Farmers of Panhandle Have Achieved
Good Results by Planting on Contour

Farmers of the Texas Panhandle are learning the value of doing things on the contour, Soil Conservation Service technicians report.
More and more during recent years farmers are planting their principal crops around the curve of the slope on the level instead of up and down the hills.
Conservation of soil and moisture by farming on the contour has brought such satisfactory results in increased crop yields that many Panhandle farmers now are using the same principle for other farming operations. They are building new fences and roads on the contour, and in many instances old fences and roads are being rearranged to follow the true level of the land.
Contour fences have many advantages. The Soil Conservation Service points out. Contour farming in a square-fenced field usually makes a number of short rows or point rows in the corners.
Farmers usually consider such rows a nuisance and in many instances are rebuilding fences to parallel the curvature of the contour.
One farmer, who had a permanent pasture adjoining a cultivated field, added the point rows to the pasture at the upper swing of the contour to the cultivated portion of the farm. In the end he had about the same acreage of pasture and cultivated land as before. He protected the point rows newly seeded to pasture grass by not moving the fence until the grass was firmly established.
When land next to a cultivated field has a soil that is rocky, thin, or unproductive, it should not be added to the cultivated portion of the field, the Service says.
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilliam and sons Edwin and Gordon visited with relatives in Dallas, Fort Worth and Cleburne the latter part of last week.

Work of Gathering
Funds For Marker
Only Half Finished

Fund Being Raised to Erect Monument at Grave of Col.
Goodnight; $1,000 Needed
Their work nearly half done, members of the Goodnight Memorial Fund committee are doubling their efforts toward a speedy realization of their $1,000 goal, S. S. Montgomery, member of the committee from Memphis, has announced.
The money is being raised to erect a monument at the grave of Col. Charles Goodnight, "Father of the Panhandle Cattle Business."
The Goodnight grave, in the little cemetery at Goodnight, has been unmarked since his death in 1929.
Members of the committee plan to erect a monument identical with that of Mrs. Mary Ann Goodnight, who is buried beside her husband. Then, a bronze plaque will be placed between the two graves and the burial plot will be inclosed with an iron fence.
Mr. Montgomery urges those who have contributions to make to the fund to send them soon either to himself or to Mrs. Harold D. Bugbee, Clarendon, treasurer of the fund.
"Contributions in any amount will be appreciated," he said. "The most popular amounts have been $1 and $2. As a matter of fact, the committee would be greatly pleased if the balance of the fund could be raised entirely by small donations, in order that more Panhandle people might feel they played a part in paying honor to this great Plainsman."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at the office at 617 Main Street, Memphis, Texas.

31 YEARS IS A MIGHTY LONG TIME

AS A RADIO announcer would say, "Folks, this is the fifty-second and last chapter of the present series of Volume Thirty-one of The Memphis Democrat.

In other words, next week The Democrat enters its thirty second year of publication, since this week it rounds out thirty-one years of service to this community . . . and that's a mighty long time.

So accurately has The Democrat recorded the interesting accounts of local happenings and other events having direct bearing upon the citizenship of this area that the paper has long since become recognized, within the newspaper fraternities of Texas, as one of the leading weeklies in the state.

Th Democrat files speak a loud boast of the fact that all its publishers have accomplished much in the way of improvements throughout both the county and the City of Memphis. Its editorials have carried much influence and resulted in vast development of the county proper, while its news columns have recorded the happenings of worthwhile events and promotional activities to the extent that a living and accurate history of the area is ready to be handed down through the ages to come.

Time marches on . . . but today The Democrat is still "The Voice of the Upper Red River Valley" and "Your Home Paper" tried and true. The Democrat's goal is everything that means for the betterment of the town and community it serves and with the continued good support of a splendid citizenship and progressive, advertising business firms that goal will be reached . . . as time marches on.

