

Shooting Has Started, Says Mr. Roosevelt

'Damn The Torpedoes And Full Speed Ahead' Is President's Navy Day Cry

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — President Roosevelt damned the torpedoes and called for full speed ahead today in the nation's efforts to hasten "the destruction of Hitlerism."

In a navy day address that went to the four corners of the earth by radio, the chief executive declared last night that "the shooting has started. . . America has been attacked."

Then he used for his keynote the fighting words which Admiral Farragut gave to history in the battle of Mobile Bay.

He pledged that military supplies of all kinds would reach Hitler's foes, despite all Nazi seaway threats, and he added with firm assurance:

"In the light of a good many years of personal experience, I say that it can never be doubted that the goods will be delivered by this nation, whose navy believes in the tradition of 'damn the torpedoes; full speed ahead!'"

He told the world that "the forward march of Hitlerism can be stopped—and it will be stopped."

"Very simply and very bluntly," he said, "we are pledged to pull our own oar in the destruction of Hitlerism."

He called attention to his order commanding the navy to "shoot on sight," whenever Axis raiders are encountered.

"Those orders stand," he said emphatically.

The speech was Mr. Roosevelt's first public pronouncement on international affairs in six weeks, and he used it to cover an important series of topics.

He charged that the Hitler regime had already mapped and planned the future partitioning of much of Latin-America into five vassal states. Documentary proof of this, he said, is now in the hands of the United States government.

He charged, too, that the Nazis had completed a secret program to be put into effect when the time was ripe—for exterminating all existing religions and replacing them with a new order credo which would have Mein Kampf for its Bible, the swastika and naked sword for its symbols.

He gave his promise that once the "curse of Hitlerism" had been ended, the United States "shall help to establish a new peace which will give the decent people everywhere a better chance to live and prosper in security and in freedom and in faith."

And—amid two great outbursts of applause and cheers from his immediate audience—he struck out against the "selfish obstruction" of defense production by labor disputes.

The first occasion was an inescapable reference to the Captive coal mine strike which Mr. Roosevelt has thrice asked CIO's John L. Lewis to call off.

"Our nation will and must speak from every assembly line," Mr. Roosevelt began, and then departed on his prepared text to interpolate:

"Yes, from every coal mine—"

Jail Unhealthy For Man Beating Wife

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Over the protests of Mrs. Mary Weidner, 22, Judge Edwin O. Lewis ordered her husband released from jail after his conviction on a charge of striking her.

"If he is forced to stay in jail any longer he will only conjure up a lot of nonsensical reasons why he should get even with you."

Anti-Strike Rider Tied On Ship Arming

Measure Would Make Strikes Slowing Arms Work Acts of Sabotage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Senator Bailey (D-NC) proposed in the senate today an amendment to the pending armed ship bill which would bring labor strikes within the category of sabotage when their intent was to retard defense production.

Bailey's action came as President Roosevelt confronted John L. Lewis with a virtual ultimatum for a speedy end to the captive coal mine strike.

Heavy fines and imprisonment would be imposed on leaders and participants in strikes, under Bailey's proposal.

At the same time, Senator Byrd (D-Va) told the senate that the president could end strikes in defense industries by taking "firm measures."

Moreover, Byrd said, it ought to be obvious to anyone that congress could do nothing about the work stoppages until the administration put its weight behind corrective measures.

Byrd said the president had written "three humble and pleading letters" to Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, asking an end to the strike in captive mines.

Legion Conclave Coincides With Training Camp

Dates for the 19th district American Legion convention will coincide with those for an officers training period, Charles Sullivan, post commander, was advised Tuesday by Charles Whitaker, Lubbock, district Legion commander.

Whitaker advised Sullivan that posts in the area, which is the same with the 19th congressional district, had been advised of the district convention in Big Spring on Nov. 29-30.

Previously state department officials had designated Big Spring as site for one of three regional meetings to be conducted for officers of legion posts, and Nov. 29-30 was set for the date.

Sullivan anticipated that there would be about 200 persons here for the joint parley.

Turk Generals Talk To Hitler

BERLIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today received the Turkish generals Ali Fuad Erden and Huseyn Erkilet at his eastern front headquarters.

An official announcement said the Turkish generals had just finished an inspection trip of the eastern front "which gave them an impressive picture of the achievements and successes of German troops and their allies."

They also visited Field Marshal Generals Walther von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the army, and Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command.

Names of 19 young men were listed Tuesday by the Howard County Selective Service board as subjects for the next call on Nov. 6.

Some of those listed were included in a previous call but were given temporary deferments.

The call represents one of the largest quotas the county has had this year. However, since some of the most recent quotas have not been filled, the cumulative results of the procedure may produce some record calls upon the county in later quotas.

Those listed by the board for the Nov. 6 quota were: O. J. Ingram, Benard Lee Coughlin, Alton Frankie Bostick, George Washington McMurray, Albert Montifier Fisher, Jr., C. L. Henderson, Elmer Alvin Booker, Harry Jordan, James Loyd Curry, Gerald Bowman, Jimmie Newton Brunson, Lawrence Gordon Adkins, Raymond Crawford Newton, G. T. Warren, George Martin Farrington, Morris Eldon Redding, Edwin Cleo Reeves, Charles Wayne Nance and Vernon Franklin.

Business Failures Fewer In Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—There were fewer commercial failures and more postal receipts in Texas during September but incorporation of new businesses, construction activity, savings bonds investments and cement production dropped during the month, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Only 12 commercial failures occurred as compared to 26 the same month a year ago and 14 in August.

Japanese Ask For US 'Understanding'

TOKYO, Oct. 28 (AP)—A Japanese government spokesman expressed hope today that Washington would "deepen its understanding" of Japan's position despite what he called the "strong views" voiced Friday by U.S. Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

Kob Ishii, chief liaison officer for the foreign press, said he was "frankly surprised" at Knox's assertion that a clash with Japan was inevitable if she continued her program of expansion.

Strike Showdown Near

London Reports Heavy Fight But Little Movement On Moscow, Ukraine Fronts

By The Associated Press
Russia's red armies defending Moscow, strengthened by fresh reserves from Siberia, were reported to have launched a series of fierce counter-attacks in all sections and driven the Germans back as much as 10 miles from the U.S.S.R. capital at some points today.

LONDON, Oct. 28 (AP)—An authoritative source said today the German armies were about 10 to 15 miles from Rostov-On-The-Don and were still 35 or 40 miles away from Moscow at the nearest point. Heavy fighting is continuing in both sectors "but there has not been very much movement anywhere," the source declared.

The lack of movement, he said, is "a very good sign."

It was conceded here, however, that Adolf Hitler's armies already have succeeded in eliminating most of the rich Donets Basin's industries from the Soviet economy with occupation of the area only partly completed.

Today's Soviet information bureau communique, broadcast by the Moscow radio, mentioned fighting in the directions of Moshansk and Maloyaroslavets on the Moscow front and Khar'kov and Taganrog in the Donets region, all places it has been naming for some time.

The two Moscow sectors have been appearing in the daily communique for about a week. Moshansk is 57 miles from Moscow on the main road to the capital from the west, while Maloyaroslavets is 65 miles southwest.

The Russians have not acknowledged the loss of Khar'kov, great industrial capital of the northeast Ukraine, as claimed by the Germans Saturday, although they have told of fierce fighting throughout this area, with the red army slowly falling back.

Taganrog lies 30 miles west of Rostov-On-The-Don, strategic port and communications center at the head of the Sea of Azov and at the gateway to the Caucasus. The rich Donets Basin opens up to the north.

It is unlikely, commentators said, that Donets manufacturing centers now are able to contribute much to the Russian war effort, with some actually in the hands of the Germans and transportation lines of many other cuts.

The Moscow radio, however, maintained that Khar'kov, the major city of the entire river valley, was still in Soviet hands despite attacks which it said, had cost Germany as many as 3,500 men in a day.

The Soviet information bureau communique broadcast early this morning ignored reports in Kulsyev military dispatches yesterday of a 15-mile advance by German troops from Maloyaroslavets to within 50 miles of Moscow.

The communique asserted there had been a sharp decline in morale and physical appearance of German captives within the past 20 days, a period in which both German and Russian commands have been rushing up reserves.

Police Radio To Increase Power

Construction permit to increase the power of the City of Big Spring police radio transmitter from 50 to 300 watts was received here Tuesday, city officials announced.

The permit, first step toward getting the increase in power for which the city had applied after the Howard county commissioners court had extended financial aid as a cooperative move, specified that work must begin within 60 days from Oct. 23 and be completed by June 23, 1942.

Work, however, will be launched by Roy Ayres, member of the police department and who constructed the present transmitter, as soon as parts are available. It was anticipated that the press of the national defense program may slow work due to shortage of vital parts.

