2,500 Witness Dairy Display

OFF-TO-COLLEGE DAYS ARE HERE

Pointing out that dairying can be made into one of Hall County's largest payrolls, D. T. Simons of Tarrant County, judge of the Hall County Dairy Show held last Thursday in Memphis, pronounced the progress of cattle breeding among Hall Counties as outstanding and expressed the hope that dairying would be increased throughout this area. More than 2,500 attended the show, and observers and officials agreed that this year's exhibitions were the best ever shown in Hall County. The show was held in one of the buildings at the Memphis Cotton Oil Company. Employees of the company cooperated in arranging the building and the exhibitions. Various feed companies had exhibitions, as did several of the breeders over the county. Seats were moved in to afford more convenient quarters for the audience. Grand champion honors for the female class went to C. L. Sloan's "Primrose," and the reserve champion was A. Womack's "Lou Ann." Grand champion for the male class was "You'll Do Ronald Fox," owned by Williams and Sons of Memphis, and the reserve champion male was A. Womack's "Dreaming Pal." Sloan's Primrose was the reserve champion of last year's Hall County show, and was the grand champion in the spring show at Plainview. Womack's "Lou Ann" is a daughter of "Primrose." The entire show went off in orderly style. Business men co-operated in the show. (Continued on page 7)

DISTRICT COURT GRAND JURY IS STILL MEETING

Docket Probably Light; 15 Former Indictments Listed

The grand jury was still in session this morning at 11 o'clock as the Democrat went to press, and no indictments were made known. Investigations and questionings have been carried on since the jury convened Monday. The docket of criminal cases will probably be light, it was explained, and the grand jury is not expected to make a large number of indictments. Fifteen old criminal suits, the indictments of which were made in former grand jury sessions, are listed, and the number of new criminal suits will depend on the indictments made by the grand jury. Six new civil suits have been filed with the district clerk, Mrs. Isabel Cypert, since the February term of court. Serving on the grand jury are R. A. Hutchinson, foreman, R. (Continued on page 12)

PARITY CHECKS TOTAL $41,317

Fourth Shipment Brings $22,070; Applications to State Office Now 600. The fourth and largest shipment of parity checks received this year arrived in Memphis Monday morning and brought the total to 463 payments aggregating $41,317.34, J. C. Thompson, ACA secretary, announced this week. The shipment was 239 checks, totaling $22,070.22. Previous payments had amounted to $19,247.12. Six hundred applications for the parity payments have now been sent to the state office, Thompson said. Others will be sent as soon as they are completed. Hall County was the first to receive checks in the Panhandle this year, although this county is ordinarily somewhat behind others. Other counties have been receiving the payments during the past two weeks, however. The parity payment is one of two made to farmers by the government in cotton-raising counties, it has been explained. The parity represents a subsidy payment to all cotton farmers who have complied with the 1940 ACA program. (Continued on page 12)

O. B. Smith Downs Austin, Wins Golf Tourney at Pampa

Memphian Shoots Under Par to Take Top Honors; Wins on Last Two Holes. O. B. Smith carried the colors of Memphis over the top again in the golfing kingdom Tuesday when he downed John Austin of Pampa 2-up to win the third annual Top-o-Texas Golf Tournament at the Pampa Country Club course. The defending champion, Frank Foxhall of Memphis, did not enter the tournament. Two other Memphians, R. S. Greene and Murray Dial, entered but were eliminated in the opening rounds Sunday. A strong wind during the finals Tuesday failed to bother either of the players. Smith toured the 36 holes in 141 to one under par, while Austin shot a 145. The match was close throughout the 36 holes, with never more than one hole separating the two players. During the morning round, Smith took the lead on number two, and although the count was even on five occasions, Austin never managed to get in the lead. On the 10th hole of the final round, Austin holed out to go one up. The count was tied twice more, with Smith sinking one from the edge on 16 to tie, the Memphian sunk a long putt on 17 to go one up, and parred the last hole to win 2-up. (Continued on page 7)

More Than 20 Gridmen Answer Call for Initial Workouts; New Coaches Prepare Team for Starter With Lakeview

More than 20 would-be John Kimbroughs, Ki Aldrichs, and the like reported for fall football practice as the new Cyclone grid mentors, C. E. Headstream and Bill Pletcher, sounded the initial call this week. Two workouts daily have been in progress since Monday, and selection of positions for the players is gradually being made by the two coaches. More are expected to turn out next week when school is in session, Headstream said. A number of students from the rural communities are unable to get to town each day for the workouts. The season will open Friday night of next week when the local team meets the Lakeview players in the first game, which, incidentally, is a conference game. The Lakeview-Memphis game will be played in Memphis, since the lights on the Lakeview field have not been completely installed, it was announced this week. The game was originally scheduled to be played at Lakeview. Both teams are expected to be ragged in their first game, since under the Interscholastic League rules practice cannot start until September 1. Both Memphis and Lakeview went through somewhat unstarving seasons last year. Floyd "Big-Boy" Melton tops the list of squad members in size this year weighing 210 pounds. Smallest of the team's members is Wiley Crump, who weighs around 170. Melton is slated for a right tackle position, and Crump at left guard. Others coming out this week, their positions, and approximate weights are as follows: L. E. Jenkins, rt. 170; Bobbie Robertson, rt. 170; Cecil Evans, lt. 170; Noel Bruce, lt. 200; Boyce Bruce, jr. 160; Wayne Lowery, rt. 140; Lois Kerr, lg. 160; Troy Romines, lg. 155; Billie Gene Morris, c. 169; Louie Grimes, c. 160; Grady Smith, c. 140; J. W.M.U. of Baptist Church Meets to Install Officers

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church met this week for a missionary program and installation of officers.

Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor, installed the new officers and his theme was "Building for the Year." To the president, he presented the blue print for the year's building, and to each of the vice presidents or circle leaders, he gave a hammer, pointing out that the hammers were indispensable tools just as they were indispensable to the president.

Rev. Martin then presented pencils to the corresponding and recording secretaries, naming them as timekeepers and checkers of materials. The Bible teacher was presented with a Bible, and to each of the young peoples leaders Rev. Martin gave a towel, saying it was the instrument in molding.

A rule was given the parliamentarian as a symbol of rules and order. To the director of music and the pianist he gave song books, those officers representing the paint and other finishing touches to the building.

Each committee chairman was presented with a tool symbolic of her duties, and to each of the members of the W. M. U., Rev. Martin gave a nail, representing the prayers of all and the being held together. He then offered prayer for the new officers and members.

