BALLARD FAMILY IN RE-UNION AT HOME PLACE NEAR NEWLIN

Forty-seven members of a family gathered at one time! That was the record set yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ballard, 2 miles east of Newlin, when brothers, sisters, nieces, nephews, cousins, in-laws, uncles and aunts "broke bread" together. It was a grand day for the Ballard family, re-united except for a few members living in California. From mid-morning until mid-afternoon the day was spent in happy reminiscences. The Peter Ballards recalled that they came to Newlin 42 years ago and have lived continuously since that time on the farm where the family gathered Sunday from 10 towns and four states. A grand dinner of seemingly endless quantity was served, buffet style, to the 47 Ballards and their kin. It was a happy group, and happy of all were the family founders—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ballard, who beamed satisfaction as they talked to their fine descendants. Mr. Ballard, however, frankly confessed: "There are so many I'm afraid I haven't yet met all the family." He was still making a "check-up" as the gathering disbanded Sunday afternoon. The family group composed: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Richardson, Lorene Richardson, Ronald Richardson, Mrs. O. E. Stevick and Betty Ann Stevick, of Friona. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Richardson, Buford Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Richardson, Ernest Richardson, Carrie Lee Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carey, Maxine Carey and Billy Carey, White Deer. T. J. Garrison, Dixon Springs, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ballard, Robert Ballard and Thomas Ballard, Sacramento, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ballard, W. B. Ballard Jr., Louis Howard Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Ballard, Tulsa. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ballard, Happy. Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Erwin, J. L. Erwin, Horace Erwin and Freda Ward Erwin, Plains, Kan. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ballard and Frank Ballard, Memphis. Mary Ellen Erwin, Pampa. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ballard, Olive Ballard, Joe Allen Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Ballard, L. D. Ballard Jr., and Jennie Lou Ballard, Newlin.

WPA PROJECTS ARE PUSHED FOR START

Representatives Are Urged To Attend Session

Principals of the Works Progress Administration "together with the duties of the various political sub-divisions who are to assist in placing into operation a definite works program for this district" will be defined and explained at a meeting Lubbock Wednesday. J. O. Jones, director of District 17 of the WPA, urged attendance upon the county judge, county commissioners, mayors and city school boards, county administrators and chamber of commerce officials in a letter received today by Administrator A. C. Hoffman. The meeting will be held in the ball room of the Lubbock Hilton Hotel. Interested citizens also are invited to attend, Jones stated. "This meeting is of vital importance to you as a representative of your particular locality," the letter stated, "in that you will be able to get the answer to the questions now confronting each community, city and county in this district in connection with the future handling of those people who are now on the relief rolls." The County Planning Board, organized Saturday to cooperate in carrying out this work, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Commissioners Court room here. It was believed that representatives to the Lubbock meeting probably will be named at the session.

20 Band Members On Vacation Tour

Twenty members of the Memphis Gold Medal Band left early this afternoon for a vacation tour of northern New Mexico—to the mountains where you lie on your back to see the sun come up," as Director Cicero Milam described it. Equipped for camping out and cooking "cowboy style," the vacationists, each with his own mess kit and other outdoor necessities, left on a special bus. Their instruments, too, were packed aboard, as they will give a number of concerts at points on their itinerary. They plan to camp at Tucumcari tonight. Tomorrow they will arrive at Tres Ritos for a four-day stay. From there they go to Las Vegas for a day and a night, then to Santa Fe for two days and nights; on to Taos for a day, then to Eagle Nest for two or more days. From Eagle Nest they'll come home by way of Raton, arriving August 7th or 8th. Members of the party, besides Director Milam and Dyke McMurry, bus driver, are: G. W. Smith, R. E. Martin, Jr., Jimmie Fultz, Paul Dodson, Sidney Mayfield, Bery Springer, Jim Brewer, Olin Reheis, Linton Gerlach, Ed Smith, C. R. Gowen, Charlie Reed, C. W. Crawford, Jr., Thos. Kunkler, Glendell Jones, Bill Boren, Harold Hightower, Jake Webster, Willie Ben Wilson and Harold Woodson. Ed Smith and Glendell Jones have been named camp cooks, with Cicero Milam reserving the right to collaborate on special dishes.

