ITALIAN FORCES PENETRATING FRONTIER

Mussolini Sends War Machine Smashing Into Ethiopia

By Associated Press
Italy has no formal declaration of war, fighting between Italy and Ethiopia was in full swing this morning, with the Italian forces penetrating Ethiopian territory on two fronts, and all eyes are turned to the brink of a new world war.

Mussolini's war machine is being sent farther into Ethiopian territory following the initial attack which was made yesterday. Penetration into hostile territory is proceeding from both Eritrea and Somaliland.

It was reported this morning that the capture of a town was imminent, with the Italian troops having reached the town in a matter of hours. The Italian planes are leading the attack.

Italian headquarters claim that the fighting has resulted in "very heavy casualties" in the fighting. An Italian plane was shot down, and Italian columns are reported to be ready to start a drive on Hararke City, the capital of the province, with the object of cutting the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway, Ethiopia's only means of getting supplies from abroad.

Italian forces are reported to be overcoming opposing troops in the occupied Maibaria and Mount Dora.

It is reported that Ethiopian forces are stubbornly resisting the Italian invasion in the Tigris province, and that heavier fighting is under way in the Oga-prives.

Italian officials admit the bombardment attack on Aduwa, Addis Ababa, but claim it is in retaliation for the heavy ground fire of the Italian forces.

Emperor Selassie reports that his battle area is within the 30-kilometer line, behind which the Ethiopian forces are being held.

The Emperor again asked the League of Nations to aid Ethiopia. The League Council meets tomorrow and will probably determine at that meeting which is the aggressor nation.

BANKERS MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Four County Bankers Association at Brookhollow

The regular fall meeting of the Four County Bankers Association, comprising Hall, Donley, Collinsworth and Childress counties, was held in this city last night.

About fifty members gathered at W. C. Dickey's cabin at Brookhollow Country Club for the business meeting and a bird dinner, which was one of the features.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected, as following: C. L. Johnson, cashier Security State Bank at Hedley, president. M. R. Allensworth, assistant cashier Donley County State Bank at Clarendon, vice-president. R. K. French, vice-president City State Bank of Wellington, secretary.

Temple H. Deaver, of this city, discussed the operation of the new regulations affecting the handling of rotton.

W. C. Dickey, of this city, discussed the program for 1936.

W. H. Patrick, of Clarendon, discussed new legislation affecting banks, with particular reference to the Federal Deposit Insurance.

A general round table discussion of these and other topics was indulged in by all present.

PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM IS HERE

Will Be Used Tonight at Dedication of New Stadium

Memphis' public address system arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and it is being rigged up by Si Wood, technician, for use in tonight's football game.

The system is said by Mr. Wood to be one of the best in the entire Panhandle. It consists of a silver-coated "mike", two loud speakers and other necessary sound equipment. The loud speakers will prove effective for crowds of 5,000, it was said.

Money for the address system was raised by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, which body will serve as custodian for the system.

The system will be used tonight to broadcast to the crowd the dedication services of the new football plant and a play-by-play of the ball game.

Seeing Daddy Off to War

A tinge of sadness seems to mar the unusually merry scene of a father romping with his young son, as this Italian soldier, waiting to board a transport for the East African front, devotes last precious minutes to giving his boy a pickaback ride. Both the unsmiling lad, daddy's helmet flopped over his face, and his grave warrior-father, seem affected by the parting.

New Trial Refused Negro Murder Case

Plaintiff Wins In Quigley Case

The court this morning refused a rehearing in the case of the State of Texas vs. Henry Jordan, convicted of the murder of a colored man and woman, and sentenced to death.

The defendants' attorney, W. J. Bragg, gave notice of appeal, and the court suspended sentence, pending the judgment of the Court of Appeals.

Motion for the rehearing was based on the fact that during the trial one of the jurymen had left the box momentarily and retired to the jury room.

