"Prophecies Found in Pyramids Reach Down to Our Time", the title of an article recently appearing in the Dallas News by Robert Quillen, was submitted to this scribe this week. The article is reproduced this week in this column due to its extreme interest.

The article follows:
A man named Copernicus, who lived in the Sixteenth Century, is usually given credit for the discovery that our world is a sphere revolving around the sun. But he said quite plainly that he was only reviving the teachings of Pythagoras, who lived 2,000 years before him.

Pythagoras, the Greek, got his knowledge by years of study in the temples of Egypt—temples which were universities, where priests spent their lives in search of truth.

The ancient Egyptians had much of our modern knowledge, and proof of their learning has been found in the greatest of the Pyramids.

Secrets Revealed

To most of us the Great Pyramid is only a great pile of granite blocks, 150 feet higher than St. Paul's Cathedral and covering over thirteen acres, built to house a dead Pharaoh. But pyramidologists, serious men of science with highly trained minds, have spent many years studying the structure and found astonishing meaning in all of it.

The base measures 36,524 inches, and 365.24 days is the length of the solar year. Other measurements give the length of the sidereal year, the sun's mean distance from the earth, the earth's polar diameter, the exact value of pi, the time between equinoxes.

Inside the Pyramid, carved into the granite blocks, are passages and chambers, constructed with incredible exactitude. As these ascend and descend, widen and narrow, increase or decrease in height, they provide definite points from which to measure. And measuring from one to another, counting one year to the inch, gives the dates of great events in human history. The passage system is a "chronological time clock" for 6,000 years, beginning when the Pyramid was built.

Pyramid Prophecy.

It gives the date of the Exodus, the time of Christ's birth and the Crucifixion, the date of the first World War and its duration, and even the period of world-wide depression.

So say the pyramidologists. If such things interest you, and these few items whet your appetite, you can find numerous books on the subject in any large public library.

Fortunately, our times present an unusual opportunity to test the accuracy of the Pyramid prophecies.

The present period, which began in 1936, is a final testing of the nations. A great event, affecting all mankind, will occur in March, 1945, and another in February, 1946. Then in August, 1953, this period will end, and a wonderful new era of restoration will begin. We haven't long to wait. (Publishers Syndicate.)

Hitler and His (?) Generals

NEW YORK—It was 1940. The German armies were all-conquering, having overrun France and the low countries in short order. Britain was supposed to be at Germany's mercy and Russia was still palsy-walsy with Hitler and Der Fuehrer was proud of his generals. He made a bunch of them field marshals to show his pleasure. In the honored group above are (left to right) Von Richenau, Von Witzleben, Von Kluge (now Normandy commander), List, Von Leeb and Von Bock. Today, reports say, Hitler is purging generals right and left to prevent a military putsch from ousting him.

And Now — More Confidence!

Confident now of ultimate and decisive victory over those who have destroyed our national heritage and institutions, we should in this very hour begin work to create an equal confidence in our ability to build a better America in the years to come.

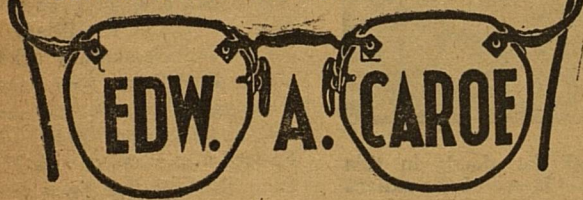

As a basis we have the certainty that every man and woman in America sees these as major objectives: (1) To win the war as quickly as complete victory can be achieved; (2) Productive jobs for all who want to work. (3) A postwar America in which freedom, opportunity, and a high standard of living can be obtained; (4) Rapid transition from wartime production to peacetime production with the least possible confusion and employment; (5) That the children of today, or their children will not have to fight the Third World War.

The better America which would in some measure reward the sacrifices of our gallant men in battle can and must be achieved and confidence is needed in our ability to achieve it. An America in which plentiful earnings will flow into productive enterprise in which industry can expand, in which jobs will be created and liberties can be preserved— an America in which free men can move forward in the proven way of its founders, the leaders of and the inspiration to a weary world.

21 Years In San Angelo

Where were you on the night of August 1, 1929?

Could you remember, if you were squirming on the witness stand? Probably not. Fifteen years is a long time.

Maybe, being August first, you were writing checks to pay the monthly bills. Do you remember how much you paid for electricity?

That's a tough one, too, isn't it? Actually, if yours is an average household, your electric bill may have been a little less then than it is now.

But today you're getting twice as much electricity for your money!

