Girls Are Advised To Build-Up For Relief

Lack of knowledge causes many a weak, undernourished girl a lot of suffering!

Many others, however, know how the headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by the proper use of CARDUI.

Some take it a few days before and during "the time," to help ease periodic distress. But CARDUI's principal use is to help increase appetite; stimulate the flow of gastric juice; so aid digestion, assist in building up physical resistance and thus help reduce periodical distress. Women have used CARDUI for over 50 years.

Livestock Hinders Growth of Trees

"Trees and livestock on the same ground will not mix," stated W. E. Webb, state director of the Texas Prairie States Forestry Project recently. Browning of the green leaves and the packing of the soil by tramping hooves of livestock seriously set back the growth of the trees.

One of the big reasons why so many old groves of trees are dying is not the age of the trees. Often it is the result of cattle being turned loose in the small woodlot over long periods of time. Overgrazing of this type is usually noticeable by the tops of the trees dying first and finally the whole tree.

State Director Webb pointed out that this is the big reason shelterbelt owners are requested to fence their trees. The shelterbelts are planted for permanence, and fencing from livestock in addition to good cultivation will help assure long livelihood and good, vigorous, growing trees.

U. S. Plans Vast Program To Combat Farmer's Ills

Department of Agriculture says many agricultural problems can be explained by rapid advance of technology, such as development of corn picker pictured above.

WASHINGTON.—A new program to bring the American farmer out of the doldrums in which he has been languishing for the past 10 years is being mapped in the Department of Agriculture.

The program is the outcome of a comprehensive survey of the national farm picture, made by a special departmental committee of farm experts. They found that many of the farmer's troubles can be laid to recent technological changes.

This survey lists these principal troubles:

1. There are 1,500,000 farm workers totally unemployed, and that many more are getting less than a subsistence wage.
2. New machinery and methods will displace an additional 350,000 to 500,000 in the next 10 years.
3. By 1950 the nation's farm population will have increased by at least 2,000,000.
4. Better varieties and methods will increase production in fields where over-production is already a problem.

To combat these threats to the farmer's welfare, this survey calls for a number of steps. It recommends a giant rural works program to employ idle farm workers. They would be given jobs on soil conservation and reforestation projects. Other recommendations call for extension of wage-hour and social security benefits to agricultural workers as well as an increase in the help being given migrant farm workers.

Believing the family-size farm best suited to the nation's needs, the department's report calls for expansion of the tenant purchase program, appropriation of funds to aid young men in buying farms, and the cutting up of large farms into smaller units.

The report also urges that consumption be boosted by the expansion of such plans as the food stamp program, and that commodity loans, acreage control and similar projects be continued.

Possible outright subsidy to industries in rural territories is suggested in the report as a way of developing farm areas further. That all adds up to a pretty sweeping program—far more wide-spread than anything Washington has done for the farmer in the past.

What becomes of the program depends on a number of factors. It will be affected by the outcome of the war in Europe, the vigor with which the Department of Agriculture pushes it, and—perhaps most important of all—the November election.

So each week after they read each word in it, they pass it on to another family, and so on until it has been passed to five families who have lived in or near here. I think they should be charged extra for that paper, but just how would you go about such a procedure, I wonder?

Governor O'Daniel Proclaims Texas Highway Week for December 2 to 6

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel Saturday issued a proclamation designating December 2 to 6, inclusive, as Texas Highway Week and called on Texas citizens to take inventory of the " manifold benefits brought to them by the highway system, and to give serious thought to the future highway needs of the state so that Texas will continue to grow and prosper as a system of highway transportation is extended and improved."

The proclamation reviewed Texas' highway needs, stating that of a system of approximately 23,000 miles, 8,860 miles were only partially improved, 5,600 miles were in need of reconstruction because they were worn out and obsolete, that there were 4,836 miles of important farm-to-market roads in need of construction while the Highway Commission had pending before it requests for additional highway designations totaling 3,116 miles.

To complete the mileage on the existing system and without making provision for badly needed highway extensions would cost approximately $385,000,000, based on studies of highway needs made by the State-Federal Highway Planning Survey, the governor stated.

Highway Week is being sponsored by The Texas Good Roads Association. During the week an intensive effort will be made to impress on the public the value of a connected system of safe and improved highways and the need for long range planning of highway financing, construction, and maintenance. The need for a constitutional amendment to prohibit the diversion of motorist taxes from highway construction and maintenance can proceed on a sound basis will be emphasized during the week. The Good Roads Association is planning at least one meeting in each county during the week to be devoted to highway questions.

