Cyclone Loses District Crown To Dalhart Wolves

On the LEVEL

a column by
William Russell Clark

When I survey the fall with its hazy, its distances—look upon a perfect day built: a smiling sky, a breeze—wind keen to the touch, eager; or when the first snow falls and sleet and wind and darkness slice in, I know winter is near. The crackling limbs of the trees weighed down with an icy burden, the ghost-like claws that scratch on my roof at night, confirm in me a belief in nature, a love for her that streets and lights and houses and people cannot dissipate.

Cold has never put fear in my heart. Rather, it recalls that half-misty past when I would spend days and nights at grandmother's home in the country. After a hearty supper, members of the family would gather about an open fire-place and there some of the greatest stories I have ever heard were told. My grandfather would talk far into the night—telling of his experiences in the days before the Civil War, during the progress and in Reconstruction.

A large supply of wood was always to be found on one side of the hearth, and that was my favorite seat. As the clock on the mantel ticked away the hours, bedtime always came too soon. Sometimes, we would bake potatoes in the hot ashes on the hearth. Sometimes, fruit was passed. Always, we had something to eat before retiring.

Passing through the large windy hall into another room, I carried vivid pictures of that which had transpired during the course of conversations. Many and many a winter's night, I would lie in bed while the dying embers from a large, grotesque pictures on the wall—often symbolic of a time long past, but kept alive through the assurance of the spoken word.

So many people have complained that the fall and winter months are the saddest of the year. I have not found them thus. They are, to me, a time for recollection, for remembering, for pondering over golden moments that are gone and in anticipating others to come. There is a satisfaction in the very turmoil the elements create that is comparable to life itself.

Give me an open hearth on a winter's night, a good book, the proximity of friends and I can be well satisfied to let the storms and their fury as they will. All the dawn comes a red, red glow—may be or a somber dawn in mourning—but always the hope, the renewal of activity with the day.

No matter what the moods of fall and winter, to those who are brave enough to anticipate the future, spring and summer are forever singing in the heart—singing over little tunes filled with running water, shade and shadow; happy little tunes that ripple through a being without half way trying; gorgeous little tunes streaked with moonlight and star shine.

Boys And Girls Should Start Writing Letters To St. Nick

Just what do you think? Here it is nearly Christmas and not a single, solitary letter has been received to Santa Claus. You Memphis and Hall County boys and girls get busy. Start writing and if you can't write, get your parents to write for you. Tell Old Santa exactly what you want for Christmas. Of course, you understand, that Santa is not as wealthy this year as he is some years, but he will probably have plenty of things to go around. Address your letters to Santa Claus, care of Memphis Democrat, Memphis, Texas, and your letters will every one be published in the paper.

Santa will want to know what you have been doing, how you have been getting along in school, whether or not you have been helping your parents and all those kind of things. Be sure and write him all about yourself and your wants for Christmas. How in the world will he know what to bring you if you don't tell him in advance? The Democrat wants every good little girl and boy in Hall County to have a merry, merry Christmas and it is high time that St. Nicholas was being told what you desire. Don't put the matter off. Start sending those letters in—the sooner the better.

Leaves Sunday For Jacksboro

Dr. J. Hardin Mallard for more than three years pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, will leave with Mrs. Mallard for Jacksboro Sunday, where he has been called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of that city. Both Dr. Mallard and his wife have taken an active part in religious, civic and social affairs while in the city and their many friends regret to see them leave.

Old Santa Claus Is Coming To City On Saturday, December 13

Old Santa is coming to Memphis. Sure enough, no foolin'. He's coming with a pack on his back, white chin-whiskers, red nose, red cap, red toes and everything. Lots of kiddies when they start to school are told that there is no such person as Santa Claus. Don't you believe a word of it. There is a Santa Claus and to prove that he is really, truly, actually alive, in the flesh and blood, he will be brought to Memphis.

Arrangements have been made between local merchants and The Democrat with Old Santa's headquarters at the North Pole to have him in this city on Saturday, December 13. All you boys and girls who want to get a real good look at him, talk with him, hold his hands and in general see what Good Old Saint Nick looks like be sure and be in town that day. He will visit a number of the stores and will tell you just about anything you want to know. This is the first time Santa has been down this way in a long, long time and you boys and girls will really have a treat when you see this big, kind-hearted old fellow who remembers all good little boys and girls at Christmas, but who leaves switches for those who are bad.

