500 YEARS OF SERVICE

CEW PEOPLE REALIZE how much work goes into the printing of a single issue of The Democrat, how much each person gets for only five cents per single issue, or about three cents for each issue if the newspaper is taken by the year.

Little do these people realize how much effort is expended in gathering just names alone. Last week's Democrat carried a total of 2,126 names, 1,836 of which were names of Hall County people, and 290 of which were of people who live out of the county. These figures are just names alone.

Last week's Democrat carried 92 news stories, 16 community correspondent columns, one local personal column, three home-written editorials and other editorial features, five church announcements, four birth announcements, school news, society news, and 85 personal mentions.

The Democrat of last week carried 662 column inches, or 1,324 square inches if you want it that way, of advertising matter - advertising special prices, suggestions, better merchandise—all of which benefits subscribers and purchasers of the paper.

To fill up the rest of the space in the paper, 918 more column inches, or 1,836 square inches of matter were needed. Of this, 137 column inches, or 274 square inches of pictorial matter was used; and news mat- up to fight in Finland. ter filled the remaining 781 column inches.

This news matter contained approximately 32,- 4. France is sending her men 900 words, enough to fill a good-sized book. worth at least $2.

In other words, the printed matter alone in a year's supply of Democrats would be worth between $60 and $20 and $2

All of these figures and statistics, which will be given in each issue of The Democrat hereafter, lead up to one thing—that the printing industry is a great institution.

Won't sell them any more goods.

10. There's a report Germany is sending munitions to Russia.

All this leads to the conclusion that what this war needs is a first-in a slimy mug, the bearded man institution.

Gutenberg tried, as many others have tried since sonably open place to fight it out. his time, to make the printing industry a paying industry. He used his crude invention to print the first important book ever printed, the famous Gutenberg Bible. Copies of this book are now almost priceless, Advice on Your Health the last one sold at auction bringing $106,000.

Out of this crude printing has grown one of the largest industries of the modern world. Little do people readize the great amount of printed matter turned out each year-it is all taken as a matter of course.

One of the largest branches of this printing industry is the newspaper, bringing latest developments in a fast moving world to almost every person old enough to read. And yet few seem to realize how much time, effort, and money is spent to bring them these developments.

The Democrat is one of thousands of these newspapers, striving to do its best to give service. The Enemies of Jesus

Text: Matthew 22:15-22, 34-40

TWO incidents in the life of Jesus showing how His ene-mies tried to trap Him are the basis of this lesson on good citizens and good neighbors.

These enemies who came to trap Him were probably strongly opposed to the Roman occupa-tion of their country. They showed no allegiance to Caesar, or if they did so it was merely an outward allegiance which they hated and renounced in their hearts. Yet they took this very matter of paying tribute to Caesar to embarrass Jesus and to arouse opposition to Him.

Their question was designed to get Him in trouble, whichever way He answered. If He said it was lawful to pay trib-ute to Caesar, the intensely Jewish patriots who were opposed to Rome would denounce and persecute Him. If, on the other hand, He said that it was not lawful to pay tribute to Caesar, they could make out a very good case to get Him in trouble with the Roman authorities. With amazing wisdom and penetration of what was in their minds, Jesus called for a coin. It bore upon it, of course, the image of Caesar, and the Pharisees could not but acknowledge this. "Then," said Jesus, "render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are

Make Sure Your Burial Protection Is Adequate!!

Why gamble with the uncertainty of death? In taking out a protective burial policy, make sure that it is adequate to care for your needs—make sure that when your death occurs that your family and your loved ones will be protected against financial strain and embarassment and that the difficult problem of funeral arrangements and funeral financing will not bother them.

The policy we offer is absolutely sound, and it gives you the protection that you want and need when death comes to your home. We will take full responsibility for the funeral, giving you a choice of casket in the price range of your policy, give services of a licensed embalmer and funeral director, which includes embalming, use of all church and grave equipment, and funeral coach or hearse service within 100 miles of Memphis. If you so desire, the face value of the policy may be applied on a more expensive funeral. And if the death of the insured occurs more, than 100 miles from Memphis will, at our option, pay the beneficiary the face value of the policy in CASH.

This is just the kind of a policy you have been looking for. One that guarantees you and your loved one absolute protection, backed by a quarter of a century of service to the community in which we operate. If you are already carrying life insurance or other types of monetary mortuary benefits, keep them intact as an estate for your family and let us shoulder the responsibility of your funeral. Call us today, Phone 222, and a representative will call on you at once and discuss your funeral protection needs. We are, as we have been for 25 years, ready and willing to give you the best service within our capabilities. Act Today, don't gamble on the uncertainty of the future!

Cow Gives Birth To Third Set Of Twin Calves

Giving birth to twin calves is no new thing to a cow owned by Bob Crabb, Hall County's oldest living cowboy.

For this cow has given birth to three sets of twins, the last set arriving February 6, and all three sets have been born in the past three years.

Mr. Crabb still has four of Both of the first two sets of twins were raised on one-half of the milk of the cow, and Mr. Crabb plans to raise the new set on the same amount. If the cow is fed properly, she will produce between five and six gallons of milk daily.

At any rate, the story of the three sets of twins has been to Robert "Believe It or Not" Ripley to determine whether he hs any records on any
