"A Weekly Publication Serving Schleicher County"

VOL. XXXVII

Eldorado, Schleicher County, Texas, Friday, June 11, 1937.

NO. 24

On The DIVIDE

GROWS HER ONIONS

Positive proof of the fact that Schleicher county will grow her onions was exhibited Saturday by Edd Hazelwood. Mr. Hazelwood brought a Bermuda onion to the Success office that measured 13 inches around its largest portion.

He says it was just an ordinary onion from his garden, and there's plenty more just as large where this one came from. These large onions were grown from sets which were put out early last spring.

A BUSY PEOPLE

The people of Schleicher county are faced with one of the most busy times in the county's history. With shearing in full swing, folks of this county have been busy for several weeks.

The devastating hail which visited the county last Sunday morning piled work on top of work for many of our people. Dozens of people saw a good crop, which was well started, wiped out in a few short minutes.

With grim determination, they begin plans for re-planting these crops. Naturally these folks are blue because prospects for an early crop and a bumper crop were destroyed. But they're not discouraged—they are planting again, taking this destruction as something that cannot be helped and hoping for a continued favorable weather and a late fall to insure a crop for 1937.

Such courage and determination is typical of these good people who inhabit Schleicher county.

AIR CONDITIONED

W. M. (Bill) Davis, erstwhile barber of Eldorado, came down to work Wednesday morning and found his barber shop had been completely "air conditioned."

The hard wind had blown his large plate glass window out, and he had plenty of air in the shop. He doesn't especially appreciate that type of air conditioning.

The hard wind is reported to have considerably damaged crops of the county which had not previously been damaged by the hail.

SEVERAL PEOPLE HAVE RENEWED SUBSCRIPTIONS

It is somewhat encouraging to us to have a number of people come into the office and pay up their subscriptions without any solicitation whatever. This has been our experience during the past few days, and we appreciate the promptness of those who take care of their subscriptions on or before their date of expiration.

Those who have subscribed recently are A. R. Parker of Santa Rita, New Mexico; P. F. Case of Evanston, Ill.; F. H. Ellington, G. W. Sofge, E. T. Davis and W. E. Hill.

EMPLOYED AT ANGELO

Miss Inez Bruton, now of San Angelo, and a former graduate of Eldorado High School, graduated with high honors from the San Angelo Business College on May 28th.

Miss Bruton is now employed as secretary in the office of Cannon & Cannon, petroleum geologists of San Angelo.

Eldorado Wool Co. Sells Over 274 Tons Of Salt During May

Schleicher County Ranchmen Buy Average Of Ten Tons Per Day

During the month of May, the Eldorado Wool Company established what transportation records disclose to be an all time record for Eldorado, and perhaps for other country points in West Texas on receipts and distribution of stock salt for a corresponding period. From May, 2nd to 30th, this firm received and sold to Schleicher County ranchmen 547,450 pounds or over 273 tons of salt. This represents approximately 10 tons per day for each business day during the month. Eleven cars of this salt was shipped into Eldorado by rail, the balance by truck.

According to advice from a representative of the chemical concern which produces bone oil, the Eldorado Wool Company is leading Texas in the retail distribution of that well known blow fly repellent which has been found by local ranchmen to be highly dependable and effective in keeping down screw worm cases in livestock. For the current shearing season, the local firm has sold approximately 300 gallons of that product in addition to the several other repellents carried in stock.

MISS DAVIS NOW EMPLOYED AS ASSISTANT TO COUNTY AGENT

Miss Marguerite Davis, formerly of Plainview, has accepted a position as assistant in the Schleicher County Agent's office, being sent here last week by College Station. Miss Davis was sent here because of her thorough knowledge of work embracing farming and ranching contracts.

She has had some three years of experience in this work, having worked in the Plainview and Amarillo offices. She stated that 1,565 contracts were handled through the Plainview office.

Her ability to handle these contracts takes quite a lot of office work off County Agent Godwin's hands, and will enable him to devote more of his time to field work.

COUNTY HIGHWAY TO GET RESURFACING OVER 5-MILE STRIP

Thomas and Ratliff, of Rogers, Texas, were low bidders for asphalt surfacing of 5.1 miles of highway in Schleicher county, with a bid of $9,697.

The strip is about half way between Christoval and Eldorado, and is a portion of Highway 30. This is a portion of the highway damaged by the flood waters of last September. It is likely that the contract will be let soon.

The highway commission announced low bidders on improvement projects in Texas costing $1,299,000 last Friday.

