BANDS WILL PLAY IN MARDI GRAS PARADE TO BE HELD HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

CONTINENTAL TO SPUD IN EAST OF MEMPHIS MONDAY

The Continental - Marland Smith No. 1 well is to be spudded in next Monday, on the Smith land in Childress county about ten miles east of Memphis. The derrick is up and the machinery being placed. A two-inch line of the North Texas Utilities Co., gas line is now being laid to the location, and gas will be used for fuel.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR ARRIVES THIS WEEK

Dr. J. Harding Mallard, of Haynesville, La., will arrive here Saturday to take up his work as pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He will assist in the Methodist revival next week. There will only be Sunday school at the Presbyterian church Sunday on account of the revival.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Mrs. Elmer Shelly has worked wonders with our choir and we deeply regret that the coming Sunday will be her last with us in the regular services but we hope that arrangements can be effected for her to continue assisting in the choir rehearsals. We think that the membership should show their appreciation toward Mrs. Shelly by their presence next Sunday morning.

THE METHODOIST REVIVAL GETS A GOOD START

The revival meeting being conducted at the Baptist tabernacle, made a fine start from the very first service. Sunday morning Rev. C. E. Jameson, the pastor of the First Methodist church, preached the first sermon of the revival at the Methodist church, then Sunday night he preached a good sermon. Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock he preached another good sermon and a real gospel service was enjoyed by those present.

Dr. S. A. Barnes, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church at Wichita Falls, arrived Monday evening and preached his first sermon of the meeting. The audience fell in love with him at first sight and since that time he has been having good crowds at each service, and has been preaching some real old-time gospel sermons that are stirring the hearts of the hearers. He is a plain preacher, though eloquent in choice of language and thought; he is earnest, and kind and thoughtful of others; he is a pastor-preacher—not an evangelist; he knows life, and is a man's man; he is beginning to get hold of the people and will likely get results in the meeting that are needed.

Mr. Roy Beights of Denver arrived Saturday and has been in charge of the music. He is a splendid choir director and a baritone-tenor soloist second to none. He is developing a good choir and the singing at each service is inspiring. His solos are highly enjoyed by all. He wants every singer in the choir or congregational singing. Mr. Beights is a Texan. He joined the church under preaching of Rev. Jameson a few years ago, and then graduated from Clarendon College. He is now director of music in the Grace Community church at Denver and has a studio of voice in the church.

Mrs. E. H. Martin and Mrs. Mary Robertson are the pianists, and very helpful in the services. A number of business houses have been voluntarily closing for the 10 o'clock services, and a real deep interest is being manifested in the meeting. Rev. Jameson is pleased with the good start the meeting has made and believes it will result in much good.

Miss Annis Owens of Clarendon and Miss Nell Connelly of Houston, who were here last week to attend the announcement of Miss Mary Helen McNeely returned to their homes last Friday.

Mrs. Greene of Memphis and Warden Spear of Houston and Tully Spear of Tyler are the children of deceased.

ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK AT NEWLIN

Yeggmen attempted to burglarize the Farmers State Bank at Newlin, eleven miles east of Memphis, Monday night. The burglars used an acetylene torch to cut a hole through the vault door about 18 inches square, but no indication of them using it on the safe. Some books and stationery was set on fire in the vault, and was still burning when the bank was opened Tuesday morning.

WELLINGTON VOTES CITY BAND TAX

By a vote of 155 to 117 the city of Wellington voted for a municipal band tax for the support of a band. The band has formerly been supported by the merchants of the town who contributed a certain amount each month for its upkeep. The election was held Friday at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kimberlin returned Wednesday from Dallas where they have been the past three months. Mr. Kimberlin will be with the McKelvy furniture store in the future.

TWO CAUGHT WITH STOLEN CHEVROLET CAR

A young man giving his name as Ead Johnston, aged 18, of Hickory, N. C., and his partner, name not given, are in the toils of the law, as the result of taking a 1926 Chevrolet coupe and breaking into a tailor shop at Childress Wednesday night. Dick Moore deputy sheriff, and Buck Johnson, owner of the car, arrived this morning, identified the car and took Johnston back to Childress with them.

The Highway Five paving work of the V. P. Strange Construction Co., of Salt Lake City, under the supervision of R. C. Meyers, is taking shape fast. All the machinery for the paving of the thirteen and a half miles beginning at the Donley county line west of Memphis and running to Red River on the east, is on the ground and all turned up and ready for operation just as soon as sufficient material arrives.

