Natural Gas In Eldorado Before Winter Comes

SECOND ACIDIZING INCREASES GAS IN PAGE 1st WILDCAT

Thursday evening, after the Page well had been opened following treatment the day before with 8000 gallons of acid a test showed a production of 140 to 200 barrels daily.

Two and one-half hours after the well began blowing, the spray of oily water had dropped to a point half way up the 84-foot steel derrick but held there for the next four hours and a half. The gas then was estimated at 8 to 12 million cubic feet but observers added that estimates might be only within several million cubic feet of the actual volume.

Running of the acid was begun at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and required about three hours. One hundred and fifty barrels of water was placed on top of the acid. Tightening of the connections was planned but this was prevented when the well within 30 minutes began building up pressure, causing ice to begin (See No. 4 Last Page)

EAGLES WIN FIRST CONFERENCE GAME AT SONORA SAT.

The Eldorado Eagles took the lead early in the game at Sonora Saturday when they beat the Sonora Broncs 25 to 6.

A mighty power attack scored the first touchdown in the first quarter. Coach Bynum's Eagles played straight football all the way through the game, using only four plays. Paul and Marshall Davis were Eldorado's aces. Spurgers and Logan played an important part in the game.

Sonora's Taylor quarterback, broke up many of Eldorado's passes and teamed with Francis Archer, left half, to do some excellent ball carrying. Defensively, Anderson, guard and Susen, center, were outstanding for Eldorado, while Rouché, tackle and Simmons, 125-pound Broncho center, were Sonora's defensive aces.

Car Turns Over When Bee Takes Attention

When a bee gets in your car it is wise to pay attention to the driving and let Mr. Bee bite.

This was proved Saturday evening when the car of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilson of San Angelo overturned 15 miles south of here on the Sonora road.

Mrs. Wilson received a cut arm and the car was damaged considerably.

As the car approached a corner Mrs. Wilson tried to avoid a bee in the car and lost control. The car turned over on the turn.

Mr. Wilson moved to San Angelo from the Rio Grande Valley. He is with a life insurance company.

P. T. A. Will Sponsor School Clinic Tues.

At the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association held in the school auditorium at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday, it was decided that the Association would sponsor a school health clinic to be held as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. Those appointed as the committee to make arrangements for the clinic were Mesdames Aubrey Baugh, Luke Thompson, and John Williams, and Supt. J. Carlton Smith. It is the desire of the Association that smallpox vaccination, diphtheria immunization, Schick test, and a general physical examination be included among the services which the clinic will render.

At the request of the President, Mrs. Robert Milligan, home room mothers were appointed for each of the grade school rooms. Mrs. Aubrey Baugh was selected chairman of all the home room mothers. Mrs. Baugh has had previous experience with the home room mother plan in San Antonio schools.

Mrs. Robert Milligan tendered her resignation as President of the Association because of conflicting duties elsewhere. Mrs. J. N. Davis was elected to succeed Mrs. Milligan.

The Association deeply regretted that Mrs. Clarence O. Finch, who was to have addressed the group, was unable to attend. About thirty-five mothers and teachers, and one father, were present—the largest attendance at the local Parent-Teacher Association for some time.

Supply Said to Be Sufficient For Much Larger Town

INVESTIGATE RATE

Survey to be Made Immediately of Prospective Users of Gas

At a mass meeting to be held at the county court house Monday night plans will be discussed whereby John M. Cooper and his associates will supply the City of Eldorado with natural gas, from their No. 1 Bert Page well 9 1-2 miles south east of Eldorado.

They propose to pipe the gas to town and to the property line of each residence and business house, making a flat rate to users said to be lower than rates now being charged in other towns and cities.

A committee from the Lions Club will make necessary investigations and help arrive at a rate to be agreed upon.

After the meeting Monday a survey will be made to determine how many users can be expected. You will be asked to sign a petition to indicate your willingness to use the gas if it is installed. This will in no way obligate anyone.

If you are interested, be at the court house Monday evening and we will listen to what Mr. Cooper proposes to do and what he wishes the citizens of Eldorado to do. Let's thrash this thing out and get gas for Eldorado before winter sets in.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

"Advertising might well be called the gasoline which runs the motor of business. At any rate, it is the great accelerating power which speeds up business activity.

"Critics of advertising—and there have been many of them during the past few years—grab at the millions of dollars spent by manufacturers and retailers in telling the public about their products and their services. Such criticism is absurd. If it were not for increased demand stimulated by advertising, goods could not be produced economically enough to be generally obtainable. Mass production would not be possible without mass selling, and mass selling can only be accomplished by advertising. Because of the economies of volume production, advertising has actually lowered the price of merchandise, rather than raised it.

