

MEDITATIONS

By the Editor

Ye scribe took a sneak-off to a favorite beauty spot on the C-B Ranch, accompanied by E. H. Coulter and our son last week-end to relax in the shade of the majestic pecans and lounge near the beautiful headwaters of the San Saba River. However we proved to be such a poor fisherman H. Leslie Jones decided to fly me back to Eldorado where I would at least have an opportunity to do something beneficial, but sure enough I have not.

But as usual, we did enjoy immensely the outing and trip, and feel much rested and intend to do a little studying on angling.

If local aspirants to the Isaac Walton art of angling care to get the finer points of fishing they might contact Guy H. Gourley who is here on a visit with his aunt, Mrs. F. G. Clark. Not only does Gourley seem to be an excellent angler, but he appears to be well informed on wild life in general.

The following article written by Erl Roman, a sports scribe in a Miami, Florida paper says:

Over on the Florida west coast, west of Pine island and 10 1-2 miles south of Useppa island, lies Cayo Chino, or Chinese island, so named because it was said to have been used in the old days by smugglers who brought Chinese into this country. Cayo Chino is the home of Guy H. Gourley, who receives his mail at St. James City on Pine island, the nearest post office.

Gourley, with whom we have corresponded for several years, was in to see us yesterday, and he sure made our mouth water and our eyes grow big with his tales of fishing. Just casting from his dock he can catch tarpon nearly every day in the year, while salt water trout, snook, redfish and other gamesters are available in large numbers.

"Arriving in Florida in 1913, Gourley located in Punta Gorda and has engaged in construction work and dredging all over south Florida. He has seen the state's wild life killed off, the land go dry and burn, and he says he cannot see what people can be thinking of that these conditions have not been halted long ago.

"As you have frequently mentioned in your fishing column and in feature stories, south Florida will be a desert if something is not done quickly, said Gourley."

"In 1941 and 1942 Gourley journeyed to Londonderry, Ireland for a large construction firm in Providence, R. I., and built the docks there for the government. He plans to leave soon for Texas, where he will visit relatives, and on his return to Florida in the fall will commence a program of development at Cayo Chino for the accommodation of anglers."

Congressman O. C. Fisher To Appear On Forum Broadcast

Congressman O. C. Fisher will take part in the American Forum of the Air program from Washington next Tuesday night, July 3rd. It will be broadcast over a National hook-up of the Mutual Network beginning at 8:30, Texas time.

The subject will be "Should a Permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission be Established?" Fisher will be on the negative side. Three other Congressmen will take part in the 45-minute debate.

"This proposal is an attempt," Fisher recently said, "to give a Government agency power to tell the farmer and merchant: 'You must hire this man. You must fire that man.' You must promote the other man."

The Texan has also pointed out that the bill, if passed, would give the Federal bureau power to control the employment practices of every school board in the land with regard to hiring teachers. He has shown that the proposal would have the effect of repealing job preference laws for veterans, and would promote intolerance and racial bitterness.

THE NEGRO QUESTION—IT'S GROWING

From The Lolan County News (Sweetwater, Texas)

Not many Texans, particularly those in Sweetwater and West Texas where the negro population is sparsely, will become greatly concerned over the assertion of a negro leader that a member of his race will be induced to try to enter the University of Texas as a student.

But it is high time Texans, as well as Southerners, should give some consideration to means of keeping the white and the black races segregated. The negro leader anticipates that the University of Texas will not permit the negro to enroll as a student in which case he proposes to take it to the supreme court to test the university's right to bar members of the negro race from the university.

If Texans will stop to consider the opinion of the Supreme Court in the negro-vote test case, they'll be concerned. The Supreme Court justices hold that the Constitution gives negroes the right to equal privileges with the whites. That doesn't necessarily mean that the court would favor opening the University of Texas to negro students. It means that the court would hold the negroes have a right to educational opportunities equal to that of the whites.

The Texas Legislature recently voted to make the negro school, Prairie View normal equal in education rank to the University of Texas.

That negroes are becoming conscious of their need for more opportunities for advancement was brought to light recently in Sweetwater.

The negro population has made no demands for anything—but some of them have suggested that they might improve their own living standards if they had their own chamber of commerce organization, or similar civil club.

Some of them pointed out that they have never had an opportunity to participate as a race in the Red Cross drives, except as they give through channels which the white population provides. They have not asked equal privileges with the whites, but they feel they need equal opportunities.

One of them quite sensibly pointed out that with the scarcity of doctors that if a fatal epidemic should sweep the community that the white doctors would have to—and they would expect them to—take care of the white population. Because of their lack of knowledge in many health matters, they would suffer greater casualties than the whites—because they would know less how to take care of themselves.

