Commiss Ease Drive Toward Whangpoo River

Big Fires Started Near Shanghai By Shelling, Demolition

SHANGHAI, May 20. (AP)—Twenty-six fires burned to-night along the Whangpoo on the Pootung side of the river as a result of shelling and demolition.

The blazes appeared to range from small villages on the horizon to industrial installations a few hundred feet from the east bank of the river opposite Shanghai's Bund. They extended from Shanghai almost half way to Woosung fortress, where the Whangpoo and Yangtze converge.

Except for this fearsome chain of fires the night was relatively quiet. The Communists did not appear to be pressing their drive toward the river from the east. Very little shellfire was heard and only occasionally some machinegun blasts. Now and then small arms fire rattled. But it sounded more like trigger happy soldiers than fighting.

The city seethed with rumors. But what looked like a Nationalist withdrawal last night looked less so tonight.

The garrison communique claimed the Nationalists threw back all new Red efforts to close in from the Pootung area across the Whangpoo. Nevertheless four Red shells fell in Shanghai proper—killing half a dozen Chinese.

One foreigner who went to the front said he walked three miles beyond Kaohao and saw no Communists. The Reds are supposed to have attacked that area last night. Although the famed Bund, waterfront street, is closed, the expected evacuation of troops has not developed. The foreigner who visited the front said he saw no large ships loading there.

The Communists have light artillery on the Pootung side. A few minutes before he visited Lungwah street, two Red shells landed in that area.

Lungwah Field was still operating. Every departing plane was jammed with passengers. The Chinese Airlines still operating were prepared to close at any minute.

The suit by Martin county originated as a claim for excess land sold to C. C. Slaughter in 1907 by the commissioners court of Martin county, and described as 17,712 acres in Cochran county. Subsequent surveys revealed that the leagues contained a total of 17,962. Only the 250 excess acres was sought at the time.

When the court of civil appeals, in a case involving Rannels county school land, held that a county could not recover excess school land, attorneys who represented Martin county at that time withdrew from the case.

Notwithstanding this development said Judge Morris, "the commissioners court, realizing that it might lose the case, but feeling that the cause of the school children should be protected at the uttermost, voted to prosecute the case."

Accordingly, A. Mack Rodgers, Big Spring attorney, and Tom Adams, Stanton attorney, were brought into the case to represent Martin county.

The case had been called twice for trial in 1947 and five times the following year, but no one had appeared for Martin county. On other occasions it was passed by the court noting that it was held in abeyance pending a decision in connection with an Edwards county case, also tried by Judge Blair.

Indications were that the court was prepared to dismiss the litigation in event the county had not appeared in April.

On April 6, only a few days later, the case was called on the 72nd district court docket at Levelland and defendants asked an early trial.

West In Top Shape For Paris Meeting

BERLIN, May 20. (AP)—America, Britain and France will go into the Paris foreign ministers conference in their strongest positions since Yalta.

This is the situation of the Big Four as seen today in Berlin where France, Britain, the United States and Russia wrangle daily.

The Soviet Union's bargaining situation has been considerably weakened economically and politically since the Moscow and London conferences.

In both previous conferences the West was in a defensive position trying to seek agreements from Russia.

In the Paris conference for the first time diplomats believe the West can take the offensive or sit tight and let the Soviets seek to break the deadlock.

In a nutshell, the comparative positions on Germany are seen in this light politically and economically.

(1) Last year and two years ago western Germany was poverty stricken and economically stagnant. Today its industry is booming, living standards have been raised, its money has been reformed and put on a stable basis and recovery is well under way.

(2) Last year and two years ago West Germany was a political vacuum. There was no government nor did anyone care much about one. Today the Germans are busy setting up their own West German State and Germans as a whole have taken an interest in politics again. They have definitely aligned themselves with the West and Communism has sunk to its lowest levels since pre-Hitler times.

(3) Last year and two years ago the Western Powers were split on their German policy. Britain and the United States wanted to rebuild Germany until it could support itself. France, fearing German aggression, opposed every such move. With security fears largely alleviated by the Atlantic Pact, France is now closer to Britain and the United States and united in a common German policy.

(4) At the end of the war the Soviets had the only zone which could support itself economically, particularly in food. Its standard of living was far higher than the industrial West. Today, stripped by reparations, and shipping vast quantities of goods to Russia, the Eastern zone is a deficit area. Its standard of living has tumbled far below western Germany. Its money, despite rumors, is worth only one fourth as much as the West mark.

(5) At the end of the war, the Russians had a chance to win German support by a lenient occupation policy. Today there is no hope for such support except by force of arms. Ruthless suppression of all anti-Communist opposition, the installation of a small Communist minority as the ruling class and reduction of the population to serfs of the state has aroused widespread opposition.

U. S. Tells Russia To Stop Red Satellite Aid To Greek Guerrillas

American Help To Continue If Demand Not Met

State Dept. Rejects Soviet Efforts To Get Case Out Of UN

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—United States has told Russia that if it wants peace in Greece it should get the Communist satellite states to stop aiding the Greek guerrillas.

Until such help is ended this government will not relax assistance to non-Communist Greece.

These two points were disclosed in a lengthy statement issued by the State Department today. The statement brought out that the department has rejected Soviet efforts to get the Greek situation out of the United Nations and into the hands of the great powers for what amounts to a compromise settlement.

The statement declared: "We are prepared to discuss any matter with the Soviet Union in the proper forum—in the case of the Greek government it is the United Nations."

The declaration on Greece was released as a result of a Tass report last night that Russia had proposed informally at United Nations headquarters that the United States and Britain join in a common effort to settle the fighting.

The Soviet proposal, which the Soviet news agency said had been broached directly to U. S. representatives, was that the settlement be on the terms of the Communist guerrillas.

The Russian statement spoke of a meeting April 26.

The State Department said the April 26 talk actually was a rambling conversation among Asst. Secy. of State Dean Rusk, British Minister of State Hector McNeill, and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Rusk opened the Greek phase of the talk according to the American account, by expressing the hope that Greek problems might be ironed out within the UN framework.

There were later discussions on May 4 and on May 14 in which Gromyko talked about the "peace proposals" put out by the Greek guerrillas. The United States and could not negotiate on the matter except in an appropriate international forum which provided for full participation by the Greek government.

Rusk stated at each of the meetings that this country considered "the main issue was the illegal activities of Greece's northern neighbors, particularly Albania and Bulgaria, in furnishing assistance to rebels in Greece."

Scout Organization, Extension Drive In Big Spring Planned

Plans for an intensive organization and extension campaign and a leadership training course highlight reports at the Boy Scout district committee meeting Thursday night.

A practical leadership course will begin at 5 p. m. Saturday at the Round-Up grounds south of the city. Joe Pickle, training chairman reported. Adult leaders participating in the course will remain at the camp site over night where they will witness demonstrations of several Scouting skills.

The possibility of organizing several new Scout troops and Cub packs and re-activating some others were discussed. Details for procedure are to be supervised by Burl Haynie, organization and extension chairman. Committeemen expressed hope that the organization and extension campaign could be maintained on a continuous basis for the remainder of the year.

District committee members attending the meeting executed individual "promissory notes" to the Buffalo Trail Council, pledging that their respective committees would operate as outlined in instructions during the year.

FEAR BREAKS IN LEVEES AT ROSSER

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of sweating men toiled at Rosser today, sandbagging the levees of the rampaging Trinity River to brace them against a dreaded break.

The swollen river lapped within 16 inches of the top of the dike. Richard McMurray, Associated Press reporter said.

Rosser is 30 airline miles and about 100 winding river miles below Dallas.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning, the river at Highway 34, two miles downstream from Rosser, stood at 36.90.

The official prediction was that the river would crest in the neighborhood of 40 to 41 feet but seasoned river men in this section thought it would be lower.

Great gaps in levees near Hutchins, 10 miles south of Dallas and opposite Ferris in northern Ellis County, relieved pressure in this section considerably.

The men at Rosser were trying to save crops on land so rich that it is called the "Texas Valley Of The Nile."

The Trinity in flood left death and destruction at Fort Worth and lighter damage at Dallas.

In the path of the flood lay fields of wheat and small grains almost ready for the harvesters two-inch stands of cotton and foot-high corn.

James A. Cotton, engineer in charge of the Army engineers sub-office in Fort Worth, said the water last night was about three feet from the tops of levees in northern Ellis County. It was rising three inches an hour.

Meanwhile, Fort Worth started shaking the water off its back. The main problems were restoring the drinking water supply to Texas' fourth largest city, cleaning up muck and rebuilding the levees that gave way to let the river drive 13,200 people from their homes, drown 10 and cause $5 million to $25 million damage.

The water was dropping fast in the low residential and industrial areas flooded in Dallas.

Tornado-jittery Panhandle citizens, meanwhile, looked happily at clear skies yesterday—for the first time in more than a week of twists.

