

CALL FOR MORE TICKETS C. C. BANQUET

Snow Likely Have Little Effect On The Attendance

All tickets sold and a few more tickets at the last of this morning, it seems that additional snow and fresh of last night will have effect upon the large attendance expected at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet tonight. George A. Sager, secretary-manager, stated this morning. The banquet will be held in the new educational building of the First Baptist Church beginning at 7:30 o'clock this evening, and will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church.

Sager expressed the belief that the snow will have a tendency to cut short the out of town attendance at the affair, as it will be difficult for out of town residents to come to Memphis. "However," he added, "I had a telephone call from R. E. Shepard, of Wichita Falls, stating that he was coming on the train today." Shepard, with his wife, will be a feature of the musical program this evening.

A similar telephone call from Quannah the secretary stated, conveyed the information that the Quannah delegation was undaunted by the cold weather and had completed arrangements for making the trip by train.

Two hundred and fifty tickets had been sold this morning. The ticket committee stated that after the last ticket had been sold there were many people calling for more at the last minute.

The program as it will be presented this evening:

Toastmaster, D. L. C. Kinard; invocation, Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, pastor First Presbyterian church, music, by orchestra; dinner; address of welcome, John M. Deaver; response, Mason King of Amarillo; introduction of visiting guests; vocal number, R. E. Shepard of Wichita Falls; report on home demonstration work, Miss Ruby Adams; report by E. W. Thomas, county agricultural agent; Boy Scouts, I. E. Jolly; address, W. H. Patrick of Clearendon; vocal numbers, R. E. Shepard; introduction of new Chamber of Commerce officers and directors; vocal number, male trio.

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (UP)—When—and if—dad gets the bills for expenditures of his co-ed daughter at Southern Methodist university for the school year, they total $1,159.17, if she is an "average spender."

University officials conducted a survey and arrived at that figure, based on reports of the 806 women students. Other statistics unearthed on annual financial output of the average co-ed were:

Hats, $39.05; hose, $57; dinner dresses, $100.35; suits, $81.75; coats, $111.71; shoes, $61.08; gloves, $10.22; street dresses, $192.70; lingerie and pajamas, $30.78; cosmetics and toilet preparations, $38.34; beauty treatments, $48.06; sweets, $55.44; laundry, $92.50.

Which Princess Will Wales Marry?

With the bachelor Prince of Wales making no effort to find himself a bride, the list of European princesses eligible to share the throne of the British kingdom is fast dwindling. Marriage of pretty Marie Jose, of Belgium, reduced the field to eight, and two more royal marriages are in prospect. The princesses from whose ranks Wales must choose a bride, if he marries, are: Ingrid of Sweden, 19, tall, blond, socially popular and a favorite prospect; Maria Cristina of Spain, 18, one of the best dressed princesses; Beatrice of Spain, 20, brunet and a fine dancer; Giovanna of Italy, 22, with coal black hair, but whose eyes are set on the Bulgarian throne; Juliana of Holland, 20, blond and buxom, but whose marriage to a Teuton prince seems a certainty; Eudoxia of Bulgaria, 31, domestically inclined and caretaker of the palace of her bachelor brother, Boris; Hilda of Luxembourg, 32, blond and an exceptionally fine cook; Ileana of Rumania, 20, a real blond beauty and taller than the prince.

A THOUGHT ON DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

It should be the aim of a free and democratic government to allow individuals the right to advocate doctrines that they believe are beneficial to humanity.

When individuals or organizations urge measures which threatens damage to life, liberty or property the law should step in.

There can be no half-way measures with freedom of speech. Anarchy and rebellion are the result of oppression, not of liberty.

Intellectual freedom should be prized and protected.

The United States was founded to provide its citizens with the very ultimate of freedom up to the point where life or property is menaced. Once that fundamental principle is changed, democracy will be dead.

GAS ACHIEVEMENTS

GROWTH of the manufactured gas industry in the United States affords striking proof of the nation's inventive genius and ability to make constant improvements," says the Wall Street Journal editorially.

"In 1806 there was but one use for gas and only one dwelling in the country was illuminated by gas. Today, according to the latest available statistics, there are 21,000 uses for gas and its use requires a distribution system as extensive as that of the railroads . . ."

The nation is served at present by 1,000 manufactured gas companies supplying 4,600 towns and villages and cities. Each year new fields open up for gas usage in both home and industry. Gas is one of the great industries that leads the way in the march of progress.

FARM-TO-MARKET ROADS FOR 1930

THE year 1930 should be a record-breaker from the standpoint of increasing the mileage of farm-to-market roads. A program for these feeder roads to main highways is essential to open up the back country and thereby give an equitable apportionment of road tax funds to the more inaccessible farming districts.