In the case of Mrs. Elise Valance vs. W. B. Quigley, a civil action growing out of an automobile crash in which the plaintiff was injured, the jury rendered a verdict in Mrs. Valance's favor for $10,000.

WILL ORGANIZE EDUCATION CLASS

WTSTC to Organize Second Extension Class Here

A meeting is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock for all persons interested in enrolling in an Education class that is to be taught here through extension service by the Extension Department of W. T. S. T. C., according to Mrs. Roy L. Guthrie, class secretary.

The class will be organized tomorrow afternoon, and the time of meetings will be voted upon. Class meetings will probably be held in the evening.

CYCLONE TAKES ON LEFORS SQUAD

Local Squad Suffers from Injuries and Light Weight

Can a crippled Cyclone football team overcome the opposition's 12-pound weight advantage and dedicate the new Cyclone Football Stadium with a win?

This is the question that Coach Chesty Walker and his squad of Cyclone gridsters are asking themselves, and this is the question that hundreds of Memphis fans will have in mind tonight when they witness the football clash here at 8 o'clock between Memphis' fighting Cyclone and the hardy LeFors Pirates.

The game tonight should be a "natural." With local gridiron fans unusually enthusiastic about the

COTTON RAISERS WILL MEET HERE

Cotton Co-operative Members to Meet Saturday

An important meeting of Hall County members of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at the courthouse at 2:30.

Richard Wischkaemper, of Shamrock, for a number of years district director of the State Board for this district, will be present, and will explain both the work done in the past by the Texas Cotton Growers Association, of which he is a director, and the organization's plans for the future.

A full attendance of the county membership is urged, as Mr. Wischkaemper has an important message for the cotton growers of the county.

RED CROSS ANNOUNCEMENT of a campaign soon for Red Cross membership in this city and county is made.

We know of no cause more worthy than this.

When you join the Red Cross, you are helping those who need help. Red Cross services are yours to give. Let the Red Cross be your agent for alleviating the suffering of your less fortunate neighbors.

During the past year the organization gave relief in 128 disasters. Thirty-seven states, as well as the territory of Alaska, were affected. Chartered by Congress the official relief agent in times of disaster, the Red Cross has never failed to meet its obligations to those affected. If this high degree of efficiency is to be continued when disaster strikes, the Red Cross must have your generous support.

Last year calamity came to your neighbor and you helped him, through Red Cross relief. This year tragedy may come to your community, and Red Cross dollars will go a long way.

You will remember when the flour that went into the bread that came from the Red Cross. We hope that this is never again necessary, but we must be prepared.

When the representative of the organization comes to you during the annual roll call, beginning November 11, do your part.

Memphis and Hall County should respond 100 per cent this year.

A Babe in the Woods

The BLUE DOOR

By Rachel Mack © 1933 NEA Service Inc.

CHAPTER XXXI
 With Duncan Hunter's departure, Bertha Gibbs relaxed. The fears and uneasiness she had felt for him during his concealment in the house had caused her to become almost deranged. For years she had both dreaded and longed for his escape. This terrifying hope had culminated on the night when he reached the blue door. . . . And now he had gone. Not to live a fugitive's existence but to win his freedom, to come back to this house a normal man with work to do like other men.

From the hour of Duncan Hunter's peaceful departure that morning Bertha was never again to be more than a loyal old servant who had had enough of loneliness. She had held the fort. As for Elaine Chalmers, she spent a restless day. John's indifference to her, his criticism of her conduct infuriated her. She trembled when she thought of him. Standing before her mirror that day she renewed her vow to conquer him.

"That girl's the cause of it!" she thought angrily. Well, defeat could be turned into victory if you went about it properly. She'd use the little tramp as a means of reaching John McNeill. "I'll be sympathetic," she decided. "I'll join the search."

She watched for John to return home. Dusk was falling when his car turned into the driveway and out en masse for the battle.