NEWLIN
 By MRS. FRED HEMPHILL

Weather
 As this is being written a heavy shower is falling. Heavy low-hanging clouds and a constant rumbling of thunder promises a good rain. Reports from nearby vicinities that heavy showers have fallen make it seem possible that this section will receive the same.
School Opening Exercises Held
 Opening exercises were held in the Newlin school auditorium Monday morning with a good representation of patrons present, and a large number of students. A count of beginners and new students showed 27 new faces in the student body. Plans to open the lunch room Wednesday were announced.
Baptist Revival Closed
 Revival services closed here Thursday night. The services have been conducted by two student preachers from Bible Institute in Los Angeles, Rev. Noble Crawford and Rev. Ewell Kersey. Plans are for the young men to come back next summer, at which time they will be ordained at the church. The pastor, Rev. L. J. Crawford, hopes to ordain his son as his father ordained him about 40 years ago. The young man and Mrs. Noble Crawford and his small son David returned to their home in Los Angeles Friday, accompanied by Miss Omega Crawford, who plans to make her home there.
Visitors
 Mrs. Eldridge Daniels of Wag on Mound, N. M., spent last week visiting her father, T. J. Smith Sr., and other friends and relatives. She left Sunday for Panhandle, where she spent several days with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith.

 Miss Mary Ann Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, underwent an appendectomy in a Memphis hospital early Friday morning. She is recovering rapidly.
 Miss Meiba Knight returned Sunday from a visit with relatives in Fort Worth.

Shelterbelts Cut Down Crop Costs

"Reducing the cost of growing crops is one way in which field shelterbelts help to promote economic stability of farmers in the plains region," according to information from W. E. Webb, of Wichita Falls, state director of the U. S. Forest Service's Prairie States Forestry project.
 This, he explained, is particularly the case in the sections where seed blowouts occur frequently. Each reseeded required adds just that much to the cost of producing a crop and reduces the chances for profit. In some cases, the trees protected only part of the field and the crop was lost from the unprotected portion. In others, the farmer's field was fully protected, and he could compare his experience with that of his neighbors.
 Illustrative of the value of concentrated shelterbelt plantings in Northwest Texas over the past four years are lower seeding costs and higher returns, reported by many farm operators in the Rayland Community of Foard County, in the Dunlap area north of Paducah, in Garden Valley in Childress County, and by a number of Shelterbelt owners in other counties.
 M. J. Draper of Memphis reports that even though his shelterbelt was planted on the sandy side of his farm, he has not lost more than 10 stalks of cotton or corn on that side of the field. His loss on the other side of his farm was also much less than common.

Cornell, Buckeyes, Texas Aggies Look Good for 1940

THEY'RE OFF!
 BY ART BRONSON
 THERE'S a world series yet to be played but the booming sound of foot against pigskin is echoing on all fronts.
 The collegiate gridiron battalions are in camp and preparing for the season. In another couple weeks they'll start hitting the championship trails.
 In the east it looks like Cornell is headed for another big year. The same line returns intact which led the Big Red to an undefeated season a year ago. Most of the back comes up again, headed by Capt. Walt Matuzak and Vince Kichler.
 Fordham, perennially strong, needs only a little more reserve strength up front, but the prospects are there. Pennsylvania's hopes are rather bright and so too are Penn State's. Beyond that quartet there appear to be no stand-out teams.
 IT'S Ohio State and Michigan in the midwest, with the Buckeyes' Big Ten champions headed for a banner year. Don Scott heads the best backfield in the nation.
 Notre Dame won't be quite as strong as it was a year ago. Minnesota also shapes up well.
 Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri should lead the way in the Big Six with the Cornhuskers regarded as pre-season favorite.

Paul Christmas lost most of the teammates which sparked Missouri to a big season in 1939.
 Tennessee, Tulane and North Carolina, the three top teams in Dixie a year ago, look like the best bets again this trip, with the Vols basking in the No. 1 spot. Watch Alabama is also a word of warning.
 ALL-AMERICA John Kimbrough is the chief reason why Texas A. & M. is an outstanding choice to repeat in the southwest, and possibly repeat as the No. 1 team in the nation, as well. There's plenty on hand to help Kimbrough, too.
 Texas Christian and Southern Methodist are other contenders.
 The Rocky Mountain sector lists Colorado, Utah and University of Denver in just about that order as pre-season hot-shots.
 Out on the coast Southern California will have a battle to keep the level of a year ago when Troy wound up a Rose Bowl winner over Tennessee. A lot of material graduated, including Crenny Lansdel and Amby Schindler, but Howard Jones has plenty left to combat the threat of Washington and Oregon State.

Dies to Speak in Amarillo Friday

Revelations about what he terms communistic and fascist activities in the Southwest, among certain movie elements and labor groups on the west coast, and in the industrial centers of the East are expected to be made by Congressman Martin Dies of Orange, when he speaks twice in Amarillo, Friday, Sept. 6. He will tell what he has learned about "fifth column" activities in America.

The celebrated chairman of the House Un-American Activities Investigating Committee will speak at 2:30 in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock at night in Amarillo's renovated Municipal Auditorium. Capacity crowds are expected for both appearances.

1941 AAA Program Gets Only Slight Changes for Texas

County Committee Given More Latitude in Fitting Program to Local Needs

Few changes of importance to Texas were made in the 1941 AAA program as approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Such changes as were included were based on the recommendations of the national conference of farmer-committeemen and ranchmen held earlier in the summer.

Soil conservation and maintenance of adequate food and fiber supplies continue as the basic principles of the program, George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas state committee, declares, and still more latitude has been granted the county committee for adaptation of the program to fit local needs.

The $20 minimum payment for each farm has been continued, the chairman pointed out, and an additional $15 is available for planting trees. Thus, any farm can earn as much as $35 by cooperating with the 1941 program.

In addition, on small farms where the maximum payment is not more than $20, any part of the soil-building allowance may be earned by carrying out locally adapted conservation practices not included in the program where recommended by county committeemen. This provision will be applicable in designated areas only.

Encouraging feed production, the program provides that in areas where feed crops are not generally produced for market, any farmer may grow as much as 30 acres of soil-depleting crops without incurring a deduction for exceeding the total depleting acreage allotment.

In view of the substantial acreage reductions made by established cotton growers, not more than one per cent of the state's 1941 cotton allotment may be used for new grower allotments, a reduction from the two per cent allowed in 1940. No payments will be made for cotton produced in 1941 on allotments for new growers, Slaughter said.

For Broadway buckaroos who long for the trail no longer need spend half their vacations getting to and from the dude ranch. There are several within a few hours of Times Square and others are spotted throughout the east.

If the eastern ranches seem a bit synthetic, they do at least provide the chief stock in trade of the west—riding and lots of it. After all, a horse will do approximately the same things in the Catskills as in Dead Man's Gulch.

