LIBERTY DAY

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Wednesday, the 24th of October, as Liberty day, and urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pledge to one another and to the Government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support. On the afternoon of that day I request that patriotic meetings be held in every city, town and hamlet througout the land."

The attention of the patriotic citizens of Hall county is called to the above request of Our President and hearty compliance is asked. It is suggested that such meeting be held in each community, in the afternoon or evening, on this day. The necessity of our country demands the sacrifice of private interests and we are sure that the citizens of this county will willingly give their time and their money to the extent of their ability.

S. G. ALEXANDER, County Judge

In compliance with the above request of the President of the United Sates the afternoon of Wednesdy, October 24, is hereby set aside for observance, as indicated. by the citizens of Memphis. All business houses are requested to close their doors and cease business during the hours from 1:00 to 3:00 o'clock p. m., and all citizens are urged to attend the meeting to be held at the court house during those hours.

Ukulele Boys From Hawaii Refuse to Depart Although They Are Al-ways Singing About It.

Here (in New York's tearooms), during the past few months, one was reasonably sure of finding a delegation from the Hawaiian colony, consisting of stout persons attired as shirtwaist boys, all armed with the national weapon of their race, the ukulele, and all wearing about their throats necklets of colored paper; this last I take it being a precaution designed to save them from being mistaken for Pullman porters on an outing, Irvin S. Cobb writes in the Saturday Evening ther gowns high-cut or low in the neck

These persons sing. Frequently they also play; but always they sing. I have never even been to those fair Islands whence they come, but I gather from my local observations of visiting natives that their land is principally populated by a race who spend their time telling you good-by and then never going. They do not practice what they preach. In mournful numbers, hour after houn they bid you a lingering musical good-by and then turn right round and disappoint everybody by continuing to stay there. To them parting is such sweet sorrow, they refuse to part. But they are willing to sing about it, world without end. I should admire to meet a Hawaiian minstrel some time who told you he was going and then made good, but I'm afraid ? never shall; it would be contrary to his nature and his training.

Quite lately one judge tried a motor accident case on the very spot on which it had occurred, and a few years ago a case concerning "ancient lights" was decided under a tree in a heavy storm.

Not long since a chancery judge beard an application in the walting rooms of a railway station.

A woman charged with stealing was tried by a magistrate in the streets of Hoole, and it will be remembered that the late lord chief justice emulated Sir Thomas Bucknill by deciding a question in the Crippen case on the

Here also is a special hospital, perhaps of 50 beds, for abdominal cases, which are the most urgent. In the old days such wounds, because of the delay before they could be treated and cleaned, were generally considered to be fatal; but under the new conditions, by which a man so hit is placed in an ambulance and sent off immediately, if necessary, without waiting for other wounded to be placed in with him, the dangerous delay is overcome, and the wound kept aseptic and more amenable to treatment.

TAKE CHANCES ON SUCCESS

Crews of American Whaling Ships Work on a Basis of Co-Operation, and Profits Are Divided.

The business principles of American whaling are often mentioned as an excellent example of industrial co-operation. A ship is stocked and equipped by the owners, and the profits of the cruise are distributed in the ratio of two-thirds to the capital invested and one-third to labor. No member of the crew receives wages or a guarantee of any sort, but to each is allotted a certain share, termed the "lay," of the net results. In general, the captain's lay ranges from a fifteenth to an eighth, according to his whaling record. The mate and three lower officers, the four boat-steerers or harpooners, the cooper, steward, cook, carpenter, seamen and green hands receive proportionate shares, and so down to the cabin boy, whose lay is in the neighborhood of one two-hundredth, called the "long lay." Thus the profit of each individual depends upon the success of the cruise. Ships have sometimes failed to pay for their fitting out; on the other hand, the Onward of New Bedford once returned with a catch worth at the prevailing prices $395,000, of which the captain's lay was $40,000, and that of the least member of the crew about $2,000 .-The Argonaut.

Along the banks af the Suez canal and thence along the old coast road to the east you will find today between the endless series of British encampments caravans of camels passing to and fro with their burdens or lying patiently at their mangers and chewing the cud with that tranquil expression of the beast which no stress of war can disturb, says the Manchester

Guardian.

There are more camels gathered here than ever were assembled in the bazaars of Cairo or Damascus. Though the defense of Egypt has been carried forward from the canal itself to the hills and dunes of the Sinai desert and to the Land of Promise beyond. the camel is still an integral part of the defensive scheme. Roads and railways, it is true, run out here and there eastward from the bank, but there remains a vast hinterland unreclaimed from the desert, waste, in which our troops continually move.

