Com County Men in the Armed Forces

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Yeats received this letter from their son, A. W. Yeats, a Private, 2-C, U. S. Army, August 13, 1943. Mother and Helen: My censorship has, at long last, been sufficiently relaxed for me to be specific in my correspondence for a change. Yesterday was my first anniversary in the service, so here goes for a general report.

As you know, my first overseas assignment was in Tunisia (American) and it is there, Mother, that the natives say "Fi Fi La" (Take it easy). There is a field hospital for months; my assignment is emergency dressing station in Samoa was reasonable, but it is much closer to the equator than I especially remember to be the most beautiful island in the Pacific, surpassed only by Tahiti. However, my general membership of the place are much more than the appearance of a fairytale fairy-land; extreme blue water, stately mountain peaks and a green that is famous the world over grows wild there that produce a florists paradise in the States. Flowers are, for example, coleus and geraniums are to be found all the way up the mountain side. All earth green unless made barren by the natives are a light copper fairly intelligent, and the group, are the most

While in New Zealand, I went to the Rotarua district, which closely approximates our own Yellowstone National Park, though on a much smaller scale. Hot mud, geysers and a small waterfall are amply described in a folder which I shall send you shortly. You may expect your rocks from Samoa and New Zealand shortly. My stay in New Zealand was thoroughly enjoyable from beginning to end.

All good things must eventually come to an end, so I am now back in the tropics. Natives here are much darker, more fuzzy haired and wilder looking than the Samoans. Nonetheless, I believe I prefer my present post to life in Samoa.

Occasionally the band invites us, and the pleasure of flat on one's back while enjoying some much-beloved tune and watching this matchless blue sky with shadows woven through it by the palm leaves—all tend to twist a dial or two in the heart. Sometimes it sings; at other times it "squawks."

Van A. Parnley S 2-C returned to Virginia last Thursday after visiting with his mother, Mrs. E. E. Parnley for three days. He became ill on his way home and spent two weeks in the Station Army Air Field hospital in Amarillo, suffering with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Collins have received word that their son, Clyde Collins has been made sergeant of the 530th Bomb Squadron.

Below are two letters to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Carter from their sons in the armed services. Sgt. Charlie W. Carter is somewhere in Sicily and Pfc. James C. Carter is stationed in New Orleans, La.

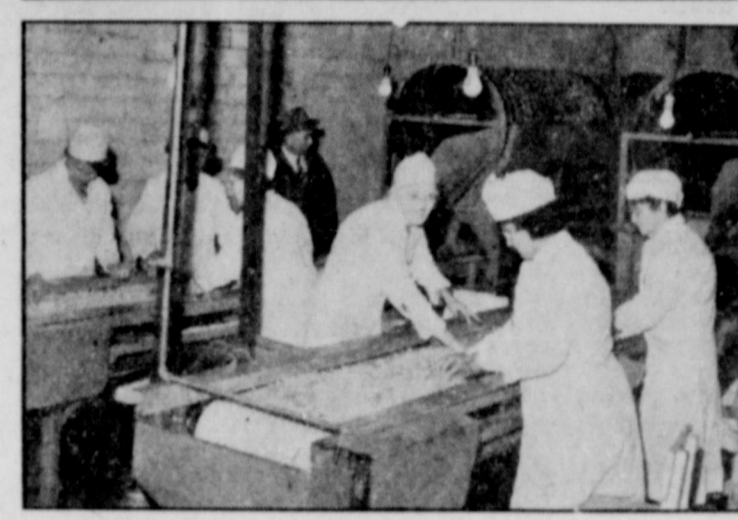

August 2, 1943
Monday in Sicily
Dear Dad, Mom and All:
I will try my hand at writing you a few lines.

I had just started writing this when one of the boys came by with his rifle so I stopped and looked it over.