BUT the bulk of the dude trade, of course, remains in the west. There many a ranch owner has found the margin between security and bankruptcy lies in the business of entertaining eastern vacationists.

Most of the bigger ranches, for eight months of the year, still raise cattle for the nation's beef-steaks. But comes spring, and the cowboys pack away their overalls and plow shoes in favor of candy-striped shirts, embroidered boots and doekin riding breeches.

And for the next four summer months the voice of the dude is loud in the land as he rides range singing pseudo cowboy ballads.

One midwestern state university—the University of Wyoming at Laramie—offers a complete course in dude ranching. The curriculum includes business, economics, hotel management, psychology, forestry and animal husbandry.

The swankier western ranches boast not only gentle horses and plenty of riding country, but golf courses, polo fields, swimming pools, small airports, trap shooting ranges, fishing streams, tennis and badminton courts.

And the 1940 model cowboy is a streamlined version even more picturesque than the typical easterner's idea of a cowboy. He tells tall tales with the straightest of faces, and he's a walking encyclopedia of the legends of the country.

Yet it isn't too improbable that he has a Phi Beta Kappa key tucked away in the hip pocket of his jeans, for many western college boys pick up a little money in the summer doubling as dude ranch hands.

One of the chief things which lures vacationists to the dude range is the price. Costs range from $35 a week upward, with the average around $45 or $50.

In the aggregate, that adds up. It's estimated that dude ranch vacationists this summer are spending $3,000,000.

The Tenderfoot Is Dead —Long Live the Dude!

Major pursuits at the dude ranch are riding, eating, sleeping and singing cowboy ballads.

THE tenderfoot, butt of western cowboys' jokes, has given way to the dude, object of his solitude.

This summer an estimated 25,000 persons sought a summer home on the range during their vacations. The west now has about 300 dude ranches, and there are nearly 50 more in the east.

Seasonal Vegetables for Good Meals —Specialist Tells How to Cook Them

Corn-on-the-cob, blackeyed peas, fresh tomatoes, with young onions and cornbread make as good a meal as anyone could want. This is typically seasonal food, and in many sections of the state it is available in home gardens or from nearby farms at low cost.

As good as corn-on-the-cob and peas can be, some cooks don't do them justice, in the opinion of Nora Ellen Elliott, specialist in food preparation for the A. and M. College Extension Service. For instance, most vegetables are best prepared and used as soon as possible after they reach the home kitchen.

Peas and corn, especially, lose much of their flavor after standing only a short time.

For corn, remove the husks just before cooking. Plunge the ears into boiling water and cook from 6 to 12 minutes, depending on the age of the corn. Do not salt the cooking water as this toughens the corn.

Peas should be cooked in as little water as possible just until tender—then serve simply with butter or some other well-flavored fat and light seasonings. If the vegetables are not to be cooked at once, store them in a covered dish in a cool place so as to keep crisp, Miss Elliott advises.

With so many vegetables to choose from, it is easy to plan an entire meal around them. For a "vegetable plate" the specialist suggests fresh peas for the bright green color, roasting ears, and a plum red tomato to broil or bake. Where hot weather has not yet been harmful or frame gardeners are in production new beets and carrots are plentiful and tender young salad greens are available. Other vegetable plate selections might include snap beans, lima beans, and yellow squash.

Johnson Expects Crop of Cherries

Porter Johnson brought a twig from a cherry tree to The Democrat office Saturday. This twig had several blossoms on it, and Mr. Johnson believes he will have a crop of cherries this fall.

The tree was in full bloom early in the spring, Johnson said. The dry hot weather in July caused the leaves to curl up and fall off. When the rains of early August came, the tree put out new leaves and is now blooming as it did last spring.

WPA Approves Panhandle's School Lunch Projects for Coming Year

School lunch projects totaling $78,172 have been approved by Work Projects for operation in the Panhandle during the coming school year, according to official information received this week by A. A. Meredith, district manager of the Amarillo office.

There is an allocation of $60,073 WPA funds to be spent for certified labor and supervision in the operation of these projects, which are intended to prepare and serve school lunches without cost to needy or under-nourished children in school who are certified by school authorities as eligible to receive the lunches.

In addition to the assistance to be given school lunch projects by WPA, Federal Surplus Commodities will be delivered to the school lunch projects without cost to the schools in such variety as may be currently available through the Federal Surplus Marketing Administration. These commodities are usually received by the Amarillo warehouse of the Federal Surplus Marketing Administration and will be distributed from the warehouse under the supervision of John E. Rowland, district supervisor of commodity distribution.

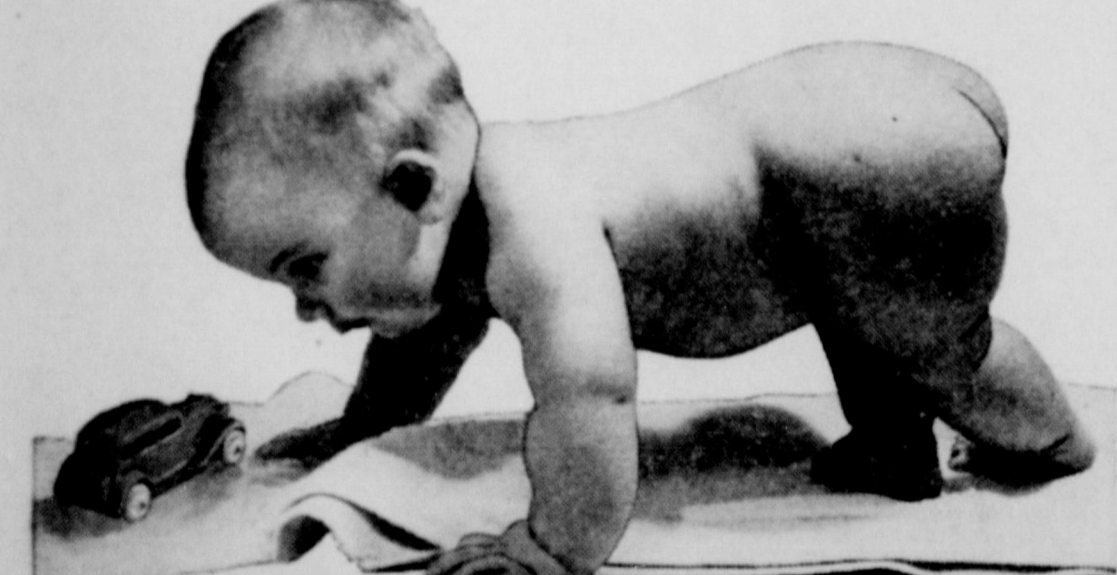

The rate of distribution of surplus food commodities may vary to some extent in line with quantities available as directed by the Federal Surplus Marketing Administration with each allotment of commodities received. However, as an indication of the basis on which commodities are distributed to the school lunch projects, the currently established per-month allotment for each child eligible to receive lunches without cost is as follows: 3 pounds evaporated milk, 1 pound wheat cereal, 1 pound corn meal, 1 pound graham flour, 3 pounds canned peaches, 1-2 pound dried prunes, 1-2 pound raisins, 1 pound rice, 1 pound salt pork, 1 pound lard.