Nearly 400,000 Texas school children each year have their entire schooling paid for by the Texas oil and gas industry.

Try telling folks the rates have been cut in half!

1 I work for the utilities and the other night I had supper over at Jim and Edith's house. It was a swell supper and I told Edith so. "Cooking," she said, "is easy. We have nearly everything electric." "There is a point," I says, excited-like. "And you're using about twice as much electricity today as you did 10 years ago for the same money." "Maybe you mean the bill is twice as high nowadays," Jim chimed in. "It may be just as high, Jim," I said. "Mine is, too. But there's a good reason for it. Look here..."

2 Then I took them around the house, pointing out their refrigerator, electric washer, the percolator, radio, toaster, iron, and all the other electric appliances, not to mention the better-light—better-sight lamps. I said: "Now, honestly, aren't you using a whole of a lot more electricity than you did just a few years ago?" They said that was right.

3 Then I tossed a couple nickels on the table, real dramatic-like, and said: "The average person pays only about a dime a day for electric service! Some pay less, some a little more. And the more you use, the lower the rate!"

4 "Is this a bargain isn't it?" I asked Edith. "Never thought of it that way," she said. "I certainly do get my money's worth."

RURAL TRENDS

Director, National Farm Youth Foundation

TAKE INDUSTRY TO THE WOODS

ONE of the nation's number one headaches is throbbing in rural communities throughout America. It is the headache possessed by rural leaders and civic groups as they compete with large cities for the placing of industrial enterprises in or near small towns and villages.

During recent months billions of dollars have been appropriated for the purpose of bolstering American defenses on water, on land and in the air. The capacity of existing industrial facilities necessary for the turning out of materials and finished products is rapidly being reached. In order to provide additional production, new plants must be built to handle the tremendous volume of machines and other items necessary to the successful defense of the nation.

The great question of the day is the location of new facilities for national defense. Great cities are telling their advantage through bureaus of specialists. These specialists inform industry and government why manufacturing plants and other operations required for defense should be concentrated in or near the nation's largest centers of population.

The pressure is on again. Volumes of statistics are being produced, showing why this or that city should become the center for making tanks or other specified weapons of warfare. Pressure groups are exerting every influence to secure the benefits of national preparedness. Airports, aircraft plants and aviation schools are being rapidly built. NOT IN RURAL COMMUNITIES BUT IN CITIES.

Bombings of European cities should teach us a lesson. We hear much these days about bombings of these centers of defense industries. Why mass air targets in the cities? A large bomb dropped almost anywhere in such an active area causes disruption of necessary wartime industrial operations. An example of such centralization in the United States is that of the machine tool industry. One of the major companies producing these necessary machines for defense and industrial programs puts out 60 per cent of all turret lathes produced in this country. Think of the disastrous results of one large bomb dropped in that vital area.

What is better military strategy than to have our new industrial units and airports nestled in the hills and forests of our vast countryside? We should profit from the experiences of European nations who now are frantically building new factories in rural areas.

Every thinking American knows full well the necessity for strengthening our defenses. He is ready to assume the taxation necessary to make this possible. Since resourcefulness has been the strength of our country, we should continue this same quality by not overlooking any opportunities to make this an even stronger nation. Again the opportunity has come to utilize this resourcefulness. We can prepare for conflict and build for peace by settling new defense industries in the scattered rural areas throughout the nation. This is sound from a military point of view and from economic and social standpoints. Redistribution of industry will lead to greater economic stability as well as social advantage. The great obstacle to the redistribution of industry has been the impracticability of moving established manufacturing concerns.

Now new plants are about to be built and efficient redistribution of industry can be successfully carried out.

For the first time in many years rural America presents the greatest advantages to industry. Now is the time for new hope to spring in the hearts of the inhabitants of villages and small cities of this nation. But hope alone cannot accomplish anything. Action is the thing that is necessary. The leaders of rural communities should use these basic arguments as the foundation upon which to build in the minds of industrial and government leaders an accurate picture of the advantages to be found in their respective communities.

The measure of a great people is to be found in the two-fold ability to insure its security while at the same time not losing the stride of its progress to greater achievement.

Three Teams Still Unbeaten in Race For Gridiron Title

Wellington, Shamrock, and McLean Top List; Irish Down Clarendon Broncs

The race for the District 3-A gridiron title was narrowed somewhat last week-end, when Clarendon was knocked out of the no-loss column by the Shamrock Irishmen in a 13 to 7 thriller.

Highlighting this week's games will be that between two of the undefeated teams, McLean and Wellington. Wellington has won so far over Wheeler and Lakeview, while McLean has downed Memphis and Lakeview. Wellington won over Lakeview last week-end 21 to 0, while McLean downed the Eagles two weeks ago 50 to 0.

