Drive for Vital Scrap Rubber Launched Throughout County in Response to President's Call

MATERIAL MUST BE RECLAIMED

Filling Stations Serve as Collection Depots; Draper Calls on Everyone to Help

All out for the rubber salvage campaign! Every man, woman and child in Hall County is expected to respond to this call with the same willingness and alacrity the soldier shows in leaping to duty at the sound of the bugle.

The drive for scrap rubber is on RIGHT NOW and will continue through June 30. President Roosevelt himself has sounded the summons and is heading up the campaign for reclaiming rubber so vitally needed in the nation's war effort.

M. J. Draper, county chairman of the salvage campaign, this week urged Hall County people to get into this crucially important work with all the patriotism and energy they have shown in responding to previous calls of their country. The chairman issues the following advice for cooperating in the collection of rubber:

1. Collect old and discarded rubber items around your home and yard. Acceptable scrap rubber includes tires of all kinds whether automobile or baby carriage, rubber tubes, patches, boots, liners, and cut up parts, except beads and buffings. Also wanted are old rubber boots, shoes, soles, heels; drug sundries such as hot water bottles and rubber gloves; rubberized clothing, bathing caps, and a multitude of miscellaneous things like rubber mats, hose, jar rings, fly swatters, rubber stamps, and so on.

2. Remove all wood, iron, leather, and cloth from the rubber article.

3. Take it to any filling station where you will be paid a penny a pound for this scrap rubber. The only kind of rubber that is not acceptable is that in battery boxes.

Working with their oil companies, the filling stations of Hall County are acting as receiving depots for the scrap rubber. The oil companies will see that it goes to the proper reclaiming plant, and if there is any profit from the sale as directed by the government the profit will be turned over to some worthy war cause.

"It's a job for everyone to GET IN THE SCRAP, so the President and the War Production Board can find out how much rubber we actually have," declared Chairman Draper. "Important decisions hinge upon the result of this salvage drive in Memphis and Hall County and every other city and community in the Southwest and the nation."

Chairman Draper said today that authorities have asked for a report on all rubber collected Saturday, June 20. Managers of all filling stations acting as salvage depots are requested to report to him not later than Saturday at noon.

CLAUDE'S Comments

The Memphis Garden Club has donated $10.00 to the Fairview power mower fund. The mower is expected every day now. It was reported shipped June 1 by fast motor freight. Nothing has been heard since that date, and the company has been asked to trace the shipment. Like everything else these days, one can't tell when (and if) a shipment will arrive.

The city fire trucks have been crippled lately by tires blowing out. New tires have been ordered, but haven't arrived yet. In the meantime, a pick-up truck has been loaded with hose to be used in case of emergency. People are asked to be more careful than ever about tires.

The Fourth of July will be here soon, and an emergency has been declared to exist in Memphis. No one will be allowed to shoot any (Continued on page 5)

The Democrat's Birthday

(AN EDITORIAL)

With this issue The Memphis Democrat, through acquisition of the Hall County Herald in March 1928, begins its 53rd year of continuous publication and service to Memphis and the Hall County region.

Despite shrinking revenues as a result of wartime conditions and loss of skilled workers, including one of the publishers, the Democrat pledges the best possible service to its large and loyal family of readers in the Memphis area, through the duration and afterward.

One of the present publishers is piloting a newspaper through a second great war period and is well aware of the stresses and strains inevitable to such times. It will not be humanly possible to publish as good a newspaper while the war continues as in normal times. It is asked only that readers and friends consider the source of shortcomings and be assured that those remaining of The Democrat staff will do their very best at all times.

Your home town newspaper enters its 53rd year with unabated confidence in victory over brutal and aggressive enemies, subscribing to the principles of the Atlantic charter, willing and ready to join its readers to make the sacrifices necessary to winning this global war.

DEFENSE PLANT FOR MEMPHIS IS STILL SOUGHT

Chamber Commerce Gets Inquiries on Local Advantages

The committees of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, appointed to secure defense plants for Memphis, have been busily engaged for weeks in contacting the proper authorities in Memphis' behalf.

Two letters were received this week from the War Department concerning certain defense setups, and asking for more detailed information. Data is being prepared showing the advantages offered by Memphis, and these will be placed in the hands of the authorities for study.

Utilities that serve Memphis have been asked to report on their facilities with reference to servicing defense plants. D. W. Robinson, engineer for the Community Public Service Co., was here first of the week to go into the matter of water supply, and other utilities are expected to have representatives here soon.

One of the committees stated that the work of trying to secure something for Memphis will be kept up, but that it will take additional funds, as the money donated some time back is about exhausted.

Another Class in Standard Red Cross First Aid Sought

Interested Adults Urged to Enroll With Jack Boone at Their Earliest Convenience

A number of men and women of Memphis and vicinity have expressed interest in the organization of a second class for Red Cross standard first aid training. Jack Boone stated this week. About ten persons have expressed intention to enroll for the course, but a class should consist of at least 20, he said.

