has a solar roof. It has central heating and duct evaporator conditioning for added economy and comfort. The windows add a measure of insurance to the virtually dust free home. It was restored by a craftsman, Mr. Alfredo Arredondo of Earth Flower Cart. No expense was spared and many changes were made to attain the ultimate in modern conservation. Preserve the loveliness of the past. You can do it. Living here. With building costs soaring, this home may well be one of the best investments you can make. It is for sale. Make an offer.

Knowing Medical Terms Can Simplify Questions

What do oncology, neoplasms and chemotherapy have in common? While they may sound more like names from a Russian novel, they are actually medical terms commonly used in cancer treatment and research.

Because it is often human nature to fear that which we don't understand, words that sound complex and confusing do nothing to ease our fears of cancer.

A few of the most commonly asked about words concerning cancer are defined below. While this list is far from complete, it can serve as a useful reference to clip and save.

ONCOLOGY — The study of cancer which has become a specialty branch of modern medicine.

CANCER — A large group of over 100 diseases characterized by uncontrolled growth and spread of abnormal cells.

NEOPLASM — Any new abnormal growth of cells or tissues that may be benign or malignant but is usually used to describe a cancerous tumor.

BENIGN TUMOR — An abnormal swelling or growth that is not a cancer but causes a reaction by its pressure on adjacent tissues or organs.

MALIGNANT TUMOR — A tumor made up of cancer cells. These tumors continue to grow and invade surrounding tissues, with the ability to break away and grow elsewhere.

METASTASIS — (Mah-TAS-tah-sis) The process by which cancer cells break away from their primary point of origin and spread

Relief To The Agricultural Community

Governor Dolph Briscoe has called on President Carter and the Congress to provide, without delay, relief to the agricultural community.

"Our agricultural producers in Texas and throughout the nation are caught in a vicious cost-price squeeze that requires immediate action," the Governor said in a letter to the President.

The Governor urged President Carter to consider:

- Requiring all federal agencies to purchase only beef and beef products produced in the United States.
- Requiring that all imported agricultural products meet the same inspection standards as domestically produced goods.

The Governor also asked President Carter to support legislation requiring imported beef to carry an identification label which would allow American consumers to differentiate between foreign, imported beef and domestically produced beef.

Presidential support also was sought by the Governor for legislation which would establish new target prices for wheat, upland cotton and feed grains.

"The Flexible Parity Act would allow individual farmers to determine what percentage of the target price they would receive while balancing that determination against the percentage of their acreage which would be taken out of production," the Governor said.

Another proposal also would expand the commodity loan program for a longer period of time.

"Current federal efforts are not adequate to respond to the problems that threaten the very existence of the independent farmer."

supported agencies be produced in the United States. The Governor said that "in the interest of reciprocal trade, it is neither practical nor desirable to place an embargo on all imported agricultural goods."

"But, it seems fair and reasonable that all imported agricultural products must meet the same inspection standards as domestically produced goods."

"Not only would this requirement be in the best interest of the farmer, but it would also be in the best interest of better health standards," the Governor said.

It's The Most!

Currently, the most expensive land in the world is that in the City of London. In mid-1973, the price on small prime sites reached $4,875 per square foot and one 1/2 acre site is worth about $682,500,000. The 600-foot National Westminster Bank on a 2 1/4 acre site is worth over $2 million.

Currently, the most extensive efforts that can be made without unduly upsetting the economy or wasting natural resources are being made by some American industry to control pollution. For two decades, for instance, workers at Du Pont have been protected by over $90 million worth of noise controls. There are new federal proposals, however, that would result in no significant improvement in employee health and could cost $750 million.

Disease Can Be Prevented

Hardware disease is caused by the presence of some foreign object, usually wire or nails, in the cow's stomach. This occurs because of the cow's eating habits and also because of the type stomach it has. Cattle eat grass and hay without very much chewing the first time it is swallowed. Therefore, a small piece of wire or any metal object may go down as easily as a stiff piece of grass or hay. Later, when the food is brought up for chewing the cud, this heavy object does not come up. Instead it is moved into the second stomach where it settles to the bottom and stays there.

