MEDITATIONS

By The Editor

Practically all our readers remember the humorous column conducted by Bob Grady while he served as inspector for the local woolen mill. Now comes another one of those guys who seems to have a knack for getting "cracks" on the paper. He is G. M. Corbett and relates to us the following on his arrival in a Western town:

"Visitor: 'What became of Joe Rodgers who came out here several years ago to grow up with the country?'"

"Native: 'Well, we planted him alright, Pardner, but I don't know whether he ever come up or not?'"

Rugged individualism is displayed by George Witters, 25, of Houston who declared boarding house life was getting him down, so he climbed a tree, built himself a cabin in the sky. Four dollars a week buys his food, a brick oven beneath his roost cooks it. The rest of his shippard wages goes into war bonds, which Witters plans to convert into a wonderful post war boat and be a fisherman in Alaska.

Then there is an account concerning "Gadget Replaces Gal at Ship Launchings" which goes as thus:

"Latest victim of the ravages of war is the vision of the lovely lady wielding a champagne bottle over the bow of a ship at launching. An ingenious New York ship-building company has replaced the whole procedure with 'Christine,' a mechanical arm. With no romance but much efficiency she bursts the bottle automatically—and saves a lot of time.

"Christine's" brain-fathers were awarded honorable mention by the WPB for their scientific achievement."

One nice thing about gas rationing is that you don't hear of motorists running out of gas on the highways like you used to.

A Chicago barber was gagged when his shop was robbed, says a news story headline. Well, no robber has time to stop and talk.

Here's one just brought to our attention:

A codfish lays a million eggs, While the helpful hen lays one, But the codfish does not cackle To inform you what she's done. And so we scorn the codfish, The helpful hen we prize,

Which indicates to thoughtful minds, It pays to advertise.

WORDS NOT FOUND IN OUR DICTIONARY

By R. ROY KEATON

Winter—A season of the year that gets so cold that even the wind is howling about it.

More Than Million Pounds 1943 Wool Clip Being Moved

The Eldorado Wool company is clearing its warehouses of all 1943 wools. Work of moving the wool has been in progress several days moving the approximate one and one-quarter million pounds of wool in storage here.

The shipments are being stored in transit with the Jim Lea Wool Warehouses at Ballinger, and at other points. It was stated here this week by J. E. Hill, manager of the Eldorado firm that shipments will probably be completed between May first and 5.

Emptying of the local storage houses will make room for storage of the 1944 clip of which shearing is now being carried on on a limited scale, however, principal shearers will probably be under way around the middle of May.

Most ranchman now shearing and interviewed are reporting a "fair" production in regard to quality and quantity.

Ranges, as well as most farm lands and crops in the county are said to be holding up well under the lack of moisture with high winds drying out and crusting the ground's surface.

Did You Say CARROTS?!

There should be no reason why carrots cannot be included in the menu for the school cafeteria next year, even if Victory Gardens fail to do their part, as 270 cans of them are now ready for use when school opens for the 1943-'44 term.

Some 400 pounds of carrots were received here Friday as a commodity issued by the State and members of the Parent-Teacher Association volunteered their services, together with their pressure cookers and sealers to can them. The ladies met in the home economics room Saturday morning and by 5:00 P. M. had filled 270 containers with the carrots which had been previously scraped and made ready for cutting by members of the homemaking department in their regular Friday classes.

Carrots are served approximately three times a week, both raw and cooked in the cafeteria according to Mrs. Betty Sproul, instructor of H. E., and are an important part of every child's diet. Other commodities possibly will be secured later and prepared for use, it is thought.

Those helping in the work included Mmes. S. D. Harper, Sproul, Gib Ballew, Arthur Mund, W. J. Humphrey, Kenneth Cheek, Reuben Dickens and Miss Virginia Ryan.

COTTON AND WOOL HAVE COMMON PROBLEMS

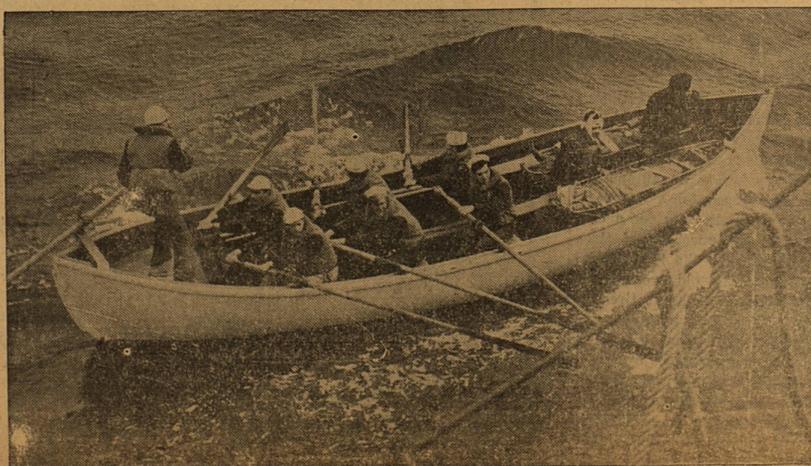

The cotton growers and the wool and mohair producers have much in common these days. There is a considerable stockpile of both wool and cotton, and synthetics are cutting sharply into the normal markets for all these other fibers.