Any adult who wishes to take training in first aid are urged to contact Boone at once, as it is desirable to start the class right away.

It is planned to ask Sam Gardner, state highway patrolman, to instruct the group should a sufficient number enroll. If Gardner is not available, there are a number of other competent instructors in this area who might be secured.

It is pointed out that just at this time business men and their employees have more time for the study of first aid than at any other time of the year. Such training is desirable for all persons regardless of whether or not (Continued on page 5)

Women Work—CIVILIAN DEFENSE AUXILIARY NOTES

By INEZ BAKER
More about the WAAC. American women are being mobilized to help win the war in much the same manner as women of other countries are helping. In America married or single women between the ages of 21 and 45, with a college or high school education who can pass the physical and psychological examination will be eligible. Terms of enlistment are for one year and the women may be sent anywhere in the nation or overseas for duty. The purpose is to relieve men for fighting duty and some of the assignments will be: aircraft warning, motor corps, cooks, clerical, machine operators, stewardesses, dieticians, hostesses, librarians, telephone and telegraph operators, laundry workers, statisticians, bookkeepers. The pay ranges from $21 to $72 per month, higher for specialists.

It is not only women who work but the girls do their part to win the war. High school girls, under direction of Miss Rheta Jean Sullivan, are victory minded. They have taken Red Cross first aid, knitted one beautiful afghan and are busy this summer making afghans and quilts. Miss Ira Hammonds' 8th graders are completing their afghan and she is serving as hostess at the Red Cross production rooms each Saturday during the summer months. Mrs. Chamberlain's pupils of 12 years have made two knitted afghans. The strength of America lies in her youth.

Miss Doris Leggett of A. & M. spent Thursday and Friday of last week in Hall County conferring with the women of Memphis, Lakeview, Estelline and Salisbury regarding community canning. All of these communities will sponsor canning in their school lunch rooms this summer. At a meeting in Memphis Thursday afternoon the committee agreed that every 6th can be given to the lunch room. This will cover all expense incurred for the use of the kitchen and equipment, each school furnishing its own cans. Canning will start immediately and supervisors of the Memphis project who will oversee all details are: Monday, open date; Tuesday, 1913 Study club; Wednesday, Mrs. Sam Brown; Thursday, Mrs. W. Wilson, for the Atlatantean club; Friday, Mrs. Henry Newman. It is urged that other clubs of the city who will sponsor a day notify Mrs. A. Baldwin. If you want to can contact one of the supervisors, and if you have a surplus it will be taken care of and be used for the lunch room or set aside for emergencies.

We must have food for the nation, let nothing go to waste. Many things we have bought in cans and thought nothing of it cannot be bought next year. Already we are told that practically all canned tomatoes, so necessary for proper growth of bones and teeth in children and for buoyant health in every one, will be requisitioned for the army. Tomatoes grow well in Hall County. Hundreds of bushels rotted in the fields last year. If you do not have a garden spot set out a few plants in your flower beds, keep them pruned and watered and they will more than supply your family. They look mighty pretty too when the fruit begins to redden.

WAR and Zable Furs

During the past few weeks there has come forth a far-reaching order freezing the existing retail prices of virtually all merchandise. These steps have been deemed necessary by our government for the successful prosecution of the war.

The J. I. Zable Fur Company, along with our store has always adopted a policy of voluntarily holding back the trend toward higher prices. Now, with a ceiling price set, we pledge to our government and to our patrons that we will scrupulously adhere to the ceiling price order at all times . . . and that whenever market conditions permit, lower prices than allowed will prevail in our stocks.

We believe that every business establishment has a prime obligation to serve its clientele by having the kinds of goods at the prices its patrons want when they want them. We propose to follow this policy throughout the war as we have in the past. For example: when foreign furs are no longer obtainable the J. I. Zable Fur Company will have the best domestic furs available; when domestic furs can't be had, the J. I. Zable Fur Company, expert furriers, will repair or re-style your furs to last for the duration.

More strongly than ever before, we do believe in this one principle: Today as never before, quality is the best buy. And the best buy is quality, as always is from the quality store. So while there is still quality available, we present our annual

Arley Curtis Harrell, employee of The Great Lakes, writes interestingly of a U. S. Navy recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill., and is now at Norfolk, Va. His letter follows:

Well, Virginia, the state of the old world, the sun is hot and the flies are big and plentiful. The other day we went to a lecture on the construction and operation of pontoons, which we will use in making our landings. The island has no harbor and no docks. There won't be any way of getting all the heavy machinery, etc. on the shore except by pontoons. The funny thing about the lecture was when the instructor said something about the pontoon, a man about 25 years old jumped up in the audience and corrected him. When asked what he knew about pontoons, he replied, "Well, all I know is that I worked for the company that furnishes those pontoons to the Navy, and in the second place, I'm the man who drew the plans and made the first one."

