GAME FRIDAY DECIDES DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

NOSIN.....
WITH POLLY

Some folks like to play the "BIG DUCK IN THE LITTLE PUDDING" and yet there are those who can be the "Big Duck in the Great Big Puddle" and never forget that it doesn't cost anything to be thoughtful and courteous to others.

For example Mrs. Lena Hite took to her surprise received a card from the White House signed by Mamie Eisenhower, thanking her for the "Get Well Card" she sent to the President and also for her prayerful concern in her illness.

This question came to my mind many of us, who are small indeed as compared to our "Lady, get to busy to be thoughtful to others? When it is off in big dividends of happiness, both to ourselves and to those with whom we associate.

There's never a dull moment at the humble abode, last Thursday night when I was thawing out one of these ready to cook frozen fryers, my son interrupted my frying on every day problems, with a note that there are stickers in the package ($4.00 question) My reply was "I would imagine so son, there are various types of vines and undergrowth in the jungle and I suppose some of the many types of vines or trees would produce thorns. He immediately said why don't you pick the people on TV and stop and pick stickers out of their feet, the whole tribe is covered? That's why mothers of this generation of today are so busy, I don't imagine a few back children strained their necks and mothers brains by such questions. Well the thought came to me, was if there are stickers in the jungle and those people are so busy, and they travel in tribes and gangs, why don't some of you poor tired Earth folks quit waiting for the fall each year to do business and go out to the jungle and put in a shoe store.

PS: This thought was interrupted by a call from Ross saying, "We got help tonight to put out paper. Mat just come in from Oklahoma, (guess we'll dismiss the shoe store and struggle on with Earth News.)

—nosin—

When Matt arrived our back yard was sure took on a different appearance, we found we had concrete floor, (which we had been able to dig down to for a few months,) also lots of metal had never found its way back to the metal pot to be re-melted. In fact most people who saw us last week, know we had help by working at our relieved faces. The crew worked hard this week to produce this sixteen page paper, but it's amazing what one good printer in the back shop can do.

Springlake telephone shortage is being relieved somewhat, by the installation of some forty telephones.

Mayor V. T. Tanner said these telephones being installed by General Telephone would certainly be an advantage to the town, but stated they still would not be relieved of the large number of residences on each party line.

Tanner said a public telephone booth would be located on the Ralph Rudd Texaco station grounds.

The crew is now at work in that area and are scheduled to complete the job by December 1 and at that time have new directories.

Tanner also stated that since Springlake had put up their money for the highway curb and gutter the state would let the contract in December.

The Nature of a Cough

Coughing can save your life. Yet too much of it, at the wrong time, can cause serious, even permanent harm.

Scientists have learned that coughing, normally, serves an important purpose. It helps remove material that obstructs or irritates our breathing passages. If we couldn't cough, we would always be in danger of choking to death. This is a danger in patients weakened by illness.

On the other hand, persistent coughing can also be dangerous. A report in the New England Journal of Medicine noted:

"Functionally, cough itself can cause bronchial irritation, thus starting a cycle that may become progressively more severe."

Medical literature, the report says, is "replete with references to cases in which cough has directly or indirectly resulted in death." The most common consequences are loss of sleep, chest pain and similar annoying but dangerous effects.

The causes of coughing are many in number. In some cases, a cough may signal the onset of a disease such as tuberculosis. Most coughs are transient and of a serious nature.

Particularly common at this time of year is the cough associated with the common cold. To this and the other symptoms frequently accompany this illness, scientists have devised new multi-action drugs.

A new cough syrup called Bristol combines five therapeutic agents to bring prompt relief to common cold sufferers. The key ingredient is a potent antihistamine which helps relieve stiffness of the nose and, at the same time, exerts a local anesthetic action on the throat to reduce the spasms of coughing.

Other components, including ammonium chloride, sodium citrate and fluid extract of ipecac, act as expectorants and tend to liquefy the tenacious mucus secretions in the nose and throat that interfere with breathing. Another agent, menthol, has a cooling effect on irritated throat membranes.

Unfortunately, no drug has yet been devised to cure the common cold. But the combined actions of a drug such as Bristol bring effective relief to cold sufferers and help to prevent complications that may arise from excessive coughing.

DON'T BREATHE A WORD BUT —

By GENEVIEVE LOUDDER

Laura Mae Northcott was with Jimmy Bitner Saturday night. They went to see about his tractor at Farwell and then went to Clovis. Laura did you enjoy that double feature at the drive in? Houston Bartlett came to see her Sunday. I guess that girl really likes Clovis, because she and Houston also went Sunday.

A. J. Phillips may seem a little bit confused, but if the truth was known, he probably isn't. He was with Peggy Usery at the show Tuesday night, but managed to be with Janis Jones, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

These eighth graders are really "getting on the ball" these nights. Jenna V. Brock was with Tom Messer and Kay Jones was with Eddie Earl (Junior) Barton at the show Saturday night.

Kay Jones was also with Kenny Hamilton at church and later riding around town Sunday night. Keep up the good work!

Kenneth Lowe and Sue Neal didn't go quite as much this week as they have been going. They were only together Friday night at the ball game.

Max Neal took Charlene Hamilton out to dinner Sunday. They were seen in the City Drug Store and later in Littlefield. They went to see "Pete Kelly's Blues." From all reports, it was a pretty good show. They were also together Friday and Saturday nights.