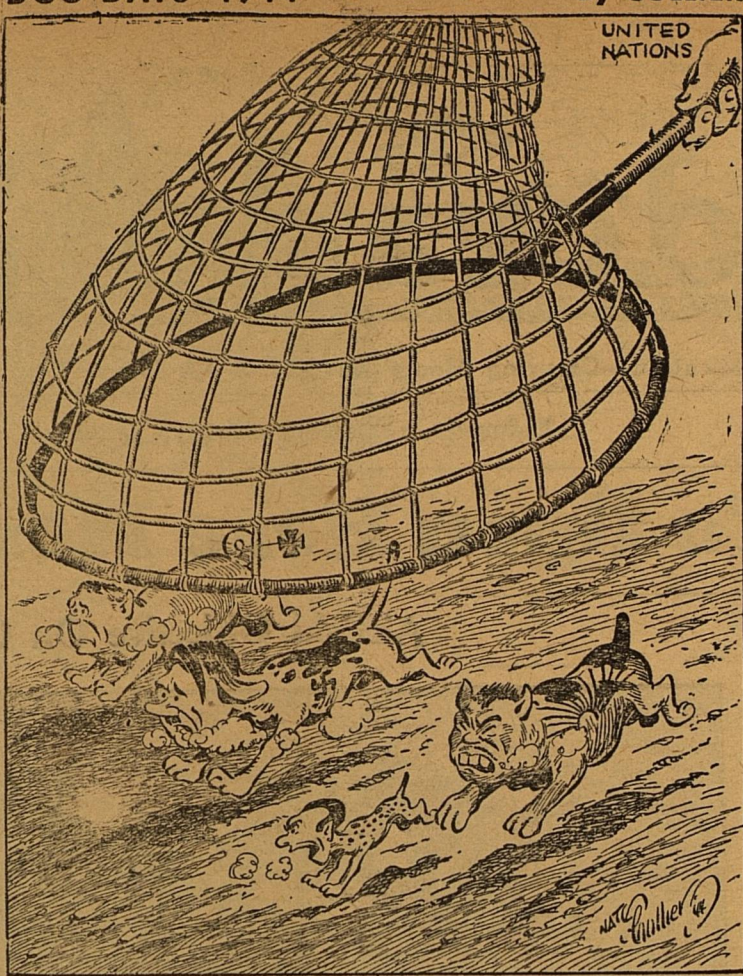

How come? Well, while the price of electricity was coming down, your use of electricity was going up. You have a lot more electric appliances in 1944 than you had in 1929. But you enjoy all these added comforts at little, if any, added cost!

Even if you're hazy about everything else that's happened in the last 15 years, remember this wartime bargain. It's due to hard work by all our people — and sound business management.

Children Should Have Thorough Physical Examination Before They Enter School, Says Health Authority

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost is the vaccination against smallpox. Parents and physicians should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; however if not done previously, at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so that the scar will be completely healed before school opens."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly desirable, Dr. Cox believes. This disease, which causes serious illness and death among young people can be prevented with toxoid. The child that has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defect there will be time to build up his general health and correct dental defects before school opens. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicap."

Experts are confident that the 1944 corn crop will set a new record unless drought shrivels it in the fields. The government's July 1 estimate of two billion 980 million bushels was the largest of any July 1. The abundance of feed is expected to result in a larger fall pig crop than had been forecast previously.

Some economists say that in view of the bumper wheat harvest, the War Food Administration should reduce its announced goal of 67 to 70 million acres of wheat in 1945. WFA officials believe, though, that while the war lasts, wheat in the bin is better than money in the bank . . .

The vital problem of disposing of the nation's huge surpluses in war plants and material seems threatened to become embroiled in a fight over legislation covering demobilization of the nation's workers and soldiers. Chairman

Incentive taxation as an aid to small business during reconversion is advocated by Maury Maverick, chairman of the Smaller War Plants Corporation. Maverick also urges greater exemptions for small business from the present excess profits taxes . . .

Charles F. Cash Increase In Crops Shown Over Year Ago In College Station Report

Austin, Texas, July — Texas farmers got 38 percent more cash for their products in June this year than in June 1943, with increases in marketing rather than increases in prices responsible, Dr. F. A. Buechel, University of Texas marketing expert, reports.

Wheat shipments and livestock marketings were well above last year's figures, boosting the total income for June to $98,000,000, an increase of 18 per cent over the $83,000,000 received in May, 1943.

