Interest High In County's Product Show

Farmers, Manufacturers Will Exhibit Wares Here October 17-18

Plans for Howard county products exhibit, which many see as the nucleus of a county or area fair, moved forward Saturday as the show dates of Oct. 17-18 moved nearer.

County Agent O. P. Griffin and Lynn Farnsworth, home demonstration agent, both found interest in community booths high. Rural folks, they indicated, are selecting choice food and feed stuff for their displays, which will be judged by communities and then by individual products.

Besides these, the home demonstration women and the 4-H club girls and boys were due to have special exhibits.

At least 10 local manufacturing concerns had asked reservation of space for a display of their wares at the products show, and the number was expected to double by time for the doors to open Friday.

Early in the week the show quarters at 1st and Runnels street will be cleared, lights installed and booths constructed.

Members of the Howard County Fair association, sponsors of the event, have been visiting several fairs in the area recently, getting ideas which might be applied not only to this year's undertaking, but to a real fair if such should prove feasible.

REVIEWING THE

BIG SPRING WEEK

—BY JOE PICKLE—

County Judge W. S. Morrison vows that advertising pays. No sooner had a little feature story appeared about flag pole troubles at the courthouse than he had a flock of volunteers offering to climb the poles. In no time, the job was done and now the flag may fly again from the standard.

It's not in the breaking stage yet, but there is every reason to believe that the Big Spring Flying Service will be in line for a nice and unusual contract before too long. Because of the old slip betwixt the cup and lip possibility just what it is can't be announced as yet.

Evidently Big Spring won a spot in the hearts of 5,000 troops and officers with its entertainment for the men Monday evening. Soldiers said it was the first such measure of community hospitality they had seen, and regarding the church entertainments one veteran of 14 years of army life declared it was the first time he had seen churches get in on the deal.

Of all the Fire Prevention Week observances we have seen here, the one during the past week must be counted the most effective. A graphic and commonsense appeal through the means of practical demonstrations got the message over to 3,500 people. Some good is bound to come from that.

Monday delinquent tax payers will get slips from the city advising them to pay back taxes before Nov. 1 even if they have to borrow the money. Even at 10 per cent, they stand to save the difference between 15 to 43 per cent on taxes falling due from 1939 to 1944 and prior years.

We look for the Howard County Products exhibit Friday and Saturday to develop into a mighty good show. There could hardly be a better time for it, and if it turns out right, there is reason to believe that it will expand into an annual event.

Lots of money is being turned loose here these days. The way cotton has been rolling in, around $100,000 a day is being grossed off production. Of this $100,000 goes to pickers. Some of the larger crews are making $900 to $700 a week, and Saturday when crew captains paid off it looked like an army paymaster in action. Add to the cotton money $20,000 in parity payments received to date. And, doubtless, farmers are realizing something off feed and stock.

In recent months most of the home building here has been by Mexicans. True the amount going into these homes is small, but they are homes nevertheless, and that's something.

Odeasa had a good stunt Friday night when George Cook and Jimmy Bowden, Odeasa gridders, were presented their eagle scout badges at the game. More than 6,000 witnessed the ceremony, probably one of the largest crowds ever to witness such a presentation.

Methodists' Revival Will Close Today

Bishop H. A. Boaz, who has been leading in the First Methodist revival, will deliver his last sermon today as the special evangelistic campaign comes to a close.

Dr. J. O. Haynes, pastor of the church, was looking for a banner day. Bishop Boaz will speak on the "Kingdom of God versus the Proposed Kingdom of Hitler" at the morning hour. In the evening he will cap his series of messages with a sermon on "The Great Decision." A special morning music feature will be the quartet composed of Wanda McQuinn, Dorothy Newton, King Sides, and H. G. Keaton, singing "Consider the Lilies." The annual mission festival of the St. Paul's Lutheran church has been set for today, according to the Rev. R. L. Kaspar, pastor. The Rev. J. A. Birnbaum, Vernon, will be the principal speaker. Dinner will be served at the city park and there will be services at the church at 2:30 p. m.

Communications Body Fixes Radio Rules

Unveil Marker At Spindletop

This was the scene at Spindletop near Beaumont, Tex., as a towering marker on the site of Lucas No. 1, a gusher back in 1901, was unveiled at a ceremony October 8. The marker stands amid derricks in the present field, commemorating the commercial founding of Texas' oil empire.

GESTAPO AGENT REPORTED IN CHARGE OF OUTPOST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Blocking a bold Nazi attempt to establish a radio station on American-protected Greenland for dispatch of weather and other information of military importance was reported today by the navy.

A "German sponsored expedition" of about 20 persons and a small Norwegian steamer were seized by a United States naval vessel, and at the same time radio equipment were "disposed of", the navy announced.

An agent of the German gestapo and "two other Norwegians" were ashore to operate the radio, said a brief statement.

The ship — the first seized by the United States since the war started, aside from German, Italian and other vessels requisitioned in United States ports—was reported en route now to this country for further examination, along with the captured expedition members.

So far as has been disclosed, the incident represented the first successful direct action by the navy against Nazi activities in the north Atlantic, although the destroyer Greer and a German submarine engaged in a shooting incident early in September. The submarine fired torpedoes wide of the destroyer, which, in turn, dropped depth bombs. Berlin reports said the submarine was not damaged.

Major Ernest Pickering, Dallas, divisional secretary of the Salvation Army, will conduct services at the Dora Roberts Citadel this morning and evening. Mrs. Pickering, who is accompanying the major here, will have charge of the music services.

"Hidden Means" will be the subject for the morning sermon of the Rev. Ernest Orton at the Church of the Nazarene, and in the evening he will speak on "Back to Bethel."

The First Baptist church, now pastorless, will hear the Rev. Guy Newman of Temple in both regular services. The Rev. Newman also will address the Brotherhood on Monday evening.

Ranchers from a wide area are expected to be at the Cattle ranch nine miles southwest of Big Spring Monday for a cattle lice control demonstration.

The demonstration will be conducted by specialists from A. and M. college. Treatment will be for the short nose ox louse, which has recently migrated to this country from the north, ear ticks, and ox-warble. All are controlled by a new, non-poisonous remedy.

The demonstration will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Bomber Fails To Take Off, Two Killed

Sixteen Injured In Unusual Accident At Duncan Field

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 11 (AP)—A big army bomber which skittered along a runway, crashed into a building and caught fire at huge Duncan Field here today killed First Lieut. Maurice A. Morgan and Robert Reichstadt, injured 16 persons and narrowly missed 23 officers holding a conference.

The four-motored bomber plane burned for more than three hours, during which four civilian employees at Duncan Field, one of the army's biggest repair depots, were burned, one seriously.

Twelve other army men, stationed at Albuquerque, N. M., as were Pilot Morgan and Co-Pilot Reichstadt, brought the injured list to 16.

Another passenger in the plane was not accounted for this afternoon.

Witnesses said the big ship, taking off on a navigation training flight back to its Albuquerque base, swerved along the runway for 1,500 feet, apparently unable to rise.

The plane continued its uneven course and sliced into a corner of the Duncan Field transportation building the roof over the corner collapsed, crashing into a room in which, 12 minutes before, 25 officers had finished a conference and departed.

When it struck the building the plane burst into flames. Attendees at Duncan Field and Kelly Field, army flying school just across a road, rushed to the scene and pulled the passengers clear.

Some were given first aid on the spot, others were taken to Kelly Field hospital and then rushed through the city to the base hospital at Fort Sam Houston, about 15 miles away. Military police cleared traffic lanes through San Antonio for the ambulances.

The army authorities were chary of details, but those injured included Lieut. T. B. McKnight, head and hand injuries, and Sgt. J. J. Jones, fractured arm.

Fasco Martin, 29, civilian employee at Duncan, was severely burned when a gasoline tank on the plane exploded as he worked to rescue the injured. Three other civilian workers were hurt slightly.

(Army authorities at the Albuquerque base of the 38th reconnaissance squadron, however, did not confirm any of the plane passengers' names except Lieut. Morgan and Reichstadt.)

At Fort Sam Houston army officials did not make clear which of the passengers was not accounted for, nor did it release the home addresses of the army men.

Authorities at the crash scene commandeered cameras and removed film exposed by newspaper photographers.

Lieut. Morgan, a native of Buda, Tex., and his passengers had been several days on a stopover between Bolling Field, Ill., and Albuquerque. The bomber was being used for a navigation training flight.

Lieut. Morgan graduated from the advanced flying school at Kelly Field, Calif. His widow, formerly Shirley Betha of San Antonio, and an 18-month-old daughter survive.

Lieut. Reichstadt, native of Omaha, Neb., was parachute and technical supply officer at the Albuquerque base. He too was a Kelly graduate and had served at Randolph Field, Tex., and March Field. He was a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Mann Asks Supreme Court Explanation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The supreme court was asked today to explain what one of its opinions meant.

Clarification was sought by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann of Texas to settle a conflict between the state supreme court and the state court of civil appeals.

The controversy grew out of litigation over a Texas railroad commission order fixing at 32 cents per thousand cubic feet the rate at which the Lone State Gas company can sell gas for consumption in 270 Texas cities and towns.

Duke And Duchess Visit In Maryland

TIMONIUM, Md., Oct. 11 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived here this afternoon on a visit to the duchess' uncle, General Henry M. Warfield, at his Baltimore county estate, Salons Farm.

Germans Boast Of Widespread Gains

The Russians acknowledged officially today that the red army guarding Moscow—hard-hit and outnumbered—was "retreating to new positions" closer to the imperiled capital which women and children were ordered to leave at once.

