GENERAL STRIKE ORDERED

65,000 MEN TO WALK OUT; SAN FRANCISCO FACES CHAOS, FAMINE

Strike Is Called 'Worst Calamity Since Disaster of 1906'; Warlike Preparations Move Forward; Mayor Assumes Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—A general strike of gradually increasing intensity in San Francisco and Oakland, beginning Monday, was declared by union labor today in a desperate maneuver to help the Pacific coast longshoremen and marine workers locked deeply in a battle with employers.

Howling down the "conservative" elements in a zero hour meeting of the huge general strike committee representing 65,000 union men of San Francisco, the rank and file voted overwhelmingly for a walkout.

Unions which already had voted to strike were instructed to walk out Monday.

Forebodings of chaos, bloodshed and hunger settled like dark clouds in the background of feverish activity.

National guardsmen, holding control of the state owned waterfront here since the bloody rioting of July 5, began armed movements into the industrial district. Officers said they were gathering food for an emergency.

There was a rising tide of warlike preparations in the already paralyzed Golden Gate city.

RURAL SCHOOLS' REPORT MADE FOR COUNTY

The elementary grade pupils' schooling cost $29,880. The cost of the rural school students was $8,760.

The average cost of each elementary grade pupil was $37.10, and the average cost of each rural high school student for the past school year was $71.50.

Daily attendance in the elementary grades for the rural schools averaged 874. For the high schools the average was 126.

The report showed that four of the rural schools in the county (Continued on page 2)

DROUTH PICTURE 'PAINTED GRAY'

Department of Agriculture Shows Hopeless Situation in Texas, Oklahoma

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The Department of Agriculture, in a broad survey of the drouth situation as of July 1, today painted a gray picture of prospects in Texas and in Oklahoma.

Four government agencies cooperated in the survey.

Reports said that "there is no subsoil moisture in practically all sections of the state. Feedstuff supplies are about exhausted and there are no pastures except in a few favored localities. Pastures are being supplemented by other feed."

Cotton Checks Go Over $30,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The Farm Administration's cotton acreage reduction checks, rolling out with every mail, totaled $30,301,061 to July 11.

This included $8,558,414 for Texas. Cotton checks for Hall county amounted to $122,876.

'OLD TACK' OF AMARILLO TO ATTEND RALLY HERE

Announcement that "Old Tack" of the Amarillo Globe-News—Gene Howe, editor—will be here Saturday night in the interest of Senator Clint Small's candidacy for governor will add much zest to the political rally to start at 8:30 o'clock.

"Old Tack" will be accompanied by Ray C. Johnson, prominent attorney of Amarillo, who will also speak in behalf of Senator Small.

Political talk that has been short and cheap since last January, will be at the boiling point when Judge A. S. Moss nounds his gavel, or fist, and calls the first and only political rally to order, which will be held in this city prior to the primery of July 28.

A goodly sprinkling of representatives of candidates for state office is expected to be on hand to give vocal support to their favorites, but it will be the county and precinct candidates who will furnish the local color at the meeting. It is understood, on good authority, that candidates have been practicing their speeches for this auspicious occasion for several weeks past—polishing their rhetoric, making an extended search for adjectives, and in general, getting into physical and mental trim for one of the biggest political rallies Memphis has witnessed of recent years.

There are any number of real orators in the ranks of the candidates this year, men and women who have a message and the courage to deliver it. While a time limitation will be put on the speeches, it is expected that—with the adequate preparation made in advance—that few, if any, of the candidates will be called down by the presiding officer for overstepping his or her time. In Search For New York Broker's Missing Child

Memories of the famous Lindbergh baby kidnap hunt were revived when a posse of 700 citizens, police and firemen searched the picturesque woods about exclusive Hartsdale Manor, N. Y., for Robert Connor, 18-month-old grandson of a wealthy retired clothing merchant, who was feared kidnapped from his home by a demented peddler. Here police point at the missing baby's doll at the point where he was last seen. The baby disappeared late Thursday afternoon. Pictures were rushed by air to Fort Worth and by train to Memphis, to make The Democrat among the first newspapers west of the Mississippi to carry the accompanying photographs, only two days after the child disappeared.

Missing Baby

The 18-month-old son of a New York broker, Bobby Connor (above), was the subject of an intensive search when it was feared an eccentric peddler kidnaped him from his home in exclusive Hartsdale Manor, N. Y. The boy's grandfather, Charles P. Connor, of Arlington, Mass., is reputedly a wealthy retired clothing merchant.

Police Believe Eccentric Peddler Will Be Taken

HARTSDALE, N. Y., July 14.—Apprehension of an eccentric peddler for questioning in connection with the disappearance of 18-month-old Bobby Connor, was reported tonight by police to be only a matter of hours from this to the "key figure."

Police hoped to support their theory that the baby was kidnaped Thursday evening.

While they worked on a wide flung front, Frank Fay, department of justice agent, hurriedly left the Connor home on a mysterious mission.

A baby resembling the missing child was found at Lynbrook, N. Y., tonight, but shortly afterwards its parents came to the police (Continued on page 2)

Marriage of William 'Tug' Sanders to Miss Elizabeth Williams of Dallas Is Announced

Cards have been received in Memphis announcing the marriage of William Thomas (Tug) Sanders, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Sanders of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Elsie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Williams of Dallas. The marriage was solemnized on Saturday, April 7, 1934, at Weatherford.

Mr. Sanders graduated from Memphis High school with the class of 1932. During his school career in Memphis, he lettered four years in football and three years in track. He took a leading part in all student activities. Mr. Sanders attended Southern Methodist university the past year, lettering in freshman football and track. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. It is expected that he will make the varsity football team this fall, as he will resume his studies at Southern Methodist university in September, where he is majoring in journalism.

Mrs. Sanders is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Williams of Dallas. She graduated from high school in Corsicana. She attended College of Industrial Arts at Denton one year and Southern Methodist university two years. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will be at home in Dallas.

Mrs. Insull Arrives to Aid Husband

She once commanded private yachts but it was in a modest $126 tour class cabin that Mrs. Samuel Insull, wife of the indicted Chicago utilities magnate, arrived in New York from a 26-month stay in Europe. (Continued from page 2)

It is a known fact that many voters have not made up their minds definitely as to the candidates they will support. They are on the proverbial fence and the logic of the speeches next Saturday night should go far to convince voters in Memphis and contiguous territory as to which candidates to support.

"Politics is surely quiet. You can't hear anything." "I have no idea how any of the candidates are running. This election beats me—it is such a silent affair." Expressions like these, and similar ones, are heard on the streets of Memphis every day. But after the rally Saturday, the complexion of county and precinct politics will have undergone a change, and a radical one at that.

Thousands of people are expected to be present at the rally. Thousands of voters are expected to make up their minds definitely as to which candidates they will support. It's anybody's office now—that's the way the voters feel. With Memphis holding the balance of power, a big change will transpire after the rally. Some will be disappointed; others elated; some will not be surprised.

Seek Kidnapers-

The peddler sought was here on the day that Bobby disappeared. Department of Justice operatives waited vainly today for a kidnap note that would justify their entrance into the search for Bobby Connor, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Connor, missing since Thursday.

Federal agents were called into the case under the Lindberg kidnaping law. The mystery of the boy's disappearance depends upon placing censorship upon the household of the frantic parents.