Mrs. Wiley Ratliff, Mrs. Ed Hill and daughter, Margaret, were in San Angelo Monday. Mrs. Ratliff and Mrs. Hill went as delegates from the Self Culture club to the Concho Federation held in the Cactus Hotel.

Schleicher Oil Test Spudded This Week

TEX-TOR NO. 1 JUDKINS & SPENCER LAUNCHED FOR 6,200-FOOT LIMIT

Tex-Tor Oil Corporation's No. 1 Judkins & Spencer, eastern Schleicher County deep test, spudded the first of the week, Tuesday was drilling at 120 feet, making an 18-inch hole. The projected 6,200 foot test is being drilled by the Bryson Oil & Gas Co. of San Angelo.

Before launching drilling on the new deep well Sunday, the drilling firm plugged Magnus Oil Co.'s No. 1 Judkins & Spencer three miles to the northwest. The No. 1 Magnus had drilled to 6,527 feet without reaching the Ordovician. The Tex-Tor test is scheduled to go to 6,200 feet unless oil or gas in commercial quantities is struck or water is encountered in the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician above 6,200 feet. Development of production of 150 barrels of oil daily from any horizon above the Ellenburger also will complete the contract.

The new Schleicher test is located in the center of the southwest quarter of section 33-A-A&B.

E. O. Nevills, whose home is in Abilene, has been elected to teach Vocational Agriculture, Mr. Nevills will begin his duties here on July 1.

Mr. Nevills is thoroughly familiar with this work, having taught in the Mertzon school, completing the year there after the resignation of Jesse Young. He is a graduate of A. & M. College.

City Council Makes Water People Offer On Water Plant

Another move toward a municipally owned water and sewer system for Eldorado was made last Monday night when members of the City Council voted to make the Interstate Public Service Co. an offer on the old plant.

The Council voted to give $20,000 for the old water plant with the view of rebuilding it into a modern water and sewer system should the deal be completed. Members of the council left the impression that Eldorado will build a new system out and out if a deal to buy the present system cannot be completed. They are awaiting a reply from owners of the present system before taking further action toward building a system.

Since citizens of Eldorado have voted over-whelmingly for a water and sewer system in all elections which have been held for this purpose, the City Council is assured of the fact that they want such a system. They have indicated that Eldorado will get this system, but they first want to know if it's possible to buy the present plant at a reasonable figure.

Deputy Collector Of Internal Revenue Here Last Monday

Mr. Hugh T. Marshall, deputy collector of internal revenue, second district of Texas, was in Eldorado last Monday assisting local employers who had not been making their tax payments on the Social Security Act.

Mr. Marshall stated that about 90 per cent of Eldorado's employers had not been making their monthly returns. Failure to do so was attributed to an insufficient knowledge of the Social Security Act.

A penalty was attached to all returns which were delinquent, and Mr. Marshall explained that all monthly returns should be made by the 20th of the following month or they become delinquent and are subject to a penalty.

Many Crops Of This County Are Totally Wiped Out By Devastating Hail Sunday

$10,000 To $15,000

Damage Is Reported

REYNOLDS, BAILEY RANCH AND KAFFIR COMMUNITIES ARE HIT BY STORM

Binging destruction to thousands of acres of young crops, a devastating hail struck portions of Schleicher county last Sunday morning, damaging this county at least from $10,000 to $15,000, it has been conservatively estimated. Covering the widest area of any storm of similar nature known in the history of this county, the storm beat down all crops in its path.

The Reynolds, Bailey Ranch and Kaffir communities bore the brunt of the storm. Some farmers in the edge of the storm area reported that some of their crops could be saved, while those hardest hit will have everything to plant over. Oats which were ready to harvest, feed crops which were well under way and cotton that was being chopped all were beaten into the ground by the large stones.

A few ranchmen lost some sheep and goats which were drowned, while the heavy hailstones killed chickens and poultry, stripped trees of their leaves and damaged small buildings. The hail covered the ground in some area to a depth of four inches, it was reported, and the rainfall varies from three to seven inches.

E. T. Davis, who is farming the Crooks place near Reynolds, lost a large portion of his crop and reported farmers hard hit in that community. Mr. Jones, who purchased the Bob Evans place and put most of it into cultivation, is reported to have lost about 1,000 acres of cotton. Others who have reported heavy losses from the hail are as follows:

DEATH IS PERMANENT

The destruction of the Hindenburg has once again brought before the eyes and minds of the world the terror of sudden, uncontrollable fire. Millions of persons, reading the news accounts and viewing the ghastly photographs of the doomed airship and its victims, have been gripped by a shudder of horror. Not so long ago the New London school disaster resulted in a similar mass reaction.