Several persons were believed missing as houses floated away. Water was seven feet deep in one block. City officials reported 30 blocks in Guthrie underwater.

The Cimarron, North Canadian and Washita Rivers and their backwaters caused the major flooding. The Arkansas was expected to overflow at several points in eastern Oklahoma today.

River observers said they expected serious trouble from the Arkansas.

Many state highways were closed. Tornadoes put a scare into several communities near Bartlesville in Northeast Oklahoma last night but only one came to earth.

This one struck at Dewey, drenching a barn and ripping the porch off a home.

Oklahoma Flood Damage Mounts As Rains Come

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma City, May 20. (AP)—Overnight rains brought on new flood problems for Oklahoma today. Streams spread out over large areas.

Thousands were driven from their homes and crop and property damage mounted steadily.

A flash flood on Cottonwood Creek dealt a severe blow to Guthrie, 30 miles north of Oklahoma City.

Red Cross workers counted more than 1,000 homeless after the swollen creek sent a wall of water surging through the center of the town.

CAA Grant To Aid In Financing New Air Terminal Here

The Civil Aeronautics Administration confirmed a grant of federal funds to help finance a new air terminal building for Big Spring as plans for beginning actual construction work on the proposed project moved forward.

The initial work order has been issued to B. F. Horne Abilene, the general contractor. City Manager H. W. Whitney reported. Horne probably will begin work at the site next week.

The CAA announced last night that a federal grant up to $37,813 had been made. The government will play half of the construction costs, provided its share does not exceed the amount granted. Half of the total is expected to be considerably less than that figure since the contracts, including general construction, electric work and heating and plumbing aggregate $49,019.

$30 MILLION INVOLVED Martin County Sues For Land Recovery

STANTON, May 20.—With new issues injected, Martin county is pressing a suit for recovery of oil-laden school lands and involving values of more than $30 million.

The case was continued Monday in 72nd district court at Levelland until the Oct. 6 term of court.

Martin county according to a statement released by Judge James Morris and the commissioners court, is seeking recovery of 17,962 acres of land from Magnolia Petroleum Co. and other defendants, alleging numerous defects in the title of the land when conveyed originally.

The suit by Martin county originated as a claim for excess land sold to C. C. Slaughter in 1907 by the commissioners court of Martin county, and described as 17,712 acres in Cochran county. Subsequent surveys revealed that the leagues contained a total of 17,962. Only the 250 excess acres was sought at the time.

When the court of civil appeals, in a case involving Rannels county school land, held that a county could not recover excess school land, attorneys who represented Martin county at that time withdrew from the case.

FORMER MARINE IS NOT DISCOURAGED Plucky Fort Worth Veteran Reflects Spirit Of City Devastated By Flood

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD AP STAFF

FORT WORTH, May 20. — "If we can rake together a stick of furniture, we'll make out."

That was James A. Pate talking—a young Marine veteran with a family who lost his home and possessions in the Fort Worth flood this week.

His is the spirit of Fort Worth, a city on the mend.

"You'll find no discouragement here," said Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher. "The flood was a bad break, but better breaks are on the way."

The flooding Trinity, bursting through levees Tuesday, drowned 10 persons, left an estimated 13,200 temporarily homeless and wrought $5 million to $25 million in property damage.

But this spunky city rolled with the punch and is quickly bouncing back to normal.

Its stores are crowded. Its business section hums with activity.

"Everything is under control," said W. O. Jones, Fort Worth's city manager. "Barring accidents we'll have our water supply completely normal by Saturday morning. We are really cleaning up the flooded area and rehabilitation will come later. The Red Cross and Salvation Army, Carswell Airbase, National Guardsmen, city employees and others have done a wonderful job."

"Citizens have co-operated 100 per cent in following instructions. But I wouldn't expect anything less of citizens of Fort Worth."

The crippled water supply is the biggest problem. "I need a bath," is the cry of the day. Many rent hotel rooms—some hotels have private water supplies—just to take baths.

"Outside of the water problem, most of Fort Worth was not affected by the flood," Carter pointed out. "The greatest distress is in the loss of lives, homes and personal belongings. The greatest financial loss was to industries and businesses in the affected area."

"Not more than two or three per cent of Fort Worth's citizens were touched by this disaster. It is true that 10 per cent of Fort Worth was inundated—but it was a sparsely-settled area."

The Star-Telegram is sponsoring a relief fund and expect to collect $100,000. Of the $25,000 already collected, Carter and Sid Richardson of Fort Worth each gave $10,000. Jesse Jones of Houston gave $2,500 and Fred Florence, Dallas banker, $1,000.

Army engineers will open sealed bids here Monday for repair of levees damaged. It was possible diverting equipment would be in operation early next week. There were seven major and seven lesser breaks in levees along Clear Fork and the Trinity.

Prosecution Ends Its Case In Communist Conspiracy Trial

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—The prosecution completed its case in the Communist conspiracy trial yesterday and Federal Judge Harold R. Medina indicated strongly he would over-rule the usual defense motions for dismissal today.

"I am wholly at a loss to see whether arguments could be presented by the defense," Judge Medina told defense attorneys. "The evidence submitted by the government is of such character there seems to be very little room for discussion. I don't see how I could fail to submit this case to the jury."

Defense counsel, caught by surprise late yesterday when the government rested its case against 11 top U. S. Communist leaders, aimed new attacks on the conspiracy indictment today.

The defendants—who compose the party's American "politburo"—are charged with conspiracy to advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence. The trial has been under way for 18 weeks.

One of the points on which the defense is expected to base its arguments for dismissal is the U. S. Supreme Court's free speech decision last Monday. The high court ruled in a five-to-four decision that free speech must be permitted even when a speaker's words stir people to anger and unrest.

Defense lawyers told Judge Medina yesterday that the Supreme Court had ruled that "a clear and present danger must be present" in order for speech to be in violation of the law. Saying he considers that "a substantial question," Judge Medina said he would allow argument on it.

Another point listed for argument is a defense contention that the testimony of seven FBI undercover agents who took the stand for the government was improper.

With the jury removed from the court room, the judge and defense counsel engaged in more of the bitter arguments that have highlighted the trial since it started Jan. 17. The judge again warned the lawyers of disciplinary measures.

As defense lawyers jumped up and down assailing him, the judge left the bench for a short recess to let things cool off.

At one point Judge Medina told George W. Crockett, Jr.: "Nothing you can do can goad me into doing anything to bring about a mistrial. I think I know just what you're up to now. . . I expect this sort of thing will get worse in the weeks to come."

The government presented 12 witnesses. More than 11,000 pages of testimony have been taken on the official record—including 5,000 in the defense's unsuccessful challenge of the U. S. jury system here and 6,000 in the actual prosecution.

Galveston May Get Aircraft Carrier

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—The Navy may send an aircraft carrier to the Gulf of Mexico to train reserve airmen.

State Rep. Jack Cox of Breckenridge, Tex., said yesterday, "It looks pretty good." He is here with others connected with Hensley Air Base, Dallas, favoring the plan. Hensley trains naval air reservists of Texas and Oklahoma.

Rep. Thompson (D-Texas) said he understands the Navy favors sending a carrier to the Gulf and it has recommended it be based in the Galveston area.

LONG LIST OF FIRE HAZARDS IS FOUND AT UT MEDICAL SCHOOL

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester took under consideration today a long list of fire hazards found at the Galveston Medical School.

The report, submitted by Fire Insurance Commissioner Paul H. Brown, shows six buildings—three and four-story structures—without fire escapes. One was the crippled children's hospital, another the Negro hospital, and another the nurse's home.

Jester asked Brown for the report on April 18 shortly after a disastrous midnight fire at St. Anthony's Hospital in Effingham, Ill. The report recommended the installation of fire escapes on all buildings above one-story. It stressed the need for special chute-type escapes for bed-ridden and mental patients.

The building-by-building inspection was made by Galveston Fire Marshal J. C. Kelso and Fire Chief W. J. Henderson under the supervision of State Fire Prevention Chief Eugene Sanders.

Some of the "glaring deficiencies" noted were:

- escapes, open stair wells, light fixtures need repair. Women's building, four-story—two outside fire escapes with no guide signs or lights.
- John Sealy Hospital, three-story—three outside escapes, "insufficient number of escapes to comply with the fire escape law."
- Dormitory building—"Wiring connections very bad." Psychopathic building, four-story—one outside escape, "window to fire escape kept locked because of mental patients."
- Negro hospital, four-story—no fire escapes. Crippled children's hospital, three-story—no fire escapes.
- State psychopathic hospital, four-story—no fire escapes.
- Out patient building, four-story—no fire escapes.

John (Spike) Gartland, captain and coxswain of the Navy crew, is the first cox to captain a Midshipman crew since 1934.

New Booklet Gives Tips On 'Effective Shopping'

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Don't be afraid a store clerk will "give you a funny look" if you watch the figures when he's adding up your bill.

Count the change you get back at a restaurant—the waiter will respect you for it.