With the head of the state health office at Austin Friday night by long distance and received exact directions on the care and control of the malady.

All of the paralysis patients in Memphis are clear of fever, he said, and there is apparently no reason for the disease to spread.

Local officers in speaking of the dreaded disease stated that there was no cause for alarm here, as every caution to control the disease was being taken.

Dr. Stidham stated that Memphis residents would be kept well informed on the paralysis cases here through the columns of The Democrat so that they might not become unnecessarily alarmed because of rumors that might be heard.

Two cases of infantile paralysis have been reported near Estelline. No other nearby towns or communities have reported any cropping out of the disease.

burial services at Clarendon. Mrs. Roberts was born in Spartanburg, Tenn., Jan. 3, 1866. She was married to L. H. Roberts at Clarksville, Tenn., in 1884 and moved to Texas two years later, settling in Dallas county.

She removed to Clarendon in 1888, where she lived until 1922, when she changed her home to Amarillo.

Mrs. Roberts was the daughter of Rev. B. M. Stephens, a pioneer preacher of Tennessee. He organized the Methodist church at Clarendon, for which Mrs. Roberts served as organist for several years. Mr. Roberts died on Oct. 1, 1919.

Mrs. Roberts is survived by six sons, S. S. Roberts of Clarendon; T. R. Roberts of Memphis; J. H. O. D., B. M. and Richard Roberts of Amarillo; four daughters, Mrs. W. W. Ballew of Amarillo; Mrs.

A. Womack of Memphis, Mrs. H. H. Warner of Amarillo and Mrs. Luther Butler of Clarendon; two sisters, Mrs. E. M. Curry, Altus, Okla., and Mrs. Carrie Peebles, Dallas, and two brothers, F. P. and B. M. Stephens of Dallas. A number of grand children also survive.

All of her children and one sister, Mrs. Curry, were present when death came.

Besides her children and their families who were here Saturday and attended the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Montgomery, Childress; Mrs. E. M. Curry and son, Ted, Altus, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roberts, Abilene; Miss Eunice Castleman, Amarillo, and Rev. and Mrs. Ira F. Key of Marshall.

Heat, light, and food supplies must continue, Mayor Rossi declared, as he assumed "unlimited emergency powers" granted under the city charter.

Last Hope Vanishes

Virtually the last hope of persuading the employers to arbitrate vanished as President Roosevelt's labor dispute board reported "no success" after a long meeting with employers.

Meanwhile, fresh meats, fruits and vegetables were becoming scarce. Supplies intended for blockaded San Francisco were threatened with almost complete isolation should the ferryman strike. They were reported consigned far back into the farming area.

with an average total membership of 16 taught 10 grades each. This means an average of four children was taught last year in each grade.

Fifteen of the 63 rural school teachers in the county held B. A. degrees, the report showed. Fourteen of the teachers had had three years of college work, 19 had two years' work, 13 had one year and two had less than one year of college work.

Of the 63 teachers for the past year, 21 had taught in the county rural schools the preceding year, 19 had taught for the previous two years, four for the previous three years, one for the previous four years and four for the preceding five or more years. There were 14 replacements last year.

The report shows that there are 18 fully affiliated Parent-Teacher associations in connection with the county's rural schools and 17 standard rural schools.

The 21 rural schools in the county included in the annual report are Eli, Deen Lake, Gammas, Webster, Parnell, Indian Creek, Wolf Flat, Baylor, Pleasant Valley, Penn Creek, Salisbury, Weatherly, Buffalo Flat, Bridle Pitt, Leach, Plaska, Friendship, Churchman, Fairview and Tampico.

Tucker was arraigned yesterday afternoon in justice court before W. L. Wheat, justice of the peace, and a charge of assault with intent to murder was placed against him.

Tucker was released on $1,000 bond. His case awaits action of the grand jury in September.

The shooting affair, which took place yesterday afternoon at about 2 o'clock on the J. N. Collier ranch, five miles southwest of Detelling, resulted from an argument between Tucker and a negro who was not injured during the shooting. The argument concerned a wagon sheet.

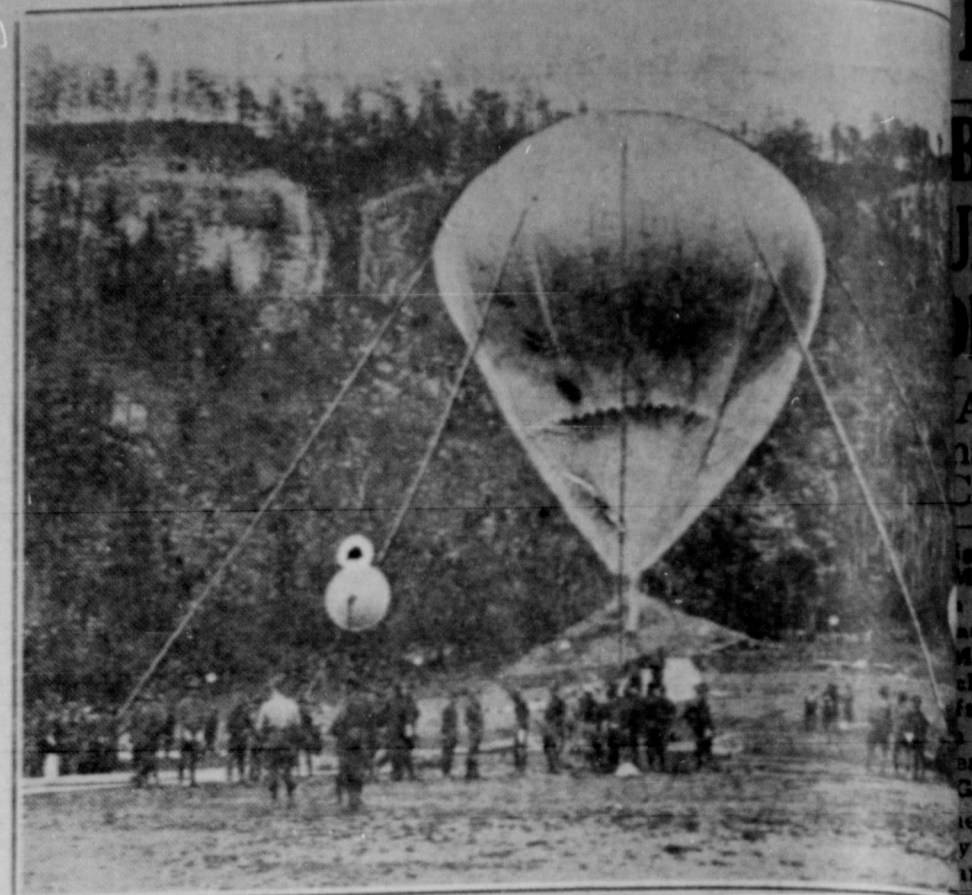

The two negroes shot were said not to have been included in the quarrel but were accidentally shot by bullets intended for the other negro.

An old fashioned .38 pistol was said to have been the weapon used.

EXPLAINS WORK OF RED CROSS

Organization Aids in Relief Distribution of Cotton and Wheat Through U. S.

An official report on the methods employed by the American Red Cross in the distribution of government wheat and cotton to provide food and clothing relief to more than five million families in need due to unemployment and other causes has been received by Edwin Thompson, county Red Cross chairman at the national headquarters in Washington.