The unfortunate part of it all is that these lessons are so quickly forgotten, and that a large part of the public virtually refuses to adopt safety measures of long standing need, which would prevent thousands of individual tragedies whose cumulative total of death, injury and property damage is infinitely greater than that caused by the infrequent major disasters that are headlined in the newspapers of the world.

For example, six thousand persons in the United States—exclusive of the 1,500 who die annually in burning buildings—die yearly of burns and scalds, and practically every one of these deaths is preventable. Children are the principal sufferers, thanks to the carelessness or adults. Unprotected stoves and grates, hot water, steam, and matches are the principal objects which quickly become lethal weapons of death at the innocent exploring touch of a child's hand. Among adults the practice of starting fires with kerosene and gasoline is well in the fore as a producer of fatal burns, and as a destroyer of property.

Death by fire is just as painful and horrifying—whether it occurs in a home or in a spectacular disaster. Think of this before you throw kerosene on that balky fire. Remember, death is a permanent proposition, and no amount of money will bring back life to a charred body.

WHO LIKES HIS JOB?

Several instances have come to notice recently which seem to discredit the old theory that in order to be a success one should follow a congenial line of work.

It is said that the late Joseph Conrad, the most famous of recent authors of sea stories, hated the sea and detested writing.

O. O. McIntyre tells of a leading and successful New York theatrical producer who has a deep antipathy to actors and actresses and despises the theater, also of a man who has made a fortune as a florist, but who does not care for flowers and is nauseated by their perfume.

Now comes Irving S. Cobb, one of America's most famous writers and humorists, with the statement that he utterly dislikes writing, but keeps at it because he doesn't want to be a loafer, or words to that effect.

The average newspaper man will tell you that he loathes the eternal grind, but somehow you could not drive him out of it. Many musicians suffer mental torture when before an audience—and so it goes.

These may be exceptions to the rule, but the lesson to be drawn from the instances noted is that determination to do good work will develop ability and bring success, whether one likes his job or not.

A Brief Review Of Schleicher County And Resources Of County

Note: The following was prepared by the Texas Planning Board at Austin on what information on Schleicher County that was available.

Location

Schleicher County is located in southwest Texas on the Edwards Plateau, approximately 455 miles southwest of Fort Worth in Tarrant County, and 345 miles west of the capital city of Austin in Travis county.

Schleicher County may be reached by the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railroad which runs southward from San Angelo in Tom Green County to Sonora in Sutton County, which lies immediately to the south.

The county may also be reached by the U. S. Highway 277 also designated as State Highway 30, which extends from San Angelo to Del Rio on the Rio Grande. This highway is paved from San Angelo southward through Sonora to the south line of Sutton County. There is also an unimproved road extending east and west through Eldorado, the county seat of Schleicher county, from Fort McKavett and Menard in Menard county on the east to an intersection on the west with State Highway 163, a paved highway connecting Ozona and Barnhart.

This county lies almost wholly within the Colorado River Basin, being drained by the San Saba and South Concho Rivers. A small portion of the county lies in the Devils River Basin and is drained by the Devils River and one of its tributaries, known as Angela Draw.

History

Schleicher County was created in 1887 from Crockett County which originally belonged in the Bexar Land District. It was named after a distinguished Texan, Gustave Schleicher, who came to Texas in 1847 with thirty nine other German university students to engage in farming and stock raising along the most scientific lines in the Llano County area. However, this location was beyond the settled portion of the state, and Indian depredations and other causes soon rendered the enterprise impractical; and Schleicher and his associates moved to San Antonio in 1850.

Until 1901 the county was under the jurisdiction of Menard County. In this year Schleicher county was organized with its own county officials.

Topography

The topography of Schleicher County varies from level to rolling with a broken surface along the headwaters of the various streams, chief of which are the San Saba, South Concho, and Devils River. Altitude varies from 2,000 to 2,500 feet above sea level.

Climate

Schleicher County enjoys a mild year-round climate. The average annual temperature is approximately 65 degrees, with an average maximum temperature of 80 degrees and an average minimum temperature of 50 degrees. The average growing season is approximately 225 days, which permits the growth of vegetation over the greater part of the year. The average annual rainfall for the past 49 years at San Angelo is 21.92 inches. (San Angelo is the closest station to Schleicher county, with a long record.)

The rainfall, while not sufficient for general farming, does promote the growth of natural vegetation on pasture lands.

