ORDER PURCHASE COWS

Appropriation for Drought Relief on Cattle

Special To The Democrat
QUITAUQUE, Nov. 10.—A life long dream of old-timers in this section may soon become a reality. Quitaque Falls, one of the few beauty spots with living water in West Texas, will become a state park if citizens of this section of the country have their way.

Dr. ignus MacMillan states ead of having a special at 7:30 p. m., the s dedicating the morn- ing, held at 11 o'clock, Justice Day, as was stated church announcement Friday.

Recently 64 civic leaders from seven towns met in Quitaque and organized the Quitaque Canyon Park Association. The purpose of this organization is to secure a park site at Quitaque Falls and then interest the state park commission in building a dam and beautifying the place.

Towns Represented
Towns represented at the meeting were Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, Turkey, Silverton, Gasoline and Quitaque.

Col. R. P. Smyth, long-time civic leader of Plainview, was elected permanent chairman of the association. Col. Smyth has long been identified with civic improvements such as this one. He has been in communication with D. A. Colp, chairman of the state park commission, and is thoroughly familiar with the proposed plan. C. B. McDonald of Quitaque was elected secretary.

Each city named one member on the executive committee to work out details of the proposed plans. They are W. Ed Brown, Floydada; Judge William McGhee, Lockney; Judge W. Coffee, Jr., Silverton; J. L. Bedwell, Gasoline; J. B. Russell, Quitaque; H. S. Hilburn, Plainview, and Willis Walker, Turkey.

15,000,000 Gallons
Other cities interested in this project will elect members to the committee in the near future.

The committee will have its first official meeting in Floydada Friday, Nov. 16, at noon.

The proposed park is readily accessible and would give this section an ideal playground. It has been estimated by a competent engineer that 15,000,000 gallons of water go to waste daily over the falls and that a 50-foot dam would probably put 400 acres under water and make a shore line of approximately eight miles.

Have Big Job
How the site will be acquired and paid for is the problem of the association now. There appears to be little question about the state accepting it as a state park and about its improvement through CCC and other public relief work after it is accepted.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Allen, 55, who died at Wichita Falls Friday morning, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home on North Seventh street.

DECIDE TO HOLD ENTIRE MEET TOGETHER

Ask Separate Division for Track, Field Events

A decision to continue to hold the Interscholastic League meet of all schools in Hall county at the same time as has been the practice in the past, was reached in a meeting yesterday afternoon of principals of Class B schools in the county.

A plan to hold a separate preliminary meet of the smaller schools in the county was suggested last week at the organization of the county league, but was voted down in the committee meeting held Saturday.

The only change in the meet for this year recommended by the committee was a request that a separate division in track and field events be provided at the same time of the general county meet.

The committee reaching the decision yesterday was composed of (Continued on page 4)

LOOK, LEARN, SAYS MUSSOLINI

ROME, Nov. 10.—Benito Mussolini told the world to look and learn today as he launched his new co-operative state.

The revolutionary Fascist approach to Italy's economic problems, a new system, Il Duce predicted, will lead to a world-wide repudiation of old political methods.

Seven hundred and thirty-nine representatives of capital, labor and the Fascist party gathered in Julius Caesar hall thundered an ovation as the leader declared the new institution another victory of "principals which, since distant 1919, have led toward the future triumphant revolution of the Black Shirts."

Mussolini likewise saw in the new state—which gives industry and commerce, organized into 22 corporations, and opportunity to experiment in self administration—something Italy may find useful if war comes again.

He said the purpose of the corporate state is to "ceaselessly augment the power of the nation and further its expansion on earth."

Each of the 22 corporations will represent one division in Italy's commercial and industrial life and each will be headed by Mussolini.

Famed Jurist To Wed at 75

Judge Marcus Kavanaugh, 75-year-old Chicago jurist, is shown above with Miss Jeanne LaTour, 23, his former secretary. Their marriage is set for this month in Chicago. Judge Kavanaugh is one of the best-known jurists in the Midwest, having been active in law reform for many years. He commanded the Seventh Circuit Circuit Court during the 1920s.

Place Nine Million Certificate-Pounds In Government Pool

Bankhead tax exemption certificates placed in the government pool by Hall county cotton farmers totaled more than nine million pounds as the close of business yesterday, it was announced by County Agent James A. Jackson.

Although press dispatches state that the closing of the pool was postponed until November 24, official notification to this effect had not been received last night by the local office. Unless notification is received immediately the pool will be considered closed locally, Mr. Jackson said.

Certificates equivalent to 9,361,831 pounds of cotton, or almost 20,000 bales, have been placed in the pool by Hall county farmers for sale to producers elsewhere who produce more than the act. The original allotment for this quota allotted under the Bankhead county was approximately 34,000 bales. According to these figures, if all of the surplus certificates in the county have already been placed in the government pool, the 1934 cotton crop in this county would be in the neighborhood of 14,000 bales. It is unlikely, however, that all of the surplus certificates will be placed in the pool. (Continued on page 4)

Mayor's Proclamation Calls for Support of Red Cross Roll Call in Hall County November 13

Mayor Bascom E. Davenport yesterday issued a proclamation in which he appealed to the local citizenship to support the American Red Cross in the annual Roll Call which will be observed in Hall county November 13. The proclamation follows:

"As Mayor of the city of Memphis I deem it my duty and privilege to call public attention to the 18th annual membership campaign of the American Red Cross which is to be conducted here November 13.

The Red Cross is solely dependent upon individual backing. Lacking this support the organization would be unable to carry on its noble work during disasters, among War Veterans, in the health field, first aid, life saving, and its numerous other tasks which have been greatly increased in the last five years of economic strife.

"Every local citizen can answer the Roll Call appeal—this community challenge—with assurance that each contribution to this cause will be treated by the Red Cross as a trust fund of the public."

3,500 WITNESS WILD CONTESTS YESTERDAY

Jonas d'Arman, All-Around Champion, Is Leading Performer; Three Injured During Wild Rides; Expect Thousands Today

Results and entries on Page 3.
America's roughest and toughest sport thrilled more than 3,500 spectators in the first two performances of the American Legion rodeo held here yesterday afternoon and last night under the direction of Roy Mayes, veteran rodeo performer. The last performances of the widely-heralded event are to be held this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, when scores of the best cowboys and cowgirls from all over the nation compete for final cash awards.

Two world champion performers took part in yesterday's events, and will enter exhibition and contest events again today to thrill the thousands who are expected to view the final events.

Jonas d'Arman, of Sayre, Okla., 1932 world's champion all-around cowboy, and Mrs. Rose Davis Breeden, 1933 world's champion lady bronc rider, added thrills to the day's entertainment with exhibition and contest events that promise to bring hundreds of additional spectators to today's final show.

Ample proof that the rodeo being staged in this city is no "tame affair" is seen in the fact that three injuries were received yesterday by cowboys competing in the various events. The first of the day's toll was Bob Blacett, of Erick, Okla., who received serious injuries when he was thrown from a wild bucking Brahma steer during the steer riding event of the afternoon performance. Minor injuries were also received during the evening performance by Odell, of Odell, during the steer riding event, and Virgil Earp, of Ton, Okla., during the mule riding event. None of the injuries prove very serious, it is believed.

Following the mammoth downtown parade by the cowboys and cowgirls competing, the rodeo opened with a grand entry promptly at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. With George Newton as the official announcer, the judges for the three day's performance were announced. They are Eddie Smith, of Wellington, Nathan Jones, of Mangum, Okla., and Murray Dodson, of Memphis.