Win, lose or draw, let's show the boys that we're behind them in every game. They're going into tonight's battle somewhat crippled, and will more than ever need your support.

she saw him get out and go into the house. Elaine quickly slipped into a coat and ran across the lawn.

He opened the door at her ring. "John," she said in a soft husky voice, "is there any news of her?"

The girl's sympathy reached him, as a woman's sympathy will reach any man. He believed her to be as repentant and concerned as she looked. "Sit down," he urged. "I'll tell you what I know."

They sat together on the old Empire sofa and he noticed how strikingly beautiful she was. She had intended him to notice it. There was a heady, provocative perfume about her that no man could ignore—loveliness at several dollars an ounce. All that had seemed too bright and brittle about her in the morning was softened now by the lamp light, just as her voice was softened by her own intent.

Elaine said urgently, "Tell me all you know, John. I've been rather a little beast. Will you find her, do you think?"

"I believe I will," he answered eagerly. "We're on the trail. Cleveland detective agency checked all hotels and lodging houses—especially the cheap ones—but there wasn't a trace. Then they set to work on the theory that some one might have noticed her on the road Tuesday morning. Someone did. There's a garage about midway to Cleveland that replaced a spent coil for a man named Segwick. It happens the garage owner had to take the man's check for the work and hadn't yet cashed it. Segwick's address was on the check, too."

"Was she with him?" Elaine asked.

"We think so," John responded. "The garage people say the woman in the car was the man's wife. That was brought out when they tried to raise the money between them to pay for the job. The girl with them seemed to be a stranger they'd picked up. The description of her tallies—"

The telephone rang. John excused himself, hastily to answer it. Elaine could not hear what he said, but she suspected that he was speaking with a detective.

"Well," she asked when he had sat down beside her again.

He said, in an elated voice, "They think they've found her! They've located the Segwicks. The Segwicks admit picking up such a girl and taking her in to Cleveland. They said she was broke and they got her a job, working as a maid for some woman who owns a beauty shop—taking care of the woman's kids. They'll know in half an hour if she's the girl."

Elaine thought, "So he's found her! Well, it's better this way. He'd have been obsessed about her if she'd gotten away. Men are like that. He must bring her back here to the Hunter house. To me. He must see us together; that's my only chance."

She asked, "Did you make any provision against her running away again? Suppose she refuses to come with the detectives?"

He explained, "That's why they called before they'd finished the job. They wanted instructions. I told them to pretend to arrest her and bring her back here. Would you mind sticking around with me till she comes?"

Elaine would not mind. She went home only long enough to tell Penny she was having dinner with John McNeill and to change into a dinner dress—something pale green and draped by a Parisian expert. Over her short hair she pinned a heavy golden plait that made her look like Everyman's First Sweetheart.

She threw a short ermine cape around her (that was to remind John that she was still Elaine Chalmers, the glamorous) and went back to him. They had dinner together under Susie's popping eyes. After dinner Elaine played for him on the big piano that used to be Florence's, and sang all the songs that he asked for from the Princeton Triangle plays. Now and then he got up and walked to the window or the door and looked out. Now and then he

A Supreme Achievement in Gasoline Chemistry

An Amazing Stride Forward in Gasoline Quality

THIS is the story of a new . . . decidedly different . . . decisively superior gasoline.

A gasoline made by a process utterly novel in the petroleum industry.

A process developed, proved, and perfected in the Phillips laboratories and refineries. A process which not only gives you a vastly improved motor fuel, but also plays an important part in conserving our country's valuable petroleum reserves.

Pioneered by Phillips, this miracle of modern chemistry rearranges the atoms of high-explosive vapors and transforms them into stable, high-octane, outstandingly active gasoline.

This is the superlative product which will now enrich and fortify every gallon of Phillips 66.

The result is a gasoline more obedient to your wishes than ever before . . . a gasoline which actually steps up pick-up and peps up power still further . . . a gasoline which yields more mileage because it gives up more of its energy to each piston stroke . . . a gasoline so lively that it sets new records for fast starting.