When the installation is complete, station KACM will be given a 10 day trial period and then put in its bid for a 300-watt license. Since the construction permit has been granted, it was assumed that there would be little doubt that the license would follow when all requirements are met.

By stepping up the power, both police and sheriff department authorities felt that reach of the station would be effective over the county in the daytime and over a wide area at night.

$200,000 In Current Taxes Are Paid Here

Payment of current taxes passed the $200,000 mark here Tuesday as property owners rushed in to take advantage of the three per cent discount offered by the county, state, city and local school district for October remittances.

At the same time, more delinquent payments poured in as taxpayers sought to make the most of the opportunity to retire back tax obligations with a negligible amount of penalty. The three collecting agencies reported nearly $80,000 collected in back taxes during October.

County and state taxes may be paid without interest and penalty if all accounts are squared by Nov. 1, but city and school taxes carry six per cent penalty if paid by the same date. Clearing of single pieces on state and county taxes carries a six per cent penalty.

After Nov. 1 the penalty and interest rate on some of these back taxes will kick back to the old rate which ranges up to 47 per cent in some instances.

As of the close of business here Monday, current tax payments reported by the three collecting agencies totaled $200,729.51. Delinquent payments for October stood at $7,785.84.

French Flash Light To R.A.F. Raiders

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Residents of the German-occupied city of Nantes, some of the recent assassination of the Nazi commandant, flashed lights in greeting to the RAF Sunday night as the British fliers dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs along with thousands of leaflets, the air ministry stated tonight.

Answering the leaflets which were described as "a message of hope for ultimate deliverance," some Nantes residents flung open their doors and lit up their houses "as though blackout curtains had been torn aside from the windows," the air ministry said.

Fifteen Miners Die In Explosion

DANIEL BOONE, K., Oct. 28 (AP)—Bodies of 15 miners killed in an explosion of gas at the Stirling Coal company mine here were removed from the mine by rescue squads early today.

The first body was brought to the surface at 3:15 a.m. and the others soon were removed. All were taken to Nortonville, four miles northwest of here, where an inquest was stated by Coronor Carl Offman later today.

Telegraph Merger Urged To Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The senate interstate commerce committee unanimously recommended today that congress permit a merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The committee approved, with minor changes, a report on the proposed merger previously adopted by a subcommittee after nearly two years of legislative hearings.

EXECUTIONS SUSPENDED
PARIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—General Otto von Stuepnel, commander of German forces in France, announced today that the execution of the 100 hostages held at Nantes and Bordeaux had been suspended by the personal order of Adolf Hitler.

FD's Speech Hints Action Must Come

U. S. Steel Curtails Operation As Coal Supply Gets Low

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt confronted John L. Lewis with a virtual ultimatum today for a speedy end of the captive coal mine strike.

Underlining his third appeal to the CIO mine chief to call off the strike, Mr. Roosevelt declared in his Navy Day speech last night that "our nation will and must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast industrial machine."

A few hours earlier, the president had told Lewis:

"There is every reason for the continuance of negotiations. There is no reason for stoppage of work."

"It is, therefore, essential that the mining of coal should go on without interruption."

Mr. Roosevelt gave no hint of the action he would take if Lewis failed to heed his latest manifesto. Everything, however, pointed to an imminent showdown which might affect not only the captive mine strike but the whole future question of labor disputes in defense industries.

In congress many tempers were growing short. In the restive atmosphere, talk already was heard of quick legislative action to remedy the situation unless the work stoppage was ended hastily. It was reported that the general subject was touched on briefly during the president's conference with congressional leaders yesterday.

The United States Steel Corporation, owner of a number of the mines, announced an immediate curtailment of operations at most of its steel mills, which depend for their coal on the captive collieries.

For the second day, miners at the Rosedale mine of the Bethlehem Steel corporation in Johnstown, Pa., defied the strike order and went to work. More than 100 pickets patrolled the approaches to the pit in Johnstown's 14th ward, but made no attempt to restrain the workers, variously estimated to number from 100 to 250 of a day crew of 475.

A number of labor leaders privately voiced uneasiness over the situation growing out of the United Mine Workers' demand for a union shop. They feared that if the public's temper became further frayed, there might be legislation—or possibly an executive order—forcing compulsory membership in a labor union as a condition of employment on work connected in any way with the defense program, or otherwise sharply circumscribing a union activity.

The UMW's demand for a union shop was the sole issue in the strike which took practical effect yesterday morning in steel company-operated coal mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama. With the union shop in effect, each employe would have to become a member of the union after a probationary period.

When Lewis replied yesterday to Mr. Roosevelt's second back-to-work request, issued Sunday, he told the president that "this fight is between a labor union and a ruthless corporation—the United States Steel corporation." And Lewis declared further that J. P. Morgan, a director of U. S. Steel, was responsible for continuance of the dispute.

Plastic Plane Shown Here

The Timm "aeromold trainer," classed as one of the first successful "plastic" planes, was on display at the municipal airport here Tuesday.

Fashioned out of thin strips of spruce bound by phenolic resin heat and pressure, the entire body of the plane was the product of a moulding process.

John P. (Jack) Davies, who was showing the trainer which has met SPT specifications, said that less than seven per cent of the gross weight of the craft was in vital defense metals such as aluminum and magnesium.

He planned to keep the ship here overnight, possibly leaving Wednesday morning. During the day the plastic plane made several flights around over the city.

Davies brought the ship here to demonstrate it before Grover Webster, formerly with the CPT, Ed Nelson, in charge of civilian pilot training for CAB southwest district, John Burke, Oklahoma City, and F. Armstrong, Wichita Falls, flight operators, and Art Wintheliser, CPT flight operator here.

Russian Trains New Army Behind Lines

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Russians, while battling to hold Moscow, Leningrad and Rostov, are also preparing for the future by training a reserve army behind the rear in eastern Siberia, said a dispatch today from the Transbaikalian military district.

These reserve troops are being taught under war conditions how to fight their way out of encirclements, meet psychological attacks, destroy parachutists and cooperate with tanks—in short how to meet all the special problems of the war with the Germans.

Girl's Diary Helps Solve Her Slaying

FARMINGTON, Me., Oct. 28 (AP)—A diary kept by blonde Florence Buzell, 26, whom Fred Wheeler, 30, wealthy cattleman and father of four children, is charged with slaying, aided authorities in their investigation of her fatal shooting, Attorney General Frank J. Cowan said today.

The pretty secretarial school student had filled several volumes in recent years with descriptions of her progress in education and her experiences, the attorney stated, adding that the account was complete up to the time of her mysterious death five months ago. He said it contained the names of "numerous men."

"The state," he declared, "will in following certain information that was contained in the diaries but at the present time the contents are being kept confidential."

State Police Chief Henry Weaver said that Wheeler had financed the girl's schooling at Bates Business College in Augusta and that he apparently was jealous because another man was "wooing and winning the girl away from him."

Weaver made the statement as he ordered a three-state search that culminated a few hours later last night with the cattleman's arrest in Boston's north station on a murder warrant.

Jubileca Fun Approaches

Preparations are all behind the scenes now, but beginning Wednesday night the annual Kiwanis club Jubileca will come out in the open.

For on that night members of the Kiwanis club will flock to the open lot between the Rita store and Figgly Wiggy store to start erecting booths and tents and what-have-you for the big show.

nights they will work on the task of building the carnival's physical equipment, and Friday and Saturday nights they will ascend the barker's stands to start operation of the big show.

There will be balls to throw at the dodging nigger and apples to bob after the Halloween festivity in general at the Jubileca. And the whole show will be started by the Kiwanis club with proceeds going to buy milk for the underprivileged children. The Jubileca already has a reputation among Big Spring people because of editions in previous years. Anyone who was in Big Spring last Halloween will remember the big event staged on the parking lot just north of the Crawford hotel.

This year the event is moving uptown to the Big Spring Hotel company used one lot on the west block of Main street.

Second Dipping Of Cauble Cattle Set Saturday

Data for the second dipping of cattle at the Cauble ranch in a demonstration of control has been set for Saturday, November 1, County Agent O. P. Griffin announced Tuesday.

Two weeks ago several hundred head of cattle were dipped with a solution of cube powder and sulphur in a demonstration of the control of cattle lice, ox-warble and ear ticks.

A second dipping is necessary to complete the treatment, and will be conducted at the ranch beginning at 1:30 p. m. Saturday by George Barnes, beef cattle husbandman of the extension service. The public is invited to attend the demonstration.

Rep. Patman Asks FD To Stop Strikes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (UP)—President Roosevelt was assured by Representative Patton (D-Tex.) today that "every citizen in my district wishes immediate action to be taken by the government to stop strikes and to keep our national defense effort going."

Referring to the "perilous situation caused by John L. Lewis and other ambitious labor dictators," Rep. Patton told the president "you have been considerate of the rights of labor even to the point of neglect of your own public trust, and no person can deny that you are a friend of labor."

