Wedding Bells.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Roberts in Northwest Memphis on Wednesday evening last at 7:30 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Hattie Roberts and Mr. J. O. Johnson. Rev. R. B. Morgan of the Baptist church tied the nuptial knot pronouncing the ceremony which united the lives of these most estimable young people of our city. The wedding was a quiet one, witnessed only by the immediate relatives and few intimate friends. The bride has been reared in Memphis from childhood and is a very queen which her life characterizes her to be.

The groom is a highly respected young business man of Memphis and is to be congratulated upon the selection he has made for a life partner.

After the ceremony congratulations were extended and nice refreshments served. The happy young couple have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy life.

For Sale.

We have for sale for cash or next fall time another span fine 5-year-old well broke match mulsks, good size.

JOE J. MICKLE LAND CO.

Foot Cut Off.

Mrs. I. G. Scruggs who lives between Memphis and Wellington was operated on Saturday afternoon and one of her feet was taken off just below the knee, gangreen being the cause. It has not been but a few weeks past since Mrs. Scruggs was operated upon for a tumor in the stomach, and this, coming all together makes her sufferings very hard. We trust she will pull through and get about again in the near future.

I. O. O. F Banquet at Newlin.

On last Thursday night there were quite a number of the members of the local I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs went down to Newlin to enjoy a fine banquet given by the Newlin lodges. This meeting was for the purpose of getting better acquainted and giving thanks for the many blessings bestowed during the past year.

The welcome address by Miss Della Offield put all in the best of humor and Maj. Gen. W. A. Bennett of Memphis made good of his response to the welcome address. Mrs. W. A. Bennett made a beautiful address which was highly enjoyed by all. A paper read by Mrs. D. H. Arnold on the organization, growth and purposes of the lodge was another feature of the evening which was greatly enjoyed. There were several readings by different parties which helped to make the evening one of pleasure.

The following ladies from the Glasco Grove Camp No. 742 of Eli passed through Memphis Tuesday morning on their way to Childress as guests of the Childress Camp where they are to meet Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, Supreme Guardian, from Omaha, Neb: Mrs. Allie McKee, Mrs. Ellen Ward, Mrs. M. C. Glasco. There are also quite a number of the Memphis Grove going down to be in attendance. There will be a big banquet. They will no doubt have an enjoyable visit as Childress never does things by halves.

W. K. Hollifield went down to Fort Worth Monday night on a business visit.

Nowadays women may have an individual bank account-something that no woman should be without. We have provided a Ladies Department, which will make it easy for you feminine patrons to maintain that which is so necessary to independence-money in the bank.

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe, she had so many aches she did not know what to do. She had to eat broth without any bread, Take medicine all day and then go to bed. She tried all the doctors, took all their pills, All she could do was to pay their high bills, Then she tried patent medicines without any cure, And found her pain was all she could endure. But finally one day, I so glad to tell, She met up with a doctor by the name of Thornell, The right combination of treatments, food, water and air, Made this "Old Woman" soon have no care. After taking a treatment she felt oh, so well, From the Mechano-Therapist, Dr. Thornell, Her aches fled like the mist on a hot summer day, And her bill was never too hard to pay. This doctor's office is over the fair, You can reach it easily by climbing the stair, In Childress he lives as no doubt you know, And every word of my story you will find is just so.

voiced man should never be tolerated in his stable.

A little shelled corn mixed in with the ground feed you give your horses will help to keep them from swallowing their food too fast.

The man who bores auger-holes in his stable floor to allow the liquid manure to escape, is the man who is always hard up and in "bad luck."

Do not neglect to keep the feet of the driving horses sharply shod. It may save bad wrenches and will greatly add to the comfort of the animals.

Do not put a handful of salt in the feed box. Put a brick or lump of rock salt in a convenient place where the horse may help himself to it when he wants it.

Do not neglect to give each horse a chance to drink the last thing at night, even if the weather is cool.

A horse that is thirsty all night will lose in condition, as compared with one watered frequently, and the last thing at night.—Farm Journal.

Gumption on the Farm

Never too old to learn. The wages of gin is death.

If the elevator to success is stopped—try the stairs.

Nobody without some paper in him is worth his salt.

Don't call on your neighbor just to borrow something.

The doors of opportunity are marked "Push" and "Pull."

Tell your wife how well her cooking tastes and what good butter she makes.