The instructor looked silly. We are now being given instructions on how to use automatic rifles, sub-machine guns, pistols, and hand grenades. You will recall that I told you about the chiefs who became quite a powerhouse when they got to Great Lakes. The picture is now in another scene. The city slickers (from North Fort Worth) are now being drilled 12 hours a day by some 19 and 20 year old, hard hearted, hard talking Marines! Boy are they burned up; by the sun too.

Soon we will leave here for California. From there I don't know where it will be. But you can rest assured there won't be any pretty girls there to greet us. In fact, there won't be anything there until we arrive. The temptation is really going to be strong when we pass through the good old state of Texas. Especially if I don't talk this captain into letting me stretch my 72 hour leave into about 7 days so I can come home. I will know by next Tuesday or Wednesday and will be home by next Saturday or next Sunday. (If I make it).

Well, that's all the news about the "Sea Bees" for now. The "Sea Bees" are what the construction department in the navy are called. I have been in the Navy a month and have been in the kitchen two weeks. Therefore, I have gained 12 pounds.

Some of the money was given him by the county and some by individuals. They even had a "Ready" day in his home town, as that is his name.

Then we have some men who have worked all over the world on different construction jobs. Some of them were in the Navy in the last war. They have tattoos all over them, and are really mean looking, and just as mean as they look.

The other day we went to a lecture on the construction and operation of pontoons, which we will use in making our landings. The island has no harbor and no docks. CORP. M. W. PASCHALL, JR.

Memphis Soldier In North Ireland

The above photograph is of Corp. Macon William Paschall, Jr., 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Paschall, Sr., who live on Route 1, Memphis. The picture was printed in last week's Democrat mistakenly captioned Pvt. Raymond Macon Paschall, a brother, who is attached to Battery C, 54th Field Artillery, Third Armoured Division, Camp Polk, La.

Corporal Paschall (above) is now in Northern Ireland with Company D, 13th Armoured Regiment, First Armoured Division, according to a message received by his parents. He enlisted in the Army August 13, 1941 and was sent to Fort Bliss, El Paso. He was promoted to the rank of corporal April 15, 1942. From Fort Bliss he was transferred to Fort Knox, Ky., then to Camp Dix, N. J., where he was stationed when his unit was ordered overseas.

Corporal Paschall attended grammar school at Elj and high school at Lakeview and Memphis. He was engaged in farming when he enlisted.

Corp. Hershel Whitefield writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Whitefield of Lakeview about life in the Army Engineers. He is unable to give his present location, but he says there are mosquitos so big the soldiers call them P-40's. His letter follows:

May 28, 1942
Dear Mother and Dad:
I am writing to let you know how things are going. Our last week at Whitehorse we worked from 2:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. It was two hours longer than the shifts of the week before. We left there the 10th and moved up here (?) some place. We didn't work Sunday, so most everyone took a hike to see the rough country. Some of the fellows brought back three small timber wolf pups. There is a lot of game up here. I saw some moose tracks and some of the fellows saw two bears.

We are supposed to be ready to move again next Wednesday and go further up the road. The bulldozers push the timber back and fill in low places, the graders cut the ditches, we put in bridges and culverts, then move on. The timber is larger here than where we were. We have fir and aspen mostly. All of the country looks alike so far; trees, mountains, lakes and streams, and some swamps. We work most of the time with mosquito nets over our heads and sleep with nets over our beds, but still we have bites on us. We call the mosquitos P-40's, because some of them are almost as big as planes.

The weather here now is as warm as it is there. We were issued new sleeping bags when we moved, a lot better than those we had. I have been doing a lot of laying around on mine since Monday. I went out Monday morning cutting trees and the axe glided off, cutting a couple of my toes pretty bad. They took five stitches, but I am doing O. K. now. The boys bring my meals to my bed and are real nice to me. They made me a pair of crutches to get around on.

We, that is the company, are to have some big shots here tomorrow, they say; three colonels, one general and Secretary of War Stimson. It may be just a rumor. Well, I finally made another rating—corporal technician, so my pay will be quite a bit more now.

Your son,
Hershel Whitefield,

James Noble Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kirk of Lakeview, enlisted in the Navy May 16 and was sent to the training station at San Diego. He writes home folks concerning the life of a Navy recruit:

Sunday Night
San Diego, Calif.

Hello:
How are you? As for myself, I am tired. I have been on guard duty, and I have had my part of it. We have 15 hours more of it, then maybe it will slow up a little.

We had our first raid practice yesterday. There are 160 boys and men in my company. Some of these men are bald headed. We have lots of fun for a bunch of boys.

I had lots of fun on the train. I left Amarillo Monday and got here on Thursday night. I sure did get tired of riding.

I got a hair cut when I got here and they clip it. So you see my wave is gone.

We had an induction picture taken the other day and we wear this picture all the time. We also had a company picture made.