Mexico Ready To Back Up United States

By JOHN LLOYD
AP Feature Service Writer
MEXICO CITY—President Roosevelt has a vociferous second in Mexico in his warnings of danger to the Americas and his urgent advice to build hemisphere defense.

His statements of principle bring almost invariably an echo from the Mexican foreign office. On occasion, Mexico is in the lead in proposing measures of common defense.

Thus, when President Roosevelt announced American warships would shoot at Axis naval vessels, Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla warned that a war of vast proportions was looming. He urged steps by all American nations to create inter-locking economy and to prepare a joint protective system.

A few days after Padilla's proposal, President Avila Camacho asked Congress to approve new laws by which he could slap secret agents and agitators into prison for long terms.

Mexico is also building up her army on a scale never before attempted.

Military preparations include strengthening the air force, mechanizing a part of the army and laying groundwork for compulsory service.

U. S. Supplies Material
Equipment is being purchased from the United States to set up a motorized, semi-panzer division of 8,000 men. It will consist of light tanks, armored cars, hundreds of motorcycles and mobile artillery.

On order from the United States also are 180 war planes. The air force has 75 planes, but most of them are out of date.

Military training will be given in all schools and colleges. When compulsory service goes into effect it is planned to take in 12,000 additional men the first year, 24,000 the second and 26,000 the third.

The present strength of the regular army is 61,500 officers and men, including 25,000 infantry and 20,000 cavalry. The reserves, made up of poorly trained agrarian troops and labor battalions, number approximately 65,000.

A dozen antiquated light tanks form part of the army equipment. The air force has 600 officers and the fleet consists of ten 200-ton coastguard cutters, three 2,000-ton gunboats and one transport. There are light coast defense batteries at Acapulco, on the Pacific coast, and Vera Cruz on the gulf coast.

The war budget for 1941 was approximately $2,000,000.

Government munitions factories are producing more powder and rifles than the country needs. The surplus is exported to Central America.

Food-For-Freedom Campaign Mapped

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 28 (UP)—The food-for-freedom campaign will be carried to Texas farmers during November, agricultural leaders decided in a meeting here yesterday.

Representatives of agricultural agencies predicted that Texas will meet and surpass, in some instances, food production goals set by the United States Department of Agriculture defense board.

B. F. Vance, chairman of the board, announced that R. M. Evans, national AAA administrator, will speak at a statewide food-for-freedom rally in Waco Nov. 4. George Blaugher, chairman of the Texas AAA committee, told those at the meeting more food was needed for home consumption, for Britain and "to feed the hungry when hostilities cease."

DUMMY WARFARE: Camouflaged (and antiquated) Mexican tanks cross a dugout and obstacle in practice maneuvers. Note the "opposition" casualties are stuffed dummies.

BRACE YOURSELF: Frankie Sinkwich, Georgia backfield star, hopes this brace protects his broken jaw, lets him play on.

Lookin 'em Over

Midland golfers are nearly as plentiful as local people on Big Spring courses. For the fourth time this year Midland's plants have been put under water. Right now, one has given up all semblance of a golfing unit and has taken on the aspects of a permanent lake. Since some of the Midlanders are a bit on the ardent side when it comes to their divotting, they are scattering in four directions from home in search of dry land.

Wanted, Caddies!—That's the crying need at both Big Spring golf courses, Country Club and Munny. It seems that most of the youngsters who clustered around both places during the summer are having their time taken up by other activities. Some are picking cotton, others coming out for Yearling football, and others just plain loafing around town. A bit of change is available for the ones who are unoccupied and want to take a turn out to the courses. After all, we can't have a grown man lugging one of those heavy, bundleome containers around the pastures.

Bob Kohout writes that he is going to school at Pacific Lutheran at Tacoma, Washington. Tacoma is Bob's home town. Bob said he entered college about three weeks late and has found it a bit tough catching up with his classes.

Charlie Buckner, Big Spring center up to a couple of weeks ago, was out yesterday afternoon watching the Steers go through their paces. Charlie underwent an operation ten or eleven days ago and is just now getting out in the open for a few minutes at a time.

He declared he figured he would be alright in a few weeks but his doctor had positively forbidden him to do any more playing this year.

Statue Of Liberty 55 Years Old Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (UP)—The Statue of Liberty is 55 years old today.

At anniversary ceremonies the Veterans of Foreign Wars will present a garrison flag 20 by 28 feet and Mayor La Guardia will speak.

A 100-foot flagpole under construction on the statue's island sanctuary won't be ready for the ceremony — steel priorities delayed the work.

Sugar Bowl Sponsors Feel Out Possible Grid Contenders

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28 (UP)—The Sugar Bowl fathers, in an unusual bargaining position because of the muddled situation in the Pacific Coast conference, are getting down to serious business in lining up their football contestants.

"We're starting to discuss prospective teams and map out trips to visit them," said President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, Sugar Bowl sponsor.

Goldberg and two other officials will view the Army-Notre Dame game in New York Saturday, and plan to contact several schools on their jaunt.

It's certain that feelers have been sent out, or will be sent out, to Texas, Duke, Fordham, Texas A. and M. and Mississippi State. Other possibilities include Vanderbilt and some once-beaten clubs such as Santa Clara, Missouri and Mississippi.

Secret Service Men Will Show Pictures, Exhibit Examples

Methods of detecting counterfeit money and forged government checks will be the subject of a two-day educational drive planned for Thursday and Friday in Big Spring under direction of the United States secret service and with cooperation of the sheriff's office, police department, and local banks.

Leo J. Williams, agent in charge of the Dallas secret service office, and William Bradshaw of that office will be in Big Spring for the campaign.

A moving picture giving salient points on the subject will be shown in the county courthouse Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to this showing, and those persons who handle money frequently — bankers, merchants and store clerks — are urged to be present.

While in Big Spring, the agents will also show the educational picture before various school groups. They will meet with school officials Thursday morning to map out this schedule.

5 GOOD RULES for EASIER SEEING

1. The correct position of a book in reading is at right angles to the line of vision as one sits erect, and about 14 inches from the eyes.
2. Make sure there is plenty of light falling upon the open book.
3. Sit in such position that you do not face the windows or any other source of bright light.
4. If possible, have the light falling on your book come from over your shoulder or a little to one side.
5. To provide ideal lighting for study and reading, use one of the new Better Sight Lamps you'll find at stores which sell

Miss Laneous First Of Three Programs On Week Of Prayer Services Is Held Here

Notes
By MARY WHALEY

There's an old bromide that says if you want a thing long enough and wish hard enough you can always have it. Just thought we'd enter a contradiction to that remark.

Of course, we aren't gone yet, but there are several things we've been wishing for years and haven't done yet.

First, we've always wanted to throw an egg into a fan to see what would happen. Or to sometime put a fan into a tub of water and watch the effects. No, nobody ever stopped us, but there just hasn't been a time when we could.

We've always wanted to buy a whole ham and sink our teeth into the very middle of it and eat out. Nobody ever kept us from doing that either. But we are so conventional.

We've always wanted to buy us a slab of milk chocolate, too, and eat until we hated the stuff so it wouldn't be a temptation anymore. No, we've never done that either. Long slick bannisters in public places are another temptation to us. We always want to slide down them but very seldom have we ever gotten to do this.

Whenever a train whistles we want to pack a knapsack and trundle on with the rest of the bum but things, all sort of things, keep us from going.

That's wishing hard enough and long enough is all right and maybe we haven't been putting the proper emphasis into our wishing. But there are just billions of things that we want to do that we don't. These secret ambitions will have to wait until we are rich. Then folks will call us eccentric—in stead of queer.

Sessions To Last Until Wednesday

The first program of three Week of Prayer services was held Monday at the First Methodist church with Mrs. J. O. Haymes as leader. The second program was held Tuesday afternoon and the last session is to be Wednesday afternoon.

Retreat theme was "Toward One Great Fellowship of Love." Morning topics were "The Way of Fellowship" given by Mrs. H. G. Keaton and Mrs. L. E. Maddux and "Prayer A Path To Power" given by Mrs. Hugh Duncan and Mrs. Arthur Davis. Mrs. V. H. Flewelen sang a solo.

Mrs. Harold Bottomley talked on "Praying Intelligently" and Mrs. J. O. Haymes on "The Listening Prayer." A silent luncheon was held at noon.

During the afternoon sessions Mrs. R. O. Beades talked on "Having Prayed, Have Faith" and Mrs. J. B. Pickle, Mrs. Garner McAdams, Mrs. Jake Bishop, Mrs. O. B. Bryan and Mrs. S. R. Nobles on "Having Faith—Act." Mrs. G. T. Hall sang a solo number.

A love offering was taken and funds are to go for Christian literature in other lands; medical supplies in mission fields; retirement and relief funds for deaconesses; and for the Brewster Hospital at Jacksonville, Fla., for convalescent negro children.

