Jefferson Davis Birthday Observed By U.D.C. Members

Jefferson Davis' birthday was observed by members of United Daughters of the Confederacy, at their final meeting of the season Wednesday, June 3, at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. J. A. Whaley with Mrs. Emma Baskerville as co-hostess and the social committee, composed of Mrs. Joe Deberry, Mrs. J. A. Odum, and Mrs. Sam West, in charge.

Miniature colonial dolls and multi-colored summer flowers were arranged throughout the entertaining rooms in keeping with the southern background.

The luncheon was served at four-course tables centered with red carnations and baby breath.

At three o'clock the group assembled for a short business session during which the incoming officers were recognized.

The program for the afternoon opened with a salute to the American and Confederate flags. "Dixie" by chapter; Book Review, "Lanterns on the Levee" by William Alexander was given by Mrs. R. E. Clark; "Medley of Southern Songs" was played by Mrs. Sammie Sayre of Clarendon, guest musician.

Members present were Mesdames C. W. Broome, R. E. Clark, Roy R. Fultz, O. R. Goodall, Claud Johnson, J. M. Lane, D. J. Morgensen, G. W. Sexauer, Frank Wright, G. C. Baskerville, Joe Deberry, J. H. Norman, J. A. Odum, Sam West, J. A. Whaley, and J. D. Browder of Mineral Wells.

Guests present were Mrs. Walter Labay, Mrs. Helen Clifton, Mrs. W. L. Rigby and Mrs. E. H. Whaley of Estelline, Mrs. Charles G. Dutton of Waco, Mrs. Sammie Sayre, Mrs. Johnny Blocker of Clarendon, Sandra Broome of Littlefield and Mrs. J. W. Reese of Hedley.

Women Work— CIVILIAN DEFENSE AUXILIARY NOTES

A great honor has come to Texas, in that the first Director of the Woman's Auxiliary Army Corps is a native Texan. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, wife of William P. Hobby, former governor of Texas, is fully qualified for the place as commanding officer of the WAAC. A graduate of the University of Texas and of Mary Hardin College, she is a learned and gracious lady. A few of the important positions she has occupied during the past year are: Parliamentarian of the Texas House of Representatives, assistant city attorney of Houston, legal clerk of the Texas State Banking Department, research and assistant editor of the Houston Post, president of Texas League of Women Voters, chairman of Mobilization for Human Needs, appointed chief woman's secretary War Department of Public Relations in 1941. She is also an active club woman and author of "Mr. Chairman," a parliamentary law text book. She is 37 years of age and the mother of two children. Texas women will rally to her standard.

Red Cross production in Hall County is going forward. A great number of sweaters are finished and many others are being made, afghans and quilts are coming in, several dozen dresses are near completion. Soon we shall have another large shipment.

Many hands make work light. Mrs. O. Waits of the Fairview community is a busy farm wife but each Saturday she brings in finished garments and takes others out to sew for the Red Cross. "I feel that I must work every minute," said one lady who gives much time to the Red Cross. "Even when I sew a button on a little dress I think, this will keep some child warm. I do not care where the dress is sent, if it is over seas, the father of that child is fighting our battle too."

"We must be vigilant." Never before has the health of the nation been so important. And yet epidemics prevail over the country. Fever, malaria, dysentery, meningitis and many other dis-

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Salem and Mrs. L. J. Campbell of Turkey visited Sunday with Mrs. Campbell's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lester Campbell.

Miss Vivian Prideaux, Dr. A. Baldwin Married at Archer

Miss Vivian Prideaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Prideaux of Archer City, and Dr. Alvin Baldwin Jr. of Dallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Baldwin of Memphis, were married Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church in Archer City. Rev. Edward Townsend, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

Decorations arranged for the service were built around a huge bouquet of calla lilies recessed into the arched baptistry. Over the callas was an arched grouping of candles, the whole being flanked by vertical lines of green fern. Garlanded with fern draped flower bedecked candles to frame the whole picture and complete the setting.

Mrs. T. L. Rouse of Vernon, sister of the bridegroom, provided accompaniment for the vocalist, Mrs. Chester Prideaux, who offered Cadman's "At Dawning" and "To You." Words and music for the latter were written by the pianist especially for the bride and groom. Music for the wedding also included the traditional processional and recessional selections by Wagner and Mendelssohn given as piano solos.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a duchesse-satin gown designed with sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves. The pencil silhouette of the frock was softened by the billowy net train which was draped in tiers from the hipline. The net was scattered with calla lilies. Her veil imported bridal illusion arranged in circular biers, fingertip length, was held in her coiffure by fresh flowers. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Miss Doris Prideaux and Miss Frances Prideaux attended their sister. They wore bouffant gowns of haze pink marquisette made with softly draped sweetheart necklines and long bishop sleeves. Their matching hats were designed of veiling and their flowers were blue lilies of the Nile.