I have to shave, bathe and shine my shoes every day, after we get through drilling.

Tell Edward that he should be here with me; that he don't know what he is missing.

I will tell you how we eat. I don't whether you care to hear or not, but I will tell you anyway. We line up in front of the barracks and then march to the mess hall. We get a tray that has divisions in it. You put this tray on a slider and slide it down to where they put the food on it. Then we go to a table and eat. We wash our own dishes.

Well, we have to be in bed at a certain time and that time is just about here. Bye.
James Noble Kirk

- A NON-CRUSH NOR-EAST TIE at . . . $1.00
- A NOCONA BILLFOLD at . . . $1.00 to $4.00

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF WOMEN IN WAR INDUSTRIES ANTICIPATED

A prediction that women will become increasingly important in the war labor picture was made today by M. W. Waldron, local office manager of the United States Employment Service, who said that the addition of thousands of Texas women to Texas payrolls is a distinct probability as war production soars and the reserve of qualified male workers dwindle.

Mr. Waldron quoted J. H. Bond, director of the United States Employment Service for Texas as saying that employers not now using women workers should review their needs and the requirements of their jobs to determine the degree to which women workers may be utilized.

"The necessity for widespread use of women workers," said Mr. Waldron, "apparently is nearer at hand than many employers realize. The problem may not be evident in some localities, but a broad survey of many types of male workers. Local employers should recognize the implications of this broader situation, which does or will affect them directly, and lay their plans accordingly."

Mr. Bond's statement said that three million entirely new workers must be drawn into the nation's war industries during 1942, over and above the seven million who will enter war production as the result of plant conversion. It appears, he said, that two million of this number must be women, and other women must replace men moving out of non-war industries.

"In the last war," he said, "the proportion of women employed in leading industries more than doubled. They were employed in a broad range of occupations, including even some requiring heavy manual labor. An almost unlimited number of occupations are suitable for women, and in many cases jobs which are not suitable can be broken down into component tasks most of which can be performed by women after relatively short periods of training."

Gas Company Aids Nutrition Program

A nationwide educational program of nutrition and conservation has been launched, known as the National Nutrition program of the Office of Defense Health and Welfare. Sponsored by the United States government, the purpose of the program is to show homemakers how to better organize their homes to meet the demands of the war effort. It is designed to teach homemakers how to get the most out of foods and supplies, how to extend the life of their household equipment, and how to conserve their time and energy for other phases of the war effort.

R. N. Lindsey, district manager of the United Gas Corporation, said that his company is cooperating in the movement.

"Almost overnight, homemaking has become a war industry," he said. "The big job for wives and mothers today is to build stronger Americans—stronger men and women, boys and girls. Homes, like industrial plants, are making adjustments to meet the demands of these critical times. As never before, the modern knowledge of nutrition and food care is being brought into play to help provide more healthful energy-producing meals."

He called attention particularly to the valuable information which is now being released through newspapers and national magazines throughout the United States.

SACRIFICE IS NECESSARY

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following editorial is the original work of Nell Cunningham, 17 years old, who was graduated from Lakeview High School the past term. Miss Cunningham's realization of the gravity of the war situation and her straight-thinking about the sacrifices necessary to attain victory are worthy of thoughtful consideration by her elders.

THE LAST FEW DAYS I have heard comments which started me thinking. These comments—some condemning methods taken during this national crisis and some praising them—have aroused within me a patriotic spirit that I have not felt before. During this crisis, when the rationing of commodities has become a necessary step for the economic system, American people feel somewhat like a person with a sore tooth that needs pulling. There is a definite sense of pain, a dread and a bit of anxiety. We know that the tooth should come out, but we are reluctant to go to the dentist for extraction. Then we think of the anesthetic which will be given for relief and we go to get it pulled.

The American public was a bit reluctant to go all out for victory until the U. S. Navy gave us the anesthetic—Midway. The price control board gave us regulation and the leaders of the country started talking post war steps.

The giving of sons, time and effort is a sacrifice; if done willingly it is a supreme gift for love of country. Love of anything: Home, country, friends, is tested by the willingness to give "until it hurts." Let us, in this time of emergency, give and give; and keep burning within us the celestial fire called "conscience." Keep that fire aglow, so that we can face ourselves when the conflict is over and say, "nobody had to carry my part of the load. I did what I could without murmuring." Someone has effectively said, "Live so upright during the war that you may live with yourself after it."

Let us all forget self and say with the Christ who sacrificed all, "Which is greater—he that serves or he that hath service rendered to him?"

FUTILE BLOODSHED

FOR A RACE which can claim brilliant achievements in science, technology and the arts, the Germans are singularly obtuse in their dealings with other peoples, especially in conquered countries. The most recent and glaring example of national stupidity is the atrocious slaughter of Czechs in retaliation for the assassination of the notorious hangman, Reinhard Heydrich. It requires no great intelligence to perceive that such brutality can only breed implacable hatred and stiffen the determination of the oppressed to throw off the yoke of oppression.