According to Chairman John Barton Payne, relief went into practically every county in the United States and each of the territories, and this was the first time in the history of private agencies in the United States that a distribution on a national scale was attempted.

On March 7, 1932, congress adopted an unprecedented measure when it directed that 40 million bushels of wheat stored under the stabilization program of the Federal Farm Board be turned over to the Red Cross, the report states. The act directed that the products be given to the nation's needy and also that farmers in drought stricken states be allotted a share as stock feed.

The report shows that 85 million bushels of wheat were made into 10,688,307 barrels of flour, 4,885 tons of cereal and 233,901 tons of feed for livestock. The cotton—884,063 bales—was converted into 103,650,778 yards of cloth and sheeting, 66,733,524 readymade garments and 3,179,941 blankets and comforts. In addition, both wheat and cotton were used in barker to meet costs of manufacture, packing and shipping.

The administrative costs were born by the Red Cross with an expenditure of $725,000 from its treasury, the report states.

It also says that in working out its plans for this undertaking, the Red Cross adopted as its purposes: To effect as wide distribution of the products of the two commodities as was possible, in order to meet all needs to the extent of raw materials available.

To cause the least disturbance through the milling and cotton and allied industries.

Insofar as possible to effect an equitable distribution of business among the millers and manufacturers.

Wolf Flat School Rating Rejected

At a meeting of the Wolf Flat school board and teachers recently, it was decided to reject the classification given the Wolf Flat school by the county school board and to teach 10 grades as has been the custom of the school for a number of years.

The county board set the number of grades to be taught by the Wolf Flat school at eight.

Teaching of the 10 grades can be done without any raise in taxation, it was said. The regular school fund is sufficient to carry the school for an eight-month year, it was said.

The personnel of the faculty at this time is composed of E. K. Kitching, principal, Mrs. Jess Jenkins and Miss Fulghum. One other teacher will be added.

Baptists Cinch Tie for Softball Title by Victory in Final Battle

Pushing over a disputed run in the final half of the last inning, the Baptists nosed out the Methodists in a tight, heated game Friday, 7 to 6, in their last scheduled game.

Taking the lead with a first-inning rally, the Baptists led their visitors all the way until the first half of the seventh, when, with a terrific rally, the Methodists pushed over four runs to knot the count.

Then, in their half of the seventh, the Baptists, with one out, rallied. Winifred Swift, on third, came in when Crump experienced difficulty with G. Gilliam's hot grounder. The throw home caught Swift, but Roy Guthrie, Methodist catcher, dropped the ball when Swift collided with him.

Umpire Noel called Swift safe and the game was ended. Methodists continued in the belief, however, that Swift, who was forced, had been put out before Guthrie dropped the ball.

The game saw much good hitting and sensational fielding, especially by Crump, Springer, Melton, Guthrie, G. and E. Gilliam, Massey, Brewer and Blevins.

Tomorrow at 6:30 o'clock the last charted game will be staged. The Presbyterians will have as their guests the last-place Christians. A Presbyterian victory will mean that a play-off series of five games between that crew and the Baptists will take place. Should the Christians win, the Baptists will automatically be league champions, and will vie with the Loafers for the all-city title.

GOLF

By Art Krenz

Improper pivoting has caused more trouble in golf than anything else.

Failure to pivot correctly and to get the weight over to the right leg in the backswing leaves too much weight on the left leg. In the downswing, the player then pulls back to the right leg, which results in cutting across the ball.

By shifting the weight properly, that is to the right leg in the backswing and the left in the downswing, the right side, which otherwise would be blocked by fanly pivoting, will follow easily around with the swing.

SEED PRODUCERS MEET

AUSTIN, July 14.—All growers of state certified seed plan to meet at College Station July 30 to create a certified seed producers association.

R. V. Miller, chief of the field seed certification division of the department of agriculture, said it would be the first meeting of all growers of certified cotton, sorghum, oats and corn seed. The purpose of the organization, he said, would be to promote the breeding and use of better seed by Texas farmers.

Farmer's Union Supply Company Starts 28th Anniversary

Farmers' Union Supply Company Starts 28th Anniversary

More Than Quarter-Century of Growth And Expansion

Twenty-seven years of improvement and expansion will be ended this month by the Farmers' Union Supply company.

Starting in 1907 with 30 stockholders, a small frame building and one clerk, the company has grown into one of the largest retail concerns in Hall county.

It now has 165 stockholders; does business in stores at Memphis, Eli and Plaska and employs 14 men and women as managers, clerks, etc.

It has grown from a small retail business to its present position of general merchandise, following one of its policies to "sell everything the public wants to buy and to buy anything the public has to sell."

During the past fiscal year, which ended June 1, the company measured the trend of improved conditions within its territory. During the period from June 1, 1933, until June 1, 1934, the three stores showed a sales gain of $68,000 over the preceding year. The income for the year 1932-33, according to John T. Bishop, general manager, was $122,000. For the same period ending last June 1, the income was $190,000.

The company's latest addition of business handled on a large scale is that of purchasing poultry and eggs, which was started last year. During the first six months of this year, the Farmers' Union has purchased 55,977 pounds of poultry and 41,670 dozen eggs from Hall county farmers. This represents a total output of $9,155.40.

Besides what it buys from local people and concerns, the company also averages two carloads of straight merchandise every week, Mr. Bishop stated.

Starting with its small frame structure, the company later moved to a large frame building and then removed to a brick home, at the opposite end of the block to its present site. The present modern home is on the site of the first building.

T. M. McMurry is president of the Farmers' Union Supply company. T. J. Thompson is vice-president. E. M. Ewen is secretary, and John T. Bishop is general manager. W. B. Landis is manager of the Eli branch, and Ernest McMurry has charge of the Plaska store.

The Memphis store employs 11 department managers, clerks, etc. The personal of the staff is as follows: E. H. Whittington, book-keeper; Lee Guthrie, clerk; Raymond Adeock, head of produce department; Arvor McQueen, clerk; Mrs. Grace Duke, head of dry goods department; E. M. Ewen, Jr., head of oil and gas department; John Neese, station operator; Tom Bursey, deliveryman; Jack Hubbard, cream station operator, in charge of warehouse, and D. F. Massey, yard man.

By Associated Press. GALVESTON, Tex., July 14.—A porpoise said to be of the largest ever seen here, recently attracted crowds to west beach where it had been washed up dead. It was eight feet in length and weighed about 500 pounds.

TEXAS IN EVERY WAY

"I feel that Mr. McDonald has done a great deal for the agricultural and livestock interests of Texas," Mr. Williamson stated, "and I believe there are enough Texans who feel likewise to return him to office in the coming election."

STATE STALLION BRINGING BETTER STOCK TO COUNTY

Hon. J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, stated to W. W. Williamson, who is caretaker of the state stallion located in Hall county, that the people of this section have taken advantage of the opportunity to breed to this high grade stallion and that it shows an increased interest in better livestock for this section of Texas. He also says that Hall county ranks among the leading counties of Texas in breeding, according to the number of jacks and stallions placed in these counties.

Mr. Williamson says that he is equipped now to handle this stallion and during another season, he will be in a position to serve the people of this county even better than he has this year. Mr. McDonald states that this stallion will remain in Hall county and that he hopes with the receipt of additional funds to place other jacks and stallions in this section.