STATE INSPECTOR ON THIS PAVING JOB

Forms are set on about one-fourth of a mile and ready for the pouring of concrete, and all the grade is scarified and leveled down to grade line to Tenth Street. It is estimated that about 600 or 800 feet of concrete will be poured each day when the work starts, and it is thought the stretch of road from Tenth Street to the Donley county line will be finished by the latter part of next or the early part of week after next. Judge A. C. Hoffman says he is exceptionally well pleased with the outlook for road work in Hall county, believing that they have secured a construction company that is as well equipped as can

NEW RETAIL ICE STATION SOON TO BE OPENED BY THE CENTRAL POWER & LIGHT CO. ON TENTH

52-CENT RATE IS ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT TWO YEARS

Dallas, July 20th—Drastic cut in the state ad valorem tax rate to 52 cents, the lowest since the administration of Governor Tom Campbell, for the two years beginning August 31, was announced here today by Governor Dan Moody.

This is a reduction of six cents in the rate of the past two years. Governor Moody said, "There will be a surplus of $1,000,000 in the state treasury on September 1, this year. The state ad valorem rate for this year will not exceed 26 cents and it is possible that it will be less. The combined rate for this year and next will be about 52 cents. The rate during the past two years was 58 cents. "This 26 cent rate for this year will cover appropriations made by the Fortieth Legislature for this year."

He explained it will apply on taxes which are due October 1, 1927. The Governor announced that for the first time in the history of Texas, an appointment of $15 per capita for the common schools of the state will prevail.

A special session of the legislature will be called this fall but the Governor is undecided when penitentiary relocation court reform, high-way legislation civil service and local matters will be submitted.

Governor Moody evaded discussion of his possible candidacy for the vice presidency of the United States senatorship. The chief executive will speak tonight in behalf of the constitutional amendments to be voted August 1, before the Dallas Bar Association's banquet. Thursday he will speak at Waco.

The state of valorem tax is fixed by the automatic tax board which will meet Thursday to fix the tax rate. The board consists of the Governor, the Treasurer and the Comptroller.

MR. BREWER IS LEAVING NOTHING UNDONE TO MAKE THE OUTSIDE APPEARANCE OF THE STATION VERY ATTRACTIVE

Mr. Brewer is leaving nothing undone to make the outside appearance of the station very attractive. He has already made arrangement with a landscape gardener to plant the premises in all kinds of flowers and shrubbery, and expects to make it one of the most attractive spots of the city. The outside will be very attractively lighted, and will have a large electric sign in the front.

Mr. Brewer also claims that his company makes the best ice in the Panhandle, which he attributes to the fact that a daily test is made of the water, and that nothing is done by guess. The customers will testify that they never get any white ice, but that every pound is just as clear as crystal. Mr. Brewer also says that Memphis water is easier to make ice from in that it contains very little alkali, and does not require so much treating before it is ready for freezing.

During the month of July the company will produce 675 tons of ice, or 1,349,430 pounds, and will all be sold within twenty miles of Memphis. Their rating capacity is 600 tons.

Arthur Howard and family left Saturday for Amarillo and probably other points for a few days vacation.

The Democrat force received a basket of peaches from Wheeler county Tuesday, sent by Herschel Montgomery, Democrat lino-type operator who is on his vacation.

E. T. Montgomery of Plaska. I have good crops considering the little amount of rainfall received. Every farmer who actually kept his land in shape in my community has a good crop to show for it.

Mr. Foster, secretary of the McLean Chamber of Commerce, was a business visitor here Monday. He stated that the new road from McLean across to near Hedley had been put in good shape with the exception of the river bed which they hope to straw. This will give a short cut for all of this country to the oil fields.

VACATION VAGARIES

(J. C. Wells)

Last week we left our reader out in the great desert of Arizona looking at the different cactus plants between Phoenix and Yuma. We reached Yuma shortly after noon (12 o'clock there is 2 o'clock here) and spent a short while filling up both ourselves and the car, then over the Colorado river into California. Yuma is a nice city and has a good trade territory, which is irrigated by water from the Colorado river. The river is like the Mississippi in that it is higher than the surrounding territory and levees are built up to prevent it overflowing. It is said that a real flood on this river would overflow and ruin more property than the Mississippi did in Louisiana last spring, because so much of the country is below sea level.

Just across the river we were stopped by California state quarantine officers who had us open our grips and bedding, and made a thorough search of the car. The Mrs. asked them if they thought we were bootleggers and they laughed, explaining that California has no boll weevils in her cotton and no citrus fruit bugs, and is trying to keep such things out, especially are they on the lookout for cotton seed or cotton from Texas. We told them we were from the Panhandle of Texas where boll weevils had never been able to climb up and attack our cotton. Some oranges and apples, we had just bought in Yuma, were examined and allowed to pass. We were given a clean bill of health and told to go our way and have a good time. Others were not so fortunate, for their bedding was strewn over the platform and contents of grips and trunks scattered, and then the poor tourists had to gather them up and repack in the 110 degree temperature.