The cost of building or improving such roads can be held at a moderate figure under modern road building methods.

CONSEQUENCES OR BENEFITS?

THE tariff is one of the factors that make the wheels of industry go 'round.

It is our bulwark against foreign domination of the American market. It is the protection afforded our workers, manufacturers and farmers against low-wage-scale, poor-living-condition competition which, if allowed free play, would prove ruinous to our prosperity and our hopes of progress.

It should not exclude foreign goods, however. It should be an equalizer, assuring fair and equitable competition to all in the domestic market.

LIGHTENS BURDEN OF TAXPAYERS

PPRIVATE enterprise has demonstrated that—better than public enterprise—it can adapt itself to the growing complexity of modern needs, foresee and stimulate future needs . . . Private enterprise assumes the risk with which public enterprise burdens the taxpayers; it is an important element in the safeguarding of public finance . . . From a resolution by a committee of the International Chamber of Commerce.

CHANGE OF HEART

THE railroad consolidation that is now urged on grounds of efficiency, economy, safety and service, was once fought by most of the politicians on the theory that mergers meant monopoly. They would not tell the people that it was the plan and purpose of the railroads to grind them into dust. The bigger the railway the deeper the grinding. They couldn't figure it out that the interest of the roads might also be the interest of the masses. Now that more than 2,000,000 of the plain citizens are holding stock in these same railways they are beginning to find a community of interest.—Los Angeles Times.

Panhandle Press Paragraphs

Busy as most of us are with our own personal and local affairs, we pass up the news items concerning war and disarmament conferences in the daily press with a sigh or groan of disgust, thinking that it affects us not at all. A recent news release by the treasury department will quickly explode that myth that the most of us have "kidded" ourselves into believing.

Of every tax dollar that we pay into federal government's treasury, seventy-two cents is spent for the expense of war in the past and to prepare for future conflict.—The Turkey Enterprise.

The effort being put forth by J. G. Bishop, vocational instructor of the Olney schools, assisted by Secretary Gruver of the Chamber of Commerce, to enlist the services of the farmers to change their method of selecting seed for planting, is to be highly commended. Through the work of these two gentlemen, to date there have been over 2,000 acres in Olney section signed up on which is to be planted a standard bred cotton seed.—The Olney Enterprise.

The next step in highway improvement will be to make the roads more attractive. The first and most important object of road improvement is, of course, to make it easier to get from one place to another. But after that is done, attention ought to be given to the beautification of the roadside.—The Quanah Tribune-Chief.

The seven inch snow of the past week means bigger and better crops on fewer acres. Farmers are a unit in saying that it is the best indication of a successful year ahead. Plenty of moisture, soil well pulverized and insects destroyed, a terracing program all ready when the ground thaws, it looks like old Donley is coming out of the kinks this season.—The Donley County Leader.

Growth of West Texas is indicated by the fact that the West Texas Utilities Company, serving

New Corporations In Texas Totaled 162 For December

AUSTIN, Jan. 21.—New corporations organized in Texas during December totaled 162, according to Herward Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. These new enterprises were capitalized at $8,423,000. These figures compare with 123 companies granted charters during December, 1928.

During 1929, a total of 2,630 corporations having capitalization of $285,612,000 were organized, a new high record so far as numbers are concerned. In 1928, charters were granted to 2,488 companies capitalized at $390,288,000.

Turkey Men Riled At Dallas Suport

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (UP)—Unless Dallas "talks turkey" it will probably lose the 1931 "All the World" turkey show, in the opinion of resentful members of the Southwest Turkey club.

In the closing session of the exhibition recently held, officials were irately outspoken of the reception tendered this year's show.

Three times the exposition has been held here; but despite an inclination to favor the city, officials did not turn a deaf ear to the support promised by Fort Worth and Brownwood representatives.

Approximately 4,000 visitors attended the recent show.

Garden Clubs Seek To Beautify Hiways Within Next 6 Years

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21. (UP)—The Texas Federation of Garden Clubs has set as its goal the beautification of every highway in the state by centennial time, six years hence.

The week of Jan. 22 to Feb. 1 will be devoted to an intensive program of red bud planting, to be done on private property adjacent to the Bankhead and Broadway of America highways. A strip of 100 miles, running east from Dallas and west from Fort Worth, with these two cities as centers, will be beautified with the red bud, one of the most attractive of the native shrubs. T.C.U. Students Read Newspapers Average Of 20 Minutes A Day

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21. (Special)—An average of 20 minutes a day is spent in reading newspapers by students in Texas Christian University. This information is disclosed in the results of an investigation conducted into outside reading habits of students—that is, reading other than that required in connection with studies.