The location of this second stomach, called the reticulum, is between the diaphragm and the very large, first stomach called the rumen. Due to this location the object is often forced to move forward by the constant movements of the large, first stomach behind it. When enough force is produced and the object is sharp, it will begin to penetrate the stomach wall.

Hardware disease is more likely to occur in cows around calving time. This is because of the extra pressure placed on the stomach by the unborn calf and especially by the straining that occurs at delivery. Soon after the object penetrates the stomach wall there will be enough infection in the area to cause even more pain for the cow. One of the first signs seen in hardware disease is lowered milk production, if the cow is milking at the time, and loss of normal appetite. These signs are often missed by the owner, especially in beef cattle on pasture and dry dairy cows not being fed daily. Shortly after the first signs appear, other evidence of pain can be observed—a slightly arched back, reluctance to move, and a stiff appearance, especially in front legs. Breathing and heart rate are usually increased, but not a great deal. Dairy cows and thin beef type cows will usually show a "tucked" appearance.

Some cows with pain of hardware disease will grunt when forced to walk, but most will only grunt when pressure is applied under the breast bone or sternum. Many times this expiratory grunt can only be heard with the aid of a stethoscope held over windpipe or trachea. Other aids to diagnose the presence of hardware used by veterinarians are blood test for evidence of infection, metal detectors, and even surgery, when it is a very valuable animal.

Many cows will have metal in their stomach which never causes trouble. This is often true of very small blunt objects. Therefore, when using a metal detector one must consider all other signs also. Many times not finding metal present with the detector is more meaningful than finding it.

A typical case of hardware disease is one that shows signs for one to four days and then the cow seems normal again, with or without treatment. Therefore, in pastured cattle this may go unnoticed. The object may be walled off with scar tissue, and never cause trouble again. Or it may change locations and anytime later cause trouble.

Sometimes, after the object has gone through the stomach wall and the local infection is overcome by the animal body, the object will start to move again and penetrate the diaphragm. This usually takes two or three weeks before it is noticeable to the owner. The object is now very near the heart and infection develops in the thin-walled covering of the heart. Fluid accumulates in this heart sac and may be heard with aid of a stethoscope. Soon after this, the animal will show outside evidence of a heart problem. The most common indication is swelling around the brisket and under the lower jaw.

When a cow shows signs of hardware disease for the first time, there are three alternatives. The first—sell for slaughter immediately. Second—have surgery done to remove the object, or, in very valuable animals, just to make sure that hardware disease is the problem. Third—the animal may be treated with antibiotics, feed withheld about two days, and then fed very little for ten days. Many cases will improve and no more attacks occur. If an animal does have a second attack, then immediate slaughter is probably the best way to handle it.

To prevent this condition, make sure all farm workers are aware of the danger of hardware disease and are very careful about allowing cattle access to items likely to be swallowed. Properly dispose of baling wire. Avoid dropping nails and staples during repair or construction of barns and fences. Some owners, especially dairymen, use magnets in the stomach to attract all metal and prevent its movement.

Some objects which have been removed by surgery include many types of wire, nails, tacks, staples, bolts, screws, glass, bone, rocks and tin. Among the rare items found were a safety razor blade, lady's bobby pin, machine needle for sewing feed sacks, coins, metal parts of shotgun shells, metal from feed grinders, and many unidentifiable pieces of metal.

In some parts of the Orient people were occasionally married to trees.

The national parks are strange and wondrous places. Their natural beauty often lulls people into thinking they are placid and tame, but danger can lurk in a national park the same as it can elsewhere in nature.

In 1976, 152 people died of accidental causes while visiting the 286 areas of the National Park System. In 1977, 183 died. With a record 280 million visitors expected in the parks in 1978, Southwest Region Director John Cook is working to reverse the rising trend of accidents.

Some element of risk is inherent in any wilderness experience," Cook said. "We don't mar an area's natural beauty by fencing everyone in. But if everyone takes an active part in their own safety, many deaths can be avoided."

Cook recommends that visitors take a few minutes at the park visitor center for information about park conditions and special features. Rangers know the parks best and the advice they can provide may spell the difference between a pleasant visit and a tragedy.

Cook outlined the major hazards in the southern and southwest parks and suggested ways to avoid them.