Based on past experiences, it is expected that many different commodities will be available from time to time for distribution to a school lunch project, such as flour, potatoes, apples, grapefruit, and other commodities as may become surplus on the market.

School lunch projects approved and ready for operation are as follows: Childress city schools, Collingsworth county-wide, Dalhart, Hereford, Gray county-wide, Hall county-wide, Amarillo, and Cartton.

School lunch projects are administered under the general supervision of Mrs. Pearl B. Walker, district director of the Professional and Service Projects Division in District 16 at Amarillo. WPA activities on the individual projects are supervised by Mrs. Frances Johnson, district supervisor.

Of the rain that falls on the soil, only about 50 per cent is available for plant growth under the average conditions. The other half is lost through run-off and evaporation.

Farmers, Here's How SOIL CONSERVATION LAW WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles designed to explain the organization, purpose, possible accomplishments, and limitations of a soil conservation district. The articles, prepared by County Agent W. B. Hooser, outline briefly the points in the state soil conservation law. Other articles will follow before the soil district election is held in Hall County October 19.

WHAT ADVANTAGES MAY BE DERIVED FROM A SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT THAT A FARMER CANNOT GET OTHERWISE
It gives the farmer a better opportunity to solve their soil and water conservation problems by working together.

It makes available a district program and plan that is set up, approved, and supervised by local farmers. The supervisors may request the assistance of all available local, state, and federal agencies in drawing up the district program and plan. The farm men and women, the agency representatives on the various planning committees will be of great assistance to the supervisors both in planning and in putting the program into effect.

It makes available to farmers types of assistance from governmental agencies which can be made available only through organized districts.

Soil technicians available thru the Soil Conservation Service cannot assist farmers except in designated areas such as districts, camps, or demonstration projects, or on farms which are selected as a joint demonstration between extension and soil conservation service. Their major service in districts which they are assisting will be to farmers or groups of farmers who enter into a cooperative agreement with the district.

WHAT A SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT EXPECTS OF FARMERS

It will be necessary for the farmer to study the need for soil and water conservation on his and his neighbors' farms.

It will expect him to work with his neighbors in deciding on what needs to be done on his and his neighbors' farms to conserve soil and water.

It will expect him to enlist the aid of county and land-use planning committees in getting a satisfactory soil and water conservation plan worked out and put into operation on his and his neighbors' farms.

If they are interested, groups of neighboring farmers may request the assistance of the district through the district supervisors in making necessary maps and surveys and in adapting the district plan to individual and groups of farms.

If mutually satisfactory plans are worked out and the farmer desires further assistance from the district, he may enter into a cooperative agreement with the district.

If a cooperative agreement is entered into between the farmer and the district, then the farmer is to assume the responsibility for putting into effect and maintaining on his farm the plan as set forth in a mutually agreed upon cooperative agreement that he will make with his district through his supervisors. The cooperative agreement will state what the district will do and what the farmer will do.

United States farmers have enough grains in 1940, including Ever-Normal Granary reserves, to produce 78 pounds of pork for every one of the 132,000,000 people in the nation or 14 pounds more than each person ate in 1939.

Egg Association Nets Nice Profit

Twenty Floyd County farm families will realize an average of $100 a year extra income through the organization of an egg marketing association.

The association, according to the Floyd County agricultural and home demonstration agents, D. F. Bredthauer and Edith Lois Wilson, is the outgrowth of work by the local land-use planning committee.

A subcommittee authorized to develop local markets reported, among other things, that farm eggs were being penalized because of their low grade.

The twenty families agreed to form a demonstration association. A committee visited the farm of each member, inspected the flock and equipment, and made recommendations for increasing the production and marketing infertile eggs.

A sales committee contacted a local buyer and agreed to deliver 1,000 dozen infertile, high quality eggs each week at a price 4 cents a dozen above the local market.

After a thirty day period of improvement, the members began delivery of the eggs. Extra income to date has averaged $40 per week.

Cotton Bagging to Be Used During '41

The cotton bagging program of the Surplus Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be continued for at least another year, F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, has been advised.

The program is designed to encourage use of American-grown cotton for cotton wrapping or bagging. A normal crop of cotton in the United States would require the use of about 135,000 bales if all were wrapped in cotton.

A maximum of a million wrappings will be used for the current year's crop and the six manufacturers who have received contracts will get payments of 25 cents per wrapping to offset losses from small volume.

The cotton bagging was first tried in 1938, when less than 17,500 bales were so covered. In 1939, the number of bales of Texas cotton covered with cotton patterns rose to 233,976.

A man with a hoe is the best weed-killing machine.

No Sales Talk Needed

Mayor H. LaGuardia of New York City, garbed as a storekeeper, found it an easy task to convince former Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace that the best corn comes from Iowa—for Wallace was born in that state. Both men spoke at inauguration of the federal food stamp plan in Brooklyn.

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Yeats Are Given 'Welcome Home' Party by Methodists

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Yeats, who have been in Lanark, Ill., for the past three weeks, were given a "welcome home" party in a big way Thursday night of last week, when more than 100 members of the First Methodist Church gathered at the City Park for a program and watermelon feast.

Rev. and Mrs. Yeats have been in Lanark in the exchange of pulpits between the local pastor and Rev. Thomas Doyle of that city. They returned to Memphis Wednesday of last week.

The program was started off with a sing-song of old hymns, led by Rev. Yeats' son, A. W. Yeats. The singing was accompanied by Rayburn Jones on his accordion.

Following that a short skit was given, depicting a reorganization of the church supposedly done when the pastor and his wife were out of town.

Playing in the skit were Mrs. Noel Woodley, Mrs. N. A. Hightower, Mrs. C. W. Broome, Mrs. J. W. Slover, Mrs. Mac Tarver, Miss Mary Foreman, Wilber Jones, and S. E. Mayfield.

Mrs. W. C. Dickey, in behalf of the Women's Missionary Society, which was in charge of the program, presented Rev. and Mrs. Yeats with a linen cloth and napkins.

Watermelon was served at the close of the program.