Well, I've had my second sea ride. The last one was not quite as long as the first, but it brought us to the second country of our overseas service. I've sure seen lots of country since leaving the States, and maybe I'll see lots more before it is over with. I hope not though. I hope it is over before I have much time to see any country other than what I've seen. I think I've seen enough now.

Well, I guess it won't be very long now until they start gathering the cotton crop here, will it? I was sure surprised when we came over here to see cotton growing in Sicily. I had never

Blueprint for Home Front Victory

Fighting on the harvest front is an all-out campaign for Fairmount, Minnesota's 7000, along with some 350 imported Jamaicans. Every one—ministers, public officials, women—is pitching in to reap the county's corn crop. At top you see the Rev. given it a thought as to what they grow over here.

Is Ernest still at Camp Polk, La.? I've not had a letter from him for just about three months.

I see (by reading the paper) that lots of the boys from around Memphis, are still in the States. Things have not always been the best over here, but I'm still glad that I got to come across.

Hoping to hear from you soon.
Love,
Charlie.

Dear Daddy, Mother and All:
How is everything with you? Fine, I'm hoping. For myself I'm OK. Daddy we are on the move again so don't bother to write till you here from me again.

Daddy, don't worry about me. I'll be all right. It's just one of those things.

Are things O. K. at home? Just forget about the furlough I was telling you about for some time at least. How are the crops there now? Sure is hot here.

Take good care of the dog. Is he all right?
Your son,
Pfc. James C. Carter

Henry Morgenthau, Jr.
Secretary of the Treasury of the United States

"Mr. Secretary, can we military leaders plan to fight this war in an orderly way—in the surest and most effective manner—or must we take extraordinary risks for fear the money will not hold out?"

"General, the American people will take care of that. They will not let our fighters suffer from lack of support until we achieve complete victory, no matter how long that may take, nor how much it may cost!"

Following the basket supper, cold watermelon was served. Singing was enjoyed by the group and various people participated in the "stunts" directed by H. B. Estes.

Judge Goodpasture Is Rotary Speaker

Judge M. O. Goodpasture, county chairman of the Third War Loan drive, spoke at Rotary luncheon Tuesday concerning the drive.

"This will be the greatest amount the people of Hall County have been called upon to raise during the present war," Judge Goodpasture said, "and the people will not fail to raise the amount. It is an investment, not a gift, and all should be glad to have a part in carrying the war to a successful conclusion."

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and kindly ministrations to us during the illness and at the time of the death of our loved one, and those who sent the beautiful floral offerings. It is our wish that when this same sadness comes to your home you will have God's richest blessings and the same kindness at the hands of your friends and neighbors.

THE SOIL READY FOR FALL GARDEN

plowing the soil, cut and all weeds and vegetable refuse. If turned under, and heating takes place, the top soil and through cultivation, manure is available, spread over the surface and to a depth of 4 to 5 inches serves to increase the holding capacity of the soil against packing. Rotted manure also be used to improve the soil.

plow the fall garden an 4 or 5 inches deep, and tends to dry out the soil more moisture is required a deep seed bed than a shallow one.

plowing, break up all clumps, rake the soil fine and both before sowing the seed, too, that although the soil may be dry at planting, the vegetables as spinach, carrots, cabbage and lettuce slowly and likely will be watered to considerable rain during the winter months. The planting should be in well drained locations and will not stand during winter.

ables carried over from planting season should be dressed with fertilizer, pepper, hot pepper, okra, eggplant, pole butter and summer tomatoes make a good crop. Apply the fertilizer in 8 to 12 inches from the plants on both sides of the row. If the soil is dry, irrigate before applying the fertilizer.

First Planting

planting vegetables should be first: beans, Irish potato, mustard leaf lettuce and

SCRUBBING TEETH

Mustard: The Tendergreen and Southern Curled varieties are recommended. If possible, make two or three plantings a week or two apart, in order to have fresh, tender greens maturing throughout the season. Greens are best in quality when the leaves are small and tender.