Don't envy the man who is riding around in an auto until you know how big his mortgage is.

Now is a cool time to nail loose boards on the barn and sheds and to replace broken glass in the windows. Time may be money, but the average man would rather give you two hours' talk than lend you a quarter.

He mortgaged the farm to set his son up in business in the city; the son failed, and now the sheriff has the farm.

Cultivate the friendship of every farm animal, from the dog to the horse. The man who has not friends of this kind is not apt to have many elsewhere.

When you want legal advice, hunt up some man who would rather help you to keep out of trouble than to get you out after you are once in up to your knees.

"Kind lady, I'm just merely trying to keep Soul and body together!"—he did look thin;

But the lady did neither smile nor weep.

As she handed the tramp a safety-pin!

The woodchuck, the frog and the skunk went to the show. Woodchuck got in, for he had a quarter (hind); and so did the frog with his greenback; but the skunk had to go home, for he only had a bad scent.

Farmers who have occasion to draw up contracts, agreements, notes, checks, etc., should remember that the safest plan is to employ pen and ink for this work—never use a lead-pencil. The law will recognize the lead-pencil, but the writing may be erased too easily, and the amount or terms may be changed. If pen and ink are not at hand when drawing up such papers, use an indelible pencil.

A Long Island farmer heard a noise one night, and thinking that the wagon spoke he went out to investigate. He discovered that the wagon was tongued, and that he had merely heard Long Island Sound. Hearing at another time a commotion near a piece of timber not far from the beach, and fearing that it was smugglers or pirates, he went out to frighten them away by having the hickory bark. The hickory failed, but he found that the dog-wood succeed. However, it turned out to be simply an ocean squall.—Farm Journal.

Hints For Stock Owners.

There are many farmers who always shelter their cattle from storm, but there are raw, cold, windy days which harm them as much as storms. Don't let them cringe in pasture corners clustered together for warmth on such days. Put them in the shed or barn.

Bank up the old barns to shut out the cold wind under the floors.

The sunshine should come in to every stable through large windows.

Every window should have shutters to close tightly at night to keep the cold out.

If a cow has an apple or similar obstruction lodged in throat, it can be removed by pouring a pint of melted lard down her throat. This will make the animal strangle and cough, and in the struggle the obstruction will be dislodged.

Plenty of exercise is one very important item for keeping a flock healthy.

Encourage exercise by placing feed some distance from the sheds on fine days.

Be sure that the sheep barn has a tight roof, a dry floor, good ventilation and no drafts.

Hold on to some of the clover for spring feeding. It is great when the sheep get tired of timothy.

Sheep are timid, nervous creatures, and all excitement and roughness should be avoided in handling them.

Look out for sore teats on ewes with lambs. When such conditions are discovered; rub the affected parts twice a day with salted butter.

Hogs properly sheltered will thrive on much less feed than those exposed to cold.

Alfalfa hay and corn have been found to be a most satisfactory fattening feed for hogs.

Hog manure is almost the richest of any made on the farm. Save it all and put it out on the land.

If the food is allowed to sour in the troughs, it will throw the hogs off feed. This will check growth, and is a loss.

Don't try to winter fall pigs without good provision for slop. Besides the feeding value, the slop encourages the pigs to drink freely, which is desirable in cold weather.

The best feed we find for young pigs before weaning is shelled corn, soaked from one feed till the next and sprinkled over, when damp, with middlings with a very small proportion of oil meal and tankage added. Salt the mixture lightly and feed in troughs.

Be kind but firm with the colts and tie them with strong halters. Irregularity in time of feeding and quantity will cause indigestion. An ignorant, ill tempered, loud

Owing to the fact that we had made arrangements in good faith to do a general supply business during next year. We had made heavy purchases of goods in all lines—to arrive in November and December and our plans were changed so abruptly that we were unable to stop shipments on quite a good many orders, both Dry Goods and Groceries. So it happens that we have just this week received

On the dry goods side we have just received a delayed shipment of trunks and suit cases which fall right into the slaughter and

Big Special December Sale

Our November business is the largest we have ever had since we opened in Memphis, but we expect to make December much better than November. In order to do this we are going to make big reductions in price on the following lines of goods:

Men's Suits and Overcoats, Men's Odd Pants, Ladies Coat Suits, Ladies' and Children's Cloaks, Ladies and Children's Dresses, Ladies' Fur Hats, Trunks and Suit Cases, Ladies Silk Petticoats

Woolen Blankets

We do not name prices in this advertisement because so many stores have a way of putting fictitious values on their merchandise and then make reductions from this fictitious price that sound extraordinary. Our goods are always marked as low as they can consistently be marked, and when we make a reduction in price it means something. Come in and see the extraordinary values we are going to offer you on these lines of goods during December. We are going to clean up on these lines of goods during this month and the big price reductions we are offering will do it. Don't come expecting to see all prices throughout the store cut, because such will not be the case, but on the lines mentioned above the price concessions we offer will be worth your while.

