Coahoma Reports Many Visitors

COAHOME, March 24—Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brooks and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson and family spent Sunday in Westbrook with Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Brooks.

Sgt. Ernest A. Brooks of Camp Claiborne, La., left Thursday after spending a furlough with his brother, Jimmie Brooks, and other relatives.

Basel and Bernelle Crocker from Monahans are visiting their sister, Mrs. Paul Woodson, and other relatives of Coahoma this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie New and daughter, Margaret Ann, of Lamesa, visited with her mother, Mrs. Clem Thomas, and other relatives of Coahoma, the past week.

Mrs. A. W. Rowe, Jr. spent the weekend in Seminole, Texas, with parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fendergrass.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wheeler of Oklahoma are spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wirth.

Mrs. Tom Birkhead and Mrs. Smith Cochran were in Livingston, New Mexico, Saturday to attend funeral services for their cousin.

Mrs. Ruffie Farris and Mrs. E. D. Humphries spent the weekend in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Echols and Sonny and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Echols and family spent the weekend in Clovis, New Mexico, with Mrs. Ida Echols.

Mrs. W. E. Milam of Stanton spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Farris. Carolyn, Rhonda and Wallace Farris spent the weekend in Lorraine with their aunt, Mrs. Thomas Farris, and Mrs. Jack Briggs of Midland spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Cook.

Downtown Stroller

Add to notes from Africa. Mrs. CHARLES FROST received a letter from her husband, in North Africa, that his roommate had run into BILLY THOMAS, son of Mrs. LESLIE THOMAS, who sent a Herald to CHARLIE and also word that A. J. PRAGER, another Big Springer, was in a nearby spot. Reunion in Africa must be quite an event.

Members of the Kill Kare Klub really gave DOROTHY DRIVER, their newest member, the razz when she failed to show up for her first meeting. . . seems DOROTHY complained to her friends of nothing to do and finally went to a movie.

A visitor in town Monday was Sgt. GEORGE DEMPSEY, former resident, who is now stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, where he was transferred from Fort Bliss, El Paso. GEORGE also reported that JAMES COUCH, also a former resident and chum of GEORGE'S, is now a captain in the army and "somewhere" in the Pacific.

We like SAM MCCOMB'S report proper down at the ration board the other day. Seems he was down there conferring about one of the rationed items and finally got fixed up. When he turned to go, SONORA MURPHY, chief clerk, said, "come back to see us." And in a slow sort of way, MCCOMB drawled, "well I'll put it off, just as long as I can." The ration board members really whooped at that.

SHINE PHILLIPS says that it looks like we got a norther every other day or so whether we need one or not.

Mrs. T. C. THOMAS got a thrill yesterday when she received a letter from her son, EDMUND L. BROWN, telling that he had been promoted to the rank of Captain. Capt. BROWN is a glider pilot stationed in Fort Worth in the offices of the Flying Training Command.

Make It LAST!

Cooking Utensils

By GLADYS DEGNER
AP Feature Writer

Materials which might have been your future pots and pans are marching off to war. That's why the ones you have rate a high place in war-time conservation. Each day added to their lives is important. The easiest way to prolong the life of any utensil is not to burn it to death. As a precaution, for example, never place an empty pan over the heat. And don't have the gas so high that it flares up to the handle or bulges the bottom. If this accidentally happens to an aluminum scraper and steel wool. They scratch too much. If soap and water aren't enough to clean a pan, a little elbow grease behind an abrasive powder will do the job.

THE fashion magazine, "Harper's Bazaar", publishes two pages showing a row of young models... each in an original dress creation. Each is drinking an original creation in refreshment... ice-cold Coca-Cola. Thumb the pages of magazines and you see Coke in picture after picture. Note how shops and stores feature "Coke-Bars" for their customers' refreshment.

Coca-Cola had to be good to get where it is. The finished art of 57 years' experience is in its making. The result is a different kind of refreshment—all the difference between something truly refreshing and just something to drink.

The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself—the trade-marked product of The Coca-Cola Company. There's no comparison.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community."

Here, Miss Bonnie Casbin, designer for Adler & Adler, Inc., New York, relaxes in her studio. Just a few moments to relax with ice-cold Coca-Cola puts customer, designer, and model in good humor.