"Another criticism of advertising has been that some of it is untruthful. But just as advertising speeds the good product to the heights, its accelerating effect hastens the death of the inferior product. Obviously, then, untruthful advertising defeats its own purpose and cannot thrive.

"Take any widely used product you will—automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators, toothpaste—and you will find an article which could not find its place in the American scene without the low prices made possible by mass production, which, as I have pointed out, has come as a response to the demand created by advertising. Because advertising has made us want the niceties of life and has educated us in how to secure them, the American people enjoy a standard of living undreamed of elsewhere on this earth."

"Why should not the emergency officers who were disabled in line of duty in the World War be given the same treatment as to retirement with pay that is accorded to officers of the regular army?" This is a question being asked by many persons who have noted the unjust discrimination.

Officers of the regular army were, in most instances, educated at government expense at West Point and graduated into permanent jobs at living wages in the army. When the World War occurred these officers did not have to abandon their life work, but instead, they received postgraduate training with increased rank and with no hazards greater than encountered by emergency officers. The regular had assurance before the war began that if disabled in line of duty he would be retired on a substance allowance.

The emergency officer, on the other hand, secured his education basic and professional, at his own expense. If he had any military training, as was the case with officers of the National Guard and Organized Reserves, this had been acquired at a sacrifice of his own time and money. When he entered the war he abandoned his business or employment on very short notice with full knowledge that if he got back alive and sound he still would have a struggle to rehabilitate himself because of the readjustments that would inevitably occur while he was away. Returning, at the close of the war, disabled, the task was made doubly hard.

Why should he not be given at least an even break with the regular and provisional officers of the army? Why should he be required to prove a "causative factor" for disability admittedly in line of duty?

STRIP THE POLITICIAN

Governor Hoffman, of New Jersey, points out that the nation's editors hold responsibilities fully as great as those in political office. He urges the press to fight the incompetent man in office and the bad or mistaken policies used.

The Governor's suggestion is sound. In short, it means stripping the politician of his demagoguery and presenting him to the public for what he is, a public parasite. Too often, however, the honeyed words of the Pied Piper lead the people on a false Valhalla. And the press finds itself at the short end in its battle to turn them back.

Numerous civic leaders have been supported by the press only to be defeated at the polls by the political plunderer whose machine is greased with illusory promises. The public learns too late that it has supported the wrong man.

The propagandists are at work. Slowly but surely they have started to grind out their publicity in the hope of influencing the United States to join with those foster-fathers of war, the league diplomats, in applying sanctions against Italy.

These masters of public relations would have us believe that the Ethiopian issue is a matter of concern to the entire world; that it is the duty of every nation to huzzard to the bellicose God of peace at Geneva and outlaw Rome as the aggressor.

Our psalm-singing writers and whining clergymen have already indicted Mussolini. From the pulpit and their typewriters they are attempting to influence us from the "moral side" of the question. But morals differ all over the world. What may be frowned upon in one country may be considered conventional in another. Morals, however, never had anything to do with international affairs. It is the dollar and prestige which moves nations to tears and tear bombs.

Stripped of all its propaganda the Ethiopian issue is nothing but a political struggle among the powers and one which has nothing to do with the United States.

We are all aware of the main arguments in the dispute. There are some who believe that Ethiopia is a backward state and ought to be civilized by what we loosely term a civilized country. There are others who maintain Haile Selassie ought to work out his country's salvation either by the slow process of evolution or the quicker method of importing and imposing on the natives a Western culture.

And finally there are those who are convinced that Ethiopia is but a political pawn to be shuffled around the map. This last group is perhaps the largest.

The welfare of Ethiopia is the last thought in the minds of this group. It is interested only insofar as the conquest of Ethiopia may affect its own fate.

The smaller nations naturally will rally their moral support—they have nothing else to offer—to Ethiopia because they feel that some day they, too, might be the victim of the big powers. Likewise the larger nations see in Mussolini's move a possible threat to themselves.

But it is no concern of ours if the petty states of Europe point their crooked little fingers of scorn at Mussolini; if Great Britain's trade route to the East is jeopardized; if France will aid Great Britain in protecting that trade route provided Great Britain will guarantee to protect France against a German invasion.