CCC CAMP CREW IS JUMPED TO 25 WORKERS

Two More Members Technical Service Have Arrived

Twenty-five men are at work today on the erection of CCC camp buildings at the old fair grounds. This number is probably the peak, declared C. W. McBride, superintendent, unless the need for additional men is seen as the work progresses. Five of the men employed are carpenters, and 20 laborers. At noon today one of the barracks buildings was nearing completion and four others had been started. Progress being made appeared satisfactory to the superintendent. The men are working seven days a week. R. C. Nelson, assistant agricultural engineer, and J. C. Ebersole, agronomist, arrived this morning to join George E. Hall's technical department of the camp. Both men will spend a lot of their time here, Ebersole probably dividing his time between the Memphis and Perryton camps. Hids for the construction of three technical service buildings at the camp site were being studied Saturday and Sunday at Soil Erosion Service headquarters at Dalhart. A telegram announcing the successful bidders is expected here tonight, after which this additional construction at the camp will get underway. The CCC company to be stationed here will not be sent until the camp is entirely complete and ready for occupancy.

WHAT DO YOU THINK? Local Opinions on Pertinent Topics.

THE QUESTION: What is your idea of a perfect vacation?
THE ANSWERS: DON TAYLOR: Whoa; that's a mighty tender question, but very easy to answer. To really enjoy what I have in mind I would have to be able to leave all business matters behind the first moment I started on the badly-wanted vacation. Then it would be right easy to load the car up with all the fishing tackle I could lay my hands on and head off for the Gulf region. Once there I would immediately go after those 'game-fish' I've read so much about. I'd fish until I couldn't look one square in the face, (if this were ever possible) Oh, yes, I would have to take somebody along to do all the work. Remember, I would be on a vacation. The wife? Sure I would take her along. C. W. CRAWFORD JR.: I haven't given a great deal of consideration as to where I would like to spend a vacation; however, it wouldn't take me very long to decide, if the opportunity would present itself. Seeing as how I have the opportunity (in disguise) I am practically on my way. I would, first, have to have a new car to go on this mythical trip. Then with two companions I start off on a tour of the Northwest. Not having any definite stops to make, I would just lazy along, stopping over night here, spending a couple of days in cities of historical interest. My one desire, though, would be to stop high in the mountains along side a large, cool river and lie under an evergreen tree, watching other people fish. I'm no fisherman, so I wouldn't even give it a try. Why, I couldn't catch a fish if somebody tied one on my line. Other than just touring around and sight seeing, I don't know what I would rather do. A couple of months of this and I'd be ready to come back home and buckle down again. J. W. WEST: Monterey, in Old Mexico! And I'm not singing a song either. I spent, anyway you want to take it, two days in Monterey some years back and never slept a wink the whole two days and nights. So the next chance I get I am going back to stay until I have seen everything once and some things twice. It would take, I imagine, at least one month. Hunting and fishing around this picturesque town is excellent and the majority of my time would be spent in doing just this. But I wouldn't let the hunting and fishing interfere with the bull-fights. One would have to have quite a sum of money to do all I have in mind, and, of-course, it wouldn't be much fun unless I had a couple of companions about my own age to enjoy it with me. D. S. COPE: Colorado as a vacation center has always appealed to me. I have been there before, but, as yet, haven't had my fill of fishing on the Colorado River. There are some mighty big fish to be caught in this river, and I, especially, want to go back to get that 'Whopper' I lost the last time. To be where it is cool fairly makes me yearn to leave on the morning train. I would go by train, because they have rails to run on, and, too, the engineer would have to worry about the engine boiling over and all the flat tires in the world wouldn't bother me a particle. Hold on, though, I have been talking foolishness. I have been on a vacation for over two years now, I want to go back to work. I will, too, if the cotton turns out as well as it now looks. Tomorrow: What do you think of crop conditions?