For a short way out of Yuma we went through some irrigated land, then struck the sand hills. This lasted some twenty miles, with nothing but white rolling sand in dunes and hills, and in case of a real sand storm we imagine one would have a hard time keeping from smothering to death. This sand is like the sand hills of our creeks and rivers, except they stretch for miles and miles. The road is paved from Yuma to San Diego. In fact we travelled on paved roads until we were nearly out of California on our way back home. In this sandy waste the pavement is kept cleaned off by State Highway employees who are on the job all the time.

It is 56 miles from Yuma to El Centro and shortly after leaving the sand hills we struck the famous Imperial Valley which is irrigated from the Colorado river and is noted the world over as the greatest irrigated section of country in the world. El Centro is also a fine little city and hot—say, the sun isn't more than half a mile straight above that town. We asked the altitude and the filling station man said, "We have no altitude—it is 52 feet below sea level here, and 250 feet below in the Salton Sea fifty miles north of here." Should the Colorado river overflow to a great extent one can imagine how deep in water the Imperial Valley would get.

Being told that it was just 122 miles to San Diego, and seeing the mountains in the near distance, we decided to hit the road and get out of the torrid zone. In less than an hour we were climbing to several thousand feet altitude and the air was so cool and refreshing, after the heat of the valley, that we were as proud as Hall county people would be after a big rain. We thought we had been over some wonderful mountain roads, but this beat them all hollow. Paved wide enough for two cars to pass anywhere, and crooks and turns, with an easy grade, and the pavement angled so a car will almost turn on its own accord going 25 or 30 miles per hour. Up and up we climbed, enjoying the scenery more than ever because of the cool atmosphere with the tang of the ocean breeze in our nostrils. Reaching the top, the descent was more wonderful, and those California people have their summer homes at every crook and turn, in the valleys among the pines, peaks orchards of oranges, lemons, grape fruit, grapes, etc., here and there, and the valleys covered with green grass or alfalfa, with mountain streams falling in Cataracts in the hill side or purling gently along through the valley. Pine trees giving a touch of beauty and solemnity to the scene. High lines along the highway furnish light to the mountain dwellers, and pipe carrying water from the numerous springs right into their homes.

Drifting on down the road toward the ocean we finally stopped in San Diego shortly after dark. Thought we were right in the heart of the city for we had been in a well lighted city for several miles. The next morning we found that we were five miles from the beach and the business section of town. Two days were spent in this lovely Southern California city, sight-seeing and enjoying the ocean breeze as well as the most beautiful ever been our privilege to look upon, not excepting the greenhouses great and small. Geraniums grow everywhere and climb way up the palm trees and bloom in profusion. Stately palms and oleanders, sweet peas, pansies, lilies, snap dragons, and numerous other perfect plants and flowers are found in practically every yard. Hydrangeas grow in clusters as large as a covered wagon, and that's not exaggerating one bit. But the climax of all is the famous Balboa Park. Acres of this park are given over to flowers. No picture has ever been painted to equal the real thing in flowers. No tongue or pen can attempt to describe them. If Memphis had such flowers all Texas people would flock to our city just to see them. Enough of this raving.

We didn't go to Tijuana—Jaurez was enough of Mexico for us. Instead we went to the docks and saw 96 destroyers, went on board one of them with a guide, then all over a signal ship. Besides saw a number of ocean vessels loading and unloading—a real interesting performance. Two days were spent here and then 125 miles up the coast to Los Angeles. San Diego about 150,000 inhabitants, while Los Angeles has just a million more than S. D. This is a beautiful drive, over hills, and through valleys, with orchards on every hand. One orange orchard we drove through has just 75,000 acres—the largest in the world. A boy by the side of the road was selling oranges at 20 cents per pair. We bought a half pair, and had enough oranges to last us several days. Apricots, plums and cherries galore, and these were enjoyed at frequent intervals during our stay in that state.

We stayed in Los Angeles five days, making daily sightseeing trips to different parts of the city and adjoining towns. Long Beach, San Fernando, Burbank, Van Nuys (where the famous chocolate candies are made.) Santa Monica, Venice, Hermosa, Redondo, San Pedro, Whittier, Pasadena, Monrovia, Glendora, Pomona, Hollywood, Beverly Hills, and others were visited. Beverly is the most beautiful portion of a city we ever saw. The motion picture actors, who make so much money they do not know what to do with it, spend a great portion in beautifying their homes. Tried to go into Doug and Mary's studio, but the guard at the gate said "Nothing doing," so we had to be satisfied with looking at them as they drove past.

After getting an eye full of Los Angeles it was time for us to start home. We went east something like 80 miles to Redlands where we spent a day and night with old friends Mr. and Mrs. George Bugby, who formerly lived in Clarendon, but now have a beautiful home in Red Lands. They took us over the valley and up into the mountains, showing us many interesting things. Great orchards and vineyards, and the climate ideal. This was the nearest to our ideal of a country, and we cannot but admire the Bugbys for living there. George told us about a fishing trip he took out on the ocean. Said for us to tell his friends here that he is no deep sea fisherman, for he had to feed the fish without a hook and line attached to the feed. We saw our first snow from Redlands. A peak east of there had considerable snow. It was with reluctance we left these fine people and started on our journey home. One needs at least a month in California alone, and some day we expect to go back and finish the trip from end to end of the state.