If all the 1940 United States wheat crop plus the supply in the Ever-Normal Granary were used for food, it would provide every man, woman, and child in the nation with twice as much bread, cereal and other wheat foods as each ate in the entire year of 1939. A "big game" census recently taken by the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, revealed that there are 3,400 white-tail deer in National Forests located in Texas.

Leading hotels in a number of cities are featuring 'turkey steaks.' The meat of the turkey is removed from the bones with a special boning knife. It is cut into steaks of light and dark meat, as desired, in any size from a half-pound up. The steaks are fried slowly in melted fat in a heavy-covered skillet and then steamed.

In 1939, the United States imported merchandise from Latin America valued at approximately 500 million dollars. Agricultural items made up as much as 80 per cent of these imports.

Weevils? Then Try This Way of Killing

Weevils are working overtime these days.

To help off-set some of their damage to peas and beans which have been or shortly will be harvested on most Texas farms...

First of all, the safest way to keep beans or peas which are to be used as seed is to shell or thresh them and treat them with carbon disulphide...

The peas or beans should be placed in a jar, bucket, or can. Then a small saucer or jar top containing the carbon disulphide solution should be placed on top of the peas before the lid is placed on the container.

If the peas are not to be treated, they should be left in the hulls, since they are less subject to weevil damage than if they are shelled or threshed.

Where peas or beans are to be used only for eating, they may be placed in an open container, such as a turkey roaster, and heated to 130 degrees F. for 10 minutes, then stored in tight containers.

Quicker Completion of Soil-Building Work Means Earlier Payments

The sooner a farmer completes his soil-building work under the AAA program, the sooner he will receive his agricultural conservation payment.

Plans are complete for county offices to accept applications for conservation payments in September from those cooperators who have earned their maximum soil-building and range-improvement allowances, according to E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator.

Completion of enough soil-building work to earn the maximum allowance before the close of the program will thus enable the cooperator to receive his conservation payment earlier than those who fall short on their improvement work.

"Present indications are that payments will begin about a month earlier this year than last," the administrator said. "First ACF payments under the 1939 program were certified October 13, more than two months ahead of the previous year's schedule."

The "earlier payments for earlier work" plan was first used last year in order to eliminate a pile-up of applications in the offices and to encourage greater use of funds allowed for improving the soil and controlling erosion, the administrator explained.

Many farmers and ranchmen already have exceeded requirements for earning their full allowance and so will be able to get their payments as soon as the necessary forms and instructions are released to county offices.

Engineer Explains Machinery Parts

Letters from farmers directed to M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, indicate that often machinery repair parts do not fit.

Bentley says this is because manufacturers of farm implements sometimes change some parts of a machine without changing the model number.

For instance, the crankshaft for a well-known mow is made in 1919 and designated as the No. 6 will not fit the same company's No. 6 made in 1926.

If the owner of a No. 6 mower ordered a crankshaft without knowing the part number or the year purchased, therefore, he would stand a 50-50 chance of getting the wrong part.

In making up an order for parts that are needed in repairing a piece of farm equipment, the following information should be given:

Articles Found—Owner Not Known

A costly audiphone and a number of other articles were found this week hidden in some weeds in Memphis. Sheriff W. C. Anderson is anxious that the owner have the articles, since they are valuable.

These articles were found by some children while playing, and it is presumed they were stolen from some home or automobile. They are at the sheriff's office in the courthouse.

Infants can be given meat as early as 10 days after birth with no digestive or kidney disturbances, according to Dr. Leo K. Campbell of the University of Chicago, who says the only requirement is that the meat be scraped so that chewing is not required.

Name of the manufacturer; the trade name, year bought, and the model number of the machine; and the number of the part wanted. If the part number is worn off or cannot be distinguished, use the numbers of one or more parts with which it connects.

this column. I told about The Democrat's good milch (French for milk) cow being for sale, and had one prospect. This cow is three years old, last calf is about four months old, is a well-bred and well-behaved Jersey, and is easily kept. No one in the Democrat office wants to milk her because milk and printer's ink will not make a delicious drink, therefore she is for sale.

How about getting our home town dressed up? A good case of weed-cutting and general cleaning would help a lot. I believe a lot of women in Memphis would join the pep squad and cheer lustily if the men will sharpen their hoes and do a little calisthenics in the weed patches.

Prospects continue good for a bumper crop in Hall County this fall. Showers and heavy rains, dewy mornings and cloudy cool days aid in the development and growth of both feed and cotton.

TO MY WIFE
By Democrat Staff Poet
I don't like to ask favors of any one, but the strain I have been under listening to remarks made by Tri-State Press regarding my salary so upset me that I forgot our wedding anniversary, and I am asking you as man to join the pep squad and cheer lustily if the men will sharpen their hoes and do a little calisthenics in the weed patches.

I like to ride around at night To soothe my nerves and think— But at every hot-dog stand My wife must eat and drink.
As my pocket-book deflates, My wife surely and slowly fills, And she keeps on eating, As we drive among the hills.
When the last hot-dog is gone, It is usually very late, I have to listen to her groan Because of what she ate.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this means of thanking all our friends and neighbors for all they did in words or deeds for our dear mother during her long illness and death. May God bless you.
Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Phipps.

Don't Guess—Make Jelly by Science

Jelly makers used to cross their fingers and hope for good luck this time of year, but modern science has taken much of the guess work out of jelly-making.

Grace I. Neely, specialist in food preservation of the A. and M. Extension Service, has compiled a list for each step in the jelly-making process, and if these are conscientiously adhered to success in the undertaking is virtually assured. Here are the rules:

Select good quality fruit that is fresh and firm. A mixture of ripe and slightly under-ripe fruit is usually best since over-ripe fruits are low in acid. But they will make jelly if one tablespoon of strained lemon juice is added to each cup of fruit juice.

To know when the syrup forms jelly is important in cooking at the right length of time. The jelly test most commonly used is called "sheeting off." To make the test, dip a large spoon into the boiling syrup and lift the spoon so that the syrup runs off the side. Stop cooking when the syrup no longer separates into two drops which "sheet" together. If the jelly is not enough, it will be watery. And if it is cooked too long, it will become a grumpy mess. In preparing pectin, pour a half cup of water into a portion of prepared fruit in the Time of boiling for 15 minutes. In extracting grapes, the boiling time is five to ten minutes, says Neely. Concord grapes require from one and one-half to two cups of water to one cup of prepared fruit, and peaches will require one cup per pound.

The pectin granules have little part in the pulling among themselves. Among infants, 400 to 1,000 die, and a large number of them are over 15 years old. There is a death toll from pellagra in 1938.

