NEWLIN

By MRS. FRED HEMPHILL

"Spring Is Here"

With the first day of Spring due to make its appearance this week, old man Winter is having his last fling (we hope) with a cold snap that sent thermometers down to 22 Sunday night and Monday morning. Down with the temperature went the hope of fruit growers whose trees were in full bloom. With the waning moon, whose rays at dawn are supposed to protect the early budded fruit, their prospects are less hopeful.

Quarterly Conference

The second quarterly conference of the Newlin-Hulver churches was held Sunday night with Rev. Cal C. Wright of Vernon, district superintendent, in charge of the services. Due to sickness in the Hulver community only a small representation was present from that church. A district meeting of the Christian Board of Education will be held Tuesday at the King Memorial Church in Childress. Several from here will attend the meeting.

C. Messick; eighth year—Paul Kinard, Herbert Williams, Louise Murphy. The Newlin P. T. A. will meet Thursday night, March 29.

RECOLLECTION OF FACTS

THERE ARE OCCASIONS, naturally, when some bit of news will slip past the staff of The Democrat and not be printed. We don't deny that.

But when we do print something in the first issue after it happens, and when we print an editorial concerning something before it happens—then we feel that The Democrat has done its part.

That is what happened in the news of hiring of the special collectors for delinquent taxes. But some of the readers fail to give The Democrat any credit for printing an editorial previous to the passing of the resolution calling for the contract with the collectors—and the publishing of the news of the passing of the resolution by the county commissioners court.

The Democrat took no sides in the editorial. It was published in the issue of February 6—four days before the commissioners court passed the resolution calling for the contract with the collectors.

The editorial attempted to give both sides of the question—that for the hiring of the collectors and that against hiring of the collectors. It was not intended to be an editorial of support or one against the plan. It was more of an explanatory editorial, and ended with this paragraph:

"... Special collectors have not been hired as yet, and whether they will be still in doubt. All taxpayers, both those who owe delinquent taxes and those who don't should contact the members of the county commissioners court and voice their views. These officials are elected to serve the people as representatives and naturally desire to do what the citizenry as a whole thinks is best."

Now, despite the fact that this editorial was printed, some people are claiming that no publicity was given to the possibility that the collectors might be hired.

The news story concerning the passing of the resolution was published in the February 13 issue of The Democrat. The contract with the special collectors is dated February 10—the same date as the resolution was passed. Naturally, The Democrat could not—even if it had been a daily—have carried the news about the passing of the resolution before the contract was signed, since it was signed on the same day that the court passed the resolution.

The contract, before it was to become final, had to be approved by the state comptroller and the state attorney general. These two state officials did not approve the contract until March 5—a period of more than three weeks elapsing between the time The Democrat carried the story and the time the two state officials approved the contract.

Whether the contract could have been recalled easier before the approval of the state officials, this writer does not profess to know—but it probably could have been.

It has been predicted that Hitler will die on a Jewish holiday. They'll make it one anyway.

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Hard to Believe
The Miami Chief: When in doubt as to whether everybody reads The Chief, we sometimes make an error intentionally or otherwise and we are soon reminded of the fact. Last week in the report of the Home Progress Club, we said the hostess served "reasonable" refreshments instead of "seasonable." One would hardly believe so many people read the club reports in the home paper.

Wishing
The Claude News: Postal from Roy Conrad (on vacation): "Having a wonderful time. Wish you were here."

Freedom
Ed Bishop in the Dalhart Texan: Seems like we are all mixed up on this liberty business. Last Sunday, when the weather wouldn't let one outside for long, I sat in our living room and for lack of something more entertaining my fingers sought the radio dial. The program was a speaker. Who he was, or his title, I did not learn, but I did hear him say this "Freedom is not doing what we want to do, but what we should do."