Eddie Haydon took Sherry Stine to church Wednesday night. They were also together Saturday night in Lubbock, but I don't think they went to a church. Sherry, who were you thinking about Monday? Phillip Jennings was said to have waited quite a while for Shirley Green Saturday night. Seems as though she was in Olton having some kind of trouble, anyway when she did get home, she and Phillip went to the drive in at Amherst.

Richard Bills sure has been keeping the road hot to Eunice Jenkins house this week. They went together Wednesday at church, Thursday, Friday at the ball game, Saturday and Sunday. Need I ask if you two enjoy each others company?

This fine freshman couple, Gene Stephens and Janice Prather were together at the ball game Friday night and in Earth Saturday night.

Can you imagine this? Barbara McCaskill and Doug Lewis were only together Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Monday nights. Wonder what happened to them the other nights?

Anita Messer, who was your visitor at four o'clock in the morning Sunday? It couldn't have been Gary Privence, could it? He was supposed to be back in Marimar, California early Monday morning. Anita was two hours just a little bit short?

June Gregory and Doug Parish were together Friday night in Amherst. What is wrong with you two? Don't you like to see the Wolverines play? They were in Earth

Our Freshman - senior combination, Beverly Stine and Bud Watson were together Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Beverly you've gone a little more than your sister this week, haven't you?

Peggy Usery was with Robert Riley Saturday night. Peggy, what is this I hear about you standing Max Goforth up Sunday night? You'd better watch it, girl.

Donald Lee Stevens was with Laquita Dalton Sunday and Monday nights. We wondered why you weren't at the banquet given by the Earth Baptist Church.

Kay Haberer doesn't act like she meant what she said about Ronald Sander. She and Ronald were together Friday and Sunday nights. Kay, did you go with Rex Loftis Saturday night?

Wayna Mae Rutherford was with Jerle Taylor at the ball game Friday night. Well, what brought this on?

Jerry Tunnell took Patricia Armstrong to the ball game Friday night and to the show Saturday night. Pat, how do you like Jerry's new car?

Rex Loftis and Carol Hamilton were together Sunday night.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Control Of Growth

A curious and potentially controversial feature of research on chemotherapeutic agents for cancer is that agents capable of controlling cancerous growth will probably be able to control other types of growth as well. This is likely because anti-cancer agents generally act by blocking cell division. In so doing, they attack mechanisms that must be common to most dividing cells.

Cell division is ordinarily a rather uncommon event in the human body. There are, however, at least three important exceptions to this rule. These are the life-long production of red cells and other formed elements of the blood in the bone marrow, the formation of sperm, and the rapid proliferation of cells in the fetus.

The deleterious effect of cancer chemotherapeutic agents on the formation of red cells and other cellular constituents of the blood is already well known; it is one of the major problems of practical cancer chemotherapy. The effect on sperm formation and on the fetus is not so well known.

Several years ago University of California investigators administered aminopterin, an antagonist to the B vitamin folic acid employed in the treatment of leukemia, to gestating rats. The object was to deplete the animals of folic acid and determine whether folic acid deficiencies might have a part in the origin of congenital anomalies. Many of the fetuses showed severe anomalies but some had disappeared altogether; they had died and been resorbed.

Recently, Drs. Harold Jackson and Marion Bock of Christie Hospital (Manchester, England) found that triethyl melamine, a nitrogen mustard used in treating leukemia, retinal blastoma and other tumors, induces sterility of at least several weeks' duration in male rats. The effect is on sperm still in the process of development rather than mature sperm.

Of course, present cancer chemotherapeutic agents are entirely too potent to be used for any but their intended purpose. But future research may well turn up growth-controlling agents quite capable of other applications.

ARTHRITIS AND RHEUMATISM AFFLICT 10 MILLION	SCIENTISTS DEVELOP POTENT NEW DRUG

Arthritis Target

Women appear to be prime targets for the great crippler, arthritis. Statistics show that for every man, three women fall prey to this disease. Rheumatoid arthritis is the malady's formal name. Along with allied conditions, in one way or another, the disease has afflicted more than 10 million people in the U.S. and completely crippled some 200,000 others.

The secretary, housewife and young mother are most susceptible. Arthritis is insidious. Its symptoms at first are usually mild. Gradually they worsen, until one day you wake with an arm or leg that is completely useless. What causes arthritis? Scientists have not yet found an answer. Nor have they yet found a complete cure.

They do have available a number of chemicals to control the symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis in many patients. These drugs, administered by the physician, can lift the hopelessly crippled arthritic victim out of the wheelchair and back into normal life. Among the medicines which have proven effective in some patients are aspirin, gold compounds, and the much-heralded hormones, cortisone and hydrocortisone.

However, these drugs are not fully effective and the hormones, in particular, sometimes create unpleasant side effects in some patients and thus force their abandonment. Recently, a new synthetic hormone called Sterane has been placed in the hands of physicians. Sterane appears to be far more potent than cortisone or hydrocortisone and offers promise of reducing the side effects noted with the other hormones.

With advancing research and rehabilitation, many arthritic patients will be given a new lease on life.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW FEATURES FARM YOUTH

Hundreds of farm boys and girls from many states will spend their Thanksgiving holiday in Chicago to play a major role in the 1955 International Live Stock Exposition November 25 through December 3, show officials announced today.

Farm youth will be in the spotlight the first two days of the show. The National 4-H Live Stock Judging Contest will start the activities of the International on Friday, November 25.

