NEW OIL that gives car engines GOOD OLD OIL-PLATING

far Outlasts 5 other big brands in Desert War of Endurance

Oil-Plated engine proves good for more than Double the Mileage averaged by rivals in Daring Death-Test... Certified

Plenty of good old pre-streamline cars with OIL-PLATED engines still pass your house quietly... pass newer cars on the road... pass oil-inspection many a time without needing a quart. That's because inner engine parts have been kept OIL-PLATED by the strong magnet-like action that won't let OIL-PLATING quickly drain down. Even through the nights, OIL-PLATING stays up to its topmost point—on guard against wear in advance! Yet this famous OIL-PLATING—based on the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent—is merely one factor in today's great success of the new of Nature's life-givers lost in modern food processing. Similarly, the latest oil refining methods destroy some of Nature's life-givers. But today full life is brought back—more than generously—by the two Conoco synthetics.

One of these will make Conoco Nth motor oil keep your engine OIL-PLATED. The other will check the effect of foul leftovers caused by every engine's normal firing. This commonest of all oil troubles is now checked—inhibited—by Thiakene inhibitor... Conoco Patent 2,218,132. But why technicalities?—when you know the Certified Economy record of Conoco Nth in Death Valley. You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil, nor make your car try other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But knowing that one fill of Conoco Nth outlasted the other Death-Tested oils—by 74% all the way up to 161%—you can figure on a long time between quarts of Conoco Nth oil. Change today—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

—Lasted 5,683 miles longer than next-best oil tested in Death Valley

Conoco Nth oil invited itself straight up against 5 other representative oils in an all-out test to the death... unbiased... Certified. The graveyard was cruel Death Valley—so hot you can't sweat. 6 everyday coupes were used—all alike. Each got one 5-quart fill of some one competing oil—locked in by the Official Referee. Then under strictly equal conditions all cars sped without added oil, till engines cracked up.

The weakest oil gave up while Conoco Nth still had 8,268 miles to go... Certified. All 5 rivals together averaged 7,057 miles less than Conoco Nth oil... Certified.

Real difference—from a Real source

Two modern synthetics are in new Conoco Nth oil. Now think of modern vitamin synthetics, making up for some

IMPARTIAL

Latest available oil of each competing brand bought retail by Referee.

New stock coupes all alike: brakes alike; tuned alike; handled alike. Engines had been taken apart for crease—to assure same conditions for oils. Same route for all. One fill of per car. None added. Engines locked—under scrutiny—every mile.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

Fire Department Praised By Leader Of Training School

W. V. Coursey Makes Exam Grade of 100 Per Cent in College Station Course

The Memphis Fire Department was highly praised this week in a letter received from C. C. Hedges, acting director of the Firemen's Training School, held recently at College Station.

W. V. Coursey, secretary of the department, attended the school, and was given a grade of 100 per cent on the written examination given at the completion of one school, Mr. Hedges said. Mr. Coursey also had a perfect attendance record.

"I wish to congratulate your city on its progressive administration in realizing the importance of a trained and efficient fire department in protecting the lives and property of your citizens," Mr. Hedges said in his letter.

"Your city was ably represented, along with several hundred other firemen, and I am more than pleased with the way the men tackled the five days of really hard work. I am certain that your city and every other Texas city will benefit from the many ideas obtained during this school from association with other departments."

The school was held July 21-25 at College Station and was attended by 590 men representing 292 cities.

They Don't Stay Asleep at Cudd's

The men who work at the E. E. Cudd service station in Memphis may go to sleep occasionally, but Mr. Cudd has recently installed a new "awakening" system to insure the usual quick service to customers.

At each entrance to the driveway a rubber tube has been placed across the roadway. When a car passes over the tube, an air pressure results, which in turn causes an electrical contact which in turn causes a bell to ring—which in turn "wakes" up the station attendant.

Incidentally, the slogan on the Cudd service truck is "We may doze—but we never close."