Ann Prideaux and Alice Riviere, flower girls, wore identical frocks of haze pink marquisette designed with square necks and short, puffed sleeves. Double rows of heading accented the fitted bodices and fell into full skirts. They carried lily-shaped baskets of ribbon filled with rose petals. Dr. R. E. Baldwin of Piney Bluff, La., served his brother-in-law. Ushers were Dr. Youngblood of Stamford, Hunt, and Donald McClellan of Olney.

The wedding reception held at the home of the bride's parents. The reception room was decorated with pink roses. The bride wore a rose mask with its centerpiece of roses. White and crystal ornaments included an heirloom bowl at one extremity decorated with wedding cake. Other assisting as members of the party were Misses Lynn Voelcker and Katherine Thornton of Olney, and Dr. R. E. Baldwin.

Immediately after the wedding, Dr. and Mrs. Baldwin for a short wedding trip. The bride wore a sea-green gaberdine suit with white straw and white. The groom wore a small hat of tan and white. The couple reside in Dallas at 5720 Springs.

The bride, following her education at Archer City, attended the University of Texas and was graduated from the city of Missouri School of Journalism.

Dr. Baldwin holds a degree from Baylor University and M. D. degree from Baylor Medical School. He also attended the University of Pennsylvania's Graduate School of Medicine. He is a member of the Phi Beta Phi fraternity.

Those attending the wedding from Memphis, other than the bride's parents, were Mrs. and Mrs. W. C. Dickey.

BOYCE HOUSE

Boyce House for Lieut.-Governor

The entry of Boyce House this week into the Lieutenant Governor's race has added interest to the campaign for that office.
This is House's first race for any office, but he has a background of wide, varied and unusual achievements. He has written five books on Texas and has long studied the governmental affairs of the State.
In gathering material for his column, "I Give You Texas," House has traveled throughout the State, is familiar with conditions and problems of every section, and knows thousands of Texans personally.
Over a million people read his human interest column in more than 200 newspapers in the smaller cities and towns throughout Texas. House, 45 years old, lives in Fort Worth; has edited newspapers in Olney, Brady, Eastland, Ranger and Cisco; and obtained his education in Taylor, Brownwood, Uvalde and Alpine.
Political observers agree that Boyce House will be a strong contender for Lieutenant Governor.

INFORMATION GIVEN ON MAILING PARCELS TO PRISONERS OF WAR

Information for parents or relatives who wish to send letters or parcels to men now interned in foreign countries is given by E. E. Roberts, Hall County Red Cross chairman, as follows:

"When the information bureau of the office of the provost marshal general ascertains the fact that an American has been interned, ordinary mail can be sent to the interned prisoner of war or civilians.

"Do not send mail to the information bureau for forwarding. Typeset or write plainly both the address and the contents of the letter to facilitate forwarding and censorship of same. Leave room on the envelope for forwarding address in case internee has been moved to another camp.

"As far as possible, only personal matters should be included in order to avoid delay by censorship.

"POSTAGE: Ordinary foreign mail can be sent free of postage of address to a prisoner of war or civilian internee. Write in the upper left-hand corner 'Prisoner of War (or Civilian Internee), Postage Free.' This applies to packages sent to Europe. Packages cannot be sent to Japan as yet.

"ADDRESS: A full name and rank of prisoner.

B. Prisoner of war number (if for the Orient, formerly at Wake, Guam, etc.).

C. Designation of prison camp by name or number (or, Held by Japan).

D. Country in which camp is located.

E. Care of International Red Cross, Geneva, Switzerland.

Sender's name and address should appear on the back of the envelope.

Parcels to Europe

"Address as above. Make out the 'Customs Declaration of Contents' to be had at local postoffice. Limited to 11 pounds weight. Size — not over 18 in length and not over 42 inches in length and girth combined. Strong wrapping if possible, in packing canvas.

"NOTE: The following cannot be sent in parcels: Medicines, etc., cigarette papers, written communications, matches and other articles prohibited by regular parcel post rules.

"Printed matter is discouraged, as it may be confiscated, or hold up the delivery of the parcel."

Farmers Urged to Get the Most Out Of Their Machines

Pooling of Transportation Facilities in Neighborhood Sought to Conserve Vehicles

Get the most out of the farm machinery in your area is the advice the Texas USDA War Board is giving the 254 county boards in Texas.

Greater emphasis must be placed on "custom work" as a result of the increased need for machinery because of expanded production, the limited supply of new farm machinery available, and the decreasing supply of farm labor, B. F. Vance, board chairman, pointed out.