Not so long ago when Stimson was Secretary of State he attempted to interfere with Japan's invasion of Manchuria. Great Britain, forever watching her own interests, eased out of the situation. The other European countries, with the exception of the small, inconsequential but very noisy ones, did likewise. Uncle Sam, big-hearted bungler that he was found himself holding the bag.

And now our hypocritical European altruists are holding the bag and asking Uncle Sam to jump into it. If the war in Africa lasts long enough, no doubt he will. For somehow he never seems to learn his lesson.

It will be remembered that long before we entered the last war we were not neutral. Through the genius of British propagandists our hearts were already turned by atrocity tales, and other nightmares injected into press stories by British censors before they were cabled over here. We got a beautiful one-sided picture of how noble England and the Allies were and how diabolical were the Germans whose communications were cut and who could in no way counteract the false propaganda.

Stupidly believing this rot, as we did, we offered the allies every facility short of military or naval personnel. We sent them money, food and munitions. Later we carried out the seriocomic opera to its natural but tragic fulfillment by sending men, the traditional cannon fodder for statesmen. We received in turn shiploads of our dead and worthless I.O.U.'s from the thieves across the seas.

And these same nationals are urging us to join in sanctions against Italy. For what? To prevent a recurrence of 1914-18? To save those women and children who are butchered only in the cunning mind of the propagandist? To save a democracy which might mean British imperialism, Italian Fascism, Ethiopian slavery or just plain international hoodlumism?

If Italy needs more colonies to take care of her ever-increasing population, it is no concern of ours—provided she takes nothing from us. If Mussolini is willing to do or die in his African venture why should we meddle in his affairs.

If the savage Ethiopians are unable to save themselves against the power behind a modern civilization it is unfortunate for them. But as long as man exists the rule of the survival of the fittest will play an important role in his life.

Ethiopians use drums to arouse their warriors. If they want to make them fighting mad, why don't they try saxophones.

Stamp pads at The Success.

Apparently the only time the league of Nations can stop a war is when there isn't going to be one anyhow.

The President's proclamation covers Ethiopian ships of course, but we can still sail in the Swiss navy.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised. EDITOR RECALLS JUDGEMENT DAY

Apparently just to keep the record straight the editor of the Neshoba (Philadelphia, Miss.) "Democrat" has printed the following editorial entitled "The Editor", in his interesting columns:

Maybe you don't like this newspaper editor.

Maybe you don't like newspaper editors in general.

There may have been times when you got in high dudgeon and "stopped the paper."

But here are two or three facts that you may have overlooked.

Regardless of your likes or dislikes, whether you are long or short, fat or skinny, great or small, rich or poor, man, or woman, the editor of this newspaper, or some other, will have the last "say-so" as to you.

After you are dead and gone, this editor, or some other, will

Try CARDUI For Functional Monthly Pains

Women from the teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have recently taken Cardui during the change of life. I was very nervous, had head and back pains and was in a generally run-down condition. Cardui has helped me greatly."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

COULD NOT DO HER HOUSEWORK

WHEN everything you attempt is a burden—when you are nervous and irritable—at your wit's end—try this medicine. It may be just what you need for extra energy. Mrs. Charles L. Cadmus of Trenton, New Jersey, says, "After doing just a little work I had to lie down. My mother-in-law recommended the Vegetable Compound. I can see a wonderful change now."

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

write the closing paragraphs on your life.

Because from birth to death, the newspaper carries your life history, and particularly is that true of the country weekly, such as this.

It records the day and time when you arrive on this mortal ball.

It tells of your birthday parties, your school days.

It records your wedding and the birth of your children and your children's children.

It tells of your social and civic activities, of your business enterprises.

And on the day when you leave this vale of tears, it puts down the record in black and white.

Within the pages of this, or some other newspaper is wrapped your life history.

The newspaper simply records the events.

Maybe you don't like the "damn editor" as he is so sweetly called sometimes.

And maybe the "damn editor" doesn't like you. (Had you ever thought of that?)

But regardless of all that, the newspaper will have the last say-so and will put down your birth, your life and will write your obituary.

And after we are both gone, the old world won't stop in its tracks but will move along just as it has done for hundreds and hundreds of years.

INTER-COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING IN SONORA OCTOBER NINETEENTH

(Eldorado High School Paper) Notice has been received by the local Parent-Teacher Association from Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot, Secretary of the Sonora organization, that the Inter-County Council meeting is to be held in Sonora Saturday, October 19.

The Eldorado Association is requested by Mrs. Lightfoot to inform her regarding the number that will be present at the Inter-County Council meeting, together with an outline of program numbers to be rendered by the local P.T.A.