Memphis will try to get back into the winning column on its home gridiron Friday night when the Cyclone meets the Lefors Pirates in the only other scheduled game involving conference teams.

Lefors lost to Clarendon early in the season, and won last week over Wheeler 33 to 13 in the Pirates other conference game.

In the conference standings, Wellington, McLean, and Shamrock are tied for first with two victories and no losses. Clarendon is fourth with two wins and one loss, while Lefors is fifth with one victory and one loss.

Memphis is sixth with one win and two defeats. Wheeler has won one and lost three, and Lakeview has lost four.

In full season standings, Lefors is on top with four victories and one loss; Clarendon has won two and lost two, as have Shamrock and McLean; Memphis is tied with Wellington for fifth with two victories and three losses; Wheeler is in seventh place with one victory and three losses; Lakeview is eighth with one victory and four losses.

Cylinders on the Line for American Defense

Row on row of rapidly produced airplane cylinder heads stand as symbols of speed-up in American defense production. They are being made at Wright aircraft plant in Fairlawn, N. J., America's first-line production foundry devoted exclusively to molding and casting of cylinder heads.

CCC Boys, Troop Train Bring New Uniforms to City

Memphis is getting to see a lot of uniforms—not because of Registration Day, but because of the passage of troops and CCC boys through the city.

Tuesday a troop train passed through, but it did not even stop. Where it was going, or who was on it was not even known to J. J. McMickin, local depot agent.

Then Friday a large group of Junior CCC boys will pass thru here. The boys, 224 of them from Wichita Falls, will get off the train, be partially clothed at the Veterans' CCC camp here, and then go to other camps.

In addition, 118 boys who have enrolled here will join the Wichita enrollees. Part of the boys will be sent to New Mexico, part to Colorado, and the remainder to still other CCC camps.

To get best results from fall seeding of pasture grasses and legumes, the sub-surface of the soil should be firm and the surface loose.

Politics Soon to Take Over Headlines As General Election Day Draws Near

It won't be long now until politics will take care of the headlines on the newspapers and will constitute most of the talk by radio commentators (at least for a few days)—for the date for the general election is Tuesday, November 5.

Official ballots for Hall County have already been printed, and absentee balloting started Wednesday. Absentee balloting will continue through Saturday, November 2.

Four political parties have the full quota of 23 electors for president and vice president listed on the Texas ballot. The parties are the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, and Prohibition. The Communist party apparently ran short, for only eight electors are listed under the party's head. Two other columns on the ticket are left, one for the Independent party, and one for any other party which may be written in on the ballot.

A total of 156 names are listed on the official Hall County ballot. Of these an even one hundred are the electors.

The Democrats list 37 candidates for offices ranging from the U. S. Senator to constable. Precinct 4 (Turkey). The Republicans list 13 candidates, ranging from the U. S. Senator to the state superintendent of public instruction.

The socialists failed to list any one except the electors on their column, but the Communists list candidates for U. S. Senator, governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, railroad commissioner, and state commissioner of agriculture.

Democratic candidates who have opponents (excluding the president and vice presidential candidates) are as follows:

For U. S. Senator, Tom Connally; congress, 18th district, Eugene Worley; governor, W. Lee O'Daniel; lieutenant governor, Coke R. Stevenson; attorney general, Gerald C. Mann; chief justice of the supreme court, James P. Alexander.

Associate justice of the supreme court, John H. Sharp; judge of the court of criminal appeals, Tom L. Beauchamp; railroad commissioner, Olin Culbertson; state comptroller of public accounts, George H. Sheppard; commissioner of general land office, Bascom Giles; state treasurer, Charley Lockhart;

"Many of the cows in this vicinity have been tested and found free from disease," the doctor said, "but at the same time many have not. A number of people are selling butter from infected cows, although they do not sell milk."

Undulant fever is curable, although it takes from several weeks to several months to cure the disease. Treatment for cows are rarely given for Bangs Disease, it was pointed out, but infected cows are usually disposed of.

to Class A for this season's play.

Condition of the Lefors team was not learned this week. The Pirates downed the heavy Wheeler team 25 to 13 last Friday night, while the Cyclone team was losing a close 14 to 7 game to McLean.