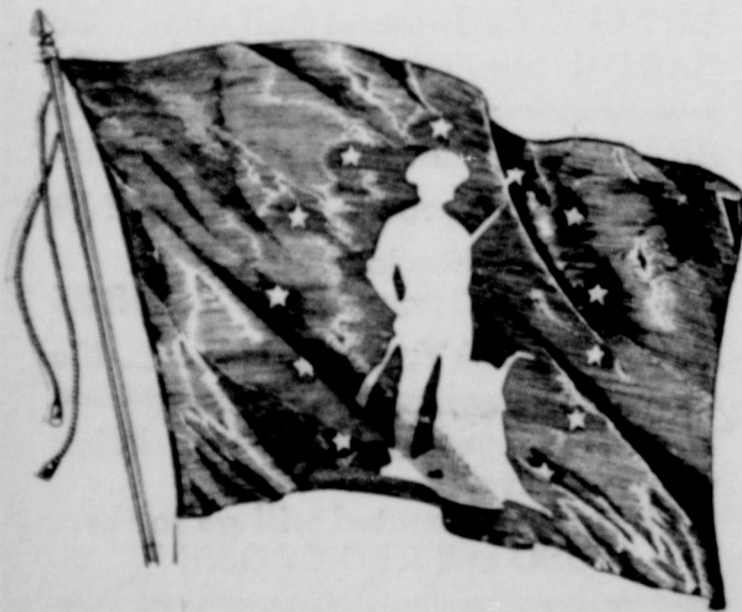

It is conceivable that, if the German conquerors had possessed the gumption to set up in subjugated territories equitable governments, with just treatment and due regard for national customs and feelings, they might have succeeded in their dreams of empire. It has been done. History is full of instances where conquered nations have lived in reasonable contentment under foreign domination. But there has never been an instance where bloodthirsty brutality and arrogant tyranny such as exhibited by the Germans has resulted in anything except the final overthrow of the conquerors.

SYMBOL OF PATRIOTISM

MINUTE MAN FLIES HIGH.—This is the new Minute Man War Bond Flag, designed by the Treasury Department for firms and organizations which attain more than 90 percent participation in War Savings Bonds purchases by their employees or members through a systematic purchase plan. The Minute Man is embossed in white on a blue background, surrounded by thirteen stars, representing the Nation's thirteen founding States. When companies, labor unions, and other organizations top the 90-percent figure, they will receive a special Minute Man Certificate of Award signed by Secretary Morgenthau, the State Administrator, and the State Chairman of the War Savings Staff, the Treasury Department announced. This certificate entitles the recipient to fly the flag, which is being manufactured in various sizes and is sold by licensed suppliers at a nominal price.

Delivery Order Changed

Amendment of ODT order No. 6, restricting deliveries to one a day to the same address, has been announced, to permit duplicate calls where a specially constructed vehicle is required to deliver a specified commodity, and where one vehicle could not be used. For example, a company selling hot coal and ice might be permitted to make a delivery of each article to the same address on the same day.

Use Fabrics Wisely

With the nation's cotton mills devoting a percentage of their looms, under WPB order, to production of textiles for military purposes, such as sand bags, camouflage cloth, and food and agricultural bags, OPA's Consumer Division is urging housewives to streamline their new slip covers, curtains and other fabric household furnishings. Wise use of fabrics will help spread the available supply of textiles among civilians.

Big Oil Pipeline Allowed

A 550-mile pipeline from Longview, Texas, to Salem, Ill. has been authorized by the War Production Board, with construction to begin at once. The line will carry crude oil to relieve fuel shortages in the East Coastal area. Construction will require 125,000 tons of finished steel, but a special WPB investigating committee has reported that minimum disturbances to war production plants will result from the consumption of critical material.

OPA Pamphlets Are Free

Office of Price Administration officials are asking retailers throughout the Southwestern region to report any persons who offer to sell them copies of a government bulletin, "What Every Retailer Should Know About the Maximum Price Regulation." No such sales solicitation has been authorized by OPA. Copies of the pamphlet may be had free upon request from an OPA office.

 V *****

Dried Commodities Exempt

A ruling that dried agricultural commodities, such as peas, lentils, seeds and hops, are "unprocessed" and consequently are not covered by the General Maximum Price Regulation, has been issued by OPA, in amendment No. 4 to the regulation. Raw and unprocessed agricultural commodities do not come under the price ceilings.

Fall Pricing System Set

Complete revision of the method of pricing fall and winter over- such as sales solicitation has been authorized by OPA. Copies of the pamphlet may be had free upon request from an OPA office.

Farmers to Get Equipment

Underlining its intention that all farm machinery and equipment manufactured under its program shall actually reach the farm, and not be diverted to industrial or other non-agricultural use, WPB has issued an order providing that no one may sell any farm machinery or equipment which he knows or has reason to know will not be used by the ultimate consumer for production or care of crops or livestock.