The most imminent threat apparently was from the west where weight of numbers and the strength of relentless attack was carrying the Germans ahead through the Vyazma region 125 miles from Moscow.

The Russians said the Germans also were smashing closer to the capital from the Orel sector, 220 miles to the southwest.

The soviet Sunday communique said "in the Vyazma region the enemy succeeded in pressing back our troops" despite stubborn resistance. The Russians said a single battlefield was littered with 9,000 German dead and wounded in fighting yesterday.

Although tens of thousands of red army reserves were hurled into the fight, the Russians declared the crushing nazis still outnumbered the defense forces having the way to the capital.

The Russians disclosed that there had been some removal of women and children from Moscow since the start of bombing there, but said in view of the new threat all who were not needed in war-vital industries had been ordered to leave.

In a special war bulletin the Germans declared that in the southern Ukraine, too, they had won new victories which paved the way for seizure of the industrially important Donets basin for an assault on the great Caucasian oil fields.

The Russians, in their Sunday morning communique, declared the Bryansk and Vyazma sectors of the central front were the scenes of the fiercest fighting along the whole continent-spanning battle line.

Even in her blackest hour of the 11-day-old struggle, Russia defied the might of German arms.

"The people of the Soviet Union will not lay down their arms until every Nazi soldier on our soil is annihilated," said S. A. Lozovsky, official Russian spokesman. Lozovsky denied emphatically that the U. S. S. R. was considering an armistice or that the Soviet government had left Moscow or contemplated doing so.

The Russians conceded the extreme gravity of the situation facing their army, and Soviet newspapers urgently renewed an appeal to Great Britain to invade western Europe while "the main German armies are chained in the east."

Officially, Britain remained silent, but British political leaders took up the cry for concrete help to the beleaguered Soviets and an English student group bombarded Prime Minister Winston Churchill with a demand for "immediate armed action to relieve pressure on our Russian allies."

Aneurin Bevan, laborite M. P., declared that "the people are getting restless," and telegrams urging the opening of a second front were sent to Churchill by other groups in Leeds, Oxford and by groups in London.

ACKERLY, Oct. 11.—Dedication of the new Methodist church at Ackerly is scheduled Wednesday night, according to the Rev. Howard Howell, pastor.

Bishop Iva Lee Hoelt of Dallas will deliver the dedicatory sermon. He will be introduced by the Rev. E. B. Bowen of Sweetwater, district superintendent.

Red Cross To Plan Annual Roll Call

Executive board of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter will examine organization plans for the annual roll call at its meeting Tuesday evening and look ahead to entertaining a regional roll call conference here Oct. 27.

Indications are that the local chapter will go into its annual roll call effort with the best organization in its history. It also will be faced with the task of raising the largest quota ever to confront it.

The parity has been set for 7:30 p. m. at chamber of commerce offices.

Government May Seize Plane Plant

Mennace Continues To Hover Over Army Tank Output

By The Associated Press
The possibility of government seizure of another strike-involved plant arose Saturday.

The defense mediation board announced that the management of Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J., had refused to accept the board's recommendations for ending a strike by CIO-United.

On Thursday, a board official had asserted that if the company rejected the recommendations the government might take over the plant. In two other cases — that of the North American Aviation at Inglewood, Calif., and the Federal Shipbuilding company at Kearny, N. J. — the government has taken over operation of plants, North American — where the union had ignored board recommendations — was returned to the management after the strike was broken.

Board officials said they expected no further government action in the Bendix case before Monday. The strike started as a protest against what the union said was discharge of several of its members for union activity.

The menace of production stoppage continued to hover over army tank output CIO workers at the Spicer Manufacturing company in Toledo, Ohio, stood by the refusal to handle any parts coming to the plant from the Hilldale (Mich.) Steel Products company, where an AFL union recently won an election from the CIO.

The Spicer plant turns out a majority of the transmission assemblies for the new army tanks, but gets parts for its assembly from its Hilldale subsidiary. Spicer employs about 2,300 men, Hilldale about 500.

A new dispute arose in the steel industry. Six blast furnaces at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company plant in south Chicago and its tin mill in Gary, Ind., shut down. Company officials said the stoppage arose from a dispute between women members of a CIO union and non-union employees, but did not explain the nature of the dispute.

Judges, Mayors To Head Defense Units

AUSTIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—All county judges in Texas and the mayors of 417 incorporated cities today were named coordinators in the state-national defense plan.

Announcing the appointments, Governor Coke R. Stevenson said judges would officiate in areas outside of city limits while mayors would hold equal status in their respective cities.

Bulgarian Army Reported Mobilizing

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—The British radio announced receipt of reports tonight from Ankara that general mobilization had been ordered in Bulgaria.

This broadcast, heard by NBC, followed an earlier BBC report attributed to Ankara sources that new unrest had broken out in Bulgaria.

Congressmen Believe Nazi Victory Might Start Trouble In East

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—The opinion that a Nazi victory over Russia might lead to a serious clash of Japanese and American interests in the Pacific was expressed today by three members of the senate foreign relations committee.

In separate interviews, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), Senator George (D-Ga.), the ranking member, and Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) agreed that might follow if the soviets were unable to maintain large-scale resistance to the Germans.

Another senator, Adams (D-Col.), who is not a member of the committee, expressed a similar view in direct language.

"They (the Japanese) might try to get rough with us" was the way he put it.

At the state department, meantime, it was disclosed that arrangements had been completed for three Japanese ships to bring 100 Americans to this country from Japanese ports and to take back about 600 Japanese who desire to return to their homeland.

The first ship will leave Yokohama October 15 and is due at San Francisco October 30. The second vessel will leave Yokohama October 20 and is due at Seattle November 1. The third will leave Yokohama October 23 and is due at Honolulu November 1.

The question of an exchange of nationals has been under discussion since August when Japanese sailings to this country were suspended due to freezing of Japanese assets in the United States. Japan refused to approve a state department plan for the U. S. steamer President Coolidge to call at a Japanese port and pick up Americans wishing to return home.

Four Star Cast Offered In Sunday Attraction At Ritz

"When Ladies Meet" Called Tops In Comedy

Joan Crawford, Robert Taylor, Greer Garson and Herbert Marshall come to the screen as a notable all-star cast in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "When Ladies Meet," showing today and Monday at the Ritz theatre. Based on Rachel Crothers' stage play, one of the big successes of Broadway, it is a biting comedy of tangled loves and bewildered lovers, directed by Robert Z. Leonard.

Miss Crawford plays a sentimental woman novelist, loved by Taylor. She "falls" for Herbert Marshall, her publisher. The jealous Taylor gets an idea and arranges for Miss Crawford and Miss Garson, who plays Marshall's wife, to meet. Not knowing they are love rivals, the two women become great friends.

Amid hilarious situations, Miss Crawford confides in Miss Garson and tells of her infatuation. Then Marshall enters the scene and fur begins to fly. Miss Garson says that this last flirtation with her friend is too much—much too much. She quits Marshall, who suddenly has discovered that he really loves his own wife. Taylor acts as cupid and brings them together again.

The story is played in ultra-modern New York settings and in one of the most attractive homes ever designed for the screen. It represents an old grist mill which has been rebuilt into a charming cottage while still keeping the effect of the old mill, which dates back to Colonial times. Miss Crawford and Miss Garson both wear ultra-modern fashions, created by Adrian.

Tillie Of The Comics Comes To The Screen

"Tillie the Toller," honey of the funny page, makes her screen debut at the Lyric theatre today and Monday in one of the most delightful comedies of the season.

Said to be a redoubtable running-mate to "Blondie," that other comic strip heroine whose movie stardom has set something of a Hollywood record for consistent entertainment, "Tillie the Toller" comes to life as a likable young woman, attractive, neither too intelligent nor too dumb, concerned with dates and clothes even during the eight hours she devotes to business, but still absorbed in her job to both the delight and the delirium of her boss.

"Tillie" is a stenographer in the dress house of Simpkins and Company, where she has several devoted admirers. Mr. Simpkins is not one of them, because she practically wrecks his business and his temper before she reaches the first and thus restores the second.

Tillie's admirers include Mac, the diminutive, yellow youngster whose admiration of Tillie is sincere and whole-hearted; Wally Whipple, whose admiration of Tillie rarely transcends his admiration of himself, and Ted Williams, a handsome "smoothie" who hands the poor little working girl lines so deftly that she becomes as starry-eyed in his presence as Mac is in hers.

"Tillie the Toller" is said to follow in faithful detail the characters and events of the comic strip itself. The players chosen for the major roles include lovely Kay Harris, a newcomer to the screen who fits "Tillie" to a "T," according to advance reports. Miss Harris was chosen by Penny Singleton, the lovely star of the "Blondie" series, and by Robert Sparks, her producer-husband, after a year-long search.

Mac is played by William Tracy. Mummy, Tillie's little mother is brought to the screen by Daphne Pollard; Mr. Simpkins is played by George Watts, of the Broadway stage, and Wally is personified by radio-famous Jack Arnold. In the cast of the current film also are Ernest Truax, as Mr. Simpkins' business rival; Stanley Brown, as Ted Williams; Edward Gargan and Sylvia Field.

Tillie—That working gal of the funny pages, Tillie the Toller, is being brought to the screen in a new series of pictures, the first of which is at the Lyric theatre today and Monday. The part of Tillie is played by winsome Kay Harris.

Domestic production of steel will total $1 million tons this year, the largest amount ever produced by any country, the Department of Commerce says.