VETERANS ON RELIEF MAY ENROLL

CCC Applications Must Be Filed Immediately
All veterans on relief rolls in Hall County or with dependents on relief "to whom they are willing to make the required allotment of $22.50 a month," probably will be enrolled for CCC work within the next year or two, according to word received by Administrator A. C. Hoffman from I. F. Hyde, chief of contact, Veterans' Administration, at Dallas. Hyde stated that 43 veterans are listed on relief rolls in this county. He said he expected to enroll 800 veterans now on relief in this regional area within the next two weeks. "We do not have a sufficient number of applications certified as being on relief rolls to fill the expected quota," he said. Mr. Hoffman said that veterans on relief in Hall County should file their applications with him at once if they desire to enter a CCC camp. He will not make the appointments here, as in the case of junior enrollees, but the applications will be sent to Dallas.

RUMORS OF WAR PLANS PREVAIL

ADDIS ABABA, July 29.—It was reported, without confirmation, today that a number of native Somalis rebelled in Italian Somaliland and started for Ethiopia in the region of Ualual. Rumors were current that Ethiopian troops were headed for the frontier of Eritrea, Italian colony on the east, but the war office did not confirm it. An imperial decree establishing the Ethiopian Red Cross was announced today. From there they go to Las Vegas for a day and a night, then to Santa Fe for two days and nights; on to Taos for a day, then to Eagle Nest for two or more days. From Eagle Nest they'll come home by way of Raton, arriving August 7th or 8th. Members of the party, besides Director Milam and Dyke McMurry, bus driver, are: G. W. Smith, R. E. Martin, Jr., Jimmie Fultz, Paul Dodson, Sidney Mayfield, Bery Springer, Jim Brewer, Olin Reheis, Linton Gerlach, Ed Smith, C. R. Gowen, Charlie Reed, C. W. Crawford, Jr., Thos. Kunkler, Glendell Jones, Bill Boren, Harold Hightower, Jake Webster, Willie Ben Wilson and Harold Woodson. Ed Smith and Glendell Jones have been named camp cooks, with Cicero Milam reserving the right to collaborate on special dishes.

Estes Denies He Was Paid for His Attacks on Bill

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Militantly, Carl Estes, Texas newspaper publisher, denied to the Senate Lobby Committee today that he was paid to speak against the utility bill. Still unable to find H. C. Hopson, dominant figure in the Associated Gas and Electric system, the committee received testimony by S. C. Ross, accountant for the New York state utility investigation, that Hopson had taken $2,805,000 during the depression, while many of the stockholders were pressed. Ross testified that operating companies paid about eight million dollars during the depression years to Hopson's companies for services and had no discretion about the amount. Brought to home here. Hodges ambulance was called to Pampa last night by Mrs. D. Thomas, of this city, who was ill at the home of her sister in Pampa. Mrs. Thomas was brought to her home here.

Painting of Grid Stadium Renewed

Two painters were sent today from the relief office to complete the painting of Cyclone Stadium. The job was unfinished last week when the deadline on the project halted work. They will complete the first coat of paint today, it was announced. The entire stadium is being painted white in order to show up plainly under the floodlights during night games.