Tire Conservation Needs

A survey recently completed by the Office of Defense Transportation indicates that most of the country's milk trucks will be off the streets in less than two years, due to the rubber shortage, unless adequate conservation programs are instituted immediately. More than 280 milk distributing industries in all parts of the country furnished data for the survey. The four general truck conservation orders issued by ODT are designed to furnish a pattern for such conservation.

Bus Service Controlled

Wartime regulations for inter-city bus operations will go into effect on July 1, under ODT order No. 11. The order, which does not affect bus runs within 15 miles of a city limit, nor those having an average fare of 35c or less, will freeze present bus routes, and require that competitive services over approximately parallel routes be pooled. All service to places of amusement, such as golf courses, dancing pavilions or race tracks, will be discontinued. Limited or express service also will be stopped.

 V *****

Mattresses Hit

Manufacture of innerspring mattresses will end for the duration of the war on September 1. About 43,000 tons of high carbon wire will be saved for war materials through the WPB order, which amends an earlier order restricting use of iron and steel in mattresses. Under the amendment, manufacturers may make during July and August twice their average monthly production for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931.

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Pleasant Surprise!

Carl Roeve in The Turkey Enterprise: Your editor, this week, was given a pleasant surprise, such as an editor never expects to receive. It was the advertisement appearing in this issue in which business and professional men and citizens bid "farewell" and "good luck" on the occasion of reporting for duty in the armed forces.

Worse Than War!

The Tulsa Herald: We note that all safety razors are to be taken by the government for the army. How would it do for the male contingent of the population to vow to let their beards grow until the war is won.

Two Kinds of Men

T. A. Landers in The McLean News: Many men exist only to make money for themselves; as far as the community is concerned they do not contribute anything of value. Others think first of their relation to the community welfare. Maybe one man is just as happy as the other, but it is certain that no community could long exist if all were like the first named.

What's the Difference?

Virginia Anderson in The Shamrock Texan: Question in etiquette quiz: "If you are invited to a bridge party, should you accept the invitation and then say 'no' after you arrive that you don't know how to play bridge?" We'd say yes if you can get by with it. After all, a lot of people who think they can play bridge accept invitations and there's very little difference.

Fudge

Foard County News: This sugar rationing program, if it continues, is going to result in a crop of young women who do not know how to make a batch of fudge. The fudge age comes to every girl at some time in her life.

Futile

Harry Koch in The Quannah Tribune-Chief: Shooting a president has always proved a futile gesture for another is soon elected, and that in any country. Shooting of the Gestapo leader by zealous martyrs is far more useless, for in many countries there is a predominance of skunks from which to pick a successor which far outnumbers presidential material. The result is that invariably a great number of innocent people suffer suspense and death or undergo treatment far worse than that imposed by the original tyrant.

Comparison

St. Joe Tribune: We doubt if the men in Uncle Sam's armed forces will feel any better about knowing about such things, but we would like to quote the pay scale of other nations, just for comparison: Australia is the highest paying of all nations, $45; Canada comes next with a base pay of $39; Britain with $15; and then the drop begins. Germany is said to pay members of the armed forces $6; Russia $4; and Italy $1.50, while China pays the兵 sum of 28 cents. We are not trying to prove anything, just thought the figures would be interesting to you.

Cheerful Sacrifice

Munday Times: The men on the firing front need weapons and more weapons—we must not let them down. To take care of their needs the shortage of consumer goods will grow, and hence the need for rationing. Cheerful acceptance of rationing is one of the things everyone can do to help win the war.

What's Cooking

Claude News: The best of all was the Japanese report that Americans were starving, because all you hear them say over here is "What's cooking?"

Clarendon Plans Rodeo for July 4

A special invitation has been extended Hall County people to attend the patriotic Ranchers' Rodeo to be held in Clarendon July 4.

The celebration, the oldest in the Panhandle, dating back to before the turn of the century, will depict the long-ago west. Even the parade will have no automobiles. Participants will ride horseback or in hacks or wagons.

Following the declaration of war it was decided to discontinue the celebration but so many were the demands that the committee approved a one-day rodeo with all proceeds going to the USO and war bond purchases. Concession rights have been donated to the Red Cross.

Rodeo events will include calf roping, bull riding, bronc riding, and cutting horse contests in the adult division. A bull riding event will also be held for boys from 12 to 15 years of age.

Cash prizes will be given in all events. The theme of the celebration will be honoring of the old-time and present day ranch workers from the Panhandle and special attention will be paid various outfits of yesterday and today.