Soils

The soil of Schleicher county belongs to the Valera series. These types of soil are characterized by black or dark brown surface soils, which rest either on hard calcium carbonate of a caliche nature, chalky layer resting on limestone overlying limestone, or on limestone. The Valera soils are mostly shallow and calcareous. The principal type is stony clay.

Native Vegetation

The native vegetation of Schleicher county consists largely of short grasses, mesquite, buffalo and various bunch grasses. Many small trees, which as shin-oak, liveoak, wester red oak, as well as various shrubs, including cat-claw, late bush, agrito, and sumac, thrive on the stony clay soils.

Mineral Resources

In general the mineral resources of Schleicher county are unknown. However, a deposit of volcanic ash has been reported as being located approximately one-half mile south of Eldorado. Volcanic ash is used in the aggregate in making cement; however, no development has been reported of this deposit.

Petroleum and natural gas have been reported in the county the extent of which is unknown. At the present time interest in mineral resources is being manifested. With investigations by competent mineralogists, this county may prove to have valuable deposits.

Population

In 1930, Schleicher county had a total population of 3,166, of which 73.8 percent (2,337) were native white, 0.3 percent (9) were foreign born white, and 1.1 percent (36) were Negroes. The rates of growth from 1890 to 1900 and from 1900 to 1910 are almost identical. Over this twenty year period the population increased 1,121 percent. This rapid growth is doubtless due to the opening of new territory and the expansion of the livestock industry. Water and good pasturage were available. However, from 1910 to 1920 there was loss in population. Such a sudden reversal in the population growth cannot be accounted for, from the records available. In the decebbauk period 1920 to 1930 the population increased from 1,851 to 3,166, or 71 percent. This rate of growth is considerably above the normal rate of growth for the state and indicates the demand for land in this particular area.

Agriculture

Over 75 percent of the total land area in Schleicher county is classified as farm land. However, only a small portion of this farm land is in cultivation. In 1935, 16,879 acres were reported as crop land harvested, and an additional 16,000 acres were classified as land available for crops. The total land in farms increased from 741,997 acres in 1930 to 830,082 in 1935, or approximately 12 percent. On the 16,000 acres in cultivation cotton, grain, sorghums, oats, and forage crops are produced. An average of over 3,500 bales of cotton per year have been ginned since 1928.

Schleicher county is predominantly a livestock county, with the raising of sheep and lambs by far the most important type of farming. The number of sheep and lambs on farms has shown a material increase at every census reported from 1900 to 1935, inclusive, while the number of cattle, horses, and swine have shown a marked decrease over the same period.

Cattle and calves, 11,152 to 20,805; sheep and lambs, 57,250 to 263,149; goats and kids 1,244 to 29,830; horses and colts, 1,017 to 1,802; mules and colts, 8 to 293.

Livestock

Schleicher county is chiefly a livestock county, and livestock has been the chief economic resource of the county since its creation in 1887.

Cattle raising, at one time, was the most important type of farming. With the decline in value of cattle and the increasing value of sheep and goats and their important products, sheep and goat raising have become the most important types of farming. The total value of all livestock in Schleicher county in 1930 amounted to over $3,000,000 of which 53 percent was from sheep and lambs.

In the five-year period, 1930-1935, the production of wool has increased 34 percent, mohair 14 percent, and eggs 32 percent. From a study of the trend in livestock raising it seems logical to believe that livestock raising will continue in an upward trend.

Industries

Schleicher county is predominantly an agricultural county, and the entire population is classified as rural. Consequently, industrial activities are restricted to farming and livestock raising.

There were 38 retail stores in the county in 1935, the total net sales of which amounted to $472,000. This is approximately $145 per capita net retail sales, as compared to $215 per capita for the State as a whole. These 38 retail stores paid $28,000 in wages to 43 employees in the same year.

The total net sales of the five wholesale establishments in the county aggregated $542,000 in 1935, or an average of about $170 per capita. These five establishments paid nine employees $7,000 in the same year.

Educational Facilities

The 1935-36 scholastic enumeration shows 132 children in the common schools and 567 in the Eldorado schools. The per-capita allotment for this period of $17.50 for the 699 children amounted to $12,232.50. The total assessed valuation of the county for school purposes was $2,501.50. The rate was 70 cents for maintenance and 30 cents for bonds. The total tax collection in 1935 for the school district was $20,501.50 while the delinquent school taxes amounted to $15,850.78. The outstanding indebtedness amounted to $74,000 in bonds and the sinking fund contributed $777.86.