Drowning is one of the principal causes of death in the parks and one that particularly appalls Cook because it can almost always be prevented if the rules are followed. "For safety's sake," he said, "always observe posted warnings, never swim alone, wear life preservers at all times on boats and check with rangers before swimming in unposted areas."

Auto accidents are another leading cause of park deaths. "Rubber necking is a big factor in car accidents," Cook said. "Avoid by the scenery, people will stop their cars on a blind curve or a tight turn or drive across the road."

"The visitor should not try to see the park from the car, but stop frequently at viewpoints to enjoy the sights," he said. "Park roads are built in a way that causes minimum impact on the environment. They are safe at posted speed limits, but they are not superhighways."

Falls also take their share of lives. "To minimize the danger of a fall, visitors should stay on marked trails and proceed cautiously," Cook said. "Watch for loose rocks and steep drop-offs in areas."

Jerry W. Jones, Springlake, Texas, says "RA1501 is consistently the best corn I've planted."

And always alert the park when you are on an extended hike."

Wildlife presents another hazard. "The park is not a petting zoo," Cook emphasized. "Cute baby animals may have protective parents nearby. Small mammals might carry disease and there are some poisonous reptiles in the parks. All these animals are protected and should be avoided."

Heat can be a serious problem, especially in desert areas. Both cars and people can overheat and need extra water and special care. "If you have car trouble, don't walk out for help," Cook advises. "Heat prostration can happen quickly."

And above all, Cook warned, "Watch the children. Your knowledge cannot help a child who is beyond your protective reach and warning voice."

For a safe trip, Cook advises visitors to keep the National Park Service safety slogan in mind: "Have a SUPER trip." SUPER is an acronym for Safety, Use, Preserve and Enjoy the Resources, with an emphasis on the "S".

The Cost Cutter

Less Irrigation Cost — Lower Harvest Costs Because of Lower Moisture — Less Drying Cost

Pioneer® brand 3780 can cut your costs to improve corn profits in four ways —

★ Less Irrigation Cost — 3780 needs less total water than commonly grown corns because it grows off fast. And because of its early water use, 3780 uses early-season rainfall more efficiently than other corns or crops.

★ Less Harvest & Hauling Cost — Fast drydown with good standability and ear retention lets 3780 dry in the field — you harvest and haul less moisture from the field.

★ Less Dockage — Less water hauled from the field means less dockage or drying expense.

★ Lower Potential Weather and Insect Loss — Because of its rapid growth feature and fast drydown, 3780 is ready for harvest well ahead of commonly grown corns. Fewer days in the field mean less exposure to potential bad weather and late-season insect problems.

MORE NET INCOME PER ACRE

High Plains farmers have consistently found 3780 producing more net income per acre than competitive corns of later maturity . . . even though the green weight of later maturing corns may have been more.

With 3780, you don't take big cuts in yield like you might expect. In fact, in 96 tests under many conditions in the past four years, 3780 has averaged 7,817 pounds per acre. Few farmers will boast of a higher four-year-average, dry-corn yield than this.

Yields like you'd expect from corn with input costs similar to grain sorghum . . . that adds up to more net income per acre.

3780 — 96 High Plains tests — 4-year average — 7,817 lbs./A.

Here's How 3780 Performed For 5 Area Farmers in 1977

Helmuth Quebe — Plainview
Planting date: April 11
Harvest date: August 20
Results: 8,200 lbs./A. at 15.0% moisture; pre-water plus three waterings; outyielded later maturing competitive corn by 600 lbs./A.
His comment: "I like 3780 because of its early maturity."

R. E. Lance — Hereford
Planting date: April 20
Harvest date: September 25
Results: 6,500 lbs./A. at 19% moisture, watered 3 times.
His comment: "3780 did as good as I thought it would."

Don Ott — Dimmitt
Planting date: April 27
Harvest date: September 10
Results: 8,590 lbs./A. at 19% moisture; watered 5 times.
His comment: "3780 had a very good yield for a fast maturing variety."

Vernon Jackson — Stratford
Planting time: April 7
Harvest date: August 5
Results: 8,680 lbs./A. at 16.5% moisture; watered 5 times. Popular competitive variety in same field planted earlier, received 1 additional watering, yielded less, and was harvested 12 days later at 24.5% moisture.