O. Scott, Los Angeles, Calif., $5; Lon Moore, Harrell Chapel, $2; Dr. V. D. Clark, Lubbock, $5. These donations total $29.50. Monday paid out since Feb. 1: 55 posts for cemetery fence $11; staples 60c; hired labor $2; paid to Henry Wasson for clearing new lot; stamps for correspondence 30c; $50 paid to B. E. Rushing for land for lot. Total amount paid out $63.90. Lots in the new addition will be priced at $5 for the average sized lot and will be marked soon.

Baptist Church to Be Moved

County Commissioner W. B. Morrison has asked the consent of the Baptist congregation here to be allowed to move the Baptist church building from the present site about 100 feet West, so that he may be able to enlarge the ditch which carries the flood waters away from the town. The ditch is only about 30 feet from the church and enlarging it would cut further into the church yard. Mr. Morrison estimates the cost of moving the building at about $50.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kennedy returned Friday after a visit in Dallas and Eldorado, Ark., with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Taylor and sons, Stanley and Donald, visited Friday in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Otis and daughter Rebecca Ray of Fort Worth visited last week-end with her mother, Mrs. O. L. Hammond, and her sister, Mrs. Charlie Mc-Bee. Mrs. E. J. Huddleston and son Eddie Jay accompanied her sister back to Fort Worth where they will make their home for awhile.

BIG TOWN?
I'll say it is!

If all of our employes and their families were gathered together in one community, it would make a sizable city. There are 3,000 folks on the payroll of this and associated companies. Then add their families and the hundreds of other persons necessary to meet their need for clothing, food, shelter, medical care, and so on. We figure this total number would make up a town of close to 20,000 population.

Actually, there is no such "Big Town," because our employes are scattered all over the Gulf South, in cities, towns and villages. Wherever they are, they are good citizens and good neighbors. Their sole working objective has always been to assure Gulf

South homes, stores and factories the comforts, conveniences and opportunities afforded by Dependable Natural Gas Service. Now they have another responsibility—making Natural Gas of greater service in this war crisis.

Natural Gas is playing a vital part in the country's war program, just as it is playing an important part in the development of the Gulf South.

Pen, Sell or Can Roosters to Get Infertile Eggs

Segregation of Broody Hens Also Is Aid to Production, Says A & M Poultry Expert

After the hatching season ends, pen up the roosters, or sell them, or can them. Otherwise, says George P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman of the A. & M. College Extension service, a $15,000,000 loss may result from production of fertile eggs during the summer. That sum would buy a lot of machine guns or cannon, but even more serious is the loss of food stocks it represents.

Realizing this, County Agricultural Agent John Moosberg arranged a "Rooster Day" through the Shelby County USDA War Board, and Mayor Y. W. Rogers of Center made it official with a proclamation which requested that:

"There shall not be heard a cock's crow within the corporate limits of the City of Center during the 150 day period beginning the morning of May 9, 1942, except such cock bird be confined in a pen or yard individually, or with one or more of his kind, and that the owner of such bird so confined should not permit the entry of the female of the species that may or may not be producing eggs which may reach the kitchen and pantries of our city."

"But why stop with the roosters," McCarthy asks. "Pen the broody hens. They break eggs and reduce the quality of eggs. A small pen without a nest or roost soon discourages broodiness."

Clean litter, especially in nests, helps to decrease the number of soiled eggs. If possible have at least one nest for every five hens. Gather eggs at least twice a day in a wire basket, which allows air to circulate around them and reduces the internal temperature. Many farm families have built an iceless refrigerator for holding eggs to check evaporation and reduce internal temperature. Eggs kept in this refrigerator, plans for which may be obtained from county agents, suffer little, if any, deterioration in quality when marketed twice weekly.

Yanks and Aussies Get Together.

American soldiers in Australia quickly made themselves at home, and have received a cordial welcome from the Aussies. Off duty, main object of American soldiers is to make the acquaintance of Australian girls. Here's a Yank, top left, who's going to be taken for a bike ride by an attractive Aussie girl. One American soldier, top right, arrived at an Australian camp clearly indicating that his travels led to the "U. S. A. via Tokyo." The Yanks grow their own vegetables in camp, bottom left, and here two of the soldier-farmers are shown picking them. An Aussie camel, bottom right, receives the attention of interested American soldiers.

Flying School at Lubbock Will Be Dedicated Sunday

Public Invited to Ceremony Which Will Include Flying Exhibitions and Inspection

The behind-the-scenes life of both aviation cadets and enlisted men will be one feature of the special dedication services at the large Lubbock Army Flying school which the public may see on Sunday, June 21.

Besides the barracks themselves, mess halls, link trainer building, day rooms, hangar, and the sub-depot shop and hangar will all be open to visitors as part of the formal dedication of the advanced twin-engine school.

Opening the gates to the general public at one o'clock, Colonel Thomas L. Gilbert has announced that Major-General H. R. Harmon, commanding officer of the Gulf Coast Training Area, will be the principal speaker in the dedicatory services scheduled for two o'clock. Col. Gilbert will also speak.

The Lubbock Army Post band will play a varied program under the leadership of Warrant Officer George P. Attridge from one to two o'clock.