There are more tourists to the square inch in California than any other section of the United States, and the tourists trade helps to keep California growing. One can go almost anywhere in that state and never leave pavement.

They believe in good roads there and build them as well. The tourists help pay for them, but get their money's worth in enjoyment of the roads.

J. N. Griffin returned last week from a visit with his father at Crafton, Wise County. He says his father has lived on that same place for fifty one years.

WILBORN SENDS NEWSY LETTER FROM BORGER

I wrote a letter to the Democrat under the date of July 13th but failed to get it mailed out, so I shall re-write a portion of that letter in this one.

During the past three or four months the City of Borger has passed through a convulsion similar to a South American revolution, and the end does not yet seem to be in sight. The following paragraph from an editorial in today's Borger Daily Herald sums up the situation in Borger in a nut shell: "Booms have their disadvantages. One is that business men become so absorbed in grabbing the shingles that roll in from the boom population that they forget to look to the future of their city."

It was impossible and intolerable for conditions such as existed in Borger and the Panhandle oil field six months ago to long continue in any civilized community. The eternal conflict between local and state authorities continues with unabated fury. The bitterness between the warring factions culminated last Wednesday in a serious shooting scrape between Ranger Jack DeGraffenreid and Deputy Sheriff Bates over the custody of a prisoner. The irony of the whole affair was the fact that the prisoner was one of the County Commissioners who had been arrested by the ranger on a "drunk" charge.

A big indignation mass meeting was held in Borger Saturday night at "the Bowl" at which the morning paper stated 1500 business men of the city were present. The sense of the meeting was "The rangers be damned" and a committee was appointed, headed by the president of the First National Bank to wait on Governor Moody and demand the removal of the obnoxious rangers forthwith, if not sooner. The red-headed governor is scarcely less popular here than the despised rangers and I rarely hear his name mentioned except in connection with an imprecation. It was stated at the mass meeting that the coming of the rangers to Borger caused a depreciation in property value of at least fifty per cent which according to my way of thinking is more than fifty per cent of pure bunk.

The boom population as set out by the Borger Herald is almost altogether responsible for the presence of the rangers in Borger today. If the rangers had never appeared on the scene at all the bubble would have burst itself of over inflation by the mad efforts of the boom population to get rich quick regardless of results. Old General Depression has been on the job here the same as elsewhere, but it seems to me that the oil production section of the Panhandle has been very fortunate indeed.

Now lets look at the other side of the picture and see if the coming of the rangers and the resultant begira of thousands of thugs, gamblers and bad women have everlastingly and eternally ruined Borger.

From figures given out by the Borger Herald as authentic the taxable values of the city of Borger, within the incorporated limits, is nearly eight million dollars, or nearly as much as the taxable values of Hall County last year. The taxable values of the Borger independent school districts is in excess of twenty million dollars.

Contracts have been awarded and construction is to begin tomorrow (Monday) on three fine brick ward school buildings and also a large modern gymnasium which will be located near the campus of the splendid $100,000.00 high school building just completed. Work is being rushed on an excellent sewer system for the city, and a big paving project is to begin in a very short time. The Panhandle-Borger and Spearman Highway traverses something like 8 miles of main street through Isom and Borger. Beginning at the Carson County line I believe it is the longest business street in almost any town in the country. All this is to be paved as well as the "Scenic highway" I have mentioned before from Borger on across the Canadian river.

Two more big Carbon black plants have been located in the Borger oil field. One of these is to be located just south of Isom and across the Santa Fe tracks from the Western Carbon black Co's plant and the other at Spelly, the terminus of the new oil field railroad which is being built out from White Deer with all possible speed. Skelly is seven or eight miles east of Borger in the McIlroy pool.

These big plants employ a large number of people and carry an immense payroll. They are small cities within themselves, something like Estelline except that they are more compactly built and are laid out and platted by expert civil engineers. To give you an idea of the size of one of these plants I will just state in passing that the Western Carbon Company has just let a contract for thirty more new residences to be built at their camp south of Isom. These houses will all be exactly alike and reinforce in every respect.

It is understood that the big helium plant is to be moved from Fort Worth to some point in the Panhandle oil field and Amarillo is moving Heaven and earth to get it located in that city. Many level-headed business men in Borger believe that this big concern could be secured for Borger if the people would get behind the proposition and quit fussing and discussing the rangers so much. There are many more things I might mention but this is enough to convince any sane person that the rangers haven't sent Borger to the denotation bow-wows yet.

