LIBRARY REPORT SHOWS BIG GAIN

95 New Names Added To Lists During Past Quarter; Demand For Books Is Increasing

Miss Bird Presler, librarian, submitted her report at the meeting of the library board last Friday evening covering the second quarter of 1931. Books in the library, listed by class, are as follows: general works, 84; religion, 170; philosophy, 15; sociology, 49; philology, 4; fine arts, 35; science, 60; literature, 566; history, 531; fiction, 1,420; junior books, 721; government records, 92; total, 7,936.

95 New Readers

Ninety-five new names have been added to the library's registry the past quarter, making a total of 1,714 registered readers. Amount of fine money on hand the first of the quarter was $1.18, and amount collected during the quarter, $7.70, making a total of $8.88. Incidentals, postage, floor oil and so forth were listed at $8.30, leaving a balance of 58 cents.

Demand Is Increasing

In her report, Miss Presler said: "The demand for books is increasing all the time. The total for the past three months was nearly 8,000 books against less than 6,000 for the same time in 1930, a gain of more than 2,100 volumes. We consider this especially good as last year we had 136 new books during the quarter and this year we have had only 28. We are glad that a greater number of people are reading the more worth while books. Three times as many non-fiction books were issued this quarter than were issued last year for the same quarter."

JAMES D. VARDY VICTIM OF OWN HAND FRIDAY

Hall County Pioneer Takes Life At His Esteline Home

James D. Vardy, of Esteline, 73 years, one month and 20 days old, died of a gunshot wound, self-inflicted, at about 3:15 last Friday afternoon, in the back yard of his home at Esteline. He shot himself with a .38 calibre Winchester rifle. The bullet entered his heart, passed entirely through the body, went out through a window and hit a neighbor's house in the same block. The bullet buried itself in the building but did not penetrate the wall.

It is believed that Mr. Vardy placed the gun on a table on top of a sofa pillow and held the muzzle to his breast with one hand, pushing the trigger with a yard stick. Ten shells were found in the magazine, following the tragedy. An unloaded shotgun was also found on the table. The (Continued on page 4)

EFFORT IS MADE FOR SAFE CURVE

Commissioners Courts Are To Be Requested To Assist In Work; Meet Held Thurs.

An effort will be made to provide a flicker light at the end of the north pavement on Highway 5 where a number of fatalities have occurred within recent years. While the curve is in Donley county, Memphis and Hall County have expressed a willingness to meet Donley County half way in trying to make the curve safer for motorists.

Meeting Held Thursday

At a meeting held at the curve Thursday afternoon of last week, it was decided to bring the matter to the attention of the commissioners' Courts of Hall and Donley counties and ask that they take the matter up with the State Highway Department. Common mistakes are: allowing hogs to become wormy or lousy; failure to provide shade; lack of pure or clean water; feeding sour or spoiled feed.

All these points were illustrated by Mr. Eudaly by stories of actual results observed in different parts of the state. Following the hog meeting, there was a general discussion on methods of alfalfa growing.

President Hoover isn't satisfied with bringing about the moratorium, so now he is clamping on those grain sellers who are selling short of the commodity. He does not disclose the names because he is not in a position to do so, but I feel the warning note he strikes is a sense of patriotism. There may be some justice in seignioring in normal times, but the who does such a thing when conditions are as they today should be looked after does not need the warning president has issued. It is that a man with any public spirit whatsoever would be more of his fellowmen than under the hand of the law. Many men deprived of the income they deserve. The underseller would feel more self respect for himself than to commit such an act. He should be watched, if underselling continues some effort to stop it should be proposed.

Arthur Brisbane seems to be in the way of many of the ideas that are being carried out, but there are numerous things that Russia is attempting which are decidedly detrimental to society and tend to be a bad example before the eyes of the world. Stalin is a man, but he has radical ideas that should not be carried out. His idea of abolishing religion from his country is a step toward modern and general practices. Every man has a right to believe as he pleases, but Stalin is governing the religion of his fellow countrymen. There is not a single article related in the history of the world where any country has prospered without some form of religion, and later on, Russia will see to this realization.

The labor council plan of government that Russia is supposed to have is one of the soundest of government that has been put before the eyes of the world, but the country is not controlled this way. It has one and a few of his cohorts at controlling end of the mace, at the other end is a mob of hungry people who are ready to follow the leader.

There will come a day when the form of government that exists in Russia today will fall. It will not prosper under present conditions. More freedom must be given the people, and the bar system will meet its downfall. Religion will make its re-appearance, and when it does, the great tin will fall with his dictatorship.