In the school year 1936-37 the total number of scholastics dropped to 656, but the per-capita allotment was increased by the State to $19.00; consequently, the county received $12,464 on this basis. The total assessed valuation increased to $2,180,000 with the tax rate remaining the same.

Vital Statistics

The geographic location of Schleicher county combined with the mild climate of the area is naturally conducive to good health. The high altitude precludes the menace of malaria.

During the five year period, 1931-35, inclusive, there were 281 births and 70 deaths reported, of 211 births in excess of the total deaths in the county. This natural increase in population is above average normal growth for the State.

Opportunities for Development

Barring the discovery of large pools of oil, the development of Schleicher county will doubtless be gradual and will be restricted to those developments that come from agriculture and the raising of livestock and those lines of endeavor that are complementary thereto.

Perhaps the biggest opportunity for development is in livestock, dairy and poultry farming. Progress has constantly been made in sheep and goat farming, as is shown by the increase of animals on farms at every census period. This progress will doubtless continue with further improvement to be derived from the breeding of better stock.

Sheep and goat ranching has become more and more profitable while profits from cattle ranching have apparently declined. This downward trend of cattle raising may be turned up by the feeding and fattening of livestock for slaughter.

Dairy and poultry farming have made rapid progress since 1910. With modern rapid farm-to-market transportation, this type of farming has a bright outlook for the future. San Angelo, about 40 miles north of Eldorado, may offer a ready market for much of the dairy and poultry products.

"QUALITY"

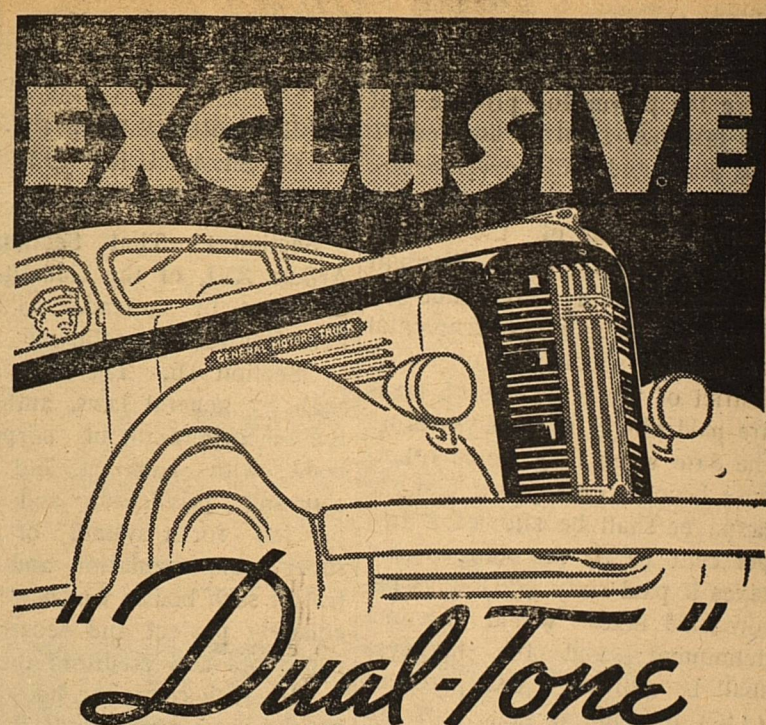

The Humble Company exerts every effort, strains every resource to furnish Texas motorists with "quality" motor fuels, motor oils, greases and special products. We are faced, however, with this problem: today's "quality" merchandise may be an inferior piece of goods in tomorrow's automobile. So, to assure the Texas motorist of continuing "quality" in Humble products, we have adopted a policy of continuous improvement—from day to day. This policy, our customers say, has been highly successful; they tell us, continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

A potential opportunity is the tourist trade. When the Big Bend area is made a National Park, thousands of tourists will visit there annually. An opportunity exists for Schleicher county citizens to have tourists pass through their county. A potential tourist trade also exists with development of a good highway to Del Rio, as a great many tourists to Mexico will doubtless take this route.

With the high altitude, rough topography, there exist opportunities for the development of summer camps such as are found elsewhere in this area.

HAS GOOD GARDENS

Miss Lottie Reynolds, the Pantry Demonstrator of the Adams Home Demonstration Club, says that it is entirely possible to have a garden in Schleicher county. To prove her point, Miss Reynolds talks about her dry land garden, which contains several varieties of snap green beans, English peas, black eyed peas and crowder peas. The beans and English peas are now ready for canning and Miss Reynolds says that she will have more than enough for her family of about eight people. In addition the garden contains cucumbers, musk melons, squash, pumpkins and water melons.