Dove Season Open —But Watch Out, Bag Limit Lower

Shoot 12, Then Stop, But Be Sure and Use Only Shotgun—Rifles Barred

Dove hunting season opened last Sunday morning at sunrise, and large numbers of Memphians were reported as starting the season off by bagging the limit.

The bag limit, incidentally, is 12 birds for the day instead of 15, and hunting starts at sunrise instead of 7 o'clock in the morning as was the case last year. Guns must be silenced at sundown.

The season, which opened September 1, is to close in this section of Texas October 31.

Only shotguns are to be used in hunting doves, game wardens point out. Thumbs down is the high sign on the use of rifles, since, the wardens explain, the danger to human life and stock is too great if rifles are allowed.

Pumps and automatic shotguns must be plugged back to a three-shell limit.

Another warning from the game wardens is for hunters not to mistake quails for doves, for quail season is still closed.

Still another warning is that hunters should be careful, not only of their discarded cigar and cigarette stubs which may easily start fires.

Trespassing on land which is posted is still against the law, it has been pointed out, and farmers are within their rights in prosecuting violators of this law. Permission should be obtained from landowners before the trespassing is done, the game wardens explain.

A number of Memphians have already tried their skill at chasing down and shooting the doves, and several have reported that the doves are plentiful.

Cake That's A Triumph

us, making a cake
 a triumph
 eacy—is a satisfy-
 t, whether it's a ch and dark, or an e, snowy white and er.

Beat well. Pour batter into 2 greased, 9-inch layer pans, and bake in a moderate oven with the electric thermostat set at 350°, for about 30 minutes. Remove from pans, cool, and frost with Seven Minute Icing.

Cut Angel Food Cakes or Sunshine Cakes with a silk thread, or pull the cake gently apart with two forks.

When cutting a round cake to serve a number of guests, cut an inside circle, first, half way between the center of the cake and the outer edge. Then cut 12 pie-shaped pieces from the inside circle, and 24 pieces from the outside circle.

Cut a square cake into 16 equal squares, as illustrated, then cut across the cake, diagonally, to divide each square into triangular pieces.

Divide a rectangular cake into 5 equal, lengthwise strips. Then, starting at one corner, cut through the strips diagonally.

If a bit of egg yolk gets into the whites, it may be removed with a piece of the shell, or with the corner of a damp towel.

To hold an angel food tin in place while the cake cools, turn a funnel upside down, and insert the end into the tube of the pan.

Remember that a bit of salt is needed in cakes to bring out the flavor of the other ingredients.

Schoolwork Hard On Child's Eyes

Of all the activities carried on in the home under artificial light, schoolwork causes the greatest strain on the eyes if the home is improperly lighted.

This is the opinion of many hundreds of men and women interviewed in an extensive survey conducted in eight midwestern and southern states including Texas.

In discussing the survey, Mack Wilson, local manager of the West Texas Utilities, said that seven persons out of 10 named reading or schoolwork when asked what activity in the home calls for the best lighting.

Sewing and mending ranked as a strong second in the survey, while cooking, shaving, and similar tasks were considered by others to impose a considerable strain on the eyes in poorly lighted homes.

"Our lighting department," he said, "is glad to make free lighting tests whenever requested. It often is possible to improve light at little or no expense. Our lighting advisers are equipped with a sight meter which scientifically determines the proper candlepower needed for study, reading, mending or any of the various eye usages made in the average home."

36th Division to Meet October 5, 6

Veterans of the war-time 36th Division will gather in Fort Worth from many states, October 5 and 6, to attend the annual reunion of their association.

The veterans will find near Fort Worth this year a scene reminiscent of their training days at Camp Bowie, as one of the government's contract aviation schools is in operation north of the city on the site of the aviation school maintained in 1917-1918.

Many of the units of the old Division have formed organization clubs and it is expected that competition will be keen between such clubs to capture the loving cup to be awarded the unit having the largest membership attendance.

Headquarters for the reunion will be at the Texas Hotel.

The Women's Auxiliary to the association will hold its annual meeting in the Texas Hotel Saturday morning and the Auxiliary has promoted plans for the entertainment of the women and families of the veterans during their stay.

John A. Hulen, who commanded the 72nd Brigade, 36th Division, through the war is president of the association and Mrs. Young Yates of Fort Worth is president of the auxiliary.

Ten days after the debut of nylon hose for women on the nation's market, a leading trade journal declared the new product "an unqualified success."

Pilots' Oxygen Starvation Studied

Capt. N. W. White, left, studies effects of lack of oxygen on plane pilot with laboratory "rebreather" at Randolph Field, Tex. Subject at right continues to breathe same air again and again, extracting some of the oxygen at each breath. This corresponds to ascents to altitudes as high as 20,000 feet.

Big-Bale Cotton Has Lower Quality

Texas farmers who try to get too much cotton into their bales may be at least partly responsible for damage that shows up later when the bales go through the compress. F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension service, points out.

"When cotton is under extreme pressure, as is the case at the compress, fibers in the oversized bales are likely to be torn and cut in such a manner that their value to the spinner is reduced," Lichte said.

Tests conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show a larger percentage of air-cut damage in oversized bales than in normal bales.

Though the farmer does not suffer directly, except in the few cases where he is the owner of the bale at the time it is compressed, he does suffer through the lower prices brokers and mills must pay for other purchases to offset these losses.

The way to reduce this damage is to deliver only enough seed cotton to the gin to produce a bale of ginned lint weighing 500 pounds or thereabouts.

"If the tendency towards overweight does not stop, it is probable that we will see the trade put on a penalty for bales over 550 pounds just as lightweight bales are now penalized," Lichte said. The trade is beginning to reserve the right to reject bales in excess of 600 pounds. The present penalties are $1 for bales under 350 pounds not acceptable.

Girls Are Advised To Build-Up For Relief

Lack of knowledge causes many a weak, undernourished girl a lot of suffering!

Many others, however, know how the headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by the proper use of CARDUI.

Some take it a few days before and during "the time," to help ease periodic distress. But CARDUI'S principal use is to help increase appetite; stimulate the flow of gastric juice; so aid digestion, assist in building up physical resistance and thus help reduce periodic distress. Women have used CARDUI for over 50 years.

Vegetable Laxative Makes Happy Friends

Here's a laxative that usually acts thoroughly as harsher ones but is a gentle persuader for intestines when used this way. A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight; a drink of water. There's usually time for a good night's rest, with a gentle, thorough action next morning relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath.

BLACK-DRAUGHT is a splendid combination of vegetable ingredients, chief of which is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" that helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. It's economical. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

BACK TO SCHOOL

THIS EDITORIAL is written for children of school age, those children who always dread starting back to school.