More than 40 persons attended. The program committee includes Mrs. O. E. Bryan, Mrs. S. R. Nobles and Mrs. Arthur Davis.

Officers And Teachers To Have Worker's Conference Wednesday

Seal With Three 'Degrees' Has Star Billing In Russell Circus

Buddy, versatile performing seal of Russell Bros. Circus, keeps pace of the day's news with his trainer, Walter Jenner.

Russell Bros. Greater American Circus at the Read show grounds in Big Spring Thursday, is a graduate magna cum laude of the famous Jenner Seal College at Kingston, N. Y., where all the best Buddy the Seal, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., just goes to show what a success a fellow can be despite a college education.

Buddy, who will be seen with performing seals get their schooling. That alphabet after his name hasn't turned Buddy's head a bit. What might be construed as a snooty manner comes from the deft way he has of balancing things on his nose.

Taking up Buddy's degrees in order—A.B. in Seal College terminology means "Artist of Balance." In such advanced accomplishments as walking the tight wire, going up and down stairs on his front fins, and balancing on one fin, Buddy has no equal.

M.A. is for "Master of Articulation." Buddy is without doubt the most articulate seal ever before the public. Not only does he give lusty voice to the Seal College yell, but he carries on conversations with his mentor and imitates famous personages.

"Doctor of Philharmonics" is what the Ph.D. behind Buddy's name stands for. Other seals there have been that play musical horns, but none with the virtuosity that Buddy displays.

Strictly speaking, Buddy isn't a seal at all, but a sea lion, being a native of the waters off Catalina Island. He and the prey of his same mater, Walter Jenner, have been with Russell Bros. Circus before. They are back this season by popular demand after a round of Sportsmen's Shows in leading cities during the winter.

Sharing honors with some of circuses' most celebrated features, Buddy will be seen in afternoon and night performances, starting at 2:30 and 8 p.m., with doors opening at 1 and 7.

Everything Has Been Fine Since Ink Spots Got Fired

By HERMAN ALLEN
AP Feature Service Writer
NEW YORK—Ten years ago the Four Ink Spots were portering around back-stage at the Paramount theatre. A lot of important things have happened to them since then, but the most important was their recent triumphant return at $2,000 a week, as the top-billed act at the same theatre, the pinnacle of American vaudeville.

As Deek (Goldsmith) Watson, the fun-loving Ink Spot, would say, everything is now "home cooking," what with considerable radio money and a phonograph record sale second only to Bing Crosby in the vocal music class.

The five quartet owes its success to getting fired.

"We were portering" at the theatre every night until about ten," Deek recalled, "then we'd go out gigging" around.

(Gigging, he explained, means picking up stray singing jobs for whatever they pay.)

Off To England
"We got to payin' more attention to singin' than porterin' so the boss he let us go."

"We went up to see Moe Gall (the Harlem talent king) and said we wanted a job. He said 'What do you do?' We told him singin', and he said 'Here, take this card and go over to the Waldorf-Astoria. Didn't sven listen to our act."

"Well, sir, it was a try-out for Jack Hilton—you know, the English orchestra leader. He liked us, so the next day we sailed with him for England."

That was late in 1925. The boys toured England and the continent with HILTON a year and a half, captivating everyone, including the then Prince of Wales with a swiny valet, Big-Time Foots.

THE FOUR INK SPOTS
It's strictly 'home cooking' now number entitled "Four Feet's Too Prime Was A Cat Big." It was inspired by Deek's "Why, man, we used to sing that around our dressing room, just to kid Big-Time Foots." Deek confided. "Then one night when we were gettin' set for an encore, Mr. Hilton came around in back of me and whispered 'Do "Four Feet's Too Big." We did and, man, did they roar!"

"That Prince of Wales came round to our dressing room and had us do it all over again. "Man, he was a real cat!"

After the boys came home it was pretty slow going until they recorded "If I Didn't Care," in which, you remember, Billy Kenny (the tall one) opens with a high tenor solo and Charlie (Solid Charles) Fuqua follows up with a bass monolog.

Billy had gotten discouraged and quit to take a job as a singing waiter in Harlem, but when the nation's juke boxes began to wall "care" almost in unison he came back to split a $10,000 royalty.

Since then it has been strictly home cooking.

Beer Retailers Pay Price Fixing Fines

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—Payment of $750 penalties and an injunction enjoining price control agreement has ended an anti-trust suit brought by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann against operators of 15 drive-in cafes in Wichita Falls.

The judgment, agreed between the state and the defendants, was entered in Travis county district court yesterday.

In his original suit, Mann charged the operators agreed not to sell beer below a common figure and to keep the price fixed.

The defendants were enjoined permanently "from entering into or carrying out an agreement among themselves or with any other persons, firms, corporations or associations whereby the retail price of beer is in any manner fixed or controlled."

The busiest thoroughfare in town

Lined with bright, exciting windows freshly stocked with today's news, the newspaper is the busiest thoroughfare in town... busier today than ever before.

In some windows you find news of the home town, the nation, and the rest of the world. In others you find entertainment, advice, interpretation. In others you find news of the goods and services offered by manufacturers and retailers.

Every day in the week, every week in the year, you and your family travel this busy street, looking for things that interest you... and finding them in both the news and advertising windows.

Practically everybody in every community walks along this thoroughfare of news and advertising every day... simply because the newspaper is indispensable to everybody everywhere. That's why the 37,000,000 families in the United States and Canada buy, and read, over 43,300,000 newspapers every weekday... over 33,000,000 newspapers every Sunday.

And because everybody is so intensely interested in the contents of the newspaper, it's easy to understand why advertisers, national and local, find newspaper space the most effective medium with which to tell their story and sell their goods.

Biblemen Tie With Gophers For Top Honors In Nat'l Grid Poll

Aggies Advance From 9th To 5th On Listing

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—If Minnesota and Texas, leaders in opposite parts of the country and exponents of contrasting types of football, were to meet today their game would end in a tie.

That, at least, is the view of 127 of the country's gridiron experts. Voting in the third Associated Press ranking poll of the year, in which each man lists in order the teams he considers to be the top ten, they placed the Golden Gophers of the Western Conference and the Longhorns of the Southwest in a deadlock at the head of the parade.

On a 10-9-8-7-6, etc., scoring basis, each team polled 1,161 points. Minnesota held the edge in first-place votes with 69 to 53, but Texas made up for that with more solid support in the secondary positions. The poll also left little doubt of which teams are the favorites in next Saturday's three major battles, each of which already is an assured sellout. Vindicated by the 7-6 score in their ranking of Minnesota two notches ahead of Michigan last week, this time the experts make the Gophers a strong choice to continue unbeaten against Northwestern, by rating the Wildcats ninth.

Similarly Notre Dame, in sixth place, is given a comfortable margin over Army, rated 14th on four straight victories but probably lacking in manpower to continue its remarkable comeback past this engagement. A closer game, the experts think, should be that between all-winning Penn, at eighth place, and undefeated but once tied Navy, at 11th.

Last week's results shuffled the order considerably. Minnesota and Texas ran one-two the first two weeks and Duke continued in fourth place. But Fordham, the cast's best, came up from sixth to third, Texas A. and M. from ninth and Notre Dame from seventh to sixth, while Michigan dropped four notches to seventh. Gone from the first ten are Navy, due to that scoreless tie with Harvard; Tulane, through its second loss of the year (to Mississippi); and Santa Clara, upset by Oklahoma. In their places are Penn, Northwestern, impressing winner over Ohio State, and Vanderbilt, only all-winning survivor in the Southeastern conference and boosted from 19th to 10th on its rout of Princeton.

Texas and the Aggies have always dangerous conference dates Saturday, the Steers with Southern Methodist, and A. and M. with Arkansas. Fordham takes on improving Purdue in its fourth interconference game in five starts; Duke meets Georgia Tech and, if it gets by, should run out its season without a loss; Michigan plays Illinois, and Vanderbilt appears in for a thorough test against Tulane.

The standing of the teams (first place votes in parenthesis, points awarded on basis of 10-9-8-7-6, etc.) First ten:

1.—Minnesota (60)	1,161
2.—Texas (53)	1,161
3.—Fordham (7)	784
4.—Duke (5)	702
5.—Texas A. and M.	683
6.—Notre Dame	658
7.—Michigan	596
8.—Penn (1)	515
9.—Northwestern	231
10.—Vanderbilt	190
Second ten:
11.—Navy, 168; 12.—Stanford, 156;
13.—Temple, 107; 14.—Army, 55; 15.—
Alabama, 42; 16.—Duquesne, 24;
17.—Mississippi and Mississippi
State, 23 each; 18.—Missouri,
22; 20.—Southern Methodist, 16.
Also ran—Ohio State, 15; Tulane,
10; Texas Tech and Santa Clara,
1; Oregon State, 8; Washington and Louisiana State, 2 each; Oregon and Oklahoma, 1 each.