LOCALS DOWNED IN TURKEY DAY BATTLE 26-0

Hard Fought Battle Goes Against Boys Of Memphis High

The curtain has been rung down on football in Memphis for the current season as the result of Coach Blake Bolton's Wolves administering a 26 to 0 defeat to Coach Nolan Walter's Cyclone squad on the Dalhart gridiron Turkey Day. It would have been a sweet game to have won and is equally a hard game to have lost. No alibis will be attempted. The Cyclone could not stand up to the monster linemen and playing on a sandy field put the final touches to their district championship hopes—that, and the fact that several of the regulars had to view the game from the sidelines due to injuries.

Patched-Up Team

It was a patched-up team that took the field against Dalhart—a team that had been driven hard—that had come up from the very bottom to give a brilliant display of football and to command the attention of the entire Panhandle. To Coach Nolan Walter goes the lion's share of the credit for building up such a fighting bunch of grid warriors. At the opening of the season, he had a few regulars—and the rest were green men. But at that, he whipped his players into shape and gave local fans their money's worth and then some before the season was brought to a close.

Will Turn In Suits

The game with Dalhart will be the last for a number of the Cyclone players. Monday, they will turn in their suits for the last time—suits that are battered and tattered, that bear the marks of grime and blood and tears—suits that have marched out on thirteen fields this season to do battle for the most popular coach Memphis High has ever had and to hold aloft the tradition of the school of putting out a winning team.

Hammond's Last Game

The contest Thursday brought Captain James Hammond's high school football career to a close. "Three yard Hammond" as he was called last year and who more than justified the title again this year will never again don that old uniform. Also playing their last games were Curtis Bourland, Ezell Champion, Albert Pearson, Barton Durrett, Frank Jarvis and probably Carl McLearn and Regnal Greenhaw. New boys will take their places another year—or try—but the valor of the Cyclone squad of 1930 will live long in the memory of those who love the game and the boys who played it so splendidly this year.

All Were Stars

There is no need to single out stars of the game with Dalhart. To this writer, all of the squad were stars of the first magnitude. They gave of their best, but their best proved to be not good enough in this game. They had to lose sometime and it is probably just as well that it should have been this game—although, to tell the truth, it was a bitter dose for them and for those who have followed their fortunes in good days and bad. We, of The Democrat, doff our hats to the Cyclone and their coach and trust that their season has been as memorable to them as it has been to us.

Men's Social At Baptist Church Last Week Draws A Large Crowd

A men's get-together meeting was held Thursday night of last week at 7:30 o'clock in the educational building of the Baptist church for the purpose of "getting across" to the men that the program of the church in the community is a service program. Sam J. Hamilton, in a brief talk, told the men why they were called together. Judge W. A. McIntosh talked on "What A Man Really Owes to His Church" and Rev. E. T. Miller spoke on "The Church's Program in the Life of the Community," stressing the fact that since Jesus Christ made man after his own image and organized his church with men only, the program of the church should, therefore, be a service program of men, by men, for men. At the close of the meeting, refreshments consisting of coffee, hot chocolate and cakes were served to eighty-five members of the church. Another Social Planned
Another social, in which men are to participate, is being planned for the near future. At this meeting, the price of admission will be a boy. In other words, each man is expected to select some boy to bring with him. Those who fail to do so, will not be permitted to take part in the exercises.

Now is the time to change to Germ-Processed oil . . . It's DE-WAXED. That means easy starting . . . and its Penetrative Lubricity means safer Lubrication during the trying months ahead

Is your car hard to start these cold mornings? Let that be a reminder that these are danger months for your motor!

It takes more turning-over to start, and more running to warm-up your motor during the cold months. So now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this oil with two big cold-weather advantages!

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil is de-waxed to prevent congealing at low temperatures. That's the first reason. Second, its penetrative lubricity insures instant lubrication at the first touch of the starter. By decreasing friction, Germ-Processed oil adds to the ease of starting.