Borger pulled a real old-fashioned western 4th of July celebration, which lasted for three days. There was plenty of entertainment, plenty to eat and lots to drink or was, until the plague-taken rangers cornered the market. I recall one laughable incident which occurred while the patriotic festivities were at their height. Nothing that a joint on a side street had an unusual attraction for a large number of the revelers and that they invariably came out wiping their mouths on the back of their hands or carrying packages that might have been bologna sausage but wasn't, the police staged a raid on the place. They found a large supply of home brew, beer and "Virginia Dare Cordial" but there was no proprietor in sight. As they were preparing to leave one of the "laws" saw a slipped foot sticking from under a bed and made a grab for it. The woman to whom the shoe was attached let out a shriek like a siren whistle and grabbed the bed posts and it finally took the whole squad to the bedstead. During the three days the officers made separate her from what was left ninety arrests on almost every charge in the penal code and on some not in the latest edition. One fellow, who had evidently been mixing a vile concoction of home-brew with paint shop cocktails or canned heat started down Main Street on a wild Carcet in his car yelling like an Indian on a red ink bender. However, his free performance came to a sudden end when he bumped into a car-load of officers out on a hurry call. When he came to in the Cooler next morning and wanted to know what it was all about some of the officers told him he was charged with being drunk, reckless driving, violating the traffic ordinance, disturbing the peace, and a few other little things like that. He protested to the judge that he had no recollection of having put on any such a free attraction. The judge told him that his recollection of the events of the previous evening were no doubt a bit hazy but that his remembered would be in better working order the next time he contemplated sitting on a show.

I notice that the papers today give the number of tank cars of crude oil shipped out of the Panhandle oil field during June as 4830. Of this number 2470 cars were shipped out of Borger. A tank car holds about 11500 gallons on an average during the first week in July 1280 cars were shipped out of Borger.

I have made quite a swing around over the oil fields during the past ten days and visited the towns of Skelly, Roxana Kings Mill, White Deer and Pampa. Pampa seems to be a good lively town, but Mr. E. H. Witt, whom I met there, told me that business was the dullist in the memory of the oldest in habitant. The wheat crop was nearly a failure in Grey County but the combines were busy saving what there was. I saw three combines working in one oil field. Doubtless the short crop and slump in the oil market have hit Pampa pretty hard.

At Kings Mill I saw the largest tank farm I have seen in the oil fields. There were 125 big tanks with a capacity of 55000 barrels each. There seems to be more activity in development to the east and northwest of Borger at this time. I went down to Electric City last Sunday and went over a portion of the new highway. It is some road and no mistake. I also gave the big power house and the huge concrete water reservoirs the once over. This plant is a wonderful sight and is worth coming a long ways to see. The Phillips interests have a large refinery at Electric City similar to the one at Phillips where I live. A slow rain seems to have set in for the night and as I am getting pretty sleepy I will close for this time. I am glad to know that the paving of highway No. 5 is to begin down there tomorrow. I wish I could be there and pour the first mixer of concrete.

I suppose you noticed in the daily paper that Tex Thorton the veteran oil well shooter got put out of business, temporarily at least, last week in his battle with the burning Prairie gas well at Sanford. His legs from the knees down were par-boiled and he may be a cripple for life. He had just won his second fight with the famous "death well" at Sanford. The Prairie Well claimed victim when the initial explosion occurred. This was one of the most spectacular fires that has occurred in this field. It was plainly visible at Borger and the frightful roaring was as distinct as if the fire had been only two or three miles away instead of seventeen.

A frightful accident occurred Saturday night at Borger. Several men employed on the night shift at one of the big plants engaged in a playful water battle with rubber hose when one of them picked up a water bucket full of what he thought was water, but which proved to be gasoline, and drenched his opponent with it. The unfortunate man was near a gas flare and in a moment he was a mass of flames. He liter-

THE TRAFFIC

The traffic laws are being violated every day in Memphis. Wrong turns, failure to stop at stop signs, excessive rate of speed, and careless driving, is noticed by citizens every day in town.

Children are not the only ones who are careless in driving. Grown people are seen coming occasionally down these streets like they were in a hurry, regardless of danger to pedestrians or other cars.

One of these days some one will pay with his life for the carelessness of some one else. When that happens the traffic ordinances will be enforced to the fullest.

HALL COUNTY

Despite the driest year in the history of Hall County, the crops this year promise to yield 70 per cent normal, which will mean that there will be between forty and fifty thousand bales of cotton marketed this fall.

Good roads are needed to every part of the county. When poor states like New Mexico and Arizona can have fine roads to every section of their domains, then rich states like Texas and productive counties like Hall should have roads equally as good.

Hall county can have good roads if she wants them. Will she?

Now that the houses in Memphis have been numbered and street signs have been put up, comes the question of turning in fire alarms. The fire boys can respond to a call much quicker if the house number and street name is given when turning in an alarm.

The Canyon News has changed its type press, and the change is for the better. The type used is more readable and does not take up any more space.