In returning unused goods to a store, you'll get best results with "a reasonably cheerful approach, free from sarcasm or recriminations."

These are tips from a booklet, "Effective Shopping," to be used by high school students in home courses.

Published by the National Assn. of Secondary-School Principals, it was written chiefly by Mrs. Mildred Weigley Wood of Phoenix, Ariz., Union High School, and Fred T. Wilhelms of San Francisco State College.

Good shopping is a skill that anyone can develop, the booklet says. Some of its elements:

1. Plan your buying in advance. Decide on the maximum amount to be spent for a particular item, and stay within the limit. Learn the characteristics of the product you plan to buy, so you can evaluate it intelligently.
2. Keep a file of booklets, advertisements and information articles from newspapers and magazines. Use ads as a guide to buying.

3. Have a smile and a pleasant greeting for the salesperson, and clearly describe to him what you want. Shop around from store to store. Avoid rush periods and rush days. Compare sales prices with regular prices. Avoid bargains for which you have no need.
4. Inspect goods and labels.
5. Pay bills promptly. Use a charge account or the installment plan if conditions advise them—but don't lose your shopping drive or become a "captive customer" thereby.

The booklet's advice to the nation's high school students: "Make use of advertising. It's like a giant newspaper from the trade to you.

"As a shopper you can't do without advertising. Merchants commonly advertise their best values, and you need to know about those.

"They give some specific facts about their goods and their prices—and more and more of them are swinging to every informative copy. If you want to be a well-informed consumer, don't neglect to make discriminating use of advertising."

Seek our counsel as freely as it is offered.

Expansion Of State Hospital Would Widen Area Of Service

First step toward providing for expansion of the state's eleemosynary institutions has been taken by the Senate eleemosynary sub-committee and its finance committee in recommending the appropriations requested by the state board of control.

Of interest to West Texans and Big Spring is the item of four and a quarter million dollars for expansion of facilities of the Big Spring State hospital. This amount would provide six additional dormitories, a recreational-chapel structure and auxiliary buildings. It is estimated it would increase the patient capacity by about 1,000.

While Big Spring has a natural interest in the physical aspects of the proposed program, it joins with West Texas in an appreciation of what such an enlargement could mean in the way of serving the mentally ill of this rapidly expanding area.

Right now the hospital is loaded with senile patients who have no hope of recovery. They are wards of the state so long as they live. With a limited capacity, only slightly over 400, the hospital's usefulness in serving great numbers of those who might be treated with degrees of success and helped to recovery is shackled. As it now stands, only a handful of counties—instead of the vast region the hospital was intended to serve—can get patients into the hospital.

By expanding the hospital, at relatively modest increase in administration, this problem could be met in a more effective measure. Perhaps under the urging from the governor, the legislature will take action in this direction.

Weakness In ERP Lies In Its Trend To Individual Recovery

Justification of the European Recovery Program lies in the belief and hope that support from the U. S. can undergird recipient nations so that by 1953 they will be far enough on the road to recovery to permit U. S. retirement from the picture. The idea behind this, of course, is that nations with rehabilitated economic systems will be much more vigorous allies of Democracy and vastly less susceptible to the appeal of Communism, which propagates best in misery and confusion.

Early reports indicate that considerable success has been realized in this direction, especially politically.

A committee from the International chamber of commerce, with C. D. Jackson, Fortune editor as chairman, has pointed out a long-range weakness which ought to be given sober consideration.

It lies in the fact that many of the recipient nations are looking to their own salvation and as a consequence are building their 1953 plan with prime emphasis in this point. For example, Britain hopes to export $50 million more in 1953 than she imports. The catch is that the nations to which Britain hopes to send her exports in such abundance also plan to export more to Britain than they import. Obviously, that can't be done, so a practical matter, the chance of success for some participants lies in hopes of failure of others.

As a realistic matter, it would be wise to begin now to create an understanding among all the participant nations that the only real recovery would be recovery for all or the greater part of the participants to recover. There must be something of unity in economics, too.

Grocery Clerk-Songwriter Seeks To Take Music World By Storm

NEW YORK (AP)—ALEXANDER ANAGNOS is a stubborn young grocery clerk who wants to write the nation's songs.

This is all right with Tin Pan Alley—so long as it doesn't have to share any of the responsibility.

Unlike most of America's 7 million amateur songwriters, Alex doesn't rebuff swing. He's in the midst of a one-man guerrilla campaign against the entire music industry.

"On my days off I even carry a sandwich board along Broadway advertising my songs," he said.

ALEX IS THE SON OF A GREEK who came to this country 43 years ago and opened a grocery store in Greenwich Village. It is a friendly store. If a customer has mice in his home, the store will lend him a cat to catch them.

Alex had always dreamed of being a songwriter. When he got out of the Army after the war, he decided to give it a try.

He went to one tin pan alley publisher and told him he had written a song about the "New Look."

"What do you want me to do about it?" said the crusty publisher.

Alex went to another publisher. He announced he had written a song about Bobo and Winthrop Rockefeller called "Cinderella Wears the Shoe."

"Oh, you did?" snapped the hard heart. "Well, keep it quiet."

IT WAS THEN THAT ALEX DECLARED war. He formed his own song publishing company and his own record firm. The major opus he is pushing at present is called "An Onion and You." It is a tenebrous little ditty about a housewife phoning her husband to bring home an onion.

He hired a band and a vocalist to record the song. Then he persuaded half a dozen neighborhood ginmills to put the record in their jukeboxes. He also employed a man named Frank to carry a sandwich board plugging "An Onion and You" along Tin Pan Alley.

The big trouble with his distribution system is that so far the only place people can buy his song is at his father's grocery store.

He has a tie-in deal with his dad. Customers who buy a 50-cent record get a big onion free. If they buy a pound of onions, they get a sheet music copy for nothing.

U. S. Refusal To Enter Pacific Alliance Comes As No Surprise

THERE LIKELY WILL BE SOME heart burnings, but need be no surprise, because Secretary of State Dean Acheson has ruled out—at least for the present—any American participation in a Pacific defense pact similar to the Atlantic treaty.

The conditions on which the Atlantic alliance is built are quite different from those existing in the Orient. The secretary took note of that fact yesterday when he told a news conference in Washington:

"While it is true that there are serious dangers to world peace existing in the situation in Asia, it also is true, as Prime Minister Nehru of India stated to the press the other day, that a Pacific defense pact could not take shape until present internal conflicts in Asia were resolved."

IN THE FIRST PLACE THE ATLANTIC treaty covers a theatre which represents the greatest immediate threat to the western Democracies. True, the Orient in due course may present an even greater menace—a fact which we most certainly can't ignore. However, since we already have made a start in Europe, that must be our main immediate concern.

Then, too, the Atlantic treaty covers a compact front, presenting a far more formidable defense. While many of its members are weak militarily, yet by and large they are at peace internally. There is no civil war in any of them.

The picture in the Orient is far different. Many of the countries in that huge area are torn by revolution—China, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia. Chief of these, of course, is China with her population of five hundred millions. As Secretary Acheson points out, the dangers of Asia are those revolving about the present conditions of that country.

How would you apply a defense pact to such a hotchpotch of violence and potential violence? What wouldn't Uncle Sam be letting himself in for if he signed a mutual defense pact with such an aggregation? It strikes me, he likely would find himself in the position of the Libyan wrestler Antaeus of ancient days.

ANTAEUS WAS THE SON OF EARTH and none could throw him because he gained strength every time he touched his mother. Along came Hercules, however, and conquered the Libyan by lifting him up so he couldn't touch earth at all.

Likewise our Uncle Sam might soon find himself hoisted by a Pacific defense pact. So much for the formal commitment of a defense pact. If America or Britain or any other western power wants to give material aid to an Asiatic country, that's a different story. Such aid wouldn't have strings on it. A defense pact is another thing, especially in a vast theatre of turmoil which might produce calls for help from several points at once.

Refusal to enter a Pacific alliance doesn't indicate lack of interest in that vital area. On the contrary, Secretary Acheson states that the United States and Britain are keeping in close touch with Chinese developments.

My father told me to watch my step. It's the best advice anybody can give. He said, "You are being watched." That's true too.

Real Estate Lobby Let Down Badly At Dinner For British Housing Magnate

WASHINGTON — Hottest backfire the real estate lobby has suffered in its battle against public housing didn't get into the newspapers. It occurred at a private dinner in Washington in honor of Sir Harold Bellman, British housing tycoon.

The dinner was given by Mrs. Frances Freed, widow of the late Allie S. Freed, a big construction tycoon who built the Buckingham Apartments across the Potomac in Virginia. At the dinner were Edward Carr, ex-head of the National Association of Home Builders; Oscar Krutz, president of the National Savings and Loan League; and Morton Bodfish of the U. S. Savings and Loan League, the latter indicted for violation of the lobbying act.