Cabbage, collards, spinach, carrots and onions are the most cold resistant of the fall vegetables. Beets, lettuce and English peas will withstand light frosts but are killed at temperatures below 32 degrees. If cold resistant vegetables are planted in September or early October when the weather has cooled, they will have an opportunity to make some growth and become toughened before the beginning of cold weather.

Spinach: Spinach likes a limy soil and a firm seed bed. After seed are planted, walk on top of the row or tamp with a hoe. Bloomdale Savoy is a good variety for this area.

Carrots: Special soil preparation is needed for carrots. Spade soil 8 to 10 inches deep, mixing in well rotted manure or compost to prevent packing. When carrots come in contact with hard layers of subsoil they become misshapen, and for this reason a deep specially prepared seed bed is essential. Denver's Hal Long, Chantenary and Nantes are good varieties.

Onions: To have early green onions, plant sets in September. Small onions left from the spring garden may be planted in the place of sets to produce green onions by Thanksgiving. During December, January and February onion plants are available at seed stores. Those will produce mature onions for harvest and storage during late spring and summer. Bermuda and Babosa are good varieties.

Beets: To get a uniform stand, mash the seed coat with a rolling pin, then soak overnight in warm water and plant two inches deep, using 10 to 12 seed per foot. Thin plants when three inches high to a space of two inches apart.

Lettuce: When the weather cools, head lettuce may be planted. Use New York or Imperial 847 varieties, and when plants are two to three inches high, thin to a spacing of six to seven inches apart in order to grow good heads.

English Peas: Inoculate with nitrogen bacteria and plant in heavily manured soil. Low growing, quick maturing varieties, such as Little Marvel, Nott's Excelsior and First and Best, are preferred for fall planting.

SMALL GRAIN PASTURES PAY SAYS COUNTY AGENT

A small winter grain pasture is a paying proposition every year. But this year a wheat, oat or barley pasture will be more important to a livestock producer than ever before.

The current protein shortage adds to the importance of this practice, and, too, pasture is cheaper than hay and silage, explains W. B. Hooser, county agent. He suggests planting these small grain crops in September, often October planted grain will furnish good grazing.

Hooser says preparation of the seed bed and the amount of seed sowed will have a lot to do with the amount of pasture you get. He says small grains should be planted on a firm bed. It's best to have about three inches of loose dirt on top to cover the seed, but below this, the ground should be good and firm. All you have to do is drill in the wheat, oats or barley.

Study has shown that it's best to plant a little more seed per acre for pasture than when you're planting for harvest as grain. The wheat, oats or barley can be grazed all fall and winter, and the grain will still mature if you take the livestock off in the spring. Usually, you should move off the cattle about the first of March in the southern half of the state and about the fifteenth of March in the northern half. If these crops are to be used for grazing only, they may be grazed until about the middle of May, Hooser said.

The amount of seed to plant depends upon the land, and the better the land, the less seed you have to use. If you're in doubt, consult your county agent.

TREAT SMALL GRAIN SEED FOR SMUT

Unless a farmer is certain that planting seed for certain small grains is free from smut infection it should be thoroughly cleaned and treated before planting. According to W. B. Hooser, county agent, this applies especially to wheat, oats and barley.

Ten years ago Texas winter grains suffered heavily from smuts. But as the result of seed treatment during the past few years only a comparatively small amount now grades smutty. Hooser explains that this does not mean that the disease has been eradicated and that seed treatment safely may be discontinued.

As peace settles over Sicily, this husky young hay pitcher goes back to the job of getting in the harvest, customary for women as well as men there, where the machine age has not invaded the farm and they still reap by such the same primitive methods as the Sicilians

New Guinea Yanks Grow Their Own

Sophomores

The Sophomore class of Lakeview High had their first class meeting Wednesday, August 18. The following were elected: president, Garland Gene Payne; vice president, Charles Laird; secretary, Troy Wiley; treasurer, Carol Jo Byars; watch dog, Buster Thomas. We selected Miss Emily Smith as our sponsor.