The Junior Livestock Feeding Contest is scheduled for Saturday, November 26. In this contest 4-H and FFA boys and girls will show their prize winning stock from County and State fairs earlier in the season. The management reports that over 500 head of 4-H and FFA raised livestock have been entered in the junior competitions of this year's show.

College Teams Compete
Collegiate Live Stock Judging Contest will also be held on the opening Saturday. More than 35 teams of Agricultural college students will compete in matching their judging skill of cattle, sheep and hogs.

The grand champion steer award, the most coveted honor in the show, has been won by junior showmen 12 times in recent years, the management states. They have also shown grand champion swine and sheep in competition with veteran livestock breeders and exhibitors.

The 34th annual 4-H Club Congress will also be held in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition. It will bring nearly 2,000 of the country's top 4-H winners to Chicago. They will stage a spectacular parade at the International Horse Show Wednesday night, November 30.

Record High Entries
Total tabulations are incomplete for the entire show, but the management reports that entries will far exceed any past year. The 10 acre International Amphitheatre will be taxed to capacity to house the big display of the continent's finest farm animal.

Fourteen action packed performances of the International Horse Show will provide sport and entertainment every evening and matinee performances on Sunday, Nov. 27 and the following Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and the final Saturday, December 3. According to W. J. O'Connor, Horse Show Chairman, the country's top stables have listed entries for this event.

Mrs. Bill Stephens is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.

The first annual Beltwide Cotton Production Conference will be held December 15-16 at Memphis, Tenn., the National Cotton Council has announced.

The meeting will focus attention on insect control, disease control, chemical weed control, fertilization, irrigation, and defoliation. It will emphasize the importance of fitting together the best "package of practices" for any individual farm, rather than using a piecemeal approach in adopting new practices.

Sessions will be held at the Hotel Peabody, the Council said. Until this year the Cotton Council has sponsored separate conferences on insect control, weed control, and defoliation. The new Production Conference not only replaces the three previous meetings, but brings other problem areas within its scope as well.

Attending the first in the series of Beltwide Production Conferences will be several hundred persons representing all public and private groups interested in cotton research and education.

Immediately preceding the conference, and held in conjunction with it, will be separate technical meetings of groups particularly concerned with defoliation, disease control, and insect control.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Skin Diving

Though it is a relatively new sport, "skin diving" last year attracted the active participation of more than one million young Americans.

Yet, despite the enormous popularity of the sport, there were until recently only a few specially trained doctors who knew anything at all about the causes, prevention or treatment of diving diseases and accidents.

The urgent need to acquaint both physicians and the public with the medical problem involved in skin diving was pointed up most dramatically by a recent report which showed that in California alone, during the period from January, 1953, through April, 1955, diving was responsible for an average of about one fatality per month.

Skin diving may take one of several closely-related forms. The most common type of diver is one who wears a face mask and rubber fins and relies on the limits of his ability to hold his breath to descend below the surface of the water. Another type of diver is one who relies on a breathing tank of compressed air or oxygen to supply him with sufficient oxygen while submerged. The self-contained underwater breathing apparatus allows deeper and more extensive explorations.

But anyone whose health is less than perfect should be dissuaded from taking part in skin diving. Physicians who have studied the subject are agreed that the ideal type of diver is young, slender, composed and with good vision. Obesity is a definite hazard, as fat tends to retain nitrogen, a gas which impedes respiration. Additionally, since most obese individuals are usually out of condition, they are more prone to exhaustion, one of the most common hazards to a diver.

A number of organizations already have instituted programs to educate the public in the matter of diving safety. The diving enthusiast would do well, as a first step, to ask his family physician for a thorough medical examination. In this way, he may be certain that he may be better able to determine his maximum "sea" level.

Bull riding is a struggle for supremacy—between a ton of ramming dynamite and a man determined to stick no matter what. It's eight seconds by the clock—eight seconds to cling to a whirling demon and show the very best technique that years of training can give. Jim Shoulders, whirlwind swamper of Henryetta, Oklahoma, blazed a trail of greatness through the rodeo world. Bull riding and bareback riding put Jim on top. He can tell you it's thrilling work and hard work too. Strict rules require that you ride with one hand and a loose rope, and that you can be disqualified by being bucked off, by touching the bull with your free hand or using sharp spurs. No doubt about it, it's a feat to stay up there for those long eight seconds. And it's a feat that the rider and his clothes are in one piece after the buzzer sounds. But—like the champs—Blue Bell Wrangler Jeans are tough and can take it. They're made of extra-heavy sanforized denim, reinforced at points of most wear and cut for smooth, easy comfort. Illustration selected from Book #2 of cartoon stories of famous rodeo champs given free with each pair of Blue Bell Wrangler Jeans.

Morphine For Chills

As everyone certainly knows, morphine is one of the oldest drugs in the pharmacopeia; its parent substance, opium, was well and favorably known to the most ancient physicians. Morphine continues nevertheless to yield interesting discoveries. The latest is that morphine is just the thing for chills, and also has value as an antipyretic.

The author of these observations is Dr. Walter E. Marchand of the Bedford, Massachusetts, Veterans Hospital. In a recent paper, Dr. Marchand relates that fourteen years ago he gave morphine for relief of pain to a woman suffering severe abdominal pain and a shivering chill following an operation. In thanking him afterward, the patient remarked that the chill had been worse than the pain and that she was particularly glad he had been able to stop the chill. A few days later, he gave morphine to a patient in pain and suffering a chill from a buttock abscess. She also remarked upon the quick ending of the chill.