Probable starters for the Cyclone are as follows: Glen Stillwell, re; Floyd Melton, rt; Boyce Bruce, rg; Grady Smith, c; Lois Kerr, lg; Noel Bruce, lt; Joe Edwards, le; Louie Grimes, Billy Jean Morris, W. H. Butler, and Douglas Lawrence, backs.

state superintendent of public instruction, L. A. Woods; and state commissioner of agriculture, J. E. McDonald. (McDonald has no Republican opponent, but Orton T. Campbell of the Communist party opposes him).

The Texas petroleum industry alone now pays 45 per cent of all state taxes, exclusive of sales taxes such as the gasoline tax which are paid by the consumer.

Nearly half of all the feed grown on Texas farms is wasted in one way or another, but a trench silo saves over 95 per cent of the feed for farmers.

Turkey to Meet B Squad Tonight

Turkey's Terrible Turks will invade Memphis tonight, and meet the Cyclone B Squad in a head-on battle on the local gridiron.

The game will start at 8 o'clock, and an admission of 5 and 10 cents will be charged, it was announced.

The Turks, members of Class B conference, have won several games this season, and reportedly have an excellent squad. The condition of their squad, however, is not known.

The Junior Cyclone team has met several opponents this fall, but no record of its victories and losses is available.

Miss Cypert Now In Business College

She is at present studying accounting, elementary typewriting, and business penmanship. This is a life scholarship, full diploma course.

Eighteen automobile tires and a battery were found in the shack in Memphis. Seventeen of the tires belonged to the Hedley station, and the battery and other tires were claimed by the station operator at Crosbyton.

Eight inner tubes, taken from the Hedley station, had been disposed of when the shack was entered by McCreary.

Statements have already been made and signed by the three men, McCreary said. The trial of Tims, against whom the indictments of burglary and theft were made in Denley County, was scheduled to come before the district court in Clarendon, although results of the trial were not known here this week.

Cotton Ginning

ginned 1,968,009 bales prior to October 1, compared to the 1,481,018 bales ginned this year.

The drop in production, it has been explained, is caused by the cotton being later this year than last. Much of the cotton, especially in this locality, had to be planted over, and naturally will be later in production.

More rainfall fell during the cotton-growing months of 1940 than in 1939, when extremely dry weather caused the cotton to open earlier.

Early in the season, observers guessed the cotton production of the county up to 50,000 bales, but most of them now agree on about 25,000 bales.

Memphis merchants reported a showing of "fall business" Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week, when farmers, unable to gather cotton, came to town. A large crowd was in town Thursday, as well as the other two days.

What's New in Cooking

Let's Have A Picnic

FOR the true picnic-lover, any time is picnic time, the year 'round. Only old softies, they say, confine their outdoor meals to the balmy days of summer! But when skies are fair and nature spreads her summer scene lavishly, everybody (including the softies!) loves a picnic.

There are two schools of thought when it comes to planning a picnic meal. One, the "I'm-hungry-let's-eat" group, wants to have the food all ready, and that group is much too impatient even to gather wood for a fire; the other group (the staunch nature-lovers) wants only "the makings" to be brought along, and insists that hewing wood, hauling water and coaxing a fire are all part of the fun.

Both groups are right, of course—but when Mother is responsible for a picnic meal, she'll find it easier to have most of the preparation out of the way beforehand.

One hot dish tastes mighty good at a picnic. It might be scalloped potatoes or macaroni and cheese, baked beans; a luscious stew or chowder; or perhaps just good hot soup.

If Mother's wise, she'll plan her menu so that her new electric range does most of the work and watching for her. Beans, for example, can be put into the deep well cooker of her range at night, to "bake," without watching, from sundown to sun-up. Then, when the family is ready to set forth "a-picnicking," the cooker kettle may be wrapped in several thicknesses of paper (to help retain the heat), and carried to the picnic spot, where the warm, favorome, golden-brown beans will be the high-light of the meal.

Picnic Menu

- Baked Picnic Beans
- Cabbage Salad
- Brown Bread & Butter Sandwiches
- Pickles
- Fresh Fruit
- Chocolate Cake
- Beverage

- Baked Picnic Beans (Serves 6-8)
- 1/2 pound fresh pork
- 1 quart (1 1/2 pounds) navy beans
- 1 medium size onion
- 1 1/2 quarts cold water
- 2 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup molasses
- 1/2 cup catsup

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Brown in a little fat in the deep well cooker of modern electric range, with switch turned on high. Wash beans thoroughly and place in cooker. Toss the onion in the beans. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over the beans. Cover the cooker and turn electric switch to third position. Cook 8-10 hours. It is not necessary to soak the beans when they are prepared in this manner.