From every portion of Hall and adjoining counties, farmers and stockmen have taken advantage of and mules of a very high type. Although the funds for the purchase of these jacks and stallions has been limited, Commissioner McDonald advises that he has placed animals in 103 counties of Texas, and in every instance has received the full cooperation of the caretakers, county agents, and the local paper in giving publicity to this movement, for all of which he is grateful and assures his continued effort to serve the people of these counties.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

Presently she came to the park. Various other strollers mostly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When HOWARD JACKSON, young geologist professor, comes to the small middle-western town of Marburg JANE TERRY, the prettiest girl in town, determines to win his heart.

Howard is attracted by Jane's friend, AMY LOWE, but Jane schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love.

Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her she interprets his words as a declaration of love and announces their engagement.

A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VII

Miss Rosa went with Jane to the late afternoon train and waited with her in the big empty station. "I know I ought to go along with you," she said at last. "Just for a few days to get you settled."

"If you went with me I'd get off at the next station and go somewhere else. I don't want you or anyone else."

"Don't strike out at me, my dear, because of your own suffering," said Miss Rosa. "That does not help. I'm doing all I can."

Jane went on with cruel intention. "You'll be as glad to get rid of me as I am to go. We've never been very fond of each other, have we, Aunt Rosa? You don't care about anything but playing bridge and having nice fattening meals and making the house look a little better-kept than anybody else's. I suppose you're too old to know how young people feel, really."

"Maybe I am," said Miss Rosa wearily. "Anyway, Jane I did the best I could with my limitations. I'm very fond of you, even if you don't believe it, and it fairly tears me to see you like this—"

"Will you stop nagging me!" "Your train's coming in." She hugged Jane's stiff, resistant shoulders and kissed her on both cheeks. "Dear child, anything you want of me, any time, I'm always here. And write to me, even if it's nothing but a card—"

But Jane had pulled away from the embrace and was hurrying to the train. The porter swung up her bag. Her trunk was slammed into the baggage car three coaches ahead. Miss Rosa watched, more unhappy and perturbed than she had ever been in her whole life.

All the way back to the house Miss Rosa was miserable with defeat. "I shouldn't have let her go," she thought. "I ought to have insisted that she stay here and face it. But she would surely have done something desperate. There's a kind of power in Jane. She made me let her go off entirely against my better judgment. I don't suppose she has the least idea of studying anywhere. Oh, Lord, what a hard time parents must have!"

Jane, by now, some 50 miles away, was for the moment unaware of her advantages. The energy that had started her on this determined flight had gone. She sat crumpled in the seat, seeing nothing but Howard Jackson looking at Amy, hearing nothing but his voice saying to Amy, "I love you."

Never afterward in her life was she able to recall any detail of that journey, how she reached the hotel nor how she spent the first few days of her stay, for she was suspended in pain and unreality. The truth was that she stayed in her room most of the time, lying in bed or sitting by the window while the managemen, only partly reassured by messages from Miss Rosa, kept an uneasy watch on her, sending maids on unnecessary errands, while the housekeeper lingered nervously in the hall for their reports. Jane did not know it. But she did know that after a while she began to come alive and to feel that she must do something. Accordingly she went out for a walk, looking into shop windows at first blankly, then with a faint interest quickened by the sight of clothes and trinkets superior to anything Marburg could offer. She began to feel a small importance, to see herself as a very attractive, well-dressed, independent young woman with any sort of interesting career she might choose open before her.

Presently she came to the park and strolled in a little way to rest in its greenness. The important feeling subsided, leaving a flatness in its place and great loneliness.

Various other strollers, mostly elderly men, glanced at her with speculative admiration, all of them only too ready and willing to start conversation. Jane saw that and it pleased her. It brought back her feeling of importance and an increased dislike of inactivity.

She must vindicate herself. She must do something quickly to show her superiority to Amy and all the meager, stupid life of Marburg, and to make Howard Jackson realize what he had lost. A vague, brilliant vision of her returning to dazzle and to condescend rose in her mind but she could not evolve and definite guide toward its realization. There must be something she could study with immediate results and she would find out at once.

But the registrar's office of the Columbia summer school was baffled by Jane and bewildered by her. No, she didn't want a course of Chaucer or any other early English literature. No more did she want Romance languages. Or Greek history. Or renaissance art. Or pedagogy of any variety.

One of the secretaries, more observant than the others, had seen the tight nerves, the despairing eagerness behind Jane's apparent aimlessness and took her aside. "Look here," she said kindly, "why do you bother with this sort of thing? It's mostly for teachers, you know: You seem to me, I don't know exactly why, but you do seem to me to be looking for something quite practical, outside the field of education. Why don't you take a course in one of these high-grade secretarial schools and get into some business—publishing or advertising, maybe? My sister went to one and she's done awfully well, got a position as secretary to the editor of a big magazine and worked herself into the staff. I'll give you a couple of addresses."

It was the first line of direction Jane had found and she probably would not have followed it but one of the schools was near her hotel. She passed it as she went back there and after a moment's hesitation returned and entered. It was a competent place with more than a suggestion of swagger. At once Jane felt herself at ease. She was understood. She caught their possibilities. She liked the very smart frock and make-up, the detached capability of the director, Miss Jardine. In no time at all she was enrolled for as much work as she could induce them to heap upon her. "You simply can't do all these things at once," Miss Jardine told her, breaking through her cool elegance for a human moment.

"Oh, yes I can. I must," Jane replied and was gratified by the impression she was making. That night she wrote two letters. One was to her aunt, an answer to the letters and telegrams which poor Miss Rosa had been heaping on her ever since her arrival and which Jane, so far, had not noticed. "You needn't worry about me," wrote Jane. "I am perfectly all right, I've settled everything. I went up to the University but they were a lot of old dodos and all they could offer were dead dull courses, mostly a sort of rehash of the Venerable Bede and the Doomsday Book and other antiquated out-of-date stuff, nothing that interested me at all. So I determined to take a course in one of the modern secretarial schools and am starting tomorrow. Don't get the idea its nothing but short hand and typewriting. It's quite different—the sort of work that leads at once to positions in publishing houses or big advertising agencies. I wish you'd send me everything of mine that I didn't bring along—my books and my pillows and pictures and the lacquer box on the table in my room and my large mirror."

She had written that last to make clearer to her aunt—and to herself—that she was done with Marburg and was never going back to it.

But over the second letter she hesitated. Ever since that morning in the chapel she had been beset with the wish to revenge herself on Amy, spoil her happiness if she could. The letter, ready at last, after many crossings out and changes, was far from consistent but Jane could do no more with it. She copied it in a spontaneous, dashing hand.

"My dear Amy: I've been surprised not to hear from you since I left. It seemed to me that the least you owed me was an explanation if you didn't feel quite up to an apology. But I can see how difficult it would be for you to offer either. Really, Amy, I have been your friend so long and thought I knew you so well, but I never in the world could have suspected you of doing what you have done to me.

"I want to tell you again that in spite of everything he may say, Howard Jackson literally pursued me with his attentions and made love to me ardently. Also he certainly did ask me to marry him. I cared for him deeply. I believed in his honor and sincerity and I know him so well that I still believe in them and am still absolutely certain that he cares for me and they have deliberately stepped in to drive us apart. Well, you have succeeded. You have taken away from me the only man I could ever care for—a man who really loved me until you came between us. Fortunately I am strong enough to go on without you, without either of you. But the scar of this wound you have inflicted will always remain."