In the case of cotton, there was a 9 percent decline in consumption during the first seven months of the current season over the same period a year ago. The cotton stockpile on March 1 was 13,870,116 bales, 6.7 per cent below the same time last year.

Wool consumption has led up, due to heavy military orders, but the foreign imports and the stockpile have increased considerably. It is now estimated that by the end of this year the wool stock-

Tire Inspection Certificates Are Not To Be Destroyed

Announcement of the discontinuance of periodic passenger car tire inspections after April 20 has caused some confusion among car owners, some of whom are destroying their tire inspection records in the belief that they will no longer be needed, it has been reported here. All automobile owners are urged to keep these records, which are to be required for the purchase of tires and in sales of new and used automobiles, it was pointed out by officials.

Under the new regulations, an applicant for tires must present his tire inspection record, as in the past. Tire inspection records, also will be necessary in sales of new or used cars. Persons selling a used car must turn in the old record in order to obtain a clearance statement from the OPA, which is necessary before an automobile may be registered for a license.

Before an application for a certificate for the purchase of tires can be completed, the tire inspector must see the old record in order to check it with the tires on the car. Thus the necessity for keeping tire inspection records is vital to every automobile owner.

So definite are requirements regarding tire inspection records that tires may not be shifted or exchanged between individual owner, and owners of more than one car must obtain permission from the local War Price and Rationing Board to shift tires between their automobiles.

Gardening for Victory

along the

Soon travelers will be seeing plots of beets, beans, tomatoes, corn and other needed vegetables "coming along" on both sides of our tracks.

For once again Santa Fe has made its right-of-way available to its employees for Victory Garden space.

This railroad is heart and soul behind America's Victory Garden project. Not only has land been made available, but we are offering $2000 in War Bonds to our best Victory Gardeners as an added incentive toward helping "Food Fight for Freedom."

Located as we are "Along the Route to Tokyo," Santa Fe people throughout our 13,148 miles of track can "feel" this war. They are working full hours to move along the never-ending loads of guns, tanks, men and munitions.

Perhaps that's another reason why they're not only working harder on their railroad jobs, but are pretty fine War Bond buyers and Victory Gardeners as well.

It's Santa Fe all the way for the U. S. A!

WOMAN'S CLUB MET WITH MRS. JACK WELCH TUESDAY

"The Intellect of Spanish America" was the subject for discussion when the Woman's Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Jack Welch as hostess and Mrs. D. C. Hill as leader.

A paper, "The Latin American Movement and its Leaders," by Mrs. Joe B. Edens was read by Mrs. W. N. Ramsay.

A committee consisting of Mrs. V. G. Tisdale, Luke Robinson and S. D. Harper was appointed to investigate the feasibility of a Red Cross Chapter for Eldorado.

A card was read from Mrs. Carl Colwick of Ozona, who is chairman of nutrition of 6th District, urging that the club stress Victory Gardens, food preservation and correct diet.

Mrs. DeLong will be host to the club May 9 in the home of Mrs. Claude Meador.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Malone Hill of Alpine, a guest; Mesdames D. C. Hill, Ernest C. Hill, S. D. Harper, W. N. Ramsay, V. G. Tisdale, Luke Robinson, W. T. Whitten and the hostess.

The idea that the fittest survive no doubt originated with a survivor.

Letter--

In the case of mohair, it is feared that sales from recent imports of Turkish mohair may depress our domestic prices which have been fairly stable, with no stockpile accumulating.

SYNTHETIC FIBRES PRESENT THREAT

Cotton, wool and mohair have felt the impact of the competition from the synthetics.

Cotton, for instance, has lost a portion of its normal market when the WPB ordered rayon to be used instead of cotton in certain tire cords. WPB maintained the rayon was more durable than cotton especially for truck tires. This conclusion was contested as not being supported by impartial tests, but WPB thought otherwise and are now using a great deal of rayon in tires.

Normally, tire cords comprise about 10 percent of our domestic market for cotton.

Another reason for reduced cotton textile production has been manpower shortages in the mills.

A WPB official recently expressed fear that cotton textile production may drop as much as 20 percent in 1944 for lack of adequate manpower. That, however, may be partially offset by a belated WMC order providing a minimum 48-hour work week in the cotton textile industry.

It is interesting and indeed alarming to note the rapid increase in production of synthetic fibers in this country.

While cotton still commands 80 percent of the nation's total fiber consumption, in 10 years this rate has dropped three per cent plus. Wool has held its own with 9.6 per cent of the total.

Yet, during that 10-year period, rayon alone has jumped upward from 6 per cent to 10.1 percent last year, the consumption of rayon now being greater than that of wool. In 1933, 217 million pounds of rayon were produced, compared with 656 million in 1943.

Last year synthetics spent over 60 million dollars in advertising and much more in research laboratories.

To meet this rising competition there is need for more research and promotion of the superior natural fibres of wool, mohair and cotton.