Current prospects are that unless special effort is made, fewer combines will "follow the harvest" in the wheat section this summer. Labor shortages, desire to save wear and tear on machinery, and lack of tires contribute to this situation, Vance said.

The State USDA War Board has been charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that maximum use is made of farm machinery. County boards are conducting a survey to determine if machinery shortages exist in the counties and to ascertain needs for additional equipment.

"Texas farmers pledged big increases in vital war crops, and they have every intention of meeting those pledges," Vance declared. "But to reach our 1942 production goals will require the fullest utilization of all farm equipment to offset shortages of labor."

Ferrel Pulls Out of Commissioners Race

Withdrawal from the race for Commissioner of Precinct 3 was announced this week by Crump Ferrel of Estelline, who stated that press of other affairs is such as to prevent his finishing the campaign.

In making public his withdrawal, Ferrel expressed his thanks to everyone who has helped further his candidacy up to the present time.

NEWS about boys in the Service

Pfc. Robert H. Lindsey of the U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lindsey, volunteered for the Marine Corps in January and received his basic training at the Marine Corps base in San Diego, Calif., and was transferred to Camp Elliott, Calif. Upon returning from the sea maneuvers, Private First Class Lindsey, wrote his parents here the following letter:

Dear Folks: Well, I guess this will be a surprise receiving a letter from me now since I am not supposed to even be back until Wednesday, and it was back as much a surprise to me as anyone. We were loafing around out in the bay yesterday and then we went into dock about 5 o'clock and they told us to pack our sea bags and get our greens on that we were leaving, so that is the way it was. We were going on a two day hike at the end of our landing and were supposed to be back here next Saturday.

This last week, however, the second Marines were leaving and they came out and got all of our guns and everything and that is the reason we came back, I guess, but it was not any too soon for me, 'cause I was really getting tired of it.

That was the worst thing I have ever been in, I think. You have heard how people would live so crowded up. Well, there were from 100 to 200 in a space about 16 feet by 16 feet. The bunks were four and sometime five high and they have to have ship blacked out every night and you just imagine how hot it was down below deck. There were many men on board and it really did get hot down there and every time you took two steps, you had to just fight your way through to where you were going.

We were on there a week and a half and every night I would take off my clothes and just lay on my bunk and sweat to beat the band. The landing parties were not too hard but we would go on an island then have to walk across it with those packs on and I had to carry that 51 pound tripod, and it got a little hard, but that was all the hard work we had to do.

We got one liberty while on board and that was last Sunday and I was going in and write you all a letter, but there is a boy here that I am with most of the time, and he wanted me to go up to Los Angeles to see his aunt, and we really did have a good time. We got there about 2 o'clock and had to be back at midnight, so we didn't have much time. His aunt lived out in Glendale and they have the ideal home, if I have ever seen one. It was not so big, but they had everything in it right up to date, and the reason that I had such a good time, was that it reminded me of home so much. As soon as we got there, she fixed us up a big plate to eat. His uncle is a lawyer for the Texaco company and he drives a big Buick. They took us riding a little while, until we had to start back.

I called Tom Bob Harrison and he was out. I also called that Morris girl and talked to her awhile, and she is coming to Memphis June 19.

I nearly got sea sick once while we were out on maneuvers, and that was when four of us were out in a little boat feeding the fish. When we started everyone was laughing at each other, but we soon stopped because we all got sick, and my squad leader was one of the sickest guys that I ever saw. He wasn't white, he was just yellow! And he was so weak he couldn't hardly get out of the boat when we did get to the beach.

They were building a swimming pool when we left the camp, and when we got back last night, it was finished, and full of water.

We got here about 8:30 last night and then we had to wait till they got all the stuff off the ship and brought it out here to us and we had to put it away before they would let us go to bed and we got through about 12 o'clock, and then they made us have inspection this morning, so I didn't get to church this morning.

Well, I guess I have written enough about our trip.

Love,
Pfc. Robert H. Lindsey, U.S.M.C.

Merle Padgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Padgett of the Friendship community, is attached to the 16th Pursuit Squadron of the 51st Pursuit Group, U. S. Air Force, now on active service in India. This is his second letter published in the Democrat:

Dearest Mom and All: Received four or five of your letters the other day and was glad to hear from home. We have been anxiously awaiting those letters for about four months. You can imagine what a rush there was when we got them. I am sure glad to hear that there are going to be good crops, for the food here is as punk as the country, and the deserts of Arizona are Heaven compared to this place. I only weigh about 180 pounds now. So that speaks for itself.

Tell Uncle I wish I had a snake I saw down town yesterday for him to mount. It was a python about 10 feet long. There are lots of pythons and cobras over here, as well as jackals and hyenas.