To Miss Rosa, Jane's letter indicated that Jane was herself again and not utterly broken under the fiasco of her engagement.

For Amy there was no such comfort. When she saw Jane's letter she did not want to open it, and the actual reading overwhelmed her. She couldn't show it to Howard, but she did take it to her mother.

"Of course it isn't true that Howard asked her to marry him, Mother," she said, "but Jane by this time believes it's true. You know how she is." "It's a cruel letter. It sounds a little like 'East Lynne.' Are you going to write to her?" "I don't know, but I believe I shall. She's so alone. Do you think I ought not to write?" Mrs. Lowe was puzzled for an adequate reply. "Amy," she said, at last, "If you feel you ought to write to Jane, go ahead and do it, only do be careful what you say and don't start a tong, painful controversy which will lead to nothing except to keep you unsettled

Many Devices Are Offered To Make Rain—They Fail

Many suggestions for stopping the severe drought of 1934 have come in to the United States Weather Bureau the last few weeks. Just as many are received for stopping floods in times of excessive rainfall. In fact, a single cause for example, the wide use of radio, is often advanced for both drought and flood. No device yet developed by man is of any practical value in starting or stopping rain, according to Dr. W. J. Humphrey, of the Weather Bureau.

Nature's method of making rain, Dr. Humphrey explains, is first to get an abundance of water into the atmosphere by evaporation from water surfaces, ice surfaces, growing vegetation, and damp soil and then to squeeze it out by lowering the temperature.

Ordinarily there is enough moisture in the air to provide at least a moderate rainfall whenever the machinery for its condensation into raindrops is working right.

Obviously, Dr. Humphrey points out, radio, which neither hastens nor retards evaporation and does not cool the air or in any way promote condensation of the moisture in the air, cannot be a factor in promoting or hindering rainfall.

Electrical devices, sprinkling the clouds with dry ice, starting large fires, and setting off loud explosions, among the other rain-making schemes suggested, either do not work or cost too much for practical use.

BUYING POWER OF FARMS IS INCREASED

Raised 25 Percent By Benefit Payments Of AAA

COLLEGE STATION, July 14.—Farm purchasing power on the average throughout the United States has been 25 per cent higher during the first nine months in which benefit payments have been distributed through the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act than in the corresponding period of the previous year.

This is the conclusion reached by L. H. Bean, economic advisor to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, following a study of the prices farmers receive for their products, compared with the cost of commodities they buy. Cash income, including benefit payments during this nine month period increased 38 per cent but this increased 38 per cent but this increase was partially offset by an increase in the cost of commodities farmers buy.

Benefit payments on production adjustment contracts contributed nearly one-fifth of the net increase of 25 per cent in purchasing power. For the first four months of 1934, the net increase in farm purchasing power was 28 per cent over the first four months of 1933.

Mr. Bean's study also shows that the purchasing power of the farmer increased somewhat more than the purchasing power of the country as a whole during the first four months of 1934. During this period, the total national money income, including the distribution of emergency funds, was about 20 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1933, but the cost of living for the country as a whole increased eight per cent, leaving a net increase of 12 per cent in the national purchasing power. The net increase in farm purchasing power was 28 per cent for the same period.

Growing chickens and turkeys, much of the needed feed and food for flock and family, and depending on a variety of truck crops for cash is the way W. H. Nixon of the Henry Prairie community, in Robertson county has weathered the gale of hard times. He tried an acre of cucumbers this year for the first time and the first picking paid all the expense of the crop except 10 cents.

A trench silo proved very profitable to H. F. Reist, Brooks county dairyman, because without it his feed would have been lost, due to the heavy rains last year. Mr. Reist has the only trench silo so far constructed in Brooks county, but a number of dairymen are so impressed by his savings that they will follow his example this summer.

Conserving moisture that is already in shrub beds is more important than watering them, says Mrs. Charles Galloway, home demonstration club member of Shady Acres in Harris county. A loose, finely pulverized soil around the roots of the shrubs will not only hold the moisture but discourages the growth of weeds.

Successful gardening depends upon shallow cultivation after every rain, according to Mrs. Monroe Reynolds of the Hastings home demonstration club in Shallockford county. Mrs. Reynolds has raised a garden every year for 25 years and this year has 37 varieties of vegetables, five of which are new to her experience.

Farmers in Bailey county have found that alfalfa is a good crop for the shallow water district. A large increase in acreage was made in 1933 and indications are that an even larger acreage will be planted in 1934. Several farmers are preparing their retired cotton acreage for seeding to alfalfa this fall.

John D. Rockefeller's rule for old age is "Don't worry." But, he should add, if you have to worry, worry the other fellow.

If we forget or neglect to exercise our legitimate control of those whom we appoint to govern us, they will inevitably exercise an unjust control of the whole people.—William Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

Foreign Insects Enter Country On Old Oil Painting

Some small wood-boring insects from Europe almost slipped into the United States with an old oil painting recently. A customs inspector at the Washington, D. C., post office discovered these undesirable immigrants just in time to keep them from establishing a new family of insects in this country.

When discovered, the foreign insects were busily boring into the block of wood on which the likeness of a saint had been painted, probably centuries ago, according to E. R. Sasser, in charge of the foreign plan quarantines in the United States Department of Agriculture. The ancient painting, with its dangerous insect colony, was turned over to the Department's plant quarantine inspection house. After being fumigated there the painting was sent on its way.

Persia With Iron Hand

High honors were tendered Mirza Reza Pahlavi, shah of Persia, when he paid a formal visit recently to Mustapha Kemal, ruler of the Turks, at Tschankaya, and was photographed in the two poses shown here. Reza Khan, as he has become known, seized the Persian throne in 1925 and has put down rebellions with an iron hand and laid the foundation of a stable state. His defiance of Britain on oil concessions aroused world interest last winter. In his youth, this colorful monarch was a member of the Cossack division maintained in Teheran by the Russian czar as a bodyguard for the shah.

The delegation from Oklahoma and the Texas panhandle arrived in Chicago aboard a special train and was taken to hotels in Ford V-8 courtesy cars. Following a breakfast at the Stevens Hotel, at which W. C. 'ALL AMERICAN SOAP BOX DERBY' TO BE SPONSORED BY CHEVROLET

Dayton, O., July 14.—A three-eighths mile hill in Dayton will assume national significance to American youth August 18 and 19, when the first nationally sponsored "All-American Soap Box Derby" will be run over the brick of Burkhardt hill.

race a four-year college scholarship. There are also more than 100 additional prizes of trips, merchandise and trophies to the winners and runners-up in both divisions.

Originated as a local stunt feature last year by Myron E. Scott, Dayton Daily News photographer, the event attracted approximately 450 entrants and more than 40,000 spectators.

CLASS TO VISIT PARK

Mrs. Roy R. Guthrie is leaving tomorrow with her Sunday School class on a three day outing at Pale Duro State Park. They will go to Canyon and visit the Museum.

This year, through the cooperation of Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealer organization, more than 40 cities in the United States will conduct local soap box derbies, and winners will have their cars shipped here to compete for the world's championship under the auspices of the Daily News and Chevrolet.