In the years since, Dr. Marchand has given morphine to 86 patients to halt chills. The 86 included 27 battle casualties, 3 patients with severe burns, 14 suffering transfusion reactions, 9 with soft-tissue infections, 3 with pneumonia and 3 with reactions to typhoid vaccine. The drug never failed.

Among those to whom the Boston physician administered morphine for chills were, also, several patients undergoing malaria treatment for central nervous system syphilis (general paresis). The morphine not only halted their chills, but promptly brought their fever down. Subsequent trials showed morphine to be highly effective as an emergency treatment when fever threatens to get out of hand.

Dr. Marchand decided to report on his experiences with morphine when a check turned up a strange fact. In all the immense literature on morphine and other derivatives of opium, there is not one reference to morphine's unique action against chills (no other drug is so swift or efficacious); and there is only passing mention of its potency as an agent against fever. At this late date, new properties were still to be found in "God's own medicine."

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Better Appetite

When it comes to evasive action, especially at mealtime, some children put on a "stall and spin" act that would leave a jet ace green with envy.

These dinnertime donnybrooks do more than just put mom in a tizzy.

The loss of appetite that they often symbolize, according to nutritionists, can send even the best-conditioned youngster into a physical and academic decline from which he may be a long time recovering.

Physicians refer to this condition as "simple growth failure." Yet this ailment really isn't simple at all—it's insidious and operates by stealth. For apart from lack of normal growth, children struck by it show no readily discernible signs of nutritional deficiency. Often the only clue to give it away is lasting loss of appetite.

Yet once it spots a nutritional deficiency like "simple growth failure," medical science can quickly put it to rest. Studies by Dr. Norman C. Wetzel, a pioneer in growth and development research, indicate that dietary supplements, particularly vitamin B-12, not only help to stimulate growth but can consequently help to improve a child's scholastic work, behavior and attitude as well.

Dr. Gino Frontali, professor of pediatrics at the University of Rome, has also conducted a series of exhaustive tests on the growth potential of vitamin B-12. During two separate seven-month periods, he administered 20 micrograms of the vitamin to selected groups of children in two different schools. At the end of the test period, all of them gained appreciably more weight than control classmates who didn't get the supplement.

From these and other studies, scientists have learned that B-12 does more than help piece out what otherwise might be an inadequate diet. By stimulating the appetite, it can also help turn a finicky eater into a trencherman of at least average ambition.

Thus, medical specialists of the J. B. Roerig Co. recently devised, especially for children, a combination of B-complex vitamins, vitamin C and the amino acid lysine. Called Stimavite, the tablets are designed to perk up appetite, stimulate growth and help put an end to mealtime malingering.

Leon Schumpert (right) explains his use of three electric stock tank water warmers at his Portales, New Mexico, dairy farm. Mr. Schumpert is convinced that electric stock tank water warmers increase profits. Inset shows another type of water warmer which hangs on side of tank rather than floating in water.

Imagine yourself standing alone during a cold, chilly, wintry day. You want a drink. You can't use your hands. Your mouth and nose are submerged in a tank of 35 degree water. Not a very pleasant thought, is it? You'd take only as much water as you would need to survive.

And, that's exactly what your cows will do. Now, for efficient, profit making milk production, the average dairy cow requires upward to twenty gallons of water daily. Approximately one-fifth of this amount goes directly into the digesting process and for body conditioning. Feed lot steers and calves require twelve gallons a day for top gains.

But, there's a way for your cows to get their water ration, even during the coldest winter day. Use an electric, thermostatically-controlled water warmer. The cost is negligible compared to the profits that are available during the winter when the prices are higher. Better milk production from the same number of cows is the result of cows drinking their full rations of electrically warmed water. This means more money for you.

How about safety? Will an electric water warmer shock your cows? The answer is an unqualified "no" so long as the unit carries the Underwriter Laboratories seal and the installation instructions of the manufacturer are followed.

How much trouble is it to maintain? None at all. After installation, you merely set the thermostat to the desired temperature (not below 42 degrees) then forget it. On some units the manufacturer presets the thermostat relieving you of even this simple chore.

Once you install your water warmer you're set for the winter. You don't even have to leave the warmth of your farm home. The electric stock tank water warmer acts as its own sentinel twenty-four hours a day — and night, and is on guard against sudden drops in temperature. You are assured that your cows will have the right temperature water at all times. You are assured the profits that

Craig Thompson Reviews Texas Land Scandal

The Texas land scandal might be the first multi-million dollar theft in history to be conceived as a piece of legislation that required the approval of the people, Craig Thompson observes in the current (November 12) issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

"And in this swindle," the nationally known reporter continues, "the only victims are the taxpayers, including all those whose votes made it possible."

Thompson's article, "These Texas Scandals," says the case undoubtedly would set a precedent if Representative John J. Bell is convicted and faced with the question of whether he worked to get the law passed in order to set up this swindle.

The observation is made that the question may never be satisfactorily answered, but the fact that it can be raised is seen as evidence that the land scandals stand unique among big swindles.

In the Post article, Thompson tells that Bell has testified that the land program was conceived and written by James Branscum Giles, commissioner of Texas' General Land Office, who was sentenced to prison for theft and bribery.

Bell, it is related, worked for the program's adoption, by referendum, as a constitutional amendment. Then, as a state senator, he sponsored the law necessary to make the amendment operative.

"But now that he is under indictment for sharing the profits of those who turned this veterans' benefit into an unparalleled larceny," Thompson comments, "his motive has become suspect."