Maybe we have overemphasized this freedom we love so well. Maybe it doesn't mean that we shall do what we want to do, regardless of its effect upon our nation, our neighbors, and friends. Perhaps we have forgotten those immortal words, "We shall all hang together or we shall all hang separately."
Wonder what our forefathers would think if they could see our use of liberty and freedom that they fought for? If they could see us fighting, not some foreign nation that wants to take our liberties away from us, but each other for the liberty and freedom we think we are entitled to as individuals, with no thought of what we are doing to our nation. What if they fought each other as we are doing today, how far would they have gotten toward writing the Declaration of Independence?

The Italians
The Canyon News: "The Italian army is terrible when aroused," writes the Facist Press. Yes, indeed, it is terrible—terrible in Greece and still more terrible in Africa. Mussolini can make his soldiers do exactly like they want to.

Wild Oats
Douglas Meador in the Matador Tribune: Unfortunately there is no allotment in the farm program as compensation for sowing less than the usual acreage of wild oats.

Getting Up
The Tulsa Herald: "I have more work than I can get done in a day," a local man said yesterday.

day, "yet when morning comes I don't want to get up. I have a neighbor who has nothing to do the livelong day who gets up very early every morning. He tells me that he could get up much earlier as he always wakes up an hour before he gets up. The thing seems reversed. The fellow who likes to get up early should have more to do."

Shadows
The Floyd County Hesperian: "Coming events cast their shadows before them" and often leave dark ones behind them.

Too Bad
The Apostle in Donley County Leader: The old boy who always felt the cold chills chase up his back every time he heard a cuss word, froze to death last week when his daughter caught her new dress in the car door.

Losing Money
Gertie Haskett in the Childress County News: During the first nine months of the war England paid the United States $23,000,000 for planes, and during the same period of time the United States paid England $26,000,000 for whiskey.

Chicken and Turkey
Jake in the Liberty Vindicator: The Vindicator makes its share of bobbles in news stories, but most of them are of small importance.

One recent "bust," however, was unforgivable. The palate of the writer was so untrained that the chicken, rather than the actually-served turkey, was reported on the menu of the Methodist men's banquet! If anything could be more unforgivable than reporting chicken rather than turkey at a Methodist feed, it must be reporting pork chops on Rabbi Nathan Waldman's Lenten menu!

Grit
Carl Roewe in the Turkey Enterprise (after telling of a horse ride he took): When I got a mouth full of sand and couldn't say anything, I began to think what a hale and hearty class of men the cowboys are. They must have a lot more grit than ordinary men—they couldn't keep from having it!

The Draft
Ernest Hayley in the St. Jo Tribune: Draft antidote: If you sit in one, take soda in warm water and bide your time until the doctor arrives. If caught in one, apply corn plasters and march until your discharge arrives.

Song
Will J. Miller in the Spearman Reporter: "There Will Be Some Changes Made" was the song the big wind sang Sunday, according to the report of many reliable local people. Evidently the song theme was right, and a few thousand acres of perfectly good wheat left this area for parts unknown.

Five From Memphis Plan to Attend State Home Ec Rally in San Antonio

The State Home Economics rally is to be held in San Antonio from April 30 to May 3.

Four girls will go from Memphis to represent the department. One contestant from the first, second, and third year classes, the club president, Audie Ruth Wilson, and the home economics teacher, Miss Rachel Deahl, will attend.