Halas' Chicago Bears Bring Tearful Words From Cardinal Mentor

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Jimmy Conzelman, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, has opened a one-man campaign to have George Halas designated as the greatest football genius in the world, and as Jimmy pleads his point in a thin, querulous voice it is plain he is a man who has suffered.

Halas, of course, is the big, tireless citizen who has built and coached the Chicago Bears to such a terrible margin of supremacy over the rest of the National Pro league that the headline on Monday morning always reads: "Bears win 48-0."

"It isn't fair. This Halas has a big Bohemian body that never gets tired, and we other fellows are tired all the time. I can phone him at 4:30 in the morning to try to beg a spare halfback off him and he's so cheerful I finish. Then I sleep a while and call him again at 7 and he's still there working. Even wants to know how my family's getting along."

All the time he was making his stirring and impassioned address, Conzelman looked squarely into the eyes of a couple of brother National league mentors, Jock Sutherland and Steve Owen. They stared back miserably and nodded assent when Jimmy asked if they didn't think the five-man line was the best way to try to stop the Bears' "T" formation.

"I think it is," said Conzelman solemnly. "Even after 63 to 7 I still think it is. Of course, when Halas gets to spreading his line around just to be bothersome, why my five men look like a bunch of war refugees wondering where to go next. No matter what defense you use, you can always be sure you will wind up with an 11.5 man trying to head off a 10-second Bear ball carrier."

To point up his remarks, Conzelman employs a blackboard upon which he illustrates the many dirty tricks that can be done from the "T" formation, especially with the Halas refinements.

"I only wish I could try it for a couple of years," wisely. "The only thing is that after two years I wouldn't have any team to coach, but only a house-full of 'T' diagrams to keep me company."

"As a matter of fact, the 'T' formation is about the greatest thing that has happened since football began. It brings the play out in the open, and the spectators love it. I've noticed that the boys enjoy it, too."

"Give Halas credit for what he's done. Maybe he has about wrecked the league, but I'm not going to campaign to break up the Bears. I only wish I had a chance to wreck the league like that, myself. The only suggestion I would make is that hereafter in the draft the bottom teams get four or five choices apiece before the top boys get a pick."

With that, Conzelman sat down, still wearing a puzzled expression. When an auditor asked him if the Bears were as good on defense as they were on the attack, he thought it over for a few seconds.

"What the hell?" he said. "Defense? Why they've always got the ball."

Yearlings Get Fast Workout

With their win column marked 100 percent, Big Spring's Yearlings trek Colorado Cityward next Thursday for the second engagement of the season with that town's Juniors. In the previous tussle, the Yearlings swamped Colorado City, 30 to 0.

Monday Coach Good Graves put his lads through a stiff series of ground maneuvers, with the afternoon's work being finished with a hard scrimmage.

Rasdie and Claude Matlock, Graves' gridiron twins, were in uniform but were not taking part in the festivities, both lads nursing injuries. As for the remainder of the club, the Yearlings were whooping it up for a rough workout.

Graves was using Flynt in most of the around end and off tackle plays yesterday in the absence of Hugh Cochran, back, who has been a big contributing factor to Big Spring's clean sweep through the opposition.

Power Vies With Razzle-Dazzle In North-South Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 28. (AP)—Two exponents of razzle-dazzle play and an advocate of power will coach the Dixie squad for its annual North-South battle here Dec. 27.

Matty Bell of Southern Methodist University, L. R. (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, who favor intricate grid plays, and Lowell P. (Red) Dawson of Tulane were selected for the staff yesterday. It will be their first appearance in the blue-gray classic.

Bell and Meyer will tutor the backs and Dawson will be in charge of the line.

Carl Snavely of Cornell and Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern already have been selected to head the North backfield coaching staff for the fourth time and Bert Ingwersen, the latter's assistant, will handle the blue forward wall.

Southern Assn. To Hold Market Nights In '42

ATLANTA, Oct. 28 (AP)—A money-making scheme known as "merchandise night" has been adopted by the Southern Baseball association to reduce member clubs' dependence somewhat (they hope) on paid attendance.

As outlined, the plan would permit the eight clubs in the association to sell sponsorship of games to local merchants or business groups for a lump sum. The merchants would dispose of the tickets for a slight fee as an advertising stunt. New Orleans tried it out once last season with some success.

Directors at their brief business session yesterday made no mention of the league's Shaughnessy playoffs. Rumors had it that the playoffs would be discontinued—although both Atlanta and Nashville profited by post season games this past season.

Directors decided that henceforth pennant winners would get a 25 per cent cut of the Dixie Series pool, unless the pennant winner and the inter-association playoff winner were one and the same. In that case the team would receive the jackpot.

Next year the association will play a 154 game schedule, opening April 10 with Nashville at Knoxville, Little Rock at Birmingham, New Orleans at Memphis and Chattanooga at Atlanta.

Elected to the board to succeed the late Pay Murray was Larry Gilbert, president and manager of the Nashville club.

Major Trammell Scott was re-elected president.

Dove Season Ended Monday With Large Crop Still On Hand

Consensus of most Big Spring dove hunters was that had the season extended even beyond yesterday plenty of birds would have still been available. With Monday's windup, nitrode was more than well-satisfied with the bumper crop of 1941.

Since an abundance of birds were still on hand, despite heavy hunting throughout the season, there is every indication that the number of birds will be as large next year as they were during '41.

Steers Work On Air Tactics As Preparations For Match With Plainview Are Opened

Casualty List Numbers Two Big Springers

With their final non-conference game coming up here next Friday, Big Spring's Steers spent Monday afternoon working on aerial attack, both long and short. Plainview, holders of an 8 to 0 decision over the Big Springers when Pat Murphy and his lads went to Plainview last year, has built up an air-ground combination that has shown considerable strength.

Last week, the Plainview eleven downed Berger, 13 to 0, with the twins who set down Big Spring in 1940, Wick and Mick Mason, carrying a heavy share of the offensive load.

Big Spring is doubly anxious to obtain a victory over the Plainview club—first, they need every win possible, district or non-district; second, the Steers figure they have a score to settle with Plainview.

Last year, the Big Springers ran into one of the hardest playing clubs of their schedule. In fact, there were those who thought it was just a little too tough.

The Herald is possessor of a casualty list as preparations for the revenge battle get underway. Billy Shaw was out of the game last Friday because of a leg injury and was not out in uniform yesterday. Felix Campbell was on hand but still had a fractured thumb taped up.

Zupke Lauds Juzwik Of Notre Dame Club

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 28. (AP) Here is what Bob Zupke, veteran mentor of the University of Illinois eleven, has to say after watching Notre Dame maul his charges two straight years: "Steve Juzwik is as fine a runner as Tom Harmon of Michigan."

Bell's Right, Mustangs Will Be Underdogs Sat.

By The Associated Press
Not for nothing is the coach of Southern Methodist University's Mustangs called "Moanin' Matty" Bell.

After scouting the ponderous Texas Longhorns last week-end, he came back and remarked: "I know Texas' plays well, but we don't have the manpower to stop the team using them."

Hindering the Mustangs was doubt as to whether Tackle Joe Pasqua, expert placekicker, would be able to play in Saturday's game with the Longhorns here. Pasqua has an injured knee.

At Austin, Coach Dana X. Bible of the Longhorns showed a healthy respect for the Mustangs. Moanin' Matty's remarks notwithstanding, by announcing that his boys would get hard drills on pass defense.

The stout Texas Aggies, who suffered only one injury in defeating Baylor Saturday, began their week by watching the reserves scrimmage the freshmen. Back Tom Pickett nursed a twisted knee. He had already cracked some ribs.

Arkansas, the Aggies opponents this week, went to work, happy because, for the first time this season, all the backfield men were in good condition.

Rice, down for a tilt with Centenary Saturday night, had no injuries to report after taking a 40-0 licking from the Longhorns.

Injuries haunted the Texas Christian University gridiron, however, with Kyle Gillespie reported definitely out for the Baylor game. Half a dozen others listed as doubtful starters against Baylor.

The Bruins checked up on their pass defense as all hands turned out except End Jack Jeffrey, who has a broken hand.

Shute Makes Return Trip Here Wed.

Denny Shute, nationally known professional golfer will show his wares on the Big Spring Country Club course Wednesday afternoon, match getting underway at 2:30 o'clock.

Shute and Obie Bristow are to vie with Jimmy Gamewell, Country Club pro, and Harold Akey, Muncy pro.

Playing exhibition matches under the sponsorship of a dealer in sporting goods, Shute brings an impressive record on his jaunt. He was 1941 runnerup in the National Open and quarter-finalist in the Professional Golfers meet.

He is a two-time holder of the National Professional Golfers Association championship and a one-time British open title.

Following the match tomorrow, films taken by Jim Cantrell of the exhibition given by Shute here last year will be shown.