The magazine's comprehensive report on the land fraud tells the parts played by Ronald K. Tower, the Cuero newsman who won the Pulitzer prize, and Wiley L. Cheatham, DeWitt County attorney, and the whole incident is referred to as the most explosive scandal in Texas since the impeachment of James E. (Pa) Ferguson, in 1917.

Thompson reports that fixing the precise amount stolen will take a long time. However, the top-most estimate at the time of writing was $16,102,001.

On the side he has talked with many local political leaders. Reports were that some spokesmen for both liberal and conservative factions hoped that by supporting Daniel they could avoid a repetition of the 1954 gubernatorial slugfest. Daniel has said he will not announce his intentions until after January 1.

A four-lane highway connecting all population centers should be Texas' aim says Gov. Allan Shivers. Addressing a meeting of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association in Austin Shivers praised the farm-to-market highways. But, he said, "our trunkline system has not fared so well."

At least 3,000 more miles of heavy traffic are needed, Shivers stated. He added that "such construction would pay for itself with increased gasoline tax revenues. But people seem more willing to pay more expensive toll road fees than state taxes."

NORTH-SOUTH THOROUGHFARE

A super-highway from the Red River to the Rio Grande by 1960 is the target of the Texas Highway Department.

Originally completion of the 512-mile project was scheduled for 1975. However, faster acquisition of right-of-way than was expected has made the advanced date possible, reports State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer.

Following the route of the present U. S. Highway 81, the new giant road will cost an estimated $275,000,000.

far more than any other southern state.

Population shifts, both within and to the state, as well as the rising birth rate, cause the dilemma says TEA.

BUILDING ADVISOR NAMED

Hope is apparently ended for five men have been appointed to help plan a new State Courts Building.

Named to the Supreme Court Building Advisory Board, by Governor Shivers, are former Senator of Amarillo, former congressman Ed Gossee of Dallas; former Governor Dan Moody; J. Neils Thompson of Austin; and Virgil T. Seaberry Sr. of Eastland.

DUVAL DECISION STANDS

Hope is apparently ended for any change in the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals nullifying 194 Duval County indictments. The court refused to reverse its ruling that the grand jury which returned the indictments was improperly constituted.

Meanwhile a new Duval grand jury completed its term after returning 198 indictments, 88 of them citing persons involved in the original group. Ten were against South Texas political boss George Parr.

PARR CASE BEFORE COURT

The Texas State Supreme Court will review a case to decide if and when George Parr is to be tried on a civil recovery suit. State action seeks to regain $500,000 in county funds Parr allegedly used to buy a ranch.

A conflicting suit by pro-Parr forces contends the money was a loan and seeks trial in Laredo. Trial in Cotulla or Alice is sought by the state.

Coast to coast without a traffic light... driving to South America... sound impossible? Not according to automotive experts who have come up with these and many more predictions for the future of highway travel.

At present, there are 58 million cars on the road in this country, and by 1965, it is expected that this figure will increase to 81 million. All these cars, bumper to bumper, would reach around the equator ten times, or stretch to the moon.

Automobiles may well evolve into three types, say the experts. One type may be the luxurious highway cruiser for safe, intercity transportation. The second, for general, around-town driving, will combine maximum passenger space and maneuverability in a small package. (In line with the idea of a small vehicle, don't overlook the open air scooter. It seats two, uses a minimum of gasoline, folds and unfolds in a minute, and can be stored in your larger car trunk, boat, plane, or under the desk—if you're a commuter.) The third type will be the "sports" car, to help you recapture the thrill of driving for pure pleasure. It's excellent for your "Shun-piking" trips. Plastic-body cars are already on the road, but someday, the entire car may be made of plastic, including a completely transparent scenic dome.

A highway modernization program is in progress and it envisions a 40,000 mile national system of intercity highways. This could mean coast to coast without a traffic light in a few years. Plans for the completion of the Pan-American highway are underway, so that drive from "Hometown, U.S.A." to South America may someday be a reality.

All this adds up to one thing: bigger, better, safer, driving days for all. Here's to them!

Farmers were united in other resolutions refusing to endorse flexible price supports, asking for high price supports on basic commodities, and urging efforts to find outlets for surpluses.

HEARING ON HOOD PROMISED

A small ray of hope has developed for the "save Post Hood" forces in Texas.

Citizens in 12 county Central Texas area have been stirred up ever since the Army announced plans to move half of Hood's personnel to Louisiana.

Governor Shivers, Sen. Daniel, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, and several congressmen have spearheaded their efforts. They called attention to the enormous public and private expenditures made in the area to serve Hood personnel.

Senator Daniel received a telegram from the Secretary of the Army promising Texas a hearing on the subject.

Army dissatisfaction was thought to stem from the refusal of local property owners to permit use of their land for maneuvers without payment.

GM Parade Of Progress At Texas Tech, Friday Nov. 25

One of the largest and most unusual shows of its kind comes to Lubbock November 23, for a four and one-half day run. The General Motors Parade of Progress, a huge traveling science exposition, will be set up at Texas Tech, corner 4th street and College ave. It will open at 7 p.m., Friday, November 25, for three hours, then play from 2 to 10 p.m., Saturday through Tuesday, November 29. All performances are continuous and admission is free.

Moving on to another show town, the General Motors Parade of Progress makes an impressive caravan of gleaming red-and-silver vehicles. Facing the line are the Parade's Futurliners, big vans that contain many exhibits of research and science. The Parade's entire show is free to the public.