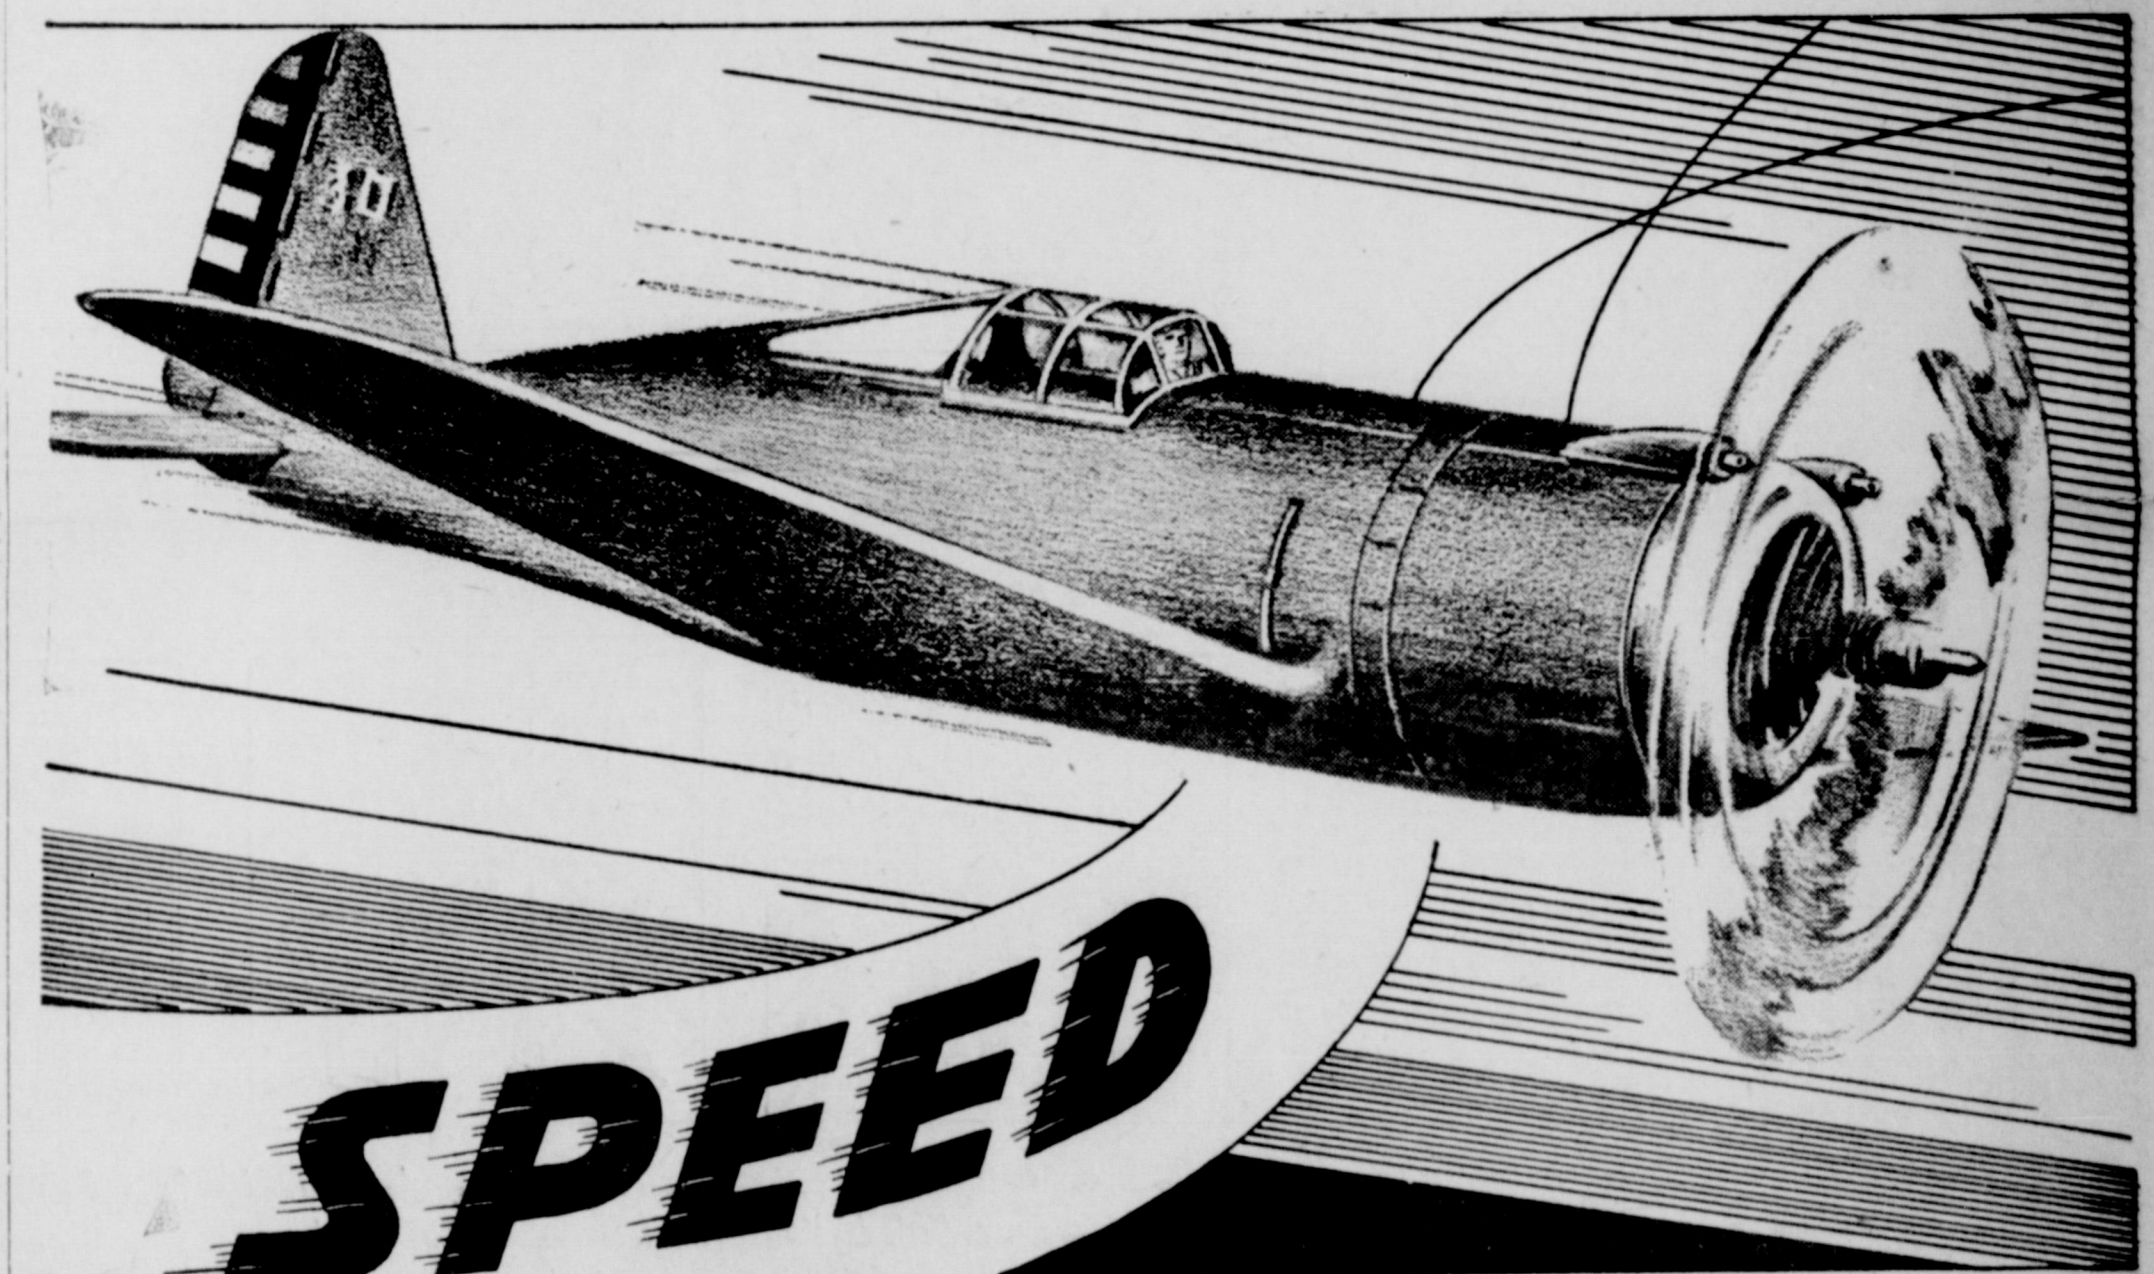

The first-year dresses have already been completed and judged. These were cotton school dresses. Hazel Ayers won first place.