Sir Harold is chairman of the Abbey National Building Society—British equivalent of the Savings and Loan League—so his American friends were all set for an evening of oratorical fireworks against public housing on both sides of the Atlantic.

The British financier got a big hand when he blasted at "stringent government controls" on private housing construction in his country. Suddenly, however, the applause died like a busted light bulb.

Figuring he would also blast public housing in England, and thus provide ammunition they could use against the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Program, the dinner guests began asking about the dangers of "socialized housing" in America.

"I can't agree to that," replied Sir Harold. "Of course, I would rather not comment on your American program for public housing, because I do not feel it proper to do so. But I can tell you that the British program has worked out satisfactorily. In fact, as I see it, it's the only way to provide adequate housing for low-income groups."

INSTEAD OF ELEPHANT Minnesota's Jack-in-the-box Sen. Hubert Humphrey has come up with a new symbol for the GOP in place of the traditional elephant. At a Democratic banquet in Pittsburgh, Humphrey suggested that the new symbol for the Republican Party be the mole.

"The mole," Humphrey explained, "only sees in the darkness and is blinded by the sunlight."

"That is typical of the Republicans," explained the Senator from Minnesota. "They are just discovering the yesterday's today, and are unwilling to recognize that there will be any tomorrows."

MERRY-GO-ROUND Out in Seattle, Republicans are scheming to run a woman against Bachelor Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington next year. They figure the only candidate who can beat the handsome senator is Mrs. Pearl Wanamaker, state superintendent of education, but there is some worry that Mrs. Wanamaker at heart is a Democrat. The Wardman Park Hotel in Washington refused to let Dr. Ralph Bunche, the Negro diplomat who mediated the Palestine dispute, speak in one of its hotel rooms. The Middle East Institute had reserved a private room in which Dr. Bunche was to hold a round-table discussion with a small group of experts. But when the hotel discovered that Bunche was a Negro, it canceled the reservation and returned the money. . . The Chinese Nationalist government has moved half a billion dollars in gold reserves to a secret hideaway in Formosa. The Russians are making exhaustive preparations for the foreign ministers meeting. The American Embassy in Moscow reports that lights in the Russian foreign office have been burning until 5 a. m. of the past week. Foreign Minister Vishinsky reports on the job about 2 a. m. and doesn't leave until about 8 a. m.

LOU GEHRIG'S WIDOW Mrs. Lou Gehrig made a big hit with the Senate Subcommittee on Health when she testified for legislation to combat multiple sclerosis, the dread disease that felled her baseball-playing husband at the peak of his career.

However, one sidelight of the hearing didn't get in the newspapers. It occurred when Committee Clerk Bill Reidy passed her a note that caused Mrs. Gehrig to reach for her handkerchief. The note read: "Dear Mrs. Gehrig—you don't know me, but I used to play ball on the sandlots of New York with Lou. When he was playing ball for Columbia University and later when he was a great star with the Yankees, he frequently came down to 116th Street in Harlem to teach me and other kids the fine points of the game. . . That was a mighty tough neighborhood, but the gang fights always stopped when Lou showed up. He did a lot to stop delinquency and many of those tough kids who went on to amount to something will always be grateful to him."

The note was signed: "Bill Reidy."

ARMS FOR KOREA — General MacArthur has urgently requested that a big shipment of American arms and supplies be sent to South Korea immediately to build up the anti-Communist government of President Syngman Rhee. ### Political Rivalry Of Houston, Lamar Turned Out Well In End

A columnist in one of the big city papers recently mentioned that Guthrie, Okla., was the first capital of the Sooner state, which reminded us that we have maintained a long-standing suspicion that Austin never would have become the center of government in Texas had it not been for a spell of contrariness on the part of a Lone Star president.

That, of course, would be Mirabeau Lamar who succeeded in changing the capital from Houston to its present site.

The above-mentioned reference to Guthrie indicated that court action, elections and new statutes by the legislature were endured before Oklahoma's capital was ultimately moved to Oklahoma City. We are not familiar with the reason behind the switch in capital sites in Oklahoma, but history hints that Lamar's all-out opposition to Sam Houston had something to do with the change in Texas.

Based on information supplied by historians, it seems that Lamar simply could not see eye to eye with Gen. Houston on any question. The two early-day Texas leaders differed principally in matters of politics and affairs of state, of course, but Lamar's opposition apparently was so deep-rooted that he could not bear the thought of leaving the state capital in a city named for his political foe.

Subsequent developments, from the standpoint of both population and geography, have proved that Lamar made a pretty good choice when he was casting about for a new site. At the time the decision was made, however, Austin was far removed from populated areas of the new republic. In fact it was not even considered part of the outskirts of the inhabited regions at that time, and wagon drivers had their troubles when they transported government documents and supplies up from Houston because there were no roads leading into that wilderness.

If his critics of that era could see Texas today, they might be tempted to credit Lamar with amazing foresight, instead of plain stubbornness.

Congress Has Work Cut Out For, It In Lobbying Investigations

WASHINGTON (AP)—JUST AS REGULAR as Christmas, there comes a time at least once a year to write about lobbyists.

That's when somebody takes a crack at them or wants to suppress them or something. This is one of the times.

Yesterday the house passed a resolution to have a congressional investigation of lobbyists.

Nothing will be done, though, unless the Senate also votes for the investigation. A couple of years ago Congress passed a law which said lobbyists had to register with Congress.

This was an attempt to smoke them out in the open so they could be recognized as lobbyists.

About 1,500 are registered in the capitol as paid lobbyists. But this doesn't satisfy Rep. Sabath, Illinois Democrat, who's taken as many cracks at lobbyists as anybody.

HE SAYS ABOUT ANOTHER 1,500 LOBBYISTS—besides those registered—are running around loose, unregistered and unsmoked out.

But who's a lobbyist? He's any person (or group) who tries to persuade a congressman to vote his way.

There are lots of ways of lobbying: Visiting a congressman in his office, button-holing him in the hall, having him out to a party, or testifying before a congressional committee.

Sabath says he's not against the regular representatives of organizations who need lobbyists here to get their views across. But he is against:

1. The undercover lads who lobby without letting it be publicly known—by registering—that they're lobbyists.

2. The ones who get a chunk of dough from some one by pretending they have an "in" and can get things done in Congress.

A lobbyist could be someone paid by manufacturers, or labor unions, or landlords, or farmers, to represent them here and plug their case.

OR, AS SOME CONGRESSMEN HAVE charged, it might be someone from a government agency who tries to work his charms on Congress to get something the agency wants.

Or, it might be an ex-congressman, who is a client and has come back to work on his old companions in congress.

Can an ex-congressman do that? Sure. Anyone who's ever served in Congress can walk out on the floor any time he pleases. No matter how long it's been since he was a congressman himself.

So an ex-congressman turned lobbyist has a head start on any run-of-the-mine lobbyist who can get no nearer the floor than the hall outside.

Says Sabath: "One man who was a congressman 30 years ago is still coming back here. A lot of ex-members are lobbying."

SABATH SAYS MILLIONS OF DOLLARS are spent on lobbying every year through salaries for the lobbyists, money for their expenses, publicity they hand out, entertaining they do, and radio time the powerful lobbies can hire.

And these lobbyists—although they seldom would want to claim credit publicly—undoubtedly have a hand in persuading congressmen to their way of thinking in the laws that are passed.

But if you write a letter to your congressman, telling him what you think, you're lobbying in a way. And a great many organizations have a legitimate right to lobby since that's one way of making their views known.

So Congress will have its hands full if it tries to solve all lobbying problems—that is, if the Senate goes along with the House in wanting to try.

Broadway—Mark Barron

Scott Acclaimed As One Of Best Concert Pianists On Broadway

NEW YORK—A well-mannered young man with a conservative crew haircut, Henry L. Scott appears to be fresh off a college campus and strictly on his good behavior. Well, he is "fresh," funny and one of the best concert pianists ever to hit Broadway.

He came to Broadway the other night and played to what undoubtedly must have been the most overwhelming critical audience that an artist has faced this season. Because his premiere happened in a Broadway playhouse, the Mansfield, all the first string drama critics were present. Because of his ad lib comical remarks and impersonating between and during musical numbers, he attracted all the performers and impresarios from vaudeville, night club floor shows and similar nocturnal rendezvous who could crowd into the place.

And before that audience, as nutty with critics and rival performers as an about-burst fruit cake, Scott took off like a flying young man on a trapeze to perform a full evening's show. His only aids were a grand piano which could take a lot of punishment, a pair of thick two-fingered mittens with which he played (and very well) one number, and an orange and a grapefruit with which he played (also very well) another number.

He committed murder, mayhem, malfeasance maneuvers and music on that piano to captivate an audience with laughs and, at intervals to move them to silent tribute for his sensitive playing of Rachmaninoff's "Polichelle" and Chopin's "Minute Waltz."