The World on Wheels. According to a report by the office of public roads, which takes notice of such matters, there were 3,512,996 automobiles and motor trucks and 250,-820 motorcycles registered in the United States in 1916. This is an increase of 43 per cent over the registry of cars and trucks for the previous year. The gain was greatest in the Southern states, where it reached 86 per cent. On the estimate of the present population there is now an automobile for every 29 people in the United States. On the basis of comfortable seating capacity, this makes room for one-sixth of the inhabitants, says Thomas F. Logan in Leslie's. Or, in other words, if properly apportioned, every sixth or seventh family would be found supplied. The total license revenue derived from this source for 1916 was $25,865,870, which represents an increase of $7,699,659 over the receipts of the same character for the year

These persons sing. Frequently they also play; but always they sing. I have never even been to those fair Islands whence they come, but I gather from my local observations of visiting natives that their land is principally populated by a race who spend their time telling you good-by and then never going. They do not practice what they preach. In mournful numbers, hour after houn they bid you a lingering musical good-by and then turn right round and disappoint evdy by continuing to stay there. To them parting is such sweet sorrow, they refuse to part. But they are willing to sing about it, world without end. I should admire to meet a Hawaiian minstrel some time who told you he was going and then made good, but I'm afraid I never shall; it would be contrary to his nature and his training.

Five or ten miles behind the fighting sufficient casualty clearing stationseach holding about 1,000 men-have been organized to deal with all the casualties that may reasonably be expected, so that once a man is picked up by the stretcher bearers he receives adequate treatment within a very short time. Here also is a special hospital, perhaps of 50 beds, for abdominal cases, which are the most urgent.

In the old days such wounds, because of the delay before they could be treated and cleaned, were generally considered to be fatal; but under the new conditions, by which a man so hit is placed in an ambulance and sent off immediately, if necessary, without waiting for other wounded to be placed in with him, the dangerous delay is overcome, and the wound kept aseptic

Every child should own a tree. A tree is a symbol of life. It lives. It stands for everything that is noble. It is rooted in the soil and stretches itself toward heaven. It stands for patience, humility, persistence, beauty, courage and God. The child should plant the tree himself and thereafter watch it grow year by year. He should put his hands on its rough bark and say: "This is my tree. I will stand by it, and live up to it."

It is curious how blind we sometimes ere to certain ideals because we cannot see and handle them. We need something to connect us with the invisible but none the less potent and mative world of aspiration and in spiration. What could be better than

The business principles of American whaling are often mentioned as an excellent example of industrial co-operation. A ship is stocked and equipped by the owners, and the profits of the cruise are distributed in the ratio of two-thirds to the capital invested and one-third to labor. No member of the crew receives wages or a guarantee of any sort, but to each is allotted a certain share, termed the "lay," of the net results. In general, the captain's lay ranges from a fifteenth to an eighth, according to his whaling record. The mate and three lower officers, the four boat-steerers or harpooners, the cooper, steward, cook, carpenter, seamen and green hands receive proportionate shares, and so down to the cabin boy, whose lay is in the neighborhood of one two-hundredth, called the "long lay." Thus the profit of each individual depends upon the success of the cruise. Ships have sometimes failed to pay for their fitting out; on the other hand, the Onward of New Bedford once returned with a catch worth at the trevailing prices $395,000, of which the captain's lay was $40,000, and that of the least member of the crew shout $2 000 -The Argonaut.

Great Numbers of Beast of the Desert Used by the British in Defense of Egypt.

Along the banks af the Suez canal and thence along the old coast road to the east you will find today between the endless series of British encampments caravans of camels passing to and fro with their burdens or lying patiently at their mangers and chewing the cud with that tranquil expression of the beast which no stress of war can disturb, says the Manchester Guardian.

There are more camels gathered here than ever were assembled in the bazaars of Cairo or Damascus. Though the defense of Egypt has been carried forward from the canal itself to the hills and dunes of the Sinal desert and to the Land of Promise beyond, the camel is still an integral part of the defensive scheme. Roads and railways, it is true, run out here and there eastward from the bank, but there remains a vast hinterland unreclaimed from the desert, waste, in which our troops continually move.

The World on Wheels.

According to a report by the office of public roads, which takes notice of such matters, there were 3,512,906 automobiles and motor trucks and 250,-820 motorcycles registered in the United States in 1916. This is an increase of 43 per cent over the registry of cars and trucks for the previous year. The gain was greatest in the Southern states, where it reached 86 per cent. On the estimate of the present population there is now an automobile for every 29 people in the United States. On the basis of comfortable seating capacity, this makes room for one-sixth of the inhabitants, says Thomas F. Logan in Leslie's. Or, in other words, if properly apportioned, every sixth or seventh family would be found supplied. The total license reveaue derived from this source for 1916 was $25,865,870, which represents an Increase of $7,699,659 over the receipts of the same character for the year

We simply is charged with magic. As we walk can not dress inappropriately when tical. briskly along that wonderful through- these happy-go-lucky youngsters in khaki throng our streets and act as our escorts to places of amusement.

The Battle of the Bustle

There is a restraint about everything, from the sleeves, which are long and tight in street costumes, to the skirts, which are narrower than last year, and which promises to be longer. There is one important quesfor the times, and the spirit of the tion which has not as yet been settled. A fierce battle is waging between two factions, for the bustle and against it. After all it is up to the women themselves, in the end, and only they can decide whether a style is "to be or not to be." Fashion authorities may lunch expressed. a mode, but if the women won't wear it-it dies, and something else quickly takes its place.