Gallery and showing of the film is open to the public and with no charge.

Snakes Alive, Something New In Football

Those wisenheimer who say there is nothing new in football just haven't had a peek at defensive tactics as worked out by John McIntosh, Big Spring Yearling back.

John doesn't throw confusion into the opposing ranks merely by his own efforts, though. He's ably and wigglingly assisted by a snake, of all things.

Friday afternoon, John was taking his regular workout session on Coach Good Graves' grid beginner class. He was in fine form, romping into the offensive team's maneuvers. Finally, when Coach Graves called on the ball-carriers to show more slip, one of the youngsters put up a plaintive howl.

"But Coach, he's waving a snake in our faces." And that's what the lad with the proud Scot name was doing—waving them down with a new kind of flag.

Although the new defensive system shows promise, it has a double-edged effect, John and his snake can put the wammies on the opposition, but they also unnerve their own mates.

When he's not bouncing his stooge in his hands or flagging down a ball-carrier, John drops it into his jersey. He declares it'll be that twelfth man on the field when the Yearlings go to Colorado City next Thursday.

Just Home Boys

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28. (AP)—Maybe this is the reason for Marquette's gridiron comeback this season? Squad members were asked if they had seen a huge picture of the team featured in a downtown department store and four players answered almost in unison: "Heck no, we haven't been downtown since September 2."

EDITORIAL -- We're Against Auto Use Tax

We view with alarm the federal government's new automobile use tax.

As for general raising of taxes, we view that as a necessity in connection with the extensive defense program. We're ready to pay higher income taxes, various new excise taxes and all of that to pay for an army and navy that will permit us to sleep sounder at night.

But that 55 use tax on automobiles is a monstrously that should shame every congressman who voted for it.

In the first place, a large part of its revenue will be spent by the treasury in collecting it. An exclusive collection agency must be set up to obtain this money, and we all know right well that when the federal government sets up a new bureau, economy is an unknown word. So very little of that $5 tax will find its way to the armament plants or to the soldier's pay check.

In the second place, it soaks the poor, and being poor, we don't like that idea. The $5 will be levied against 1936 model jalopies of $10 value as well as against brand new Rolls-Royces of $10,000 value.

In the third place, automobile owners pay more than a just share of the taxes now. Since license fees and gasoline taxes are used largely for construction of roads, they can't complain about these few costs, but the state now has a one percent sales tax on car sales, and the federal government taxes new car sales seven percent ($70 on the cheapest cars now sold).

We hope that congress sees fit to repeal this $5 use tax on cars. Are you listening, Mr. Mahon?

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter 19
Forgiveness

Sue Ellen hated to see Johnny leave for fear that in the interval before he called her at midnight as he promised, something might change his plans.

He named the hotel where he was staying, a fact which Riv accepted indifferently.

"What the devil do I care where he says," said Riv irritably. "I hate that Yankee. I hope I'll never see him again. Listen, Sue--"

But she was not listening. She was following with eager eyes the tall uniformed figure of Johnny Harris. She was saying over and over to herself, "I'm not bitter nor hurt nor unhappy any longer. In one hour, maybe two or three, something wonderful is going to happen."

"Sue--" Riv's voice, thickened and stammering, was right beside her. "Let's dance, honey."

"My head aches. I'm tired from my trip," she begged.

"Let's dance." Riv stood up and fairly dragged her to her feet. He held her so tightly that she could scarcely breathe as they moved across the dance floor. "Forgive me," he demanded.

She looked up half frightened by the intensity of his striding dark eyes. "Yes--yes, Riv. I've forgotten all about that."

It was true, Riv and his affair with Deedora Waller were of no importance to her any longer. What had Deedora told her? "Possibly what I have done will open your eyes to Riv and his weaknesses." Deedora was right, and tonight she felt nothing but pity for her. She could almost pity Riv for his weakness.

"Good little Sue," said Riv, and drew her closer.

She made no protest. Soon the evening would be over. It was best to humor Riv for the moment. On the way back to the hotel she would tell him that she would not see him again.

"Love me, honey?" The music sobbed and wailed and at the moment she did not have it in her heart to tell Riv the truth, so she said nothing.

Riv bent his head and his lean cheek pressed her own.

Complication

It was not easy to persuade Riv to leave the restaurant and when they were ready to leave, she found that he had tickets for the play he had mentioned earlier. Also, Riv was slightly drunk. This she had not taken into consideration when she promised so eagerly that she would be back at her hotel by midnight.

"Really, Riv -- I'm tired," she protested.

He said stubbornly: "I paid twenty dollars for these tickets. You'll love the show, Sue. It's about a girl like you. Sweet -- lovable." They were in the taxi and he slid his arm around her and his lips sought hers.

"Don't," she pushed him away, but he was stronger than she and he succeeded in kissing her not once but often.

Then he laughed and released her and she saw that he was not as intoxicated as he had seemed. There was an old gleam in his black eyes as he reached for a cigarette and lit it. "You and that Harris planning something together?" he asked insolently.

"Why?"

"Did you think I wasn't watching you?"

There was no answer to this and she made none, although, she was growing more and more uneasy. Johnny would call -- she would not be at her hotel. She had promised that she would be back by twelve, and if they went to the theatre it would be well past midnight when she returned. Riv was suspicious and had had just enough to drink to make him ugly.

While she sat worried and uncertain, the taxi drew up at the

Manhattan-- Wherein Holdup Man Uncovers Gyp Scheme

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK--D'ju get a load of that Nancy Walker kid in "Best Foot Forward?" Her pop's the little half of Barto & Mann, in Hellzapoppin', and I understand she was born in a trunk (figuratively) and has been trouping around with the first man ever since. This is Nancy's first stage assignment and the reason she clicked is that the Abbott office liked her but not having a part for her, said, "Look, kid, you're a blind date--you make people believe it!" She just acted natural-like, she claims; loves to face audiences; doesn't want to go Hollywood because her ambition is to be the "No-Glamour Girl of the Year." Doesn't use makeup. "I don't do any good," she says.

This is a McCoy story. Jesse Addler is a character. He's the bachelor who invented those shoes that "make you two inches taller," and "vent" them at popular prices. Recently one of his stores was held up and the clerk was tied and tossed behind the counter. When the stick-up man rifled the cash register and complained because there was only $78 and some odd change in it, the clerk apologized. "You don't know how to run a store," the hold-up man bawled. "Last week I held up a much smaller store than yours and got twice as much!" When Addler heard about the complaint he looked up his figures--and transferred the clerk--for the figures showed the holdup guy was right.

I see jockeys in the nightclubs frequently. They invariably have dancing partners six feet tall. The Como Inn has a waiter who is a dead ringer for Bob Hope. Central Park Fountain on Sunday afternoons looks like a restless ballerina patch--there are so many sailers there. Odd information: alexandrite, formerly the national gem of Russia, is green in daylight but red under artificial light. When cameramen take pictures of the penguins on the edge of Prometheus Fountain, they rush right up and pose enthusiastically. Not that they're camera-hogs. They think those camera boxes contain food.

George Price, an ex-Wall streeter who turned to Broadway and heads the show at LaComa, is green in daylight. "Excuse this intrusion, I came live with you day and night for six months, but we never met. Through you I was able to make a lot of money."

Price blushed, and confessed he found nothing familiar in the stranger's face.

"Well," said the stranger, "I'm Victor. I'm the inventor of the 38-millimeter film. While conducting experiments, I used a short you made back in 1927. I looked at that short every day and night for six months. Finally, I hit. They paid me $150,000 for the invention." And he led the bewildered Price to the bar!

"There's a drug store in this block. Riv must take you there. I'll see you after the show and we'll do something together."

She was to have no voice in their plan, and they had a plan for Riv stepped aside and talked hurriedly with his father before he took her arm and led her outside.

Fifteen minutes later she sat in the darkened theatre and felt a wave of fright sweep over her. She was with friends, she told herself. The Colonel whom she had known since babyhood and Riv with whom she played and quarreled in days of yore. He had interfered with some plan--upset some calculation of the Colonel's, and she remembered stories of the ruthless methods the Colonel had used to carry through his pet ambitions.

Riv persisted in holding her small cold hand and she only half saw the play, which was a gay sophisticated comedy, not tuned to her present mood.

"We must have a drink," the Colonel proposed upon joining them outside the theatre. "I have my car. I'll drive you across town later."

Lobby Talk

She had a wild desire to break away and hail a taxi. At half past twelve, the men still lingered over their Scotch and soda while her sherry stood untouched on the table in front of her.

There was music, which she scarcely heard only to remember that it was the tune she and Johnny danced to that evening, just a few short hours ago. Now it seemed an eternity since she promised to be back when he called. One o'clock. It was twenty after one when the Colonel arose and said: "You look sleepy."

She wasn't sleepy. She was wide-awake and nervous as a witch and furious at herself for reading a deliberate purpose to delay her in the time they had spent in the theatre and the cocktail bar.