JUST TOO MANY ARMY PLANE CRASHES

THE DEMOCRAT can lay no claim to "knowing it all" about flying ships, either in the services of the Army and Navy or those privately owned, but it doesn't take a specialist in aeronautics to see that too many "accidental" military plane crashes are being recorded.

And this publication knows about as much about G-Man-ing as it does aeronautics but it does believe that something more than just routine "investigations" are in order. With practically the entire world at war it wouldn't be surprising to learn spies are at work over here, where "it can't happen."

DEMOCRAT WINS HIGH STATE HONORS

WHEN A Memphis firm or individual is signally honored by high accomplishments "Your Home Paper" points out the fact in big, bold type and is not sparing with the adjectives. It is the paper's duty to mark such history in the making, but it is a difficult subject to handle when the history-making has to do with this publication. The writer of this editorial would like to be just as fluent in "tooting-the-horn" for The Democrat, but modesty does not permit.

The Democrat drew a cash award, given by W. N. Beard, Southwest Magazine, at the 59th annual convention of great Texas Press Association in Port Arthur last week-end, for the second best set ads in the State of Texas. The Mission Times was the only paper ranked above The Democrat in the art of modernistic and attractively efficient advertising.

Such an honor speaks well for the advertising firms in Memphis . . . and of course those who handle the advertising as employees of The Democrat.

One "toot" louder might be registered by the reminder that last year this paper was distinguished as one of the three ranking newspapers in West Texas by the West Texas Press Association. However, winning honors is only an indirect result of efforts to give Memphis and Hall County a modern, progressive and better newspaper at all times.

oooOooo

The man who sits and thinks up such squibs as these would be a rather expensive employe under certain Wage-Hour Bills.

oooOooo

They are still drilling for oil in some parts of this country but so far about all that has come from the prospective wells is "banana oil."

oooOooo

It took a lot of "soft-soaping," according to legends from the pages of history, to influence railroad officials even back in the "good old days."

Burdick Believes Old Age Plan Would Not Raise Costs of Living

(Contributed by Memphis Townsend Club)

"Assuming that during the whole twelve months there would only be an increase in the business of 100 per cent during the year, there will be a business turnover of $16,000 while before it was $8,000. If the business should increase at the rate of 20 per cent per month, as the economists predict, the total business during the year would amount to over $37,000.

"Taking the increase to be only $8,000—and that must be admitted to be conservative—the storekeeper would have $3,200 profit, figuring a 20-per cent gross profit. Out of this profit the storekeeper would have to absorb the Townsend recovery tax on $16,000 gross business, or $320. The new business increase of $8,000 would bring a new income of $1,600 gross profit. Deducting the tax of $320 would leave a net balance of $1,280, which the storekeeper would receive during the year that he was not receiving before, and, at the same time, he did not increase the price of his merchandise.

"It should not take the wholesaler long to understand this principle of business—namely that increased business at a low price is better than small business at a high price. All principle of increased business would obtain and finally there would be no increase at all anywhere in the price of goods under the operation of the Townsend Recovery Plan.

"We have such examples all around us if we would stop and look. The case of gasoline is an example of the working of the transactions tax, which has girded this country with some of the best roads in the world, and employed millions, and at the same time the tax has not been felt, nor has the tax increased the price of gasoline from the starting point when no tax was levied. Besides building roads, this gasoline tax is gradually being transferred into the general fund to take care of all expenses of Government.

From 1919 to 1922 the tax on gasoline in the average in the United States, ranged from 0.49 of 1 cent per gallon to 0.38 cents per gallon, and during that period the price of gasoline to the consumers ranged in price from 23 cents per gallon to 32 cents per gallon.

"From 1922 to 1926, the tax rose from 0.38 cent to 2.41 cents per gallon and during the same period, the price to the consumer dropped—including the tax—from 28 cents per gallon to 24 cents. From 1926 to 1937, the tax on gasoline rose from 2.41 cents per gallon to 5.36 cents per gallon, and yet the price to the consumer dropped from 24 cents per gallon—tax included—to 18 cents per gallon.