Non-commercial and educational in nature, the Parade of Progress has 26 major exhibits and a stage show. The stage presentation is housed in a large, fireproof Aerodrome tent which was specially designed by GM engineers to provide the maximum in audience safety and comfort.

With all the glitter of show business, the Parade of Progress tells the story of modern science and engineering in industry, and how they have contributed to the high American standard of living.

In addition to the Aerodrome, the Parade has a dozen Futurliners, modernistic vans which resemble huge buses in appearance. Animated exhibits are built into these unusual vehicles. On a show lot, the sides of the Futurliners fold out to become stages where college-trained lecturers vividly describe such things as a cutaway jet engine, "The World of Science" and the "Miracles of Heat and Cold" and "The Story of Friction."

These exhibits are arranged midway fashion in front of the Aerodrome scene of the Parade's feature attraction, a 40-minute stage show. Here, in rapid-fire sequence are shown such scientific oddities as the making of synthetic rubber in a pop bottle, cooking on a stove that never gets hot, a motor that runs on heat and light and a miniature hydrogen explosion, a gas turbine engine in operation and music played on micro-waves.

The Aerodrome itself is an unusual structure. Designed by General Motors engineers especially for the Parade of Progress, it is the only tent of its kind in existence. It is built like an inside out umbrella, with a skeleton of aluminum beams from which its fire-proof plastic-impregnated canvas "skin" is suspended. It has no poles, no stakes, no guywires—nothing inside to obstruct vision. It seats 1,250 persons in aluminum and fire proof folding chairs.

Like the tent, the Futurliners were designed by GM just for the Parade. Painted a gleaming red and white, they are completely streamlined and ultra-modern. The driver's compartment is located high above the road and is almost completely surrounded by a green-tinted windshield. The driver sits in the center of the cab and has every modern assistance, such as automatic transmissions, power brakes and automatic electronic headlight dimmers. The cabs are air conditioned.

For added safety, the Futurliners have dual wheels on the front as well as the rear. A huge rubber bumper runs completely around each vehicle and each has a short wave radio receiver so that instructions can be relayed on the road from two passenger cars and a service truck which are equipped with two-way radios.

On location at night, the tops of the Futurliners push up to form fluorescent lighting towers, adding to the colorful carnival atmosphere of the Parade.

But beneath all this circus glitter, the Parade has a serious purpose, as evidenced by the words of GM's president, Harlow H. Curtis.

"The nation's present place of world leadership depends to a great degree on research and engineering," he said when the Parade was launched at Detroit.

"Our daily lives, too, are deeply influenced by modern science."

"The Parade of Progress tells that story. For we of General Motors are tremendously interested in promoting a better understanding of research and engineering and what they mean to all of us."

"Visitors to the Parade's exhibits and stage show will not only enjoy the many vivid and dramatic things they see and hear, they also will come away with a deeper faith in the American way of life—a system that has encouraged the kind of progress that we in this country have seen take place."

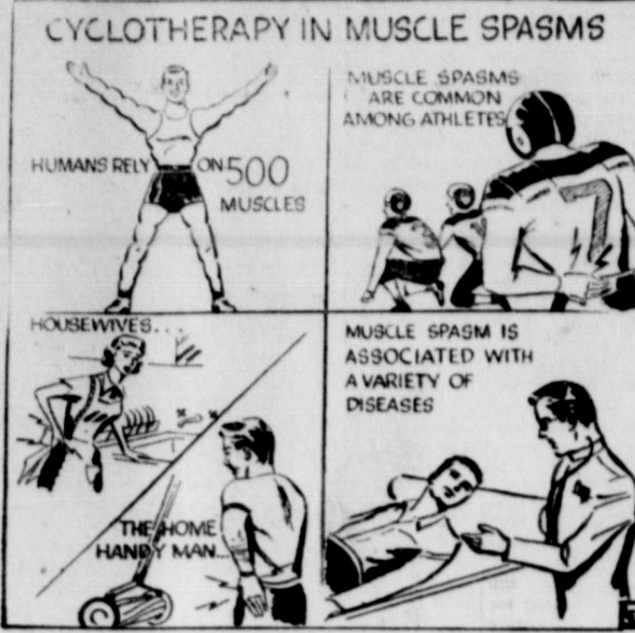

"And that is progress for all. We would like to help folks see specifically, how research, engineering and American progress are solidly linked together."

"And we want, too, to inspire young people—the youngsters with eyes on the future, the inventors, scientists and engineers, and leaders of tomorrow."

"In short, we hope to present, through this Parade of Progress, a picture of America on the move toward better lives for all of us."

The Parade of Progress has been on tour since April 1953. It has traveled through 31 states in East, plus Canada. Lubbock will be the 129th city on its nationwide itinerary. The Parade of Progress comes to Lubbock after completing a very successful tour of Canada this summer. More than six and one-half million people have

Science & Your Health

by Science Features

We humans rely on a complex array of 500 muscles of various sizes for the physical power we have over our environment. Yet, we commonly become aware of this wonderful system of locomotion only when our muscles "act up"—when they remind us through pain or spasm that something has gone wrong.

A spasm is any sudden, involuntary contraction of a muscle. Twitching, cramps or other types of muscle spasm may be brought on by a variety of causes. Sudden chilling of the body after swimming may result in severe spasm of several of the body's muscles. Sharply diminished circulation of the blood to any part of the body brings about spasms in the blood-starved area. Chemical imbalance is also a common cause of spasm; for example, recent research indicates that the painful leg-cramps of pregnancy are due to abnormally low levels of calcium in the blood of expectant mothers. The so-called night cramps—sleep-disturbing spasms of leg muscles—are also believed to be related to calcium metabolism.