Diphtheria Likely At This Time of Year

(Eldorado High School Paper)

At this time of the year one of the most dreaded diseases of school children, diphtheria, is at its height. It costs very little to immunize children against this disease when we consider its possible dangers. The process is very simple and safe.

From the time toxoid was introduced until the present, diphtheria cases have greatly diminished and epidemics have been few. It is a known fact that the disease can be completely stamped out within a generation if immunization were compulsory.

Since the use of toxoid is not compulsory, epidemics of diphtheria are still possible; and since the season is favorable to the disease, we should protect our youth by fortifying them against this "choking monster" by giving them the serum before the disease starts.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP ORGANIZED

(Eldorado High School Paper)

On the twenty-fifth of September, Mrs. Broyles and Mrs. Johnson of San Angelo came out to organize a Girl Scout Troop in Eldorado. The Self Culture Club is sponsoring the move.

Girl Scouting is a worthy organization and it would be worth while for any girl between the ages of ten and eighteen to belong to this troop.

The girls were divided into troops with Mrs. Palmer West and Miss Herbert as Captains. Mrs. Connell and Aletha Faught are Lieutenants. As the troop enlarges, more lieutenants will be needed.

The two patrols are Venas and Tejas. The girls were permitted to select their names, colors, mottoes, flower, and each troop has a leader and a scribe.

Those girls belonging to the troops are Mary Heffley and Lois Carr; Patrol leaders, Betty Joe Whitten, and Venita Davis scribes, Enice Green, Joy Sample, Neva Joe Steward, Helen Thompson, Beula Williams, Hazel Ruth Rodgers, Mary Lou Brown, and Mary Hoover.

Those girls who are interested in scouting, we welcome you to come to the meetings and to join the troop.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS SERVE BREAKFAST

(Eldorado High School Paper)

The Home Economics class served its first breakfast Wednesday afternoon. The menu consisted of sliced oranges, cream of wheat with sugar and top milk, baked eggs, buttered oat and cocoa, all prepared in the foods laboratory by Home Economics girls. The breakfast was served in English style.

The fruit was prepared by Genevieve Ramsay and Erma Lee Bodine, the baked eggs by Thelia Luedecke and Ernestine Finnigan, the cereal by Jewel Butler and Maud Brown, toast by Minnie Belle Sheen and Clara Mae King, and the cocoa by Iva Dell Lewis and Elsie Mae Susen. The linen, silver, chinaware and glassware were laid by Mozelle Luedecke and Billie Roy Boswell. Hostess for the occasion was Charlene Mund, host, Billie Roy Boswell, children, Lois Parks and Wanda Nutt.

The table was attractively laid, having a cover and napkins of white and a centerpiece of red roses in a low green vase which lent color and an air of elegance and distinction to the occasion.

Everyone agreed that the meal was a triumph in food preparation and the manner in which it was served.

SOCK THE MOTORIST LATER TAXATION SCHEME

A million and a quarter Texas motorists will be penalized for the principal benefit of a relatively small group of bondholders if the proposed one cent per gallon increase in the state gasoline tax is approved by the legislature.

The present state gas tax is four cents per gallon, of which one cent goes to the common school fund and another cent to refund the outstanding bonds of the various counties spent on construction of state highways.

The new proposal, House Bill 89 by Alsop, would raise the state tax to five cents per gallon, using the additional cent to refund all outstanding county securities for lateral and secondary roads as well, and Schleicher has none.

"We do not think it right to redeem bonds, many of them heavily depreciated, for the profit of the bondholder and at the expense of the motoring public." A Dallas bond attorney is in Austin actively sponsoring the bill.

"We further believe," "that to tax provident counties, which have not had the benefit of large road programs, to pay off the bonds of counties which have voted large programs, is unsound and unfair."

Moreover a higher tax does not assure greater revenue. Oklahoma, suffered a 17 per cent decrease in revenue and a 12 per cent drop in auto registrations the year after its state gas tax was raised from four to five cents. The Oklahoma legislature reduced the tax to four cents the following year.

Mrs. Robert Hickey, Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

(The Success welcomes expressions of opinion on any subject from our readers. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and are not to be taken as expressing the sentiments or policy of this paper. All communications for this column must be signed by writer.)