In a sub-irrigated garden, Miss Reynolds has planted potatoes, onions, tomatoes, carrots and peppers. The rain has helped these products very much. The potatoes are blooming now and it is hoped that the yield will be large. The roasting ears, planted in the field, are about ready for picking.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Austin.—The legislature this week moved into the second phase of its anti-gambling special session, and took up laws to prohibit dog race betting, and operation of bookmakers' shops, after taking in its stride its major task—that of outlawing parimutuel betting at Texas race tracks.

Race track betting, major objective of Gov. Allred, which was conceived in legislative iniquity and spawned in parliamentary sin, by means of a conference rider on a major appropriation bill, went out in a dramatic session of the Texas senate, which saw 16 stalwart anti-racing votes, marshaled in the senate by Sen. G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, hold consistently together and administer the severest drubbing of their careers to two senate parliamentary sharks, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, and Clint Small of Amarillo. They went down fighting like wildcats, each making bitter speeches attacking the governor—but helpless to block the repeal action, as it was blocked in the regular session.

Small Is Bitter

Repeal was accomplished neatly and with dispatch, when 16 senators, caucusing in Gov. Allred's air-conditioned office, agreed each to be in his seat, to remain there thruout the session and to follow the voting leadership of Nelson until the matter was finally disposed of. The repealist strong men were Aiken, Beck, Burns, Collie, Cotten, Davis, Head, Hill, Isbell, Lemens, Neal, Nelson, Newton, Oneal, Redditt and Woodruff. Westerfeld of Dallas voted with the repealists, but was unpledged while Small voted aye so he could move to reconsider. This he did, and the trick almost worked, but Westerfeld stood fast with the 10 and the effort failed.

Small, in a bitter speech, charged "those two political demagogues, Allred and Ferguson," with caring nothing about repeal,

It Helps In Emergencies!

When accident or unforeseen sickness strikes, there are two things to do. You must place confidence in your reliable physician—and you must see that his instructions are followed quickly, accurately and scientifically.

You can best do this by taking his prescription immediately to a druggist who specializes in prescriptions and medical supplies. Then you will be sure that you have done everything possible to restore health and insure comfort to any sufferer.

until the race track people ceased to hire the right lobbyists, which he called "stupid."

Bookies, Dogs Next

Gov. Allred promised to submit immediately a request for legislation to outlaw dog races and bookies, and "other forms of gambling." He has indicated no other important legislation will be sent up this session, which likely will drag out the full 30 days as legislators argue details of additional anti-gambling bills. The governor announced he will veto the appropriation for the racing commission, as a move to prevent fall race meetings before the repeal law takes effect about September 24.

U. S. Fund Fight Rages

Scene of the battle to earmark a third of President Roosevelt's relief billions for highways, rivers, and harbors and WPA projects already approved shifted to the senate in Washington this week, as Rep. Sam Rayburn, house majority leader, whipped the recalcitrant house into line, and killed off the ear-marking amendments there. Rayburn, in an embarrassing position as majority leader, while county judges of his own congressional district in North Texas were urging the ear-marking program, had no choice but to stand by the president. The earmarking would give Texas about $9,000,000 for federal-state road construction, nearly $40,000,000 for approved WPA projects, and more millions for lakes and ponds in the dustbowl. It would not only provide much useful work, but would assure construction projects that will be of permanent value, instead of "boon-doggling" jobs of temporary nature. Many influential Texas individuals and organizations were wiring Senators Connally and Sheppard this week to urge support for the ear-marking plan.

Tax Session In Fall

The state's general fund deficit dropped below the ten million dollar mark last weekend as State Treasurer Charley Lockhart paid off warrants issued in early January. This is the peak of tax-collection period, and the deficit shortly will begin to mount again. Great confusion exists in Austin as to future taxation aims. If Gov. Allred is appointed to the federal bench by that time, and Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul becomes governor, a revenue session is still probable, for with the loss of nearly $500,000 of revenue from racing, new constitutional amendments necessitating additional large expenditures, and the climbing deficit, some new revenue apparently is absolutely unavoidable. But Woodul is known to be extremely conservative on taxation matters, as compared to Allred, and if he is governor, recommendations for minimum new or increased taxes are expected by lobbyists here. If Allred remains governor, however, the oil, sulphur, gas and utility representatives are girding their loins to re-enact the battle that occurred in the regular session. They expect the house to vote large additional taxes upon them; they pin their hopes of escape to the senate, which during the regular session gave little evidence of sympathy with Allred's high tax program. The lobbyists are hopeful that bitterness engendered by the race-track fight will aid their cause, when the tax bills get to the senate, if Allred is still governor then.