Event Number Two of the official program was a trick roping event by George Newton, one of the world's greatest trick ropers. He was assisted by Keith Wells, 13-year-old Lakeview trick-rope artist, and Howard Weatherby. All three drew loud applause from the audience.

Woman Champ Rides
The eight other events on the program for each performance worked off in rapid succession under the able direction of Roy Mayes. As a final climax of the afternoon performance, Mrs. Breeden's mount was "plenty tough" and she did an admirable job of riding, to the applause of those attending. Mrs. Breeden was unable to ride during the evening performance because of the injury received earlier in the season.

Jonas de Arman, world's champion cowboy, undoubtedly was the most spectacular entry in the contested events. With two first places and two third places to his credit during the day's events, his pay-off Saturday night amounted to more than $65. d'Arman won first in the calf roping and bulldogging events, and third in the steer riding and bronc riding events. His time for calf roping was 19 1/2 seconds and for bulldogging was 19 2-5 seconds.

Youth Is Star
Another outstanding performer in yesterday's rodeo was Bill Bentley, a 16-year-old youth who outclassed many of the nation's best cowboys much older Bentley, who's home address is Era, Texas, is a brother to C. E. Bentley, of this city. Young Bentley registered from Gainsville.

The youth's winnings for the day totaled more than $33. He won first places in both the wild cow milking event and the evening's calf roping jack pot, as well as the calf roping event. He also won third place in the general calf roping event.

Check Is Tough
Buck Standifer, of Olton, was another of the outstanding cowboy performers yesterday. His winnings for the day totaled almost

TOMIE POTTS ELECTED CLUB PRESIDENT

Again Heads Brookhollow Club; Directors Are Named

Tomie M. Potts was re-elected president of Brookhollow Country club at the annual board of directors' meeting Thursday night in the county court room. W. V. Coursey, secretary, announced yesterday.

J. L. Barnes was named vice president and Coursey was selected as secretary-treasurer.

The new board of directors is as follows: Tomie M. Potts, D. A. Grundy, D. Max King, S. B. Foxball, A. S. Moss, H. W. Stringer, S. T. Harrison, E. N. Hudgins, W. C. Dickey, J. L. Barnes, W. V. Coursey and G. L. (Dick) Watson.

Approximately 40 club members were present at the meeting.

Preceding the elections, the meeting heard reports of committees on the past year's activities. It was stated that fairways on the golf course being installed at the club will be completed within the next week or two and be ready for the installation of greens.

Leon Morris, Your Check Is At Democrat

The Democrat holds a check on Hall county school funds, made payable to Leon Morris and signed by J. M. Weatherly and O. E. Bevers, secretary, which was found during the American Legion Rodeo Saturday afternoon. The check is payable out of local funds of District No. 19W.

If Mr. Morris will call at the Democrat office, identify and state the amount of the check, this office will be glad to return it to him.

Cyclone Smother Bronc in Traditional Battle Locals Renew Wins With 40-6 Victory

Taking up the long string of Memphis victories over the traditional rival where previous teams left off four years ago, the Cyclone trounced a weaker, smaller Clarendon Bronc, 40 to 6, here last night.

Before a crowd of slightly less than 1,500, the Cyclone ran its list of consecutive victories on the new Fair Park stadium field to six this season.

Preceding the game, Tommie Frank Jones high school football queen, was honored in a short demonstration by the pep squad, and between halves Mrs. Rose Davis Breeden, world champion cowgirl bronc rider, was introduced; George Ace Newton and troupe gave trick rope demonstrations and Mr. Breeden rode a bucking bronc, advertising the American Legion rodeo.

The game, without outstanding stars but with the Cyclone eleven clicking with its usual ease, was another story of touchdown parades.

Memphis scored two in the first quarter, each following a Clarendon fumble that was recovered deep in Bronc territory by charging Cyclone linemen. Clarendon took the opening kickoff and clicked off two first downs but lost the ball on a mix-up of signals, with it flying clear and recovered by Champion in mid-field.

Score After Fumble
After Norman and Deason went to the 31, a 15-yard penalty stopped the Cyclone on this march and the ball went over. Clarendon again took the kickoff, and immediately Holtzclaw fumbled and three Memphis players covered on the 16. Norman passed to Grimes who knocked the ball into the air. He and Holtzclaw juggled it about a moment before Grimes hung on and fell over the goal line for another counter. Norman's try for point was low and wide.

Clarendon made two thrusts, then, before the quarter ended to give the Bronc a margin in actual offensive play although 13 points behind. Greene took the kickoff on his 10 and returned to the 40. A forward and lateral pass, Holtzclaw to Cole to Greene, netted a first down on Memphis' 47 and Holtzclaw passed to Cole for seven yards before the Bronc was forced to kick.

Norman punted back to Clarendon's 30. And on a scrimmage play, Greene went straight through center for 29 yards, and another forward and lateral pass, by the same combination, picked up another first down on the Memphis 30 as the quarter ended.

Drive 93 Yards
Opening the second period, the Cyclone stopped the drive and took possession on its seven after a punt. Starting here, and featuring the big runs of Norman and Deason, the Cyclone marched 93 yards to another counter. Deason picked up 21 and 12 yards on two runs and Norman made 16. Norman covered the remaining nine yards to reach the one, and Deason plunged over for the touchdown. Norman kicked goal.

Taking the kickoff, Clarendon marched 70 yards to the two where the Cyclone held and received possession on the 20 after a pass over the goal line on fourth down. The drive featured a nine-yard pass by Greene to Martin, who ran 24 yards to the Memphis 31, and then a 14 yard run by Greene through center.

Second Half
After getting possession, Baskerville, coming around from right end on a fake punt, picked up 15 yards, and Norman passed 26 yards to Malone as the half ended.

Walker took the opening kickoff of the second half on the Memphis 15, returning to the 37. Norman and Deason, in two series of plays, reached the Clarendon 40, where Norman passed 10 yards to Grimes, who ran 14 yards to the 11. After a lateral lost eight yards when Clarendon's line filtered through, Norman passed 16 yards to Baskerville, who was down on the Clarendon one. Deason plunged over and Norman kicked goal to give Memphis a 27-0 lead.

Clarendon Scores
After a long struggle, Clarendon finally scored, taking advantage of a fumbled punt deep in Cyclone territory. First, however, Clarendon received the kickoff and punted. Norman, opening with passes, tossed 15 yards to Grimes and 17 to Malone before Barrow intercepted one. An exchange of punts followed, and Holtzclaw passed to Turnbow for 33 yards to the Memphis seven. Grady, who replaced Turnbow, injured in the

'CYCLONE FAN' MISSES ON MEMPHIS-CLARENDON GAME—OFFERS ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Our good friend, the "Cyclone Fan," is no better than we are! The gentleman who predicted the correct Memphis-Wellington score did no better than the writer on the Cyclone-Clarendon affair. He started right off by accusing us of trying to ruin his reputation by asking another prediction (in a letter that reached the sports desk too late to be revealed before Friday night's game), and then went on to pick Memphis by a 45 to 0 score. We chose the Cyclone, 39 to 13. He missed the score of each team by one touchdown while we missed only one of them—and Clarendon should be scored when they reached the one-yard line, so there 'tis.