The party will include: Woodrow Alexander, W. C. Crum, Linden Gerlach, Frank Williams, Grant Evans, Bill Cameron, Norman Seago, Raymond Jarrell, Durwood Jones, Floyd Wattenburger, and John Bass of Clarendon.

Chevrolet dealers in each city are furnishing entry blanks, rule books and plans for the building of soap box racers, which are the old familiar box and wheel vehicles which at some time or other have provided transportation for almost every boy.

It is estimated that more than 20,000 boys will compete in the two divisions—the Soap Box Derby race for racers entirely home-constructed and driven by boys from six to 15; the other for cars built and sponsored by some firm or organization and driven by boys from 16 to 18 years old.

TIRES and TUBES

For three days prior to the race a Soap Box Show will be held in Dayton, winding up with a parade of the racers on Saturday morning, August 18. In the afternoon the Ohio state championship will be held and on the following day the All-American Derby will be run off.

E. E. Cudd of Memphis kept an accurate account of mileage, gasoline, oil and other details while on his trip to Chicago and "A Century of Progress," Canada, New York and other places this summer in his new Ford V-8.

In driving 5,083 miles this summer, Mr. Cudd used 251 gallons of gasoline, an average of approximately 20 miles to each gallon of gas.

The average speed maintained on the trip was between 50 and 60 miles per hour. Oil was changed six times. Mr. Cudd stated, and practically no oil was added between changes.

Plymouth Sales Top All-Time Record For Six Month Period

DETROIT, July 14.—Climaxing a record shattering six months of business, retail sales of Plymouth cars climbed to another all-time peak for the week ending June 30th, B. E. Hutchinson, Chairman of the Board of the Plymouth Motor Corporation, announced today.

Mr. Hutchinson stated that Plymouth retail sales for the week reached a total of 9,299 units, an increase of 3.2 per cent above the previous record week ended April 7th. This was 8.6 per cent above the previous week, ended June 23rd, and 23.7 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

Plymouth retail sales for the first six months of the year totaled 170,609 units, an increase of 60.5 per cent over sales for the first six months of last year and 164.5 per cent above the same period in 1932.

June sales of Plymouth cars totaled 35,515 units, 10.5 per cent above the May total and 4.7 per cent more than June sales last year.

In the six months' period, the Plymouth factory shipped a total of 235,215 units, including export business. This was an increase of 30.8 per cent over the first six months of last year and 217.3 per cent above the corresponding period of 1932.

Mr. Hutchinson pointed out that Plymouth shipments for the first six months this year were two per cent greater than combined shipments for the first six months of 1931, 1932 and 1933. He said the shipments in six months this year

Honeybee, Despite Its Years With Man, Is As Wild As Ever

The honeybee is often spoken of as domesticated, but this is far from true. Although men and bees have been closely associated since the dawn of history, the honeybee is apparently as wild today as it was centuries ago.

Other wild animals have yielded to man's influence and many of them are now as dependent upon man as man is upon them; but the bees in apiaries are as wild as are their cousins in dense forests.

Bees taken from a bee tree and placed in a modern hive are as much at home there as though they were descended from generations of hive-raised bees. On the other hand, a swarm that has left a modern apiary and settled in a hollow tree fare as well in its new environment as any of its ancestors in cave or forest. Bees are no more domesticated than are the bats in the barn or attic.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Ray and Mrs. Silas Wood and daughter, Bobbie Dee, left yesterday for a visit with relatives at Bullard.

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth has all of the much-discussed features of the 1934 low-priced cars. Individual front wheel springing, hydraulic brakes, safety steel bodies, no-draft ventilation, free-wheeling PLUS independent clutch, long wheelbase, greater gasoline mileage, higher speed, low first cost, low upkeep . . . everything a wise motorist considers when buying a car is part of the Plymouth. Why drive a car that has only a few of these admittedly worth while features?

Small Gets Smashing Reception in East Texas

GREAT SUPPORT IS PROMISED AT TYLER

Largest Crowds During Campaign Turn Out To Hear Him

Special To The Democrat
TYLER, July 14.—If Clint Small had any doubts that he has smashing support in East Texas, they were dispelled Thursday night when by far the largest crowd to hear any candidate in Tyler jammed into Bregfield park, with others in lines of cars around the park, to hear him bring his message to East Texas.

The same kind of reception was accorded the Senator at Palestine in the afternoon where he was praised and cheered by the largest crowd assembled there to hear a gubernatorial candidate.

Delegations and motor caravans from many East Texas towns, including Jacksonville, Gilmer, Quitman, Mineola, Longview, Gladewater, Carthage, Marshall, Kilgore, Henderson, Athens and Pannaola, attended the rally here.

More than 2,000 liberally applauded as Small promised to stop the theft of oil, which runs more than a million dollars weekly in this field. He challenged Attorney General Allred for failure to act.

"Allred, backed by hot oil interests, takes law enforcement in terms of Dillinger—and does nothing about the theft of oil in a manner that makes Dillinger a piker," Small said.

Small was introduced by Senator Will Pace of Tyler, who gave glowing endorsement of his colleague in the state senate. Pace declared that Small is the best choice for East Texas and called East Texans to join West Texans in electing a governor for all of Texas.

"Small is the man of the hour," said Judge Gordon Simpson, who presided.

Philo Long, heading the Carthage delegation, said that extreme East Texas was strong for Small and prophesied that he would lead the ticket there.

Judge E. M. Bramlette declared Small would get a plurality vote in Gregg county. J. C. Hunter and Tom Grisham, spokesman for Gladewater, said all oil operators believing in impartial proportion enforcement, were for Small and would out-vote the "hot oil crowd" there, who are supporting Allred or Hunter.

Optimistic reports were made for Small by spokesmen from all points. Single counties here will give him as many votes as all East Texas gave him in 1930, he said.

The heralded slush fund of race track gambling money to defeat Small made its appearance here tonight, when anonymous literature, prefaced by words, "Is It a Fact?," blamed Small for almost everything from the exploits of Borrow to bringing on the depression and the drought.

Small accepted the challenge. He declared that unless he was supported by the clean people those who started the fight might defeat him for governor, but he promised to wage it to a bitter end in the legislature where he remains a senator for two more years, regardless.

Local citizens, increased by the circulation of these handbills, forcibly stonned the circulation, and condemned the act.

Small would be governor today had East Texas known of his strength in the earlier race, and East Texas is now challenging to stay with their man and win, was the keynote of the meeting.

Strong East Texas leaders, including a former president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce declared they had switched their votes to Small and recognized him as the logical choice for clean government.

At Palestine, one of the oldest towns in East Texas, Small was praised as a consistent friend of labor by Mrs. H. F. Cheatham, president of the Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. Mrs. Cheatham introduced the candidate and held in her hand a survey drafted by labor representatives concerning all candidates.

Small mentioned the Greenwood retirement in connection with campaign promises of other candidates to make further large reductions in government expenses, the last regular session of the legislature cutting costs about $14,000,000, including salary reductions. Small declared further reductions will be made at the risk of impairing government efficiency.

The candidate was emphatic in discussing the pardon system. "The pardon racket has become a profitable business of late for the high-powered criminal attorney," he said, "and they have been turning loose upon Texas desperadoes prey again upon society. If I am elected governor there will be an end of that"—here there was some cheering.