Which reminds us that the city should have city mail delivery, and that the weeds over town should be cut and burned, as well as all rubbish and trash should be removed from mortal sight.

CLEAN UP NEEDED

Did you get a whiff of that business alley Tuesday? If you did you will say amen to this statement that Memphis needs to have a clean up and the sanitation and health ordinance should be enforced.

Then there is a question of promiscuously throwing papers out and letting the winds blow them hither and thither, and finally landing in some one's front yard, or under some structure to await a lighted match carelessly thrown thus starting a fire that might prove disastrous.

THE ELECTION

Next Monday is election day—the day when the voters of Texas will vote on four constitutional amendments. Judging from the opposition to the amendments that has developed the past few days every amendment will be voted down.

Some worthy amendments have appeared from time to time for the people to vote upon, and they should be carefully studied, and when worthy should be supported, for a constitution can be bettered by amendments, especially when it has been in existence a hundred years.

HAMLIN FOR SENATOR

Senator J. W. Reid of Canyon will not be a candidate to succeed himself to the state senate, so we have been reliably informed, Texas certainly needs capable men both in the Senate and the House, and there is one man in this section of the State, if he can be prevailed upon to accept the office, who stands head and shoulders above all others, not only in stature but in grey matter, and would make a sure enough safe and sane Senator to represent this district.

The above statement from the Memphis Democrat is true so far as Senator Reid is concerned. He announced to his friends in Canyon last fall that he would not be a Candidate for re-election, much to the regret of his friends here.

The statement regarding Judge Hamlin is equally true. We do not know whether or not Judge Hamlin will accept the nomination, but if he can be induced to get into the campaign he would be a hard man to beat.

The campaign will not open until late this year, but it is not too early to begin to think about who will be elected in the primary just one year hence.—Canyon News.

AMENDMENT OPPOSED BY FARM AND RANCH

Farm and Ranch, the greatest agricultural journal published in the United States, has been making for several years an aggressive fight for court reforms. It vigorously opposes the proposed judiciary amendment and thus condemns the tricks of the shyster lawyers.

"Our methods of practice do not make for speed, nor do the lawyers show any inclination to bring a case to a conclusion. If one lawyer shows any desire to make haste, the opposing attorney has ample opportunity to delay it.

"Can any citizen, even members of the bar, continue to show an indifference to the need of judicial reform and a revision of the rules of procedure? What is the source of opposition? The most of it comes from lawyers. They are schooled in procedure and intricacy and are accustomed to indirect methods. A simple and direct road to justice does not appeal to them because cases would not be long drawn out and fees would be reduced. Many of them would have to seek other occupations because reform would greatly lessen the amount of litigation and fewer lawyers would be needed.

"Another class opposed to judiciary reform are courthouse employees who receive large fees for preparing bulky briefs and filing useless papers. Together these classes form an influential body who, thus far, have blocked every effort to shorten the road to justice and to reduce the amount of litigation. But their success will not be lasting. An aroused people is demanding a thorough reorganization of the entire judiciary system, including the methods employed in the practice of law. In times past the people have listened to the arguings of leading members of the Bar Association to let the reform come from within, but these leaders have failed. Their following, even among so-called respectable lawyers, has been small and so the task again reverts to those unversed in the law, not firmly convinced that the job must be done, and that too in a thorough manner. It will be done. There is no doubt about it.

The Democrat editor has been notified that the Northwest Texas Press Association meets in Wichita Falls September 9 and 10th, and to prepare an address on Foreign Advertising and Local Tie-Up. Since we can tell all we know about the subject assigned in two minutes we will attend, because there will be two ball games of the Texas League those two days, and we can afford to suffer two minutes any time to see two good games. Then too, Wichita Falls will furnish two good feeds—another big inducement.

CHEVROLET TO TOUR PARKS

Bound on a circle tour of the National parks of the West, a Chevrolet Imperial landau recently left Los Angeles, under the direction of the Chevrolet Motor Company, to explore the scenic wonderlands, secure pictures of the countless spots of surpassing interest and report on the general conditions of the highways leading to them.

Recognized the country over as a region of unrivaled charm and beauty, the Western National parks are drawing a record number of tourists this year. Although the south, east and middle west, in fact all America is represented by vacationists who are taking advantage of fine ribbons of concrete to explore the wonder-land of nature, the average American motorist has yet to visit the section. And it is in the interests of those who have yet to enjoy this sustained treat as well as those who have made the trips that the Chevrolet National Parks car is on its way.

Authorities in charge of the National Parks system are in hearty accord with the action of the Chevrolet Motor Company. The car carries a letter from A. M. Demaray, acting director of the National Parks Service, commending the automobile and its crew and introducing them to the superintendents of the west.