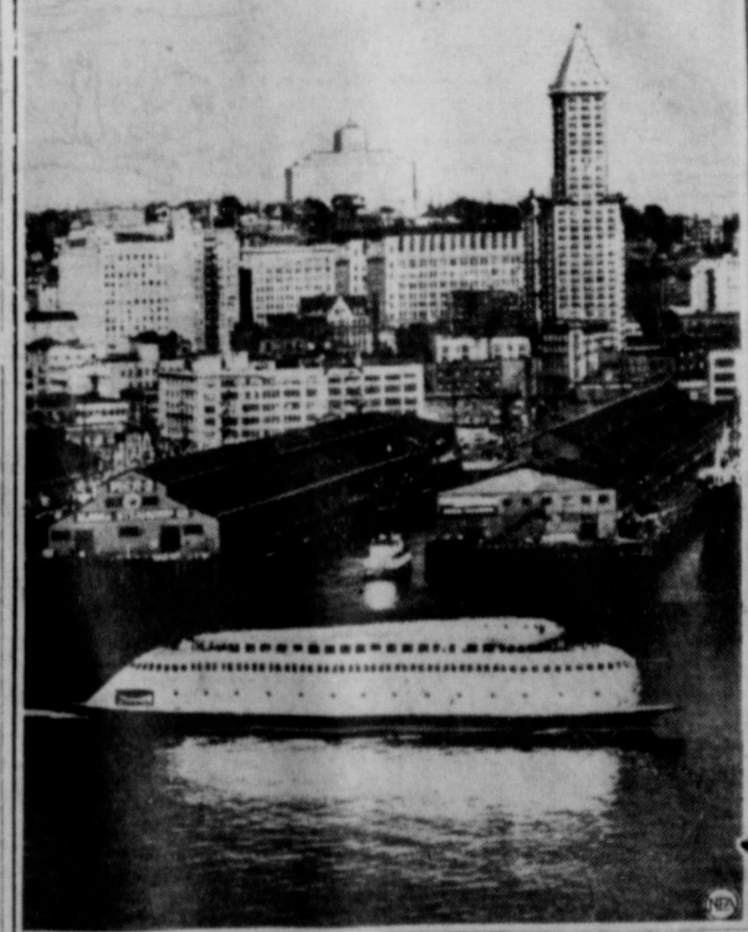

Negro Youth Pleads Guilty, Given Fine

Edward Brown, 15-year-old negro, pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault upon a married white girl here last month, and paid a fine of $25 and court costs Saturday. It was recorded in the county clerk's office today. He waived trial by jury and pleaded guilty before County Judge Jim Vallance. Brown's fine amounted to $50.65. He was also assessed a 40-day jail sentence, which already has been completed.

Ben B. Laska Is Given 10 Years

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29.—Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught today sentenced Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney convicted of conspiracy in the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, to 10 years. The sentence was passed after Judge Vaught denied a motion for a new trial. Laska gave a notice of appeal to the United States Circuit Court in Denver.

Seattle Views 'Most Modern' Ship

The world's most modern vessel is the claim made for this striking-looking craft, pictured from the air with Seattle's soaring skyline as an effective background. The motor ferry Kalakala is the first large fully streamlined vessel ever built, says its designers. It is 276 feet long and provides speedy service on Puget Sound between Seattle and Bremerton, Wash.

Wellington Boy Scouts To Hold Court of Honor

WELLINGTON, July 29.—The Boy Scout organizations of Collingsworth County will hold a Court of Honor at the First Methodist Church in Wellington tonight. A large attendance is expected, and mothers and fathers are especially urged to be present and lend all encouragement possible to the Boy Scouts in their work. Logan Cummings is chairman of the Court of Honor and will be assisted by Lee O'Neil, John Forbis, Dr. John W. Harper, Harry Dudley, Harper Scoggins, Ernest Lewis and Mr. C. A. Clark of Pampa, district Scout executive of the Adobe Walls Area, who will present the charter to the local Scouts.

Tension Eases in Germany's Strife

BERLIN, July 29.—Tension among the Jews, Catholics and World War veterans of the "Steel Helmet" was eased today by news of a "social visit" by General Von Blomberg to Reichsfuehrer Hitler. The feeling prevailed in political circles, Von Blomberg pointed out, that the international impression was created by the drastic measures against "Political Catholicism," Steel Helmets and a personal attack upon the Jews. That Von Blomberg's efforts were successful was indicated by a decree issued today, theoretically making possible the taking of non-Aryans into the army, navy and air forces.

REFLECTS INTEREST

THE vice and crime of the big city are forever making headlines. Sometimes the seamy underside becomes visible as it did in Detroit, where a New York lawyer went out on a seemingly harmless party and got murdered by his fun-loving acquaintances. Sometimes we see it as we did recently in St. Paul, where revelations of graft and corruption brought about a clean-up in the police department.

Under it all there is the old problem—how to operate a city in such a way that the underworld can be kept under and the government itself can be made relatively efficient and honest.

A reporter recently asked Gen. Smedley Butler about this. General Butler served for a time as head of Philadelphia's police department, and finally quit because he found things a little bit too odorous for an honest fighting man.

And when the reporter asked him how a big city could be cleaned up, the general replied with a question of his own:

"Do you know of a single big city that really wants to be cleaned up?"

That's a question worth thinking about twice. It is a little harder to answer than it seems to be on the surface; and it points to an oft-forgotten truth, namely, that the ordinary city gets just about the kind of government that its citizens deserve.