We are not proposing that negroes are entitled to partake of equal privileges along with the whites—but that they—being human beings—are entitled to equal opportunities, so long as they are segregated from the whites—and we hope that the threat made by the negro concerning enrollment of a negro in the University of Texas never materializes. But if he does, we hate to anticipate the opinion the Supreme Court is likely to render in the case.

THE COUNTRY WOMAN'S CLUB HAS INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION

"Patients who are confined to bed even for a few days often suffer acutely from muscular tension, pressure and fatigue due to lack of exercise," remarked Mrs. Raymond Dickens at a demonstration on improvised sick-room equipment she gave when The Country Woman's Club met in her home on June 20th. The hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Savola Bolt. Some of the home-made devices for making a patient more comfortable which were demonstrated by Mrs. Dickens were bed cradles to keep the weight of the bed covers from the feet. These may be made from a barrel hoop cut in two cross the halves at right angles and tie together firmly. Then wrap the "cradle" with a small amount of cotton and over that wrap strips of an old sheet or any soft clean cloth. This padding prevents injury to the feet should they accidentally bump into it. If a barrel hoop is not available strips of heavy cardboard may be used. These bed cradles may be the size to accommodate one foot or both feet.

Cotton rings are a good substitute for rubber air rings. These are used as support for relief of pressure on heels, elbows, shoulders, head or ears, or any part of the body where there is a small area to be supported.

Salt and sand bags as heat devices were demonstrated to take the place of a hot water bottle. Other suggested heat devices were a fruit jar filled with hot water; a hot iron or a hot brick. An easily made wringer for prevention of burning the hands when applying stupes was demonstrated also.

Other devices demonstrated were ones for patient to be brought to a semi-sitting position and for keeping the patient from slipping toward the foot of the bed when in that position. For elevating the bed for the patients comfort wooden blocks may be used. Knee rests made from pillows or a stick of wood were demonstrated, and also how to make an inhalent vessel from a jar and a paper sack. Newspapers were used to make a disposable bed pan, and also for a paper pocket for fastening to the side of the bed to hold discarded kleenex, papers, dressings, etc., of the patients. The bag and contents can be disposed of without having to handle the patients refuse.

The correct way for removing any foreign substance from the eye was demonstrated, and also how to stop the hiccups.

After these demonstrations a dress form was made for Mrs. Pittman by Mrs. Ray Alexander and Mrs. Marion Wade.

Present for this meeting were seven members, the agent, Mrs. Pittman and four visitors. Mrs. B. A. Biggs became a new member and Mrs. H. E. Wells, Mrs. R. D. McElroy, Mrs. Ruben Dickens, and Mrs. E. D. McKelvey were visitors. —Mrs. F. O. Prochaska, Ass't Reporter.

PLAN YOUR CANNING PROGRAM

By Mrs. Fannie L. Pittman
 County Home Demonstration Agt.

"Every household these days should have a definite plan of activity in stocking the pantry shelves with home canned and preserved foods for the winter months, and this plan not only include planting with a plan, but preserving with a purpose," says Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation of the A. & M. College Extension Service.

Begin by estimating the amount of fruits, vegetables and meats your family will need. Then set that number as your canning goal. A good guide to use in estimating this amount is to consider that about half the necessary consumption of food for your family during the year will be fresh and the other half processed. If fresh foods are available for as much as three-fourths of the year, half the amounts suggested will be sufficient. If the season is shorter say one-fourth of the year, you must take one and a half times the suggested amounts. Children under ten years of age require about half the suggested amounts.

Here is the suggested plan: each individual in the family requires: 22 quarts of green and yellow vegetables per year, 22 quarts of other vegetables, such as beets, okra and squash, and 22 quarts of tomatoes or citrus fruits. Also include for each member of the family 22 qts of other fruits, 5 qts. of pickles or relishes, and 7 pints of preserves and jellies. In meats, allow 88 pounds of meat for each person. Usually half of this amount is canned, and is equivalent to about 20 quarts of canned meat or chicken.

It is well to remember also that food may be preserved in other ways. In dried food, one fourth pound is equivalent to one quart of food canned. 2 pounds frozen equals one quart canned and 4 pounds stored, or 2 quarts brined are equivalent to one quart canned.

Take into consideration the likes and dislikes of your family. For example, if tomato juice is a favorite in your household, make your goal high for that product. Strive for variety and avoid overstocking in some fruits and vegetables.

Clean Clothes Wear Longer
 "Join the conservation corp and let your slogan be: 'Take better care of what you have'" says Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist of the A. & M. College Extension Service. Nothing gives a person more genuine satisfaction than a clean garment, and at this time when it is important to make our clothes wear as long as possible, we must take special care to keep them clean and in good condition.