THANKS TO OUR PRESIDENT

The American people should have thankful hearts to our great President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, for ordering an embargo against the shipment of war munition to foreign nations such as guns, ammunition, airplanes, airplane engineers and battle ships, any thing that would help carry on a war. Just stop to think if every ruler of every nation in the world would issue such orders, how quick the war between Italy and Ethiopia would stop if they couldn't get things to fight with. The war would soon be over. Don't you think that every American citizen should commend our President for the stand he has taken against war. So let the christian people of our nation pray to our Heavenly Father that our President may be lead by his divine spirit that he may do everything in his power to end war. No doubt our president has made some mistakes. There but one person that doesn't make mistakes and that is the fellow that never does anything. So let us as a Christian nation back our president in his stand against war. Some folks claim that he will bankrupt the Government. Who is the Government? It should be the people. So when we get the money of our nation in the hands of the people and out of the hands of the few we will see better times. He is the first President to my way of thinking that has done anything to help the poor man. So I am for him until they show me differently.

LOW HEAT BEST IN COOKING MEAT, SAYS AUTHORITY

"If you would have meat so tender that you can cut it with a fork, and juicy enough to satisfy the most exacting taste, be sure that the cooking temperature is low," is the advice of Inez S. Willson, home economist, "for there is no other one thing so important as temperature in meat cookery."

A low temperature is advised for all methods of cooking meat. Roasts, according to experiments, are best when cooked at an oven temperature of 300 to 350 degree F. for the entire period. This temperature is low enough to make a juicy, tender, evenly-done roast, and yet in the time necessary for cooking, it is sufficient to make the roast nicely browned without browning the drippings to excess. The length of cooking time, of course, depends on the temperature. At the low temperature advocated, it requires twenty-seven to thirty minutes per pound to cook a roast of beef to the well-done stage; twenty-two to thirty minutes per pound for a medium-done roast; and eighteen to twenty minutes per pound for cooking a rare roast. Pork and lamb each require a different length of time for roasting. For fresh pork thirty to forty minutes per pound are required while for cured pork twenty-five to thirty minutes per pound are sufficient. Lamb requires thirty to thirty-five minutes per pound.

Meat cooked by stewing or "boiling" is much better if cooked below the boiling point, at a simmering temperature. The term "boiling," is really a misnomer when associated with meat cookery. In many places where it was used previously, "cooking in water" is now being substituted.

Broiling has always been regarded as a quick method of cooking, but in the latest methods, the length of cooking time has been considerably lengthened, and the temperature lowered. As formerly, the oven for broiling is thoroughly preheated with the oven regulator turned to "high" but instead of placing the meat close to the flame or heating element, it is put in the oven so that there will be a distance of at least 3 inches from the heat. This lowers the actual temperature of cooking, so that by the time the top of the meat is nicely browned, it is half done, making only one turning necessary. In case it is impossible to place the meat far enough from the heat, then the temperature should be lowered proportionately to the distance. It takes from thirty to thirty-five minutes to broil a 2-inch thick steak.

Our Churches

N. P. WILKINSON

The following article is by Edgar L. Vincent of New York "Of winter morning when I shake the grate of my furnace, a shower of live coals come rattling down. When they came from the firepot they were bright and shining. Had I touched one of them, I would have dropped it more quickly than I took it in my hand and no one knows how long the scar would have lasted.

But then a strange thing happened. Light began to die out of the embers. They began to grow cold. A few moments longer and the glow was all gone. I might have handled the piece of coal then without any danger of being burned. And all that difference came from isolating that hot coal from others with which it had lain in the furnace. A moment ago bright, shining, hot coals. Now cold, dull embers.

Before now I have heard men say, "I have no use for the church. It means nothing to me. I am a Christian, but I can get along by myself. I need nothing the church has to give." And yet, if we look closely enough into the heart life of such a man, in far too many instances we shall find that they are not living the bright and shining life they might. Their service is a cold, half-hearted thing; and indeed if we watch long enough we shall learn that the service rendered has quite come to an end. The coal has lost its fervor. It no longer glows, it has no heat in it. As long as life touched life, while the earnest ardent church life was kept up there was evidence that God was using these dear but mistaken friends.

It takes more than one coal to make a very hot fire. Just as truly as the individual needs the church and the company and support of the Christians, just so surely does the church need the help and comfort of every true child of God. Cuddle up close then, to the church. This is the only way to keep warm or to keep life in the heart of others. Be not deceived. The isolated coal soon becomes the dead and cold ember."

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SPECIALS

Let us figure with you on that winter bill of groceries many items are still as cheap as they ever were. We are in better position to sell you cheaper than any one else in Eldorado, for our stock of groceries is larger than all other groceries combined. We are receiving thirty-five thousand pounds of sugar bought on the low market and we have many other items on the old market. Buy at the Self-Serve and save the difference.