You may be able to buy some other oils which are de-waxed, but there is only one oil with penetrative lubricity, only one that penetrates metal-surfaces and never drains away from working parts.

It's Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Ask for it whenever you see the Conoco Red Triangle.

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX HAS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The introduction of the new Chevrolet Six marks the most impressive forward step in Chevrolet's twenty-year record of constant progress and improvement.

For this Bigger and Better Six offers new beauty of line and color, new luxury, new completeness and new quality—yet it sells at lower prices!

In every curve and sweep of Chevrolet's modern lines—in every detail of its smart new Fisher bodies, you will see the fine hand of the master designer and the skillful craftsman. And the more closely you inspect it, the more deeply impressed you will be.

The improvements in the new Chevrolet Six begin at the smart new chrome-plated headlamps and extend throughout the entire car. The radiator is deeper and unusually efficient. Due to the increased wheelbase, the lines are longer and lower, giving an air of exceptional fleetness and grace. And the new Fisher bodies combine with this more attractive exterior appearance, a new degree of interior luxury.

The upholstery is of fine quality mohair or broadcloth, carefully tailored and fitted. The number of individual springs in the rear seat cushions has been increased by 25%. The windshield and windows have been redesigned to provide wider vision. And all interior fittings have been made more pleasing to the eye.

The chassis of the new Chevrolet Six has also been refined and advanced in a number of different ways. The frame is heavier, deeper and stronger than before. There is a smoother operating, long lived clutch; a sturdier front axle; an entirely new steering mechanism of the worm and sector type; an easier shifting transmission. In fact, every vital feature of the new car has been made better and more satisfactory to the owner.

Obviously, these many improvements are responsible for a higher standard of quality than before. And they become doubly significant when you consider that they are offered in a car which provides the smooth, quiet, flexible performance of a 50-horsepower, six-cylinder motor—the comfort of four long semi-elliptic springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers—the safety of a gasoline tank at the rear of the car—and an economy of operation not surpassed by any automobile.

» AT NEW LOW PRICES «

Fine as it is, the new Chevrolet Six now sells at lower prices—making the economy and satisfaction of Chevrolet ownership even more outstanding. We urge you to come in and see the Bigger and Better Chevrolet. Its modern design reflects the spirit of the times—and it represents a value which will command the interest of every buyer in the low-price field.

Preached Over County

Dr. Mallard has filled preaching desks in other places in the county on Sunday afternoons and has preached baccalaureate sermons and made commencement addresses for several of the schools in the county. He has also mingled with the lodges in the city and has built up a friendship in fraternal circles. In many other ways, he and Mrs. Mallard have served the social life of the city interdenominational and in a civic way.

There 16 Years Ago

Dr. Mallard goes to a pastorate he formerly held 16 years ago, the people in Jacksboro having pressed their call upon him urgently at this time. Jacksboro is being boosted by special highway building as a converging point for entrance into Fort Worth and by the Rock Island building which will go down the eastern side of the Panhandle into Fort Worth. The town is feeling the effect of these enterprises and has a good future before it, which offered inducements for the acceptance of the call.

Kindness is Shown

Dr. and Mrs. Mallard's many friends have been especially kind to them as they have made ready for departure. Dinners have been given them at the homes of J. M. Tucker, J. A. Grundy, Allen Grundy, Conley Ward, Dr. M. McNeely and others. Dr. Mallard received some very useful gifts from the Scout troop with which he took his final hike last week. Mrs. Mallard has been honored with appreciated gifts from the Presbyterian Woman's Missionary Society, the Mizpah Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church and the Federated Missionary Society. Special words of appreciation have been spoken of Dr. Mallard in the Masonic lodges as he has taken his leave of them during the past month.

Mr. Batson moved to Texas from Tennessee in 1905 with his family and has lived in Hall County for 24 years. He has been an invalid for the past twelve years.

5. More general cooperation in all movements seeking the betterment of Memphis and Hall County.
6. A municipal auditorium.
7. More paved streets.

THE CHICAGO DISGRACE

News dispatches have just reported that Chicago has had the worst week in the history of that bloody metropolis insofar as crime is concerned. Killings, murders, holdups, every kind of "racket" known to crimedom seems to have been accomplished and the distinguished Chicago Tribune waxes sarcastic in objecting to Governor Dan Moody's declaration that if he were Governor of Illinois, he would place the state under martial law.