We, I understand, are entering the rainy season. I sure hope it is not as bad as the dry season.

Boy, will my aim be better when I get back. I don't know whether I can hit a quail or not, but I sure can kill skunks, snakes and coyotes.

I'll bet that little sister of mine has grown up to be quite a lady by now. I wish I had sent all my pictures home. Those I did keep I lost when I lost my billfold. Will you have some more made and send them to me. Some of the whole family. Make some of the barns and field scenes and send them if you can.

Well, I had better close now, and write to my girl.

Sgt. Jiggs Blankenship of Camp Barkeley, Abilene, visited last week-end with his wife here.

Lt. and Mrs. Asa Lee Gailey left Friday for Waco for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gilliam, after a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard. Lieutenant Gailey will be stationed at Camp Barkeley, Abilene, after June 19.

Riley Brown of Memphis was one of a large group of Panhandle-Plains young men enlisting in the U. S. Navy Sunday at Amarillo as "Avengers of Pearl Harbor." With that phrase as a slogan, more than 12,000 young Americans entered the Naval service Sunday.

Joining the many other "fighting" men with America's armed forces from Memphis, Calvin Rice Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Taylor, was received at the U. S. Naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill., last week to begin recruit training. During this training he will be given an aptitude test to determine whether he will be given further specialized training at one of the Navy's many service schools, or assigned to active duty at sea or at some other Naval station.

County War Board Urges Careful Use Of Trucks on Farm

Fulllest Use of Equipment Called Necessary to Offset Shortage of Farm Workers

The Hall County USDA War Board this week urged farmers to comply with the spirit of the ODT order restricting transportation by making the best possible use of their motor vehicles.

The board urged pooling of facilities, best possible care of equipment, especially tires, and elimination of all unnecessary driving. Farm trucks are exempt from the Office of Defense Transportation order requiring truckers to carry at least a three-quarters load on all return trips, Neely, chairman of the board, explained, but farmers are expected to comply with the order voluntarily insofar as possible.

"There's no sense in several folks living in one vicinity making separate trips to town when all could have gone together," Neely declared. "We don't intend to force farmers to save their tires and equipment by pooling facilities, but we feel that they will all do their part if they understand the situation."

Transportation tie-ups would cause serious damage to Hall County agriculture, and to the Food for Freedom program, Neely said, pointing out that trucks and trailers which bring produce to market certainly are one of the most important parts of our transportation system.

"Farmers in this county pledged greatly increased production of milk, eggs, peanuts, pork, beef, and other food products, but producing won't do any good unless we can get the produce to market," the war board official said. "The best way to make sure we'll be able to get them to market is to keep our trucks running just as long as they will go."

It was said of the Texas Rangers that they "combined the fighting qualities of three races: they could ride like Mexicans, trail like Indians, shoot like Tennesseans and fight like the devil."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Triumph of Gospel Is Sure Despite Present Day Crisis
International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 21
Text: Matthew 28:16-20; Mark 16:14-20; Luke 24:19-53
IT is not easy for us to grasp the full significance of what is often called the Great Commission. "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature." The growth of the early church was remarkable immediately following the fulfillment of the commission that Jesus gave to His 11 faithful apostles and the missionary labors of St. Paul and his associates, but even this remarkable growth was small in comparison with the vast number who had never heard of Christ. The religion of the Galilean seemed feeble and unimportant.
We must not be discouraged and we must guard against seeing world events in the false perspective of despair. As the boundaries of the world have enlarged and progress has developed, the powers of evil have increased along with the powers of good. The present crisis is wider, and perhaps deeper, but it is inherently no different from successive crises in which powers of anti-Christ have sought unsuccessfully to overthrow the Christian Church and undo all that has been accomplished in the name of the Master.
The promise of God is still to the faithful, and it is as true today as it was in the dark hours when Jesus proclaimed it that the triumph of the Gospel is sure. When the world passes out of this period of hate and violence, there will still be human needs with the power of the Gospel to meet them. We are more than ever aware that it is only the Christ who can satisfy the needs and longings of man-kind, and it is true, as in the ancient day, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." Note also, that the world that Jesus said He had overcome was a world of trial and tribulation, not unlike the world in which we are now living.

★ Almost overnight, homemaking has become a war industry. Building stronger Americans—stronger men and women, boys and girls—is the job.

★ As a wartime homemaker, you can do your part by learning the latest developments of the National Nutritional Program. Information regarding the program is available to help you learn "What every housewife should know about WAR FARE."

As your part in the war program the Government wants you to serve your family foods which are high in nutritional value. And if every homemaker will do this, it means a healthier nation—stronger nation. The Government also wants you to conserve fuel, appliances and materials that are needed for our forces and our allies. The Government wants you to keep your present home equipment in good repair so that it will last for the duration of the war—and even longer.