Ellery Queen Encounters A Perfect Crime

A picture said to be packed with suspenseful mystery, with comedy, romance and thrills, is the latest adventure of the famous sleuth, Ellery Queen. Titled "Ellery Queen and the Perfect Crime," the picture is at the Queen theatre today and Monday.

This latest crime-solving exploit of the popular screen, radio and fiction detective tops even its predecessors, "Ellery Queen, Master Detective," and "Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery."

No small share of the picture's success must be attributed to the splendid cast, headed by Ralph Bellamy as Ellery Queen. Bellamy, who has made the role uniquely his own, is brilliantly supported by such other familiar names as Margaret Lindsay, who appears to perfection as Nikki Porter; Charles Grapewin, as Inspector Queen, and James Burke, as Sergeant Velle. Also featured in the cast are a thoughtfully-chosen set of character actors whose very names are indicative of their capabilities; Spring Byington, H. B. Warner, John Seal, Linda Hayes, Douglas Dumbrille, Walter Kingsford, Sidney Blackmer and Charles Lane.

"Ellery Queen and the Perfect Crime" has its foundation in the discovery of a financier's body, with a knife in his chest. A man who had profited greatly by "selling out" his friends and associates, the victim is later proved by Ellery Queen to have died, not from the wound, but of poison. It isn't until this vital fact is uncovered that Queen—the perfect detective—is able seriously to tackle the "perfect crime."

James Hogan, who directed the first two of the Ellery Queen pictures, transcends his own previous work in this current hit. Eric Taylor wrote the action-packed, laugh-filled screen play and Larry Darmour produced the film.

Before 1875, the only European powers with any considerable interest in Africa were Britain, Portugal and France.

Big Spring's Water System Has Shown Marked Growth

(This is the first of a series of articles on the Big Spring water system.—Ed.)

By MARY WHALEY

The rise of any city has always been dependent on its available water supply. Big Spring until just recently had plenty of water troubles to worry about.

With the wells being worked overtime, the addition of two lakes, Moss Lake and Powell Lake, was imperative.

Early Big Spring had trouble getting enough water. So did present day Big Spring until the lakes furnished the answer to this dilemma.

Earlier methods of buying water by the barrel from water peddlers went with the horse and buggy. Now an efficient laboratory at the water plant carries on unceasing tests for water purity and taste. The well superintendent maintains a constant vigil over his wells for repairs, cleanliness and workability. The lake superintendent is ever on the watch to see equipment is not shut down by electrical storms and everything is always in perfect working condition.

With the addition of the lakes, a million and a half gallons of water can be produced each day from Powell Lake. But this supply is not wholly sufficient since equipment isn't large enough to supply the entire city during abnormally high consumption.

While Powell Lake is used exclusively, a branch taste in Moss Creek water and lack of need have kept this lake from being used.

If housewives today had to bother with a water barrel in front of the house, buy water at 50 cents a barrel and wonder if the water peddlers would show up in time—then you would get a rough idea of water troubles in Big Spring around the turn of the century.

Water was produced from a well in the park owned by C. L. Alderman, until the city bought the well from him in 1913 for $50,000. They also purchased such items as 168 acres of land, reservoir pump, plants, one horse, two wagons, a six foot desk, one iron safe, one stool, water mains, laterals and such. Stringent regulations were then in effect. Consumers had to agree to not keep water running to prevent freezing and agree to sprinkle only during hours the city specified.

Then the consumer had to pay $1.50 a month for the first 1,500 gallons of water while the next 1,000 gallons cost him $1. For minimum average consumption, the citizens of Big Spring probably paid $2.50 a month for their water bills.

The first water manager was Theo Jones, who received $75 a month for 12 months for his labor. Then B. P. Lovince took over and held the post until his death a few years ago.

The present well superintendent, who has had the job since 1928, is Roy Hester.

The wells, of which there are 27 equipped with pumps, produce unusually clean pure and good tasting water. From these sources it is possible to pump out almost two thousand gallons a minute. Bolstering this with a possible 1200 gallons a minute from the lakes, makes a possible 3200 gallons a minute or 4,600,000 gallons available in 24 hours. This is approximately twice the maximum daily consumption of Big Spring.

Coahoma Fair Marked Down As Success

COAHOMA, Oct. 11 (Sp)—The second annual community fair, sponsored by the Methodist women, closed out here Saturday with a variety of contests and entertainment.

It was, all agreed, a success, even down to the Saturday evening festivities at the show quarters.

Saturday in the pet show, Bobby Powell took first with his Spitz, Kenneth Hardy's bulldog came second and Billie Mac Addison's pet was next. Everything from dogs to coons was entered.

In bicycle races, Wayne DeVaney, T. K. Hardy and Bonnie Price finished in that order for boys under 12, and Low Allen Wheeler, Ralph Rowe and Ned Hale ranked in that order for the senior division. Frances Bartlett, Jane Hardy and Bonnie Faye Lindley ranked that way in the girls' division, and George Boswell, Jr., beat out H. H. Colley in the men's class.

Style show winners Friday night were: Janice Duncan, Mary Hugh Colley and Helen Joyce Engle, small girls; Bill Read, LaRoyce and Wayne DeVaney, small boys; Mrs. E. H. Thorp and daughter, Earline Read and Dorothy Hardy, women; M. H. Hubbard, M. L. Duncan, men; Ruby Lee Wheat, hair styles.

One of the interesting displays was the vocational agriculture booth, organized by P. G. Nickel. Among articles displayed were end tables, chests, picture albums, display cases, benches, stools, picture frames, shoe to take the field in a mighty one-day drive to raise the Big Spring district quota for the Boy Scouts.

Saturday night Elmo Wasson, finance chairman, had a total of 108 men lined up in Big Spring to participate in the campaign. Coahoma, Knott, Foran and Stanton were to stage similar drives and Dr. W. B. Hardy, district chairman, was hopeful that the response would be such that it would enable this district to increase its professional service.

Already out in front in percentage increases in scouts, clubs and leaders, the Big Spring district is planning an extraordinarily active year, said Dr. Hardy. It has played a part in lifting the Buffalo Trail council into the front ranks of scouts per capita in region IX (Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico) by forging ahead of the Concho Valley council at San Angelo and the South Plains council at Lubbock. In actual numbers, it ranks below only the Waco and Houston councils.

The drive mechanism is shaped up through the service clubs here this year, Marvin House directing the Rotary group, Dr. C. W. Deats the Lions, H. W. Smith the Kiwanis, and C. O. Valley the ABC. On a special committee are George White, Bob Elmer, T. S. Currie, Dr. M. H. Bennett, Dave Duncan, Grover Dunham, Ira Thurman and D. D. Douglass.

Those representing the Rotary are A. V. Karcher (PL), R. W. Thompson, J. E. Mull, J. W. Montgomery Ward marches with America! Months ago, we took our WARD WEEK plans to manufacturers. We knew that defense orders were increasing. We knew, too, that a lot of American families wait for WARD WEEK every year, for many things they greatly need. The question was—would it be possible to produce these needs—BETWEEN defense orders? With typical American spirit, every factory, every mill offered to cooperate. They asked for time—a vital element. We gave them plenty of that—so that the production of WARD WEEK merchandise could be fitted into their schedules.

And today—we announce WARD WEEK as usual—BEGINNING WEDNESDAY!

This year... these thousands of WARD WEEK values are greater than ever! We think of the stalwart Americans who raised the raw materials... or mined them deep in the earth... we think of the capable American hands and busy American machines that produced each article... the American rail and truck lines that rushed them to us in time for America's greatest Sale. We pay tribute to all who, in addition to building American defense, have made WARD WEEK possible for the millions who have planned and waited for it!

WARD WEEK STARTS WEDNESDAY! IT'S AMERICA'S GREATEST SALE!

Howard County's First Million Dollars In Cotton Ginned

Smith Brothers Serve Army At Widely-Separated Posts

What the rammy does is mighty important to Mrs. J. C. Smith. Both of her sons, J. C. and L. V. are first class privates in the army although they are many miles apart.

L. V., who joined the army in February 1940 is stationed at Anchorage, Alaska, where he has been since June 15th of last year. He writes that it is just beginning to get cold there but when it does get cold, the snow is over a man's head in some places.

Having just received a 14 day furlough, L. V. is off on a bear hunt, a popular sport with the soldiers stationed there. In addition, he goes fishing and catches larger fish than he ever saw in the United States he says. Once he shot a porcupine and had porcupine soup. In addition he has learned to ski and ice skate.

When his term in the army expires, L. V. writes that he may stay on as a ranger since he is learning international Morse code and such posts are available there.

While L. V. is experiencing cold weather in Alaska, J. C. is home on a six day furlough from Fort Bliss where he is with the headquarters troop, eighth cavalry. He joined the cavalry in February 1941 and is now a stable orderly. He says that he gets lots of good eats, clothes, a place to stay and pay day is always on the dot. He is enjoying the army and has just returned from Louisiana where he was on maneuvers.

More Than 11,000 Bales Turned Out Fugitives In Arizona Taken After Chase

The first million dollars worth of 1941 Howard county cotton has been put into bales.

Saturday night, 11,000 bales or more had been ginned, and many gins had their cotton houses full of seed cotton.

This figure is based on the fact that the five gins in Howard county had handled 5,471 bales early Saturday night and all were planned to work furiously on through the weekend. Other gins in the county will at least equal the output of the Big Spring plants, past experience shows.

Most gins opened their doors at 7 a. m. Monday morning and have not closed since. Many more were unable to keep up with the cotton coming in, and shunted many bales of seed cotton into storage.