Axis Warplane Production Off

STOCKHOLM, March 24 (AP)—Warplane production in Germany and enslaved countries has dropped from a peak of 3,000 a month to approximately 2,000 a month within the last year, an industrial engineer thoroughly familiar with Nazi war economy declared today.

The figures, which show the increasing difficulties Germany is facing in an effort to keep abreast of the Allies in air power, do not include training planes, this source said.

Among the causes of the decline, he listed inferior labor, due to the replacement of skilled men with inexperienced women and indifference foreign hands; bottlenecks in transportation of coal and iron; undernourishment of workers, which after three years is beginning to result in a marked loss of efficiency, and finally the dislocation of war economy caused by paralyzing RAF raids.

(Contrasting the Stockholm report with the statement on Monday by authoritative British circles in London that despite the battering of the past four months the German war machine shows no sign of critical weakness. With respect to the German industrial position, the British experts said that there were indications the output in some branches of manufacturing may be actually increasing if not the production of aircraft.)

Texas Fire Deaths Are On Increase

AUSTIN, March 24 (AP)—Fire deaths continued to take increasingly heavy toll of Texans, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, reported today.

Persons who burned to death during February numbered 48, according to reports filed with the department.

During the month fire trapped 16 persons in burning buildings, causing their deaths. Twelve others died from burns caused by the misuse of kerosene, gasoline or other flammable liquids, clothing ignited by heaters accounted for six other deaths. Miscellaneous fires were listed as causing the remaining 14 fire deaths.

Hall said a total of 135 fire deaths had been reported to the department for January and February. This exceeds by 29 the number of fire deaths for the first two months of 1942.

Grain Alcohol Plant For West Texas Is Remote Possibility

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP)—There appeared little likelihood that a grain alcohol plant would be established in West Texas in the near future, a delegation of West Texans agreed after a conference with Rubber Administrator William Jeffers yesterday.

The group, composed of five West Texans and Rep. Ewing

Escaped Robbery Suspects Retaken

LUBBOCK, March 24 (AP)—Three hours after Flavis Godfrey Gilbert, 27, and Talbert Jackson Layman, 24, under federal indictment in connection with the robbery of the Hale Center bank at Hale Center last November, escaped from the Lubbock county jail they were back in custody yesterday.

The two men were walking through an industrial section of town when they were captured by Assistant Police Chief Aubrey Fawcett, and Police Sgt. Lewis Kittrell.

Jailer Ross Berry said Gilbert attacked him with a crudely made knife at 2:45 p. m. and forced him to release Layman in another cell. The two prisoners took Berry's shoes and money, locked him in a cell and fled after opening three doors along a jail stairway.

The two men were indicted at Fort Worth, and were arrested in January. Layman was taken into custody by Los Angeles police and Gilbert was caught by FBI agents at Tallahassee, Fla., the next day.

Thomason conferred with Jeffers on the possibility of using grain from their area in a West Texas plant as part of the synthetic rubber program.

Jeffers listened sympathetically but held out no hope. Representative Thomason said.

Brown Gets Three Year Sentence In Soldier Slaying

PALO PINTO, March 24 (AP)—Ed Brown was given three years in the penitentiary today by a jury which found him guilty of murder of Sergeant John Boland of Camp Berkeley.

Brown, 47, husband and father of six children, and Herbert Whitlock were arrested after they had engaged in an altercation with Boland and Corp. Kenneth Chipman, also of Camp Berkeley, near Mingus last January 9. Boland, whose home was in Duluth, Minn., died of his wounds shortly after the altercation.

Whitlock was convicted of complicity in Boland's death March 17 and a jury fixed his sentence at 40 years.

Brown testified that Whitlock was guilty of the stabbing. He said that he was knocked out during the altercation and did not know what happened afterward.

How to become an Aviation Cadet TODAY

An Announcement* of Vital Importance to Every Young American Who Wants to Fly for His Country

*This announcement is made with the approval of the Joint Army-Navy Personnel Board.

OUR Army Air Forces, swiftly and steadily expanding, are striking terror in the hearts of Axis leaders. No nation on earth has developed air power so vast or so deadly in its effectiveness. The fighting fliers who man those thousands of sleek new planes will play a mighty part in the final victory. And the opportunity to be one of them is still open to you!