Until late in the afternoon the visiting public will be admitted to various parts of the Lubbock field on a general inspection tour. The many aspects of camp life of both aviation cadets and enlisted men may be visited on this occasion.

During the progress of the program on the ground, the aviation cadets will carry out routine flying activities, including take-offs, formations and landings.

All friends of the Lubbock Army Flying school are cordially invited to be present at these dedication services. Since the general public cannot ordinarily be admitted to camp areas, the program on June 21 offers an excellent opportunity for a close-up view of a typical flying school.

NEIGHBORHOOD PLANNING TO MAKE BEST USE OF FARM AUTOS IS URGED

Asking your neighbors if they need anything in town or want to ride in with you is more than just neighborliness these days — it's good sense and a good way to save wear and tear on tires.

That's why the Hall County USDA War Board is urging farmers in the county to work out neighborhood plans for making the best possible use of transportation facilities. As D. A. Neeley, board chairman points out, agricultural products must get to market if they're going to be sold and if the American people are going to eat, and tires are going to be mighty hard—maybe impossible—to get when the ones now on hand are gone.

"Arrange with one or more neighbors to exchange trips," the board advised farmers. "Do all your regular hauling, so far as possible, on that basis. Form a little group on your road to do this in a systematic way. Pool your loads."

As a further tire-saving step, the USDA War Board advised against going into town "empty."

"If you have an errand in town, call up your neighbors and take everybody on the road who needs to go that day—then let them do the same by you," Neeley continued. "Make similar arrangements for small partloads of produce. Don't make a trip alone with just a bushel of potatoes or a sack of grain, not to get one or two small items of supplies. Double up. Cooperate with your neighbors."

Farm hauling is not subject to restriction under the Office of Defense Transportation, Neeley pointed out, but farmers are expected to comply with the spirit of the order by making as few trips as possible.

—COAL vs. COLD—
Coal users will have only themselves to blame if they face next winter with a shortage of fuel. Washington authorities are urging consumers to STORE COAL during the spring and summer months. There will be a greater demand for coal later in the season and more than likely transportation facilities will be inadequate to handle the volume required in the fall and winter. We respectfully suggest that you let us have your order NOW, so we can make deliveries during JUNE and JULY. Buy GORDON COAL for complete satisfaction.

Pantex Employing Representative to Be Here June 27

Tom J. Finley to Interview Prospects for Jobs in Big Ordnance Plant at Amarillo

People of the Memphis area who desire employment in the Certain-teed Company's Pantex plant near Amarillo will have the opportunity of filing application and a personal interview with a company representative without the necessity of making a trip to Amarillo, according to an announcement by George H. Robertson, personnel director.

In line with the company's policy of searching the Panhandle area of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma for employes before importing outside workers, Tom J. Finley is being sent to Memphis on Saturday, June 27 to take applications and grant interviews to interested persons. He will office in the county court room on the second floor of the court house.

Every known type of employee is sought. Men, women, students, boys and girls. Places open range from the most routine form of manual labor to key executive positions. All types of construction workers, electricians, mechanics, truck drivers, building trades, office workers and specialists are sought. For example, said Robertson, explosive experts are trained from the ranks of school teachers, clerks, bankers, car and insurance salesmen, owners of small businesses and hundreds of other forms of employment.

Prospective employes can speed up their interview with Finley by following these simple instructions:

—To Hell with Hitler—
Not down previous experience, remembering length of employment, etc.; bring letters of recommendation wherever possible; bring copy of birth certificate if possible; try to have mind up about type of position desired, remembering explosive experts and plant workers must be trained after acceptance, thereby opening such positions to practically every walk of life.

Deferred Grazing Advantages Told

The controlling idea of deferred grazing is to reserve a small pasture ungrazed from the start of young grass until seed maturity, says Robert R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the A. & M. College Extension service. Very little forage is lost by deferred grazing unless rodents are numerous.

Deferred grazing leaves ample reserve of the best grasses, which otherwise might be grazed too heavily. So, it is better to leave all grasses undisturbed on 25 percent of an area than leaving an equal amount of less desirable types over the whole area. Deferred grazing increases height, vigor and density of grass, which suppresses weeds, Lancaster explains. It also increases the depth and volume of roots, and reserve plant food is stored for vigorous regrowth the next season. More vegetation catches and holds more water, an important thing on western ranges.

Grass reduces evaporation by its shade, litter and dew, and checks air currents near the ground.

Let Us All Work Together.

We have a job that can be done only if we all work together. As Daniel Webster once said, Liberty Exists in Proportion to Wholesome Restraint... and now we have an opportunity to prove the truth of this statement. We must plan our daily lives with economy of time, energy and expenditure. We must buy only the things we need — and select only those that best serve our need. It means learning all we can about the value of merchandise — where to buy to best advantage — how to make things last as long as possible by good care.