TURKEY'S TURKS DOWN HEDLEY, 32 TO 0

Long Runs and Passes Feature Exciting Battle

Special to The Democrat
TURKEY, Nov. 10.—The Turkey High School Turks defeated the Hedley Owls here yesterday afternoon in an exciting game 32 to 0. The features of the game were an 80-yard run by Arnold of Turkey, who scored 13 points in the afternoon and a pass of 25 yards from Yarbrough to Coker, the latter running 40 yards to score. Coker scored 13 points and Yarbrough 6. Noble, Whitefield and Richardson starred for Hedley.

NEW NEGRO HEAVY FIGHTS WAY TOWARD BIG BOUTS

By NEA Service
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Joe Louis, Detroit negro heavyweight and 1934 Golden Gloves champion, slowly is fighting his way to recognition as one of the best of the big boys in the country. Joe's recent knockout of Art Sykes, of Elmira, N. J., was one of the cleverest battles witnessed here. It won Louis' eighth triumph in as many professional shows.

CHURCH PLANS 'FOOTBALL NIGHT'

Presbyterian Church To Observe Annual Service Nov. 25

The First Presbyterian church will observe its annual "Football Night" on the evening of Sunday, November 25. This date was set after Dr. John Angus MacMillan, minister of the church had consulted with Coach Harold Walker and Captains Charles Campion and Jack Norman of the Cyclone. The Pep Squad, through its leader, Tommie Frank Jones, and the sponsor, Mrs. Harold Walker, accepted an invitation to be guests of the Cyclone at this service.

"Football Night" was introduced into his church program by Dr. MacMillan while he was minister of the First Presbyterian church, Alpine, Texas, a college town. He has featured the idea each football season since he became the minister of the local Presbyterian church, the program receiving the full support of the football squad and their friends each year.

Portman Ignites Illini
Bob Zupke noticed how Portman speeded up the backfield, always driving forward when he carried the pigskin. The veteran mentor kept slipping the peewee a pass that beat Chicago. He hit big men harder than some of his larger teammates, and wasn't afraid to tackle high-kneed ball toters.

CHICAGO. — Crain Portman, pinch-hitter of the Illinois backfield, is the football man of fiction—making good the hard way, despite injuries and lack of weight, while working his way through school.

It is refreshing to chat with youngsters like Portman, who quickly would convince the most assured skeptic that all the better athletes are not rushed into college and given phony jobs such as getting mail.

Portman saved $150 working for an ice company last summer. Money derived from cleaning a suite of offices each evening helps to pay his board bill. The 155-pound star acts as a guard at a skating rink in the winter. He and Howard Carson, a teammate, shared chores about the home at which they live.

A fractured ankle kept Portman out of football in his sophomore year, and he broke his instep in hurdling a big rock in his back yard the day before practice started last season.

3,500 Witness—

$30. Standifer won second place in calf roping, second place in the calf roping jack pot, and third place in the wild cow milking event.

All of the cowboys and cowgirls competing in yesterday's events were high in their praise of the type of stock used in the rodeo in this city. Northern Star, the bronc that was reputed to be a "mean horse" did not prove so lively yesterday, but the other broncs were tough enough for the the best of the riders.

Brahmas Outstanding

Especially praise was forthcoming from all of the entrants on the Brahma steers imported for the event. All of them have been "really tough" but one of them in particular, gave an added thrill to the crowd last night when he leaped four feet or more with a rider on his back.

Both Mrs. Breeden and Mr. d'Arman were high in their praise of the stock used in the show here and the type of show being staged by the local legion post.

ADVERTISING is an economy. It is the present convenient and enlightened method of doing business. It is a basic necessity of small business. Smaller businesses are usually those specializing in a very useful type of service.

Businesses of this character are usually expert in their line. They have their investment, plus an overhead expense and mostly render an invaluable service to the public in their line. And in failing to advertise they restrict their opportunity and thus narrow their field of usefulness and income.

Advertising awakens customer demand, creates good will breaks down sales resistance and increases volume and opportunity for business. Note the regular message of the foreign advertisers in this paper. They recognize the necessity for community appeal in their respective lines. Local stores doing a large volume of business in their respective lines are usually generous users of advertising. Experience has taught them its value to their business.

In the business world the newspaper is conceded to be the best medium of advertising. This paper covers daily the entire trade territory of Memphis.

Do not sacrifice the opportunities of your business by failure to advertise. You know your equipment and the value of the service in your line to the prospective customer.

Oftentimes the public does not know this. Acquaint the public with your message through steady and consistent advertising that will bring increased trade and good will to your business. It is a part of our business to aid you with your advertising problems.

Mussolini Stoops to Conquer

Baby-kissing, long recognized by American political candidates as a good builder-upper of popularity, seems equally indispensable in Fascist Italy. Here a Dictator Mussolini stooping to kiss a little black child during a recent visit to Sabaudia.

'Creative Self Expression in Child Is New Aim in Education,' West Ward P.-T. A. Told by Miss Clara Steinman

"Creative self expression in the child is the new aim in education," Miss Clara Steinman told the West Ward Parent-Teacher association in her talk on "Early Training in School Membership," Thursday afternoon. She continued "Through serious play the little child is persuaded to use all its energy to work better, behave better and want to know more."

The subject for the afternoon's program was "The School Looks to the Future." The children's program was a music exercise in right reading under the direction of the school music instructor, Genn A. Truax. Teams for each room in West Ward delighted their mothers with demonstrations of their ability to read music by sight.

A very beautiful period of worship was conducted by Mrs. E. D. Landreth. After reading the 23rd Psalm, Mrs. Landreth and Mrs. Glenn A. Truax, with Mrs. C. L. Sloan at the piano, sang, "The Lord is My Shepherd." A prayer by Mrs. Landreth closed the devotional.

The business hour was devoted to the deciding of several important questions. The organization voted to cooperate with the other P.-T. A.'s of Memphis in equipping the new lunch room to be built for the school grounds. It was decided to announce a benefit tea to be given at the Legion Hall Friday afternoon, Nov. 23. The ten cents donated by each guest will be used wisely for the benefit of West Ward.

Mrs. Horace Tarver, chairman of room mothers for the year announced the room mothers as follows: Mrs. Clara Steinman's room, Mrs. Charles Harshaw; Miss Grace

Kay Francis Comes Here in 'Dr. Monica'

Kay Francis and Warren William, the screen team that for the past year has pleased theatre goers all over the nation, again appear together in "Dr. Monica", showing at the Palace today and tomorrow. Supporting this team are two other screen stars that have come into prominence during the past few months. They are Jean Muir and Veree Teasdale.

"Dr. Monica" is a story of the eternal love triangle, viewed from a new angle. It has been heralded as one of the most unusual of love triangle dramas, promising to hold the solution until the final scene. It is not the type of plot that can be "seen through" from the very beginning.

In addition to the feature attraction at the Palace today, Hal LeRoy, the world's champion tap dancer, is presented in a short comedy skit. Those who have seen the nimble LeRoy on the screen or stage will delight in the new antics that he pulls in his latest short, according to managers of the theatre.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," a stirring romance, now showing at the Ritz Theatre, is a picture that is truly portrayed to perfection. In the picture we have the pleasure of seeing three winners of the annual Motion Picture Academy Award appear together.

They are Miss Shearer, who stars as Elizabeth in the famous tale of poetic love; Frederic March, who plays opposite as the ardent Robert Browning, and Charles Laughton who shines as the cruel father.

The performance of each is so finished, so smooth and rich that comparison is impossible. There never was a more tender Elizabeth, a more poetic Browning or a more demonic elder Barrett than these three present.

