The Clarence Saunders grocery store has just installed Frigidaire in its refrigerator, and J. D. Guinn, operator, says with this method of refrigeration he can better serve his customers. The joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Fair Association was held in the community room at the court house Tuesday night, and some forty people were present. S. T. Harrison spoke on the necessity of having a fair, and stressed the fact that a fair is worth far more to the whole county than any other institution; that it promotes and encourages better farming, live stock raising, poultry raising, better business of all kinds. "No business man can do his best without having an opportunity to study and see what the other fellow is doing and how he is doing it," he said. "The same thing applies to every business whether it be mercantile or farming. The human touch is needed. If a fair brings about better conditions, and I know that the Hall county fair has been doing that very thing, then the people are repaid many times for all it costs. This is the year of all years to have a fair, for it is a year in which all know that diversification should be encouraged," he added. J. Henry Read followed with a talk on what the fair accomplishes for the community. He said the prime purpose of a fair is for the purpose of education and encouragement of better conditions of all kinds in the community. He stressed the fact that the boys and girls clubs of the county are showing beyond a doubt that a fair is doing something for Hall county. "It has brought a greater co-operative spirit to the people, by causing different ones to strive to have better articles to exhibit. The different schools of the county have been encouraged and helped through the influence of the fair. Better farming methods are being used, and greater pride is being taken in the county as a whole. What the fair needs more than anything else is co-operation." A vote was taken as to the advisability of continuing the fair, and almost to a man, voted to continue. While the fair did not make expenses last year, it was freely conceded that a combination of circumstances caused the deficiency. First, the fact that two or three neighboring towns had fairs on the same date; second, the attractions were not good enough due to the conflicting fairs; third, the fair was held too early in the season. It was the first time the fair has fallen behind, and with proper co-operation of the people of the entire county, a fair this coming fall, held at the proper time, and with good attractions already booked, should go over good.

THE PASTURE REPORTED FOR DAIRY HERD

Benefits from dairying are from pastures and hay grown and fed on the farm from the grain rations used for feeding. J. L. dairy specialist, Extension, A. & M. College, delivered a recent radio talk on the Dairymen's Club.

of good home rough green and cured, is the factor in the success of a farmer, except of course, and good cows and should go together, Mr. said.

past there has been a on the part of many not to plant enough of crops to supply their with all the dry rough will consume, Mr. Thom- holding that there has al- lect of that very important feed crop, tame pasture, on the assumption that the herds could get sufficient green feed from a native pasture out in the bush.

"Some of these green pastures will supply the necessary green stuff for a few weeks but not often for long," he continued. "Then the cow has to spend much time and energy to gather the necessary green feed. There comes a time when she can't get it and the production suffers. To get the best results from the cow, she should have a pasture from which she can eat her fill in a few hours and then go to the shade to digest it and make it into milk. To get this pasture crops must be planted. Planted pastures are free from onions, leaks and bitter weeds, which are generally found in native pastures when the grass is best. Let the dry stock have the native pasture and plant some tame grass for the milking herd.

"In most parts of the state Sudan grass will be hard to beat but in the coast country Angleton grass may be superior. Sweet clover makes an excellent summer pasture where it has been grown. The seedlings of Sudan

SPECTACULAR SALES RESULT IN COMMANDER

Unusually spectacular sales have resulted from the Commander, Studebaker's Big Six Brougham, which one dealer has nicknamed "the ball of fire," because of its brilliant speed and spirited acceleration.

Based on registration figures from many sections of the country Studebaker is showing a marked gain where registrations as a whole are falling off. This is especially true of cars in the same price class of Studebaker. During February in Cook county, Illinois, the county in which Chicago is located, Studebaker showed a 32 per cent gain in registrations over comparative figures for 1926. With one exception the five principal competitors of Studebaker all showed losses ranging from 5 to 32 per cent. The one exception showed a gain of only 12 per cent as against Studebaker's gain of 32 per cent.

grass can be eight or ten days apart in the different fields or in strips in the same field to give green pasture the greatest length of time. It is better to have two or three small fields than one large one. Wheat, oats, or barley can be used for a winter pasture and Burr clover sown in the native pastures to furnish late winter grazing."

Legumes also have an important place in the dairy cow's ration, if the best results are desired. They are generally used for hay rather than for pasture. Those most used are Soy beans, cow peas, Mung beans, sweet clover and peanuts. Guar is a new legume for the black lands. Alfalfa should be used where it will grow.

Pains disappeared

"SEVERAL years ago I was badly run-down," says Mrs. John Bunch, R. F. D. 3, Columbia, S. C. "I could not do any of my work. I was so weak I could not wash a dish. My back and sides hurt me at times dreadfully. I dragged around until I finally got down in bed."

Then, explains Mrs. Bunch, she happened to read about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and decided to give it a thorough trial, the results of which she describes below:

"It seemed to reach the cause of my trouble at once. I did not take it long before my appetite began to improve. I gained in weight from 114 pounds until now I weigh 125 pounds. I soon was able to be up around the house. I took up my household duties and was delighted with my returning strength."