Which is just another way of saying that you don't reap figs from thistles. If you complacently put up with a predatory political machine in your town, you are going to get the kind of government such a machine can be expected to provide. If you fail to interest yourself in civic affairs and forget to vote, you have no kick coming about the way your city is run; if you do vote but vote thoughtlessly, according to habit or prejudice, without demanding that the people you elect measure up to high standards, the same is true.

Put it another way. A city government that is amenable to pressure in one way is amenable to it in a great many ways.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARIEN, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo hunts a job and secures part time work in a marine supply store. There she meets wealthy, handsome DOUGLAS MARSH who offers her the job of hostess at his inn at Crest Lake. Jo accepts. This causes a quarrel with BRET PAUL to whom she is engaged and Jo breaks the engagement.

She goes to Crest Lake. Her duties are pleasant but Marsh's eccentric mother takes a dislike to the girl. BABS MONTGOMERY, a school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo's popularity, comes to the inn. PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife also guests.

Fragonet takes Jo out in a sailboat. There is an accident and she narrowly escapes drowning. Next day Fragonet comes to see her. He tells Jo he loves her and takes her in his arms. MRS. FRAGONET and MRS. MARSH witness this scene and accuse Jo of encouraging Fragonet's attentions. Mrs. Marsh tells Douglas he must send Jo away but he refuses.

Jo, worried over this affair, is slow to recover her health. TUBBY DAVIS, her former roommate, comes to the inn. She tells Jo that Paul is the new life guard at Crest Lake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

As briefly as she could, Jo told Tubby about Peter Fragonet's infatuation. Tubby's eyes grew round with pleased astonishment as the story unfolded. But this gave way to genuine concern when Jo told of the threat of Edna Fragonet and Mrs. Marsh.

When Jo had finished, Tubby shook her head in wonder. "I never knew you had it in you, Jo! Of course, you're pretty—but at school you were just a girl who went along contentedly with one man. And now it seems you've three or four all excited, and one of them married. It must be your new clothes!"

Jo laughed wryly. "Well, whatever it is, I wish I'd never found it." She looked at Tubby seriously. "You know, I kept thinking when Marsh offered me this place that it was all too good to be true. I kept thinking that something would have to happen to spoil it."

"Sure," sighed Tubby. "That's and sit by the window. But as the minutes passed and Miss Conley did not return, Jo experienced an increasing impatience. Finally she drew back the covers tentatively and put her feet into her slippers at the side of the bed.

It was queer how weak and strange she felt as she got to her feet as though she must learn to walk all over again. But in two or three precarious steps she gained the chair by the window and sat down breathlessly. Then she learned forward and pulled the curtain aside.

Despite the distance she recognized Bret Paul at once. There was no mistaking his strong athletic build, or the sheen of his corn-colored hair in the sunlight. He was sitting cross-legged on the swim-float. Marsh had turned thumbs down on the stark ugliness of a life guard "tower"—and there was really no need for one, for Bret could easily survey from the swim-float the small area which Crest Lake guests used for swimming.

As Jo watched Bret, sitting there impassively in the bright sunlight, she was astonished at the feeling of new security which flowered through her. She felt just as she had when Tubby had come into the room; and yet there was more to the feeling, too, as she watched Bret. There was tenderness and something very like a dull ache in her breast.

She was sitting thus, transfixed, at the window when Nurse Conley returned on her soft-soled white shoes.

"I'm sorry I was so long" Miss Conley began. "but I—" She stopped suddenly, and added in a severe tone, "What are you doing out of bed, young lady?"

Jo turned, smiling sheepishly. "I hope you won't be angry, but I wanted so badly to look at something besides this room."

At sight of Jo's face, somehow happier than she had yet seen it, Miss Conley relaxed. "I must confess that sitting there by the window has seemed to do you some good. But really I think you'd better hop back into bed now, and I'll let you sit up for an hour or so tomorrow."

She helped Jo to the bed and smoothed down the covers around her. "I like your friend, Miss Davis," the nurse said. "She can come to see a patient of mine any time she likes."

Jo agreed; and soon, thinking of Bret Paul, she dropped off to sleep.

When Jo awakened it was almost dark outside, and Miss Conley sat reading by a shaded lamp.

As Jo stirred, the nurse put down her book and came to the bedside.

"You had a good long sleep. Hungry?"

Jo nodded. "Very hungry... and I feel like a new woman."