Mrs. McCrory, 90 Years Old Friday, Can Recall War Between the States

There is one resident of Memphis who has lived through more than one period of war for the United States, and she will observe her 90th birthday anniversary Friday, August 8.

She is Mrs. Apollonia Delura McCrory, who was born in Chocktaw Co. Miss., as the daughter of Circuit Judge and Mrs. John Snow. Judge Snow was at that time a wealthy slave owner, although he suffered reverses during and following the War Between the States. Mrs. McCrory's mother, Martha Berryhill Snow, was a direct descendant of the Mississippi Creek tribe of Indians.

Mrs. McCrory is one of 14 children, all of them are dead except herself and a brother, I. N. Snow of Dallas.

Her more than forty years in Memphis has seen many changes. She has seen the city grow from a little village to its present size, and she rejoices in its progress.

Her age does not keep her at home, however. She walks several blocks every day, reads newspapers daily, and keeps herself well-informed on the news of the day. She is especially interested in the present war and its outcome, for she can clearly remember the War Between the States—the Yankees coming through the South, burning houses and destroying household goods and food.

She was married to Abram Palo McCrory on January 1, 1870, and they moved to Montague County in Texas in 1893. At that time, they lived on the main cattle trail to the old Red River Crossing, and were only two miles from Indian territory.

She saw great herds of long-horns being driven to northern markets and pastures. Cattle rustlers were present in that part of the country, and they often passed the house closely followed by the sheriff. If, however, the rustlers were able to reach and cross the river, they were safe. And, she says, everyone knew that the sheriff took care not to ride too fast.

While living there, Mr. and Mrs. McCrory helped to promote a 3-day picnic on Red River to raise money to build the first school and church house in the vicinity—and it was called McCrory Chapel.

In December, 1899, Mrs. McCrory moved to Memphis, and with the exception of a few years, she has lived here since that time.

She is the mother of seven children, two of whom died in infancy. The second daughter, Mrs. Maggie

MRS. A. D. MCCRORY

Neis of Hooker, died in 1939. Mr. McCrory died in 1901, and was buried at Memphis. Before his death, he operated a grocery store where the Masonic Hall now stands.

Other children are Mrs. J. E. Lovett of Westaco, Wyatt McCrory of Houston, Mrs. G. N. Scruggs of Wellington, and Mrs. Sidney Baker of Memphis.

GAS-LESS NIGHTS

THE OIL SHORTAGE in the East has at last come to a head, with Secretary Ickes calling upon station operators to close their places of business from 7 o'clock at night until 7 in the morning.

Surprisingly enough, the oil industry itself asked for the order, giving them an opportunity of avoiding a serious shortage in the future.

In Memphis, and possibly a lot of other similar cities in Texas, station operators would probably save money by closing at 7 at night. The business here at night is very slow and only a few stations are able to stay open later than 9 or 10 o'clock at night.

In larger cities, of course, the situation is somewhat different. Enough people do night driving and enough people stay up late to provide sufficient business for a number of stations.

Ickes, however, has stated that his authority will probably not reach far enough to prosecute those operators who do not comply with the request. The oil industry, of course, might refuse to sell the operators more products, thereby forcing them to close, but that is hardly likely.

It's likely, however, that the operators will comply with the call of Ickes. They are American citizens, just as you are, and will be willing to do their part in the emergency.

Whatever is the outcome, the rationing of supplies has started now in such a way that every day, ordinary citizens can feel its touch. It's not so bad to have trouble getting aluminum-ware and other similar products, but when one can't get gasoline for his car at all hours of the day—that's something.

POSSIBLE INVASION

WHEN THE WAR between Russia and Germany broke out, the British were highly elated over the possibility that the Nazis might delay their long-threatened invasion of the British Isles.

Now, however, the British are becoming invasion-minded again, for Hitler's troops are not doing as well as everyone had expected they would.

Naturally, any dictator such as Hitler cannot afford to fight a losing battle. If he rules with an iron hand, then he must keep the people satisfied. And no race will be satisfied with a losing battle.