Here is how you can become a U. S. Army Aviation Cadet

1. If you are 18 to 26 years old, inclusive, and have not yet been called for induction under Selective Service, you may apply at once at the nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board to take your physical and mental examinations. No school or college credits are required. If you pass the examinations and are found acceptable, you will be given a letter to the Armed Forces Induction Station requesting your assignment to the Army Air Forces upon induction. You may then volunteer for induction through your local Selective Service Board. After induction you will be assigned for preparatory training, upon completion of which you will receive your appointment as an Aviation Cadet and have an opportunity to become a Bomber, Navigator or Pilot—one of the "Three Musketeers of the Air!"

2. If you have already been called for induction, you cannot apply direct for Aviation Cadet training. But upon induction, if you are assigned to the Army, you have the same opportunity open to every soldier, 18 to 26 years old, inclusive, to apply for Aviation Cadet training after you are in the ranks.

If you are 17 but not yet 18

3. If you are 17 but not yet 18, you can go now to your Aviation Cadet Examining Board and volunteer for enlistment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. If you pass the physical and mental examinations and are accepted, after you become 18 you will be assigned for preparatory training, leading to appointment as an Aviation Cadet. Enlistment under the age of 18 requires parents' or guardians' consent.

You may apply at the nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board or write to The Adjutant General, Washington, D. C.

U.S. ARMY

The nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board, where you can apply, is located at Army Examining & Enlisting Station, Abilene, Tex.

IF THIS ADDRESS IS NOT CONVENIENT, CONSULT ANY U. S. ARMY RECRUITING STATION FOR THE ADDRESS OF THE AVIATION CADET EXAMINING BOARD NEAREST YOU.

Production For Civilian Use May Be Renewed On Some Needed Items

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—For the first year after Pearl Harbor the loudest tune played on the home front was: 'Produce for war. Now there are two loud tunes: Produce for war but produce for civilians, too.'

Boutz Assigned As Assistant Training Head

Lieut. Col. William R. Boutz, commanding officer of the first provisional training group, has been assigned to the department of training, according to announcement by the public relations office at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

Training Camp Briefs—Reds Come Up With Rookie Slugger In Frank Kelleher

By The Associated Press
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 24 (AP)—Frank Kelleher, rookie outfielder brought up by the Cincinnati Reds in mid-season last year, is the hitting sensation of the camp. He's pounded out at least a dozen blows that would be home runs in Crosley Field.

Doc Spears To Succeed Clark Shaughnessy

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 24 (AP)—Clarence W. (Doc) Spears, one of the outspoken proponents of straight football, will succeed Clark (T-formation) Shaughnessy as head coach of the University of Maryland eleven.

Spears will take over his duties April 1. Besides tutoring the gridder, he will be in charge of the student health program, Maryland President Dr. H. C. Byrd said.

The new Old Liner coach comes from the University of Toledo, Toledo, O., where he was director of athletics and head football coach.

Spears' appointment probably means that the pattern of Maryland football will be greatly changed. For the new Maryland mentor, it will be his seventh head coaching job in a career which extends back to 1917. From 1925 to 1929 he turned out some of Minnesota's greatest teams and developed such stars as Fullback Bronko Nagurski and Guard Clarence Munn.

War Prisoners To Be Used For Dam Basin Clearing

DENISON, March 24 (AP)—Col. William W. Wanamaker, chief of the Denison district army engineers, has announced that prisoners of war will be used in clearing land in the Denison dam basin. The first prisoners are expected shortly.

Col. Wanamaker said that 18,000 or 20,000 acres of land must be cleared by this fall as the Red river is to be closed June 1. Prisoners will be housed, he said, at Powells, Okla., and near Tishomingo, Okla.

The Only Road To Victory

War is not a glamorous job to those who fight it. It probably never occurred to I. A. Jack Mathis that it was. He was assigned to a tank, and a lot of people back home were depending on him to do it. He did.

Jack Mathis, you will recall, is the West Texas boy from San Angelo, whose heroic death was recounted in dispatches the other day. He is the personification of fighting forces.