So fast were the gins working that one plant reported 172 bales ginned in one 24-hour period, with the record for other days nearly as good.

With lint and seed continuing to bring a gross above $100 per bale, a approximately $1,100,000 worth of cotton has been ginned in the county.

That the crop is moving faster—or at least earlier—than Howard county's previous record crop is shown by the fact that this date in 1937, only 4,996 bales had been ginned in the county. That year a 40,000 bale crop was harvested.

County Agent O. P. Griffin still maintained an estimate that the county yield would surpass 40,000 bales this year. He said he had heard of practically no fields making under half bale, and many farms are averaging better than a bale.

More and more pickers continued, meanwhile, to pour into the area. Saturday night O. R. Rodden of the Texas State Employment Service, reported a total of 6,000 placed in Howard, Martin and Dawson counties, while many other pickers were on the job that had not been placed by TSES.

Rodden predicted a further influx of pickers over the weekend and stated that he had calls for 1,500 more.

SAFFORD, Ariz., Oct. 11 (AP)—Three heavily armed fugitives from the Graham county jail, trailed by bloodhounds to a canyon in the hills east of Solomonville, 10 miles from here, were captured today by a dozen officers and possemen, Sheriff Vic Christensen reported.

The three, who escaped Thursday night, were armed with a machine gun, shotgun and pistol, but surrendered without resistance when officers who surrounded them fired warning shots, the sheriff said.

The prisoners are Clyde Sutton, 26, released from the Oklahoma penitentiary 18 months ago; his brother, Dennis, 20, and Murel Birchfield, 26, said by the sheriff to have served time in Texas for shooting a man during a robbery. The three await superior court trial here, Birchfield on a charge of forgery and the Suttons for car theft.

After overpowering officers at the jail Thursday night as they were being given their dinner, the trio looted the sheriff's office of the weapons and got away.

Midland WTCC Meeting Plans Formulated

Program for the West Texas chamber of commerce convention at Midland, Nov. 3-4, is actively in the making, said a weekend announcement from the regional chamber's headquarters office, D. A. Bandeen, WTCC manager, in Washington for conferences with high officials of the government defense program, wired he had obtained acceptance of T. Semmes Walmesley, noted figure in American official life, to deliver one of the keynote addresses.

Walmesley, ex-mayor of New Orleans, is national deputy director of the Office of Civilian Defense headed by Fiorello H. La Guardia, mayor of New York City. LaGuardia is keenly interested in the WTCC convention—particularly its defense content features—and personally arranged for his deputy director to come to West Texas. Walmesley will speak Tuesday morning, Nov. 4, on "Our Part in Civilian Defense."

The convention at Midland will be the Westex chamber's second for 1941 and the twenty-fourth since its organization. The change-over from spring to fall sessions was ordered by the board of directors last May at Mineral Wells. Other radical changes have been developing in procedure. Departed are the carnival-type gatherings of old—the half-week of high-powered entertainment, noise and pagantry, but little business. Now the conventions are shorter, strictly to the point, crammed with business.

The WTCC's 1941 fall conclave will be further streamlined. It will open Monday night, Nov. 3, with a directors' dinner meeting for consideration of the first batch of resolutions sent up by the convention work committee. This will be composed of the organization's executive board, district and assistant district directors and committeemen at large. The work committee will hold its first session Monday afternoon.

Tuesday, Nov. 4, the convention's house of delegates will be in session all day, with time out only for a luncheon by the directors honoring the area's newspapermen and chamber of commerce executives. These two groups, along with West Texas mayors, county judges and members of manufacturers' pools formed to bid on defense contracts, will be given the status of honorary delegates to the convention, whose final adjournment to the fall of 1942 will come at the close of a banquet in Midland's Scharbauer hotel Tuesday evening.

The convention's policy-making group, its "House of Delegates" will be composed of Public Affairs committees and the officers, boards and commissions of the organization. Public Affairs committees are being created in the 164 affiliated towns with more than 90 certified to date, each under the chairmanship of the local WTCC director. Another innovation is that the visiting delegates—active and honorary—will not pay a registration fee at this convention. The directors will pay for their dinner and luncheon, and every one participating in the windup banquet, including the WTCC staff, will pay his own way in.

COAHOMA, Oct. 11 (SpI)—With the return of sunshine to West Texas this week, Coahoma cotton gins have started 24-hour operation. A total of 2,110 bales have been ginned the entire season here Saturday.

Ginners estimated the rush would continue for the next two weeks. Farmers generally seemed anxious to get the staple out as soon as possible, fearing more rain would rot the cotton in the field.

Dawson Farmers Make Progress With Harvest

LAMESA, Oct. 11 (SpI)—Dawson county farmers have been in improved spirits during the past few days as clear, warm weather has speeded crop gathering.

Pickers are coming in fast now, and all gins are operating full time. The cotton yield estimate, once placed as low as 30,000 by most parties, has crept back above the 40,000 mark.

Heavy, repeated rains and a shortage of farm hands has slowed the harvest of feed.

Cotton pickers are getting $1 per hundred, while feed harvesting brings $2.50 per day and upward—a better wage than in many years.

The first post office in the U. S. was established in 1639 at the home of Richard Fairbanks in Boston.

Discount On State Warrants Increased

AUSTIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—An unofficial barometer has gone into action in Austin since Oct. 1 and pointed to an unhappy condition in state finances.

Private companies which buy warrants issued on the treasury's general fund have increased the discount from one to one and one-half per cent. Not in many years has the rate been so high.

The boost, experts explained, is due to the deficit of nearly $31,000,000 in the fund, an all-time top and the fact that the deficit is growing, not standing still or declining.

Odessa Bronchos Break Jinx As Steers Shattered, 21-6

Top Contenders Row To Be Thinned In District Friday

Chief contenders row in district 3-AA is due for a bit of thinning next weekend. Odessa, with its streak up considerably as a result of its 21 to 6 win over Big Spring Friday night, meets the up-and-coming Abilene Eagles at Abilene in a crucial battle.

Coming out of a hard struggle at Lamesa Friday evening with the winner's end of a 6 to 0 decision, the Eagles are being counted as a top contender. Abilene showed a capable line and a slashing backfield Friday night. These will be matched against the power Odessa, but comparatively slow Sweetwater and San Angelo as the only unbeaten and untied clubs in the district.

Sweetwater entertains Colorado City in a contest that matches a top-heavy favorite for district honors against one of the weakest clubs in the circuit. An upset is possible but hardly probable, the Mustangs holding an advantage in weight and numbers that would be extremely hard for the Wolves to overcome.

Big Spring and Lamesa, the first tied ones and beaten ones and the latter beaten one time engage in a contest that will likely be anybody's game up to the final whistle.

Lamesa's Gus White may add to Big Spring's lead of defeat or a back-to-normal Steer squad may follow Abilene's example and keep the Tornado grister checked.

Midland and San Angelo play it safe so far as district 3-AA is concerned. Midland takes a rest next Friday after undergoing a 46 to 6 manhandling by Sweetwater, San Angelo reaches out to foreign fields to vie with Frisco of Fort Worth.

San Angelo's Bobcats were slow starters last Friday evening, but were unstopped once they got underway, piling up a 19 to 0 score in the last half of their conflict with Colorado City.

Last Friday's roundelays added to the prestige already gained by Sweetwater. The Mustangs ran roughshod over the Midland Bulldogs throughout the game. Marian Yanigan chalked up three touchdowns and an extra point. Emmett Young came in next with a brace of trips over the double stripe, while Virgil Turner and Hedrick grabbed off a score each.

Odessa's gridiron sun loomed larger in the district sky with its district victory over the Big Springers. Abilene's scoring power gained little but the fact that Gus White was successfully bottled up raised Eagle stock several points. Big Spring slid down the scale, although a strong stand was made against an Odessa crew that would not be denied a win. San quantity remained still on unknown quantity, despite its nod over Colorado City. To finish up the bill, Midland reaffirmed its cellar position.

Taking into consideration the recorded strength of clubs in the district, their chances for a district title, and the bearing which one game might have on their final standings, the clash between Abilene and Odessa must be counted the top attraction on next Friday's circuit card.

Herd Draws First Blood Early In Tilt

Hests' Long Range Powerhouse Becomes Too Much For B'Spring

By JOE FICKLE

ODESSA, Oct. 11 — For nearly two quarters the Big Spring Steers maintained their jinx over the Odessa Bronchos here last night, but a lobbing pass with seconds remaining before the half turned the tide and shattered hopes of the Steers for retaining their district 3-AA crown.

Odessa won the game 21-6. With a loss and a tie, the Steers were out of the running for practical purposes.

Rising up like giant-killers, the Steers played fast and alert ball to shove Odessa back in the initial quarter and set the stage for their lone tally of the evening. Midway in the quarter, Bostick rolled out a beautiful 54-yard kick on the Odessa one-yard stripe. McCracken's kick sailed out to the 34 and returned to the Odessa 28. Three days netted only a yard, and again Bostick found the one-yard line with his punt.

| Big Spring | Odessa |
|------------------------|------------|
| 11 First Downs | 17 |
| 30 Yds. Gnd. Reg. | 108 |
| 12 for 123 Pass. Cptd. | 15 for 159 |
| 21 Incomplete | 16 |
| 4 Pass Intercep. | 2 |
| 8 for 336 Punt | 8 for 322 |
| 3 for 20 Penalties | 3 for 10 |
| 1 Yds. Lost Reg. | 16 |

This time McCracken got it back only to the 24. Moore and Bostick alternated to make it a first down on the 12 yard line. Bostick smashed left tackle for seven yards and then the Steers broke into a spreader and Bostick spot-passed to Kasch who powered his way across. Barton missed goal.