For long, Chicago has been the disgrace of the United States. It seems that corruption, graft, booze, blood, gang fights, murders and what have you have taken over both politics and business and capital is being made of the fact that a person can get by with about anything in the windy city.

There have been investigations and counter investigations, but little seems to have been accomplished in ridding the city of the undesirable element who have controlled it for so long. Crime and politics seem to be bosom friends there. We favor Governor Moody's suggestion of placing the city under martial law. If the graft loving politicians have any respect at all for common, ordinary, downright decency, they will make a move to protect the lives of the citizens at least.

We have never had a desire to go to Chicago. Such a place as it seems to exist today is a veritable stench in the nostrils of ordinary folk. We have no desire to hear the rat-tat-tat of machine guns as they take the lives of the innocent and the guilty alike with reckless abandon. Something should be done about bloody Chicago, even if President Herbert Hoover should have to stop appointing committees long enough to give a hand in helping clarify a deplorable situation.

SPEAKING OF DEER STORIES

We have heard all kinds of deer stories and deer stories, including White Deer and white dears, but a news dispatch from the state of Michigan has all of them "skinned a city block." Understand, we are not exactly doubting the facts in the case, but we are just wondering "how come."

The story relates that one, Patrick Upham, went deer hunting, sat down on a log beside a deer run to rest and went to sleep. He was awakened by two large bucks nibbling upon his long whiskers. Upham was so startled he forgot to shoot and both bucks escaped, taking part of the beard it had taken him years to grow. That is the equal of any fish story I've ever heard, and that is admitting considerable.

It wouldn't do for the same thing to happen if some of our own friends went deer hunting. If even one buck came up to nibble on certain young sproutings we know about, he would unquestionably take chin, neck, mouth, teeth and all away with him. So much for the mustache fad.

ENLIGHTENMENT AT LAST

In the opinion of Chief Executive West of the Boy Scouts of America, modern youth is not hell-bent. Those were his exact words as quoted in an interview the Scout official gave in Washington, D. C., recently. "They are better behaved than youths of a decade ago and are more earnestly and intelligently making use of their opportunities."

We agree thoroughly with Mr. West in his contention. It is true that boys will be boys and girls will be girls, but just because they are inclined to act their natural selves is no signal for alarm from their elders and those whose long noses are forever and eternally sniffing trouble. Time and time again, we have heard orators rant that "the younger generation is on the highway to hell." But orators have been orators since time immemorial and if somebody didn't find something wrong with somebody else, plenty of people would be out of a means of making a living.

We are not out hunting those who are eternally in the habit of telling the world what is wrong with it, but rather, we are looking for those who tell us what is right with the world. We have a positive faith, not a negative conjecture, that taking everything into considerable, the world is a pretty good place in which to live. We believe modern youth feels the same way about it. They are preached to incessantly from a negative standpoint. Don't do this; don't do that; don't do the other. Keep out of this and that and so forth. All healthy young people are going to lead their lives as they see fit and all the advice poured upon them is largely wasted effort. They know what is right and what is wrong and for one, we are agreeable to let them use their best judgment.

PROFESSOR EINSTEIN

The papers have been making much ado over Professor Albert Einstein's forthcoming visit to the United States. One newspaper relates that the distinguished scientist has been receiving 50 cablegrams daily inviting him to this or that affair while in this country. Einstein, like most great men and women, shuns publicity. When there is something to talk about, he will talk, but he has none of the aspects of the showman. He does not care to be lionized. He has already been quoted as saying that he looks forward to his reception in this country with alarm.

Very few people know much about Professor Einstein. They are not sufficiently interested in his equations or problems to give the real man any attention. What they are concerned with is the personage—the great man of mathematics—the great scholar—a man who has commanded the attention of the entire civilized world. We hope Einstein will accomplish something while over here, and that his good wishes and hand shakers will not cause him to regret that he visited our country.