Educational authorities, too, have interested themselves in the move of the Chevrolet motor Company to give more publicity to the recreational features of our national parks. Harold Stonier, vice president of the University of Southern California, acting as official starter, congratulated the pilot, W. S. Wood, and waved success to the party as the Chevrolet swept across the campus of the Famous Southern University headed for Zion National Park in Southwestern Utah.

The National Parks Chevrolet will then proceed to the North rim of the Grand Canyon, visiting en route the newest national monument at Pipe Springs. From the North rim and the great Kaibab forest, where winter snowdrifts are still lying in the sheltered canyons, the Chevrolet will visit Bryce Canyon and from there double back to Cedar Breaks, and thence to Salt Lake City.

From Salt Lake the car will head east for Rocky Mountain National Park near Denver, and go from there to Mesa Verde where the most remarkable cliff dwellings to be found in the west are preserved under the supervision of the government.

From Mesa Verde the car will proceed to Yellowstone, thence to Glacier National Park, far upward toward the Canadian line. West from there the Chevrolet will head for Banier National Park. Homeward bound once more down the Pacific coast, Crater Lake, Lassen, Yosemite, General Grant and Sequoia will complete the list of parks on the long trail ahead of the Chevrolet.

PAVING-

be found anywhere. Mr. C. L. Hasie, the county engineer, explained the situation, and pleased with the outlook, and says the paving crew is a very congenial set of men, and feels that Hall county will receive a first class job of paving.

The actual pouring of concrete is expected to begin Monday, and with no delays in waiting for material, work will be pushed at a rapid pace until it is finished.

This paving is Hall county's quota toward making the Colorado to the Gulf highway the best in Texas. This highway affects several states and has more paving in the state than any other

Texas highway. There remain just a few counties on this highway that are not paved. Clay county has just finished paving; Hardeman county has the bonds sold and will pave soon; Childress county is trying to vote bonds; Donley and Armstrong counties are seriously considering paving. Should these counties hard surface through their counties it would be one long stretch of paved road from Amarillo to Fort Worth. From Fort Worth south it is practically all paved. Childress county people will doubtless vote their bonds, for it would be finishing the link between here and Fort Worth. Then Donley and Armstrong would surely follow suit. The Colorado to Gulf highway association is also one of the leading highway associations in this section of the country. Two Memphis men are officers of the association. J. Henry Read is president and G. A. Sager is secretary-treasurer.

HOUSEWIFE TO ORDER MEAT BY QUALITY

College Station, Texas, July 27.—The housewife who is uncertain about specifying just what cuts of meat she desires in order to be assured of quality, will be relieved of such worry in that respect with the general adoption of the Government's standard grades for the different kinds of meat.

Dr. J. L. Lusk, range animal husbandry division of the Experiment Station, A. & M. College pointed out in a discussion of "Grading Meat" before the livestock group of the Farmers' Short Course.

In order to relieve the confusion in the buying and selling of meat, due to the lack of standard grades, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, has established standard grades for the different kinds of meat in the hope that such grades will be accepted in all markets and will mean the same thing to all buyers and sellers at all times, Dr. Lusk explained.

"This grading," Dr. Lusk added, "will enable the housewife who does not know quality in meat to go to her butcher shop and demand meat of a certain quality and know that she is getting it because of the brand which will be stamped on the meat by the Government grader. It is the belief of those behind the plan that many more people will want choice beef when they can be sure they are getting it and that the consumption of meat as a whole will be increased, not because the people think they ought to eat more meat but because they will be able to get what they pay for and many of them have never yet done so will learn what choice and prime meat tastes like."

At least four different kinds of meat for testing the tenderness of meat and the tests are still going on.

One of these machines operated on the principle of forcing a large piece of meat under great pressure through a small hole. But it was found that in every piece of meat there were some portions tougher than others. Another machine, like a back-saw with a piano wire for a blade, was devised to measure the tenderness of the meat by moving the wire back and forth over it. However, it was found that lubrication from fat caused the wire to make more strokes for cutting fat meat than lean. Another machine with artificial jaws was used to chew the meat but it was found impossible to copy the piece of meat out of a larger piece but it was found difficult to copy the edge of this machine uniformly upon. Similar difficulties were found in measurement of palatability. The difficulties are being overcome and the work carried forward, however.

WOMEN MARKET COOPERATIVELY

The sale of more than $2,000 worth of fresh and canned food by Mitchell County club women through their simple cooperative marketing association is announced in a Colorado newspaper by Mrs. J. Lee Jones, President of the Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Jones, who has worked hard in hand with Mrs. Belle Jones, the home agent, in this enterprise, states that the Association has converted into cash all the products its members could spare.

The association, she says, is of the most informal type, there being no dues, fees or contracts required. Any woman with farm produce to sell may become a member provided she stamps her name on all her products and agrees to replace any that may be found unsatisfactory. Headquarters are in Mrs. Jones' home and since she handles all details the overhead expense is practically nothing.