The bombs Jack Mathis dropped did only a bit toward victory. He knew that. His missions day by day amounted to working at a desk, going home at night, paying the landlord and the grocer. Except there was a hazard always facing him. That is war.

Back in the days when fighting men wore armor and plumes in their hats they fought for glory. It was a case of the best man winning. It was a bloody sport. But machines have changed the complexion of war. Whole armies can be destroyed without ever actually seeing their enemies. It becomes impersonal and the glory fades out.

Lt. Jack Mathis would not feel it right to say he died gloriously. He probably would not want it said. He sat in a ring-side seat. He probably listened to the bellyboo over the radio and got sick of it. For often he saw the death blossoms beneath him over enemy land and knew what he was doing—and did not enjoy it. He probably never saw any glory in it.

If he could speak to the American people—and thousands of others like him—he would probably say: "Work. Shut your eyes to everything but work. Give us shells. Give us planes. Give us tanks and guns. And give us men to man them. The faster they come the sooner we can open our eyes and see the sun again."

He knew that someday he might get his calling card from the Nazis. The point was to deliver as many as possible to them before it came. The bombs he dropped will make the next man's job a little lighter. And that's the way the American people will win this war; giving all they have until the last minute. It is the only road to victory.

Capital Comment—30,000 Workers Under One Roof

By GEORGE STIMPSON
Special Washington Correspondent

Half of those coming in my office are peddling propaganda. Congressmen introduced a bill to supply free government meals for gardeners; now members swamped with requests for free seeds; no such bill passed, can only reply they're sorry, but no can do.

Newspapermen here leaving to go into armed forces practically unqualified for active duty. By series of farewell parties given them by friends.

Congressman Fritz Lanham, always the gentleman, refuses to make public contents of letter from President Roosevelt thanking him for defense of service record of four Roosevelt boys.

Among office callers today George Martin Roberts, grew up in Titus county, ran newspaper at Mt. Pleasant, when his friend Horace Vaughn, of Texas, was elected to Congress in 1918 to succeed Morris Shepard, came to Washington as secretary, expected to stay only year; but remained here; when Vaughn was defeated for reelection in 1916 became superintendent of weights and measures for District of Columbia, after 31 years in Washington, thinking of retiring and doing a little writing on side; has two sons, both working for District government.

order to agencies to reduce auto travel 40 per cent.

One of truly big men in Washington is William L. Clayton, of Houston, now Jesse Jones' assistant secretary of commerce; tall, esthetic in look and habit, knows as much about foreign trade and domestic business as any man in America; born Mississippi 43 years ago, at 15 became stenographer for American Cotton company in New York, was assistant general manager of firm when quit in 1904 to go to Oklahoma; there one of organizers of cotton merchant firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co.; partnership later became joint stock association of some name under laws of Texas with headquarters in Houston; during first World War, Will Clayton in cotton department of War Industries Board; several years member business advisory council of commerce department; came to Washington in 1940 as Jesse Jones' deputy federal loan administrator; one of most intelligent men have ever heard before congressional committee; severed all official connection with Anderson, Clayton & Co., when came here.

Washington—Federal Workers Contribute To The War Funds

WASHINGTON — Notes on the 4th Congressional Record: A colonial on serial-chair duty in the War Department thinks interior decorating will win the war.

The colonel is in charge of a section employing about 600 clerks. Recently he decided that calendars, pictures and anything else on the walls interfered with the war effort. Out came an order, and down came the calendars.

Then the mixture of steel and wood fixtures in the same offices offended the eagle-totter's aesthetic sensibilities. Out came another order, demanding immediate rearrangement of office furniture in the section so only steel desk nudged against steel filing cabinet, and oak mingled with walnut.

The clerks in this section spent considerable time a-buffing and a-puffing, mating steel with steel and vice versa.

There's a sequel. The switch came out eight steel desks shy of attaining perfect symmetry and balancing according to the colonel's notions. Just charge it up to the horrors of war.

Don't ever challenge the loyalty of the run-of-the-mine government employee.

These kids really get clipped for everything. Half a dozen surveys prove that the government just can't exist on a $1,440 annual salary in this town, where frontier prices are the rule. Yet thousands of them do get along, manage to be smartly turned out and survive the paycheck checks for retirement (5 per cent), war bonds (10 per cent), Victory tax, community chest and all the other fund drives which put the bits on federal workers first.