"You're coming along," Miss Conley said. "Miss Davis was up to see you again."

"That's odd. She wasn't planning to come again until tomorrow."

"Apparently she had something important to tell you. I told her to come back after dinner."

Jo was indeed famished, and she enjoyed thoroughly the dinner which Miss Conley brought to her from the Inn's kitchen. Nevertheless, she was impatient to know what was the "something important" that Tubby had to tell. Perhaps she had already talked with Mrs. Fragonet, for it would be very much like Tubby to attack the problem at once. Jo could not help but smile at the picture of Tubby talking so earnestly to the frigid wife of the movie star. She knew that her case was in good hands, for women liked Tubby Davis, and trusted her instinctively.

Tubby appeared almost as soon as Miss Conley had removed Jo's dinner tray. But, if she had good news, her usually pleasant face gave no sign of it.

"Did you see her?" asked Jo impatiently.

Tubby shook her head. "She's gone."

"Gone?"

"She took the afternoon train to Los Angeles—and without her husband."

Jo's heart sank. "Did you—have you heard anything? I mean about what her plans are?"

"The yeranda gossips are rattling it off that she's left Fragonet permanently," Tubby said. "Do they know why?"

"I don't think so... But the chances are pretty good that they

Owls Blast Childress Electric's Behind Blanchard's 3-Hit Work

Behind the effective three-hit pitching of young Jerry Blanchard, Estelline's southpaw contribution to the Western Division of the Memphis Owls smashed the Childress Electric's, 6 to 5, yesterday afternoon at Fair Park Field.

The battle was fast and hard. Both clubs had entered the final league stretch with determination, and illustrated their high-strung temperament on several occasions. A near riot occurred when the base ump called a close decision contrary to the way Memphis players saw it.

Despite the fact that Blanchard allowed only three hits and struck out nine batters, including the powerful Perry Hale three times, he had nerve-racking time of it and barely eked out a decision.

However, it was not because of the lack of support. Childress' three hits came when they meant runs—one being a home run by Powell in the seventh and another a triple by Edmondson in the fourth, which started the Electric tallies. Powell scored an unearned run in the sixth after singling and coming on an error after two were out.

Going into the ninth with a two-run lead, Blanchard became erratic. He walked Compton, who stole second, went to third on a passed ball and then scored on another wild pitch. In the meantime, Andrews also walked, took second on the passed ball that sent Compton to third and then went to third on Blanchard's first wild pitch. He took home on another bad throw by the hurler, tying the score.

In the meantime, Woods grounded out to second. Mitchell, in turn, walked and was allowed to take second unhampered when he got a good, long head start. With this man in scoring position with the leading run, Blanchard found his aim again and struck out Powell and Edmondson with a great blast of form.

Thus on the verge of defeat, the Owls, who had pounded Mitchell for five runs and eight hits in eight innings, including a homer by Joe Marcum and a triple by Blanchard, came back strong to clinch the tilt without giving the visitors another chance.

Manager Marcum was given a free ticket that eventually won the game. After Sims drove a low fly to center, Tunnell singled and Marcum raced to third. Brother Louie then singled to drive home the winning run and break up the battle.

It may not be amiss to predict that, if present trends in buying cars or buying homes continue, an increasingly larger portion of our population will live more around the automobile and less around a house as a permanent abode.

Wellington Defeats Rolla Club, 9 to 5

By WOODROW MURRAY (Wellington Correspondent) WELLINGTON, July 29.—The Wellington Gassers, with a day off in the Red River Valley League, defeated the Rolla nine, 9 to 5, here yesterday behind the seven-hit pitching of Morgan.

The Gassers got underway in the third frame, scoring one run when Morgan singled and went around on three bases on balls. A four-run rally in the fourth increased the lead considerably and another attack in the eighth put the game on ice.

Rolla opened with a tally in the fourth and rallied in the seventh and eighth to make a threat, scoring two runs in each inning.

Thus on the verge of defeat, the Owls, who had pounded Mitchell for five runs and eight hits in eight innings, including a homer by Joe Marcum and a triple by Blanchard, came back strong to clinch the tilt without giving the visitors another chance.

Manager Marcum was given a free ticket that eventually won the game. After Sims drove a low fly to center, Tunnell singled and Marcum raced to third. Brother Louie then singled to drive home the winning run and break up the battle.