"The income from gasoline tax in 1919 amounted to $1,000,000; in 1936, $900,000,000; in 1937 taxes to the extent of over $1,000,000,000 were taken from motorists to build roads, bridges, and pay general Government expenses, and still the price to the consumer was less than it was before there was any tax imposed.

"The answer to this remarkable record is that with the increase of business which the motor age ushered in, the price went down in accordance with the bulk of business transacted. The tax was not noticed and at the same time the country accomplished the wonders of the age in road and bridge building. It is plain that the volume of business and not the price income determines the net results of success.

"Just so with business in general. The transactions tax reduced at the bottom of the social structure, will give volume of business, and volume of business will control the price, and at the same time give employment to millions who find themselves out of work on a stagnated business system.

"If the President would listen to the Townsend Recovery program and recommend an appropriation of $1,600,000,000 to care for the first month's payments under the Townsend Recovery Plan, the further expenditure of public funds will be unnecessary, and the country will be saved $2,400,000,000 and the business of the country permanently restored.

"If it does pass without an appropriation, the business of the country will revive in a few months and, if it is his desire to improve conditions now, the first month's appropriation would immediately, and within 24 hours after the checks were received, revive every business in the United States. Stores would be busy distributing, plants would be busy manufacturing, transportation systems would be doing business instead of asking Congress to give them $300,000,000 to keep going; millions now out of employment would find employment the next day, and the whole business structure of the country would take on new life. This is not a dream, but a fact based upon a careful analysis of what is wrong, the logical and sane process of removing the cause of these wrongs."

Everyone interested in the enactment of this plan is invited to attend Club meeting Sunday afternoon, 2:30, at the City Hall.—Townsend Club No. 1.

Still Some Life Left

Paragraphs Culled from The Democrat's Exchanges

Toe All-fired Brash

The idea of putting up an electrically charged fence to keep hogs within bounds is quite efficient, and all that, but this department resents it. It is the nature of a hog, encountering a fence, to want to get on the other side of it. The thought of its being restrained by a jolt of electricity that dismays and bewilders it, seems to me to be out of keeping with the fitness of things. If the electric fences in the resettlement area cause the hogs to sulk and mope, and refuse to put on weight, it would serve somebody right. Civilization gets too all-fired brash, sometimes.—John Goud in Wichita Daily Times.

Fulfillment by Chemistry

It remained for Robert Jones, Dallas, an ardent admirer of President Roosevelt to actually make good his boast. He thought newspapers, many of them, were too critical of the New Deal policies. He announced that he would eat the first editorial in a Dallas newspaper that spoke kindly of the President. The Dallas Journal carried an editorial praising a proposal of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Jones took the editorial page to a chemist, had it converted into glucose and dextrin and baked into a cake. In the presence of a party of friends, including Lynn Landrum, author of the editorial, he ate the cake.—Tulia Herald.

In the Running

With fifteen in the race for the governor's office, the old Apostle has an idea of running. His platform would be: No income tax, no outgo tax, no sales tax, no tax on homes, no tax on payrolls, no tax on business, but a heluva tax on candidates. No other candidates have promised anything like this, folks. Vote for a man who stands for something. If I get enough radio messages, I shall be in the running. Pay no attention to the static of the other boys who are scared to death already.—Donley County Leader.

Ante Diluvium

Time was when the Panhandle suffered from too much water—not too little. Broad, sluggish streams meandered across these plains, depositing their loads of sediment brought down from the Rocky Mountains to provide fertility which present dwellers enjoy. The elevation was much less than now.

Strange, gigantic animals ate the abundant vegetation and crashed about with all the power of their mighty frames. That was more than a million years ago, as conceived by Prof. C. Stuart Johnston, head of the West Texas State College department of archaeology and anthropology.—Moore County News.