Note well the name of the process: Polymerization—or POLY, for short. Mark the word well in your memory, because it is acclaimed as today's greatest advance in gasoline manufacture. Never before in the history of refining has any invention excited so much attention and interest. Again, Phillips has blazed a new trail! Again, Phillips leads in lifting the quality of motor fuel to higher levels of performance and value!

Remember, Phillips 66 is everything it has always been, PLUS! That "plus" is POLY. Hence, when you Phill-up with Phillips 66 POLYmerized, at no increase in cost, you can confidently expect that this greater gasoline will set new standards of service and value for your money.

Inevitably, this sensational gasoline will be the talk of motordom. It is now obtainable at all Phillips 66 Stations. Why not be among the first to try a tankful, and benefit from its unrivaled excellence and economy?

Today's Biggest Value in Premium Gasoline

AN INVITATION FROM THE PRESIDENT

Polymerization is a scientific revolution in the making of gasoline. This newly invented process produces premium quality motor fuel, not by physical separation of the crude petroleum as heretofore, but by chemical reconstruction of the lighter gases. Based on my 31 years' experience in the oil business, I can assure you that Phillips Gasoline plus POLYmerization is the finest motor fuel that can be produced by the most modern refinery methods.

I invite you to try a tankful of this unprecedented gasoline. After you do so, I will be glad to have you write me any comments you care to make.

told her then about the night she was arrested for speeding on the Mountain Cabin, and she had given that name to the cop. He said, "When I think it over today, the name that came to me that was Ruth Woodson." "Ruth Woodson," echoed Elaine softly. Mentally she compared Elaine Chalmers and it was Elaine. "Shall we play a game of pool or shoot billiards?" "No, no, no, I'm nervous."

They had time to do both. They turned on the radio and listened to the music. Elaine forgot to move and remained within the circle. John McNeill's dropped arm, the fingers of her right hand stilling to the fingers of his left, looked up at him intimately, and only to bend his head to her. . . . and suddenly she that he had no desire to kiss. His thoughts were miles away in a car came into the room and stopped before the door. They both experienced nervousness. . . . Susie came and took them away. . . . John said to the rumped girl in his arms, "Will you marry me in the morning, Ruth Woodson?" She said that she would.

"You're not being arrested. It was just a way to get you back here. The only way we knew—"

She said, looking at Elaine and then back at him again, "Why did you want me to come back?"

"Don't you know?" he asked, looking deep into her troubled eyes. "Don't you know?"

"No," answered Ruth, tiredly and wistfully. She could not keep her love for him out of her face, out of her voice.

Elaine moved closer, so that she stood beside the disheveled girl in the cheap tweed suit that had been shrunken by rain. She thought, "He must see us together. He must look at us standing there. With his eyes. With his senses. With his mind. He must see us together—"

He did. His arms reached for Ruth hungrily. He kissed her mouth, her chin, her forehead. Her lips again. Then he held her close to him while he looked at Elaine over her rumped head. "Isn't she the loveliest thing God ever made?" he asked huskily.

Elaine laughed. It was a natural, amiable laugh, acknowledging her own defeat. The two detectives laughed. Not impudently but indulgently, conceding every man's right to his own taste. They said, "Have you any beer on ice, Mr. McNeill?"

Susie came and took them away, her eyes bulging at the scene in the front hall. Elaine remained.

John said to the rumped girl in his arms, "Will you marry me in the morning, Ruth Woodson?"

She said that she would.

Elaine was practical. She said to John, "We'll have a bang-up wedding as soon as you can get the license. But she must go home with me now and get some sleep. She's exhausted—can't you see it? Brides must be fresh and beautiful—"

She took Ruth's hand and led her across the lawn, through the althea hedge, into the old Hunter house. John, listening, head the blue door close behind them. It had a friendly, vibrant sound. As if the old house was coming to life again.