The picture is the story of the love of two poets, Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning—a love nearly frustrated by her father. Elizabeth had resigned herself to a lingering death, when correspondence with the poet Browning suddenly materialized with his presence in her own room. It was love at first sight between the two—but the elder Barrett throws himself against this romance—and thereon hangs the tale, interwoven with glimpses into the lives of the many brothers and sisters in the Barrett family.

High honors go also to Maureen O'Sullivan who plays the part of the younger, love-struck sister of Elizabeth and to Una O'Connor who scores a hit in every appearance of Wilson, the maid. The scene stealer in this show is the dog, "Flush."

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" is a picture that children will neither understand nor enjoy.

Long-Leggitt Marriager Held At Lakeview

LAKEVIEW, Nov. 10.—The marriage of Miss Alma Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Long, of Lakeview, to Mr. Jake Leggitt, son of Mrs. G. B. Leggitt of Hedley, took place Friday night.

The ceremony was read at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Lee Blanks, here, by Rev. G. H. Gattis, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Only immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present.

Mrs. Leggitt graduated from the Lakeview High school with the class of 1933. Mr. Leggitt completed his school work here in 1931. He is now employed in Pampa, where the couple will make their home.

tressed stock remains listed with the county agent for purchase by the government. Only the most distressed of this number will be bought, it was pointed out by Mr. Jackson. More than 6,000 head have already been purchased in Hall county on the cattle buying program.

Purchases here will begin just as soon as an inspector and appraiser arrive in the county. No time limit has been set for purchases to be made, but only 500 head are to be bought here, according to Mr. Jackson.

"We, the Class B Schools of Hall county, request the Executive Committee of the Interscholastic League that we be allowed to participate in the regular county meet as usual, with this exception: That we be allowed a separate division in track and field events as we are allowed by the constitution.

"We also request that this be held at the regular meet, under the same judges."

According to Associated Press dispatches out of Washington a 14-day extension until Nov. 24 in the closing date for receipt of certificates was announced yesterday by the AAA.

The press bulletin quoted E. L. Dean, pool manager, as saying that the pool expects to have on hand on the final date enough surplus certificates to fill all future orders producers will be paid. It was announced, approximately $20 per bale for all certificates sold. Each producer when the pool is liquidated, will receive his share of any certificates the pool does not sell. These may be used next year if the Bankhead Act is effective for 1935.

The Democrat Apologizes to Ritz for Error

The Democrat tenders this public apology to the Ritz Theatre for a typographical error in last Thursday's paper which made it appear that the admission price for "Night Alarm," which the theatre exhibited Thursday and Friday, were 10c and 15c.

The price for this particular picture was 10c and 25c, and those were the prices the Ritz Theatre instructed the Democrat to insert in its Thursday advertisement.

The picture was a fireman's benefit and a large portion of the two days' receipts were turned over to the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department.

This explanation is made in order to assure patrons of the Ritz that the irregularity in the theatre's posted admission prices and the prices advertised in this newspaper was in no manner the fault of the theatre management. The mistake was entirely The Democrat's and this correction is gladly made.

Honoring Mrs. A. J. Burlerson, who is leaving for Childress to make her home, members of the Lookout class of the First Christian church entertained with a handkerchief shower Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Cabaness.

"Forty-two" was the chosen diversion for the afternoon.

In presenting the many beautiful handkerchiefs to the honoree, Mrs. Dean Morgensen read an original poem appropriate for the occasion.

A delicious salad course was served to Mrs. Jimmie Mitchell, Mrs. Clyde Milam, Mrs. Clarence Barks, Mrs. Howard Randal, Mrs. J. P. Watson, Mrs. Roy Dunn, Mrs. H. A. McCanne, Mrs. C. S. Compton, Mrs. Dean Morgensen, Mrs. T. B. Rogers, Mrs. W. C. Milam, Mrs. J. A. Odom, Mrs. Roy Coleman, Mrs. E. E. Roberts and Miss Georgia Jackson.

Auxiliary Men Session

The Six Laws Necessary to Become Kingdom Builders were interestingly given by Mrs. E. S. Foote, Mrs. L. S. Clark, Miss Clara Steinman, Mrs. C. W. Broome, Mrs. M. J. Draper and Mrs. D. S. Baker. Mrs. C. L. Sloan as soloist sang verses of song appropriate after each discussion.

At the close of the program a play was presented by Mrs. Carl Perriman, Mrs. L. M. Hicks and Mrs. Glenn A. Truax.

Those present were: Mrs. C. W. Broome, Mrs. B. B. McMillan, Mrs. E. S. Foote, Mrs. L. S. Clark, Mrs. M. J. Draper, Mrs. John Lofland, Mrs. Clyde Hill, Mrs. C. Gerlach, Mrs. H. F. Woman's Culture Club Entertained By Mrs. Rogers

A very interesting meeting of the Woman's Culture club was held at the home of Mrs. T. B. Rogers, 617 Cleveland street, Wednesday afternoon.

After the business session and roll call the subject for the afternoon, "American Politics" was taken up. A clever exposition of "The Great Political Game" was given by Mrs. W. L. Wheat. "Looking Forward with Franklin D. Roosevelt" was excellently given by Miss Imogene King. "Looking Backward with Thomas Jefferson, 'Teddy' Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson" was reviewed by Mrs. R. E. Clark. Mrs. Ira W. Neeley chose Jesse Jones and Vice-President Garner for her splendid discussion of "Personalities of National Leaders."

At the close of the program the hostess assisted by her sister, Miss Lyon served a delicious salad plate to the following: Mrs. Roy Fultz, Mrs. Ira W. Neeley, Mrs. J. A. Whaley, Mrs. Dean Morgensen, Mrs. L. S. Clark, Mrs. R. L. Madden, Mrs. W. L. Wheat, Mrs. George Sexauer, Mrs. H. A. Finch, Mrs. C. Z. Stidham, Mrs. T. B. Rogers, Mrs. R. E. Clark, Miss Edna Bryan, Miss Imogene King, and Miss Lyon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom left this morning for San Antonio to attend the State Medical Association in session there next week. Mrs. Jack Boone accompanied them as far as Temple to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Martin.

Gilpin Mothers Club in Meeting

The Gilpin Mothers club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. H. Glasco, and quilted a quilt. Each member brought some hand-made novelty, so that they might exchange ideas for Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Guy Kercheville won first prize with an unique string holder, made from a coconut shell.

Delightful refreshments were served to 12 members, after which the club decided to entertain their husbands with a 6 o'clock turkey dinner.

The club will meet next month with Mrs. C. A. Thomas in a social meeting featuring a Christmas tree with Santa Claus and gifts for each member.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Thorne returned to their home in Dallas Friday after spending a few days here visiting old friends and looking after their ranch interest in Collingsworth county.

BUSINESS WOMEN COMPLETING PLANS FOR PLAY NOV. 22-23

Stole Is Back

The Stole, glorified by luxurious length, is brought to the fore again as a complement to street dress. In this model, Heim used blue fox against a velvet cloth dress. Sfoles also may be worn with winter coats.

Winston Montgomery of Paducah was here yesterday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Montgomery.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club are working diligently on plans for the three-act musical comedy play to be presented at the High School auditorium, Thursday and Friday, Nov., 22-23.

"Oh Professor" is a musical comedy with an all-star cast and will be presented by local people. It is said to be one of the peppiest, most colorful, most tuneful, most hilarious and most original of any musical comedy off the regular vaudeville circuit.

Besides an all-star cast of local people, the production features a children's chorus, a mixed chorus, two groups of regular dancing girls, with different costumes for each of their delightful numbers, and a butterfly chorus of prominent business men in organdie skirts and ruffles.