Our line of Christmas goods are now in and ready for your inspection. Come early and get first choice and avoid the rush incident to holiday shopping.

Clarendon College Normal Plans.
Clarendon, Tex., Nov. 25.—Plans are being perfected for the next sessions of the Clarendon College Summer School and Summer Normal, to be held at Clarendon College during the summer of 1911. The summer school, as heretofore, will be under the supervision of the Clarendon College faculty. The summer normal, which will be of the second series, will be under the control of the following teachers of the Panhandle: T. A. Tuggart, Memphis, Texas, director; B. F. Halcomb, Vernon, Tex., secretary-treasurer; H. E. Gable, Dalhart, Tex.; W. Boyd Mitchell, Clarendon College; W. R. Silvey, Clarendon High School, and J. W. O'Banion, Quanah, Tex., as department teachers. Besides the regular certificate and extension work, a series of strong lectures will be presented for the benefit of the teachers.
Just preceding the normal and following immediately upon the conclusion of the college commencement exercises, the first session of the Northwest Texas Conference Summer School of Theology, recently authorized by that body, will be held at the college. Some of the strongest lecturers on theological topics to be secured in America will be on the program. The undergraduate and postgraduate work of the conference will be conducted by the usual official committees.

LAKEVIEW LEAKLETS.
Miss Ruth Pirtle came in and spent Thanksgiving with her parents.
Mr. Joe Bragg from Denton county has been visiting his brother, J. E. Bragg at Lakeview and J. W. at Memphis. He will depart tonight for his home.
Mrs. D. H. Davenport gave the young people a nice entertainment Friday night.
The Woodmen and families all enjoyed a pleasant night Saturday. They had a nice supper and then they had nice apples. All present report a nice time.
Mr. Bob Crabb and family moved to Lakeview to send their children to school this winter.
Mr. John Bevers has been real sick for the last week or so.
Mrs. Adcock and family will leave at an early date for Ark.
The young people spent a pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Pirtle.
Owing to the sand storm today there was no preaching at the Baptist church. MAY FLOWER.

Retail Merchants Banquet.
On last Thursday night the members of the Retail Merchants Association with a number of invited friends enjoyed their first annual banquet at the Cobb hotel. Invitations had been sent out and there were plates spread for about 100 people. They assembled at the court house and about eight o'clock they marched two in a breast to the hotel where one of the most delightful suppers ever spread in Memphis were uncovered to the hungry crowd.
Quite a number of very entertaining talks were made by members and guests. Then the different courses of the sumptuous repast were started. Each course was interspersed with some good story from some of those present and the entire evening was spent in the best of fellowship for each other and good will for all.

The editor of the Democrat acknowledges the receipt of the invitation to attend this grand feast, and deeply regrets that other business arrangements kept him away. We trust that this may not be the only occasion of this kind and that we will have our business so arranged that we may be able to attend the next time.
The merchants association is one of the best organizations ever gotten together and once the inside workings of this association is known, there is not a merchant but what will put his name down readily as one of its members.

Acts Strangly
A stranger was pulled off the southbound passenger Monday in a state of collapse. He was down on the floor of the car and the train crew could do nothing with him and all the ladies in the car became alarmed and climbed on the seats. When the train reached Memphis he was taken here and carried into the depot and after being examined by physicians he finally came to himself and it was decided that he was an epileptic. He was of Italian descent and no one could savy his lingo enough to get any sense out of him. He had a ticket bought to Fort Worth from Trinidad, Colo., and he said he was a coal miner. He had thirty or forty dollars in his pocket in gold. He was escorted to a restaurant by the physician to get something to eat. He made an order and paid for same the physician thought he would step into his office a minute while he was eating and when he returned the man had disappeared without waiting to get his order. Upon investigation it was learned he had tried to buy a pistol at Harrison-Headrick Hdw. store after that he was heard of going in a westerly direction and all efforts to locate him so far has been in vain.