Yet despite a real struggle to get by, these girls hatched an idea to contribute $1 apiece to buy a warplane to be named Government Girl.

Cashing a government paycheck is getting to be a real headache for government workers. Two recent Appeals Court decisions make the banks responsible for any forgeries, even when perpetrated by federal employees. (One CCC paymaster issued paychecks to a non-existent camp, and local banks had to dig up about $90,000 for checks and vouchers cashed in good faith.) Result is, banks just stiff at government paper unless the employe has an account, which most of them don't.

Agitation for a streamlined war cabinet may be late. Usually well-informed dopesters say an unofficial war cabinet is already functioning.

This ace quintet of trouble-shooters reportedly includes three of the wisest old heads in Washington: Jimmy Byrnes, the Assistant President, Admiral William D. Leahy, the President's personal chief of staff and Bernard Baruch, production boss of World War I. The other two members are said to be Harry Hopkins and Judge Sam Rosenman of New York, two of the President's closest personal advisers.

Pardon me; had to change ribbon in typewriter; quite a job.

Stephen T. Early, Jr., son of presidential secretary Steve Early, inducted into army; younger, 23, graduated Staunton Military Academy in Virginia, great grandnephew of General Jubal Early of Civil war fame.

Now about 30,000 Pentagonians in Washington; imagine that many people working under same roof.

Washingtonians are very conscious of existence of Congressman George Nathan, of Colorado City; he's chairman of house subcommittee on District of Columbia appropriations.

Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, chairman joint senate and house committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, charges federal autos during 1942 fiscal year ran about $20,000,000 miles, burned 12,700,000 gallons gasoline, cost over $11,000,000 and have shown no appreciable reduction; President Roosevelt issues

'Phantom' Is Humanized

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — The Universal people handed George Wagner, who tinkers with the horrors, a choice assignment. "Here's a really great story for you," they said, beaming with fond memories. So George got excited too and took a look at an old picture, a history-making movie that grossed $2,000,000 after its release in 1925.

"The Phantom of the Opera," starring the late Lon Chaney with Norman Kerry and Mary Philbin. "And I found that the 'great story' was really no story at all," says Wagner. "It had never had a story."

Wagner, now rising rapidly as a producer, applied to the no-story theory that has brought him success with various movie horrors, i.e., that movie monsters must be given human personalities, and win a certain amount of sympathy for their inevitably tragic fates before audiences will believe in them.

In the new color version, the phantom (Claude Rains) will be "explained." He is an embittered musician, his face horribly scarred by acid in a temperamental altercation who wants the careers beneath the Paris opera house with one obsession—to promote his daughter (Susanna Foster) as leading singer. In the old film Chaney haunted those same caverns, a misshapen monster of grotesque eyes, teeth and head, a creature without a past and motivated only by a "crush" on the leading lady. "Here," says Wagner, "we're taking time to sell the central character as a human being."

He and Arthur Lubin, the director, are enthusiastic over the manner in which the new tale is being unfolded, by means of music and dramatic action tightly related, so that even the arias sung by Nelson Eddy and Miss Foster (who is now 32 and a far mat from her debut in "The Great Victor Herbert") aid in telling the story. It is through musical clues, in fact, that Eddy finally traps the phantom.

The "Phantom" includes one sequence of standard opera, "Martha," and two others contrived from Chopin themes and Tchaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, respectively—arranged by Composer Edward Ward with libretto by Wagner himself.

After 20 years the old "Phantom" stage—built for $500,000 to the late Carl Laemmle's dismay—is again the Paris opera house. The stage has become an institu-

Isolation Island

Chapter 18
Landa heard the front door slam and looked up to see the huge bulk of O'Shanessy fill the doorway. His voice had gone livid and his deep-set eyes were two red coals burning their gaze into the faces of the two drug buyers. The conversation suddenly froze as four pairs of eyes were intent on the infuriated Irishman.

"Who gave you two permission to land on this island? Why, I've a notion to—!" He shook his great fist threatening at McCullough, who sat rigidly in his chair.