That dread should be eliminated from your minds now and forever. You should be thankful that you have the opportunity to learn in free public schools what children several decades ago did not have the chance to learn.

School, as most everyone knows, does get a little tiresome—going to classes, having to sit and listen to some lecture in which you are not interested, getting only a few minutes off at noon to play, and then having to sit through still more lectures.

What good does it do is probably what you often ask yourself as you go to class each day, study subjects which you sincerely believe you will never put into practice. At the same time, however, you should think of the good points in each subject, no matter how dry and uninteresting the lessons may seem to you.

Take Spanish for instance. You say to yourself you will never go to Spain, or even to Mexico, where you might put the language you have studied into use. A lifetime, however, is seldom worked out during the early days of childhood — you never know where you will be living at a later date.

Then, too, perhaps that Spanish may come in extremely handy some day when you are applying for a position. Perhaps you may even become so well-acquainted with the language that you can hold down a job as a reader, translator, or interpreter. Then perhaps you may be offered a high-salaried position in Mexico—with the requirements that you have to be able to speak that language.

All these subjects have their purposes—some day you will realize that. It takes a lot of money, time, and work to operate a school. The institutions of learning are not put there just to aggravate you, not to make you do something you do not want to do.

School, of course, has its good points, you say. For example, you like to attend football games, whether you play or not. You like basketball, tennis, track events. You like to associate with the other students. There are just plenty of activities which you really enjoy.

Don't you truly believe the optimistic side of school life is the one to look for? You will enjoy it much more. From now on, it would be better if you would think of the future benefits of what you are taught rather than of the present trouble of learning it.

THE CATTLE BUSINESS

HALL COUNTIANS have before them a great opportunity in the field of breeding and raising dairy cattle.

A large number of owners of registered cattle were complimented by outstanding cattle breeders who attended the Dairy Show in Memphis last week. These visitors expressed the opinion that Hall County registered cattle owners have made much progress in this field, and, at the same time, urged the local breeders to continue their work.

During the past few years, cotton has become a low-income crop, and cotton is just about all Hall Countians can raise on their land which will pay them at all. Feeds can be raised, of course, but the market for feed has not been in a much better condition than that of cotton.

In other words, farmers in this section of the country have been harder hit, or at least just as hard, as any other group of people in the nation. The farming industry, as most everyone will agree, is the backbone of American industrial life, and when the farmers have a hard struggle for existence, most everyone else is affected along with them.

The raising of registered cattle, and the sale of dairy products offer an additional means of income for county farmers. Of course, if all farmers jumped into the business of selling dairy products at the same time, then that market would be flooded just as is the cotton market.

Cattle-raising used to be source of income for this section of country, and may become that source sometime in the future. The men who are now owners of registered cattle in Hall County may be the fore-runners of a new era of cattle-raising in this area.

'DOUBLE, DOUBLE, TOIL AND TROUBLE'

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE
DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Digestible

"Give Me Liberty" in The Liberty Vindicator: Health Hint: In one of the better dailies a few days ago appeared the full text of the armistice between Italy and France. Just below the copy of the armistice was an ad captioned: "The Better Way to correct constipation." England declares it's hard to take.

Wise-cracker

The Floyd County Hesperian: Texas Democrats who have made up their minds they can't swallow the third term and have decided to vote for Mr. Wilkie for president are beginning to wish their candidate couldn't think of so many wise-cracks so fast. Mr. Wilkie has a good chance to win the president's office—if he doesn't wise-crack himself out of it. Everybody enjoys a really clever Smart Alec for a change, but nobody likes one for a steady mental diet.

Just Plain Naught

Ed Bishop in the Dalhart Texan: That fact that nothing from nothing leaves nothing" was definitely proved this week when I got a card from O. E. Duggins, who is out in California, with nothing on it.

A Choking Story

Bill Scromb in the Clarendon News: Here's the latest story from the war front: Perhaps you've heard a number of stories of the ill treatment the French have been receiving at the hands of the Nazis. It seems that the fallen nation was getting a little hard up for food. The German soldiers grew sympathetic and volunteered some of their horses for meat. The French were obliged and proceeded to cook the new but welcomed dish. But just as they got it all chewed up and ready to swallow, Hitler appeared on the scene and yelled "whoa-o-o," and the meat stopped in the throat of thousands of Frenchmen and everyone of them choked to death.

Getting An Early Start

Will J. Miller in the Spearman Reporter: Eugene Worley, Congressman-Elect, Shamrock, Texas, Dear Gene:

By request of all of the people in Hansford County that selected you as their next congressman, I am writing you this letter.

1. Hansford County needs a major lake program started in this county.

2. Hansford County has the best place in the Panhandle for a lake.

3. Hansford County is the home of the finest people in the Panhandle (if we get a lake.)

4. Hansford County urges a continuation of the farm program with full parity payments for all.

5. Hansford County will cooperate with you in every way they can.

Propaganda

The Floyd County Hesperian: Germany's most effective weapon in the United States right now is the propaganda against the gold supply here. What good is the gold if one nation has it all? It ceases to be a medium of exchange. Germany thus would reason—Until Germany gets an ample supply, when the type of the propaganda would change overnight. In their bartering with the South American countries it is now said the Germans are promising deliveries on merchandise this fall—and at much lower prices than the same merchandise can be obtained in America. In Deutschland the laboring man, who was in the saddle three years ago, now works where and when and for what price he is told—or else. The South Americans are listening. Prices talk in all languages.

In Case of Invasion

The Foard County News: Those who are opposed to the preparedness program in this country would be the first to call upon the soldier boys in the event of an invasion to fight off enemy tanks with their bare hands with insufficient guns and training.

No, I Ain't

The Claude News: "You ain't got no tobacco in you?" "I ain't said I ain't is I?" "I ain't say you if you ain't; I ain't say you is—you ain't is you?"

Caution

The Tulsa Herald: Daily caution on the streets and highway will lend to a better world in which to live. After all, nothing speaks better for a city than a well-kept cemetery, especially if that cemetery is full of wide open "unused" spaces.

Still Freedom

The Wichita Record-News: Freedom of choice is not dead in Italy. One may wear the national "standardized" shoe or go bare foot.

She Don't Like 'em

Gertie Haskett in the Children's County News: There are hundreds of disabled radio announcers in this country, but that isn't enough.

The Amarillo Globe: Social security in the United States is now five years old. . . Is it so short a time ago that social security was regarded as a daring vision, an impractical dream? Yet here it is, and here it is to stay. Almost the only discussion of the program that is heard today is the form of extending its scope or changing the manner of its administration. The principle, and the practice, after a mere short five years, have become an established part of American life.