"We'll drive Riv home first," the Colonel announced. "The Colonel's name's Riv, honey," she said. "She was not surprised when they finally reached her hotel to have Colonel Moore announce that he

Washington Daybook-- There's Plenty Of Reason Why Cases Of Sabotage Aren't Showing Up In US

(In the World War, cases of sabotage were reported nearly two and a half years before the United States entered the conflict and the 1914-17 list of such cases would fill more than a column of small type. At present, with the United States far outstripping its arms production effort of 35 years ago, there has not been discovered a single case of foreign-directed sabotage. In two articles, Jack Stinnett, Washington columnist for The Herald explains why and how sabotage has changed in the quarter century.)

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON--On January 1, 1915, a $1,500,000 incendiary fire in the John A. Roebling Co. plant at Trenton, N. J., manufacturing war supplies for the allies, blew the lid off one of the most amazing series of sabotage cases in world history. For nearly four years, these tragic "accidents" were to occur in America's preparedness and defense efforts with staggering repetition.

In February, there was an explosion of suspicious origin in the Haskell, N. J., Dupont powder plant and another occurred in the same place three weeks later.

That summer a foreigner made an unsuccessful effort to blow up the capitol, planting his bomb in the vice president's reception room. Just off the senate chamber, in 1918, the whole country was rocked by the Black Tom explosions on the New Jersey waterfront in New York harbor. The explosions rattled windows and shook buildings 90 miles away. The damage couldn't be estimated. More than a million dollars worth of plate glass was shattered in windows and store fronts in Manhattan across the bay.

After more than two years of national defense and industrial effort for Great Britain and her allies in the current war, there have only been nine proved cases of sabotage in defense plants and in not one of these is there the slightest evidence that it was directed or even inspired by any foreign power. (One possible exception, although it hardly belongs to this story, is the sabotage of axis ships in United States harbors. These were cases of nations scuttling their own property to prevent use by the enemy in case of seizure.)

This doesn't mean that some of the accidents in national defense might not have been sabotage. It's just that if they were, there's not any evidence of it. It doesn't mean either that there might not be a tragic case of sabotage tomorrow or following that scores of them.

Such possibilities, however, in no way detract from the remarkable record to date. In hundreds of accidents reported as possible sabotage, the federal bureau of investigation, or other investigating agencies, have determined the causes. One such case resulted in an improved and safer method of making powder. It now is in the use throughout the country. In some cases, still pretty much a mystery, the evidence has been against sab-

Hollywood Sights and Sounds-- Actor's Agents Have Just Two Ways of Getting Into Swim

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD--You start being an agent in Hollywood in one of two ways. Either you try to lure names off the lists of established agents, or you start from scratch and look for nobodies who you're sure can be somebodies.

Pretty Sus Carol, once a leading ingenue herself, took the latter course less than three years ago. She was selecting office furniture and renting space, even though she hadn't a single client, when she heard a local radio playlet featuring a splendid voice. The voice belonged to one Alan Ladd who, the announcer said, was playing the role of a young man and his grandfather. Right unseen--and Mr. Ladd might have been fat and 40 or lean and bald--Sue wrote him a letter. In response came a young blond gentleman, with a physique built by swimming and track at North Hollywood High, and Sue Carol was an agent with a client.

She's had others since--Shella Ryan, Lois Ranson, Dick Travis and others--for whom she got contracts. The other day she "sold" her prize pupil, her agency baby, to Paramount for a role with Veronica Lake in "This Gun For Hire" and a contract.

Ladd, previously sold for a part in "Joan of Paris" by Agent Carol, proceeded to sell Producer David Hempstead on Sue Carol as the actress to play the Nazi secret agent in Paris. If she takes the part, Agent Ladd gets 10 per cent commission from Client Carol.

Whatever else may be the verdict on "Joan of Paris," no unkind critic may complain that its garbage smells. No adventures film held in Paris would be complete without an escape via the famous sewers, and no Paris sewer presumably would be realistic without floating garbage. RKO's garbage, however, is something special--chopped fresh vegetables, scattered in the morning, scooped up at noon, replaced with fresher ones for the afternoon shooting. The sewer water, likewise for reasons of health, is pure and constantly flowing.

The effect, as Star Michaels Morgan, Ladd, Jack Briggs and others waded through the dank tunnels pursued by Gestapoman Laird Cregar and his minions, is very much like fresh vegetable salad--adorned, of course, with them.

Bing Crosby, who has introduced a song hit in most of his other 34 pictures, hasn't a chance to repeat in "Birth of the Blues"--the only new tune of its 15 songs is "The Waiter and the Porter and the Upstairs Maid."

Moore Auction Shows Profit

MOORE, Oct. 28 (Sp) -- The auction sale held Friday night was a big success in spite of rainy weather. There was a steady downpour of rain which cut attendance considerably, but those present grabbed up bargains and the sale netted $82 for the Parent-Teachers Association.

Mrs. O. C. Robins and son, Harold Lloyd, and Becky Washam of Midland visited Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Goodman over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Phillips and children, Freddie, Dorothy Jean, and Edgar Allen, made a business trip to Lamesa Sunday.

J. R. Goodman, who is enlisted in the medical division at Fort

Applications For AAA Payments In

Forty-seven applications for soil conservation payments for Howard county farmers were mailed by the county AAA office Monday night to the state office.

Two hundred applications are virtually completed, and will be mailed soon, the office announced. Total payments to the county for conservation practices are expected to amount to $175,000 or thereabouts.

Life's Darkest Moment

1942 AAA Program To Be Explained

Details of the operation of the 1942 AAA program, which will be radically different from 1941 and previous programs, will be explained to AAA officials in a district meeting here Thursday.

County administrative officers and committee members will meet at the Settles hotel Thursday to hear state AAA officials explain details of the 1942 program. Details of filling in farm plan sheets will also be worked out.

Jurors Taste Liquor Trial Evidence

IOLA, Kas., Oct. 28 (AP) — Because some of the jurors tasted the evidence, Judge Wallace H. Anderson has ordered a new trial for a man convicted of possession of intoxicating liquor.

Defense Attorney Guy M. Lamar, in his motion for new trial, produced affidavits that some of the jurors sampled the evidence when it was passed among them for observation.

FLIERS THOUGHT DEAD

FRESNO, Calif., Oct. 28 (AP) — Winter weather, interfering with aerial search, today virtually ended hope that the pilots of three army planes lost in the Sierra-Tehachapi mountain area would be found alive.

amounted to "a tremendous offensive against Hitler."

There was no immediate response from Latin America, to whose defense against what he said were Nazi plans for conquest and reorganization Roosevelt devoted a section of his talk.

This part of the speech was described by Berlin sources as "the climax of Roosevelt fantasy and the emanation of hallucinations which are as bad as they are absurd."

The "secret map" which Roosevelt said had come into his possession showing Germany's plans with regard to South America they called "a complete swindle and forgery," and challenged him to say "where he got it and why he kept it so long."

"If Roosevelt's henchmen manufactured one it's a clear forgery intended to out-do all previous forgeries," they added.

The whole speech, Germans said, was a "conglomeration of suspicions, insinuations, slanders, falsifications and suppositions which could not by any stretch of the imagination be worse."

They asked how a statesman "who deems himself responsible for the fate of the whole hemisphere" could resort to "such monstrous assertions" unless he wanted war "at any cost."

Cold Weather Hits Wide Midland Area

By The Associated Press

Overcast and anti-freeze weather chilled the midlands today.

Temperatures at freezing or below were reported throughout the vast territory from the Great Plains and northern Texas eastward almost to the Appalachians.

The freeze front line at the weather bureau observation time extended from Elk City, Okla., through Arkansas, south of St. Louis, Mo., through west central Indiana, northwestern Ohio to northern New York state.

Mink Farm Ruined By Insect Poison

EL PASO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Arsenic is driving H. L. Hughes and his depleted crop of minks to the mountains.

Hughes, a former Philadelphian, said today he has lost 300 minks as a result of arsenic poisoning, adding that the arsenic apparently was blowing in from nearby cotton fields.

Laboratory tests revealed the cause of the deaths, the mink farm operator said. Arsenic is used for poisoning cotton pests.

Hughes was planning to relocate his farm to the mountain country between Budozo and Aho, N. M.

Scared Trainee Released

WALSENBURG, Colo. — Ben Padilla, whose scar criss-crossed back created a stir among army induction officers, has been released because he is past 28. At his induction examination, Padilla told army officers that the lacerated scars on his back were the result of whips beaten into his flesh during the weird religious rites conducted by the secret order of the Penitent Brothers or Penitents.

Night Scene—Like a gigantic pattern of jewels, the Tidwell carnival sparkles at night as the many ride attractions swing into action. The midway of the West Texas amusement institution has its usual quota of glamour, particularly when lights and music take effect. The show opens here Nov. 2.