Scott, who confessed a reverent admiration for Chopin, nevertheless gets a laugh out of his master as he does with his playing of "Chopin in the Citrus Belt." In this he plays a sort of fugue of Chopin's melodies which he accents with an occasional discord by dropping an orange or a grapefruit on exactly the proper keys. And, surprisingly, Scott drops the citrus fruit with as well timed accuracy and skill as he lures music from the keys with his floppy, overlarge gloves. And he plays one number, "Complete Course in Counterpoint," where he plays not only with both hands, but also uses his wrists, elbows and the heel of his right shoe to get as much music out of the piano as could normally be gotten by duet or trio of players.

Scott was born at Tivoli-on-the-Hudson, which is just a hop, skip and jump north of the Roosevelt home at Hyde Park. He, his wife and their three children still live in the house which his grandfather built. A versatile musician, an artist in this Henry L. Scott. Aside from the beating he gave his beloved piano, he also makes it impersonate a harp. And also an oboe, which Scott describes as "an ill wood wind that nobody plays good."

Hospital Quick Is Ticket For Burns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don't waste valuable time in attempted first aid when someone in your house gets burned, a Chicago doctor warns. Just wrap the patient in a blanket, sheet or even an overcoat—and get him to a hospital fast, is the advice of Dr. Harvey S. Allen.

Don't try to apply a poultice or any dressing, don't even wait to call your family doctor, says the Northwestern University Medical school surgeon. Just "go to a hospital" as quickly as possible, he says, so that treatment can commence quickly. He spoke at a surgeon's meeting here.

He says that invariably people try to give some kind of first aid in such cases instead of speeding the patient to hospital care. He pointed out that the role of the blanket, sheet or overcoat would be to prevent further infection from getting into the burned areas.

JAMES MAITLAND STEWART, born May 20, 1908, at Indiana, Pa., son of a hardware dealer. While a member of the Boy Scouts, he wrote, produced and acted in his first play. It was about World War I, in which his father—a Spanish-American War veteran—was then serving as a captain in France. The boy played in school dramas and played the accordion at Princeton, where he was graduated in architecture. He joined the University Players on Cape Cod, became a stage manager, then went to Hollywood. His "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" won him the critics award, and his role in "The Philadelphia Story" won the Academy Award. He served as a captain in the Air Force in World War II and won the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf.

Metal Mining Seeks Talent In Schools, Colleges Of Nation

By HOWARD I. OUNG

Increased recognition of the basic importance of metals to our domestic economy in both war and peace came during World War II when acute shortages of consumer goods made of metal prevailed. In recent years the thinking of the nation has developed to the point where the question of supply and availability of mineral raw materials has begun to assume its true importance.

At the same time realization has grown of the security value of a stockpile of essential metals set aside and held intact against the needs of another emergency.

Over the years, with minor fluctuations, the per capita consumption of metals by the people of the United States has risen. At the same time, the population has undergone tremendous increases, thereby boosting the total tonnage of metals required. Metals in sufficient quantities to provide 148,000,000 people of the United States with the ever increasing supply basic to a high standard of living must be made available.

The task is not easy. Hard work, sacrifice, and determination are required. But the rewards justify the effort.

Geologists, engineers, operators, metallurgists, and other personnel equipped with the best training that technical schools can offer are needed now and in the future. In the fulfillment of their tasks of providing the metals and mineral raw materials of industry, they will earn a decent living and the deep satisfaction of doing an extremely important job for the nation.

Well trained graduate engineers enter the mining industry today in position where they have an opportunity to learn and to bridge the gulf between theory and practice. During this period they are closely observed by their employers for those qualifications which will enable them to grow in value to the organization. Special aptitudes direct them to positions where full utilization of their ability—and proportionate earnings—may be realized.

Of equal importance to the production of sorely needed metals are the miners who are employed at mining the ores and bringing them to treatment plants. In contrast to many conceptions the miner today is a skilled workman. The pick and shovel are rapidly being supplanted by mechanical equipment that multiplies by many times the strength of a skilled worker. Good judgment and mechanical ability should be characteristic of the men who operate the costly equipment that drills, loads and transports valuable ores.

Metals and the men engaged in mining are the sinews of modern industry. The qualified young men who choose metal mining as their life work can look forward to a sound and attractive future.

Texas Crude Oil Allowables For June Announced

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 20 (AP)—

The Railroad Commission Thursday placed Texas crude oil production allowables for June at 1,867,157 barrels daily, a decrease of 32,285 compared with current production. It is the sixth consecutive cut-back in allowables ordered by the commission since Jan. 1, the cut-backs totalling approximately 840,000 barrels daily.

June's allowable was determined by placing all fields except East Texas on an 18-day production schedule compared to 19 days in May. East Texas will produce 16 days compared with the current 17-day schedule.

The commission signed the June order shortly after a brief statewide hearing during which producers from only three of the 12 production districts presented testimony. The June allowable compares with a current figure of 2,019,442 barrels daily and to 1,982,482 as of May 1.

Current actual crude production approximates 1,882,000 barrels daily.

June natural gasoline and distillate production was estimated by the commission at 251,267 barrels daily, bringing to 2,233,264 barrels this month. Daily liquefied petroleum production permissible.

Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr., said the new order was designed to maintain production at the approximate rate as of May 1.

He explained that the 32,285-barrel cutback offset allowable granted new discoveries since the last state-wide hearing.

Allowables for new discovery wells, he said, averaged approximately 35,000 barrels daily. June's allowable is 440,827 barrels daily less than purchaser nominations which totaled 2,427,884, a decline of 88,387 barrels daily from May.

R. W. Thompson, Cosden Petroleum corporation, Big Spring, asked that the West Texas Howard-Glasscock field be returned to the shut-down field schedule. The field currently is exempt from shutdown.

Skelton Speaker At Demo Meeting

LAREDO, May 20 (AP)—A banquet held here Wednesday "to unify South Texas Democratic factions" had Byron Skelton, who was backed by Texas "loyalist" faction for national Democratic committee, as speaker.

Skelton talked on party loyalty and political integrity. The Temple man praised South Texas Democrats. He said Harris County was a seat of party trouble and that Dallas and Tarrant Counties in effect have a two-party system.

Dist. Atty. James E. Kazen, master of ceremonies, said the affair was planned to bring unity in South Texas. More than one hundred persons attended.

The state Democratic convention in Fort Worth and the party's state executive committee voted Skelton as a replacement for Wright Morrow, the national Democratic committeeman.

Morrow has refused to step out. There have been reports he now is in line for a diplomatic post.

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Interior Secretary Krug is planning an aerial survey of tidelands drilling operations in the Gulf of Mexico. One of Krug's aids said Wednesday Krug will look over the tidelands oil operations while in Southeast Texas for an address at Houston, on May 26. Krug will address a soil conservation dinner at Houston.

Krug is a leader in the federal government's fight to take over the oil-rich tidelands from Texas and other states.

TAX-SUPPORTED TEXAS COLLEGES TO PUT BUILDING BONDS ON SALE JULY 7

DALLAS, May 20 (AP)—All except one tax-supported Texas college have voted to put their building bonds on public sale July 7 instead of handling each bond issue separately.

The action was taken Wednesday at a meeting of officials of the colleges.

Texas Tech, which was not represented at the meeting, already had announced its bonds will be sold separately. In addition, the University of Texas and Texas A&M will offer some $15 million in a different type of bonds June 14.

The decision means that some $12 million in school bonds will be offered for sale July 7. Clarence E. Crowe, an investment counselor who attended the meeting, estimated.

That will be the official start of a great building program for Texas colleges.

70-Year-Old Priest Is Acquitted Of Sodomy Charge

GALLATIN, Mo., May 20 (AP)—A 70-year-old Catholic priest, the Rev. Patrick J. Sloan, was acquitted of a charge of sodomy Wednesday. A circuit court jury deliberated less than two hours.

The complaining witness, Robert Dale Johnson, 16, testified the alleged act occurred in the priest's home at Bethany, Mo., on April 10, 1948.

Billy Wheatley, 16, testified he witnessed the act. The priest denied the charge, but admitted the Johnson boy visited the rectory 13 times and stayed overnight twice.

A previous trial of the priest on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor ended in a hung jury.

Red Pilot, Weary Of Soviet Union, Flees To Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 20 (AP)—Stockholm newspapers said Thursday a Russian army pilot crash-landed his fighter plane onto Swedish soil Wednesday, and said that he had fled his country because he was "tired of the Soviet Union."

Lt. Gen. Bengt Nordenfalk, commander-in-chief of the Swedish Royal Air Force, attending a hearing at which the pilot was questioned after a spectacular somersault landing, the newspapers said. They added that a Russian diplomatic official was denied permission to interview the flier.

The newspaper, Stockholms-Tidningen, quoted the pilot as saying his wife already had been sent to Siberia by the Soviet regime, and he had no children upon whom reprisal might be taken.

He planned his escape carefully, and took off from a Baltic airbase near Riga, the papers said.