So, come to our office and enroll in the United Home Volunteers. As a member you will receive, without cost, authentic, up-to-the-minute booklets that will show you how to save time and money in your shopping; how to make your household equipment last longer; how to avoid waste of food and fuel; how to plan meals for your family that will meet the Government's recommendations for balanced nutrition. It is easy to become a Home Volunteer—it costs you nothing.

A Plain Statement about WESTERN VACATION TRAVEL

NATIONAL PARKS ARE OPEN. The national parks of the West—including Yellowstone, Glacier, and Rocky Mountain—are open to vacationists this summer. Park hotels and resorts will be open, and regular motor bus service will be in operation during the season between rail gateways and hotels, and between hotels within the parks. Sightseeing sidetrips have been suspended.

COLORADO ROCKIES. Hotels and resorts in the Colorado Rockies are opening. While sightseeing bus operations have been suspended, it is possible for vacationists to reach nearly all the principal scenic regions by train or regularly scheduled buses. Resort operators, upon notice, will meet guests at nearby rail or bus stops.

DUDE RANCHES. More than 100 dude ranches in Wyoming, Colorado and Montana reached via the Burlington are accepting guests this season. Upon advance notice, ranchers will meet guests at nearby rail station. Limitless sightseeing trips are available from ranches by horseback or wagon.

WARTIME TRAVEL INFORMATION. For information on train schedules, equipment and resort accommodations, consult your local Burlington ticket agent. Now, more than ever, it is important to obtain travel counsel so as to avoid conflict with war traffic.

War Traffic is the No. 1 Job

The most important job of the Burlington for the duration is to provide fast, dependable transportation for troops and war materials. This has been done and will continue to be the primary purpose of the entire Burlington organization.

In addition to the expeditious handling of war traffic, the Burlington has the capacity to care for the civilian freight and passenger movements, many of which are inseparable from the war effort.

Best use can be made of this travel capacity by planning trips so as to depart and return during the middle of the week. Reservations, when required, should be made several days in advance, if possible.

SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME

MANY master minds of the world are now busily engaged in peering uneasily into the future and prophesying ponderously about the shape of things to come after this global war has run its course. This writer is not well enough informed and much too timid to ascend into the rarefied atmosphere of their musings. Besides, we doubt if they know what they're talking about—except, of course, that things will be different. Make no mistake about that.

But here in our own state and country radical changes are now taking place and others are in the cooking that, it is fairly obvious, will become permanent in some form. And these alterations in existence hammered out in the forges of war, will in some way affect the life of every individual.

In the first place, you can be sure that Federal control over most things will be tightened rather than loosened after the war. States rights, what is left of them, are definitely on the skids. Some parts of these rights have faded after each of the wars this country has engaged in in recent times, starting with the Civil War, which was fought over them. After World War I it took 13 long years to get Federal prohibition off the necks of the states.

No gift of prophecy is needed to see that one of the first and most important things to come under Federal control is highway motor traffic, both passenger and commercial. To a travel-loving public and the vast industry which has grown out of the trucking business, these multitude of variations in state traffic laws are nuisances of the first water. Therefore, uniform traffic and load limit rules are indicated.

Tightened reins on credit generally, and particularly with regard to installment buying, which are now being fastened on the public as a war measure, will likely become permanent in some form, as one means of curbing post war inflation. All business, big and little, will be more closely supervised.

There'll be a lot of other things too, over which the government is going to exercise more control—some good, some bad. But good or bad, they're on the way and you might as well be prepared to make the best of them.

TEXAS

WAR BOND QUOTAS

FOR JUNE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made known June War Bond quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation to all State and County War Savings Staffs.

The June quota for the State of Texas is $26,002,200. The county quotas, based upon a substantial increase over May quotas, are expected to reach ten per cent of income when the nation goes on a billion-dollar-a-month War Bond basis in July to help meet the war cost. "Everybody, every pay day, ten per cent," is the battle cry throughout the country. You can buy War Bonds at your Bank, Building & Loan Association, Post Office and at many department stores.

VICTORY

Excerpts from the Official OEM Bulletin

Zippers Allowed
Continued use of zippers fabricated prior to April 1 is permitted in a recent amendment to WPB's zipper limitation, affecting various garments and articles, such as swim suits, corsets, luggage, pocketbooks, sports jackets, over-shoes and furniture slip covers. Supplies of copper, steel and zinc for manufacture of slide fasteners to be used in these articles was cut off by the WPB on April 1.