Here 'n There

The fire Monday evening was at a negro shack on NW 3rd street, and little damage occurred. The blaze, said firemen, originated from an oil stove.

Tom Beasley, coordinator of records for the department of vocational education, visited with relatives here briefly Tuesday before continuing to Amarillo. Beasley is a former resident.

Buffalo Paradise—Out on the X Ranch in Jeff Davis county the buffalo graze unmolested. Back in 1915 the ranch became interested in the animal, purchased five from the famed Goodnight herd and now has 40 on its property. Pictured are five of the animals, including three of this year's calves, on their protected range.

Robert Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Halley, who was stationed at Honolulu after he received his commission from the U. S. naval academy last spring, is recovering from a surgery. Since shipping to his eastern station, Robert has had tough luck, missing most of the movements of his boat due to being in the naval hospital.

The East Fourth Baptist Brotherhood will meet at 7:30 p. m. today (meetings normally are held on Monday) with W. W. Nowlin, J. L. Moreland and S. N. Moreland as speakers. Efforts are being made to have an unusually large attendance.

The Rev. J. Richard Spann, former pastor of the First Methodist church here, has been transferred back into the Texas conference after eight years in Louisiana. Dr. Spann went from here to Baton Rouge, La. and now is assigned as pastor of the Laurel Heights Methodist church in San Antonio.

Remember the U.S.O. had a $10,000,000 objective last spring when appeals were made to the nation to subscribe it. Now Harper Sibley, president of the unit, announces that a budget of $13,400,000 has been subscribed. However, this is hardly sufficient to meet the need. By Jan. 1, 1942, the USO is to have 500 buildings in operation at camps, and currently has 313 units in rented quarters. USO has more than 600 workers in the field.

Take it from one young Big Spring business man, it is better to be in business for oneself than working for the other man.

"When I worked for the other man I always had to divide what I made," he explained. "Now, I get to keep everything I bring in," the youthful tycoon said.

Just on an average Saturday he makes as much as two dollars, according to the private business man.

Incidentally, he's in the shoe shine business — marches up and down the streets with a box, dispensing shiners for ten cents each.

Lieut. Com. J. J. (Gene) Tunney, USNR, former world heavyweight champion boxer and now the navy's athletic director, will be in Dallas on Nov. 4-5 to interview applicants for appointment as physical education instructors in the navy, said S. L. Cooke, head of the local recruiting station. Cooke said applicants must have a PE degree from a recognized college in addition to meeting other recognized requirements, and that single men would be given preference.

Ex-Mustang Told To Report For Draft

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Johnny Clement may drill with the army instead of the Chicago Cardinals of the National professional football league after Nov. 6. A local draft board ordered the former Southern Methodist University football player to report for induction on that date.

Administrator—V. C. Marshall is a pioneer leader in the Texas conservation movement. Now administrator of the State Soil Conservation board with headquarters in Temple, he was largely instrumental in consolidating all factions and bringing about passage of a state soil conservation law.

Graded fine French combing territory wools sold at $106-110 scoured basis, which is equivalent to 36-37 cents in the grease for wools shrinking around 66 per cent and 38-40 cents in the grease for wools shrinking around 64 per cent.

Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 23 (AP)—The wheat market was nervous as a cat in a thunderstorm today. It bounced up and down, over a range of between and 3 cents a bushel in the bewildering gyrations of a market that lacked leadership. At the start, prices went up on the strength of President Roosevelt's blunt speech last night saying that Americans "have taken their battle stations."

Wheat closed unchanged to 3-5 a bushel higher than yesterday's finish, December 1.13 1-4-1-5, May 1.18 1-3-1-18; corn 1-4 lower to 1-3 higher, oats unchanged to 1-3 off, soybeans 1-4 higher to 1-2 lower, rye unchanged to 1-4 lower, and lard 12-15 advanced.

Speech

From the all-inclusive whole of our vast industrial machine, x x x our output must be multiplied."

He continued:

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of industrial managers who hold out for extra profits, or for 'business as usual.'"

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of labor leaders who are a menace. . . ."

Applause and cheers halted him momentarily here, but presently he was able to continue:

"... for labor as a whole knows that small minority is a menace to the true cause of labor itself, as well as to the nation as a whole."

The setting for the president's address was the annual dinner of the Navy League in the glittering ballroom of the Mayflower hotel. There were uniforms and gold braid in profusion. Emblems, admirals, army and marine corps officers rubbed elbows, and shared tables with congressmen, members of the judiciary and representatives of foreign countries. The fare was foie's gras—navy bean soup, fat back and cabbage, and navy brisaket, mulligan style.

At the very outset Mr. Roosevelt indicted Hitler for attacking shipping in "areas close to the Americas in the north and south Atlantic."

He cited the loss of American merchantmen and the two torpedo attacks on U. S. destroyers—the unsuccessful one on the Greer, and the one that damaged the Kearny, killing eleven and wounding ten of her crew.

"We have wished to avoid shooting," he said. "But the shooting has started. And history has recorded who fired the first shot. In the long run, however, all that will matter is who fired the last shot."

Mr. Roosevelt referred in ironical tones to Hitler's frequent protestations "that his plans for conquest do not extend across the Atlantic ocean."

"But," he commented, "his submarines and raiders prove otherwise. And so does the entire design of his world order."

"For example, I have in my possession a secret map made in Germany by Hitler's government—by the planners of the new world order. It is a map of South America and a part of Central America, as Hitler proposes to reorganize it."

"Today in this area there are fourteen separate countries. But the geographical experts in Berlin, however, have ruthlessly obliterated all existing boundary lines. They have divided South America into five vassal states, bringing the whole continent under their domination."

"And they have also so arranged it that the territory of one of these new puppet states includes the Republic of Panama and our great life-line—the Panama Canal."

"This is his plan. It will never go into effect."

"And that map, my friends, makes clear the Nazi design not only against South America but against the United States itself."

The president then turned to the subject of religion.

"Our government has in its possession another document made in Germany by Hitler's government. It is a detailed plan, which, for obvious reasons, the Nazis did not and do not wish to publicize just yet, but which they are ready to impose a little later on a dominated world—if Hitler wins."

"It is a plan to abolish all existing religions—Catholic, Protestant, Mohammedan, Hindu, Buddhist and Jewish alike. The property of all churches will be seized by the reich and its puppets. The cross and all other symbols of religion are to be forbidden. The clergy are to be forever liquidated—silenced under penalty of the concentration camp."

"In place of the churches of our civilization, there is to be set up an international Nazi church—a church which will be served by the orators sent out by the Nazi government. In the place of the Bible, the words of Mein Kampf will be imposed and enforced as holy writ. And in place of the cross of Christ will be put two symbols—the swastika and the naked sword."

Mr. Roosevelt asserted that the United States rejected all Nazi efforts—whether by intimidation or actual attack—to force American shipping to relinquish its right to freedom on the seas.

He spoke of increasing arms production here, and added "It is this nation's will that these vital arms and supplies of all kinds shall neither be locked in American harbors or sent to the bottom of the sea."

"It is the nation's will that America shall deliver the goods."

"In open defiance of that will, our ships have been sunk and our sailors have been killed."

"And I say that we do not propose to take this lying down."

"That determination of ours not to take it lying has been expressed in orders to the American navy to shoot on sight. Those orders stand."

WPA Hallowe'en Party Planned

Hallowe'en activities under the direction of the city-WPA recreation department have already got underway and will be climaxed Friday with a big party Friday evening at the American Business Club park.

Monday evening the Music club had its Hallowe'en festivities at the ABC park. It was the first of a round of events to be staged on the various playgrounds during the week. Children have been busy making cut-outs of pumpkins, witches, cats and bats, constructing jack-o'-lanterns and planning games and spooky stories.

Friday afternoon the Mexican plaza will be the scene of a pinata party. That evening the ABC park will have an annual affair, will feature a costume parade, games, contests, fortune-telling, a treasure hunt, music, a Hall of Horrors, a fishing pond and other items, said H. F. Malone, recreational supervisor.

Army Plane Crashes Near Vaughn, N. Mex.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 23 (AP)—An army plane believed to be a training ship from Kelly Field, Texas, crashed and burned in a remote section 135 miles southeast of Albuquerque near Vaughn today.

Reports received at the Albuquerque air base indicate that five men were aboard and that all have been killed.

FD's Talk Favored

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Press Secretary Stephen Early said today White House telegraph fives and the telephone switchboard had "collapsed" under the load of messages evoked by President Roosevelt's Navy Day speech. Early said they ran about 8 to 1 in favoring it.

Fire Chief Sets Blazes

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—Hurt by snipers at his little brigade Brian Edwards, superintendent of the Coronado Fire Brigade, started three fires to show what he could do in putting them out. As a result he appeared in court on three charges of arson and was placed on probation for three years.