Thompson To Europe

Apparently content that his campaign for governor in 1938 is in good shape, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson this week was en route to Europe where he will serve as one of 12 petroleum experts named by President Roosevelt to represent the U. S. at the World Petroleum congress, in Paris this month. Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. McCraw continued his full program of speaking engagements, while the first formal declaration came from Marvin P. McCoy, Houston lawyer and former house member, who said he would run for governor on a platform of more pensions and less taxes. Clarence Farmer, leader of the house liberalized pension bloc, likewise plans to seek the governor's chair on a "pensions for everybody" platform.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUL, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food. Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardul, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

$75,000 Jeweled Lock Will Free Pan American Exposition Gates On June 12

Dallas, Texas, June 2.—Twenty-one diamond studded keys, which fit a $75,000 jeweled lock to open the Pan American Exposition on June 12, are being sent as gifts to the presidents of the 21 republics of the Western Hemisphere.

The first of the keys was sent by armored truck to the airport bound for Washington Saturday night for presentation to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The key was to be received in Washington by Texas senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard, who will present it to the President.

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican Ambassador to the United States, in Dallas during the week-end, received the key for President Lázaro Cárdenas of Mexico from director-general Frank L. McNeny. Present at the ceremony in the director-general's office at the Exposition were Josephus Daniels, United States Ambassador to Mexico and Adolfo Domínguez, Mexican consul. By Tuesday Ambassador Najera will be in Mexico City, and will make the presentation of the invitational key to President Cárdenas.

The presidents of the two Americas have been invited to attend or send their personal representatives, and fit the original keys into the jeweled lock, which must be turned 21 times before it unfastens. Duplicates of the invitational keys will hang on strands of pearls from the lock at Pan America, to be used by especially appointed delegates if original keys are absent.

Severe Grasshopper Infestation Threatens

College Station—A grasshopper infestation equal to or worse than that of 1934 threatens a large portion of the State, according to R. R. Reppert, Extension Service entomologist. As the result of counts of eggs deposited last fall, Reppert forecast in April a severe grasshopper infestation, and reports from county agricultural agents indicate that the emergence of grasshoppers will be even more serious than anticipated.

Poison mash scattered around areas of concentrated egg deposits does much to control the insects before they do much damage, Reppert said. A state grasshopper control committee, with Reppert as state leader, has been set up to combat the infestation. 150 carloads of material from federal sources to use against the Texas grasshoppers. Congress recently appropriated a million dollars for this purpose.

A similar program in 1924 resulted in a saving of more than seven million dollars to Texas agriculture.

The federal material for the mash, which is composed of bran or mill run feed and sawdust, an arsenic compound, and water, would be delivered to centers of infestations and distributed under the supervision of county agricultural agents.

The threatened infestation apparently will center around northwest and central Texas, according to Reppert, who is making a tour of the State to get an accurate estimate of the situation.

Why I Want To See The Greater Texas And Pan American Exposition At Dallas

Editors Note: Following are two essays on the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition which were written by two Eldorado students, Edward Meador and Dorothy Jarrett, who placed third and fifth, respectively, in the essay contest for this district:

By Edward Meador

Many people will be heard to say in the near future that they do not care anything about visiting the Pan-American Exposition in Dallas this summer. They will say that they saw the Texas Centennial last summer, and that this affair will be much the same but there my friends, they are going to find themselves badly fooled.

The Texas Pan-American Exposition is being produced for the benefit of the people of the United States and Central and South America. It is being forwarded in the hope of bringing our neighbors closer to us in a more friendly manner, and in this way world peace will be promoted.

There will be many things to see at the Exposition in Dallas. From the plains and mountains of the West will come relics of the Indians and the lives that they lived; old pottery and weapons will be on display to show the people the part played in the history of our country by the red man; from the yucca covered deserts of Mexico will come the relics of wild life, and the strife between bird and beast; from Central America will come illustrated stories of their own strife for freedom and the desire of self-government; and then from the United States as a whole will come the wonders of modern science. There will be also, in the process of making, great airplanes and sleek, swift automobiles that skim along Texas highways in search of pleasure.

The agricultural world of the Americas will be demonstrated at the world's largest show-window by plants from all parts; native plants from Hawaii and the Philippines. Cotton plants of the different species of Texas will be demonstrated.