Fixture Manufacture Stopped
An order virtually halting the manufacture after June 20 of sinks, drinking fountains, water closet bowls and tanks, and other plumbing fixtures, has been issued by the War Production Board. The order prohibits use of metals other than joining hardware, coating, or reinforcing mesh in production of these fixtures. At least 250,000 of the more essential of these plumbing fixtures are believed to be on hand now, enough to meet requirements for a considerable period of time.

Farm Cooperation Asked
With the double aim of conservation of vital transportation equipment and assuring a continuous flow of farm products to market, Office of Defense Transportation and Department of Agriculture officials are joining in an appeal to farmers to cut use of farm trucks and cars down to the minimum and to form transportation pools among themselves.

WPB Director Named
Appointment of Ross Eugene Risser, of Bonham, Texas, as regional director of the War Production Board in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, with headquarters at Dallas, has been announced by WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson. Mr. Risser is president and general manager of the Southwest Pump Co. of Bonham, which he founded in 1916. He is a native of Calvert, Texas.

Ice Price Rule Issued
Relief for the ice industry from provisions of the general maximum price regulation, was supplied by Price Administrator in a separate price regulation (154), which permits ice merchandisers to charge the same maximum prices from April to October this year as they charged for the same period last year. Using March prices as a base, as required under the general regulation, would have worked unnecessary hardships on seller during the summer months, OPA ruled. During the calendar period, from November 1 to March 31, ice dealers will use the March, 1942, maximum as their ceiling price.

Refrigerators Controlled
Distributors and manufacturers may sell, ship or deliver domestic mechanical refrigerators only to fill contracts for the armed services, the Panama Canal or upon a certificate of transfer issued by the WPB's Director of Industry Operations, in accordance with a new WPB order, effective June 15. Repossession of new refrigerators for default in payments also is permitted, but the same rules apply for resale of such machines.

Wire Sales Allowed
Sales of fence wire, barbed wire, poultry netting, fence posts, staples and corrugated roofing and siding now manufactured under an amendment to WPB's steel conservation orders M-21 and M-21-B. These articles, in constant demand for maintenance and repair of civilian property, will be sold in quantities already in joint list which already included nails, bale ties and small pipe, on which no priority ratings are necessary for sales by warehouses and dealers.

Firearms Released
Some new firearms, including odd-caliber rifles and small shotguns, now may be sold to the general public by dealers and wholesalers, under an amendment to the WPB order which "froze" all new firearms on Feb. 27. Various types of rifles, pistols and shotguns, suitable for protection of essential civilian facilities and war plants, are restricted by the amendment to sale for state, local or federal government use on orders rated A-1-j or higher, to the Defense Supplies Corporation, lend-lease, or on specific order by the Director of Industry Operations.

Price Warning Issued
A warning that ignorance of the price control law will not be accepted as an excuse for violations, addressed specifically to the meat industry in the Southwest, also is applicable to others who must operate under price control, Max L. McCullough, region OPA administrator, said.

Auctions, Funerals Covered
Interpretations by the OPA are that such diverse transactions as auction sales and funeral service charges established in the General Maximum Price Regulation, although not included in that regulation, are exempt from provisions of the price regulation. These products include farina, hominy, grits, pearled barley, cereal oats and ground buckwheat.

Fledglings Grow Wings—How U. S. Trains Air Combat Teams

Editor's Note: This is the last of six news releases from Randolph Field, San Antonio, explaining the steps in training combat teams for Uncle Sam's gigantic air armada.

6. Aerial Observer Training
Appointments to the Observer's School are made by the Adjutant General's office and unlike other advanced schools, there is no age limit. All officers on active duty are eligible but the policy has been to detail only officers from ground branches who are assigned to those branches—such as Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Infantry and, in some cases, Air Corps. Officers desiring the course may be either Regulars or Reserves. No civilians are allowed to enroll at present.

While an officer is taking the ten-week Observation Training course, he receives the regular pay of his ground branch plus $60 flying pay. Upon graduation and certification in the duties of an Officer Observer in Observation or Reconnaissance Air Unit, he receives his regular pay plus flying pay when assigned to an Observation Unit.

Of 272 air-ground hours, Observation students spend 60 hours aloft, 202 at ground school and 10 hours on the skeet range. The latter is used to sharpen the eyes and judgment of moving obstacles, which will be needed during later combat procedure. Athletics are also included in the curriculum, with an hour per day prescribed. Special stress is put upon reconnaissance during the 60 hours flying time allotted for the course. "Swinger" reconnaissance, approximately half of the time, or 26 hours, is spent in day, night and photo reconnaissance, while artillery adjustment is next in line with ten hours in both night and day navigation; air-to-ground communications technique; infantry, command and liaison missions; and cavalry and armored force missions.

A total of 26 important and diversified subjects are given the fledgling Observer during a ground school work, familiarization and orientation with flying equipment comes first, after which signal communications, code practice and radio procedure, and organization of the Army complete the "foundation" for later training.