The average number of newspapers read was above two. One student reported that he reads eleven papers daily, and spends an hour and one-half in the library doing so. Slightly less than 3 per cent said they read no newspapers at all.

Comics and Sports First
 Comics and sports are the most widely read pages in the newspapers, with general news ranking third. About half indicated they are interested in crime news. Features, other than comics, are read by 25 per cent, and radio interests some 22 per cent. Only about 17 per cent read the political news.

Forty-five per cent of the students read the theater news, including the movies. Almost none read newspaper fiction, and survey indicates.

McCRAW CHOOSES TO RUN, AGAIN ANNOUNCED

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (UP)—District Attorney William McCraw will be a candidate to succeed himself at his present post in the Democratic primaries this year, he has announced.

First elected to the office in 1926, he was without opposition in 1928. During his tenure McCraw's record for convictions in capital cases is unsurpassed in the history of the county and is outstanding in the state. It includes five cases in which the death penalty has been assessed and some 50 cases in which life terms in the penitentiary have been given.

Who likes cake? Mothers haven't yet found anybody who doesn't, especially, if the cake is made with Snowdrift.

For Snowdrift is so delightfully fresh and sweet and creamy that one peek into the can makes you reach for your mixing bowl and spoon right away. And before you know it there stands as light and fluffy a cake as you ever wanted to poke a finger into. Snowdrift not only looks good but is good. A taste from the tip of your spoon proves that. PURE
Georgia Cane Syrup

See this long-famous Syrup demonstrated at the Cooking School this week. Miss Chitwood has tried many Cane Syrups, but after years of use and testing she heartily recommends Nigger in de Cane Patch as the best.

It is a pure, old-fashioned country product. Scientifically and sanitarly made the open pan way right on the plantation in the heart of the best cane country. Positively no adulteration; no chemicals used; not a city compound.

Involvingly delicious, and wonderfully wholesome on Hot Cakes, Waffles, Biscuits, and in cooking.

Those who do the pitching for the New York Giants in the 1930 campaign will throw only what is ordered by John J. McGraw, manager. That may not sound like news to some, but the fact is that McGraw let his moundsmen use their own pitching judgment during the 1929 season.

"Last year we talked over the plan of battle before each game," declared McGraw. "We discussed weaknesses and strong points in the opposing batters and then my pitchers went out on their own salvation. I'm convinced now that I shouldn't have done it. They had the benefit of my experience observations."

It is something to that, too, McGraw has been a figure in the National League since 1902. He managed the National League team three years later he was the third manager named that season. The fact that he has observed National League baseball since 1902 adds weight to his declaration that Giant pitchers should profit by his experience.

Ten pennants and three world's championships have gone to the Giants under McGraw direction.

Reversing his policy of last year, John McGraw, above, veteran pilot of the New York Giants, will order his pitchers this year what to throw. The "dictator" says that will apply particularly to Larry Benton, below, one of his aces.

McGraw has the baseball world seen his teams in the second division.

The Giant skipper rules his team in the strict sense of the word. Might proved the best argument in his playing days and, to a certain extent, he follows the same code today. Until last season he always maintained the idea that a manager should dictate to his player.

The Giants finished third in the National League race in 1929, without the McGraw supervision of the pitching. Because some of his slab artists acted as if thinking were an arduous task, the veteran manager decided to revert to his "system." Besides, he figures, the manager usually gets the blame for bad results, whether or not the pitchers throw what they have been ordered.

"Larry Benton was one pitcher in particular who needed help in 1929," added McGraw. "He was too confident of himself because of his great 1928 season. But he'll take my signals next year—and so will the others."

There was a time not so long ago when playing managers in the major leagues were much in evidence. The specie is extinct today. Bucky Harris was the last one.

Success of old Tris Speaker in directing the Cleveland Indians to a pennant and world championship in 1920 started the fad among the magnates. Since that time no less than eight star players have essayed managerial duties in connection with their performances on the diamond. Some of them were successful but the majority found the worry of two jobs too exacting.

All of them might have been managers of high quality with good teams but the fact remains that only Speaker, Bucky Harris and Rogers Hornsby won pennants. Bob O'Farrell did a fair

El Paso Ministers To Publish Issue The El Paso Post

EL PASO, Jan. 21. (UP)—A young seasoned follower of the newspaper game will bear testimony that ministers would be out of their atmosphere in the swirl of smoke and copy known in the continual rush before "thirty." But local divines refuse to be daunted and will invade the editorial sanctum of the El Paso Post to put out an issue soon.

