tine customs have become slightly obscured as a result of the fact that there were three St. Valentines, and all three were associated with February 14.

However, it is definitely known that Valentine's day is for the exchanging of gifts between friends and lovers. For many years it has been a recognized fact that one of the most-appreciated gifts for the "Day of Hearts" is one of flowers. With Valentine day just slightly more than two weeks off, Miss Carrie Scholz of Caroline's Flowers advises that such gifts be décided on soon for a wider selection of perfect blossoms.

The practice of giving gifts on Feb. 14 might have come from the ancient Roman feast honoring Pan and Juno, the high spot of which was a chance of drawing for couples for the year. The practice of giving has continued regardless of who started it or how it was be-

Caroline's has a wide variety of the flowers which are usually associated with the holiday. In cut flowers there are carnations, roses and fris, which are especially attractive. The plants include daffodils, tulips and a wide variety of fresh, colorful flowers. There are Heavy shipments of poery, of hay, including prairie grass, all types of blossoms available for corsages, and Caroline's has telegraph delivery service for anywhere in the country.

You Have 'Til Midnight

With The News

By Dewitt Mackenzie AP World Traveler

MADRID, Jan. 31-You have not felt the pulse of Spain until you have travelled the broad highway. from Madrid to the ancient city of Toledo-not that Toledo itself is any gauge, for it is largely a record of the past, but along this road you get a measure of Spanish tempo and economic position.

The Toledo road takes you with startling abruptness from the thronged streets of the capital into the broadly rolling Castilian plain where, as far as the eye can reach, there stretch out before you highly cultivated farmlands.

There are great areas which are sown to barley and wheat, interspersed with big fields of vegetables from which Madrid gets many of its supplies. Scattered across the plains are green groves of olive trees and almonds and vineyards. D an agricultural scene as you would find. All of this fits into the estimate of the other European countries which remained neutral during the world conflict. This does not mean, of course that Spain is not having her troubles-for she isbut relatively speaking she is not so badly off, as things stand on this war shattered continent.

Maybe your globe trotting correspondents are over-imaginative but the Toledo road and the Castilian plain seemed to tell us more than that. The world has come to think of Spain as a dreamy land Traffic Help of tomorrow where life moves slowly. Yet there in these well-tied lands are the concrete evidence of hard and active work.

The Toledo road does remind one, however, that Spain is taking her time in moving into the mechanized age with a curious mingling of the old world and the new. Automobiles and motor trucks race past slow moving two-wheeled covered carts, drawn by mule teams harnessed in single file-sometimes four of these powerful animals for which Spain is famous, There are some mule teams which oddly enough are headed by a tiny donkey that toils not and neither does he spin, but just ambles amiably along, flopping his ears.

On inquiry I was told that the donkey is the pilot for the mules, which do not think quite so fast

Anyway, whatever may be the role of the donkey, these mule teams seemed rather incongruous among the motor traffic, and this old world picture was highlighted by the occasional appearance of a drowsy team of oxen.

So finally we came to the gates of Toledo, which stands on a high and jagged hill that rises within the sweeping circle of a great gorge cut by the Tagus river. This city was old when the Christian era began, and it has been the melting pot of the Spanish

However, as already indicated, it was not the purpose of this column to discuss Toledo. We merely wanted to direct your attention to the story which unfolds the Toledo highway.

By JACK STINNETT

For most of the past month we have been reminding people of Howard county that today is the last day for qualifying as a voter during 1946, either by poll tax payment or exemption certificate.

If as many register today as did the final day of 1944, the last comparable election year, we may finish with a good record of voting strength. If you are one of those who has delayed until the last minute, you still have time by going to the tax collector's office before midnight, for it is being kept open to help those who could not come until the last

Indifference is the worst enemy we have in mustering our voting strength. Some people just don't care. They deserve anything that could happen to them. Other people take the queer attitude that matters are so bad they don't want to have anything to do with them. They deserve to be excluded absolutely from any voice in the conduct of affairs.

But the vast majority of people are interested in exercising their full rights as a citizen. They want to have the voice in governmental matters granted to them in our form of government. They want to be able to speak on any issue which might arise during the year.

And these people, we hope, will make an honest effort to qualify before midnight today as voters. If it is not possible to call in person, a letter with money or check enclosed, will qualify provided information of age, occupation, years in state and county are given, together with address.

One good service being performed these days is by policemen along Third street late in the afternoons.

Realizing that the sunlight blinds westbound traffic and even obscures the color of traffic lights o eastbound vehicles, police have stationed themselves along two or three principal corners in the busiest part of the downtown section of the prin- American's last message: cipal thoroughfare.

Any man who gives one of the most colorful figures his body with fluid while he fought as much time, energy, enthusiasm, and vision to the boys as Charles Paxton has, has done an exceptional service. Any man who continues this aggressive spirit in a place of high responsibility for 15 years accomplishes an achievement which cannot be fully evaluated. Not only can the phenominal growth of the council be used as evidence of Paxton's ability, but the hundreds and hundreds of young men who today are active, conscientious good citizens offer an eloquent testimony as to the value of the service.