The deep well cookers in the new electric ranges offer you a choice of 5 controlled cooking speeds. The thoroughly insulated well retains the heat, and cooks with very little fuel. On some ranges the automatic timer controls the cooker as well as the oven, and turns the current on and off at the time indicated. If you like, it will cook the food on High for a given length of time, then automatically turn the switch to Low to continue cooking.

McLEAN TIGERS DOWN CYCLONE 14 TO 7 WITH LAST-MINUTE PASS

The Memphis Cyclone team was downed by the McLean Tigers last Friday night on the Tiger field, but it took a last-minute pass from behind the Tiger goal line to put over the second counter and make the score 14 to 7.

The game was one of the hardest-fought and most closely-matched so far for the Cyclone team. McLean, in previous games, had displayed much strength, and a number of observers had predicted an easy victory for the Tigers.

The score was tied 7-7 near the end of the game, although the Memphians had run up more first downs, had gained more yards, and had made more penetrations of the 20-yard line.

A pass from behind the McLean goal line by a Tiger back was complete to Lee, one of the fastest backs in the conference, and Lee ran the length of the field for the second Tiger touchdown. The extra point was made to give the Tigers a 14 to 7 lead. Only a few seconds of play remained, barely time enough for the Tigers to kick off to the Cyclone.

The Cyclone team showed up much better in the McLean tilt than in previous games, doing better blocking, better tackling, and executing more cleverly-timed offensive plays.

The loss placed Memphis sixth in the conference standings, and fifth in the full season standings.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

WOULD YOU CUT DOWN THE APPLE TREE?

You'll probably find a few bad apples in a bushel of good ones. That's the way it is with beer retailing in America.

There are hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retail establishments that sell good beer—the refreshing, appetizing beverage of moderation. At the same time, there is a handful of undesirable, anti-social taverns. Unfortunately, these few outlaw establishments bring discredit to the entire beer industry.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants the anti-social retailers eliminated. It has instituted a "clean-up or clean-out" program—now in effect in many states and being extended.

We'd like you to know about this socially important program. May we tell you about it in an interesting booklet? Write: United Brewers Educational Foundation, 19 East 46th Street, New York, N. Y.

Wife Was Fat No Longer Attractive LOST HUSBAND'S LOVE

The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper in connection with a divorce trial that had attracted wide attention: "She was a beautiful woman" one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more." Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take 1/2 teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for thirty days. Cut out pastries and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost. A bottle of Kruschen Salts will last you for 4 weeks and costs but little. Ask any druggist for a bottle of Kruschen, plain or new effervescent—sparkling—pleasant—and start today to lose fat. - The life of your community—every community—depends on the law-abiding, hard-working, neighborly people who make up its citizenry. That being true, this Company and associated Companies and their employes who live here are good citizens of your community—respectable, hard working, friendly.
- Our citizenship does not end, however, with that. We pay taxes to support local, state and national governments, maintain payrolls that are spent at home to help local business, spend thousands of dollars locally for materials and equipment, and take part in numberless civic and public enterprises! We have invested millions of dollars in leases, drilling equipment, gathering systems, transmission lines, compressor stations, natural gasoline extraction plants, and other costly facilities, to keep the service going.
- Our first duty as an organization is to provide dependable Natural Gas Service. This we do. Beyond this, like all good citizens, we do more, and are proud of it, just as you are proud of your good citizenship!

THE GREATEST LOSS

THE UNITED STATES, said Bishop Ivan Lee Holt at the Methodist session in Memphis last week, has three policies to defend in the present world crisis and conflict.

Two of the policies, the Methodist leader said, are policies which have been carried out for a number of years. They are the Monroe Doctrine, that policy of a protective attitude toward all countries in the Western Hemisphere, and the Open Door policy, that practice of keeping China open to trade with other nations of the world.

The third of the policies is one which is not often brought out—that necessity of keeping Christianity safe for the world.

If the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis is victorious in the present conflict, and is able to overcome Great Britain and the British colonies, then the dictator axis would have control of both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Control of the oceans, naturally, would almost completely do away with the Open Door policy—that is, if the dictators decided that China did not need to trade with anyone.

Doing away with the Monroe Doctrine, however, will prove to be more of a problem than the dictator axis may think. The present policy of the United States has caused a great deal more friendship to be prevalent between the North and South American countries, despite the propaganda which the Nazis are continually spreading here and in South America.

The United States' Atlantic military bases are now in good positions, since the trade made with Great Britain several weeks ago. Any navy, no matter how strong, would find the bases hard to overcome. On the other side, in the Pacific, the United States has had for a long time a string of bases which would be a great help in protecting the western shores of the two American continents.