The second year class is working on all-occasion dresses. The girls are doing some nice work on these, it was explained.

The third-year class is making special occasion dresses. These girls are farther advanced and are sewing on more complicated materials. These dresses are to be completed by April 12, when they will be judged.

The state rally also has an entry for scrapbooks. Mary Sue Huckabay is chairman of this committee, which has been working on a scrapbook for the department. Some artistic work is being done on this book. It contains write-ups of different social events, club meetings, newspaper clippings, and other items concerning the home economics department. The district meeting of the home economics department is to be held at Hedley April 12. All club members are expected to attend the all-day session.

James S. Hoffman Dies at Cleburne

James Shepler Hoffman, 72, brother of A. C. Hoffman of Memphis, died in a Cleburne hospital Wednesday of last week. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon, and burial was in the Cleburne cemetery.

Mr. Hoffman, former mayor of Cleburne, was born near Alvarado. He had served as deputy sheriff, district clerk, deputy tax assessor, city auditor, and mayor while living in Cleburne, and had also been in business there.

Survivors include three sons, one daughter, two brothers, and one sister.

A. C. Hoffman was unable to attend the funeral services, although his daughter, Miss Ruby Hoffman, was in Cleburne last week-end for the services.

New Water Well To Be Near City

Plans are being made by the Community Public Service Company to dig a shallow well on the Cicero Milam place about one mile west of Memphis, Roy R. Fultz, manager said this week.

The well will be used in supplementing the supply from the regular wells during the dry season this summer, he pointed out.

Tests have been made, and indications are good that the well will be a productive one, the manager said. It is possible that a second well may be dug if the first is successful.

A pump will be installed, and a line run to the well, Mr. Fultz explained.

TUNE IN ON YOURSELF:

- And learn whether people listen to, or laugh at, you.
- As static disturbances also originate in human vacuums.
- Now and then to re-value successes and failures.
- As "fadings" may be your mental fluctuations.
- With an introspective broadcast of helpful criticism.
- And locate your selling frequency for new ideas.

lected in advance, making the local merchants believe she was a local girl. She returned the money and got out of town hurriedly. The local chamber of commerce has been trying to protect the merchants of Memphis against this gyp advertising, and agrees to furnish song books FREE to any community in need of them. It has reached the point where it looks like local people would quit falling for these gyp schemes, and communities would quit being a party to them. The employees of The Democrat take it time about having flu, strep throat, wrecks, etc. First, Tom Wood, foreman, laid out a week with the flu; then Lester Campbell, news editor, was out a week with about the same kind of trouble. He was followed by Hiram Wood, D. O. student in school and spare time in the mechanical department, who was out several days last week on account of cold. Just when it looked like it would be on the job again, D. W. May, advertising manager, took strep throat which almost downed him, but he kept on working under difficulties. The last one to get almost down was Curtis Harrell, printer, who with some other youths took a spill on the highway east of town Monday night as they returned from Shamrock. One-half day was all he took out, but he has been sore and sluggish since. In spite of all the outs, The Democrat has been published as usual and the office has remained open for business every day. George M. Thompson has donated $5.00 to the Fairview water works fund. The caretaker announces that he has turned the water on so the people may give the plants on their lots in the cemetery proper attention. Last year at the Shamrock 17th of Ireland celebration, dozens of bands marched in the parade, including the Memphis Band, which made a rather ragged appearance due to old uniforms. Besides that the band had no insignia or banner to show where it came from. Following that celebration a banner was bought and last fall new and flashy uniforms were bought. Last Monday, practically all the bands of the year before and a number of others were again in