His aircraft, carrying three loaded machineguns, hit a mountain on the edge of the Soderstrom military airport outside Stockholm, and tumbled end-over-end, but the pilot suffered only minor injuries, the dispatches reported. They said his uniform was that of an airforce lieutenant.

Texas Farm Income Fourth In Nation

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Iowa's farm income for March $172,017,000, led all states, the Agriculture Department announced today.

Following Iowa in total farm income for March were Illinois $138,087,000; California $122,742,000 and Texas $103,253,000.

The same group dominated the income picture for this year's first quarter. Trailing the Iowa total of $583,618,000 were Illinois with $412,812,000; California, $388,049,000 and Texas $312,806,000.

ONE MAN LIKES NEW BOULEVARD

DALLAS, May 20 (AP)—"Fine project, Central Boulevard," said Clyde Peabody, casting a loving glance at Dallas' unfinished super-highway.

That was just after the burly, 25-year-old flier Wednesday became the first man to land a plane on the boulevard.

"And may he be the last!" said C. K. Housewright, one of the police who hustled out to question Peabody on his choice of landing fields.

Peabody and a passenger, Mrs. Joyce Peabody, had taken off from White Rock Airport in a rented plane. They ran out of gas quickly.

"The gauge indicated the gas tank was full," said Peabody. "That gauge must have been stuck."

The Boulevard was the most open spot he could see. He cleared a viaduct by a few feet, slipped over a series of roadblocks by inches. The plane settled down for a smooth landing.

Refiners Invade Forsan Sunday For TC Feature

Cosden's Refiners is saddled with the assignment of trying to slow the fast express from Forsan in the feature Tri-County baseball league game this week.

Jack Johnson's aggregation goes to Forsan to try and accomplish the trick, something no team has come near doing in five games this season.

As a matter of fact, no team has been able to score on the mighty Oilers in the past four games.

Two "no-hit" hurlers, Branch Spriggs of the Refiners and Lefty Shelton of the Forsan bunch, are due to face each other. Spriggs pitched a no-hitter against Acton last year, the same club at which Shelton threw a double-zero earlier in the campaign.

In other games this weekend, Knott's Hill Billies take on Howard County Junior college here and Ackerly goes to Coahoma.

Standings:

| TEAM    | W | L | Pct.  |
|---------|---|---|-------|
| Forsan  | 5 | 0 | 1.000 |

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, May 20, 1949 7

ABILENE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE's sensational freshman, Leon Lepard of Big Spring, is pictured above finishing a record-breaking 440-yard dash. The place was Brownwood and the meet was the annual Texas Conference Track meet. Leon sped the 440 yards in 49.2, breaking the old record of 49.5 set by W. C. Harrison of Howard Payne in 1948. Some minutes later, Lepard returned to the track and turned in a 47.8 anchor lap on the mile relay quartet that also set a new record. The ACC quartet of Arnold Fairley, Pete Ragus, H. D. Terry, and Lepard covered the mile in 3:19.2. The old record of 3:19.9 was set by Howard Payne in 1938.

Looking 'Em Over

by Tommy Hart

They say Justo Apizaco, the ex-Bronc first sacker now with Havana, is hitting Florida International league pitching so consistently, the Cubans are trying to devise a way to hang on to him.

Apizaco left here shortly after the season opened after Havana sent out an appeal for help. The Cubans promised to return him after some one of their players recovered from injuries. However, Justo apparently was determined to make a go of it in a league of higher classification—the FI loop is Class B—and began to wear out the pitching he was accustomed to face.

Pat Lorenzo, the Cuban who tried out as an outfielder here in April, is now with Clovis in the WT-NM league. In event you've forgotten him, he's the boy with the blacksmith arms. Lorenzo tried it at Sherman-Denison for a while but couldn't cut butter. Paul Dean, the Clovis foreman, jumped at the chance to land him.

BAEZ SAYS WILLIAMS TOUGH TO GET OUT
Humberto Baez, the little Havanan who has retired from pro baseball in the past several days, says Stu Williams is the toughest batter he ever had to face in the Longhorn league. The Ballinger ace hit everything through his way, Baez recalls, including a lot of pitches Baez intended for balls in the first place.

Incidentally, Williams was fined $25 by League President Hal Sayles for creating an incident in Midland, at the time was hailed into Corporation court for using profanity.

Al Valdez, the local catcher, is never one to work himself to death when there's no one on the base paths. He usually drops to his knees and accepts the pitcher's slants completely relaxed.

Ray Vasquez, the Bronc short stop, has been having to take it easy the past several days. When Bill Guthrie of the San Angelo mound corps hit him with a pitched ball here the other day, it was the second time in less than a week he had been clouted, and in the same place. Cookie would probably have sat out the final two games of the Angelo series had he had a capable replacement.

BOB CUMMINGS BOOSTS NEWLY-ADOPTED HOME
Practically a one-man chamber of commerce for Seaside, Oregon, is Bob Cummings, the wrestler, a transplanted Ohioan who now calls that coast resort home.

Cummings fairly gushes when the community is mentioned in his presence and never fails to give his audience an account of Seaside's qualities and virtues, which apparently are many.

He says between 350,000 and 400,000 people vacationed there in 1948 and it has become recognized as the Atlantic City of the West. Boasting 10,000 permanent residents, it is, he says, "within walking distance of good hunting and fishing."

Situated near Seaside is the largest Douglas fir on the Coast and one of the largest trees in the world.

Seaside itself is located at the end of the Lewis and Clark trail not far from Portland.

Oh yes, Cummings adds, if anyone here gets that far up country, be certain to look him up. If he can't be found, ask any of the natives. Every one there, it seems knows everyone else.

Rolle Winning Spurs As Big League Pilot

By The Associated Press
Red Rolle is winning his spurs as a successful big league manager at Detroit.

The ex-New York Yankee third baseman who never managed any team, except Yale University, until this spring, has his Tigers in second place, only two teams behind the leading Yankees.

Washington, Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox have been stealing the big black print in the newspapers, but Detroit rates high among the surprise teams of 1949.

They laughed at Rolle last March in Lakeland (Fla.) when he said he was taking dead aim at the American League pennant.

Everybody nodded politely, grinned and said, "They'll be lucky to beat out the Philadelphia A's to get in the first division."

Despite a decided weakness at first and second base, Rolle maneuvered the Tigers into a contending position on the hitting of George Kell, Vic Wertz and Rookie Johnny Groth. Then he plugged the second base hole by acquiring Dom Kolloway from the White Sox. Recently he benched George Vico and started playing Paul Campbell at first. It worked.

Rolle set up a pitching "big four" of Hal Newhouse (4-2), Virgil Trucks (5-1), Ted Gray, 3-1 and Freddie Hutchinson (2-2).

Hutchinson, who turned back Washington with seven hits yesterday, 10-1, is as handy with the bat as he is on the mound. Hutch drove in three runs with a single double and triple in the attack that hung loss No. 2 of Rae Scarborough. Not even three hits by first baseman Eddie Robinson could save Washington.

Detroit picked up a full game on the first place Yanks, who were dropped by Cleveland, 3-2, on a terrific slugging display by Larry Doby. The Indians' Negro outfielder smashed a 450-foot-plus homer—said by veteran observers to be the longest ever hit in the Yankee Stadium—as Steve Gronk shaded Bob Porterfield.

A jittery defense cost the Boston Red Sox a 10-inning ball game on an error by first baseman Billy Hitchcock on Vern Stephens' throw. The Red Sox made four errors in the game but Hitchcock's was the big one that gave Chicago a 7-4 margin.

A jitters defense cost the Boston Red Sox a 10-inning ball game on an error by first baseman Billy Hitchcock on Vern Stephens' throw. The Red Sox made four errors in the game but Hitchcock's was the big one that gave Chicago a 7-4 margin.

The Boston Braves and New York Giants tied for first place in the National for an entire week, remain deadlocked. The Braves came up with two in the ninth to top Pittsburgh, 3-2, and the Giants bumped off Cincinnati, 6-2.

Vern Bickford won his own game at Pittsburgh with a ninth-inning single scoring Phil Masi to climax the two-run uprising.

Sheldon Jones picked up his fifth victory for the Giants, although nipped for 13 Cincinnati hits. Johnny Mize's ninth homer and a two-run double by Walker Cooper sent Johnny Vander Meer down for his third loss.

Brooklyn, sizzling through the west with three straight victories, moved into at third place tie with Cincinnati on Preacher Roe's 2-0 shutout of St. Louis. It was the Cards' third loss in a row since returning home.

South's Coaches Meet Saturday

By LEROY SIMMS
AP Staff
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 20 (AP)—Southern Conference coaches tomorrow will consider proposals which may take the deep south schools out of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The issue in the NCAA sanity code, which outlaws aid to college students solely because of their athletic ability.

Coaches will discuss four possible changes in present rules. All would permit financial help for athletes. In this conference, such help has been given most often to football players.