From there it developed into a see-saw battle with both Big Spring and Odessa picking up a base of first downs. In the waning minutes of the quarter, Big Spring had picked up only five yards on two runs and a pass, and Bostick elected to run instead of punt. It didn't work by three yards and the ball went over to Odessa on its own 48 yard stripe.

As it turned out, this was the Gettysburg of the game. McCracken hit Keith Evans for 26 yards. Two passes were batted down by the Steer defense, but with two center backs towering over him, Little Leo, Thomas calmly squatted to pick up the ball they let fall between them. And he was over for the score. Wilkinson's kick was good and that really was the ball game.

Sensing victory was theirs, the Bronchos came out with a devastating combination of running and passing that carried 84 yards before it culminated in a score on a pass to Howard. The McKelvey accounted for 29 yards in his smashing tries at the line and four were all complete. A 10-yard loss inflicted on McCracken as he attempted a pass and a valiant goal line stand availed the Steers nothing. Wilkinson's kick was good again and Odessa led 14-6.

Out of the 33 plays Big Spring pulled in the remainder of the game, 27 were passes and four were kicks. Late in the quarter, after Odessa had scored again, the overhead game got to clicking again for the Steers and they carried to the Odessa seven yard line before four incomplete tosses killed the threat. The drive had started from the Odessa 45 with Blount catching a 13 yard heave, Womack snagged a 13 yard pass and Bostick's punt came up with a 13-yard catch.

Odessa's last touchdown came after a Broncho drive had been broken by Womack's interception, followed by an interception of Bostick's pass on the next play. McCracken hit R. Evans for 11 yards and Cowser for nine before McKelvey skirted right end for the score. Wilkinson's kick was good. Although McCracken had a better average with 41 1-2 yards in eight tries, the punting of Horace Bostick was an outstanding feature of the game. He averaged 41 yards on eight kicks, and his average was held down somewhat by his aiming at the coffin corner. Twice he put it out on the one-yard stripe.

Lookin 'em Over

No alibis are made for the Big Spring Steers—they were beaten by a crack crew of Odessans—but it was an extremely weakened team that went into the Broncho pasture Friday night.

A youngster has a lot of what it takes when he will put on a uniform and get out on the field regardless of how he feels. Paul Kasch, Horace Bostick, Billy Womack and Billy Shaw did just that. Others on the Big Spring lineup were a bit under the weather, making the setup still more depressing.

At the conclusion of Friday's game, Coach Pat Murphy said he had no complaints about the Herd's performance. The Big Springers gave what they had — it just wasn't enough.

For all practical purposes, the Longhorns must be counted out of the district race. There is a possibility that they may wind up on top, but they will have to be helped by some losses by other circuit members in addition to winning the rest of their loop contests. As the count now stands, Big Spring has one tie and one loss in two starts.

Now, Big Spring fans need to do some tall hoping for upsets in the district. It's not impossible, by any means, for Big Spring to find itself back in the chase before season's close.

Kasch and Shaw came out of Friday's game with injuries that may hold them up for a short while. Kasch got a painful lick in the kidney and Shaw sustained a leg hurt.

After the Abilene-Lamesa fracas Friday night, it was with a relieved sigh that Coach Vernon Hilliard of the Eagles declared he didn't want to contend with such a moment-by-moment threat as the Tornadoes Gus White again. According to Hilliard, Gallop'n' Gus was the tops in these parts.

Abilene's Raymond Troutman is in line to get district pile-driving honors this year. The large fullback shoulders his way through enemy lines like they are just so many midge. Friday night at Lamesa, he was usually good for three or four yards every time he carried the ball. It is young powerhouses like Troutman who bring that contract-happy glow to a mentor's heart.

Abilene was so leery of Gus White that it willingly took losses on its own punts in order to keep the ball out of the Lamesa tailback's reach. They would have saved yardage most of the time if they had let the ball go over on downs.

Midland Four Hosts Local Riders Today

Big Spring Quartet Twice Beaten By Fast Midlanders

Confident that the third time must be the charm, Big Spring's poloists again contest Midland's rough riders at Midland Sunday afternoon, game getting underway at 2 o'clock.

In two previous engagements the Midlanders have administered trimmings to the Big Springers. First, Midland won, 5 to 4, on its home grounds. In the second clash, held here on Bennett Field last week, the Midland quartet marked up a 5 to 3 decision over Big Spring.

Since last week's tussle, Big Spring's riders have been going through training sessions in an effort to improve the team's coordination. Fouting played a great deal in the number two match between Midland and Big Spring, the first getting three free shots and the second getting two — Big Spring's week of drill is scheduled to cut down on individual fouling.

The same crew that bested Big Spring last week will return to the field today. Jay Floyd, headman of the Midlanders, is due to ride in the number three slot. He marked up one of Midland's goals last Sunday. Clarence Schaubauer, Jr., young poloist who added Midland's other score from the field, is due to hold down number one duties. Remainder of the Midland lineup consists of Eric Barron at two berth and John Dublin, Jr., at number four position.

On the Big Spring roster, Bob Cleveland of Lamesa, who made Big Spring's lone hard-way score last week, is billeted in number three. Others riding under Big Spring colors are Dr. M. H. Bennett, one; Lloyd Wasson, two; Lewis Rix, four.

Coahoma Sinks W'brook, 55-0

COAHOMA, Oct. 11 — Continuing their unbroken string of victories, Coahoma's Bulldogs buried the Westbrock six-man football team under a 55-0 scoring avalanche here Friday in a conference game.

Wheat and Johnston accounted for three touchdowns each and Bell rang up two counters. Johnston kicked three times after the tallies and a pass brought another point.

Coahoma started early, slipping over 14 points in the first frame, 21 in the second quarter, eight in the third and polishing off with 12 points in the final canto.

Saturday (Oct. 18) the Bulldogs will tangle with the Foran Buffaloes under the lights at Steer stadium in Big Spring. The game is "crucial" and may determine who sits in the favored spot to be champion of the league. Time of the game has been set for 8 p. m.

In the Friday game starters were: Westbrock—Phillips, Richards, Anderson, McCullough, Candler and Moore; Coahoma—Borwell, White, Wheat, Johnston Sandridge and Bell.

Time 'Til Monday

ELDORADO, Ill., Oct. 11 (AP)—Eldorado's high school football team is leading Metropolitan 13 to 9 with two minutes and seven seconds of the second quarter and the last half yet to be played.

Because of a power failure, the two teams are taking what is probably the longest "time out" on record.

The lights went out at 8:10 o'clock last night with the home team lining up over the ball. After a delay of one hour and 20 minutes the officials and coaches got their heads together—in front of automobile headlights—and decided to finish the game Monday afternoon at 2 p. m. Admission will be free.

Oklahoma Aggies Bop Washington U., 41-12

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—The highly-touted Oklahoma Aggies took their time about getting started then piled up 28 points in the second half to smother Washington university, 41 to 12, in a Missouri Valley conference opener today.

Northwestern Romps Over Wisconsin, 42-14

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 11 (AP)—Northwestern showed a great passing and ground attack under pressure today to rout Wisconsin 42 to 14 before 40,000 spectators at Dyche Stadium. Three touchdowns in the third period clinched the victory for the Wildcats after the Badgers had scored twice in the opening quarter.

Tulsa Defeats Creighton, 19-7

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 11 (AP)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane batted down the first challenge to Missouri Valley football supremacy tonight, defeating Creighton's fleet young Bluejays, 19 to 7.

Except for one drive which carried to the Hurricane's five-yard line, Creighton's T formation attack was stopped cold, while Tulsa threatened almost constantly with a devastating aerial attack.

Tom Dineen's 94-yard gallop after taking a Tulsa kickoff in the fourth quarter set up the Creighton touchdown, he was thrown on the one yard line and Tony Porto plunged over for the score.

Eagles Hold Gallop'n' Gus To Slip By Tornadoes, 6-0

Abilene Gets Lone Tally In First Canto

Troutman Shines As Visitors Top-Notch Ground Gainer

By JACK DOUGLAS

LAMESA, Oct. 11 — Abilene's Eagles had one purpose in life at Lamesa Friday night — to bottle Lamesa's Gallop'n' Gus White and keep him bottled. They did that very thing most of the evening, although there were a few moments when it looked as though the Tornado ace would go off on another of his prancing jaunts to the goal line.

Before concentrating on the "Stop White" campaign, the Eagles grabbed themselves a 6 to 0 margin in the first quarter and with a desperate, single-minded battle held that a sting-winning score.

Although White was on the losing club, Abilene's efforts to keep him checked resulted in the Lamesa ball-carrier staying in line-light throughout. The Eagles viewed him with a well-needed measure of alarm during the entire evening—even went so far as to sacrifice yardage on punts just to keep White, standing in the tailback position, from getting the ball.

Abilene tallied early in the game. Taking possession of the ball for the first time, the Eagles, paced by Fullback Raymond Troutman, made a 55-yard drive for a touchdown. Troutman plowed six yards over the left side of the line for the score. Jim Brennan went in to convert but the kick sailed to the right of the uprights.

From there on out it was a ding-dong battle. Abilene would carry up the field, the game Lamesa line would stiffen, the Eagles would timidly punt, the kick would slice over the sidelines, White would throw a few bad scares into Coach Vernon Hilliard and his aids, and the procedure would start on another round.