In the role of editor, Rev. H. D. Tucker will be assisted by Rev. E. V. Neal on the police beat; Rev. John V. McCall on the court house run and others of his profession on general assignments. Shades of Henry Watterson and Jonathan Edwards, be still.

All Scouts and Scoutmasters will re-commit themselves to their work by repeating the Scout oath.

Programs at 2 O'clock
Although the programs are scheduled to start each afternoon at two o'clock, the school for this afternoon was started at one o'clock in order that the auditorium might be vacated in time for work to start on the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet which will be held at the same place this evening. Throughout the remainder of the school the classes will begin each afternoon at two o'clock, as announced, and will last until four. Miss Chitwood asks that all ladies who plan to attend arrange their home work so that they may be on hand at the opening of the classes in order to avoid delay and confusion that always comes with late arrivals.

Today's School
The program this afternoon included: Setting the table and serving the formal dinner, vitamins—their source and the diseases they prevent; how to place vitamins in a balanced diet; and a menu of Syrup Nut Pie, Pie Crust, Chocolate Parfait, Apple Pie a la Mode, and Mayonnaise Dressing. Following the custom established with the opening program yesterday, free prizes were again distributed this afternoon, and more are promised for the remaining two days.

The cold weather and snow has made it hard for some of the women to attend the school, but even at that the auditorium has been filled for the two initial programs, and all who have attended have spoken words of praise for Miss Chitwood, the manner in which she conducts her classes, and the good that is being derived.

Program for Wednesday
Tomorrow afternoon Miss Chitwood will give hints for the plump; a non-fattening salad; pointers on selection and purchase of silver; cleaning of cooking utensils; with a menu of stuffed peppers, French dressing, minute frosting, and devil's food cake.

Speaks of World War
King George spoke through a gold microphone and his address was broadcast to the world. In referring to the world war he said in part, "I hope that nothing will be left undone to prevent another grim disaster." He also expressed the hope that the conference would result in the alleviation of the armament burdens that are now weighing the world.

Premier McDonald, who responded to the address, was elected chairman of the conference.

To Adjourn Thursday
The entire assemblage stood while the King was reading. After conferences tomorrow the conference will be adjourned

Thursday. The preliminary negotiations were climaxed last night by a brilliant good-will dinner and reception. It was concluded that the delegates were relieved and their expressions were that they were "eager to get busy."

Texas Panhandle Sees A Big Year Ahead For 1930

AMARILLO, Jan. 20. (UP)—The Panhandle of Texas, which public school geographies of a quarter-century ago described as "the great American desert," is in a position to make the rest of the nation take notice in 1930, according to the following review compiled and presented by the Amarillo chamber of commerce.

Construction costing upward of $25,000,000 is in prospect during the year, and some of it is already under way. Most of this amount will be spent for new railways and improved highways.

Center Big Rail Fight
After leading the nation in railway building the last three years, the Panhandle is still the center of the big rail fight, with three main lines, the Santa Fe, Rock Island and Burlington, struggling for supremacy. It appears certain now that the Santa Fe will get more than 200 miles under construction and the Rock Island more than 160 miles under way in 1930.

The Rock Island has been granted permission to build from Dalhart in Dallam county to Morse in Hutchinson county, a distance of 58 miles, connecting the main line at Dalhart with their recently completed branch between Amarillo and Liberal, Kas. Surveys for this road are now being made.

New Trunk Line
This company also is favored by the L. C. C. examiner for a permit to build from Shamrock in Wheeler county, to Quanah in Hardeman county, 109 miles. This line would skirt the boundary of Oklahoma and give Amarillo a new trunk line southward.

A second new trunk thru the north Panhandle to the mining district of Colorado at Las Animas, 218 miles, is proposed by the Santa Fe, and a hearing has been set for Jan. 22 in Amarillo. The petition is unopposed. The company also has other projects planned.

300 Miles New Roads
Panhandle counties will spend $10,000,000 or more for the construction of 300 miles of hard-surfaced roads. Bonds have been voted for this work and most of it will get under way soon.

More than $250,000,000 was realized from cattle and agriculture in 1929, and only 5,000,000 of the territory's 18,000,000 tillable acres was in cultivation.

Oil Field Developments
Perhaps the best development in 1929 was in the oil fields, especially in the manufacture of casinghead gasoline and carbon black. With 42 plants in operation, the Panhandle oil fields produced 250,000,000 gallons of gasoline in 1929, worth $200,000,000. The residue gas went to the manufacture of carbon black, which amounted to $14,000,000, or 60 per cent of the nation's output.

The government helium plant at Amarillo will supply lighter-than-air craft of both army and navy in 1930.