The July 1 crop report of the Department of Agriculture indicates a record wheat crop in the offering for Texas this year with a prediction of more than 70 million bushels harvest, Dr. Buechel pointed out. If the present $1.40 per bushel price holds through the season this would result in a crop value of approximately $100,000,000.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be so amended that the same will hereafter read as follows:

Section 9. The State tax on property, exclusive of the tax necessary to pay the public debt, and of the taxes provided for the benefit of the public free schools, shall never exceed thirty-five (35) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation; and no county, city or town shall levy more than twenty-five (25) cents for city or county purposes, and not exceed fifteen (15) cents for roads and bridges, and not exceeding fifteen (15) cents to pay jurors, on the one hundred dollars valuation, except for the payment of debts incurred prior to the adoption of the Amendment September

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a general election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the seventh day of November, 1944, at which election all voters favoring the proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the following words:

Big Crop of Seed Needed

Increased production of legume and grass seed is essential to continued maintenance of soil fertility and high food-production levels on American farms, says the War Food Administration. In addition to providing feed and forage, these crops protect the soil from erosion, preserve valuable moisture, and gather life-giving nitrogen from the air.

Unless a big crop of seed is harvested this year, the entire farm-production program will suffer, WFA reports. Farmers who grow seeds will be given assistance under the conservation program administered by the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, and special information on saving these seeds is available from the county agent.

Special emphasis is being placed on the harvesting of alfalfa, red clover, and alsike clover, although many others are in dangerously short supply. Both acreage and yield should be increased, according to WFA, if home needs alone are to be met. In addition, hopes for shipment of large supplies of alfalfa and clover seed to allied countries would make it possible for them to grow feed crops to produce their own livestock and livestock products, releasing valuable cargo space now required for lend-lease meat, eggs, and milk.

Among the legumes, the alfalfa crop that develops during the hottest and driest part of the summer may be expected to produce the most seed, experience has shown. This is usually the second crop, although south of Kansas it may be the third and in the extreme north it will be the first.

Wherever crimson clover grows well the seed can be saved by every farmer, says WFA. The second crop of Medium Red is the one usually harvested for seed throughout the Northern and Western States, and is recommended for large seed yields. White clover heads that develop during the latter part of June and early in July in the Central Eastern States, and farther north during July, have been found to produce the most seed. Ladino clover management is the same as for white clover.

Combining grass-seed production with the raising of grass for pasture, hay, or silage has been found practical, WFA reports. Procedures are determined by the characteristics of the grasses. Controlled grazing, with the removal of livestock in time to insure a seed crop is essential. Fencing off of the field to defer grazing until after the seed is harvested is recommended in early summer, when there is usually a surplus of pasture.

Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in such levies that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; providing that if and when such re-allocations and changes in such county tax levies have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of any county as herein provided, such re-allocations and changes shall remain in force and effect for a period of six (6) years from the date of election at which same shall be approved, unless the same shall have been changed by a majority vote of the qualified property tax paying voters of such county, voting on the proposition, after submission by the Commissioners Court at a general or special election for that purpose, and providing that this Amendment shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall be come a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expense of such publication and election.

Thirty-two 4-H Club girls, their sponsor, Miss Virginia Ryan, and 10 mothers from Schleicher county attended the joint meeting of club girls from Menard, Concho, Tom Green and Schleicher counties which was held at Christoval Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. This is the first time that girls from more than one county have gathered for a meeting.

The encampment opened Tuesday afternoon at 4 p. m. with registration for the girls, followed by an assembly, making camp, a swim and a picnic supper. The girls were divided into groups according to age and assigned a color to correspond with their sponsors. All were given definite duties to perform including K. P.

Following supper, the girls skated an hour at the skating rink, and afterwards enjoyed a program which included an amateur hour with girls from each county presenting a stunt, a sing-song led by Miss Jo Browning, agent from Concho county; and a candle lighting ceremony with three girls from each county participating. The group then went to the river bank and floated lighted candles on the river.

Wednesday's program was opened with an early morning swim followed by the flag-raising and pledge led by Schleicher county girls. Highlights of the day included a demonstration on crafts and other activities included the making of book-ends by the girls.

Outstanding feature of the afternoon program with Menard county in charge of master of ceremonies, included a style show presented by Tom Green county, in which Sunday ensembles, bedroom ensembles, playsuits and school dresses were modeled. Miss Hazel McCoy, Tom Green agent, was in charge of the style show, and judges included the following Home Demonstration agents: Miss Virginia Ryan, Schleicher; Miss Jo Browning, Concho, and Mrs. Pauline Podhaisky, Menard.

Stella Mae Stanford, Gold Star girl from Tom Green county, and Charlene Davis, Gold Star girl of Menard county, gave resumes of their work and were presented pins. Miss Ryan gave the main address of the afternoon, using as her subject, "Objectives 4-H Club Girls Should Strive to Attain."

Closing feature of the camp included a swim before breaking camp and leaving for their various homes. The girls and sponsors were unanimous in their praise for the good time and fellowship enjoyed by all and it is a definite fact that the exchange of ideas, brought about by the joint meeting has proven the experiment a worthwhile and enjoyable event.