Great Britain, then, even though that nation has had a much-needed breathing spell, is beginning to fear the invasion. If Hitler could invade England, chalk up a fast victory, and boast to his people about it, then he certainly could make them forget the poor showing against the Soviet States.

The British have, of course, been preparing for such a move on the part of Hitler ever since France went under, or perhaps even before that. Yet, such preparation takes time, and England still is not ready to the desired measure.

If Hitler ever expects to invade Great Britain, he probably realizes that it will have to be done before long, or his opportunity will be gone. He, too, has to prepare for such a move, but he has been preparing for the war for a long time already.

We in the United States can do little either in predicting the future or aiding the British. About the only thing we can do is help the British both by sending them materials and by sharing their worries.

WRITE THAT LETTER!

THAT SPECIAL SESSION of the Texas Legislature is needed to save you tax money.

The new governor, Coke Stevenson, will take office right away, and he will not call the extra session unless he believes that an emergency exists.

That is where you taxpayers come in—make the new governor realize that an emergency does exist. If you don't think it does, wait until your taxes are increased.

In other words, write the governor today, and ask that he call a special session.

Press Paragraphs

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

XIT Reunion

Ed Bishop in the Dalhart Texan: With all due respect to the fine publicity cooperation of the Amarillo and Fort Worth papers, we must admit that the weekly and small dailies serving the different communities in the Panhandle actually get the crowds. Ninety per cent of our visitors to the XIT come from within a radius of 150 miles of Dalhart and practically all of them read their home town papers. Not all of them read the big city dailies.

Tall Story

The Wheeler Times: The Times has long sought an opportunity to get a good one on Zeb Baird, jovial farmer living east of town, and here it is:
 The story comes direct from a man whose truth and veracity has never been questioned. He says a little freak hailstorm occurred at the Baird place and immediate vicinity a week Friday. Baird operating a tractor, and some hoe hands got caught out—with nothing to do but take it. Baird jumped up on his drowned-out machine and the others huddled down while the icy pellets fell for only a few minutes. After it was over Baird said: "Boys, that was cold, I'm about to freeze." Upon close examination, he found his pockets full of hailstones, collected there in his position on the tractor. At least that's the story told The Times.

Public Opinion

The Claude News: Public opinion is an opinion which the public doesn't know it has until it reads about it in the morning newspaper editorial.

Snakes

The Stephenville Empire-Tribune: Some people are more or less familiar with snakes eggs and others are not. At any rate, Pink Mefford, who, with his brother, Oscar, own a farm three miles northeast of Stephenville, on the Smith Spring road, brought 44 eggs he said were from a copperhead snake to the Empire-Tribune Saturday.

They tell me," Mefford related, "that a snake will lay a bunch of eggs one spring, cover them over with dirt, and nature will hatch them out the following spring."

Please Return

"Snooter Knows" in the Stanton Reporter: This week we are called upon to help out a friend and I don't know of a better place to help remove his suffering than to devote the tail-end of this column. . . My friend is shedding crocodile tears over the loss of a stepladder from the rear of his store. . . This is not a paid advertisement. When I heard that trembling voice of Mr. Hall's pouring into my ears as he related the disappearance of his ladder, My sympathy got the better of me and I swore I'd do my best to help him find that d—m ladder.

15 Years Old

The Turkey Enterprise: The little Enterprise with this issue completes its 15th year of uninterrupted service to families of the Turkey trade territory. As newspapers go in the Panhandle of Texas, the Enterprise is one of the youngest. But, mind you, there have been many country weeklies started in the northwest Texas territory in the past 15 years. A great many of them have gone into the Great Beyond where all dead newspapers go. That the Enterprise still serves Turkey in spite of market crashes, droughts, depressions, dust storms, and so on, it is to be considered a tribute to Turkey and to its citizens in town and country. For a newspaper can be a living thing only when the people it serves want it to live and prosper.