There is no doubt but that the rail projects which are being tried out on the principal rivers of Russia are among the greatest that originated by any country. The enormous power and generating plants that are being constructed are probably the largest most efficiently equipped in the world. But please bear in mind that American engineers are revising all of these feats. Russia has secured the best engineering talent in our nation to help her make a success of her five year plan. There is nothing that the country does, and that is that America produces the best engineers in the world. May we congratulate on that knowledge.

Send to Clark's for it.

James D. Vardy—

death of Mr. Vardy was instant. His wife and neighbors heard the shot and were the first to reach him. Justice of the Peace J. W. Butler conducted an inquest and pronounced death due to gunshot wound, self-inflicted.

Note Found in Pocket

It is said that a note was found in Mr. Vardy's pocket addressed to his wife. It told of his desire to provide for her and his inability to stand the depression longer, and that he thought it best for her that he pass on. Mr. Vardy asked, in the note, to be carried to the cemetery in a horse-drawn vehicle, mentioning Lonnie Richburg or Lee Wheeler to furnish a team. He also asked that his cowboy friends act as pallbearers.

Funeral Last Sunday

Funeral services were conducted from the First Methodist church at Lakeview Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Butterfield, old time friend of the deceased, of Childress, preached the funeral, assisted by Rev. W. J. Mayhew, the Methodist pastor at Lakeview. One of the largest crowds ever to attend a funeral at Estelline was present at the services. The church was full and hundreds were on the outside. It is estimated that more than 1,000 people were in attendance. The body was in charge of the Masonic Lodge at the cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Vardy are his wife, two brothers, Dr. P. L. Vardy of Estelline and C. F. Vardy, of Newcastle, Texas; one sister who lives in California. Relatives present at the funeral were Mrs. Clarence Baker, a niece of Topeka, Kansas; Mrs. J. P. Haggard, niece of Carbondale, Kansas; C. F. Vardy and family of Newcastle; Dr. P. L. Vardy and family of Estelline. A number of other relatives were unable to attend.

Came Here in 1878

Mr. Vardy came to Hall County first in 1878 and settled here in 1886. He was a cattle man and rancher for almost fifty years. He served as County Commissioner for two terms, and tax assessor for two terms. He was a charter member of the Estelline, Childress and Tell Masonic bodies and had been a lifelong Methodist.

Pioneer of Old School
Mr. Vardy was a pioneer of the old school. He was big-hearted and generous to a fault. He had always been one of the most progressive citizens of his community. He was known generally as "Uncle Jim" and was universally loved. Few men have been better known in Hall County than Mr. Vardy. His wife will remain in Estelline. Her mother, Mrs. J. W. Whiteside, will make her home with her.

It is a place that quite a number of us will have ample opportunity of becoming intimately acquainted with later on. But with sweat trickling down their faces and with the thermometer at the bursting point, I don't blame these operators one bit for demanding more for their services. They deserve more.

A fellow always has a comfortable feeling if he has a crease in his trousers sharp enough to cut his fingers. No matter if the shoes are run down, the hat lopsided and the shirt torn at the neck, if the trousers are pressed, there is some hope of redemption. In fact, I feel so strongly that the price increase is justified, that I am on my way to a tailor shop right now for repairs.

Economic Situation In Section Viewed With A Deal Of Conservative Optimism

The summer has begun and nature is rather bountiful in her promise at this time. And the banker, merchant and farmer hang on her mood with a good deal of interest. Quite a bit is at stake. Of course, man, himself, cannot do much alone, but he is very glad to cooperate with the bountiful hand of nature, which at this time portends good things.

Field and garden are now aglow with life and promise. The observer is met with reassurance on every hand. The vigor and growth of cotton and feed is about all that could be desired, and with a few more timely rains the situation should become very heartening indeed. The darkest hour is just before the dawn. Apparently, the eleventh hour of a depression is its worst one. It is difficult to walk slow. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick. If we should make a good crop which now seems imminent, then with even modest prices our troubles should largely disappear.

"Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." It is, indeed, a people with a chastened spirit that await the outcome of the present year. The moratorium that is being difficult to effect for Germany when completed will, no doubt, relax and accentuate business conditions.

It is up to us to affront the situation as best we can under the present circumstances. It has been said that hope springs eternal in the human breast. Then let us by due effort fan this spark at this time and keep it aglow, for no doubt with the early approach of the harvest, better times lie only a short distance ahead.

We have been taught during the past eighteen months that man lives not by bread alone. Just now, every one is a conservative. With the incoming tide of business let us be what Woodrow Wilson said he was pleased to believe he was: a conservative-progressive.