No special kinds of food were featured last year but everything the members had to sell was handled. Neither were specific standards of quality set up, but Mrs. Belle Jones inspected all commodities sold.

Plans for the current year look forward to selling mainly canned goods as a means of avoiding danger of spoilage, since canned black-eyed peas and canned chicken proved very popular last year, and since canning factories offer no compensation on these products, they will be featured this year. Canned tomatoes, corn, okra, etc., will be sold locally only. Canning standards as set forth by the Extension Service including uniform size cans and inexpensive labels will be used.

There seems to be no lack of markets. Last year individual customers, largely local, used up the entire supply, but now cafes and grocery stores are anxious to carry the association line. If the volume of products is sufficient, out of county and even out of state orders, of which there have been several, will be filled.

Until the size of business permits the association will continue on the same informal plan of marketing.

Mrs. Marie Boston returned to her home in Amarillo after a weeks visit here with relatives and friends. She was accompanied home by Miss Vernadine Jones for a weeks visit.

Reverend R. C. Baker closed a very successful meeting at Pecos Saturday night.

Miss Lillian Brooks of Wetumka, Oklahoma, is visiting Miss Thelma Seals here this week.

Frequent Bilious Attacks

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on one two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Morrey, Ky.

"I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples. My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed."

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells."

"I got some Black-Draught and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poisons I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells."

BOYS MAY WORK THEIR WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

Arrangements are being made whereby one hundred boys can work their way through the North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington on the half-time co-operation plan during the ensuing scholastic year. Three vocational courses will be placed on this basis: general electricity, auto mechanics, and agricultural. The boys taking these courses will alternate between work and study. For a period of six weeks they will be in the classrooms at the College, receiving instructions in the principles and theories lying at the foundations of the courses they pursue. That is to be followed by another period of six weeks in industry where each boy will be assigned a job at which he may work for pay. The jobs, for the most part, will be in the electrical industries, with the automobile dealers and well equipped garages, on the up-to-date farms, and at the well-appointed commercial dairies in the vicinities of Arlington, Fort Worth and Dallas.

In general, the boys will receive enough money while on the job for six weeks, if they are economical, to pay most of their expenses while in school the following six weeks. However, earning one's expenses while in school, or working one's way through school, worthy as that may be, is not the main object of the co-operative plan. That is a mere incident to it. The chief thing in view is its educational value—the proper union of theory and practices. College education is often criticised and even reviled for being impractical. Graduates are denounced as helpless—helpless because they have read about and been told about so many more things than they have ever had an opportunity to touch, handle, and master in a practical way. It is just this weakness, an universally recognized in the American system of education, that that part-time, co-operative plan seeks to alleviate. Boys of limited financial means who desire to take advantage of this plan should apply at once to Mr. D. A. Bickel, Registrar of the North Texas Agricultural College, at Arlington, Texas.

SALT HOLE EIGHTY-ONE FEET DEEP

Clifton Grundy and Dr. A. M. Shelton, in order to satisfy their curiosity and settle arguments about the depth of the big salt hole of water down on Salt Flat, measured the depth of it Sunday.

A cord with weight on the end of it was let down in the middle of the hole to a depth of eighty-one feet before it struck bottom. When the weight was raised a few inches off the bottom it would tug at the string because of the current of water coming against it.

The salt hole as it is commonly known around Estelline is really a wonderful hole of water and quite a freakish one. The hole is situated out in the salt flat near the river and is more of a sink-hole that suddenly made its appearance about thirty or more years ago. Salt water is flowing from the hole continuously at the rate of about fifty gallons a minute according to a test made several years ago. The hole is about ninety feet across and a stream of water about a foot deep and four feet wide is continually flowing from the hole. The water which stays at a temperature of about sixty-five degrees, is as salty as sea water and is ideal for bathing. The water is claimed by many to have curative qualities for many kinds of skin diseases and with the proper publicity and development would be worth lots of money.—Estelline News.

C. Northington of Redberry, Alabama came last week to visit his son J. D. Northington of the Memphis water works. Mr. Northington was well pleased with Memphis and Hall county.

Mrs. V. R. Jones is spending the week with her husband in Wellington.

WEATHERLY

The Heart of Hall County

TEXAS

Another boost to put Weatherly on the map in a big way, is taking in the Letts and Tampeco School Districts and becoming a consolidated school, with school buses to accommodate the two added districts.

We have been advised by reliable source that the Denver will begin laying steel around August 1st, and will reach Weatherly about August 12th. As soon as tracks are laid there will begin a Building Campaign, then the boom is officially on. Already we are having inquiries for business houses to rent; Drug Store, Hardware, Grocery and Barber Shop.

Does it appeal to your better judgement to invest a few dollars in property that is secured and guaranteed to multiply by the good substantial trade territory surrounding it? Then get in on the ground floor prices, for when building and development starts then is when prices began to rise.