(Note from Memphis Democrat—congratulations, Turkey Enterprise, on the anniversary of your 15th year there. Your editor and his staff deserve praise.)

former servants occupying mansions similar to what the rich man had on earth. In eager haste, he asked St. Peter to show him his new mansion. He just knew one had been fitted up for him especially. Pointing to the slum section St. Peter sighted the old boy to a tumbled-down shack with the shingles coming off and the paint peeling and pillows stuck in the windows. "what," said the fine-feathered fellow, "do you mean to tell me that I must live in that blamed thing!" St. Peter smiled. He just had to, it seemed. Then he said, "You see the homes in Heaven must be built from the materials you send up while you are yet on earth. That's all you sent."

Worth the Price

Roy Hahn in the Briscoe County News: There will be a red circle around your name label again this week if you need to pay up. Look right now, and come a-running. The offer will end July 31, and all who are in arrears will be discontinued. If this paper isn't worth paying for, then I am bow-legged like this (and I am not; I am knock-kneed like this) (.

... that's the kind of bargain Your Electric Servant brings YOU NOW under Business Operation

1. Twice the speed. Electric servants breeze through your housework in less than half the time it used to take—at about half the cost. Your bill maybe is about the same as it's always been, but you now get more and better service, plus better lighting, for about what you used to pay for lights alone.

2. Twice the labor saving. Ask the woman who owns a washing machine what electricity has done for her! At present-day low rates, you can afford to use most all the modern appliances. Today electric rates are only about half what they were 10 to 15 years ago. You get about two or three times as much for your money!

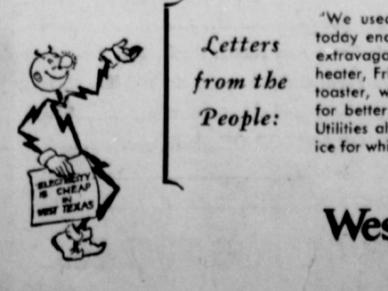

3. Twice the light. No blackouts here! Today you can get twice as much light as you used to, for the same money. Electricity today costs only about half as much. (Light bulbs are twice as efficient, so you get four times as much today for the same money.)

4. Twice the comfort. Constant research is developing new and cheaper ways of using electricity. Air conditioning this past summer reached more homes than ever before, bringing cool comfort at small cost. Other usages are being constantly improved at no extra cost to you!

Credit for the steadily improved service to you at steadily reduced rates is due the trained and experienced men and women of this organization. They have devoted many years to the bigly technical problems of electric generation and distribution... all without interruption and at low cost.

Letters from the People:

"We used to pay 15 cents a kilowatt-hour. The low rates today enable us to use our many appliances without being extravagant. Besides lights, we now have range, water heater, Frigidaire, sweeper, air conditioner, iron, percolator, toaster, waffle iron, radio, fans and heating pad—making for better and more economical living... The West Texas Utilities always renders courteous, prompt and efficient service for which we are grateful."

Hooser said, a series of meetings will be held throughout the district, and farmers will be allowed either to suggest changes or approve the plan. Farmers who are interested in the district will have full authority in determining the final outcome of the program, it was emphasized, and have been urged to aid in building a worthwhile conservancy program.

The soil conservation board, on which Ed Leary of Estelline and John Sharp of Turkey represent Hall County, has named the key men for this county—one in each precinct. Under these key men will be committees to aid in the district's program.

bond assumption law, leaving $13,542.12 for the county to pay.

Turkey precinct—interest and principal due each of the two years is $21,285; of this, the state's portion is $12,994.46, under the bond assumption law, leaving $8,290.54 for the county to pay.

This makes a total of $130,690 to be raised each of the two years in the county. The state, under the law, would pay $102,437.79, and the county only $28,252.21.

As the situation stands now, Hall Counties will have to pay for the roads—and, in addition, will have to pay taxes on the gasoline just as other state citizens will pay. The gasoline tax money will not be returned to the county—as would be the case if the bond assumption law were re-enacted—but will be spent on roads elsewhere, it was explained.