The Rita Chorus has all the snap and fire of the Spanish tango, without being in any way an imitation, and the "Waltzing With the One You Love" takes one's breath away.

And the finale with the entire company is worth waiting for.

A small admission charge will be made to assist in the work of the Business and Professional Women's club.

At a call meeting of the club Thursday evening committees were appointed: Floretta Whitefield, director of different committees; Mamie Bakke is chairman of the cast committee; Altha Tom Bridge is chairman of tickets; Edna Bryan and Hortense Eddins, property and costumes.

Miss Viola Hagemeyer returned to Bethany, Okla., yesterday after spending several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hagemeyer. She is attending college at Bethany.

Mrs. Harry Delaney, Mrs. Alan Brown and Miss Frankie Barnes left this morning for Austin to attend the State Federation of Women's Clubs, in session there next week.

Legion Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. H. L. Nelson

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Nelson.

The meeting was opened with a salute to the flag. The president, Mrs. W. Wilson, presiding. This was followed by the song, America and prayer by Mrs. Mamie Van Pelt. Then all repeated the Preamble.

During the business session plans were completed for the poppy sale Armistice Day. Roll call was responded to by quotations on peace. A very interesting paper on "Peace at Last" was given by Mrs. Dean Morgensen.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mary Helen, served delicious pie and coffee to Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. W. L. Wheat, Mrs. E. S. Browning, Mrs. Joe Reheis, Mrs. C. C. Dodson, Mrs. E. B. Farmer, Mrs. E. H. Whittington, Mrs. J. E. Roper, Mrs. B. B. Smith, Mrs. Dean Morgensen, Mrs. H. B. Gilmore and Mrs. Mamie VanPelt.

Cy Foxhall Is Hostess to Mizpah Guild

Cy Foxhall was hostess to the Mizpah Guild at her home, 221 North Tenth street, Monday evening.

Pearle Ward, the president, conducted a brief business session. Lorraine Tucker led the prayer service. She used the theme of friendly help in hard places for her lesson. Special prayers was offered for the missionaries. Lola Clower gave an interesting study of Samson.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to Ora Kenny, Boodie Grundy, Minnie Kinslow, Margaret Gore, Elizabeth Johnston, Lorraine Tucker, Pearle Ward, Estelle McCool, Frank Noel, Nell MacMillan, Mary Noel and one visitor, Mrs. Margaret Hodges.

The Claw of the Forgotten Murder

by CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of Frank B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an impostor claiming to be Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following Morden's death Cathay dies of poisoning. Griff learns that Morden had visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON who has reported to police the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDWAY.

Griff accuses Alice of being involved in Morden's murder but does not succeed in breaking down her story. He talks to HARRY FANCHER, inventor, with whom Cathay broke an engagement on the night of the arrest.

Detectives report to Griff that Alice Lorton and a man believed to be KENNETH BOONE left her apartment shortly after Griff's call there.

Bleeker locates the cab driver who took Morden to Alice's apartment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV

While Bleeker was telephoning, Sidney Griff paced restlessly up and down the apartment. His head was thrust forward. His eyes were squinted in thought. He seemed utterly oblivious of Dan Bleeker and of the telephoned instructions Bleeker was giving to his newspaper. When Bleeker had hung up the telephone and returned to his chair Griff suddenly whirled on him.

"How about putting them on that Elite Apartment to shadow whoever came out? Did you do it?"

Bleeker looked crestfallen. "I did it," he said, "but I'm afraid I did it too late. I didn't consider it was of prime importance. I sent men out there. After all, you know, we're running a newspaper and while I'm going to move heaven and earth to get this thing cleared up, we haven't got men to scatter around the city, just on the hope something may turn up."

"So," said Griff softly and with an ominous calm, "you let her get away from you. Is that right?"

"Not Esther Ordway," said Bleeker. "She's gone already. There was no use watching the place after she'd left, except to get a line on someone who might come there and I couldn't see how we could find out just who was going to her apartment and who was going to the apartment of some other person. At any rate, the apartment is still there and the man is watching. It's Alice Lorton who has left. My men report there's no one in the apartment."

Sidney Griff made a smothering, explosive sound. "Well," he said, "we'll let it pass. I'll tell you more about that after a while. What else have you got?"

"The mail," Bleeker said. "I can't understand it."

"What about it?"

"We made a wonderful catch," he said. "I'm afraid we're going to have trouble about it. There's going to be trouble with the postal authorities."

"That's all a matter of history now. It's been done," Griff said impatiently. "What did you get?"

"We got Esther Ordway's banking statement with the canceled checks. It had been mailed to her by her bank, apparently in response to a request she had telephoned in."

"Ah," said Sidney Griff, and his tone contained the purring satisfaction of some huge cat that has just been given a dish of raw liver. "Ah-h-h-h," he said again, and rubbed his hands together.

Bleeker pulled a long envelope from his pocket, took from it the stiff yellow paper statement of a bank balance, with machine stamped figures on the margin.

Griff reached forward, took the checks and the folded statement from Bleeker's hands, crossed to a table, sat down and spread out the checks. His face lit with satisfaction.

"Ah," he said, "a young woman who is out of work, and yet she makes rather large deposits. A deposit of $500. Then one of $750! And here's one of $200!"

He picked up the checks one by one, suddenly stared at one of them.

Bleeker spoke impatiently. "That's the only one that counts," he said. "It's a check payable to Kenneth Boone, for the entire balance on hand. It clears out the account."

Griff nodded slowly. "The check," he said, "is dated on the day Charles Morden was murdered."

Bleeker took a letter from his pocket. "Here," he said, "is a letter from the bank, stating that in pursuance of telephoned instructions they are sending her her canceled checks and statement showing that the account had been cleaned out."

Griff took the letter. "And," Bleeker pointed out, "the date of the telephone conversation is the day following Morden's murder."

Griff studied the letter, with his forehead in furrows of scowling concentration.

"If," Bleeker said, "we only had some way of locating this Kenneth Boone we could..."

"If," Griff interrupted impatiently, "you had followed my instructions by placing your men on duty at the Elite Apartment you would have known all about Kenneth Boone by this time."

Bleeker stared steadily at the criminologist. "Do you," he asked, "know what you're saying or are you just talking?"

"I know what I'm saying," Griff said, continuing to examine the checks.

Bleeker took a letter from his pocket. "There's a letter," he said, "sent to Esther Ordway. Apparently it's something in the nature of a love letter. It's signed Robert Chelton. It was sent out Sunday—that's yesterday—and arrived on the early mail this morning. It's..."

Griff interrupted. "I know who he is and why the letter was written and, without reading the letter, I am willing to wager there is some reference in it to her roommate, Alice Lorton."

"There is," Bleeker said. "He has a paragraph about how charming he was to meet Miss Lorton and how pleased he is that Esther Ordway has so delightful and charming a roommate."

Griff nodded slowly. "But aren't you going to read the letter?" asked Bleeker.

Griff shook his head and tossed the letter to his desk. "There is no need," he said. "It was a red herring drawn across our trail, but it arrived too late. However, one thing is certain. An attempt will be made on the part of Alice Lorton to get the mail from the apartment some time this morning. She will either re-rather ardent in its terms of affection. One gathers that Miss Ordway has been the recipient of several proposals of marriage from Robert Chelton but she has remained firm in her conclusion to live a single life. Apparently she's been divorced once before and is finished with all forms of matrimonial venture.