Abilene found itself in trouble time after time after punts would fall shy of the line of scrimmage. Usually, it fell to the lot of powerful Troutman to regain lost territory. Sweeping around ends and blasting over the line, the husky Eagle was good for short gains practically every time he took the ball.

Quarterback Don Shield turned in a fast, heady game of ball and worked well behind a stout forward wall. Abilene's Johnny Howell came through with the top-notch punt of the evening, a 50-yard boot that put the ball on Lamesa's four. White kicked out handily from the trouble area to the 37. Abilene started another drive but was held for downs near the 20-yard stripe.

A neat bit of three-way ball handling near the game's close almost resulted in the Lamesa marker but the Eagles threw up hurried defenses, put the dogs on White after he had picked up 11 yards around the right and stopped the attack on their own 20.

Vernel Roberts and Kent Morgan towered in the Lamesa line. They bucked heartily against a hefty but fast-charging line and speared through on several occasions to stop the Abilene ball-packer behind the line of scrimmage.

Morgan had been absent from his tackle berth since the tussle with Plainview, but was thrown into the breach with good results despite his taped up condition.

The starting lineup: ABILENE, Kilian and Bradshaw, ends; Cowan and Collins, tackles; Moles and Clark, guards; Higdon, center; Shields, quarter; Burditt and Grant, halves; Troutman, full.

LAMESA: Blair and Meyers, ends; Beck and Wade, tackles; Carmichael and Roberts, guards; Merritt, center; White, quarter; Smith and Taylor, halves; Reeves, full.

Scores by periods: ABILENE 6 0 0 0-6 LAMESA 0 0 0 0-0 Scoring: Touchdown, Troutman. Substitutions: Abilene: Bennett, Howell, Watson, Brennan. Lamesa: Hardyvieks, Morgan, Aslin.

Officials: Conlter (Trinity), referee; Davis (Texas A. and M.), umpire; Walter (North Texas), head linesman; Blue (Baylor), field judge.

Centenary Gents Felled By HSU Cowboys, 27-6

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 11 (AP)—Those hard-riding Cowboys from Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene were too much for the oft-beaten Centenary College Gents and the boys from the prairies lassoed the local eleven, 27-6, here tonight before 4,500 fans.

For three quarters, the rivals battled almost on even terms, with the Texans holding a 7-6 edge, but the Cowboys pushed over a tally early in the final session and then capitalized on a wild batch of enemy heaves to turn the game into a complete rout.

After a scoreless first period, during which time both clubs had trouble hanging onto the pigskin, the Cowboys moved to the front at the outset of the second quarter.

A sustained 61 yard march by the Cowboys halted on the Gents two yard stripe as Evans fumbled and James Heath covered for the locals in the closing play of the first period.

Bob Raley booted out to his 35 and the visitors moved straight to a touchdown, Evans climaxing the drive with a two-yard plunge over center. Evans' conversion was squarely between the uprights.

The Gents fought back furiously and a few moments later crossed the pay station after a sustained

Bobcats Turn On Heat In Last Half To Clout Wolves, 19-0

S'Angelo Power Attack Led By Halfback Chase

By RAY DAVIDSON

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 11 — Maybe it was the hand's fault. Throughout the first half of Friday night's game between the Colorado City Wolves and the San Angelo Bobcats, the home town band kept the air hot with swaggy music while the Concho town's band was relatively quiet. The football game went scoreless that long.

Then in the second half the Wolves' band quieted down, the Bobcat musicians turned on the steam, and the Colorado City gridiron seemed to lose step as the San Angeliens pounded out a 19 to 0 win.

It was a scrappy ball game, and for the first half the Wolves played the favored Bobcats hard ball. In the second half, however, Colorado City's boys started missing tackles, making errors in general, and encountering all kinds of bad luck.

San Angelo's first score came soon after Colorado City kicked off at the start of second half. In a series of six plays—three of them setting 15, 18, and 20 yards each—the Cats carried the ball to

Aggies Smother NYU In Terrific Attack, 49-7

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Texas Aggies looked like they might get along without John Kimbrough very well, indeed, as they cut loose a terrific second half attack to bury the hapless New York University Violets beneath a 49 to 7 landslide in Yankee Stadium today.

A crowd of 18,000 turned out to see how the Cotton Bowl champions would make out without their great all-America fullback of last season, and there were no serious doubts left in their minds when it was over. The Texas team was slow working up steam and were greatly surprised to find themselves no better than 7-7 at the half. But once the third period started they jumped aboard their cayuses and away they went.

They scored two touchdowns in the third period and four in the final, tracking them up so fast toward the end that the official scorer had to call in help. They did it on land and through the air, with Derace Moser, the one remaining back from last year's great team, supplying the spark. They were on the Violets' one-yard line again when the last gun sounded and enabled the befuddled locals to catch their breath.

There might be a danger in judging the Aggies too optimistically off their showing today, of course, as the Violets are only football middleweights at best. Yet the second-half punch shown by Coach Homer Norton's pupils was very impressive. Every one of the

Wilson Takes Leading Role In Baylor Win

Fumble On Second Play Of Game Gives Arkansas Lone Tally

WACO, Oct. 11 (AP)—Baylor's Bears walked over Arkansas, 20 to 7, here today, with big Jack Wilson again sparking a powerful air and ground game. Arkansas scored early in the first period after a fumble, and Baylor tallied in the first, second and third to win easily.

The issue was seldom in doubt after the first period, when Frank Delmonago, promising sophomore halfback from Clarkville, Ark., who thus far this season has meant to Arkansas what Wilson means to Baylor, scored the Razorback's touchdown after a Baylor fumble. Bo Robinson of Baylor dropped the ball on the second play of the game, and Arkansas was quick to seize upon the break.

End Clayton Wynne recovered, then Robert Forts passed to Wynne on the Baylor 15. An off-side penalty gave the Razorbacks five more, and fast-stepping Delmonago took over from that point to tally in two smacks across the line.

Then Wilson took charge of the ball game. He passed nine yards to sophomore end Jack Jeffrey, a big boy with sticky fingers who took Wilson's next heave for 12. For variety, Wilson butted through center for five, passed to Jeffrey for six. Milton Crain picked up four at center, and Wilson scattered 17 yards for a touchdown.

A 56-yard kick by Wilson set up Baylor's second score in the second, after jarring the Razorbacks with the long punt, the Arkansas offense bogged and Wilson began throwing passes once more from midfield, connecting with Ed Hickman, junior end from Robert Lee, for one 10-yard gain and mixing passing and running plays expertly down to the one yard line. Untouched, he slashed across tackle for the score but his placekick was wide.

A long pass, Dwight Paris to Bill Coleman, brought Baylor's final tally in the third period, but it was Wilson's place kick that brought the extra point.

TRUCK KILLS CHILD COAHOMA, Oct. 11 (Sp)—Edythe Wright, Coahoma teacher, received word Friday that her nephew, the five year old son of Mrs. Joe Snyder of Roscoe, had been instantly killed when struck by a truck on the Main street of Roscoe.

Crain Repeats On Past Performances Against Oklahoma

DALLAS, Oct. 11 (AP)—Mighty Texas hurried over gallant Oklahoma 40-7 here today in a show of power that amazed even the most ardent backers of Longhorn Rose Bowl hopes.

Forty-five thousand fans sat spell-bound as the Orange Wave engulfed a fighting Oklahoma team in one of the most crushing defeats in the long history of this state fair gridiron feature.

Jack Crain always reaches the heights against Oklahoma and he did it again today. The pudgy little cowboy broke Oklahoma's heart the same as last season when he was the difference for Texas between victory and defeat—but Crain didn't hog the show.

A versatile Texas team that never relented in its crushing drives held the upper hand from the very start with the second and third stringers, who played as much as the regulars, showing stars of the first water.

Crain got the first two touchdowns and from there on there was no question of who would win, but of how big the score would be.

Pete Layden, another great in the Texas offense, pitched a 25-yard pass to Crain for the first touchdown after the Longhorns got the ball on the Oklahoma 27 following Jack Jacobs' costly bobble while trying to punt on fourth down. Then Layden hurried the touchdown pass. Crain kicked the goal.

Crain scored the second touchdown on a backward pass from Layden. The next counter came on a 70-yard surge. It took only three plays, Layden finally cutting center for 15 and laterally to Malcolm Kutner, who tore his way 55 yards for the score.

Oklahoma scored early in the third as the result of a Texas fumble. Vernon Martin dropped the ball and Roger Eason, Sooner tackle, recovered on the Texas 20. Orville Mathews and J. S. Munsey got five in line tries and Texas was penalized five for off-side. From the ten, Hull Hamm passed to Joe Golding for the counter.

Ponies Rout Staggmens, 34-0

Breaks Give Owls Victory Over Tulane

HOUSTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Tulane's hopes of an unbeaten season, sky-scraper high after a glorious start, tumbled to bits today as Rice Edulante, outwighed 18 pounds to the man, stopped the Green Wave's surge with a 10-6 victory.

Rice seized a break in the first five minutes to score a touchdown that apparently demoralized the Green Wave, which showed only in flashes its vaunted steamroller power.

Jim Thibault and Lou Thomas ground their way to the Rice 13 but a fumble by Thibault, recovered by Barron Ellis, Rice halfback, stopped the drive.

Rice kicked out and Tulane tried to pass from mid-field. J. C. (Stoop) Dickson, Rice tailback whose long punts kept Tulane backed up much of the afternoon, intercepted Thomas' aerial and sped to the Green Wave 13. Two attempts at the line failed to gain but one yard and Brumley was called on to see what he could do. In two plays he blasted over. The last surge starting on the 6-yard line. Brumley kicked goal to give Rice a 7-0 lead.