"The next most profitable business is gambling, and after that come liquor violations," he continued, "and neither one has experienced a depression. If Allred is elected governor, can you expect him to do anything more than he did while attorney general? Do you think he would drive out the lobbyists and saloons when he has failed to do so as attorney general?"

"There is not a brilliant man in the contest," he declared. "They are all like me, and none of us has the power of a magician. Still, Allred goes about waving a check for $1,000,000 awarded the state, although it was Claude Polard and R. L. Bobbitt, former attorneys general, who won this judgment in the courts. It was not Allred but he won't give Pollard or Bobbitt any credit." Small compared Tom F. Hunter to Hitler, dictator of Germany. "This candidate wants to set up a cabinet and have all state officials appointive instead of elective," he said. "He doesn't want you people to have anything more to do with it, but wants a cabinet he can control, like Hitler does in Germany. . . . I have confidence in the people. I don't think it will go either Red or All-red"—here there was applause.

BURGLARS GET LOOT VALUED AT $100

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sisk is Ransacked

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sisk at 706 North 12th street some time Friday or Saturday night and escaped with clothing and household articles valued between $75 and $100.

That the house was burglarized was not discovered until noon yesterday when a girl went to deliver milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Sisk were in Colorado at the time. They returned to their home here this morning. Local officers were notified of the burglary and they are working on the case. No clues as to who might have been the prowler have been found.

Bloodstains were found on the front porch, it was said, apparently resulting from cuts sustained while breaking out a glass in the front door by which an entrance was effected.

The house was ransacked. A complete check-up has not been made but it is known that two suits of clothes, two hats, a pair of shoes and an electric fan were included in the loot.

The shooting occurred when the highway policemen approached three automobiles parked northwest of Chicago and offered assistance to four men and one woman.

STRAY DOGS ARE DANGEROUS MAYOR Bascom E. Davenport late last week issued an order for all dogs in Memphis to be vaccinated. The order stated further that a drive will be made to rid the city of stray canines.

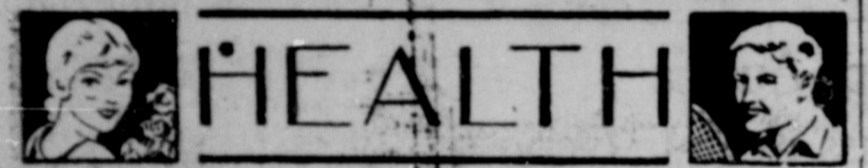

After giving the owners a few days to comply with this order, city officers will open the drive by impounding all dogs that are caught running loose. The owners will be given three days in which to claim their pets and produce a certificate of vaccination. If the dogs are not called for in that length of time they will be put to death.

This is sufficient notice to the owners of dogs. If they wish to keep their pets, they will comply with the regulation by keeping them in their yards. If they wish to avoid fines, they will comply with the vaccination order at once, to play safe in case their pets should get away and fall in the hands of the dog-catcher.

Especially at this time of year, when the weather is hot and dry, is there danger of dogs going "mad". The mayor's order was issued with the safety of numerous children in mind. To fail to comply with the order may lead to the death of some child and leave an accusation of criminal neglect hanging over some citizen.

The order goes a step farther. According to the chief of police here, numerous residents of the city have complained about the number of dogs running loose in various neighborhoods. Any of these, apparently, have no masters. They are the most dangerous of the lot, and the order to impound all strays and put them to death if they are not claimed will rid the city of an annoyance if not a menace.

In order to play safe, during the next month and a half, let's have our dogs vaccinated at once, and then let's make it a point to keep our pets at home. We may think the world of them, but, chances are, they are only a nuisance to the neighbors.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine. During these hot days, when you have modified your diet somewhat, and particularly when foods are likely to spoil, you should be particularly watchful of inflammation of the intestines.

Furthermore, the possibility of such inflammation is intensified by the fact that your diet probably contains more fluids in summer than it does in winter, and, in addition, the heat tends to some extent to disorganize the temperature mechanism of the body.

Finally, this condition can come from so many other causes that it cannot be classified as a distinct disease, but must be considered in relationship to specific causes.

You may believe you have cramps or stomach ache and may complain of the symptoms of diarrhea when you have an inflammation of the intestines. But before the right kind of treatment can be given, and before repeated attacks can be prevented, it is necessary to fix the responsibility on some definite, and usually single, cause.

In children, sudden attacks of pain in the bowels, and diarrhea, are frequently due to wrong diet. The old stomach ache due to eating green apples was of this type.

However, the overeating of foods which stimulate action of the bowels also is likely to bring on irritably, with a certain amount of inflammation.

In most cases when persons are sensitive to food substances, they reason in the eating of such food with irritability of the bowel and with excessive activity.

There are also certain drugs which have a specific effect on the bowel and which, if taken in sufficient quantity, will cause extreme irritation. This applies particularly to drugs like arsenic, mercury, and other poisonous substances.

Far less frequently than is usually believed to be the case, mal-ferial in the bowel ferments, because of unfavorable bacteria that are present, with a resulting intoxication of the body as a whole and with a reaction within the bowel manifested by looseness and straining.

Of course, a severe infection with any of the bacterial organisms that are known to be dangerous to the human body, when they attack the bowel, will have an exceedingly bad result.

Inflammation of the bowel with the symptoms that have been mentioned also is not infrequent as a complication of various infectious diseases, particularly typhoid fever, tuberculosis, and dysentery.

Sometimes infections of the bowel occur in association with operations within the abdomen and occasionally serious disturbance of the circulation of the blood will be reflected in an inflammation of the bowel.

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEHIN BEHE TODAY When HOWARD JACKSON young geologist professor, comes to the small middle-western town of Marburg JANE TERRY, the prettiest girl in town, determines to win his heart.

Howard is attracted by Jane's friend, AMY LOWE, but Jane schemes to keep them apart. Then one evening Howard calls on Amy and almost immediately they fall in love.

Later that night Jane confronts Howard and accuses him of breaking her heart. When he tries to calm her she interprets his words as a declaration of love and announces their engagement.

A day later Howard is trying to explain to Amy what happened when Jane sees them together. She flies into a rage. Howard tells Jane he does not and never did want to marry her and that it is Amy he loves. Jane leaves. Amy admits her love for Howard and agrees to marry him.

Jane goes to New York and enrolls in a secretarial school. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Miss Jardine had been observing Jane with speculation and disapproval. The girl stood out in the quiet school like a red flag. No one else was studying nearly so much, nor so hard. No one else had half so much personality, nor was half so rude. Jane, wrapped in her bitterness, didn't both even to say good morning or goodby and used the short intervals between classes to go over her lessons with fierce intensity.

"It's probably an unhappy love affair," Miss Jardine thought shrewdly, "that's thrown her away off balance—and she's naturally conceited and too inexperienced to know how to use it to her advantage. But she's so darned smart! Well—" Reproof wouldn't work. She knew that. So she asked Jane to dinner.

Jane went reluctantly, but once there Miss Jardine's small apartment impressed her. It was high with a slanting view of the Hudson from the two front windows. There was silvery glasscloth on the walls, an etching or two, a Japanese print. The furnishings were good pieces of mahogany and walnut gleamed at auction sales. To confirm the respectability there was also Mrs. Cummings who shared the apartment with Miss Jardine and was older, plainer and not so well dressed as Miss Jardine.