Wholesale and jobbing houses in Amarillo did more than $150,000,000 worth of business in 1929, and retail stores sold more than $250,000,000 worth of merchandise in the territory.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED FOR RADIO AIR SERVICE

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21. (UP)—The Southern Air Transport division of the Aviation corporation is planning immediate improvements in its short-wave system, according to officials here.

Addition of three new stations, establishment of maintenance and repair depot, and increasing of power on the five stations already in operation are planned.

Atlanta, Ga., New Orleans, La., and Waco are to be equipped with transmitting and receiving sets operating on 53 meters and using 220 watts of power. Dallas is already operating on 50 watts and the El Paso station will be increased to 250 watts.

The stations are used to dispatch ships, send weather reports and general communications.

SALESMEN HEADED FOR EUROPE LAND IN JAIL

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 21. (UP)—Seven young men and five girls were detained by the police overnight here recently and dismissed with a warning from Police Chief W. L. Zent after their "house-breaking" proved nothing more than an example of audacity.

The young people, who said they were magazine salesmen, forced their ways into several San Angelo homes, causing complaints to be sent to the police department. The group was traveling in an expensive sedan and said they were trying to win trips to Europe.

Get's His Man After 13 Years

Thirteen years ago Arthur B. Crouch, above, prominent Temple, Tex., citizen, is alleged to have embezzled $130,000 in bank funds and dropped from sight. Sheriff John Bingham, below, sought him all these weeks without avail. Several weeks ago Bingham received a tip that Crouch was in Helensville, New Zealand. After making a trip of 17,000 miles to "get his man," the sheriff found Crouch at Helensville, where he had become the town's leading citizen. They returned to Temple recently.

EVELYN TURNS TO RELIGION Famous Dancer Finds Solace in Bible as Glamour of Night Clubs Fades

BY NEA SERVICE
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 20.—Evelyn Nesbit, whose tempestuous life has carried her from the fickle spotlight of Broadway fame to the depths of despair and back again, has found solace at last.

The gay mask she puts on to entertain audiences is fast losing its charm for her and she plans to desert the night clubs and cabarets for an evangelistic career as a lecturer on philosophy and religion.

Twenty-four years have passed since the beautiful Floradora girl, then 16, was plunged into the vortex of life.

Love and hate, confidence and jealousy, hope and despair—all have been churned about in the cauldron of human emotions since that night of June 25, 1906, when Harry K. Thaw killed Stanford White, the famous architect, over the little butterfly.

Tragic years, during which she at one time tried to take her own life, have left their indelible imprint on Evelyn Nesbit.

But as she sat in the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles J. Holman, here, she appeared really beautiful and youthful.

But today she talks philosophy more like a college professor than a gay habitue of night clubs. And like many others whose lives have been steeped in tragedy she has found a peaceful haven in religion. Theosophy has become the most important thing in her life and she wants to lecture on it so others may have the same knowledge.

"Books have opened up a new world for me," she said. "For years I have been reading and studying the sciences of philosophy, evolution, theosophy and religion.

on a hit-or-miss way. I have read the books for beginners in the sciences, had tutors and then branched into the deeper pursuit of the subjects.

"At any rate, I am confident I know enough to qualify as a lecturer."

Too many people, she believes interpret the Bible wrongly, and do not understand parables. She wants to make them clear to all. Too few people, she believes know about the origin of the sexes which started with Adam. Her study has taught her of giant people, feather men nor women, who existed before Adam.

HOW DRY I AM IS SAN ANGELO CRY

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 21. (UP)—The year 1929 set an all-time record for drunkenness hearings in corporation court here.

The number was 547, greater than at any time before prohibition. Records show that arrests for drunkenness fell off to 14 in 1919, rose to 24 in 1920. In 1928, as the city grew, it rose to approximately 400.

Judge Jones, who retired in May, 1929, does not believe that prohibition is a failure. He says it is a different, a lower class, that is drinking and being haled into court now.

23RD BOOK SACRED SONGS PUBLISHED BY COLEMAN

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (UP)—Robert H. Coleman's 23rd book of sacred songs is just off the press. The assistant to the pastor of the First Baptist Church is one of the south's best known compilers of hymns. His preceding volumes have had widespread circulation all over the world.

One hundred thousand copies of "Majestic Hymns" have been printed. Coleman expects to sell 350,000 copies the first year. The Southern Baptist Sunday school board ordered 50,000 of the books before they were off the press and without having seen the proofs.

EL PASO, Jan. 21. (UP)—When Mrs. Paulo Augilar was 15 she had to leave school and go to work. Always thereafter her objective was "something better" for her sons.