The Dress and Suit

At present, indications are that the dress and coat will be more popular for street wear than the coat suit. This is a rule that is easily set aside and there will be many suits worn this year. Indeed, it is an American woman always feels that there are occasions when only a coat suit should be worn. However, dresses to be worn on the street without a coat, these first cool days, are holding the center of the stage. Blue serge leads as it always does, but tricotine, gabardine and wool jersey, as well as the heavier woolen materials in various colors and combination of colors, are equally smart.

The Tie-On Waist and Straight Skirt The illustration shows one of the many clever designs for the tie-on blouse. The surplice line is so generally becoming that I, for one, am glad to see that it continues to be a fashion favorite. The panel effect in the front, with its braiding design, is another feature. This dress was developed in blue serge, with the colar and braiding in beige color. At first glance, one sees the simplicity of the costume, an effect gained by the absence of trimming. A dress of this type is equally suitable for morning

Buttons and Tassels

The day of the button seems to have arrived to stay. They are of very shape and color, and in many ases are the sole trimming on a frock They also seen in unexpected places. We naturally look for them on the fronts of coats, dresses and waists; sleeves, too, and even collars have been devotees of the button for some n new strongholds. Up and down the back they travel, around the hems of inconspicuous skirts, and across the shoulder and down the sleeve.

When they match the color of the ostume, they are smart; when they are of a contrasting shade, they are mart; when they are round, square or oblong, they are equally smart. Indeed, one is tempted to say that this full they are the chosen insignia of Dame Fashion.

Tassels, too, and fringe come in for their share of applause. In different widths and shades, they accentnate the flying drapery of the straight

BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER!

Action Today May Save Memphis People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We over-do so much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder, an occasional dizzy spell or a persistant head ache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as warnings. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a slight kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people die in the United States every year. Prompt treatment at first-that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weakness from turning into gravel, dropsy heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills-the oldest, the most widely used, the best-recommended Kidney Pill. Fifty thousand Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Memphis case

Mrs. W. A. Womack, Bryce & Sev. enth Sts., says: I have used Doan's Kidney Pills in the past few years several diffrent times. My back has ached and my kidneys have been weak. I have had dizzy spells, too. I got Doan's Kidney Pills, at Rushing & Tomlinson's Drug Store, at such times and they have releived me in a short time.'

Mrs. Wamack is only one of many Memphis people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kideny Pills. If your back aches-if your kidneys bother you don't simply ask for a kidney remedy ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Womack had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all stores. GIVE BOAR GOOD ATTENTION

As He Matures, Litters Will Be Stronger and Larger-Keep Him Separated From the Sows.

It is not best to let the boar run with the rest of the herd. It is too common a practice to sell the boar when the season is over. This is largely the cause of so many small litters and weakboned pigs. It is best to get a good boar, and keep him for a few years, and as he matures his pigs will be stronger and litters larger.

Splendid Feed for Sheep and Hogs-Good Use Can Be Made of the Temporary Fences.

Rape is a splendid feed for sheep and hogs as well. It is usually pastured, but when the acreage is small and one wishes to get the most from the crop, it is cut and fed to the stock and then when it grows up again, is pastured.

Rape is generally broadcasted in the early spring on well prepared ground at the rate of five pounds of seed per acre. When the plants are about eight place. inches high turn the sheep into the it astonishing the way the field. Strong Constitution, Endurance and Action Are Associated With Well-Sloped Shoulders.

(By R. H. REESE.) In examining a horse there are several points about the shoulders to look into. Short shoulders do not generally indicate sufficient room for a large heart and for lungs capable of han-the front legs resulting from their striking the ground are considerably relieved by sloping shoulders, while straight shoulders, by not having this effect, tend to promote early unsoundness of these limbs.

Strong constitution, endurance, good front action, and style are associated with deep, well-sloped shoulders. For draft purposes the shoulders should have pronounced offsets, so that the face of the collar will have plenty of bearing surface. The position of the collar on shoulders which are deep enough is not materially changed. The heavier the pull the tighter the collar. On shallow shoulders collar is squeezed back with the result that the skin and muscles beneath the collar are often sore. Sharp, thin, prominent withers add depth and wearing qualities to the shoulder. Shoulders that run well into the back in the saddle horse aid in holding the saddle in Second Passenger-Yes: but how can they be sure it ain't one of ours? I suppose ours throw out bread, too, don't they?

Beautiful 1918 Maxwell Now On Exhibition

Without altering the world champion motor, the famous perfected clutch and transmission or the mighty axles, the Maxwell builders have produced a new wonder car, far superior in construction and in appearance to anything yet turned out by the Maxwell factories—we have this new and beautiful car—come and see it.

The car is larger and roomier, for one thing—the wheelbase has been increased six inches.

It is also a stronger and more rigid machine for the road.

The frame is now six inches, instead of three inches deep.

And the body rests directly on this powerful frame, instead of on brackets extending from the sides, as in the past.

Do you know what that meaner with which the