MAC

Religion Is a Social Experience

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 8.
Text: Psalm 96.

RELIGION takes its rise and finds its strength in individual faith, experience and convictions. But no man can be religious by himself—for religion is a social experience. Certainly no man can be a follower of Christianity by himself, because as soon as he professes to worship God as a Father, he becomes associated with others of God's family.

The man of religion, whose heart exults in praise, cannot keep his joy to himself. If he feels welling up in him gratitude to God for His grace and mercy, he is bound to proclaim it in some way to his fellows.

All this finds striking illustration in the beautiful 96th Psalm, which constitutes our lesson, and in Psalms 67 and 98 that are associated with it. The Golden Text also emphasizes this "togetherness" of religion: "Oh magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together."

SINGING is the essence of praise, and where praise is real it is always bursting forth in new songs—although the old and beautiful songs are never discarded, but grow richer as time goes by.

Here in the lesson the Psalmist calls upon those who listen to sing unto Jehovah "a new song." The song that he sings and in which he would have us join is now an old song, but it is ever new. It is a song with a worldwide note. Its message is salvation that comes through the narrow atmosphere of a soul or of a people, even of a nation. "Declare his glory among the nations," says the Psalmist. "World could do that today." Nations organized and hatred was made the glory of God. The Father, God reigns, and we judge the people who we doubt that we over the whole world. The story of faith, great and powerful, the story of God's love.

JUDGMENT—that which we should bring today. It is not has brought war upon them. When men are angry and violent, or when they allow more selfish and vile things, how law can there be strife and trouble!

If there were no evil, we might be the reality of God's persistence and God's judgments.

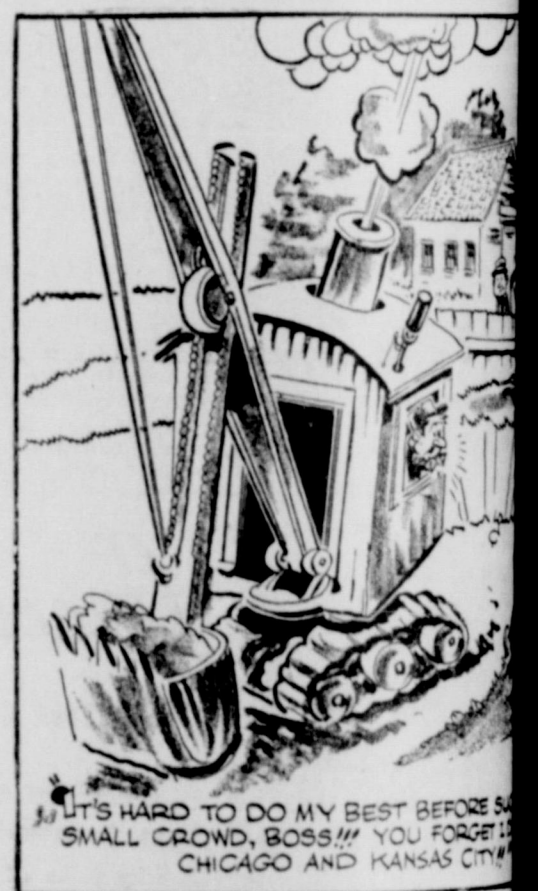

So, let us take courage in dark days like this, assurance of the Lord "will be with righteously, who will be with His truth."

Delphian Club Starts Year's Work Tuesday

The opening meeting for the coming year of the Delphian Club was in the form of a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Otho Fitzgerald, with Mrs. R. H. Wherry as hostess and the social committee as co-hostesses. Tuesday night, September 3. Every member of the club except Mrs. R. A. Cole was present.

The home was decorated with bouquets of fox-glove, dahlias, and zinnias. Each table was centered with a bowl of roses. In addition to places laid for the club membership, there were covers for Misses Mildred Bishop, Eloise Norman, and Oradeff Nuhn, former members of the club; Rayburn Jones, the guest musician of the evening; and Misses Dorothy Nell Evans, Marion Ruth Duren, Jacqueline McMurry, Janet Hood, and Thelma Lee Saunders, members of the 1939 Study Club, a junior organization sponsored by the Delphian Club.

'Security' Cotton Will Be Classed

All cotton used as security for government loans in 1940 will be classed by official boards of cotton examiners of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Used for the first time in 1939, this system of classing cotton will avoid any inequities among producers whose loans cotton formerly was graded by warehousemen and individual licensed classers, and only slightly more time will be required for approval of the loans.

Donald L. Cothran, state AAA committeeman from Paris, points out.

The class placed on cotton by a board will be final, thus avoiding for the producer any expense or inconvenience for reclassing and for making deficiency payments for overclassing. In addition, the cost will be only 15 cents per bale as compared with the usual charge of 25 cents per bale under other procedures.

"The uniform and reliable classing by the boards will give the producer information of value in negotiating with buyers for the eventual sale of his equity or his cotton," the state committeeman said. "The increased value of such classing will more than offset any inconvenience arising from the additional time needed."

On delivery of cotton to the warehouse for the Commodity Credit Corporation loan, samples will be drawn by the warehouseman and shipped to the nearest central classing office. The samples will be classed and each bale listed on a special form signed by the board and returned to the producer. Loan values will be based on the class shown on this form.

The Agricultural Marketing Service predicts samples will be classed within 36 hours and at the longest 72 hours.

Bag-Worms Cause Loss of Foliage

Shrubs with a denuded look from loss of foliage may be infested with bag-worms. And if they are, immediate precaution will save a lot of grief, as well as a lot of foliage.

"The bagworm seems to prefer to feed on arbutus and cedars," according to Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening for the A. and M. Extension Service.

This pest carries with it a spindle-shaped case or bag about two inches long, made of silk and scraps of twigs and foliage. The head of the caterpillar protrudes from the bag at feeding time, but when disturbed the worm retreats inside the bag and draws the opening shut.

Recommendations of the Extension Service for control of the bagworms place handpicking and burning as the most effective method of control.

The bags which contain large masses of eggs, should be gathered and placed in a box covered with screen. Parasitic insects which are present in the nests will destroy any bagworms which ordinarily would hatch in the spring. Boxes or barrels in which the collected nests are placed should be protected from the rain to prevent drowning of the parasites.

The specialist also points out that the damage which bagworms are going to do this year is already done, but these precautions should be taken for next year.

Since the pests eat the foliage a spray of arsenate of lead can be applied with good results when they first hatch. Two to three level teaspoonsful to one gallon of water is recommended. "Be sure to spray thoroughly," Miss Hatfield warns. "Careless spraying is like applying salt with a spoon instead of a shaker."