Game Conservation

Interest in game conservation is making rapid strides in this section. At least one herd of antelope has been started in Motley County as R. C. Echols obtained a pair of the rare game animals from a ranch in Hartley County. Arrangements have been made for the introduction of colonies of beaver on several of the ranches in this county. Many of the large ground tanks recently built are to be stocked with adapted fish.—Matador Tribune.

Canadian Americans

To us here in the United States it comes as somewhat of a surprise that we, too, have a minority problem not entirely unlike that of the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia. We have always regarded ourselves as one people solidly united, with common culture and a common purpose. Now, all at once, we find a minority which is not satisfied with United States rule, a group which regards itself as Canadian although American born, which finds its connection with the United States irksome and troublesome.

The group in question, we learn, occupies a five-mile area which juts like a slim finger into Canada in northwestern Maine. The farmers of the area are cut off from the rest of the United States by a deep forest, and, therefore, they market their products in the surrounding Canadian territory. They find the border and tariff regulations burdensome. They are Canadian in all respects except nationality. Citizens of the area recently petitioned Canada to annex the territory.—Falls City (Nebraska) Journal.

I know a fellow who considers himself the village wit . . . he's about half right.—Ralph Shuffler in Odessa News-Times.

The average man is familiar with the pictures of General Grant, but he didn't acquire that familiarity from seeing it on Uncle Sam's $10,000 bills.—The Sandhill Sage in Paducah Post.

Dallas negroes report that the high cost of dog tags is discouraging canine investment in the Deep Ellum district. It looks like another case of Government going to the dogs via taxation.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Really?

In furtherance of a psychology test, three school boys of La Grange, Ill., went without sleep for 72 hours. It was scientifically proved that during that time the lads became both tired and sleepy—if that information is worth passing along to an anxious world.—Quanan Tribune-Chief.

Horror a la Mode

Gas masks are chic. London society has taken them up, as the phrase goes, and everybody that really matters is attending gas-raid salons. The best-known leaders of the haut monde are holding small-soirées. Vials of liquid that smell like the real gas are passed around and delicately sniffed, masks are worn, and classes in raid-behavior—exclusive classes—are held. You can almost hear the screams of amusement clear over here.

In Prague there's a boom in the gas mask trade. There are 20 smart shops that sell nothing else. You can scarcely tell them from hat shops. Pretty girls do the selling and demonstrating. There are plenty of mirrors, so that you can see how funny you look in them.

What the world needs is more of this kind of thing. It would give the cause of peace an appreciable boost. The horrors of war can't be demonstrated in the flesh, but the horrors of tricking it out in fancy dress can.—Amarillo Globe.

Commissioners Court of Hall County met in regular session here Monday afternoon. Official reports were approved and other routine business was performed, before the court adjourned.

Baptists Attend Laymen's Meeting

Twelve men from the local church attended a District 10 Baptist laymen's meeting held Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Amarillo.

The meeting was opened at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with an outline of work given by H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo, district laymen's president. Rev. J. C. McKenzie, district missionary, brought a message on men's work.

A representative from each of the five associations in the district, the Panhandle, Palo Duro, North Fork, Canadian, and Trans-Canadian associations, discussed one phase of laymen's work. Judge S. W. Lowe of Clarendon represented the Panhandle Association, made up of Hall and Donley counties.

A period of fellowship was held before supper, which was served to some 200 or more visiting laymen in the church parlors.

The evening's program featured a talk on "Religion and Business and Business and Religion" by George J. Mason, state treasurer of the Baptists of Texas. The closing message was given by Rev. J. Howard Williams, pastor of the Amarillo First Church.

Altogether several hundred men were at the conference, it was reported. Those attending from here were: Rev. J. William Mason, Sam J. Hamilton, Leon Randolph, W. J. Rittenberry, Herbert Ornd, Lloyd Benton, Claude Stevens, W. C. Smith, Olmon Sweat, Olson Sweat, Leroy Robertson, and Rev. E. J. Evans.