When the laws of the Naval Academy permitted it, Elaine Chalmers married Dennis Davis in a simple, forthright manner. Her world was surprised. In response to pressing questions from reporters she had this statement to make:

"Once I saw a young man in love with a girl. I mean in love. Since then I've known I could never marry any man unless he looked at me as that young man looked at his girl."

"How did he look at her?" asked the curious reporters, pencils poised.

She called across the room, "Dennis, what time is it?"

Dennis Davis said, "You know I don't carry a watch, Elaine."

But he looked at her as he said it, and the reporters saw. All of them tried to describe that look afterward, but gave it up.

Canning Kitchen Still Operating

The Government Canning Kitchen here is still being operated on the toll basis, following orders from Plainview last week to close the plant down because of lack of relief funds to run it.

Relief money is thought to be forthcoming today or tomorrow, and the plant will soon be operating at normal again, possibly by tomorrow, Mrs. C. A. Williams, who is in charge of the canning plant, said this morning.

Man Is Killed In Clarendon Fight

One man is dead and another is under bond, charged with murder, following an affray at Clarendon Wednesday, in which O. D. Liesburg stabbed R. A. Cox, 27, tenant farmer, to death.

The dispute arose over a division of crop rentals, the dead man being a tenant on the farm of the killer's mother.

The stabbing occurred in front of a grocery store, and Cox died at a hospital an hour and a half after the fight, which was the climax of a long dispute.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Davis and their daughter, Mrs. W. M. Bradshaw and daughter, Sanda Lee of Fort Worth are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Davis' daughter, Mrs. M. C. Allen at 523 South Sixth Street.

Mrs. Fannie E. Craver is in Vernon visiting her cousin, Miss Mag Dallah.

Mrs. D. A. Grundy returned yesterday from Belton where she attended a state board meeting of the Baptist W. M. U., in session Monday and Tuesday. She was accompanied to Belton by Mrs. F. E. Leach of Pampa, who spent last night as Mrs. Grundy's guest, leaving this morning.

Stories in
By I. S. Klein

THE Grand Duchy of Luxembourg today is scarcely 2000 miles in area, and retains its sovereignty only by the grace of the rest of Europe. Yet in the 14th century, the power of Luxembourg spread over Bohemia, Silesia, the Tyrol and a large part of Italy, and its influence was felt even in a great part of what is now Germany. All through the ambitious activities of its king, John the Blind.

King John, born in 1296, displayed the ruthless, driving disposition of his father, Henry VII, when at the age of 14, he was offered the throne of Bohemia. At the age of 50 he became blind. But blindness did not deter him. The same year in which he was stricken, he went to France to help Philip IV attack the English. But at the decisive Battle of Crecy, he was wounded and died.

BEAR CUBS WIN OVER QUITAQUE

The local football team continued their winning streak Friday by beating the Quitaque club to the tune of 13-0. The boys showed considerable improvement over past performances. The blocking exhibited by the Cubs was excellent only by their forceful tackling. Estelline counted in the first period after Leatherwood had intercepted a pass on his own 25-yard line and galloped behind fine interference to within 7 yards of the goal line. Ketcherville went over for the counter and Leatherwood converted for the extra point. Straight football carried the locals over again in the second game.

The cubs made 137 yards from scrimmage while Quitaque was making 105 yards. Some promising prospects were seen for next year's club as Coach Curnutt sent in reserves to play about half of the game.

Pep Rally Held At Assembly Meeting

The student body assembled in the auditorium Wednesday morning at 10:30 for a pep rally and general "get together". Group singing was led by Jimmy Bell and Marjetta Ewing with Miss Rogers playing the accompaniment. Following the group singing, a special song given by Mary Gresham, Latrice Sims, Mary Nell Davis, Sarah Ruth Womack, Hortence and Jerry Lawrence, Eloise Elliott, and Miss Nelson, accompanied by Thava Hemphill, was a pleasant surprise to the audience.