In my judgment, this has been of great advantage to the entire country in tending to restore balanced conditions.

Soon after the court decision referred to, we introduced in the House a measure ratifying the entire previous agricultural program and changing the original act in such a way as to remove, in so far as possible, any question of the legality of the act in the future. This measure has already passed the House and is now undergoing a fight in the Senate.

Before this is printed, we hope it may have passed the Senate and will be in conference between the two houses.

I believe it is all-important that the farm program be continued in the interest of the entire country. The united manner in which the farmers have stood by this legislation has been encouraging to all those who have had a part in its enactment.

We have come a long way from the fear, uncertainty and distressed farm conditions that prevailed at the beginning of the program. We cannot afford to surrender what has already been accomplished.

4 Newspapermen Held in Contempt

ANCHESTON, July 29.—Judge M. S. Munson today formally cited for contempt Frank White, reporter, and Max Jacobs, managing editor, of the Houston Post; Harry McCormack, reporter, and George W. Cottingham, editor, of the Houston Chronicle, ordering them to appear Thursday at 9 a. m.

The order was the outgrowth of Munson's order last Tuesday that reporters must not print testimony in the murder trial of Clyde Thompson.

Miss Anne Rene Montgomery Named Bride of James A. Anthony

Miss Anne Rene Montgomery became the bride of James Arthur Anthony yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the country home of the bride's parents west of Memphis.

Rev. T. J. Rea, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the beautiful ring ceremony. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mrs. L. S. Edmondson of Estelline, sister of the groom, as the bride and groom entered from opposite sides of the room and marched to the improvised altar of ferns and other greenery. Mrs. Edmondson softly played "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony.

The couple was unattended. The bride was attractively gowned in a blue and gold tailored suit with blue accessories to match. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Denver, Colo., on a 10-day wedding trip.

Mrs. Anthony is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Montgomery. She graduated from Memphis High School in 1930 and attended Texas Woman's College at Fort Worth. She is a popular member of Memphis' younger group.

James Arthur graduated from Memphis High School in 1928 and attended Georgia Tech and Texas Tech. He was an outstanding high school and college athlete. He has made his home with his uncle, J. A. Whaley, here since childhood.

The ceremony took place before the immediate family and a few close friends of the young couple: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Montgomery and children, Blackburn and Dorothy; Mrs. W. S. Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Montgomery and children, James Albert and Patricia; Mr. and Mrs. Elton Morrison and children, Doris, Jane, Charles and Jimmie; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Whaley; Mr. and Mrs. Troy Broome; Misses Alveene and Catherine Bennett; Bill Shaw; Mrs. Jim Martindale of Childress and Mrs. L. S. Edmondson and children, Jack and June, of Estelline.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART (NEA Service Staff Writer)

Although weekly visits to a beauty shop and a supply of special preparations on your dressing table make the road to greater beauty a good deal easier, it still is possible for the woman with a limited budget or one who doesn't have access to a professional salon to have nice skin, hair and figure. With the help of some of the items in her kitchen cupboard she can accomplish wonders in her home.

Fresh lemons, for instance, are available for keeping attractive at minimum expense. The juice of half a lemon, diluted with equal parts of cold water, makes a bland bleach that will lighten the skin on your face and throat. For arms and legs, it isn't necessary to dilute the juice. If your fingers and elbows are slightly discolored, rub them vigorously with a piece of lemon.

Remember, too, that lemon rinses remove every trace of soap from your hair and tend to keep light locks from becoming darkened or dull. Furthermore, if you don't enjoy your two glasses of hot water before breakfast, put the juice of half a lemon in each one and see how much better they taste.

Olive oil is another kitchen product that can be moved into the bathroom in the name of beauty. Warm a bit of it and massage into your scalp the night before a shampoo. Smooth it on elbows and ankles to keep them smooth and soft. Use it on cuticle after a manicure and at least two nights a week.

Then, of course, there are home-made oatmeal and egg masks that involve practically no expense and are no more than prepared brands. If you always use cream of talc as a mask. Incidentally, cold cream, in jars, costs very little. After all, the tresses use it to remove makeup and flecks, generally flawless.