Bacterial toxins can send the body's musculature into violent contractions; the most notorious of these is the poison secreted by the germ of tetanus or lock-jaw. In addition, many ailments of the nervous and skeletal systems are accompanied by muscular spasms.

In many of these chronic conditions, including arthritis, bursitis, paraplegia and low back pain, a new treatment known as cyclotherapy is proving beneficial. Doctors have found that cyclotherapy, a unique form of electrically generated physical energy, has scored striking results in easing spasms and relieving the pain of patients suffering from a variety of ailments that affect the muscles, and helping them toward rehabilitation.

The physician also has a variety of other physical and chemical agents at his disposal to quiet disturbed muscles. Heat, in various forms, has been used since time immemorial to "iron out the kinks" in painful muscles, and it is still a valuable means of therapy. Many drugs, including anesthetics, barbiturates, counter-irritants and the recently developed "tranquilizing drugs" have their place in the spasm-fighting armamentarium.

In some cases, muscle spasm is not primarily the result of disease, but is related to over-use of a particular set of muscles. In these conditions, such as the so-called "occupational cramps" or "athlete's cramps," modern methods of treatment including cyclotherapy have proven effective in restoring free motion to the affected parts.

RAMSEY CHOICE EXPLAINED

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was chosen national Democratic Committeeman, at the suggestion of U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the senator explained.

The suggestion was made to Governor Shivers, when the latter paid a visit to the Senator's ranch home where he is recuperating from a heart attack.

Johnson explained that when Shivers returned to Austin, he mentioned the discussion to Ramsey. The Lieutenant Governor then called Johnson to talk over the matter. Ramsey said he wasn't asking for the job, but would take it to help solve a difficult situation.

Further discussion between Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn resulted in the choice which surprised many Texans.

visited the Parade to date.

Following the public showing here, the Parade will go to Abilene.

Davy Crockett may not have shot an Indian, killed a bear, or saved the Alamo, but in 1955 he sure did wipe the spasm from off the map.

Chemical laboratory with modern machines and equipment is needed by the state to secure for him information that can be used to improve and return from soil testing laboratory is for diagnosing the all unproductive soils, especially the trouble comes lack of plant food in the soil. M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist, reports that last year 94,515 soil samples were handled by the laboratory which he directs for the Texas A & M College system. "The few of the state's farms and ranches are represented by this number," says Thornton. Right now he advises farmers who will soon be planting their fall grains, legumes and winter pastures to submit soil samples.

Several days are required to complete the laboratory work on a sample—analyze the results and write up the recommended practices and fertilizers (if needed). Improving moisture conditions over the state give promise for planting conditions far above those of past years, says the specialist and greatly enhance the chances for a successful fall and winter growing season. The report from the laboratory will show the amount of organic matter in the soil; nitrogen (available phosphoric acid); available potash; available lime and soluble salts. Thornton's recommendations will cover such items as the kinds and amounts of fertilizers needed for particular crops and cropping practices.

Finally, Thornton makes this suggestion: If you need information on how to take soil samples or mailing directions, visit the county agent in your county. Chances are good he can show you demonstrations on what soil testing has been worth to other farmers.

U. S. Senator Glenn Beall (R., Md.), visiting in Switzerland, discusses internal trade with P. Blank, left, director of the Swiss Federation of Watch Manufacturers, who explains that the Swiss would like to buy more U. S.-produced farm products, such as tobacco grown in Maryland. But their ability to do this, he points out, is being severely curtailed by high tariffs and other restrictions aimed at Swiss exports with the American farmer being the ultimate victim.

There's no tube to pinch or explode! Inside this tire there's a Safety-Liner, which slows air loss and reinforces the tire in the event it should be injured... instead of a dangerous blowout you get a harmless slow leak.
- PUNCTURE PROTECTION
If a nail, or any sharp object should penetrate this tire the Safety-Liner grips it and slows the air loss... No sudden flat tires, no need to change flats on the road.
- SKID PROTECTION
Newly designed silt tread has 70% more angle and skid-protecting edges. Won't squeal, hum or vibrate because tread elements overlap to prevent rhythmic vibration.
- SAFETY-TENSIONED GUM-DIPPING
Firestone's new cord treating factory combines the famous Firestone Gum-Dipping process with Safety-Tensioning, a new process which takes the stretch out of tire cords, prevents dangerous tread cracking. The result is greater blowout protection and longer tire life.

Abilene Christian College to Present History Pageant

ABILENE. (Special) — "A City Set on a Hill," a pageant depicting the 50-year history of Abilene Christian College production, using an original script, original music and original scenery. Mrs. James Boarden of Lubbock, 1942 ACC graduate, wrote the script, and Lewis Fulks of the ACC Speech Department has designed original music. It is being arranged by John D. Anderson, conductor of the ACC Symphony Orchestra, and Douglas E. Fry, director of the ACC Band.

Fulks is director of the pageant, assisted by the music directors: Dr. Leonard Burford, Lois Bruce and Richard C. Palm, choral music; Anderson and Fry, instrumental music. All are members of the ACC Music Department, and Dr. Burford is department head.