Locals and Personals

Jane Hicks and Jean Denny went to Pampa Sunday to spend this week as the guests of Miss Florence Jackson. They will also visit with Dr. and Mrs. Hardy Hicks.

Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald left last Thursday for Idaho Springs, Colo., for an indefinite stay with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Stroehle.

Brother of Local Woman Is Claimed By Death Monday

Mrs. T. B. Rogers of this city received a message from Pasadena, Calif., Monday telling of the death of her brother, Reed Lyons, who died in a hospital there at 8:45 o'clock following a short illness.

Funeral services for Mr. Lyons were held Thursday morning at his home in Monrovia, followed with burial there.

Louis Should Hold Onto Championship If He Avoids Schmeling's Right Hand

BY IRVING DIX
MR. JOSEPH LOUIS BARROW, otherwise known as just plain Joe Louis, remembers a certain night in June, 1936, when dark-visaged Max Schmeling blasted a right hand against his chin so hard and so often that he drifted off into slumberland.

Today it's a different Joe Louis that will step into the ring with Schmeling for a return engagement, June 22 in Yankee Stadium. Not merely because he is the heavyweight champion, Joe is quick to remind, but because he is a much-improved fighter, and not the careless youth who didn't know how to cover up against a booming right cross.

So Louis mutters menacingly that this will be his turn—that this time he'll do the punching—and Schmeling will do the fold-up on the canvas.

The German ex-heavyweight king entertains conflicting ideas. In fact, everyone's ideas on this affair are conflicting. Sports writers, fist experts and John Q. Fan has been in a dither about the scrap ever since the first meeting came to a finish in the 12th round.

CAN Schmeling come back to be hailed as the first man ever to regain a lost heavyweight throne? Will his legs hold up underneath his 33 years? Does he still have the punch that spelled lights-out for Louis in 1936?

And in regard to Louis: Has Joe really learned how to cover up against a good right? Will the memory of the first knockout have a bad psychological effect on him? Is he the better boxer he claims he is?

Answering just a few of the many questions which rise out of the greatest ring natural since the Dempsey-Tunney "long-count" affair of 1927, isn't very easy.

Schmeling, to all appearances, hasn't suffered much from the ravages of time. In three warm-up bouts he scored technical knockouts over Harry Thomas, and Steve Dudas, and a clean knockout over Ben Foord. His punching in all three was just as heavy, his eye just as good. But he wasn't extended enough to see if the legs would hold up.

LOUIS, since he took the title from Jimmy Braddock, won a decision from Tommy Farr and kayoed Nathan Mann and Harry Thomas. His left is by far a deadlier weapon than it was in '36, and Jack Blackburn has taught him how to guard against a right cross.

It has been proven time and again that when Louis is hurt he's a very poor fighting man. His big objective will be to keep Schmeling's heavy rights away from his chin.

If he's successful in that the German won't have a chance. Because in the final analysis Louis is by far the better boxer, and if he in turn can get to the German with his own right, it'll be curtains for Herr Schmeling.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Children's Service last Sunday evening was indeed inspiring and splendidly accomplished. You will be glad to know Mr. E. V. Tanner will render a violin number for us next Sunday evening, "Sextette Lucia," by Donisetti. Thank you Mr. Tanner in advance for your help in the evening service.

More and more we regard it a source of pleasure and delight to work with our people in all departments of church activity. Special music next Sunday morning. Our "Pastors' Association" is enjoying some splendid meetings.

We shall look forward to our services next Sunday with special delight and anticipation. Strangers and friends are most cordially invited to worship with us.

E. C. Cargill, Pastor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday morning the pastor will bring a message on the subject, "The Signs of the Time and Christ's Second Coming." The scripture reference is Matt. 24: 3-42. We believe this is a worthwhile subject for us to be considering. We should like for you to read the scripture before coming to the service. We do not know when Christ is coming but we do know that he is and we are admonished to be ready. Special music will be a violin number, "Through the Leaves" by Schubert which will be played by Mr. Farmer of the CCC Camp.