The third policy of the war is even more pressing than the other two. The United States could exist as a democracy even if the Open Door policy was no longer a part of our foreign policies. It is entirely possible that this nation would still be a democracy if the Monroe Doctrine were not kept in effect.

Even if all other democracies in the world were downed, the citizens of the United States could retain their belief in Christianity. Our nation might be isolated in more than one way, yet we could still have faith in the Christian religion.

The point, however, is that we as a Christian people must realize that it is our duty and work to preserve Christianity. Loss of Christianity is, without a doubt, the greatest loss any nation can ever suffer in any war.

SUBLETY'S THE THING

DURING THE PAST few months, a number of motion pictures have been released concerning life in the new Germany under the Hitler rule.

All of the pictures, point out in no uncertain manner the disadvantages of living in Germany at the present time, with some of them being subtle and others not.

Most Americans, naturally, side in with the British as far as sympathy is concerned, and only rightly so because Great Britain is still a democratic nation.

The motion pictures, if they are to do their part in arousing more sympathy for the British, must be presented to the public in the subtle manner.

Those pictures which are issued merely to show what life under a dictator's rule is like are excellent food for the American people's thoughts. We have no use for any line of thought which might lead to the same end as the German people are now undergoing.

But at the same time, the motion pictures must do their job in a manner which will not displease the public. We simply do not like to be told what to believe, or what not to believe.

AERIAL ATTACKS

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Good Wages
 Lynn Landrum in the Dallas News: In developing Texas, we ought constantly to strive to bring in those institutions which pay a good wage. In this respect, we are highly fortunate just now. All workers will get a living wage out of airplane making. Fancyfully high pay is not to be justified, but certainly there is nothing of sweatshop standards anywhere in making of planes.

Repercussion
 The Tulsa Herald: Draft repercussions: A student at Eastern New Mexico College from all appearances and angles is desperate. He applied to the director of housing at the college for knowledge concerning any widow with three or four children who might be susceptible to a proposition of marriage. In other words it is a case of: WANTED, an emergency family.

What a Market
 "Daily Breeze" in the Claude News: News of the Stock Market: Skirts high and consistently sold short. Tablets low and gyroscopes steady. Razor transactions sharp during the past week. Automobiles prominent on the curb. Edison light. Airplanes coming down consistently. Elevators fluctuating tremendously, with sudden ups and downs. Safes and grand pianos are heavy. Mock turtle soup bullish. Red flannel underwear off. Mountain railroads on the upgrade. Patent cigarette lighters uncertain. Many runs in silk stockings lately. Suspender buttons weak.

In Bad Shape
 The Canyon News: Well, John Garner finally decided to become Vice President again. But he is of little use to the administration while in Washington. He urges Congress to quit and go home so that they will give the President no more powers and will pass no more appropriations. John might have to sell some of his millions to pay the taxes on his millions.

Lost a Chance
 Bill Sercomb in the Clarendon News: Candidate Wilkie was greeted in California by crowds in which many yelled, "We Want Roosevelt." That was all O. K., as all is fair in love, war, and politics. But we think the Californians went too far when they heaved eggs of uncertain vintage at Mr. Wilkie. Besides, they missed their best chance to advertise their fruit.

Not Much Cotton
 The Donley County Leader: If you don't believe Donley County is billed for a short cotton crop, here's proof. Stanley Carlile of the City Hall says he encountered a farmer bringing a load of cotton to a Clarendon gin. "How much cotton you got there?" Carlile asked. "Fifty acres," was the reply. "Not much profit," opined Carlile. "What are you paying pickers?" "Two-bits a mile," was the answer.

The Temperamental Type
 Jimmie Gillentine in the Herford Brand: Here's an unusual item which Mrs. John McLean, society editor, reports about a most sophisticated bird belonging to Thornton Shirley. For some time the bird has been puzzling the family. They noticed that he likes to accompany music which comes over the radio at times, while at other times the radio music puts him in a very bad humor. After carefully watching the bird for a few days they discovered that he sang only when classical or semi-classical music was played. Jazz and jitterbug music immediately put him in doldrums. He sure is a temperamental bird, or do all canaries have this classical music complex?

Only Embarrassment
 The Moore County News: There will be untold embarrassment for the fellow who allows this date (Draft Registration Day) to slip his mind. The draft registration is sure to be followed by a nationwide check of registration cards and a fellow is going to be required to show them more times than one.

A Dark Chapter
 The Scurry County Times: Out of the turbulent tides that are engulfing an increasing number of tenant farmers, and putting them in position of immigrants, or floaters, will one day rise a class of people who, so aptly portrayed in the "Grapes of Wrath," will give America its long-predicted turmoil from "within." That day, inevitable as the approach of killing frost, will be a dark chapter indeed in the annals of American democracy.