Within three minutes after the half started, Tulane had scored at the tail-end of a 65-yard march. In the fourth period, another Tulane fumble gave Rice another chance which it did not miss. Glass mishandled the ball on Rice's 39 and Lindsay Bowen, sophomore tackle, recovered for the Owls. Stockbridge beat it to the 11-yard line and after the attack seemed about to die in that vicinity, Brumley blasted to the six and then on fourth down kicked a field goal from the 14-yard line.

Three minutes before the game ended, Charles Dufour, 206 pound Tulane tackle broke through and blocked Dickson's punt. The ball rolled beyond the end zone, giving Tulane an automatic safety, and putting the score where it remained, 10-9 in Rice's favor.

SMU Starts Chase From Beginning Of Festival Tilt

TYLER, Oct. 11 (AP)—Beloved Ames Alonzo Stagg got a bitter taste of Southwest football today as his fighting College of the Pacific Tigers fell before powerful Southern Methodist 24-9 in the seventh annual Rose Festival game.

It was the first invasion of Texas by the 78-year-old Stagg, old man football himself by virtue of his 51 years in coaching.

The Mustangs scored within three minutes after the first kickoff. Preston Johnston, the Methodist's great fullback, broke off tackle and raced from Pacific's 40 to their 5. He then circled right and for the score. Tackle Joe Pasqua converted.

Early in the second period Howard Maley, the Ponies' red hot red-head, faded back to his 43 and shot a long pass to end Kelly Simpson who caught it on the Tiger 7 and ran over. Johnston converted.

Five minutes later the Mustang reserves had made another counter. After two punt exchanges Abel Gonzalez and Dick Miller advanced the ball to Pacific's 14. Miller passed to Simpson for a touchdown. Pasqua's attempted kick was wide. Shortly after the second half started the brilliant Johnston took command personally for the Mustangs' fourth touchdown. Lendon Davis made the last Pony score late in the third period on a dash around right end.

Missouri Tumbles Kas. State, 35-0

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 11 (AP)—A lucky passing attack, used desperately to compensate for a mis-firing T formation, exploded for touchdowns in every quarter today as Missouri's Tigers swept aside Kansas State 35 to 0 in an opening Big Six game.

Lanky Bob Stepper, halfback, motivated the aerial maneuvers, slinging a 40-yard pass in the first quarter which connected with Ed Bert Ekers for a touchdown. It came after an early safety and should have given Kansas State the key of what was to follow. For Missouri scored again in the second, twice in the third and again in the last, using the air lanes for the ride.

Frogs' Air Attack Trips Ind., 20-14

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 11 (AP)—Fighting back desperately in the shadows of their own goal posts, the pigskin pitching Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university beat off two last-quarter Indiana attacks and emerged with a 20 to 14 decision over a scrappy Hoosier team today.

The unbeaten Frogs lived up to their reputation for aerial power, but the fighting Indiana eleven, making a strong bid for its first triumph of the season, handed the victors some of their own medicine. The Hoosiers scored both their touchdowns on passes and their aerial game was a constant threat.

After the fourth quarter started it appeared the Horned Frogs were about to grab off an easy victory. They led 20 to 7 on the strength of the great passing of Kyle Gillespie, sharp-shooting 175-pound quarterback from Paris, Texas.

But Indiana rallied, scored quickly and twice more drove inside the T.C.U. 20-yard line in the closing minutes. The last march was halted at the Frog 8-yard stripe with only 40 seconds to go.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

One of life's little mysteries, of which there are many, is why are the things you are looking for always on the bottom? If you think that's wrong, start looking for something yourself.

If it is a slip of paper in a file cabinet, you'll find it last behind all the others you have to paw through first.

If it is a book you'll find it the last one in the pile. If it is really important you may never find it!

How this situation came to be so general is beyond comprehension. Looks like there ought to be times when the thing you want is where you look for it. But it happens so seldom it's not worth mentioning.

If you look for a recipe, you ladies will vouch for this, it's always some place in the back of the book. Not in the front, the middle, or where you spend a lot of time looking. You gentlemen, who search for that elusive collar button, will bear out the fact that it is just when you give up, that you accidentally kick it with your foot.

While we have no collar buttons to search for, there are other things just as annoying to the feminine heart. That ribbon you want to wear, that pair of hose you've been saving for such an occasion, or a pair of gloves you need.

By the time you've located the article, you've nine times out of ten decided it really isn't worth the struggle of looking.

A miscellaneous music program was presented by the Junior Music Study club Saturday morning as members met in the home of Lorenza Brooks.

Marilyn Keaton played "Allegro" by Mozart and Celia Westerman played "Almazurca" also a piano selection.

A talk on parliamentary procedure was given by Mrs. James T. Brooks.

What's Your Idea Of Town's Needs

Get out your pencil and paper, and put your mind to work.

Before long the chamber of commerce will be having its annual Decision Week, and with it will come the opportunity for every resident of the city to suggest worthwhile projects for the year.

Perhaps this sounds a little early to be jotting down ideas, for no date for the week has been set. Perhaps it seems odd that everybody should be invited to submit suggestions.

Actually, it requires time to submit a thoughtful program for a community. People who can sit down on the spur of the moment and come up with a handful of ideas are either rare or their ideas aren't worth much. Although the chamber of commerce would welcome any sort of proposal for consideration, only those which bear practical analysis and which could give hope of accomplishing community good can ultimately be included in a work program.

So when you have a-idea, shoot at it from all angles, try to tear it down, and if it still stands, you've probably got something that the community wants or needs.

It's not odd at all that the chamber of commerce, a membership organization, should earnestly desire that all people pool their ideas. True, the chamber is made possible by those who give it financial support, but if it existed only for those who pay into its treasury, we wouldn't be devoting this space to it.

To justify its existence, the chamber of commerce must do a community-wide job. It must become the central agency for working on desirable projects to adequately serve the entire community. It needs at least the mental support of everyone.

By the same measure that you get a better perspective of things from a distance, it is possible that some of those who are not right in the thick of community activity could advance some excellent ideas. So get out your pencil and paper, regardless of who you are, and start writing down those ideas. When Decision Week does roll around, fire away and perhaps Big Spring will be the better for it.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Movie Set Jungles Are More Pleasant Than Real Thing

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Kipling wrote "The Jungle Book" and there's another book to be written about the jungle in Hollywood built for the filming of "The Jungle Book".

It's a lovely, soul-satisfying jungle—especially when the black panthers and the elephants at six are outside the sound stage, respectively caged or tethered.

You never saw much beautiful wild greenery in such artistically arranged profusion and confusion — from Oregon and long brown "ropes" of wild grapevine from Louisiana; orchids from the flower-makers, and exotic potted plants, and splendid spider-webs fresh and gummy from the spouts of the movie web-spinners. And no malarial bug, no chiggers. Just a jungle de luxe, a la mode, dressed for technicolor.

They tell me Vincent Korda is never quite happy with it, however. Vincent is the Korda brother who art-directs, Zoltan being the director and Alexander the producer. They tell me Vincent arranges and arranges, and after a day's shooting he arranges some more, not being content with the stance of a fern frond or the hang of a tropic vine. This used to cause consternation, the next day when it came to matching new shots with yesterday's, but Vincent would be reasonable about arranging things back the way they were. Vincent is an artist, never satisfied with an effect.

It is a jungle like no other. It's too bad you won't see it on the screen as it is. What you'll see is a rich, many-domed, many-turreted castle looming far away through the tangled growth, with a herd of elephants grazing in front of it. Actually, the castle is about 15 feet high, suspended over the jungle. When Lee Garnes turns his camera that way, and the elephants (life-size and real) are grazing the other side of the castle, the camera does a neat trick in perspective. They figured that one out with painstaking tests. Even in the movies, it's no mean job to lift up four or five life-sized elephants and place them in the foreground when they're actually in the background.

In the cellars of that castle (we have to go to another sound stage to reach them) is the long-forgotten, fabulous treasure that Mowgli (Sabu) discovers. And here we run smack into a sorry state of affairs: even a poor movie producer, trying to strew around an impressive pile of gold and rich jewels, runs into the shortage problem.

The Kordas were going to be reasonable about it, and never once did they think of using real gold pieces for their treasure pile. But like the plaintive king in the nursery rhyme who did like a bit of butter to his bread, they did hope to get something with a metallic clink. What have we here, thrown richly over the foundation of burly bags? Gilded post-board poker chips, in the main. And the all-essential clinking, when Mowgli handles the gold? Well, they found some metal "gold" pieces left over from the 1939 San Francisco Exposition, along with some Chinese Clipper memorial coins of the same year, and those are all the clinking you'll hear.

In a treasure cave, running rich with rubies, pearls, and other precious stones and jeweled ornaments, they needed things — but they couldn't have it. And here they hit upon an economy. Instead of metal work, they've used lace. Gilded and glued, it substitutes convincingly, probably will continue to substitute in future.

You'll be seeing "The Jungle Book" around Christmas, and maybe you'll be saying (if you're the saying kind) that this treasure looks pretty but it's just a pile of paste. You'll be quite right — but it's worth about $3,000 worth of paste at that.

Man About Manhattan—Yeah, And We're Still Waiting For Adolf's London Visit Too

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Sport note: Furlongs at golf will be penalized to hear that the stand English have unbent sufficiently to permit club members to take air raid shelter during bombing without being penalized a stroke.