The criminologist turned the letter over slowly in his fingers. "You have, of course, taken steps to find out about the writer of this letter?" he asked.

"I've taken the steps, yes," Bleeker said. "It's too early, as yet, to get a report."

"When you get a report," Griff said slowly, "you will find that Robert Chelton registered at a hotel in Summerville; that the address which he gave was either so general it is of no assistance or that it was fictitious; that he remained long enough to write and mail this letter and that he then checked out of the hotel and no one knows where he went."

"You've already checked him?" asked Bleeker.

"No," Griff said. "I know who he is and why the letter was written and, without reading the letter, I am willing to wager there is some reference in it to her roommate, Alice Lorton."

"There is," Bleeker said. "He has a paragraph about how charming he was to meet Miss Lorton and how pleased he is that Esther Ordway has so delightful and charming a roommate."

Griff nodded slowly. "But aren't you going to read the letter?" asked Bleeker.

Griff shook his head and tossed the letter to his desk. "There is no need," he said. "It was a red herring drawn across our trail, but it arrived too late. However, one thing is certain. An attempt will be made on the part of Alice Lorton to get the mail from the apartment some time this morning. She will either return to the apartment or send some young man there with a key to the mail box. She will be anxious to get this letter with the checks."

"You mean Esther Ordway?" asked Bleeker.

"No," said the criminologist. "I mean Alice Lorton. Although Esther Ordway is probably her real name."

"They're one and the same?" asked Bleeker.

"They're one and the same," Sidney Griff told him. "Beyond any doubt."

"But why should Alice Lorton report the disappearance of Esther Ordway?"

"Because," Griff said slowly, "it was imperative that Esther Ordway should disappear. It was also, for certain reasons, either impossible or unwise for Esther Ordway to give up her apartment and flee. Therefore, she simply took the name of a mysterious Alice Lorton and told us the story about the disappearance of her fictitious roommate."

"But surely," Bleeker said, "she couldn't have expected to have such a story stand up. Under a rigid police investigation the deception would have been noted almost immediately. She couldn't have accounted for herself..."

"Don't be too certain about that," Griff said. "There undoubtedly was an Alice Lorton. Alice Lorton merged her identity into that of Esther Ordway for certain purposes. Then, when it became apparent that the Ordway identity was going to get her into trouble, she switched back to the identity of Alice Lorton. She could have given the police a fairly accurate history up to approximately the time that Esther Ordway entered the apartment."

"But the police could have confronted her with the people in the apartment and..."

"And would have got no place," Griff interrupted. The police would have found that the persons in the apartment had seen her coming and going. They would have known that she was living in the apartment. They wouldn't have known whether she was Esther Ordway or Alice Lorton. The only persons who might have given testimony that would clinch her identity were the persons at the bank. For that reason she wanted to get her bank account closed and sent to her before there was any possibility of police interference. The fact that

Mrs. Webb Gives Story of First Kings of Class

The book of first Kings was beautifully presented to an enthusiastic group of ladies, by the teacher, Mrs. O. K. Webb, Monday afternoon when the Bible study class of the Baptist W. M. S. met in the ladies parlor in Bible study at 3 o'clock. Continuing the lesson from the second book of Samuel, which told of the prowess of David's mighty men, the Book of first Kings was cleverly portrayed by the teacher. She brought a picture of David, stricken in years, giving his dying charge to his son, Solomon, making the scene both pathetic and entrancing.

After the lesson a brief business session was held when the president, Mrs. Byron Baldwin called for a report from the Benevolent committee. The committee reported the Buckner's Orphan Home box would be packed and sent this month.

The lesson for the Bible study class, the book of second Kings will be given the first Monday in December.

Mrs. H. B. Estes Is Hostess To Antalantean Club

Mrs. H. B. Estes was hostess to the members of the Antalantean club Wednesday afternoon. The group met at the Estes home at 603 South Ninth street and answered roll call with International News.

The book, "Merchants of Death" was reviewed. "The History of the Armament Industry" was given by Mrs. Ira W. Neeley, assisted by Mrs. L. M. Hicks. "The Modern Menace" was presented by Mrs. C. W. Broome. Melodies of War Time Airs, Mrs. Glenn A. Truax.

The social hour was spent in telling War time jokes.

Members present were: Mrs. C. W. Broome, Mrs. C. G. Buzgarnier, Mrs. J. B. Chittwood, Mrs. W. C. Dickey, Mrs. J. B. Hanno, Mrs. T. T. Harrison, Mrs. L. M. Hicks, Mrs. Clyde Hill, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. D. A. Neeley, Mrs. James Norman, Mrs. T. A. Paulsel, Mrs. Frank Phelan, Mrs. S. L. Seago, Mrs. Glenn A. Truax.

Baptist Y. W. A. Meets With Mrs. Byron Baldwin

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Byron Baldwin, who is president of the Y. W. A., which is sponsor of the organization.

Etta Mae Hill, vice president presided in the absence of the president, Shirley Hill. Thelma Lindsey opened the meeting with prayer and Etta Mae Hill gave the devotional.

In the business meeting, Johnnie Calton was elected group captain for group No. 1 to take the place of Katherine Barber, resigned.

Mrs. W. Wilson, who is teaching the mission study book, "How to Pray" gave the first three chapters for the lesson.

The hostess served lovely coconut cake and hot chocolate to Misses Thelma Lindsey, Charlyne Drake, Mary Smith, Johnnie Carlton, Ruth Thompson, Imogene Evans, Etta Mae Hill, Alva Crow, Marie Barber, and Mrs. W. Wilson.

Tri-C League Meets Monday Afternoon

The Tri-C league of the First Presbyterian church met Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the church parlor with Ruth Gammage as hostess.

"Love Lifter Me" was used as the opening song after which each one answered roll call with "What We Could Do To Improve Our Time".

The business session was presided over by the president, Geraldine Lewis. During the session it was decided to sell candy on the square Saturday.

The subject, "What to do With Our Time" was discussed, with

NON-RESISTANCE WON'T PREVENT WAR

ONE of the strange ways in which human nature has expressed itself since the war is the great wave of pacifism that has spread through the younger generation.

Perhaps "strange" is not quite the word, at that. No young man who looks back thoughtfully on the monstrous horror of the World War and the almost insane things that were done during and after it can be blamed very greatly if he concludes that non-resistance is a sound doctrine.

But this spread of pacifism is relatively a new thing under the sun, even so. It has been especially noticeable in colleges. Over and again we read stories of students banding together to swear that they will never answer a call to arms.

One of the results has been that the professional patriots have run quite a temperature about it all.

Newton D. Baker, who as secretary of war in 1917 put some 4,000,000 young Americans into the army, took occasion the other day to warn these idealistic young men that their anti-war pledges will mean precisely nothing if and when another war begins.

"God forbid that I should want anybody to go to war," he said, "but I'm too old to be otherwise than frank. The attitude of many youths and many churches in seeking to avoid war by having nothing to do with it is a flight from reality.

"If this nation became involved in another war the young men would be drafted, in spite of any pledges or desires or positions or responsibility.

"It is just as foolish to say you won't have anything to do with war as it would be, if you were walking through the woods and were attacked by a lion, to say you wouldn't have anything to do with the lion."

These words, unpleasant as they may be to peace lovers, are nevertheless full of good sense.

We can't avoid war by shutting our eyes to it. War, when it comes, is an outgrowth of a previously pursued national policy. If we hate war, our only course is to work for such policies as will enable us to live at peace with our neighbors.