"I now do all my own work. The pains in my sides and back have disappeared and I feel like a different person."

Cardui has been helping suffering women for nearly 50 years. Sold by all druggists.

PERT PARAGRAPHS

BY J. L. SMALL

The unexpected has happened again. A wealthy Pennsylvania woman has started to death.

The South Carolina Legislature passed a bill which is said to have been designed to amend or modify the Ten Commandments. But South Carolina's chief executive put a crimp in the measure by vetoing it.

It has developed that the Government, in its closing estimate last December of the 1926 cotton crop, overshot the mark a million bales. But a little thing like that doesn't worry Uncle Sam and his official guessers.

A report emanating from Constantinople says a Turkish widow has reached the age of 160 years. Sounds fishy—absolutely incredible—for a widow to be telling her age, especially one that is getting along in years as this one is. Evidently she has withdrawn her name from the eligible list and "come across" in order to win distinction. But the most surprising feature of the matter is, why should anyone care to live 160 years in Turkey?

An Oklahoma bank robber, who used firearms in putting over the job, making it a capital offense, has been sentenced to death in the electric chair. All such characters should be given the limit of the law. It is a matter of regret, however, that the extreme penalty is seldom inflicted, this being the first case on record in Oklahoma where the death penalty was levied for such a crime, unless some one was killed in the robbery. Even in this case the man is offered clemency if he will reveal the names of his accomplices, which he steadfastly refuses to do, as he appears to belong to that class of criminals who is anxious to "get across the river."

That Amarillo is growing by the proverbial leaps and bounds is evidenced by the fact that the metropolis of the plains frequently steps off and leaves all competition in the matter of weekly building permits. Further evidence of the town's growth and prosperity is reflected in the decision of the Amarillo Globe-News to spend $85,000 in enlarging its building and plant. This expenditure, it is said, will include another story to its already substantial brick structure, a 32-page high speed rotary press, several new linotype machines and such other modern equipment as will be necessary to bring the News to the forefront of journalism in the Southwest.

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, widely known Los Angeles evangelist, is scheduled to deliver six addresses at Dallas the latter part of this week. After the Honey Grove Signal is off the press, Editor Lowry, who heretofore has complimented Mrs. McPherson highly, and has the reputation of slinging the King's English with wonderful dexterity, should take a day off and hear the evangelist. Should he do so, however, it would be advisable for him to temporarily shelve those delicate questions that he discusses so fluently in his paper. Mrs. McPherson has a strong following, and certainly he should avoid saying anything that would have a tendency to mar the solemnity of the occasion.

In an effort to wrest a negro from the clutches of the law, a race riot occurred at Coffeetown, Kansas, recently. Coffeetown, it seems, hasn't quite overcome the adventurous reputation it acquired during the stirring events of the Indian Territory days. Although in a prohibition state, this conspicuous Kansas town, just across the Oklahoma line, was headquarters for bootleggers, and many an Indian and half-breed got a swift start on the war path at a time when outlaws were numerous and banditry ran at high tide. Slight reverberations of those days still are heard occasionally. Only about three years ago a Coffeetown newspaper was blown into smithereens, the editor of which attributed the dastardly act to his vigorous opposition to violations of the law.

That all sorts of people are required to make aworld is a well established fact. All men possessing a reasonable degree of mental and physical powers are fitted for some line of work. Some particular vocation or profession appeals to every industrious citizen. Mechanics interest some, agriculture appeals to others, the legal profession is inviting to still others, etc., all having desires and ambitions to be gratified. No energetic man is satisfied to do "just anything." It is very necessary, therefore, that every young man choose a calling—something that interests him and with which he is satisfied. This is the day of specialization. The man who scatters his forces by doing a little of everything is justly looked upon as being "a jack at all trades and good at nothing." The time has come when no one can afford to be unprepared for specific duty in some line of activity. The opportunities for promotion in the various fields of endeavor are indeed promising to those who are capable of meeting the requirements. Education, ability, energy and character are the fundamental requisites sought when a place of responsibility is to be filled. The other side of the picture reveals deplorable facts. For lack of education; for lack of honesty; for lack of energy; for lack of a trade or profession; for lack of obedience to the laws of our land, the daily and weekly press, not only of Texas, but of the Nation, tell the story. From time to time publishers are compelled to increase their orders for print paper and printer's ink in order that they may be adequately prepared to print the myriad of stories coming to them of crime and violations of the law.

STUDY CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. BEARD

The 1913 Study Club met with Mrs. Beard March 16. The lesson was on Texas; the members answered to roll call by "Current Texas Topics." The program was as follows:

"King cotton in field, mill and market"—Mrs. W. S. Moore. "Schools and colleges, extension work and what it is doing"—Mrs. M. J. Draper.

The members present were: Mesdames Jones, Draper, Wood, Miles, McNeely, Sager, Williams, Owens, Noel, Greene, Moore, Watson, Frank Fore, Walker and Jet Fox, and Mesdames Pressley and McKee from Lubbock.