As we are now likely in the last mile of the depression, let us marshal our reserves of optimism and brook no defeat.

Misses Ruth Pendergrass and Vera Gilreath of Canyon visited relatives in Memphis Saturday and Sunday.

WELL DIRECTED ACTION

THE Democrat desires to commend the action being taken by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce to make less dangerous the curve at the end of the north pavement. This has been the scene of several deaths and numerous accidents in which no lives were lost. Col. C. T. Matkin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has pointed out that the publicity Memphis receives as a result of these accidents gives the city a black eye, and he is right. However, the publicity is unavoidable and the thing to do is to make the curve safer.

Initial negotiations have been started through the Commissioners' Courts of Hall and Donley Counties. We do not believe that requests for relief made to the State Highway Department will result in anything tangible. The department has placed the usual warning signs on either side of the railroad and it is not in line with state policy to go to additional expense. Probably the best solution of the problem would be an appropriation of funds by Hall and Donley counties for installation and maintenance of a flicker light, similar to those used in other sections of the state. It is believed that one of several oil companies would be glad of the opportunity to bear at least a part of the expenses incident thereto for the right of advertising on the sign.

One local merchant has stated that should the oil companies be uninterested, he is willing to take an ad on the sign and pay as much as $50 for the privilege. However the matter is handled, one thing we are sure and that is immediate steps should be taken to make the curve less hazardous for motorists. Local people are well acquainted with the curve, but tourists are not and it is for their protection that the proposed sign should be set up.

THE SUMMER BOOK CLUB

WE wonder how many cities in the Panhandle of Texas have summer book clubs? The one recently started in Memphis, we believe, is an innovation in this line. Late books are furnished at low cost on a cooperative basis. Local people are permitted to read the best in modern literature at small cost which makes the reading all the more enjoyable.

One of the finest things in connection with the club here is the fact that when all the members are through with the books, they are to be donated to the Carnegie Public Library for general circulation. The library is sadly in need of books and the appropriation for that purpose this year has been cut down considerably by the city council.

We believe the book club here will prove the nucleus of an effort to get better literature circulated abroad throughout this section. We have had enough of the cheaper variety. There is nothing better and more wholesome, than well written books, to enhance an understanding and appreciation of life values and the work the summer book club is doing here is to be commended.

GERMANY AT BREAKING POINT

WHAT of Germany? That question is uppermost in the minds of the financial world of today. If the moratorium is made to work, if it proves successful, if it, in reality, does give an actual debt holiday, Germany may be saved, temporarily at least, from financial collapse. The powers have imposed a burden upon Germany, hard to offset at best, and with world deflation at its peak, almost impossible to surmount.

We believe that Germany should be made to pay, and pay dearly, for her war guilt. We would not have her slip through the net with such guilt upon her. At the same time, there is a limit to all things and there is a limit to what Germany can pay and what may be expected of her in a given time. It is true that she has escaped the scars of battle, but the Bolshevik urge has gripped the imaginations of millions of her countrymen, resulting in an unstable state of affairs, which, coupled with present conditions, have made the once proud nation a financial weakling. And weaklings must be nourished carefully if they are to survive.

We would hate to think of the consequences that would undoubtedly accrue if Germany did collapse. It would affect the United States directly, and in fact, all the world powers. Prejudices, hatreds, passions and vengeance, of a kind, should be discarded until the German people have once more gotten a foothold, financially, that will lead to stability. Germany has been at the breaking point for years, and if France continues to maintain the attitude she has assumed, a collapse is certain to follow.

THAT FELLOW BYRD

THAT fellow Byrd has come through and in a big way. Facing a large deficit at the end of his South Polar trip, Richard Evelyn Byrd rolled up his sleeves and waded in, and now his indebtedness has been taken care of and he has amassed a fortune of some $300,000. Byrd achieved this feat through his lectures, newspaper serials, motion pictures and books. He has worked hard to clear himself and his expedition of the financial burden incurred and that he has succeeded puts another feather in the cap of one of the world's outstanding pioneers.

In accomplishing his set purpose, Byrd has been generous. He waived the stipulation that none but himself might take the lecture platform, thus cutting into his own profits in order to permit his companions to earn some money for themselves via the lecture route.

That fellow Byrd deserves all the praise that has been showered upon him. He has proved that he is a real human being, who is true to trusts imposed in him and is willing to sacrifice personal gain for his friends. Such men are few and far between, but typify the true American spirit that knows no defeat. Our hats are off to this Virginian who has done as much as any other man to place Old Glory in the sun.