It was Landa's voice, softly controlled, that broke into the heavy tension of the moment. "Now, wait a minute, Uncle Mike," she said. "Half of this island happens to belong to me and it was on my half that these men made a landing. They have my full permission. Not only that, they happen to be guests in my home and as long as they are, they will be treated with the usual hospitality." Her words carried a firmness that made O'Shanessy say that she meant them exactly as they were spoken.

"I think we are certainly within our rights here, O'Shanessy," McCullough said evenly. "We're not gangsters or cut-throats here to rob you or coerce you into anything against your wishes. We represent a perfectly legitimate business that happens to need something right now that you have in abundance. We are willing and glad to pay you a fair price."

"Price! bah!" O'Shanessy said with disgust. "That's all you people from the States think about! Money, money, money! That's just another reason why we don't want you down here spoiling the natural tranquility of our island! There's something more in life than money. You wouldn't know about that here, is it, and we have that in abundance here too. I suppose you'd like to buy some of that too but it happens to be happiness, one commodity that can't be bought and sold with your dirty dollars!"

McCullough's sharp eyes looked pleadingly to Landa.

"Maybe tomorrow, we could talk this over, Miss Morrison. We're dreadfully sorry to have caused such a scene."

"Hold on a minute, young man," O'Shanessy said. "I'm old and none too well. I shouldn't let myself get so excited. It's bad for my heart, but I can't sit by and see you two take advantage of a young girl who has had no experience in business. Her father happened to be my life-long friend and I promised him a thousand times that I would look after her as long as I lived. I intend to do just that, so tomorrow I think you two gentlemen will be leaving our island much too early for any more business talks."

Landa could feel a tidal wave of emotion sweep through her. Her nature instantly resented this being pushed quietly into the background on the premise that she was a child. She cast an imploring look toward Don hoping he would come to her rescue. His eyes were lowered.

Well—if she had to fight her own battles, she could! She turned, her eyes blazing, of face

SCORCHY SMITH

BOY! THIS VIKING STUFF IS THE MOST EXCITIN' I EVER READ!

BETCHA I'VE GOT A BUCKET OF VIKING BLOOD SOMEWHERE IN MY FAMILY TREE! NOW'D I LOOK IN VIKING COSTUME?

MY HAIR WOULD BE LIGHT AND WILD LOOKING, BUT I'D BE THE SAME OL' DICKIE DARE

STIR THYSELF, YAGS. IF THOU ART A VIKING DOG! WE MUST STRIKE WHILST YE IRON IS HOT!

THE MOUNTAIN-TOP GLIMMERING SHAKING! I-I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT!!

THE TOUGHEST JOB OF ALL IS TO KEEP THE ROCK FRAGMENTS FROM FALLING!

ENOUGH OF TALK!

IT'S TIME FOR ACTION!

THE NAZIS HAD KILLED A NUMBER OF PEOPLE... THE OLD MEN AND WOMEN WHO REMAINED BEHIND... AMONG THEM WAS MY MOTHER! SHE HAD BEEN SHOT IN THE BLOOD...

YES, I LEARNED TO HATE THE ENEMY! ON LEAVE, AFTER FOUR MONTHS OF ACTION, I RETURNED TO MY NATIVE VILLAGE. RED ARMY MEN WERE THERE, BUT THE NAZIS HAD BEEN THERE FIRST! I ARRIVED JUST AFTER THE BATTLE...

AND SO I LEARNED TO HATE... COLDLY, LOGICALLY! BECAUSE I LOVE MY COUNTRY AND MY DEAR ONES SO, I HATE THE NAZIS MORE DEEPLY, AND I'LL NOT REST UNTIL THE LAST NAZIER IS CRUSHED!

THE ENEMY'S forced you to rationing. Now he'd make your engine the victim of vicious acid. The mere stopping of your engine always leaves it stuffed with vile fumes and dilute acids—the ever-present products of combustion. And there they stay.

Formerly these sources of corrosion were kept mostly cleared out, because you drove frequently and fast. But now in saving coupons and tires you may not soon use your car again, and you don't make those long speedy runs that maintained normal engine heat a good while, to help drive acid off. That's why harmful leftovers in the cylinders nowadays are serious. But you can combat their dirty work by keeping your engine internally OIL-PLATED.