From there, instructions are given in air navigation; map reading; tactics, technique of employment of observation and reconnaissance; aerial photography and photograph reading and interpretation. After the mastery of tactics, technique of employment and equipment of artillery, infantry, cavalry, armored force and anti-aircraft artillery branches, students are given aerial missions with each of the separate arms, as well as a summary and missions with the combined arms. The curriculum also calls for tactics, technique of employment and equipment of both bombardment and pursuit aviation.

As a wind-up, future Observers acquire comprehensive knowledge on combat orders, flags of all nations, naval operations, military intelligence, and squadron command and group staff duties. Immediately following graduation, officers of company grade are detailed to the Army Air Forces for a period of a year. The Chief of the Army Air Forces then assigns them to duty in Observation squadrons.

Other than Observers and Non-Officer Flexible Gunners, all graduates of Advanced Flying schools and their branches are paid $245 per month, the regular salary of Second Lieutenants. Three years active duty, unless sooner relieved by competent authority is required service after graduation. Allowances after completion of the courses include one uniform allowance of $150 when commissioned and a bonus of $500 cash for each year of active commissioned duty, payable upon release from service.

Civilians, enlisted personnel of the Regular Army and personnel of any component part of the Army of the United States are eligible for any of the Pilot or alternate courses, except that of Observer. The only requirement is that they be between the ages of 20 and 26 years of age, both inclusive, and single. Minimum educational requirements for male citizens of excellent character and sound physique, generally amount to two years of college or its equivalent. Written examinations are given those without proper college credits in the required subjects of English Grammar and Composition, Arithmetic, Algebra (to include Quadratics, Plane Geometry and Plane Trigonometry), as well as on any two of the optional subjects of United States History, General History, Elementary Physics, Inorganic Chemistry or any Modern Language—except English.

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Sartorial Survey
Douglas Meadow in The Mator Tribune: Impassive interest in a new gown may kindle more disgust in a woman's heart than a tub of bombs can extinguish. Simply failing to comment on a new bonnet imposes a penalty equal to an outraged judge whose court has suffered contempt. However, I am secretly spurred with the thought that male apparel could be reduced to striped sarongs without arresting more than passing attention of most women.

Dull Christmas
Leon Guinn in The Scurry County Times: Those who make it their business to look down the road ahead predict a dull Christmas shopping season. If the so-called inventory control bill now sponsored by the War Production Board becomes law, inventory control would tend to add heavily to the worries of merchants and cut down the amount of goods made available to the public. The plan now calls for limitation of money any store could tie up in merchandise, would forbid merchants to buy unless stock purchases during a designated period, amounted to less than his merchandise limit.

Dangerous Situation
Ed Bishop in The Dalhart Texas: Wishful thinking on the part of most of us is leading toward a dangerous situation in the U. S. We are beginning to feel pretty cocky, pretty sure that we will win this war in short order. In fact, if we listen with just one ear and keep our eyes half closed, we begin to be so optimistic that we freely predict the end of the war by winter.

Business Is Out
St. Jo Tribune: Skinny and Sis don't know what to do with themselves, now that school is out for the summer, but they have nothing on Pop. His business is out, too.

Not Copycats
De Witt Lamb in The Castro County News: The Marines are fighting mad. They resent headlines which say they are being taught British Commando tactics.

Hitler's Ox Gored
Lynn County News: Hitler was having a lot of fun a short year ago when fleets of his bombers were wreaking destruction on London and Coventry. But now the bombers are coming out of the West and dropping their missiles on German cities and strongholds of Heil, Cologne, Essen and other great industrial cities now lie in ruins. The chickens are going home to roost. Millions of Germans are shaking with consternation, for they fear that worse is coming. They that take up the sword to murder and rob shall die by the sword.

Questions
Roy W. Hahn in The Briscoe County News: It is true that newspapers do not kill the enemy. However, if they are of no value, then why in the hell, people, does every blasted government agency flood every newspaper in the country with press releases? Why are we asked to give bond buying, recruiting stations, Red Cross, Civilian Defense and relief drives all the publicity we can? Why are we asked to make the people war-minded, bond-conscious and liberal with their money and boys? Why has the Free Press always been given the same rating as Free Speech and the Right to Worship as one pleases?

In the early part of the 19th doches and Goliad were the only Texas white communities of importance. However, physical standards are somewhat lower than those required for Pilots and Bombardiers. In that case, general qualifications are those required for a Reserve Officer Commission in the United States Army.

Thus, a brief outline of Advanced Flying school courses offered in the Air Corps demonstrates that there is an interesting and lucrative future for those fit young men who have a desire to "Keep 'em Flying."