There is much we can do at home in the way of home cleaning, which saves money as well as clothes. Here is a helpful hint on removing spots and stains. Since stains set with age, it pays to get at them as quickly as possible, and since berry stains, and other fruit stains are common nuisance at this time, here is a suggestion for removing them. Stretch the stained part of the cloth over a pan or bucket. Hold it in place by means of a string. Then pour boiling water on it from a height so that the water will strike the stain with force. This method is also good for coffee or tea stain. Remember to treat them immediately.

To remove iron from white cottons or linen, cover stain with lemon juice and salt, and put in sunshine. Or hold stain over steam and squeeze lemon juice on it; after a few minutes wash and repeat until stain is removed. Mildew may be treated in the same way.

A FAST LINE

Recently, two army telephone linemen, working from a jeep being strafed by heavy enemy fire, laid a mile of telephone wire in the record time of one minute. This wire was but a fragment of the tremendous amount of telephone equipment going to the armed forces . . . equipment normally put to civilian use. Naturally, this makes new telephones scarce and expansion of service a slow process. However, with your continued co-operation, we will provide the best service possible.

a penny is like

when it comes to electricity

Yes, a penny goes a long, long way when it's spent for electricity. When you compare what you get to what you pay for almost anything else you realize your monthly electric service expenditure continues to pay bigger and bigger dividends in service. Count on electricity for perfection in cooking, refrigeration, unlimited hot water, and air conditioning.

"Let us firmly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain"

Every American casualty on the war front is a direct command to each of us on the home front to stay in the fight . . . to keep on supplying the money, munitions, guns, ships and supplies so vital to speed victory and save American lives. That's OUR job and we MUST do it! More War Bonds . . . more blood plasma . . . more sacrifice . . . more work—we MUST give these for those who gave all for us.

Harry Bridges Stays

Congressional circles have been watching intently for the ruling that came last week by the Supreme Court on the Harry Bridges deportation case. Congress passed a law a few years ago saying any alien who advocated or belonged to any organization that advocated the overthrow of our government by force or violence should be deported to the land from whence he came. Attorney General Biddle made out what he thought was a good case against Bridges, but the Supreme Court had the last word. In a 5 to 3 decision the Court ruled Bridges, whose maritime union on the West Coast caused our war program plenty of trouble until Russia got into the war against the Axis, could not be deported as an alleged Communist to his home in Australia.

The Attorney General had presented evidence Bridges had been a member of the Communist Party and an affiliate of its Marine Workers' Industrial Union, both of which Mr. Biddle contended advocated overthrow of the U. S. Government by violence.

This decision comes as a keen disappointment to many who put a high price tag on American citizenship. So valuable and sacred are the privileges of American citizenship that no alien should be allowed to enter who does not present convincing proof of his devotion to our democratic principles of Government.

Immigration officials assured the House Committee on Immigration last week that they will be plenty tough on the undesirables who seek to enter in the future. I know we can depend on our new Attorney General, Tom Clark, to take a firm stand on that same policy.

Mr. Bridges doesn't have to leave. He can stay here now and run the West Coast Maritime Union, and through the California CIO Political Action Committee he can continue to give advice to the American people.

Maybe the Bridges case can be a lesson for the future. We have enough trouble-makers without importing any more Harry Bridges to America.

General Ike

Rarely if ever in American history has there been such a rousing ovation given a man in Washington as that given General Eisenhower when he returned to the Nation's capitol last week.

Since I have been in Congress I haven't seen the equal of it. It was an expression of pent-up confidence in the leader of the greatest aggregation of military might ever assembled.

From an obscure seat in the gallery a slight, flushed young woman in a simple black frock beamed as she watched the throngs rise to their feet in honor of the man of the hour. Mrs. Eisenhower heard her distinguished husband give all praise and glory to the foot soldiers, the flyers, the tank corps, and all the others. He said it was their gallantry and sacrifices that won the war in Europe.

BAILEY RANCH H. D. CLUB MET IN REGULAR SESSION

"One of the best stimulants that a patient can have is bright sunshine," said Mrs. J. F. Kinser, when the Bailey Ranch Home Demonstration Club met in a regular session, June 21 in the home of Mrs. C. N. Shaw.

Sunshine brings warmth and cheer, and healing power which even yet we understand but little, was Mrs. Kinser's statement.

Mrs. E. H. Dannheim assisted in a demonstration on making up a sick patient's bed.

Mrs. T. C. Stanford gave a reading, Mrs. Aaron Steward the devotional and recreation was led by Mrs. Ervin Mund.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. J. E. Spencer, Aaron Steward, J. F. Kinser, T. C. Stanford, Lester Henderson, Ervin Mund, Charlie Sudduth, E. H. Dannheim, W. C. Parks, Jr., Bill Roberts, and the hostess.