City Golf To Urge Entries Must Qualify By Sunday

Pipes, Wright Record 75's

Officials of the Muncy golf course were predicting today that it would require a 78 or better to qualify for the annual City golf tournament, which is to be unreeled at the city-owned course.

Of the 28 linksmen who have qualified to date, only four have bettered that mark. However, most of the members of the country club who intend to compete for the championship have not yet been around the course. Some of the niblick swingers are excellent hands.

Lowest scores posted thus far are the 75's registered by John Pipes, who won the medal a year ago, and Bobby Wright. Right behind are Clarence Schaefer and Bill Davis, both of whom had 76's.

Others who have already played are Duane Meyers 87, Bud Purser 88, Frank McCleskey 89, Elmo Phillips 91, Joe Williamson 91, Ted Hull 91, Tabor Rowe, 92, Gene Nabors 93, C. A. Ramsey 93, Otis Henson 93 and B. E. Jones 95.

Linksmen can qualify through Sunday for the meet. Pairings are due to be drawn up by W. O. Maxwell, pro, Sunday night.

Entry fee is $3. The golfers will be shooting for premiums offered by the Malone-Hogan hospital clinic. The champion gets his name engraved on the huge M-H trophy, which is a permanent fixture in the Muncy clubhouse. In addition, he gets a smaller cup he can keep.

Bobby Maxwell is the defending champion. He is due back to defend his honors, will be exempt from qualifying.

Homers Supply Flock With Win Over Missions

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

When Dick Burnett, the free-spending oil man, built his Dallas Eagles this year he said he wasn't looking for speed but for fellows who didn't need it because they soaked the ball over the fence.

That's how Dallas has been thundering along at the head of the Texas League race. The Eagles are murderous at bat.

Last night Dallas proved this, using home runs to bash San Antonio 13-3. The Missions had a 3-0 lead when the roof caved in the sixth. Leo Wells parked one with the bases full to put Dallas ahead and Jerry Witte hit two more in later innings.

Dallas remained four games ahead of runner-up Shreveport although the Sports also won. They licked Oklahoma City 10-7, ending an eight-game winning streak for the Indians.

Houston sank further into the cellar as Fort Worth whammed the Buffs, 8-0.

Beaumont and Tulsa couldn't play at Tulsa because of rain.

Tonight the clubs wind up their current series with San Antonio at Dallas, Fort Worth at Houston, Beaumont at Tulsa and Shreveport at Oklahoma City.

Locke Is Tied With Kirkwood At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 20 (AP)—A husky young movie actor on a golfing vacation matched strokes with the best in the pitch-and-putt business today as a definite threat to win the $15,000 Philadelphia Inquirer Tournament.

Joe Kirkwood, Jr., in the movie he enacts Joe Palooka—shared the first round lead with Bobby Locke, the South African who is currently the hottest thing in professional golf. Each posted a four-under-par 68 yesterday.

Strung out behind them with cards ranging up to the high 80's was a field of 122 that included most of the sport's big names. Additional 18-hole rounds are scheduled today, tomorrow and Sunday over the 6670-yard White Marsh Valley Country Club Course.

In addition to Kirkwood and Locke, 10 others bettered the course's 72 par. Eight had par and a total of 28 were within five shots of the leaders. Most of the experts agreed it looked like a scramble all the way to the finish.

Despite his links ability, Kirkwood said "I prefer the movies. It's easier there, and much more profitable."

The 27-year-old six footer, son of a famous golfing father, has cropped up in several recent tournaments to challenge the stars. His father, Joe Kirkwood, traveled the world giving exhibitions of trick golf shots. Curiously enough young Joe acknowledged, "Dad never gave me a lesson."

"I didn't start playing golf until about 10 years ago," said Joe Kirkwood's round yesterday would be a credit to any teacher. His booming drives were nudging the 300-yard mark most of the day, and his approaches and putts were deadly accurate.

Locke, the methodical South African started the 17th hole five shots better than par. But an off-line drive held him to par five on the 17th and a pair of shots that stopped in sand traps cost him a one-over five on the final hole.

Senators To Survey Drive Against Disease

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—A group of senators will fly to Mexico City Monday for a general look at the campaign against foot and mouth disease in cattle.

The senators, members of an agriculture subcommittee, will check on the work of a joint United States-Mexican commission.

ROCKETS SHELLACK BRONCS IN OPENER WITH HOMERS

ROSSELL, N. M., May 19—Vic Michalec set the Big Spring Broncs down with seven scattered hits as Roswell's Rockets slugged out a 16-4 victory here Thursday night.

Home runs by Bob Crues, Ray Hill, Mel Neundorff and Tom Jordan made it easy for Michalec, who pitched shutout ball until the second homer of the year to lead off the first.

Four hurlers saw action on the hill for Big Spring. Gil Guerra was charged with his second loss of the season because he yielded to Pablo Molina, Bobby Beall and Louis Gonzales later buried for the Broncs.

The loss shriveled the Broncs' Longhorn league lead to 1 1/2 games over Vernon, who pounded out a 7-3 win over Sweetwater.

By The Associated Press
Runs were numerous but the games were close last night in the West Texas-New Mexico League. Two of them were decided by one run and no game saw more than a four-run margin.
Leading Albuquerque beat Lamora 8-7 as Cliff McClain scored from third on a wild pitch.
Clovis arose from the cellar to trim Lubbock 10-9. Lubbock rallied for four runs in the ninth during which a fight developed between Ray Bauer and Pepper Martin after a baseline collision.
Pampa beat Borger, 6-4, rallying for four runs in the eighth.
Abilene and Amarillo split a double-header. Abilene won the first 7-3 with home runs by George Sturdivant and Joe Essing as features. In the afterpiece, Darwin Dobbs elbowed a four-hitter and Amarillo won, 7-4.

MARTIN

Judge Daniel A. Blair set the case for May 18. Defendants were represented in the court by 21 attorneys. Rodgers arose and announced simply "plaintiff is ready Counsel for Magnolia asked for continuance.

Judge Blair granted the motion, noting new issues had been brought into the case by recent amendments filed by attorneys for the plaintiff.

These, so far as Martin county was concerned, had indeed changed the outlook. The amended petition contended title to the school land was defective, alleging failure of the purchaser to pay all interest due the county; that the bid price of $1 was reduced to 75 cents without due process; that instruments conveying the land, and purported to be signed by the county judge in 1907, had never been ratified by the court.

In addition, the pleadings asserted that W. A. Kaderl, thought to be the only living witness to the transaction and who took the acknowledgment, was a minor at that time and not duly authorized to take an acknowledgment. He was then deputy county clerk; now he operates an abstract service in Stanton.

The contract was between the court and the late John Schaarbauer, who subsequently assigned his interest to Col. C. C. Slaughter. Martin county has now tendered in court the 75 cents per acre paid for the land and is suing for its recovery.

The land in controversy is now producing oil from numerous wells drilled by Magnolia Petroleum company, and Martin county alleges that it is entitled to $30 million for accrued oil runs as well as recovery of the land.

Records in the old vault of the treasurer's reports, discarded files Martin county courthouse, mostly from the basement of the court-house, as well as old records in Hockley and Cochran counties have been combed during investigations by county officials. Several trips have been made to Austin to examine aged files and records pertaining to school lands. Judge McMorris alone has travelled some like five 5,000 miles in interest of the case.

Expense of the research has retarded some of the efforts, the judge noted, but he added, "the commissioners court is 100 per cent behind this and is going to fight it to the end for the schools and school children of Martin county."

He quoted from 1907 minutes that "school was dismissed earlier this year because of non-payment of interest on school land." By means of the suit, the court is "determined that it will not happen again for if any recovery is made, it will go into the permanent school fund, earnings of which would go to the available school fund and find their way into the school system.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By MILDRED YOUNG
If you're one of these women who have been waiting for years for your husband to build that "dream house" and have about given up the whole idea you might take heart from an El Reno, Oklahoma woman, Mrs. Vina Dumas. Mrs. Dumas keeps building houses that she would like to live in herself and finds someone who wants to buy it. That's happened a dozen times and she keeps right on building.

A widow of five years, Mrs. Dumas sought an outlet for her restless energy combined with an income source and house building resulted. Mrs. Dumas had some farm land but was not interested in living on a farm. She bought some lots in southwest El Reno in a newly developed area and started building a house. Her idea was to live in part of it and rent the rest of it. But Corliss Allen came along and bought that one.

Not really trying to sell houses, Mrs. Dumas kept on building them, trying to put into them what she desired in a home of her own. "Seems like other people liked the same things," she said with a laugh. "Pretty soon I just stopped thinking about living in one and started building them to sell. Not on contract, but just putting them up and then selling them at a package price with my profit thrown in."

Mrs. Dumas says she handles all details of her houses. She first gets approval for loans, to know what she can spend and not get too far out on a financial plank, and because most people need a loan anyway to purchase a home and it helps to know the appraisal amount. She keeps an accurate record of her costs, then adds an amount prorated on a monthly time basis for what she decides supervision is worth.