Let's Chat Awhile

BY DOROTHY B. ROBBINS

I have before me, as I write, a picture of Mrs. Edna Nettie, 24, of Seattle, Washington. Mrs. Nettie holds the world in her arms in the form of a chubby healthy baby boy of two. Both seem utterly happy and no wonder they are celebrating their reunion in a pose before the photographer. You remember the picture, don't you—it appeared in The Memphis Democrat some time back. Mrs. Nettie and her husband left the child with relatives and went to the picture show. When they returned the relatives had disappeared with the baby; thinking to give him "a better home." These parents acted sensibly. They did not noise the fact of the kidnapping abroad, but quietly traced the guilty ones to Atlanta, Georgia. Having only one way, the brave little woman hitchhiked to the city of her little boy's refuge, recovered him and rode home on the train. How silly some people are when they think they can give a child a better home than its parents. Children thrive on the kinds of love their fathers and mothers bestow. I'd almost make a wager with somebody (much as I dislike betting) that the smile little Dick wears came off in his "better home."

I can match the story with one that happened many years ago when Texas was the Mecca to which eyes of Mississippians turned. There were two families, not related, one childless, the other having an attractive little son. The childless couple were deeply attached to the child (today we say they were just crazy about him) and when they moved to Texas slipped out quietly, bringing him with them. In the neighborhood to which they moved their son was never suspected of being other than their own. Years passed—in those days it took months and years to follow up a clue. One day at a protracted meeting, a good old deacon passing the plate was stopped by an irate woman whose tones curdled the blood of the listeners: "What have you done with my child?" And the child, innocent, happy with the only parents he had known came forward reluctantly to the mother he had forgotten.

The story ended happily—true story—for the mother who had sorrowed and prayed to find her child forgave the guilty ones and allowed them to share in his love. The boy really loved his foster parents so much that it wrenched his heart to be separated from

Head and Back Quit Hurting

"A few years ago, I found that I was very weak and nothing I ate seemed to give me any strength," writes Mrs. R. B. Douglas, 704 South Congress St., Jackson, Miss.

"I suffered intense pain in my head and back. At times I would have to hold to something to steady myself, so as to do my little work. I was worried about my condition.

"My mother told me that I should take Cardui. After taking two bottles, I felt stronger, but I kept on taking it until my head and back quit hurting. I took about six bottles in all, and have never quit praising Cardui."

them. The childless couple had amassed property and were able to assist the boy's parents very materially and insisted on giving the "bone of contention" all the advantages they had in mind before the ruthless hand of fate interfered.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

A recent bride has consulted me on how to bake her first turkey so why can't I tell my readers how to make oyster dressing like my friend does? So many do not like their turkeys stuffed with oyster stuffing but prefer the kind made with onions. The few who really like oyster dressing are left out. The kind I am about to tell of can be baked in a separate pan and get turkey contact from the giblet gravy.

Oyster Dressing

Three biscuits softened by pouring boiling water on and draining quickly. One cup of corn meal which had been made into egg bread is then added to the biscuits, some butter, an egg, the broth of a pint of oysters and the oysters cut finely. Perhaps there might be needed a little more salt and a modicum of pepper. It is well to bake the biscuits the day before but the corn bread can be made at breakfast.

Agency Manager Of Insurance Company Announces Prizes

Proving that he believes in the propaganda he spread during the recent political campaign, Col. W. E. Talbot, Agency Manager of the Southland Life Insurance Company, has announced that prizes in the production contest to be held by the Southland Life this month will be Texas-produced turkeys. Col. Talbot based his entire campaign on the "Buy-made-in-Texas-products" idea.

Under the terms of the contest, each agent will be given a turkey for each $10,000 accepted business received between November 15th and December 20th. The turkey will be purchased on an order authorizing the agent to buy a 20-pound turkey from his local merchant or farmer, billing the Southland Life direct for the cost.

Usually the difference between a profit and a loss to the Texas farmer on his products is caused by a surplus. Where this surplus is consumed, higher prices are bound to result. If other firms would follow this example and this surplus were eliminated, there is no question but that our farmers would get an excellent profit on their turkeys this Fall.

Local charities or churches in Texas will have an opportunity to profit from this contest since each eligible agent may receive the maximum number of turkeys allowed, "five."

The home of Mrs. John Lofland on South Seventh street was destroyed by fire at about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Mrs. Lofland and children were not at home at the time.