CULTURE CLUB ELECTS DELEGATES WEDNESDAY

A most interesting meeting of the Culture Club was held Wednesday of last week when Mrs. D. A. Neeley was hostess. During the business session Mrs. H. W. Kuhn was elected delegate and Mrs. Chas. W. Kinslow alternate to the District Federated Club Meeting at Quanah in April.

"The Americanization of Edward Bok" was the subject ably conducted by Mrs. L. M. Hicks. "Bok's Life Since Autobiography" was given by Mrs. J. A. Whaley.

During the social hour, which followed the program, the hostess served delicious refreshments, after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. C. Wells April

The meeting was called to order by the superintendent. A brief and inspiring talk was made by the principal, on the necessity of practical education. After this the meeting was turned over to the County Agent, L. M. Thompson, who spoke on the accomplishments of club work done by other club members of the state.

The club members as a whole expressed a desire to make this one of the best clubs in the state, pledging their support in all its meetings.

This speaks well for the Lodge community, reflecting the spirit of co-operation of its citizenship. With this spirit of progress shown by the younger generation this community no doubt will stand high in rank of citizenship in future years, if the parents of these young people will co-operate and encourage them in the work undertaken.

Art and Music will be the lesson at this meeting.

SOW COW PEAS FOR LIVE STOCK AND LANDS SAKE

(A. K. Short)

From ancient times cow peas have been one of the dependable farm crops both from the standpoint of live stock feeding and soil building. Through all this time it has also added very materially to the food of man. It will forever remain one of our most popular and most valuable crops.

As is well known cow peas belong to the legume family of plants and have the power to extract nitrogen from the air and store it in the soil to be used by other crops that follow the peas. The hay from cow peas contain a high per cent of protein which forms the basis of growth of young animals and the production of eggs, milk, wool and other animal products. Legume hay, such as that produced from cow peas, balances the live stock ration where the basis of the ration is corn, kaffir, barley or similar grains.

One ton of cow pea hay will, on the average, contain 10 1-2 pounds of phosphoric acid, 28 1-2 pounds nitrogen and 29 1-2 pounds of potash. This with a conservative estimate is valued at $10 per ton for the plant food it contains.

When we consider that two tons per acre is a comparative low yield and that the organic matter is of approximately as much value as the plant food the vines contain, it can readily be seen that cow peas may be planted with profit merely for soil building. When the hay is fed to live stock and the manure returned and at the same time an additional profit can be obtained from live stock and live stove products.

Cow peas may be planted broadcast, in drills, or with other crops.

In planting broadcast, about one bushel should be sown to the acre. They may be plowed under shallow, or covered by discing. In all cases a better stand and quicker germination will be secured if the ground is rolled after planting.

In planting in drills some 8 to 12 pounds should be used per acre. If planted in alternate rows with corn or other feed crops some 5 to 8 pounds should be planted per acre.

The best known and possibly the most dependable varieties of the strictly field peas are the Whippoorwill, Jackson Improved Number 21 Clay and the Brabham and recently the Chinese Red has come into prominence.

The main varieties of field peas that are used more extensively for table use as well as for soil building and hay are the Cream, Blackeye and Brown and Speckled Crowders.

The Whippoorwill is the most widely known variety, is dependable in almost all sections. The Brabham and Jackson Improved Clay are less effected with root rot and other diseases common to such crops. The Chinese Red is the earliest pea known.

All varieties furnish a very stable and nutritious diet in the form of snap peas when the pods are young, while the table varieties, mentioned are the most desirable for dried peas.

The Automatic Orthophonic Victrola

IT'S ALMOST HUMAN

To be demonstrated by Leverett-Williams Drug Co., at the School Auditorium next Tuesday evening, March 29, at 8:15, in the auspices of the

HARMONY CLUB

The Automatic Victrola has come at last! An Orthophonic Victrola that changes records. An instrument that gives an hour or more of matchless Orthophonic reproduction of music. Changes Records while you remain comfortably seated. Picks records, one by one, plays them in the succession you have arranged; puts them again, and stops itself. No wonder everyone exclaims, "It's almost human."

The Automatic Orthophonic Victrola will play for a whole hour the music "you by the artist "you prefer," at the time "when you want it." It will play this without the slightest mechanical attention from you. Equipped, not only with the magic feature, but with all the other conveniences found in the whole line of phonic Victrolas, it represents the last word in luxury of musical entertainment. List price of the automatic instrument is $600.00.

The demonstration is free and you are invited to attend. Incidentally, you will have the opportunity at this demonstration of seeing the and the smallest record machines made.

Make 'em Like It

"Sole Owner" Does "Make 'Em Like It"

He has fun doing it and the people have fun saving their money at "Sole Owner" Stores. We haven't got time to argue about "why" and how we do it. "Cutey," no doubt, is dying to find out. A peacock at least parades his own plumage and "Sole Owner" at least knows how to run his own business and "makes 'em like it."