The Home Circle Column

PLEASANT EVENING REVERIES

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide

Ten jolly girls is born, not made; no training or endeavor can counterfeit her. There are those, to be sure, who affect jollity, but it is only skin-deep, says a writer in Harper's Bazaar. The jolly girl is jolly under adverse circumstances—in bad weather; when she hasn't a cent to her name; when she has the toothache; when she has lost her situation; she breaks her needle; when her back hair tumbles down in public; when she is shopping; when her masculine neighbor at the theater goes out and when he returns; when her bills are due. She never seems to indulge in that feminine luxury "the blues" and it is a mistake to suppose that she is noisy; there is jollity of the lady-like, aristocratic sort, as well as of the fish-wife order.

The girl who makes up her mind that jollity is the proper cue, and that she will be lively or die usually overdoes the business she thinks that it chiefly consists in laughing and in chattering nonsense, that it is in a manner of speech merely, rather than a quality of the mind which disposes one to make the best of everything, to see the rainbow on the cloud and the silver lining behind it, to make the wrinkle in the rose leaf a cause of mirth. Some believe that jollity is an affair of émbonpoint; but who has not been disappointed in finding the stout woman melancholy and the thin one vivacious, the bilious person full of good-humor, and the person whose digestion never gave her a moment's uneasiness quite the reverse? The jolly girl can not suppress herself, and assumes sadness or pensiveness; languishing airs do not sit well upon her, but show at a glance that they are borrowed plumes. One is never dull with her. She has that infinite variety which all the world covets and loves. It may be a desirable thing that those who have not this natural grace should cultivate and encourage it in themselves and others, since it brightens and strengthens life, makes rough places smoother and pleasant places pleasanter. Possibly it is no special virtue in the jolly girl any more than blue eyes in the blonde maiden or red hair in the Titianesque. Jollity flows from her throat and enchants the world; just as the poet pours forth his song "in profuse strains of unpremeditated art," just as the tree blossoms, the grasses spout, the stars shine, without effort, without design, with sincerity and constancy and spontaneity. Let her be shipwrecked, or an invalid stranded on a bed of pain yet she does not lose or abate that peculiar trait which makes sunshine for those about her and sweeps the cobwebs out of their sky.

Make others happy and be happy yourself. Be thankful—your blessings have been many. Be considerate of others as well as yourself. Hide your griefs and display your smiles. If you have but little, partake of it gratefully. Let the joy in your heart bubble up like a spring. If your short of water, don't guzzle beer. As you feast on the fat of the land remember the giver. Manifest your sympathy by acts as well as words. As you tickle your palate do not do injustice to your stomach. As you have prospered, share with the unfortunate. Through the fast passing day speak kind words while you may. Let no act of kindness be ever withdrawn for the dear ones about us may soon be gone. Be good and do good wherever you roam, and especially display these traits at your home.

RETURN OF THE PRODIGAL SON IN 1910.

No, it isn't that the world has grown hard hearted; it isn't that we aren't just as glad today to see the prodigal come back and just as lovingly anxious to welcome him home as ever was anybody in the 15th chapter of Luke. It is the manner in which the prodigal son of 1910 frequently returns that throws a wet blanket over the festivities of the welcome. When he comes down

How to Own the Oliver Typewriter for 17c a Day

You don't have to draw on your Bank Account when you pay on the Penny Plan.

You need not disturb your dollars. Keep them at work earning interest? We offer our newest model, the Oliver Typewriter No. 5—fresh from the factory—for Seventeen Cents a Day.

The plan is printed in "black and white" on the Application Blank below.

Simply fill out the blank, attach the small first payment, send it in, and on comes the Oliver!

No tedious wait! No red tape! No long-drawn-out correspondence!

You quickly own your Oliver and scarcely notice the delay. You can have the use of your machine while pennies are "paying the freight."

You will never have a better chance to test the power of pennies.

The Oliver is everywhere. It's the universal typewriter. Reels off real work with the ease and speed demanded by this mile-a-minute age. Wherever you turn—in business offices, great or small—in the quiet of the home—in the roar of the railroad and telegraph service—in the seething maelstrom of modern newspaperdom—in countless kinds of service—it's the sturdy, strenuous Oliver that's "making the wheels go 'round."