Once war comes, it turns loose a blind, over-powering force before which pledges to "renounce war" are utterly futile.

PLAN TO EXTEND FARM PROGRAM

WITH the closing of the government cotton pool yesterday afternoon came the announcement from Washington that the administration is planning for a greater crop control next season by offering the farmers of the south and southwest still greater inducements to lower their production.

Although the cotton crop in a great section of the belt was slashed far below normal by weather conditions during the growing season, the output in many localities was above average and according to the information put out by the certificate pool, the demand for surplus tax exemption slips was always greater than the supply.

From this, it appears that we can forget our fears about the continuation of the Bankhead bill next year. Of course, a complete reverse of opinion might come about before that time, but this is very unlikely, with the administration already planning a great industrial move to speed recovery.

Hall county has been quick to take part in all government agricultural plans and as a result farmers in this area have benefitted to the extent of many thousands of dollars. Corn-hog raisers have already voted in favor of a continuation of the plan next year, and with added inducement it is not likely that cotton contract signers would turn against this program.

Next year the program should work far more smoothly. It should be handled more rapidly, and from the beginning farmers will know exactly where they stand. One more year and the reduction program should return the cotton-raising industry to the level it deserves. Farmers in this section will be benefitted as greatly as any others.

ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The reason you are assured a considerable degree of safety from many infectious diseases is the realization that prevention is perhaps the most important factor in wiping out such diseases. Today, scientific medicine prevents the spread of serious diseases which used to destroy hundreds of thousands of lives and devastate great nations.

One of the best ways to prevent infectious disease is to keep away from those who have it. However, an infected person isn't the sole factor in spread of disease. His sputum and other excretions of the body may carry the germs, and unless proper means for destroying the germs in excretion and secretions are developed, diseases are spread by this method.

The Roman Empire, it is said, fell because of malaria. Malaria was so-called in early days because it was believed the disease came from bad air. Today we know it is transmitted by mosquitoes.

The food for Rome came from the country districts around it. These districts were ideal for the breeding of the malaria mosquito. To save their lives the farmers around Rome flocked into the city. Rome was no longer independent, but had to secure its food from other countries, and that was the first step in its breakdown.

Today malaria is not seen in the northern parts of the United States, because the swamps are drained and the mosquitoes destroyed. Persons having malaria are kept where they cannot be bitten by the mosquitoes, and this prevents the possibility of the spread of the infectious agent from them to other persons.

In some of our southern communities there is still a good deal of malaria, but people ward off the disease by taking quinine. Besides the states are working on control of the mosquito problem, so that it is safe to say that malaria will be stamped out of the United States exactly as were yellow fever and plague.

Yellow fever also is spread by the mosquito, but elimination of cases of the disease and the successful mosquito campaign have ended it in this country.

Plague is spread by rats. In China and in India it is still a frequent disease and kill thousands of people. It has, however, been barred from this country. When ships come from China and India, they are not allowed to tie up until all rats on them have been destroyed.

One of the diseases which we have not been able to stamp out completely is typhoid fever. This malady is spread by contaminated food and water which have come into contact with the excretions of a person who had had this disease.

Doctors try to control such spreading of diseases by refusing to discharge typhoid fever patients until all their excretions are free from the germs. Yet it is found that patients may occasionally keep the germs in their gallbladders and discharge them at infrequent intervals.

Once it is found that a person is carrying and discharging typhoid germs, he should be kept under control until he can be pronounced safe to circulate in the community.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, The Democrat's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. never really expected to close its stores in Cleveland, according to the private opinion of officials who were in on the chain store labor dispute.

The threat and a temporary shutdown in Cleveland, it is figured, represented a strong, bold move designed for its effect on chain store employees everywhere — now objects of a national organizing drive.

Yet no one doubts that Pres. John A. Hartford, of A & P was prepared to go further with his spectacular maneuver if that seemed necessary, to accomplish the purpose.

His business in Cleveland has not been flourishing and the loss sustained there might have been siderea — preferable to a general organization of employees into labor unions.

It is suspected that the Cleveland threat has been successful in scaring chain store employees elsewhere. Withdrawal from business, it's admitted, is the most effective weapon an employer can use in a labor dispute.

There's nothing the National Labor Relations Board or anyone else can do about it except use "good offices."

Officials have been secretly regretful that they didn't pay more attention to Hartford's repeated telegrams in which he threatened to close if no action were taken in the dispute.

They supposed he was bluffing. Also, they had confidence in Secretary Ralph Lind of the Cleveland regional labor board.

A & P is considered fairer toward its employees, especially with regard to wages, than other grocery chains. It is one of the few big American enterprises which aren't controlled by the bankers.

Natural History Miracle

Capt. Kingsford-Smith's flight from the Fiji Islands to Hawaii prompted William Atherton Dupuy to tell your correspondent about the annual flights of the golden plover from Hawaii to the Arctic circle.

This is a 3000-mile non-stop trip which is made in about 36 hours. Each bird travels alone, without compass and remains for three months up beyond Alaska to raise its young.

They newly born plovers, as soon as their wings are strong enough, hop right off for Hawaii. They plunge straight out into the middle of the Pacific and apparently never miss the tiny islands.

A theory of natural historians is that the birds have been doing this for 30 or 40 million years — or since the Arctic was tropical — just from force of habit.

New Deal 'Cabin in the Cotton'

Good fortune beyond their dreams has come to W. H. Smith, cotton farmer on poor relief, and his family. Thanks to U. S. Colonization Project No. 1 in Mississippi county, Arkansas, the Smiths have moved from a leaky, three-room cabin into the neat home shown above, which has modern plumbing and kitchen equipment and a bathroom and soon will have electricity and running water. With the house, which Smith will buy on easy payments, go 30 acres of land. Below are shown the happy Smiths.

Texas Crop Prospects Better, Report Shows

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—For the first time since the great drouth blasted its cotton fields early in the season, Texas' crop prospects were shown last week by the agricultural department to have improved substantially. The crop report put the state's probable production at 2,390,000 bales, 45,000 above last month's estimate, and has the indicated yield per acre at 110 pounds, against a near-record low of 108 forecast in October. While conditions grew better in Texas, however, its neighboring producing state, Oklahoma, suffered steadily declining prospects. The report estimated the total yield there at 350,000 bales, less than a third of last season's 1,266,000 bale production, and 20,000 below last month's estimate. The indicated yield per acre in Oklahoma fell off too—66 pounds compared to 70 last month. Although the outlook in Texas was better, it still was far from rosy. Last year's production was 4,428,000 bales and the state's share of Bankhead certificates, representing tax production, is 3,237,530. Thus, under present conditions, the farmers will hold almost 1,000,000 excess certificates. Oklahoma's share of tax free production is 782,631 bales, and together the two states will have surplus certificates totaling around 1,180,161. Perhaps Uncle Sam wouldn't hesitate about buying more dignities if he had a few Eckenors to operate them.

POULTRY NEEDS GREEN FEED THIS FALL

Lack of Greenery Is Given as Cause of Unthrifty Birds

Many farmers and other poultry owners in the drouth states are reporting unthrifty birds in their flocks without realizing that the difficulty may be a lack of green feed, a condition so unusual in flocks which have free range that it might easily be unsuspected.

The specific deficiency is vitamin A, usually obtained from grasses, legumes, some vegetables and yellow corn in sufficient quantity to carry most flocks through the winter. But some poultry has passed through the summer with every bit of vegetation burned brown and corn and green feeds at a premium.