And then, the national shrines of the different countries will be shown to illustrate the heroes who so bravely gave their lives that their beloved countries might live and progress.

We, as Texans should be proud that such an exposition is to be held in our native state. We should be proud of the cities and institutions for learning that we have to show for the progress as a whole.

Then if it is education, fun, excitement, and full enjoyment you are looking for, visit the Pan-American Exposition at Dallas, Texas, during the summer of 1937.

By Dorothy Jarrett

I have always wanted to visit South America. The only opportunity that I may ever have in this line will be to visit the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition. The descriptions that I have read of the wonderful exhibits sound almost too good to be true. I cannot imagine anything more beautiful than the entire grounds that are being remodeled and landscaped along South American lines.

Last summer the silk flags under whose rule Texas has flourished were very beautiful, and this year there is to be a silken flag for every country represented at this exposition.

I am looking forward to seeing the beautiful Calvacade of Americas which will be the greatest night show of the exposition. The Calvacade of Texas was very interesting and beautiful last summer but this year it is to be even more wonderful. Hundreds of people will act in this spectacle, and it will be very grand to visit.

Another thing in which I am very interested is the beautiful sights that are seen at night. Do you not know that the lake will be very beautiful with its illuminated fountains and the reflection of its lovely flags in its crystal waters.

Other things that sound good to me are the restaurants, cafes, and cabarets that are being constructed according to Pan American theme. They will no doubt be very interesting with their South American bills of fare and their cooling drinks of the tropics.

Dallas is wonderfully located for just such an exhibition as this. It is very convenient for everyone, since it is centrally located. It can do much toward creating the "Good Neighbor Policy" of President Roosevelt as expressed at the Inter-American Peace Conference. The Exposition will bring all of us closer together and we will all be "good neighbors." The very fine exhibit that is being planned by the United States government will be worth the trip itself. This Exposition will be very educational to the school students as well as to the adults. I have read that it will be the greatest display of modern science, industry, and culture that has ever been brought together.

This exposition is a rare opportunity for all of us in the southwest. By visiting the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition at Dallas, it will be like making a trip from Texas to all of the leading points of South America.

Another point of great interest to me will be the beautiful State of Texas building. Texas stone went into the making of this wonderful structure. Within we shall see the grandeur and romance of our state in the nucleus and statues of famous artists. There are so many beautiful and interesting things to be seen that I don't see how I can possibly afford to miss it. I am off for the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition sometime between June 12 and October 31—the sooner the better!

county, in an effort to bring about better public understanding of the provisions of the Social Security law.

In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, the Social Security Board official said one of the purposes of his visit here would be to enlist the support of local officials and civic groups in a campaign to assign social security account numbers to every worker covered by the old-age benefits section of the law. Although the majority of workers in covered employments now have their cards, it is believed that there are yet many eligible employees who have not applied for numbers.

Since applications for account numbers may be filed through the local post office until June 30, it is pointed out that employees who have not yet applied should do so now. After June 30, it will be necessary to communicate with the Austin field office in order to establish a social security account.

Plans are being considered for a public meeting at which Clark will explain the entire social program.

Miss Patsy Ballew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ballew left Thursday for a visit in Hutto with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tinning, Jr.

Astounding is the comparison between the huge 42-inch wheel of the famous 1910 Oldsmobile Limited and the much smaller 16-inch wheel of the 1937 Oldsmobile Six. This pretty miss made the comparison when new models were recently displayed alongside the well-known Limited, relic of an earlier period in automotive transportation. While wheel sizes were decreasing through the years, tire sections were increasing from 4 1-2 to 6 1-2 inches on the Oldsmobile Six and 7 inches on the Eight. Meanwhile tire pressures were dropping from 75 pounds to 28 pounds.

cial service will be held for young people of the community. Rev. Leggitt will preach on "The Covered Wagon."

At ten o'clock Saturday morning, there will be a special service for the children. This will be an object lesson sermon.

Rains over the week-end hindered services to a great extent, but it is hoped that pretty weather will continue through the remainder of this week and a splendid revival will come as a result of this evangelistic effort.

Rev. J. W. Leggitt of Miles, Texas, who is conducting the meeting, has proven himself to be a wonderful gospel preacher. He is bringing splendid messages at the services, giving a clear-cut conception of Bible truths and showing an earnestness to do much good in the services.

Still larger crowds are expected during the remaining days of the revival, and the entire public is extended a cordial invitation to attend each and every service.