The evening message will be on the subject, "Wedded Life Insurance." This is a continuation of the series of courtship and marriage and we hope that many will hear this third message.

Come to Sunday school, B. T. U. and the weekly prayer meeting. You are always welcome.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

We wish to extend an invitation to everyone to attend the revival now in progress at the Nazarene Church.

Census Shows 261 Persons in County Are Not Employed

Represents Not Quite 2 Per Cent Entire Population; 244 Are Doing Emergency Work

A final report on the unemployment census, which was taken throughout the Nation in November of last year, was issued for Texas this week.

It was shown in the report that only 261 able-bodied persons in Hall County between 15 and 75 years of age, inclusive, were totally unemployed and wanting work and that only 244 emergency workers were employed on WPA, NYA, or CCC projects. This made a total of 505 persons in the county available for private employment. Three hundred ninety-five were partly employed but desired more work.

Compared with the state as a whole, the county showed not quite 2 per cent of its 16,966 inhabitants totally unemployed, whereas almost 4 per cent of Texas' 5,825,715 population were entirely without work. Over 70 per cent of the total Texas population were either entirely unemployed or on emergency work projects, while in Hall County not quite 3 per cent was shown. Due to the fact that the 1930 population census is used, there is necessarily a slight inaccuracy in these figures.

More minutely itemized, the statistics are as follows: Of the 261 totally unemployed persons, 188 were male and 73 female, 249 whites and 12 negroes. There were 174 male emergency workers and 70 female, 236 whites and eight negroes. Thirty-nine women were partially employed and desired more work, whereas there were 356 men under this classification; 373 whites and 22 negroes were included in this group.

Mission Times Takes First; First State Contest Paper Has Entered Since 1928

The Memphis Democrat was awarded distinctive honors at the fifty-ninth annual convention of the Texas Press Association in Port Arthur, last week-end for outstanding typography in the advertising columns. The Mission Times was the only paper in the state of Texas with a higher ranking in the art of modernistic and attractively efficient composition of advertising, according to judges who conducted the contest.

Besides the honor connected with winning second place over all other weekly newspapers in the entire state of Texas, W. N. Beard, of Southwest Magazine in Fort Worth, who sponsored the event, presented the Memphis publication with a nice cash prize. J. Claude Wells, co-publisher, represented this newspaper at the convention. Herschel Montgomery is the other publisher of Hall County's largest newspaper.

The advertising was judged on originality of lay-out, general attractiveness, typography perfection and neatness of print, it was understood. The two employees of the publication, who are instrumental in planning and setting-up all Democrat advertising are Earnest E. Hayley, advertising manager, and Tom Wood, ad machine operator and floorman.

Local Men Attend Soil Conservation Field Day Monday

Hear Dr. H. H. Bennett, SCS Chief, Flay Soil Wastage at Farm Meeting Near Vernon

Several from Memphis, including J. T. Reese, superintendent, and a corps of technicians from the Soil Conservation Service here, Carroll Snyers, Riley W. Carlton, and Charles A. Williams, attended the Soil Conservation Field Day held Monday at Elliott, 10 miles northeast of Vernon.

An all-day program was arranged for the conservation meet, under the sponsorship of the Adams Creek Watershed Association, and was attended by thousands of farmers, business men, and soil conservation workers from over the Northwest Texas area.

The highlight of the day was the appearance that morning of Dr. H. H. Bennett of Washington, D. C., Chief of the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture. He spoke at length on soil conservation and the erosion problem now facing the country as a whole and this section in particular. Extracts from his talk are as follows:

"We in the United States have been more wasteful of our soil than any nation or race in the history of the world. . . More than half of the tillable land in the nation has been destroyed, nearly destroyed, or is beginning to be destroyed because of lack of a wide-spread coordinated soil and water erosion program.