The first and second grades continued the program by singing two "motion" songs. Mr. Bailey gave a brief history of football in E. H. S., recalling many exciting events of the past. He stated that after the lull in the past few seasons that now the school and town as a whole is depending on this year's team to make a "come-back" and let this section of the country be reminded that Estelline is still on the map.

The members of the junior class and their guests met at the home of Laura Bennett for the first class picnic of the year. From here the group returned to town where they were entertained with a theater party.

Those attending were Juanita Benton, Ethel Mae Stinson, Juanita Mabery, Lois Marcum, Mildred Richburg and Laura Bennett; James Cooper, Ed Clifton, Jerral Rapp, Morris Leary, L. V. Bruce, Alvin Phillips, Carl Leary, Max Bennett, Sidney Landers, Dwayne Moore, E. O. Wright, Clem Calhoun, Gordon Stout and Leon Townsend.

Following this encouraging talk, the pep squad and choral club came to the stage and sang four selections.

Upon request, the coach, Ed Curnutt, gave his opinion of the game with Lockney Friday. However, the student body showed much interest in Mr. Penick's announcements concerning the game between Estelline and Memphis second stringers Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Penick urged the students to support their second team as well as their first team. The program was concluded by announcements from the student body at large.

Rag Causes Chest Pain

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 3.—Joe Sesto's pain in the chest was caused by a piece of white shirt driven under the skin by a shotgun charge two years ago, physicians found. Infection set in and the cloth had to be removed.

Estelline Grads Attend College

Upon taking an inventory, it has been found that the following graduates of E. H. S. are attending college this year: James Greer, Carol Berryman, Claude Farley, and Noel Clifton are attending W.T.S.T.C. at Canyon; Jeannette Watkins, and Leora Richburg—T. W. C. in Ft. Worth; Peggy Leary—C. I. A. at Denton; Theresa Russell—N. T. S. T. C. at Denton; H. R. Gowan and Don Leary—N. T. A. C. in Arlington; J. W. Coppage—Kilgore Junior College; Bill Grundy—Amarillo Junior College; Sam McCollum—Hardin-Simmons at Abilene, and Vivian Ewen—Draughtons Business College in Lubbock.

Taking into consideration the facts that this is rather a small school, having only a minimum number of graduates each year, and that the ripe expression "The Depression is on" still holds good, showing for this community and has set a record which the future graduates will find hard to raise. However, this should be an incentive for high school graduates to enroll in some institution of higher learning if it is at all possible.

PARNELL

Mrs. W. W. Nivens was honored on her 85th birthday with a miscellaneous shower by the women of the community last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Berryman and Charlie Wynn attended the singing at Harrell Chapel Sunday. Mrs. Ernest Nivens was called to Turkey because of the illness of her sister, Mrs. Cannon. Mrs. Cannon is now improving.

Dr. Johnston from Childress was at school Friday to examine the school children.

Mrs. Buck Morris and son spent the week with her mother, Mrs. Claud Nivens.

The winners of the junior contest that was started during the meeting were entertained with a picnic in the Sand Hills Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moss and George Armstrong from Ashtopol spent part of the week with their sister, Mrs. C. C. Allen.

Miss Eileen Hood spent Sunday with Evelyn Wynn.

Misses Beatrice Hood and Cladia Dell Anderson spent Sunday with Eldeen Morehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Erie Trapp and family were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Anderson Sunday.

Misses Nettie Faye Baccus, Nathalie Russel and Winifred Portwood of Estelline and Vernon Leatherwood and L. V. Bruce were Sunday guests of J. E. Berryman.