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Typewriter

You need your Oliver now. It's yours almost for the asking. The biggest hundred dollars' worth in America—for Seventeen Cents a Day.

Green food must not be forgotten. Some feed green rye when it can be had, others give sprouted oats, others beets and turnips and cabbage, and others add cut clover hay to the mash. All of the greens mentioned are good.

Salt is as essential for poultry as for human beings or animals. But it is not wise to feed it by itself. The better way is to season the food whenever that can be done. The warm mash in the winter gives an excellent opportunity to supply it.

A little more corn may be added to the evening grain ration, as the hens will need more heating food. On the farm of the writer the winter grain ration consists of two parts whole corn, one part oats, and one part wheat. During the summer only one part corn is given to two parts oats and one part wheat.

If porcelain eggs are used for nest eggs in cold weather, cover them with light flannel, or some other material, to avoid torture to the hens. An artificial egg is always of the same temperature as the atmosphere, while the temperature of a hen's body is about 102°. It may readily be seen that in freezing weather these ice-cold eggs will cause the hens to get chilled.—Farm Journal.

Memphis Band Play.

On Thursday night the attraction at the opera house was a home talent play by the members of the Memphis band. Paul James, director of the band, had charge of the cast, and the way in which the play was presented casts much credit upon his histrionic ability. We have seen many plays put on by professionals that by no means approached this one as to quality. Each individual in the cast rendered his or her part in a very pleasing manner and nothing but compliments were heard at the conclusion of the play.

We would really like to give each player individual credit for the way they acted, but it is impossible, and all we can say is that we can only hope that when the Clarendon fire boys put on their play at Memphis they will come as near charming their audience as did our visitors Thursday night.—Clarendon News.

TURKEY PIN FEATHERS.

As I see nothing from this neck of the country I will let the people know that such a place exists.

Every body is very busy winding up their immense crops they have made.

Our gin has cut about 2,200 bales to date.

Mr. Gerner has opened up a first class stock of dry goods and groceries, this week here.

Mr. White has also opened up a nice line of hardware and implements.

There are three new residence going up now.

The bank is nearing completion.

Bro. D. C. Ross and family from Roswell, Texas, have just moved into the M. E. parsonage, and preached his first sermon last Sunday. The good people gave him a pounding last Thursday night.

There has been a corps of surveyors surveying the land which is causing quite a commotion among some of our nesters, they are changing and cutting around much. I don't know where we will be when they get through, they may land us over in New Mexico and that won't suit us, as it is to dry there.

I see the commissioners are presented with a petition to bridge Red river. I think that is a good move in the right direction, as a bridge is badly needed there. This bridge will be one of the best things, except a railroad, that could happen to this country.

Bro. Towler will preach his farewell sermon at Wolf Flat next Sunday where he has been serving the Baptist people for one year, then take his leave for Ark.—Bro. Towler will soon come back if he don't get water bound over there.

Prof. Crain's school began this morning at Wolf Flat.

Prof. Gilmore's school is moving along finely at Turkey under his and Miss May Anthony's management.

Mr. W. A. Keeter has entered the cotton seed market and is making it pretty lively for the old buyers, he raised the price $2.00 per ton, they moved their price 50c above line, but he is getting most of the seed.

I guess I had better ring off until I see whether or not this finds its way to the waste basket.

LITTLE NED.

[Many thanks, come again. Ed.]

The Poultry Yard.

Warm wheat for breakfast makes the biddies shell out the eggs.

Plenty of bones all the time. If you haven't a cutter use an old ax or a hatchet, but break the bone in small pieces.

Thanksgiving Sermon.

The services at the Methodist church Thanksgiving day were largely attended and the sermon and song service both were in accord with the day. This is a day that was proclaimed by both President and Governor as a day of Thanksgiving and there is not a county in the United States more thankful for the good things the Lord has given than we have here in Hall county. We have been abundantly blessed this year in every way and therefore have much to be thankful for.

Borderland at Clarendon.

The Memphis band went up to Clarendon on last Thursday and presented their play, "Borderland" to a large and enthusiastic crowd. There were quite a number of friends of the company went along to again witness the play and have a pleasant outing. The company were loud in their praise of the kindly treatment received while in Clarendon.