This revolutionary news was contained in a letter to film star Basil Rathbone from colleagues in London, and the rules further state:

"In golf competitions during gunfire or when bombs are falling players may take cover without penalty... A player whose stroke is affected by the simultaneous explosion of a bomb or shell or machine-gun fire may play another ball from the same place—penalty, one stroke... Players are asked to collect bomb and shell splinters to avoid damage to the mowers."

Quit: While we're on the subject of England, how many fully sovereign states do you think there are left in Europe?....The answer is—Andorra, Eire, Liechtenstein, Monaco, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and Vatican City.

The palm for quick wit goes to that young Dutch housewife who was arrested recently in Holland for listening to a British broadcast....She defended herself by declaring, "After the fall of France, Adolf Hitler announced that in October he would speak over the English wireless. I was so afraid of missing this historic speech...."

Bands like to feature small combinations, usually with lyrical presentations, and they strive for effective names. For instance Orin Tucker calls his combination "The Body Guards"... Blue Barren styles his "The Three Blue Notes"... Thus it is that Teddy Powell announces a new combination within his orchestra to be known as "The Teddy Bears"... In this group the orchestra leader himself plays guitar—first time in four years he has handed any-

Chapter Five
"POOR RIV"

Harriet and Deedra were the first to leave the room, Ginny and Sue Ellen followed them toward the big main room. The moon sauntered over to meet them. Riv was quite the handsomest man in the group. Every girl looked at Riv first, to get the smile of his approval, and then she heaved a little sigh. They all envied her because she had Riv.

She'd keep him, too, thought Sue Ellen. Riv meant security for herself and her family, a suitable marriage. Riv had said that this afternoon. A Moore and a Fairhope—a fine inheritance for their children.

"Mighty sober tonight," said Riv, and frowned.

She would keep Riv, the way he reminded herself, and the way to keep Riv was to be gay and popular. She let her lids drop over her eyes and then lifted them to look directly into Riv's looking down at her. It was a trick Ginny used. Riv smiled and his arm tightened and she did not draw away but encouraged the clasp, as she moved to the rhumba. She could keep Riv easily. His eyes had lost their indifference, their tendency to rove about the room, and were fastened upon her. "Lord, but you're beautiful," he whispered.

The dance lasted until two and she did not see Johnny Harris again until they were leaving. Ginny suggested that they drive over to a nearby town for hamburgers and coffee. Johnny Harris and Deedra were already on their way to Deedra's long black car.

"What's their hurry?" asked Toby.

"He's in the army now," said Riv with a sarcastic laugh.

The remark did not go over. Even Ginny tossed her dark head and said: "Well, what about it? Soon you'll be answering a bugle call yourself, Riv Moore. Isn't your number in the first draft?"

"What are you talking about?" demanded Riv.

Toby wove toward them with his soft hat on the back of his head. "What's all the excitement?" he asked.

Harriet Nettleton laughed. She began to sing: "He's got to get up — he's got to get up in the morning!"

Ginny gave her a little push. She tucked her hand through Riv's arm and said: "How you going to get off, honey?"

Riv gave a hard little laugh and caught Sue Ellen by the coat sleeve. "You'll see."

The lights of the other cars followed them for a while and then turned off down a side road.

"Aren't we going with the crowd?" asked Sue Ellen.

Toby

Riv slowed down the car and shook his head. "It's not in the mood for hamburgers," he said softly. "Look up, honey."

For no explicable reason, she felt a surge of rage against Johnny Harris. Against Johnny Harris! It was his uniform and the grace with which he accepted it and the obligations it entailed. It was his indifference to her all evening, if it hadn't been for all these things, she would never have given Riv the idea that she was eager for his love-making.

"What's wrong?" demanded Riv angrily.

"Nothing. Why?"

He moved away from her and set the car in motion.

"Poor Riv," she thought, after she was in the big canopied bed with the lights out and the November wind blowing the stiff lace curtains at the wide windows.

"Why should I blame Riv for being what he is? I'm marrying Riv in the spring. She turned over and sighed. "Tomorrow I'll have to plan some way to keep this place together for Aunt Car and Aunt Pleas."

"I hoped I'd be taken care of when I married in December. Now with my wedding postponed until spring"—she drifted off to sleep with her thoughts a muddle of rebuffing Riv's love-making, appealing Riv for her indifference, trying to understand it herself... drifting off to sleep trying to push out of her thoughts the memory of Aunt Car's face when she spoke of a lover, lost for over twenty years.

There was something she had thing other than a caton.

So far, only one of the new plays has come in for what may be called "the withering fire" of the drama critics.... This is the comedy starring Gladys George, and of it one critic wrote: "Miss Gladys George frolicked about in her make-up box at the Longacre last night, put on the white hair and parchment skin of age, and almost withered away as a frail but gusty antique who is the central character in Edwin B. Sells' "The Distant City." Her misfortune, I fear, is that the play withered away first, leaving her, like a hitch-hiker on a detoured road, without a vehicle."

Other reviews were in similar vein, which means that the boys seem to have found their batting eyes early this year.

Tom Dewey Cuts Red Tape Away For USO

By JACK STEINMETZ

WASHINGTON — Thomas E. Dewey, who not so long ago had at least a toe-hold on nomination for the presidency, came to Washington the other day to cut himself a slice of red tape.

Along in the spring he was selected chairman of that drive to raise $11,000,000 for the United States Service Organizations—the community chest for recreation in the armed forces. Dewey did his part and the money topped the goal.

The government had sponsored the idea and agreed to furnish office-reservation housing for the USO. Into the national defense housing bill for $120,000,000 went provision for building 225 USO cantonments. The bill passed and John M. Carmody's federal works agency was given administration.

So what happens? Nothing, says Dewey. With no cantonments built and no word of any building, Dewey began to get a lot of complaints. What was happening with all that $11,000,000?

That's why the former presidential aspirant came to Washington to snip a little red tape. He wouldn't tell how he did it, but he did say that "I think everything will be all right from now on. I just called a few people and saw a few more. For the most part, I found everybody very cooperative—especially in the Army and Navy."

Delay A Capital Mystery

The delay in getting the USO recreation drive under way, has been one of the mysteries of the capital. The subject of many a news item has been widely discussed. Editorials, articles and speeches on it have been included in the Congressional Record almost daily.

Still, no one has taken it very seriously for very long. Not even those politicians who seize on anything for a cause. Why? I asked an Army official, a veteran of World War I.

against Germany and use our fighting forces where needed, or to keep out as long as possible and supply the countries fighting Germany."

Percentage

Declare war and fight.... 25

Stay out and supply..... 75

The "no opinion" element in this case amounted to 4 per cent; it is not included.

The Arab conquest, which politically altered the whole history of Egypt, had no appreciable influence on the physique of its inhabitants.

Here 'n There

Jack Dabney, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dabney, is getting along fine in the U.S. marine. After six months training at St. Petersburg, Fla., where he was assigned to the steamship American Seaman, he has made his grades and is now on the USS American Trader, plying between home port at New York and Corpus Christi with a precious cargo of oil. While in training he visited in Washington, D.C., saw many notables who came to the ship. He also made two trips to Bermuda and one to Portico, Havana and during a storm he thought the 10,000 ton ship would rip apart. While confined to the hospital at base, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Willis, Big Spring, visited him.

E. C. Gaylor, assistant fire chief, and J. D. Stembright went to Kermit Saturday to attend the quarterly convention of the Fort Worth Basin Firemen's association.

The San Angelo police radio Friday night advised the Big Spring police radio to broadcast a pick-up order for Willie Alvin Sullivan, 40, about five feet six inches tall and weighing 135 pounds. He escaped San Angelo police, who were holding him on 10 criminal assault counts.

The "dead" man wasn't dead and thereby hangs a tale. A man from Eldorado, Ark., awoke from a deep dream of peace at the Benton street viaduct Friday evening. His money was gone. Walking away was a man from Waco, who was promptly given a country whipping. Authorities got the report he was dead. They escorted the two men to jail and slapped drunk and affray charges on them.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (UP)—Wall Street traders took a look at the weather, which was crisp and bright, noted that Monday is a legal holiday, heaved sighs of relief and started their weekends early today. Stocks did next to nothing.

Few issues varied by more than minor fractions. At that, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 1/4 of a point at 41.9. Transfers totaled 277,000 shares compared with 214,770 last Saturday.

Aircrafts ranked as the most active section of the share list with advances recorded for Curtiss-Wright, largely because of its increased dividend yesterday, and in Boeing, Douglas, United Aircraft and Glenn Martin.

Lamesa Golfers To Try C-Club Course Today

Lamesa sends a golf team to Big Spring today for a twofold purpose—first, to contest a local crew of divoteers, and second to get a line on the grass greens. Matches are to be held over the Country Club course, players due to get off the number one box from 1 to 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Jimmy Gamewell, club professional, said Saturday that he did not know who would be on the Big Spring team. He urged those inclined to take on the Lamesans to get in touch with him this morning.

The Lamesans are slated to arrive in Big Spring sometime in the morning. They will start the proceedings with some practice rounds over the club's best grass greens.

Shroyer Observes 10th Anniversary

The Shroyer Motor Co. will be observing an important anniversary this week—its 10th as a growing Big Spring concern.

At first he operated a service station and tire trade, gradually expanding until today the company has large, modern quarters and is agent for the Oldsmobile passenger car and GMC trucks.

Places of honor in the anniversary observance will be accorded Mrs. Shroyer, who has had charge of the office work during the decade, and Ira Shroyer, brother of the owner-manager. New emphasis will be given the company slogan of "Almost Perfect Service."