Mrs. Cummings went out to a concert immediately after dinner. "Anne's quite mad about Bach," said Miss Jardine, and then she ne did not call caught and have loved Jane. "This was fixed. I was to her one to be principally He arguments and a ace should as it's at once, sion due to have it would. Miss with her stubborn they really aston- (6) It had plain to Jane was of study that her Jackson eyes rag- spectacle and disapp-

Owls Trounce M'Lean Nine, 15-4; Play Indians

ANTELOPE FLAT, SALISBURY IN 1 TO 1 TIE

Simms Leads Attack On M'Lean Mounds-Men With 5 Hits

Blasting any and every thing the visiting hurlers had to offer while Lonnie Ables and Louie Marcum held opposing batsmen in check all the way, the Memphis Owls defeated McLean's nine, 15 to 4, yesterday afternoon at Fair Park to even the series for the season.

In the first game of the double-header, Salisbury and Antelope Flat battled to a nine-inning tie, 1 to 1, playing two extra innings before the scheduled seven frames before the game was called so that the second tilt might get under way.

Play Again Thursday

Thursday afternoon at Fair park, the Owls feature their season in a battle with the colorful Okmulgee, Okla., Indians, a traveling squad of full blood Indians, rated as one of the leading traveling squads on the road this season. The game starts at 3:30 o'clock. Admission is 50 cents.

Yesterday's game between Memphis and McLean was a story of heavy hitting on the part of the Owls in almost every frame. In almost every instance, they scored more runs than hits, taking advantage of liberal tickets to first and five McLean errors.

Open With Margin

The first inning netted three runs, and two more were added in the second to give the Owls a safe margin before McLean got started. Ables limited the visitors to three hits during five frames. However, since the Owls were holding a wide margin, he was relieved in the sixth by Marcum because of a sore pitching arm. Marcum gave up only four hits during the remainder of the game.

Simms, Owl catcher, featured the attack with a perfect day at bat, which included two triples, two clean singles and one scratch hit to second, which he beat out. Barkley, new sensation at short, slammed out a home run in the seventh, scoring three runs. Dennis also tripped.

Score on Errors

In the first game, both Salisbury and Antelope Flat scored on errors, the former tallying in the first and the latter knotting the count in the sixth. Barnes of Salisbury was safe on an error and a minute later scored on a single by Aycock. Bullock brought in Antelope Flat's counter. He slugged and came home on third's muff of a liner by Sanders.

Dunn, Antelope Flat hurler, ended the game by striking out three pinch hitters in a row in the last of the ninth.

The line score:

Antelope Flat	000 001 000	1 2 5
Salisbury	000 010 000	1 4 2
Dunn and Hicks; Barnes and Taylor.

Softball Loop Ends Regular Play Today

Regular play in the Sunday School Softball league here ends today, with the Presbyterians fighting for a tie with the Baptists for the championship.

The former club meets the last-place Christians in the closing game this afternoon at 6:30 o'clock on the West Ward diamond.

Although completely out of the running, the Christians will extend every effort to be the club to have the honor of upsetting one of the leaders. The Methodists fell short of this goal by a lone tally Friday against the Baptists. The Christians will be the home team today.

Trailing the Baptists by only half a game, the margin being created by the Baptists' victory Friday which gave them one more game played, the Presbyterians must win today to clinch a tie for the title and throw the two clubs into a three-out-of-five-game playoff for the crown.

The Christians can do no better than finish in the cellar, a full game behind the Methodists. If they are defeated, they will be a game and a half behind the third place club.

MEMPHIS GOLFERS DOWN QUANAH, 12 MATCHES TO 10, TO MOVE CLOSER TO LEAD IN LEAGUE RACE

Golfers of the Memphis Country club strengthened their hold on second place but failed to overcome the lead held by the first-place Quannah team in the three-city golf league by defeating the leaders, 12 matches to 10, with one tied, yesterday over the course of the local club.

The victory gave the Memphis team a standing of 500 points, 38 points behind the leaders. The complete standing is as follows: Quannah 538, Memphis 500, Childress 449.

Two matches featured the day's play. One was the "conversational" battle between Dr. Rudy G. Warner of Quannah and Dr. L. M. Hicks, a past master in winning matches by the "conversational" method, like all champions, met his Waterloo.

Dr. Warner advised Dr. Hicks in advance of the good shots he was going to make, and then he made them. Dr. Hicks put up a good fight both conversationally and "golfingly", but Dr. Warner's one under par for the 18 holes won the right end of a 4-3 decision.

The other was a grudge match between Morris Hall, young Quannah star, who was beaten recently at Quannah by one of Memphis' outstanding caddy players, Winfred Swift. Hall managed to even the counts here, 2 and 1, and they will resume hostilities at Quannah on the next Memphis invasion.

Yesterday's results: Memphis winners—J. E. Wright defeated S. J. Bailey, 2 and 1; Reginald Greenhaw downed Harry Dolman, 6 and 5; Frank Foxhall defeated Hugh Marshall, 5 and 4; R. S. Greene won from Sim Coker, 5 and 3; J. D. Webster took a 1 up decision from Dr. Thurman; I. S. Bogy defeated Sanford Gilliland, 5 and 4.

David Hudgins downed Roy Cope, 5 and 3; T. M. Harrison won from Frank Thwing, 1 up on the 20 hole; G. D. Beard defeated Robert Hughes, 1 up; Harry Delaney downed Ross Magee, 5 and 3; Wendell Lesley defeated D. W. Curnutt, 5 and 3, and George Carter won from G. C. Ewing, 5 and 4.

Quannah winners—L. S. (City) Walker defeated Thomas Hampton, 2 and 1; Merris Hall defeated Winfred Swift, 2 and 1; Dr. F. G. Warner erased Dr. L. M. Hicks, 4 and 5; Bill Strachan, Jr., won from Carl Harrison, 2 up; James Cogdill beat Nob Power, 5 and 4; Tom Cogdill won from H. M. Faulkner, 2 up; Ernest Newton beat Tom Bob Harrison, 7 and 6; Jack Chambers won from O. F. Washam, 1 up; Doyle Stephens won from M. J. Draper, 1 up, and Roy Bridge won from Bownds, 2 up.

Pete Rigby, Quannah, and Floyd Springer tied.

Mayor Takes Charge
Mayor Angelo J. Rossi assumed complete charge of the city, an act equal almost to martial law, and immediately began plans to protect innocent residents and to keep the city supplied with food. He also said every precaution would be taken in an attempt to prevent widespread disease, resulting from present conditions.

The city was fearful of its food supply, depending upon the trucks to supply food for its hundreds of thousands of inhabitants.

jail in Frederick without bond while County Attorney F. H. Hurst was concluding an investigation into the slaying preparatory to filing charges early Monday. Meadows received superficial wounds on the legs and hands as a result of the knife battle with Virgil Jones.

Officers received varying accounts of the battle and the slaying. Virgil Jones and Meadows met on the carnival midway when they clashed in a personal quarrel. Events which precipitated the encounter were vague.

Constable Jones was stabbed in the neck at the height of the encounter when he and Deputy Sheriff Roy Reddin of Manitou sought to separate the men. One version said the officer was stabbed as he escorted Meadows from the carnival grounds. Hundreds of celebrating early morning revellers viewed the battle and saw the constable fall mortally wounded.