Going Places
 The McLean News: The man who tries to force his opinion on others gets nowhere quickly.

Night
 The Floyd County Hesperian: To all appearances Japan is holding the sack in its most recent alliance with Germany and Italy. Mr. Hitler used his usual black-mail methods on the Japs, pointing out that if the island empire expected to get the plunder of Asia approved and its rape of French Indo-China and the Straits country recognized after the wars are over, it would be necessary for the Japs to be on the right side now. The Japs, like most peoples, recognize the master's voice. Might still makes right.

John the Baptist Saw Overt

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 20.
 Text: Luke 3:3, 8-17, 21, 22

ROLE of the Great Forerunner in biblical history was played by John the Baptist, whose work was essentially that of preparation. He represented the laying of good foundations, but he lacked some of the things that make the superstructure beautiful and perfect.

Here is a distinction that we do not often make common—the distinction between what is good and necessary under certain circumstances, and what is of the highest and most permanent quality.

John was recognized this in His great tribute to John. He said that of those who had been born of woman there had not arisen a greater than John the Baptist. Nevertheless he added that he who was least in the Kingdom of Heaven was greater than John.

What did He mean by this, except to emphasize the distinction between the good and the best? John belonged to the old dispensation of law and regulation, of strict ritual, fasting and asceticism.

Jesus brought in the new dispensation of love and liberty, a sense of abundant life and joy. He taught and practiced the glory of the unselfish life, the beauty of self-sacrifice where it was for some higher end, and He himself made the supreme sacrifice of the Cross; yet, in all this, the emphasis was not upon loss but upon gain. He could say to His disciples, even on the very eve of His crucifixion, "Be of good cheer: I have overcome the world."

YET, in the world as it is, there is great need of those who do the work of preparation. We need, even in our modern world, the prophets from the wilderness to call the world to repentance and to lay great stress upon judgment and upon the re-

The act of abortion is the best-known symptom of this disease. Other symptoms are weak, though living, calves; sterility, and retained afterbirths. Abortion may be preceded by enlargement of the udder, slight swelling of the external genitals, uneasiness, and straining. Yellowish-brown discharge from the genital tract follows abortion. Areas of the afterbirth are usually thin and translucent, and some cases presents leathery appearance.

This thing is knowingly among us, and I will for one do all I can in helping get rid of it. Why not have a clean-up campaign on "Abortion in the Dairy Cow?" Tests cannot be officially made by vocational agriculture teachers, but a licensed veterinarian can be obtained to do the work.

Cash receipts from National Forests totaled $5,859,183 for the past fiscal year, according to the USDA Forest Service.

Local Vocational Agriculture Teacher Explains Bangs Disease of Cattle

Editor's Note: Due to the large number of cases of undulant fever in Memphis being caused by citizens drinking milk from cows infected with Bangs Disease, the following article has been prepared concerning the disease by Gene Barnett, vocational agriculture teacher in Memphis. The article defines the disease, and tells what can be done to prevent it from spreading any further.

This dairy cattle disease is known as Bangs Disease, Infectious Abortion, and Contagious Abortion. Infectious Abortion in cattle is, as the name implies, an infectious disease, which is reaching quite serious proportions, especially in dairy cattle.

The disease is transmitted from infected animals to non-infected animals principally by licking vaginal discharges, eating contaminated feed-stuff, etc. The disease is also transmitted to man, through the consumption of milk from these cows which are infected, and through contact with infected animals.

The most effective control measures are as follows:

1. Detection of all affected animals by blood tests, and their elimination from the herd by isolation or disposal for immediate slaughter.

2. The isolation of all pregnant animals before calving and after calving until all vaginal discharges have ceased.

3. The vaccination of all virgin animals, both male and female, 4 to 8 months of age (abortion vaccine).

The federal government, recognizing the great economic importance of the disease due to the heavy losses in calf crop through abortions, has for several years vigorously prosecuted an abortion control program, which has as its objective a reduction of the annual calf losses due to infectious abortion, a reduction in the spread of abortion to susceptible non-infected animals, and the elimination, as far as possible, of the dangers of transmitting the disease to members of the human family—either by contact with infected animals or through the milk supply from infected animals.

Cattle owners who wish to cooperate with the government in this project are required to sign an agreement for the disposal (immediate slaughter only) of all positive reactor cattle in the herd. Inspectors themselves are required to collect and identify blood samples, which are tested for Bangs Disease and tag all reactors. This blood testing method is the only reliable means of differentiating infected animals from non-infected animals. Two, three, and sometimes as many as eight tests are required, over a period of one or two years, before the herd can be declared clean and free of the disease.