Our class song is "Comin' In On A Wing and A Prayer." The song leaders are Jean Williams, Clarence Denton and Joy Hoggatt.

Freshman

The Lakeview Freshman class met on August 18 and elected the class officers and sponsor as follows: Sponsor, Mr. Matthews; president, Harold Rempy; vice president, Marlin Clark; secretary, Ector Anthony, Sgt. of arms, Carroll Fowler; reporter, Bobbie Adams. We plan to have lots of fun while we are "Fish."

E. W. Evans To Be Courthouse Janitor

E. W. Evans has been appointed to fill the place as janitor of the courthouse, following the resignation of Sam Brown. Evans was formerly janitor at the high school building.

Brown will spend most of his time attending to his farm near Swearingen.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Combest and daughter Cynthia Ann of Amarillo visited here last weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cudd.

Special Features

The girls of Lakeview High School met Monday, August 23, to organize a Pep squad. Bobbie Davenport was elected president and secretary, Gloria Hoggatt, Mary Lollis, Myrtle Gibson and Jonnie Crawford were elected leaders. The girls have chosen their pep squad suits and are going to try to have them by the first game. There are approximately fifty girls enrolled in the pep squad. We are planning a very successful squad this year and are going to back the boys as much as possible.

Sports Review

The football team of Lakeview has a good prospect for a successful team this year. The boys are all interested and working diligently. As yet the squad hasn't worked out like it would like to because of the state regulations.

Lakeview is hoping for a good season and with the help of all its loyal supporters it is sure to have one.

Sports help the boys' morale during these war times and sports also keep the boys physically fit.

Coach Denton hasn't announced the line up for the year but he said, "Lakeview has a good chance to go places this year."

Lakeview has six lettermen back this year.

The girls are working out for basketball but as yet we do not know what they will have this year. The coach believes that we will have an excellent team.

"Sneaky Sue"

Perhaps Pat Holland HAD better start wearing her glasses a little more often. Would you look who she has chosen this time? Jack Wolf, and they've got it bad and that ain't good!

At last with many thrills and heartaches on the part of our little "Romeo," Jack Moreman, Jimmie Jean Smith has given her consent to go with him in the near future.

That basketball that Bobbie Davenport wears really does shine. I wonder why? After all it's only Kenneth Neals'.

Gee, no wonder Bob Laird is all given out and thin these days. He's on the run night and day, running from Geraldine Williams, Jo Ann Floyd, Christene Moreland and Bobbie Adams.—poor Bob!

No wonder Carol Jo Byars has started wearing her pigtails pulled up on top. The little boys like Troy Wiley and "Tack" Moreland have pulled them so much and made her blush that her face stays red nearly all the time.

"Sneaky Sue."

George Washington called it a "BURNING SPRING"

CARE FOR YOUR CAR—FOR YOUR COUNTRY

FOR VICTORY... Buy U.S. War Bonds and Stamps

NATURAL GAS, seeping up through rock and earth and water, fed the strange flame which Washington described as a "burning spring."

Today, natural gas flows from controlled wells to feed a gigantic maze of pipes, tanks, and towers. In these it is transformed into an astonishing variety of essential wartime chemicals.

These petroleum chemicals are basic materials for 100 octane aviation gasoline... synthetic rubber... explosives... plastics... medicines and anesthetics. The list is almost endless because natural gas is an overflowing storehouse of hydrocarbons (carbon-hydrogen compounds). When split, these become the chemical building blocks for constructing an almost limitless number of products.

It is easy to understand, therefore, the importance of two Phillips facts: 1. Phillips Petroleum Company has, we believe, the world's largest proven natural gas reserves. 2. Phillips has for many years been a leader in extending the frontiers of knowledge concerning hydrocarbon chemistry.

From now on, every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refiners in addition to producing gasoline, lubricants, and fuel oils, are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.