The young people of this community enjoyed a picnic at the Sand Hills Monday night. After everyone had been well entertained, refreshments were served to the following: Ruth Richards, Claudia Dell Anderson, Eileen Hood, Margaret Evans, Kenneth Cope, Travis Bruce, L. V. Bruce, Olie Wynn, C. J. Wynn, T. E. Berryman, Oler Wynn, Rhubert Wynn, J. Moore, Robert Leatherwood, Vernon Leatherwood, Aubry Bradford, Mrs. Bullah Travis, Marjetta Ewing, Nathalie Russel, Winifred Portwood, Nellafay Baccus, Jessie Cannon, Willie Mae Cannon, Choyce Denson and Arvin and Harlin Hood.

Mrs. Hollis Boren, Mrs. D. Hart and Miss Lois McCollough were visitors in Childress yesterday.

Mooney Points to 'Alibi Photo' as Innocence Proof

...out of the past, an enlarged photograph supporting Tom Mooney's alibi that he was blocks from the San Francisco Preparedness Day blast occurred, plays a prominent part in the famed Mooney's new fight for freedom. Mooney is shown here in San Francisco court as he points to the photograph on the roof of a building, purported to include him and his wife, Rena, watching the blast before the blast. The hands of a Market street clock point out the time to give credence to his alibi. The referee in the habeas corpus action, A. E. Shaw, sits nearby as Mooney explains the photo.

Rural Schools Close for Cotton

With the gathering of cotton and feed all over Hall County getting underway this week, five Hall County schools have already recessed for a month in order that the school students may aid in the harvest, and three other schools near Memphis will turn out today.

Buffalo Flat, Webster, Fairview, Weatherby and Deep Lake have already closed. Salisbury and Eli will close today. Smith, a school in Donly County two miles north of Memphis, will also recess this afternoon.

Because of the rural schools' eight-month school term, the one-month adjournment will cause the schools to close about the same time that the Independent schools close next May.

Farmers Union Remodels Store

The Farmers Union Supply Company has just completed remodeling, rearranging and redecorating their place of business, and are celebrating the occasion with special prices this week end.

Some partitions have been moved, the interior of the store has been brightened up with paint and varnish, and the stock has been rearranged, making a much more attractive place of business.

"We want our store to be attractive," said Mr. Coleman, manager, "but, as always, the main attraction is the prices we are offering our customers."

Collections of Back Taxes Light

Collections on delinquent taxes in Hall County were slight this past month, the monthly check-up at the Hall County Tax Collector's office showed. Only $726.45 in county taxes was collected last month and $210.70 in state delinquent taxes, Holt Bownds, tax collector and assessor, stated.

This month the local tax collector's force will begin work on the 1935 taxes. Half of the 1935 taxes may be paid either this month or next, and the remaining half can be carried until June 30 without penalty.

Billings Goes to Aid Mooney

Smiling his joy at breathing "outside" air for the first time in 19 years, Warren K. Billings is shown, left, leaving Folsom prison in California, carrying papers for use in his testimony for Tom Mooney, his co-defendant in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing. With Billings is Warden Court Smith of Folsom prison.

Attorney General William McCraw has ruled the three, two and one percent discount on current taxes, passed at the last regular session of the Texas legislature, to be unconstitutional, and the discounts are not being allowed.

President's mother says Roosevelt had numerous cousins to teach him that he couldn't have everything his own way. But it finally took a Senate and a House.

To Organize a Townsend Club

Immediately after adjournment of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association meeting, at the courthouse next Saturday afternoon, in the county court room, there will be a meeting for the purpose of considering the organization of a Townsend Old Age Pension Club, according to S. A. Bryant.

"The purpose of the meeting," says Mr. Bryant, "is not as a criticism of what is being done about old age pensions or unemployment, but as an aid to both."

Everybody is invited, both men and women.

BROTHER ILL

Word has been received by Dr. John Angus MacMillan, minister of the First Presbyterian church, that his brother, Rev. Duncan A. MacMillan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Louisburg, Nova Scotia, is seriously ill in the Deaconess Hospital, Boston, Mass., where he was brought from his home in Nova Scotia for treatment. After an examination in a clinic, Boston surgeons are preparing Rev. Mr. MacMillan to undergo a serious operation, pending consultation with another brother, Dr. J. L. MacMillan, who is a Nova Scotia.