The pageant personnel will include at least 300 students, Fulks said, with 70 in speaking parts, 150 as musicians and singers and around 40 in the crew. Other students will serve as ushers and work in other capacities.

Seven performances are scheduled, February 17-19 and 21-24. A multi-set show, the pageant began in November, 1954, when Mrs. Boarden started writing the script. Fulks has been working since February on matters of staging, lighting and equipment.

A. D. TAYLOR ADMITTED TO AMHERST HOSPITAL

Everyone hopes he can avoid an accident, but not all are that fortunate. If you become involved, you'll find these tips worth remembering. REMAIN at the scene of the accident. It's illegal—and immoral—to leave.

RENDER assistance or obtain medical help if needed. Be very careful with injured people; confine your aid to keeping them warm and controlling bleeding, unless you have completed a standard first aid course.

GATHER the facts. Ask the other driver involved in the accident for his name, address, license number, registration, car make and insurance company. Get the names and addresses of all occupants of the other car. Make a diagram of the accident showing car positions and directions cars were traveling.

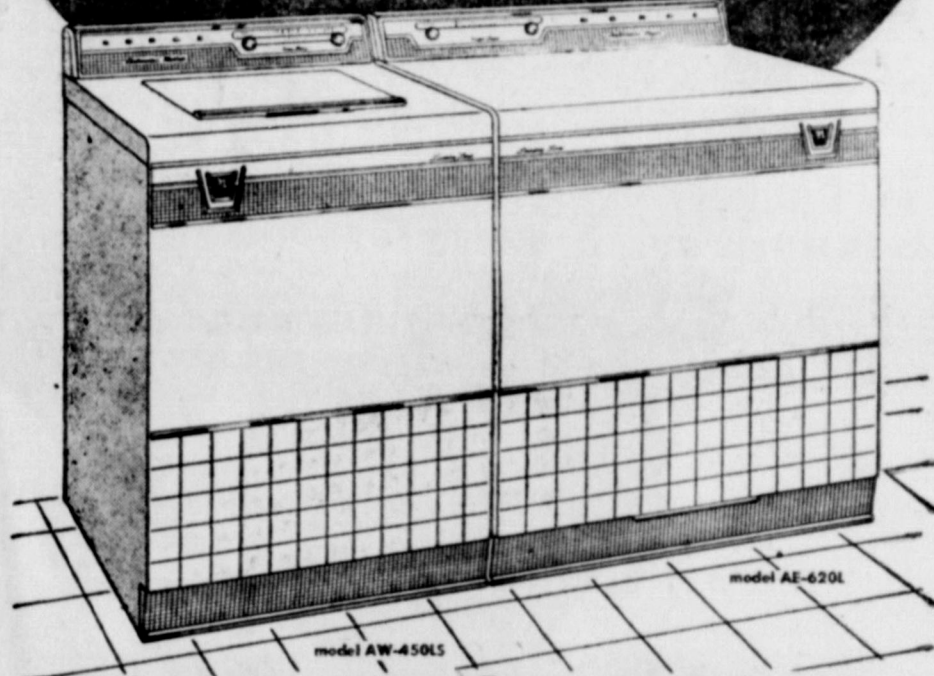

CALL the police. In all but very minor accidents, call the city police or highway patrol. The officer will take charge and fill out an accident report. It's a good idea not to discuss the accident with anyone but the police and your insurance company.

ASK for witnesses. Take down the names and addresses of any bystanders who may have seen the accident happen.

REPORT any accident you're involved in to your insurance company as soon as possible. Make a report regardless of the seriousness of the accident.

ALWAYS have your license, insurance card, and car registration with you whenever you drive your car. A pad and pencil in the glove compartment will prove handy for any information you may have to give.

Brownwood, site of the Turkey Day skirmish between ACC and Howard Payne football forces.
 Each student will run approximately 300 yards and the entire expedition is expected to require about six and one-half hours. Approval of the relay has been given by the college administration and the State Highway Patrol in Abilene.
 The anchor lap will be run by Bobby Morrow, ACC's National AAU 100-yard dash champion and a top prospect for the 1956 U. S. Olympic team. Morrow will carry the torch into the Brownwood stadium just before the opening kickoff.
 Student Council of ACC is sponsor of the project. Student president Don Bowea said the project will reflect the unflinching spirit of the 50th student body at ACC.
 The special long-burning aluminum torch will be ignited in a special ceremony Monday morning November 21, and will be kept burning all week by all-night student vigils.

There's more to driving a car with an automatic transmission than merely moving the selector lever or push button and starting off. Here are some tips you may find useful.

1. Be sure the selector lever is at "Neutral".
2. Keep your foot on the brake pedal when moving the lever to any driving position or while the car is standing still. This will avoid "creeping" or jumping.
3. Use hand or foot brake to keep the car from rolling when stopped on an upgrade. Don't hold the car by feeding gas.
4. Never shift to "Neutral" when driving downhill. Coasting is dangerous and is illegal in many States.
5. If your car has a "Park" position, be certain you are completely stopped before shifting into it.
6. Shift into "LOW" when going down long, steep grades so the engine will help brake the car.
7. When you leave the car, make sure the ignition is turned off, the parking brake applied, and the selector lever at "Neutral", "Park", or "Reverse", depending on the make of the car.
8. If the car has to be towed, exercise caution to damage to the transmission can occur. See your Owners' Manual.
9. It is important to have the right fluid level in the transmission at all times and, of course, the fluid should be drained and refilled at regular intervals. Let your service station dealer check and service as required.