USED CARS AND HOW TO KNOW THEM

CUSTOMER: Both these cars appeal to me, but...

SALESMAN: You won't find a better second-hand car anywhere than either of these. Wonderful buy.

CUSTOMER: If I only knew how the engines have been treated... what oil the ex-owners used.

SALESMAN: This one, I don't know. But this job I happen to know had nothing but Conoco Nth motor oil from its first mile!

CUSTOMER: Well, why didn't you say so! Conoco Nth! I'll take the red job, of course! First of all, whoever owned that car knew what was best for a car when they used Conoco Nth. With Conoco Nth in the crankcase, I'm sure the cylinders and moving parts were protected by OIL-PLATING—lubrication that doesn't all drain down at every chance, but stays on the job.

SALESMAN: Well, that'd sell me the red one.

CUSTOMER: Why, man, Conoco Nth can keep an engine so clean of sludge and carbon that easily ought to mean good long life. I'm going to get in on this car's value—and keep on using Conoco Nth.

You can cash in, too. Cash in by getting all the mileage life and good oil mileage that are winning sensational sales success for Conoco Nth oil. See Your Conoco Neighboring Merchant today! Continental Oil Company

Egg Crates Listed As Vital in Food For Freedom Drive

Hiked Production Requires That Every Existing Crate Serve as Long as Possible

"Biddy" is busier than ever on Hall County and Texas farms doing her part in the Food for Freedom campaign. Her increased activities in egg production have strained the egg crate capacity and have caused them to be placed on the list of vital war material.

Egg producers and others to handle them are urged by D. A. Neely, chairman of the Hall County USDA War Board, to treat egg crates respectfully and above all not to board them. Chairman Neely lists six suggestions for helping to keep egg crates from becoming bottle-necks:

Open cases carefully—take care of the lid so that it will be available to protect the eggs on the next trip. A strip of wood is not enough.

Use care in removing fillers—they can be used again. By being careful when you take them out, you are preventing egg breakage.

Replace flats and fillers in empty cases. They are hard to obtain. Otherwise put them into a clean, dry place. A wet, dirty filler may damage your next lot of fresh eggs.

Don't drop cases. They take nails and extra time to repair. If every case goes another trip—if care could make every case go to market and back just one more trip, it would help overcome the shortage.

Don't board cases—remember there are poultry producers who have eggs to move with nothing to put them in. Let that extra case go back into circulation and there will be enough for everyone.

With its six million inhabitants, Texas ranks sixth in population among the 48 states.

fact that our business is a public service upon which so many homes and business establishments depend makes it vital that those who handle the operations and other details of the business shall be seasoned and experienced.

"The loyalty that grows out of long and faithful service in a company like ours is without price. It is reflected in a high degree of dependability in service night and day, winter and summer. Our customers never have to wonder when they turn the handle, whether the gas will be there."

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

A FEW weeks ago, I had occasion to visit some friends of mine in Nebraska.

Nebraska certainly is a great State. I like Nebraska. I like those immense cornfields that seem to stretch from horizon to horizon. (Plenty of wheatfields in Nebraska, too.)

But the thing that interests me most about Nebraska right now is the very important social experiment the beer people started there several years ago.

Beer itself is naturally a beverage of moderation. Yet, all too often, people are inclined to blame beer wrongly for any misconduct of the customer or the proprietor in a place licensed to sell beer.

So, the brewers got together to see what they could do about this. They weren't really responsible for their retailers... in fact, they're not allowed to control retailers. But the brewing industry worked out a plan by which it cooperates with the public authorities to eliminate bad conditions in the minority of places whose conduct would reflect on the law-abiding majority.

The beer people urge proprietors of retail places to conduct them properly and to obey the law. They urge consumers to cooperate, and ask the public generally to report law violations to the authorities. They send warnings to careless retailers and if conditions are not corrected they take the case up with the authorities. Naturally the authorities and the public have welcomed this as an added force in building respect for law and order.

That program is now operating in many states—and with the Nation at war, brewing industry organizations cooperate with civil and military authorities to assure good conditions in beer outlets around the army camps and naval stations.

Somehow, to me, that's a mighty important, public-spirited effort. I don't know of anything like it ever having been tried before. If people really help the brewers with that program they'll be doing a great thing for the country.

Reddy Kilowatt SERVICE STATION FOR APPLIANCES

I'm REDDY KILOWATT your Electric Servant

★ The manufacture of most all new household appliances has been frozen as a means of conserving vital materials. With careful usage, making minor repairs NOW, the old appliances in your home will last several years—or for the duration. Call our office—or your electric dealer or "fixit" man—about the cost of making needed repairs. By spending a little now, you may save a lot... and keep 'em working!