Hiring all her workmen, carpenters, brick and stone masons, plumbers and electricians, she practically stands over them during construction to see that she gets exactly what she wants.

None of Mrs. Dumas' houses have sold under $12,500 she said, but they incorporate many new features and ideas in home construction and for convenience in easier living. There are multiple light sockets, phone jacks in all rooms, tiled kitchens and bathrooms, plenty of windows with a view from a kitchen window, novel use of wood for paneling, clothes closets with sliding doors across one side of bedrooms, gay colors and papers in trim.

The Rev. and Mrs. Everett M. Ward spent Tuesday in Jacksonville where they attended the ex-students association and banquet at the Jacksonville Baptist college. The Rev. Ward is pastor of the State Street Baptist church here.

The Lord's Supper Is Instituted By Jesus

Scripture Mark 14:12-26; Luke 22:7-38.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.
Throughout the ages people have celebrated important dates with feasts with their families, with neighbors and friends. Our Bible records many such feasts.

In troublous times, such as these, meetings of congenial people either in private homes or in public eating places, helps to cheer us and keep our minds from dwelling too much on disagreeable future possibilities.

The Passover—the time when before the exodus from Egypt, the angel of death passed over the homes of Israel's people to slay the Egyptian firstborn and so persuade Pharaoh to let the Israelites go—had been celebrated with dear ones for centuries.

It was natural, then, that Jesus who knew His death was near, should desire to observe it with those nearest and dearest to Him—His disciples.

His disciples asked Jesus where He wanted to eat Passover, and He answered that two of them should go to the city—Jerusalem—and there they would see a man bearing a water pitcher on his head. They were to follow him, and where he entered they should tell the master of the house to prepare his upper room for them. There they would eat their Passover feast.

The two disciples did as the Master had told them and in this "large upper room, furnished and ready," the Passover was prepared. This was on Thursday evening.

"And as they were eating, He took bread and when He had blessed it He brake it, and gave to them and said, Take ye: this is My body."

And He took a cup, and when He had given thanks, He gave to them: and they all drank of it. And He said unto them, This is My blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many. Verily I say unto you, I shall no more drink of the fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God."

An account of the regular program of observance of the Passover would be interesting to the children, but there is not room for it in this brief summary of the event.

Jesus said to them then, that "One of you that eateth with Me shall betray Me," which made them all sorrowful, and caused them to ask Him one by one, "Is it I?" His answer was simply, "It is one of the twelve." Did Judas Iscariot's face betray his guilt, we wonder?

Luke tells us that even in that hour some of the disciples fell to disputing as to which should be greatest among them, but Jesus reiterated what He had told them.

before, that those who would be greatest must serve, even as He came to serve mankind. How could these close friends of Jesus be so small and callous when death was so near to their beloved Master?

Turning to Peter, the Lord said that He knew Satan desired to have him, "that he may sift you as wheat, but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not, and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

Peter answered, "Lord, I am ready to go with Thee, both into prison and to death." But the Lord answered, "I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me."

The Lord knew His people, better than they knew themselves. Peter was doubtless sincere when he swore to Jesus that he would go with Him into a prison, or even suffer death with Him, but he did not know his own weakness. He did not know the panic of fear that would overwhelm him when he was in danger and would cause him to deny that he knew his Master in the hour of peril.

He probably could not know—as Jesus did—how near the tragic moment was when he would see his churchmen who were determined this menace to their religious views and their positions of authority in the temple was to be removed from the world.

Jesus knew full well what was in store for Him. He knew His enemies well enough to realize that they would leave no stone unturned to do Him to death. He knew, too, that the crowds that had gathered around Him when He taught them, or healed their sick, were fickle, and would turn on Him if swayed by the influential men of the community.

Six Women Fashion Experts To Study Uniforms Of WACS

An Advisory Committee of six women fashion authorities has been named by The Quartermaster General as consultants on the development of uniforms and clothing for women members of the Army and Air Force, according to information reaching Capt. Harold Sandford in charge of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station.

The committee members are: Miss Dorothy Shaver, President, Lord & Taylor, N. Y., who was adviser on women's clothing to the Quartermaster General during World War II, Chairman; Mrs. Edna Woolman Chase, Editor-in-Chief of Vogue; Mrs. Tobie Collier Davis, fashion merchandise consultant; Miss Eleanor Lambert, fashion publicist; Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken, authority on home economics and advertising; and Mrs. Carmel Snow Editor of Harper's Bazaar.

"The Advisory Committee activities will include a long-range study of the clothing needs of women in military service, recommendations and approval of colors and fabrics most appropriate and becoming to military women in both peacetime and wartime. The Committee will give consideration to appearance as well as to usefulness of women's uniforms," said Capt. Sandford. "It will also coordinate the application of the results of scientific and technical research on materials, environment protection and functional design to the development and design of military clothing and uniforms for the women of the Army and Air Force."

GREEK BOY 'ADOPTED' BY SINGING GIRLS

U. S. Foster Parents' Plan Gives New Hope To 6000 War Children

By S. BURTON HEATH STNS

NEW YORK — For eight years after Thomas Skerlos was killed fighting Italian invaders, his widow, Ssassin, and their son, Christos, carried on the little Greek farm. Then, in late 1948, Communist guerrillas looted and destroyed their village.

For eight hours that night 15-year-old Christos and his mother frugged to Kalpacki, where government troops fed them and took them by truck to Athens. Now they live in one damp, unhealthy room in Nikea, sleeping on the floor because they have no bed. Christos has anemia and is in the primary stage of tuberculosis. He hasn't even enough clothing to wear to school.

Life might seem pretty grim and hopeless to Christos and his mother—but it doesn't. They hope and expect to keep going until the civil war ends, so they can go back to their farm. That hope is inspired by the fact that Christos has been "adopted" by the singing girls of the cast of "Kiss Me, Kate."

For at least a year, these girls have agreed to provide $15 a month through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. This goes, partly in cash and partly in supplies to feed, clothe and house Christos. Out of other funds the Foster Parents' Plan is giving him medical care.

Christos is just one of 6000 war children who have been "adopted" by individuals and groups since the Foster Parents' Plan was organized in 1937. About 4800 have grown up, or found other resources, but the Plan still has 1200 wards in 10 countries supported by such contributions, and it is helping thousands more, particularly in China, in other ways.

Among the "foster parents" are some famous names. Tallulah Bankhead recently "adopted" her fourth, the first Greek orphan placed by the Plan. Cornelia Otis Skinner's second and current ward is a 16-year-old Chinese orphan.

Peace Hopes Fade In Bus Walkout

BEAUMONT, May 20. (AP)—Key negotiators in Beaumont and Port Arthur's bus strike left town last night, and hopes for a quick settlement faded.

The negotiators were Ralph James of Chicago, vice president of the National City Lines; A. F. Steele of Tulsa, vice president of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, and Walter White of Houston, federal conciliator.

Fire Chief Puts In Hectic Day

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 20. (AP)—A fireman was injured twice while fighting the same fire here Wednesday.

First, Capt. W. I. Oglesby stepped on a nail. He went to a hospital for an anti-tetanus shot.

Back at the fire, he was struck and trapped by falling debris. Other firemen rescued him and returned him to the hospital.

Physicians said an upper plate was smashed, and his mouth was cut badly.

Two years ago Albert Soares, 67-year-old teacher, arranged for 10 groups of Portola Junior High School pupils in San Francisco to adopt war children. But the state education law forbade such collections. Soares wrote the Plan that he would make good personally on all 10 pledges, as soon as he sold a house he had built.

A few months later he mailed a check for $2000. Meanwhile, the 10 youngsters had been assigned to other foster parents. So Soares' check was used to pay two years' rent on the Cornet de Greo family chateau at Tourneppe, Belgium, used as a "colony" for 80 warfs without home or family.

This is run by Madeleine Boegeert, who managed to get 70 children — from the preventorium where she was nursing — aboard one of the ships that evacuated British troops from Dunkerque in 1940. During the war they were cared for at West Heath, and when peace returned they became the nucleus for the Tourneppe colony.

Many foster parents, indeed, are persons who cannot spare even the $15 a month that keeps a war orphan going. So they group together with others like themselves to put up the money.

More than a dozen groups of West Point cadets have taken on war children in this way. So have many college Greek letter fraternities, any number of junior and senior high schools, prep schools and colleges and some summer camp groups.

Pupils of the Walton High School, in the Bronx, took their first English blitz victim four years ago, and also a Dutch boy whose parents were so under-nourished they couldn't care for him. When the Dutch parents recovered, the Walton pupils took on an English girl whose father was killed and whose mother deserted her. They added a year ago, Tsao Shao-Rao, 16-year-old Chinese orphan.

Recently they telephoned Miss Alice Blue, the Plan's Youth Representative, that they had taken up a collection for the special fund for mutilated children. When she