"Insufficient green feed or other sources of vitamin A results in greater susceptibility to disease and fewer and less-hatchable eggs," says A. R. Lee, poultryman in the United States Department of Agriculture. "The loss of poultry to any family is more than the cash value. It often means eggless and, in some cases, meatless meals.

"A lack of green feed can be remedied inexpensively in most cases. Leaves of alfalfa or other well-cured legumes can be fed to the hens or added to the mash. Carrots and cabbage, in addition to yellow corn, supply vitamin A. Milk takes the place of green feeds and adds valuable proteins to the ration. Cod-liver oil can be mixed with feeds where no natural source of vitamin is available. Poultry flocks will obtain their own green feed from fall-sown winter grains, if the fields are not too far away.

"Green feed for poultry returns such big dividends that it should never be overlooked."

ON TEXAS FARMS

A specially prepared bed in which she systematically roots cuttings; the use of native shrubs; a definite plan for landscaping the farmstead; and the expenditure of $3, together with some sure enough work has given Mrs. B. F. Curry, home demonstration club member of Matagorda county a lovely yard.

From Brazos county comes this story of improved farm conditions—a farmer leaning against a bank building said to C. L. Beason, County agent, "I have been owing this bank five years and this is the first fall I've been able to pay out."

When asked what he thought about the government cotton adjustment program, J. B. Anderson operating a 1200 acre farm west of Brookshire in Waller county answered, "I have 11 tenants on the farm and every one of them has paid up in full this fall and is out of debt, and I give the cotton control program credit for the improved conditions and financial circumstances of the tenants on my farm as well as myself."

From 10 cents worth of pecans planted by Mrs. Will Mattingley, member of the Tarzan Home Demonstration Club in Marvin county, 61 little pecans will be set beside the surface tank at the Mattingley home, as shade for the fish that are in the tank. Plums and peaches, from seed, are growing by the pecans in the plant bed. Eleven grape vines are already started from cuttings this year.

Pasture Is Yielding For 8-Month Period

ANGELTON, Nov. 10.—A two-year-old improved pasture seeded to dallis grass, carpet grass, lespedeza, white Dutch clover, and California burr clover mowed twice a year has carried an average of one and one-fourth head of grown stock per acre from March to October this year on the Barnes farm near Angleton, according to J. H. Sandlin, farm demonstration agent.

In several places the dallis grass and carpet grass were so tall that the mower topped them in September when the second weed cutting was taking place.

REVIEWS YEAR'S WORK OF FARM EXTENSION

Regular Work Makes Emergency Program Possible

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 10.—Reviewing the extension year in an advance report sent to Washington, O. B. Martin, director, pointed out that the regular work of the service conducting demonstrations over a period of years with the rural citizens of Texas was the thing which made it possible to swing the great emergency agricultural programs which constitute the most spectacular phases of the year's work.

"The cotton, wheat and cornhog programs were handled by farm demonstration agents through the help of local committees composed in many cases of men who were carrying on demonstrations on their own farms," Mr. Martin stated.

"The erosion control programs of the Department of the Interior fitted right onto the regular terracing demonstrations. Texas farm and ranch people have been carrying on for years. Fitted in and added impetus also. This has been a great terracing year in Texas.

"Extension livestock work and home meat canning formed the basis on which was erected the government's drouth relief pro-

4-H Club Girl Is Star 'Producer'

WHEELER, Nov. 10.—Not only did Joy Bill Riley of the Briscoe 4-H club in Wheeler county plant a spring and fall garden, but she also canned 211 quarts of five varieties of foods this year and set out 20 trees, 100 berry vines, and 300 grape vines, according to Miss Viola Jones, home demonstration agent. Joy Bill did not sell any vegetables, but she sold 55 gallons of berries and made a profit of $11.

"Club work has meant so much to me. I have learned to can, to sew, to cook, and to do many other interesting things," Joy Bill says.

The use of retired acres for foods and feed to be consumed at home and the secretary of agriculture's effort to put more land into grass was related to and promoted in connection with the live-at-home program Texas Extensioners have laid the foundation for in years of solid pantry demonstrations and the permanent pasture demonstrations which have made such progress in recent years.

"Working altogether Texas farm and ranch people and Texas Extensioners have joined hands with the New Deal and the results are showing up in better homes, better incomes, better living conditions and a spirit of greater contentment in rural Texas than has existed during the past hard years," Mr. Martin concluded.

Canning Plant Here Declared Success in Two Weeks

EXCEEDS 4,600 CANS LATE IN 2ND WEEK

Most of This Week To Be Spent in Meat Canning

After less than two weeks of actual operation in which more than 4,600 cans of food stuff has been produced, local managers of the government canning kitchen in Memphis are ready to declare the plant here a success.

With daily receipts of the local plant running slightly more than the estimated daily expenses, present indications are that the community project here is on a paying basis and will be continued by the government until it is no longer a paying proposition.

Over 2,500 in Week
Output of the plant during the past week passed the 2,500 mark set the first of this week by Mrs. Charlie Williams, supervisor and manager. "We are well pleased with the way producers are co-operating with us to make the plant a success and want them to continue to bring in all kinds of foods to be canned on a commission basis," Mrs. Williams said yesterday.

The canning of meats began Monday and three whole beeves were canned prior to Saturday. Nine more beeves are booked to be canned by tomorrow or Tuesday night.

About 500 Daily
Most of the operation this week will be centered on the canning of beeves, and everyone with meat to be canned by the plant is urged to make engagements immediately.

Appointments made in person should be made at the canning plant. Information regarding canning appointments by telephone may be secured by phoning the office of Judge A. C. Hoffman, county relief administrator, Mrs. Williams said.

The average daily output of the plant is about 500 cans, while commission charges range in the neighborhood of 250 cans of food-stuff per day. Since the plant began operation two weeks ago, approximately 2,500 cans have been retained by the plant, it was estimated yesterday by Mr. Williams, who is assisting Mrs. Williams in the management of the plant.

Average Cash Value
Food stuff retained by the plant is to be used this winter in feeding families on the county relief rolls.

Figured at an estimated value of 12 1/2 cents per can, the average daily receipts by the plant is more than $30 per day, while labor and operating costs average approximately $25 to $26 per day. "As long as the plant can continue to work on this basis, there is no danger of it being discontinued," Mr. Williams said Saturday.

Practically all of the foods canned to date has been fruits and vegetables, and, in spite of the lateness of the season, vegetables are still coming in faster than they can be canned. Apples and pears are the only fruits that have been canned, while the list of vegetables includes beans, peas, mustard greens, turnips, turnip greens, pumpkins, sweet potatoes and others.

Full Crew on Job
In spite of the fact that the plant is still operating short of equipment, a full crew is on the job and the kitchen is operating almost at capacity strength. Ten persons from the relief rolls are employed daily, in addition to Mrs. Williams, who has supervision of the plant. An idea of the speed of the working of the kitchen can be seen in the canning of beeves. One day during the past week a large beef was canned in exactly fifty minutes after the meat was brought into the kitchen.

Because of the arrangement of the plant and care taken in operation, all food consignments are kept separate, it was pointed out yesterday by Mr. Williams. Each consignment of food is sent through the plant separately and it is very improbable that any of the cans will become mixed, Mr. Williams said. "Every patron is absolutely assured that the finished product received at the left of the front entrance is the same foodstuff that this patron brought to be canned," he pointed out.

Utter satisfaction has been expressed by those who have had any canning done by the relief kitchen here, he said.