J. L. Francis — Kress
Planting date: June 2
Harvest date: October 20
Results: 7,100 lbs./A. at 14% moisture; watered 5 times.
His comment: "My 3780 was planted after a hail and I was really satisfied with the results."

Cotton Farmer's Corn

3780 is an ideal companion crop for cotton because of its unusual water use pattern. Because it reaches peak demand much earlier than cotton or sorghum, 3780 promises better irrigation efficiency than sorghum when used as a companion crop to cotton.

weeks, according to Gale Sadler, president of the Castro County Farm Bureau. Sadler, and other county presidents met in a state conference recently and recommended to the AFBF board the concept of the Dole Bill now before the senate. The board last week endorsed this concept of the similar Talmadge-Dole Bill. Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, president of the Texas ABF, said the board's recommendation encourages Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to use his discretionary authority to proceed, with this bill as a guideline, to activate an effective set-aside program, as recommended by the FFB and other Farm Bureaus. The bill by Senator Robert Dole, (R. Kan.) and Senator Herman Talmadge (D. Ga.) would pay farmers some $2.3 billion to withhold not less than 31 million acres of cropland that would otherwise be harvested or planted. This bill does not increase target prices or loan levels but provides diversions payments to take out million acres of wheat, 10 million acres of feed grains, 3 million acres each of cotton and soybeans in addition to existing setaside requirements. Talmadge, who said he favors a support increase and hoped the committee would approve one March 15, fought off efforts to write the hikes into the land retirement bill, saying the package would be too controversial to pass before farmers plant their crops, and the chance of getting land diversion this year would be lost. Talmadge, estimated productions cut would boost market prices, with wheat, for example, raising from the present $2.60 a bushel to about $3.50. With market prices rising, congressional budget experts estimated a drop in federal crop support payments which would more than offset the proposed $2.3 billion in land payments. Key features of the Talmadge-Dole bill are: 1. The program will be voluntary. Each farmer would be free to participate if he wishes or not. 2. The acreage to be set aside would be in addition to land set aside under programs already announced for wheat and feed grains. To qualify for payments, a farmer would have to participate in set aside programs the Secretary has already announced.

3. To prevent benefits going only to land owners, the Secretary would have to issue regulations for adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers. 4. Payment limitations of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 would not be applicable to payments under this program. 5. Acreage specified in the bill would only be a minimum. The Secretary could require that more land be set aside to achieve reasonable price objectives. 6. The Secretary would be required to administer the program so as to avoid destruction of crops (such as wheat) already planted, to the extent possible. 7. The Secretary would be required to limit the total acreage in any county or community so as not to adversely affect the local economy. 8. Amounts to be paid to individual producers would be determined through an offer basis with prices set by USDA. However, it is estimated that the national average of payments to producers would be about $75 per acre. 9. The Secretary would be required to make partial payments under the program immediately after contracts with the producers are con-

FARMERS PUT EMPHASIS ON PLANTING CUT

BY: MAXINE SHORT
 "Right now we are working hard to get our farmers to join in the fifty per cent planting program. We think that will be a more effective way to reach the farmer's goal than stopping trucks," a spokesman said at the Dimmitt office of American Agriculture.

American Agriculture has adopted the plan of cutting the 1978 planting in half, to reduce crop surpluses and emphasize to the nation the vital importance of the farmers' roll in national industry. This is part of their campaign to achieve one hundred percent parity in crop prices.

Some farmers from Castro County joined in the blocking of highways in the area Tuesday, stopping trucks in an effort to halt movement of food to market. The group from Dimmitt were in the Amarillo area. Trucks and trains were halted farmers urged their case to crews and truck drivers, but most of the carriers went on through the picket lines later. The farmers had adopted the definite policy of "no violence" and simply told their stories and stuck farm strike bumper stickers on trucks.

BUY GARDEN SEED WISELY-When the time comes to plant your garden, avoid spending your hard earned money on bargain seed.

A prime rule for success in home gardening is to get the best seed you can. You may have to shell out a few extra pennies, but the added cost will pay off in better yields and better spirits at year's end.

Because seed, like used cars, varies in quality from dealer to dealer, buy from a reputable seed dealer. The best dealer offer treated seed to protect young seedlings from attack from soil borne diseases and insects.