OPPOSE eating some foods is a matter of being brought up that way, which makes me feel they for folks who didn't have palates cultivated for corn mush and hominy and grits, to mention a host of other cereal dishes.

Our grandmothers mush and hominy was an easily prepared and homely meal. Today we realize the high food value, and hominy eaters who must close-count the cost, it is truly a gem in abundance.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled apple sauce, hog and hominy, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Vegetable soup, graham rolls, pumpkin and raisin pie, milk, tea.

DINNER: English mutton chops, scalloped potatoes, buttered broccoli, orange and onion salad, Boston cream pie, milk, coffee.

to prevent sticking. Cook an hour over boiling water in a double boiler. Let stand over night and in the morning reheat. Put into a deep serving dish and drop a good sized lump of butter in the center. Surround with sausage-cakes which have been pan-boiled until thoroughly cooked.

A splendid dish to serve with pork chops is baked hominy. With this serve a crisp cabbage and grape fruit salad and have apple sauce and ginger bread for dessert.

Baked Hominy

One-half cup hominy grits, scant teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tea-spoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 1-2 cups milk.

Add salt to water and slowly add hominy, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and boil three minutes. Cook in double boiler until water is absorbed. Stir in half the milk and cook over hot water for 1 hour. Remove from heat and add butter, sugar, egg slightly beaten and remaining milk. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake 1 hour in a slow oven (325 degrees F.). Serve from baking dish.

Hog and Hominy

One cup hominy grits, 4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 sausage links.

Add salt to water and bring to galloping boil. Sprinkle in hominy, stirring constantly. Boil 15 minutes over the fire, stirring

THE CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
By Associated Press
AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Governor Alford is not "a betting man," but occasionally will hazard a cigar or soft drink on a sports event.

He won and lost on the Louis Baer fight, giving a press correspondent odds of two to one that Louis would win and betting Paul Wakefield, Centennial official, Baer would last four rounds.

Returning from Uvalde where he had visited Vice-President Garner, Alford listened to the fight through an automobile radio.

If the visit had political significance the connection was closely guarded both by the Governor and Mr. Garner.

Alford said he talked with Garner three hours but anything on the nature of the conversation would have to come from the vice-president. Nothing came.

Ostensibly, Alford made a social call on the man he turned "Texas No. 1" citizen, the only man who has been speaker of the national house and vice-president.

A resolution by Rep. H. L. McKee of Port Arthur to broadcast the Louis Baer fight through the House loud-speaking system was overwhelmingly defeated.

Members objected the broadcasting would interfere with work of committees. The fight was not broadcast but it interfered with the committees nevertheless.

The committee meetings were postponed.

Persons unused to talking over a microphone seem to abhor the loud-speakers in the House chamber and almost beg committees to allow them to talk "naturally."

The largest public hearing on bills usually are held at the press table in the center aisle of the chamber with microphones available to witnesses and questioners.

STORIES IN STAMPS By I. S. Klein

STRANDED IN WILD SIBERIA

RUSSIA was still fighting the allied cause, early in the World War, when a group of Czechs who were held as Austrian prisoners in Russia formed a legion to help free their homeland, Czechoslovakia, from Hapsburg rule. But Russia soon defected, a Red revolution sprang up, and the Czech Legion, 70,000 strong, was forced to tramp eastward through Siberia in the hope of joining the western forces by traveling all the way around the globe.

When, after many privations, they reached Vladivostok, the Czech patriots learned they were to remain in Siberia, to prevent German and Austrian prisoners from returning to the Central Powers, and to keep Siberian grain from going to the enemy.

Stretched in encampments along the Trans-Siberian railway, the Czech Legion conducted its own postal service. The stamp shown here is one of four types issued by this army in Siberia.