"The United States started the Soil Conservation Service late, but fortunately, while there was still time to check the wastage and to restore fertility to depleted soil."

Talks by H. H. Nixon, president of the Adams Creek Watershed Association, Jack Shelton, vice director and State agent of the A. & M. College Extension Service, and other agricultural notables climaxed the day's program, which started with field tours over farms of the watershed and included an old-fashioned basket lunch at noon.

125 Tons Poison Grasshopper Mix Spread in County

Farmers Warned Not to Leave Poison Containers In Reach of Livestock

Over 125 tons, or approximately 250,000 pounds, of grasshopper poison has been distributed from the Memphis, Turkey, East and Lakeview stations and spread over Hall County farm land according to County Agent R. P. Pattillo.

This, he points out, indicates that the fight against the pest is progressing satisfactorily, that even a momentary respite in spreading the poison is undoing much good that has been accomplished.

With the cooperation of a farmer in the county, the grasshopper situation can be kept under control, he said, if a few fail to do their part and either prolong or kill the grasshopper.

He urges that each farmer chase all the poison ready-mixed, from the four plants. It costs for 25c per hundred lowest price possible can be sold or obtained.

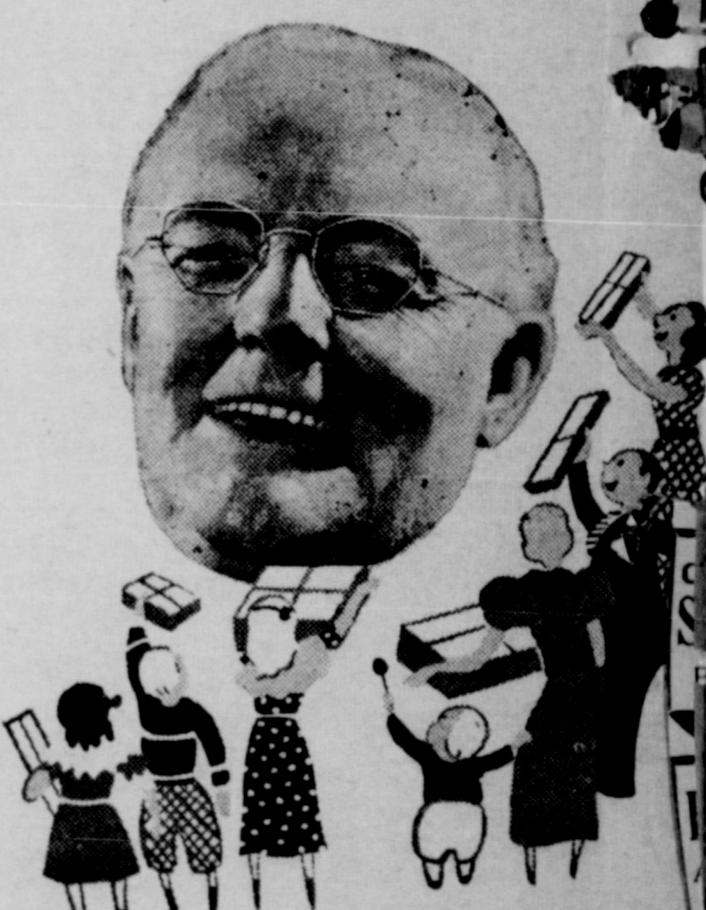

Some livestock in the county has been lost from having eaten hopper poison, it is said. Such losses can be attributed to carelessness, according to Pattillo, for if the spread as directed, the livestock can result in possible rain to the of the poison into the soil to kill livestock, it is said. Farmers should exercise extreme care in leaving poison containers where it is impossible to reach them, Mr. Pattillo stated.

Mrs. A. W. Howard and daughter, Gloria Virginia, visited Amarillo last week with her mother, Mrs. T. M. Rector, and Mrs. R. E. Storr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ann visited here Sunday. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thompson.