It will be readily recognized that in badly infected herds such a program may wipe out practically the entire herd, necessitating herd replacements, which is fast becoming a most difficult problem. For this reason, many stockmen hesitate to follow this method and cooperate in this plan, but the owner of the infected cow must know that he is mindfully selling milk for human consumption which will and is causing a fever in Memphis known as "undulant fever."

We can rid ourselves of this disease in our own community by close cooperation, and absolutely refusing to buy milk from the owner of the cow who cannot show proof that the animal has had the blood tests and shows to be a non-reactor (negative).

Then insist that even though the cow now shows to be a non-reactor, tests be run on her every

Approximately 400 Attend Methodist Session in Memphis

Women's Society of Christian Service Organized Under New Church Set-Up

Approximately 400 delegates and visitors attended the organization meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Northwest Texas Conference of Methodist Churches in Memphis last Thursday and Friday.

A total of 204 delegates registered, and approximately 200 others, not members of the society, attended the sessions as visitors.

Elected as president of the new conference organization was Mrs. C. A. Bickley of Abilene, former vice president of the Women's Missionary Society of the churches. The secretary chosen was Mrs. W. P. Butler of Amarillo.

Highlighting the program were the addresses of Bishop Ivan Lee Holt. The visiting speaker attracted a large crowd Thursday night, and spoke on world problems of today, emphasizing the need and importance of Christianity in the crisis of today.

The meeting here last week-end was the first for women of the Northwest Texas Conference since the union of the Northern, Southern, and Protestant branches of Methodism.

The conference women societies were organized under the new set-up. Until recently, the women's organizations have been called Missionary Societies, but the name has been changed to the Women's Society of Christian Service.

The Northwest Texas Conference is made up of approximately 325 churches in a territory lying west of Wichita Falls and north of Abilene.

Although the program did not officially open until 1 o'clock, an executive board meeting was held Thursday morning. Bishop Holt arrived Thursday morning, conferred with pastors of the conference, and then lunched with the pastors in the basement of the Methodist Church at noon.

The meeting was officially opened at 1 o'clock with a devotional by Bishop Holt. Music was led by Mrs. Joe Shields of Amarillo, with Mrs. Robert Devin of Memphis at the organ.

Mrs. Ed Hutcherson welcomed the delegates to Memphis, and then a roll call of delegates was made on presentation of society certificates.

Reports were heard during the afternoon, and at 5 o'clock, a tea for the delegates was given at the home of Mrs. R. S. Greene, with Owners of cows should have them tested and know that the milk products they use at home or sell to the citizens are from disease-free animals. Retail dealers and individual users should also be sure that the milk and butter they buy are free of contamination. Human life is worth more than a diseased cow, or the bit of money derived from milking such an animal.

This is Memphis Band week and workers are giving every person an opportunity to contribute to the band uniform campaign. These workers are finding ready response from the citizens anxious to have a part in the worthy cause.

THE SALESMAN

By Democrat Staff Poet

When a stranger comes visiting, and you don't know how to act, for he might not be a salesman, and you have to use some tact.

As you sit there wondering what to say or what to do, and he starts praising your children, then switches off to you—able the draft board to classify the registrants in order of their availability for service. Class I will be those who will be immediately available for training, and the other three classes will be those on the deferred lists in that order.

—better start to figuring, because he's working for your dough. Get your mouth all puckered for a large emphatic NO.

Only those in Class I will be asked to undergo a medical examination. If, however, a registrant is transferred from some other class to Class I, then he may be asked to take a physical examination.

Registrations from each precinct are as follows: Memphis No. 1, 327; Memphis No. 13, 297; Newlin, 58, Eli, 61; Lesley, 82; Estelline, 167; Parnell, 82; Plaska, 116; Brice, 53; Deep Lake, 18; Hulver, 58; Lakeview, 143; Baylor, 34; Turkey (Oxbow and Bridle Bit combined with Turkey), 326. How many in Texas will be included in the first draft is not known, since the allotments are being held up until after the registration totals are completed. It has been pointed out, however, that Texas may not be required to furnish any in the first draft, due to the large number of volunteers from this state.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means of thanking my many friends for the acts of kindness shown me in my misfortune and illness. Every flower and every word of encouragement has meant so much to me, also the nice lunches which were sent. I would like to thank each one personally but that is impossible as there are so many, so will say to one and all—thank you and I love you. Mary E. Combest.
